Library of Congress—Central Charge File

Call No: PN 1993.M67 Date: Dec. 8, 1971

Author
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST, vols. 1-5 (1936-40)

Title
Prints and Photographs

Division

Motion Picture Section

Employee

Packard Campus for Audio Visual Conservation www.loc.gov/avconservation

Motion Picture and Television Reading Room
www.loc.gov/rr/mopic

Recorded Sound Reference Center
www.loc.gov/rr/record
This is a “cumulated” number. It includes all reviews published to date. It supersedes all previous numbers. Discard Nos. 1-14.

MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

Vol. 1

March 30, 1936

Published by THE H. W. WILSON COMPANY, 950-972 University Avenue, New York City

Pictures Reviewed in This Issue
(arranged alphabetically)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Picture</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Affair of Susan</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ah, Wilderness</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Amateur Gentleman</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anna Karenina</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Annapolis Farewell</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Annie Oakley</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Another Face</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anything Goes</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Audioscopiks</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bed Boy</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bar 20 Rides Again</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Barbary Coast</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Between Men</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Big Broadcast of 1936</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bishop Misbehaves</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blazing Justice</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bohemian Girl</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bon Bon Parade</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Le Bonheur</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Born for Glory</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boulder Dam</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bride Comes Home</td>
<td>13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brides Are Like That</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Broadway Hostess</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Broadway Melody of 1936</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Broadway Playboy</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Broken Toys</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Builders of Socialism</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bulldog Courage</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Burning Gold</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Call of the Prairie</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Calling of Dan Matthews</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cappy Ricks Returns</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Captain Blood</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Captain January</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Case of the Lucky Legs</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Case of the Missing Man</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cattle Thief</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ceiling Zero</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Charlie Chan at the Circus</td>
<td>23</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Charlie Chan in Shanghai</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Charlie Chan's Secret</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chatterbox</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cock o' the Walk</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Colleen</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Collegiate</td>
<td>27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Come Out of the Pantry</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Condemned to Live</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Confidential</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Coronado</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Country Doctor</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Courageous Avenger</td>
<td>32</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crime and Punishment</td>
<td>32</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crime et Châtiment</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crime of Dr. Crespi</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crusades</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dance Band</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dancing Feet</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dangerous</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dangerous Intrigue</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dangerous Waters</td>
<td>38</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Daredevils of the Earth</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dark Angel</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dark Hour</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Desert Gold</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Desert Guns</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Desire</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Diamond Jim</td>
<td>41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Divine Spark</td>
<td>42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dr. Socrates</td>
<td>42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Don't Gamble With Love</td>
<td>42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Don't Get Personal</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Doughnuts and Society</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Drift Fence</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eagle's Brood</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>East of Java</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Escape From Devil's Island</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Every Saturday Night</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Everybody's Old Man</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exclusive Story</td>
<td>48</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>F-Man</td>
<td>49</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Pictures Reviewed in This Issue

(Continued from front cover)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Page</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>49</td>
<td>False Pretenses</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>50</td>
<td>Fang and Claw</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>51</td>
<td>Farmer in the Dell</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>52</td>
<td>Fast Bullets</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>52</td>
<td>Feather in Her Hat</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>52</td>
<td>Fighting Coward</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>52</td>
<td>Fighting Youth</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>53</td>
<td>Filming the Feminine Headliners</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>53</td>
<td>Fire Trap</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>53</td>
<td>First a Girl</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>54</td>
<td>Follow the Fleet</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>55</td>
<td>For Love of You</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>55</td>
<td>Forbidden Heaven</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>57</td>
<td>Forced Landing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>57</td>
<td>Four Masked Men</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>57</td>
<td>Frasquita</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>58</td>
<td>Freckles</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>58</td>
<td>Fresnchez Love</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>58</td>
<td>Frisco Kid</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>59</td>
<td>Frisco Waterfront</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>60</td>
<td>Frontier</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>60</td>
<td>Frontier Justice</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>61</td>
<td>Gallant Defender</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>61</td>
<td>Game of Jai-Alai</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>62</td>
<td>Garden Murder Case</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>62</td>
<td>Gasolinos</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>63</td>
<td>Gay Deception</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>63</td>
<td>Gentle Julia</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>64</td>
<td>Ghost Goes West</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>64</td>
<td>Give Us This Night</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>66</td>
<td>Grain</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>67</td>
<td>Grand Exit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>67</td>
<td>Grand Slam Opera</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>68</td>
<td>Great Impersonation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>68</td>
<td>Great Ziegfeld</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>69</td>
<td>Guard That Girl</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>69</td>
<td>Gun Play</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>70</td>
<td>Hair Trigger Casey</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>70</td>
<td>Hands Across the Table</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>70</td>
<td>Happiness C.O.D.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>71</td>
<td>Harmony Lane</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>71</td>
<td>Heir to Trouble</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>72</td>
<td>Hell Ship Morgan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>72</td>
<td>Her Master's Voice</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>73</td>
<td>Here Comes Cookie</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>73</td>
<td>Here Comes the Band</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>73</td>
<td>Here Comes Trouble</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>74</td>
<td>Here's to Romance</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>75</td>
<td>Hi Gaucho</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>75</td>
<td>His Family Tree</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>75</td>
<td>His Fighting Blood</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>75</td>
<td>His Night Out</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>76</td>
<td>Hitch Hike Lady</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>76</td>
<td>Hitch Hike to Heaven</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>77</td>
<td>Hong Kong Nights</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>77</td>
<td>Hot Papiros</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>77</td>
<td>House of a Thousand Candles</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>77</td>
<td>Hunters' Paradise</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>78</td>
<td>I Conquer the Sea</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>78</td>
<td>I Dream Too Much</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>80</td>
<td>I Found Stella Parish</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>80</td>
<td>I Give My Heart</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>81</td>
<td>I Live For Love</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>81</td>
<td>I Live My Life</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>81</td>
<td>If You Could Only Cook</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>82</td>
<td>I'll Name the Murderer</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>83</td>
<td>In Old Kentucky</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>83</td>
<td>In Person</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>84</td>
<td>Invisible Ray</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>85</td>
<td>Invitation to the Waltz</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>85</td>
<td>It Had to Happen</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>86</td>
<td>It's a Great Life</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>87</td>
<td>It's in the Air</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>87</td>
<td>Itto</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>88</td>
<td>Ivory-Handed Gun</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>88</td>
<td>Judgment Book</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>88</td>
<td>Just My Luck</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>88</td>
<td>Kannibal Kapers</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>89</td>
<td>Kind Lady</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>89</td>
<td>King of Burlesque</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>89</td>
<td>King of the Damned</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>91</td>
<td>King Solomon of Broadway</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>92</td>
<td>Kiss Me Goodbye</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>92</td>
<td>Klondike Annie</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>94</td>
<td>Knock-Out</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>94</td>
<td>Lac Aux Dames</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>94</td>
<td>Ladies Love Hats</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>95</td>
<td>Lady Consents</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>95</td>
<td>Lady in Scarlet</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>96</td>
<td>Lady of Secrets</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>97</td>
<td>Land of Promise</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>98</td>
<td>Last Days of Pompeii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>98</td>
<td>Last of the Clowns</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>98</td>
<td>Last of the Pagans</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>99</td>
<td>Last Outpost</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>100</td>
<td>Laughing Irish Eyes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>101</td>
<td>Lawless Border</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>101</td>
<td>Lawless Nineties</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>101</td>
<td>Lawless Range</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>102</td>
<td>Lawless Riders</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>102</td>
<td>Leathernacks Have Landed</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>102</td>
<td>Leavenworth Case</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>102</td>
<td>Legong</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>103</td>
<td>Liebellei</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>103</td>
<td>Limelight</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>103</td>
<td>Little America</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>104</td>
<td>Little Lord Fauntleroy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>105</td>
<td>Littlest Rebel</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>106</td>
<td>Lone Wolf Returns</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>107</td>
<td>Love Before Breakfast</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>108</td>
<td>Love On a Boat</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>109</td>
<td>Magnificent Obsession</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>111</td>
<td>Making of a King</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>112</td>
<td>Man Hunt</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>113</td>
<td>Man of Iron</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>113</td>
<td>Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>114</td>
<td>Maria Chapdelaine</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>115</td>
<td>Mary Burns, Fugitive</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>115</td>
<td>La Maternelle</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>116</td>
<td>Mayflower</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>116</td>
<td>Melody Lingers On</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>117</td>
<td>Melody Trail</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>117</td>
<td>Message to Garcia</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>117</td>
<td>Metropolitan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>118</td>
<td>Midnight Phantom</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>118</td>
<td>Midsummer Night's Dream</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>119</td>
<td>Milly Way</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>120</td>
<td>Millions in the Air</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>121</td>
<td>Mimi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>122</td>
<td>Miss Pacific Fleet</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>122</td>
<td>Mr. Cohen Takes a Walk</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>123</td>
<td>Mister Hobo</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>124</td>
<td>Modern Times</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>124</td>
<td>Molly Moo Cow and the Indians</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>127</td>
<td>Moonlight and Melody</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>127</td>
<td>Moonlight on the Prairie</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>127</td>
<td>Morals of Marcus</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>128</td>
<td>Moscow Nights</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>128</td>
<td>Murder at Glen Athol</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>129</td>
<td>Murder of Dr. Harrigan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>129</td>
<td>Music Goes 'Round</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>130</td>
<td>Music Hath Charms</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>131</td>
<td>Music Is Magic</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>131</td>
<td>Muss 'Em Up</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(Continued on inside back cover)

March 30, 1936. Vol. 1, No. 15

Motion Picture Review Digest, published weekly by The H. W. Wilson Company, 950-972 University Ave., New York, N.Y. Application for entry as second-class matter is pending. Subscription price, one year, $4.00. Subscriptions are accepted only from those who have subscribed for the Cooperative Indexing Service. Full information will be supplied on request.

Printed in U. S. A.
Publications from which Digests of Reviews are made

Audience Evaluation Publications

- Am Legion Auxiliary—American Legion Auxiliary See Fox W Coast Bul; Wkly Guide
- Bks & Films—Books and Films. $1. Mrs Ina Roberts, 11115 Clifton Blvd, Cleveland, Ohio
- California Federation—California Federation of Teachers; California Congress of Parents and Teachers, Inc.
- See Fox W Coast Bul; Jt Estimates; Motion Picture Guide; Sel Motion Pict
- Christian Century Press, 440 S Dearborn St, Chicago
- DAR—National Society Daughters of the American Revolution See Fox W Coast Bul; Jt Estimates; Motion Picture Guide; Sel Motion Pict
- Endorsed Motion. See—Endorsed Motion Pictures Publication discontinued Fox W Coast Bul—Fox West Coast Theatres Corporation Bulletin. 1937 S Vermont Av, Los Angeles (This publication contains evaluations by the following organizations: Calif Cong of Par & Teachers; DAR; Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast); Int Fed of Cath Alumnae; Nat Ed of R; Nat Council of Jewish Women; Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women’s Clubs; Nat Soc of New England Women; S Calif Council of Fed Church Women; Women’s Univ Club, Los Angeles)
- Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast)—General Federation of Women’s Clubs (West Coast). Bulletin. Mrs Wm A. Burk, 355 N Bronson Av, Los Angeles See Fox W Coast Bul; Jt Estimates; Motion Picture Guide; Sel Motion Pict
- Int Fed of Cath Alumnae—International Federation of Alumnae of Catholic Colleges See Endorsed Motion Pict; Fox W Coast Bul, Nat Legion of Decency Jt Estimates—Joint Estimates. Bulletin. General Federation of Women’s Clubs (West Coast). Mrs Wm A. Burk, 355 N Bronson Av, Los Angeles (This publication contains evaluations by the following organizations: Calif Cong of Par & Teachers; DAR; Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast); Nat Council of Jewish Women; Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women’s Clubs; Nat Soc of New England Women; S Calif Council of Fed Church Women; Women’s Univ Club, Los Angeles)
- Mo Film Bul—Monthly Film Bulletin. Issued to members only, British Film Inst, 4 Great Russell, London, W. See also Fox W Coast Bul; Jt Estimates; Motion Picture Guide; Sel Motion Pict
- Movie Pict & Family—Motion Picture and the Family. Free. Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc. 25 W 44th St, New York
- Motion Picture Bul—Motion Picture Guide, 50c. Mrs John Waldo, Am Assn of Univ Women Motion Pict Com, 330 E 47th St, Indianapolis, Ind.
- Nat Ed of R M—National Board of Review Magazine. $2. National Board of Review of Motion Pictures, 70 Fifth Av, New York See also Fox W Coast Bul; Wkly Guide
- Nat Council of Jewish Women—Los Angeles Section, National Council of Jewish Women. Bulletin. Mrs Florence Wolfstein, Chairman, 617 S Lucerne Blvd, Los Angeles See also Fox W Coast Bul; Jt Estimates; Motion Picture Guide; Sel Motion Pict
- Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women’s Clubs—National Federation of Business and Professional Women’s Clubs (Los Angeles District) See Fox W Coast Bul; Jt Estimates; Sel Motion Pict
- Nat Film Estimate Service—National Film Estimate Service See Motion Picture Guide
- Nat Soc of New England Women—National Society of New England Women See Fox W Coast Bul; Jt Estimates; Motion Picture Guide; Sel Motion Pict
- NY Archdiocesan Motion Picture Guide—New York Archdiocesan Motion Picture Guide See Nat Legion of Decency
- Par M—Parents’ Magazine. $2 The Parents’ Institute, Inc, 9 E 40th St, New York
- Scholastic—Scholastic. $1.50. Scholastic, Chamber of Commerce Bldg, Pittsburgh, Pa.
- Sel Motion Pict—Selected Motion Pictures. West & East Coast Preview Committee. Motion Picture Producers & Distributors of America, Inc, Will H. Hays, Pres, 28 W 44th St, New York
- See Endorsed Motion Pict; Fox W Coast Bul, Nat Legion of Decency Jt Estimates—Joint Estimates. Bulletin. General Federation of Women’s Clubs (West Coast). Mrs Wm A. Burk, 355 N Bronson Av, Los Angeles (This publication contains evaluations by the following organizations: Calif Cong of Par & Teachers; DAR; Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast); Nat Council of Jewish Women; Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women’s Clubs; Nat Soc of New England Women; S Calif Council of Fed Church Women; Women’s Univ Club, Los Angeles)
- Women’s Univ Club, Los Angeles—Women’s University Club, Los Angeles See Fox W Coast Bul; Jt Estimates; Motion Picture Guide; Motion Pict R; Sel Motion Pict

Newspapers and Magazines

- Boston Transcript—Boston Evening Transcript. $5.50. (Wednesday and Saturday). Boston Transcript Co, Inc, Pub, 324 Washington St, Boston
- Canadian M—Canadian Magazine. $1.50. Hugh C. MacLean Pub, Ltd, 347 Adelaide St, W, Toronto
- Estimation—Estimation, Incl. Dyke, 172 W 40th St, New York
- Motion Picture Review Digest—Motion Picture Review Digest, Vol. 1, MARCH 30, 1936, No. 15

Terms of Subscription and Advertising. Full information on request.
Life—Life. §1. Life Magazine, Inc, 60 E 42d St, New York
Nation—Nation. §5. Nation Fund Inc, 20 Vesey St, New York
New Statesman & Nation—New Statesman and Nation. 3os. New Statesman and Nation, 10 Great Tornstile, London, W C 4
N Y Sun—New York Sun. §1.0. Sun Printing and Publishing, 250 W 23d St, New York
New Yorker—New Yorker. §5. F-R Publishing Corp, 25 W 45th St, New York
News Wk—News Week. §4. Rockefeller Center, 1270 6th Av, New York
Sat R—Saturday Review. 30s. Chawton Pub Co, Ltd, 18-20 York Bldgs, Adelphi, London
Sight & Sound. Sight and Sound. (Quarterly). 2s 6d. British Film Inst, 4 Great Russell St, London, W C 1
Spec—Spectator. 30s. The Spectator, Ltd, 99 Gower St, London, WC 1
Trade Papers
Box Office—Box Office (Eastern sectional ed) W3. Associated Publications, Inc, 4704 E 9th St, Kansas City, Mo.
Canadian Moving Picture Digest—Canadian Moving Picture Digest. §5, Canadian Moving Picture Digest Co, Ltd, 259 Spadina Av, Toronto 5
Film Curb—Film Curb. (Semimonthly). §4 Film Curb, Inc, 1270 6th Av, KKO Bldgs, Radio City, Rockefeller Center, New York
Film Daily—Film Daily. §10. The Film Daily, 1650 Broadway, New York
Harrison's Reports—Harrison's Reports. §15. Harrison's Reports, Inc, 1440 Broadway, New York
Motion Picture Daily—Motion Picture Daily. §6. Motion Picture Daily Inc, 1750 Broadway, New York
Motion Picture Herald—Motion Picture Herald. §3. Quigley Publishing Co, Inc, 1750 Broadway, New York
N Y Exhibitor—New York State Exhibitor. §2. Jay Emmered Publications Inc, 219 N Broad St, Philadelphia

Explanations
After the title of the film, the date of release is given, next the running time in minutes and then the producer. Under PRODUCERS, only leading members of the cast are listed.
For system of evaluating favor or disfavor of the film, see note on bottom of pages. In the reference to the magazine, the number of the page is first given, followed by the month, page, and year.
If a director in the cast may have been added.
No films released prior to September, 1935 are included. Only those foreign films which are likely to be generally shown are listed.
In the case of publishing films, the women's organizations use "mature" or "adult" when films are unsuitable for children; "family" when suitable for all the members of a family; "young people" when suitable for adolescents from 15 to 20 years of age; "children" for those under 15.

Key to Abbreviations

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Abbreviation</th>
<th>Meaning</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>a</td>
<td>adulta</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ag</td>
<td>August</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ap</td>
<td>April</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>assn</td>
<td>association</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>av</td>
<td>avenue</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>bd</td>
<td>board</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>bks</td>
<td>books</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>blvd</td>
<td>Boulevard</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>bul</td>
<td>bulletin</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>c</td>
<td>children (under 15)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Calif</td>
<td>California</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cath</td>
<td>Catholic</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>com</td>
<td>company</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cong</td>
<td>Congress</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D</td>
<td>December</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>e</td>
<td>east</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ed</td>
<td>edition</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>fed</td>
<td>federal</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>gen</td>
<td>general</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>inc</td>
<td>incorporated</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>inst</td>
<td>institute -ion</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>int</td>
<td>international</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ja</td>
<td>January</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jul</td>
<td>July</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July</td>
<td>joint</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Litt</td>
<td>Literary</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ltd</td>
<td>limited</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>m</td>
<td>magazine</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>min</td>
<td>minutes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>mo</td>
<td>month</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>March</td>
<td>March</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>N</td>
<td>November</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nat</td>
<td>national</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NY</td>
<td>New York</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>O</td>
<td>October</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>p</td>
<td>page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>par</td>
<td>parent -s</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>pict</td>
<td>picture</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>pub</td>
<td>publisher -iation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>pub</td>
<td>publisher -ication</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>S</td>
<td>September, south</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>sel</td>
<td>selected society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spec</td>
<td>Spec</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>sq</td>
<td>square</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>steet</td>
<td>street</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>univ</td>
<td>university</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>vol</td>
<td>volume</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>wkly</td>
<td>weekly</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>y</td>
<td>young people (15-20 years)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
AFFAIR OF SUSAN. O 7 '35 63min Universal
Director: Kurt Neumann
"Two people, a hero who works in an automobile factory, a heroine who works in a candy factory, meet, go to a park, have a good time, think they won't see each other again, [and] eventually find they live in the same boarding house." N Y Exhibitor

---

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Light, amusing comedy with a touch of pathos. Family and Junior matinee." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) S 23 '35
Mo Film Bul p167 N '35
"Good, Family." Motin Pict Guide Mr '36
"A, Y and C: Entertaining." Par M p38 Mr '36
"Excellent direction, fine photography and an interesting story add much to the entertainment value. Family and junior matinee." + Sel Motion Pict N 1 '35
"The old film 'Lonesome' is . . . simply and tenderly, told with many amusing incidents. Family." + Wkly Guide S 23 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p59 N 16 '35
"Only a mildly entertaining comedy." + Film Curb p13 O 1 '35
"Inconsequential, having little except the comedy leads. Family comedy." — + N Y Exhibitor p37 O 10 '35

AH, WILDERNESS. N 22 '35 106min MGM
Director: Clarence Brown
From the play of same title by Eugene O'Neill. A rural melodrama in which a naive, idealistic New England boy of the 1900's, one of the new generation who hopes to lead the world to a new order, learns the difference between sacred and profane love.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Arch News p24 Ja 25 '36
"Excellent, Suitable for mature audience." + + Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor

"The picture is redolent with chuckles. Adults: excellent; 14-18: mature; 8-14: doubtful." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Expert direction by C. Brown. Some vulgar dialogue. Adults." DAR

"The acting of the principals and outstanding photography are the highlights of this motion picture." Written in a decidedly reminiscent mood, this play will appeal, for the most part, to the older members of the audience, who can re-live those precious early days before the world began moving at such a fast tempo. Good. Adults." Internat Fed of Cath Alumnae

"The characters and settings were so very well chosen as to seem like a page torn from a family history of an old New England family. The atmosphere of the sleepy little town, the pathetic High School graduation exercises of the 1900's, the first automobile, and the reckless fourth of July celebrations after the close of the Spanish-American War are so faithfully portrayed as to have real historical value. The cast is excellent and the direction perfect—the scenes between the father and son and between the girl and the boy so realistic and directed with such understanding and good taste as to bring a lump to one's throat. Wallace Beery fails to suggest the New England type—even when in their 'cups', long generations of repression would preclude his giving way so completely. The picture is so fine that one character's part overaccented should not lessen one's appreciation or enjoyment of the whole. Outstanding, Family—mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Perfect in detail and delectable in humor, the film holds the interest throughout and provides superlative entertainment. Family." Nat Soc of New England Women

"The clever handling of Eugene O'Neill's stage success through an excellent cast combine to make the picture an outstanding one for the family." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"In certain respects the stage version of this comedy has an advantage over the screen production. O'Neill's lines are so good that one is sorry to miss any of them and naturally much of the dialogue had to be cut. The characters are essentially O'Neill's. Family picture. Mature for children." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

+ Fox W Coast Bul N 30 '35
"Good direction transfers the mood of a bygone day to the screen with consummate skill. Outstanding, Family, Mature." + + Jt Estimates N 15 '35
"Unobjectionable for adults." Nat Y Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36
"A and Y: Excellent comedy of youth; C: Mature." Par M p38 Mr '36

"While the humor of the picture will be enjoyed by the whole family, the underlying psychology will have more appeal to adults. The Daughters of the American Revolution re-
AH, WILDERNESS—Continued

"It does not have quite the fineness of feeling that it possessed in the form that Mr. O'Neill originally gave it. There has been some vilification that the best described as popularization. It does have an atmosphere and characterization that lift it well above the average of the screen." E. F. M.

Boston Transcript p10 D 26 '35

Lionel Barrymore plays Nat Gould . . . a small town newspaper editor, and gives one of the finest personal performances that the film affords. [All the performances are] well handled. . . Wallace Beery is a delightful old inebriate." Laura Elston

Christian Science Monitor p13 N 13 '35

"Perhaps the qubblers will miss many of the original O'Neill lines pertaining to adolescent youth, which, naturally, had to be eliminated; but they are present in the film, and well taken. . . extending the original comedy and in building the part of the son; or, they may refuse to accept the dialogue as skilfully conceived by the New England type in their 'cups.' Except for these reservations, all unimportant to the nature of the play, and such as O'Neill's Americana convincingly mirrors the spirit, the touching humanness that was so delicately reflected by Beery. . . All the scenes are so faithfully, so skillfully portrayed that they have real historical value." J. F. Cunningham

Motion Picture Digest p22 D 28 '35

"We have no means of comparing the lines of this script with that of the stage," writes George Foxhall in the Worcester Evening Gazette, "yet we are prepared to admit that probably much of Mr. O'Neill's matchless genius for dialog has been lost. But Mr. O'Neill's beautiful play is here, his insight into the adolescent sweetness of clean, young hearts and into the sweetness of old, clean hearts, for the most part, is so well conveyed, and his message so memorably revealed, that this is an O'Neill production of which his memory. This wilderness is paradise ex novo." Motion Picture Digest p22 D 28 '35

"The delicacy of Eugene O'Neill's play is wholly absent from Wallace Beery's Sid." Mark Van Doren

NATION p14 Ja 15 '36

"What the screen really makes out of 'Ah, Wilderness!' is a first-class atmosphere piece. It calls up more matters than it knows of by its own reconstruction of the day-to-day life of the New England country in a time (1906) that is as dead as the period of the general memory, as the smell of leaves burning in piles along the gravel walks, this fall or when you were a kid. . . Much of the film is silly, but 'Ah, Wilderness!' remains a job of picture making, in craftsmanship and feeling, that is wonderful to see. Otis Ferguson

New York Rep. p19 Ja 15 '35

"Ah, Wilderness!" [is] as thoroughly delightful a picture as has come along during the last year. Using intelligence and taste as well as portentous scriptwriting, Mr. O'Neill has done more, a great deal more, than photograph Eugene O'Neill's wonderfully humorous and skilfully developed the spirit and theme of the original, and script-writers and director have shown more than a share of life in a New England town than any stage production could possibly manage.

As for Mr. Beery, as the likable drunk, he is slightly out of key with the rest of the period picture. He is, in his own way, still rather funny, and even the overemphasis on his part is not seriously harmful." Eileen Creelman

N Y Sun p25 D 26 '35

"Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor"

"In its warm, sprawling and achingly reminiscent mood of story-telling, it brings Mr. O'Neill's 'larger small-town play' into the New England of 1906 into a new richness of life on the screen. As an American comedy of manners and as a portrayal of an American family, 'Ah, Wilderness!' explores a vein of bitter-sweet nostalgia without losing its sense of humor." Andre Semlitsch

N Y Times p30 D 25 '35

"Not only the decoration, though, gives the film its particular quality, for the story has an honesty that is found only in America. 'Ah, Wilderness!' reminds us again, in case we have forgotten the truism, that ordinary people and their lives are much more exciting than the extraordinary and their performances." John Mosher

New Yorker p33 Ja 4 '36

"Springf'd Republican p66 Ja 12 '36

"In this instance the movies have used their own genius to make quite a lot out of very little. . . Mr. Eugene O'Neill, has become a sort of overweening on the strength of good work well done in the early years that he can speak with the postures of a major dramatist and in the actual words of Greta Garbo, and get completely away with it. . . Where Hollywood really goes to work here is in the background. O'Neill suggests a 'smell of England in the year 1906. . . In the end, the production goes beyond the meaning of the play, immensely expands all the goodness good or bad in a mood that it is difficult to quarantine with. It is blurred with illusion yet inexorable in its details, tugging at silly heartstrings yet common enough; it seems projected on a screen purely in order that these dead times shall be remembered against, exasperation and fondness." Otis Ferguson

Theatre Arts Mo p142 F 36

"Trade Paper Reviews"

"Superb picturization of Eugene O'Neill's most human and natural stage play is entertain- ment of the highest order and a triumph for all concerned. . . A classic of American small-town life that deserves to live forever." + Box Office p17 D 14 '35

"All concerned in the making of this fine picturization of the stage hit can take a bow, several in fact. Here is a play of the best that is a play of the best, wonderfully produced, a standing cast and directed with rare skill this is entertainment plus. Audiences of all classes are invited to appreciate and be surprised if it doesn't break a great number of records. You can't get them much better than this one." + Film Curb p8 D 1 '35

"Wallace Beery's portrayal of the easy-going, lovable drunk is outstanding, and Lionel Barrymore, as the outstanding father, makes the role live." + Film Daily p4 N 15 '35

"This picture mirrors life. . . It does so with the simplicity that makes for power, giving audiences and the shown the most to be desired in screen merchandise, a good story that was intelligently acted on the stage. It is hardly to be doubted that the picture will make a popular impression. It is of a character that will go to the States, and it is certain to win approval. Its locale is a small town of three decades ago. The comedy drama grows with homey humor. The drama is natural." + Motion Picture Daily p10 N 12 '35

"In the power of its simplicity, natural humanness is reflected. . . In fronting every family, it is one of the most impressive features brought to the screen in recent years." + Motion Picture Herald p70 N 23 '35

"Family comedy drama." N Y Exhibitor p54 D 10 '35

"Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor"
DER ALTE UND DER JUNGE Koenig. See Making of a King

AMATEUR GENTLEMAN. Mr 20 36 106min Criterion-United artists
Director: Thornton Freeland
Based on the novel of the same title by Jeffery Farnol. "The story deals with an inn-keeper wrongfully condemned to death for theft from guests. His son, posing as a rich young 'buck' with the aid of money borrowed from the inn hostler, breaks into society in London. The photography is very fine. The prison-hunting nobleman, falls in love with a girl, who has agreed to a marriage of convenience with his son, schemes for a safe escape and neatly exposes the criminal after a helter-skelter coach chase back to the inn." (Motion Pict Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"The story is constructed on traditional lines, with a swiftly-manoeuvred happy ending, and its relation to real affairs is not great; there are one or two plots in the plot which might have been more smoothly managed. . . The acting is competent, though Douglas Fairbanks seems a trite mannered. Elissa Landi is altogether too whimsical and coy. Adults: adolescents."
+ - Motion Film But Ja 36

NEWSPAPER AND MAGAZINE REVIEWS
"[It is] an admirable but overlengthy film. . . scenes and the prize-ring pictures are composed in the temper of Hogarth, and their smoky, crooked atmosphere is successfully transplanted from 'The Rake's Progress.' Moreover, they are happily contrasted with some exquisite scenes of English roads and lanes in the mist of early morning, when a cold, gray light breaks slowly over a coach and horses." Harold Hobson
+ - Christian Science Monitor p12 F 18 36

"Personnel that was hand-picked for the special occasion reflects itself in the production, a costume drama of the Regency period in England, having good story values and fine dramatic action that are both intelligently treated." J. P. Cunningham
+ - Commonweal p500 Mr 20 36

"There is nothing positively amiss with this first production by Criterion Films: it is a passable effort, but quite undistinguished. If one wished to be captious, one might point out that the sound and the music should have been better, and that the direction, which was otherwise quite sensible, was obviously handled by an uninspired adaptation of Jeffery Farnol's novel; it stuck to the scenario with a slavish fidelity which was not really justified by the acting of Mr. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Miss Elissa Landi."
+ - New Statesman & Nation p51 F 1 36

"There is a superbly unconvincing boxing match with bare fists before the Regent, and the film is very prettily dressed. Miss Clemente Dane has done a very workmanlike job with the dialogue, which is never disagreeably mannered but nobody can do much with Mr. Farnol's romantic vision." Graham Greene Spec p170 Ja 31 36

Trade Paper Reviews
"A costume drama, of the Regency period in England, has good story values and plenty of dramatic action. Trimmed from its present 3,000 feet, this will offer definite entertainment values for American audiences." + - Motion Pict Daily P53 Mr 16 36

"There is a rich air of romance in this production which should appeal to a very wide range of patrons. . . It is one of those British pictures which American showmen should consider very seriously."
+ - Motion Pict Herald p64 F 22 36

"Estimate: good program melodrama."
+ - NY Exhibitor P53 Mr 16 36

"This Jeffery Farnol story, while a bit dated, is so well done, especially the dialog by Clemence Dane, and has such a splendid production, that it ought to be over successfully. It has the strength and forcefulness of the old school, coupled with modern acting, and the whole result is something for a small advertiser. The Director has done a neat job in keeping the old-fashioned story from cracking."
+ - Variety P12 F 5 36

ANNA KARENINA. S 6 '35 95min MGM
Director: Clarence Brown
Based on the novel of Tolstoi. An emotionally unstable woman deserts her husband and son for a lover. The lover grows tired of her, her husband refuses her permission to see her son and she finally commits suicide. The background is the colorful life of the upper class in Czarist Russia.

A Photoplay Study Guide to Tolstoy's Anna Karenina, with suggestions for reading and discussion in college and university classes, women's clubs and community forums, prepared by William Lewin, may be obtained from Educational and Recreational Guides, Inc., 125 Lincoln Avenue, Newark, New Jersey. A single copy is fifteen cents. The guide covers the literary and historical background of the production and direction problems, performances of the actors, musical and sound effects and includes a list of references and readings.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory. Not recommended because of subject matter or treatment.
" + - Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide Cath News p24 Ja 23 36

Motion Pict & Family O 15 35

"There is nothing exceptional in Garbo's showing once more that she is a great actress. But it is not the first day of the exciting adaptation of a film in which she appears is something out of the ordinary. Anna Karenina', moreover, quite apart from having Garbo in the title role, has captured rather more of Tolstoy's great novel than might have been expected." J. S. H.
+ - Nat Bd of R M S '35

NEWSPAPER AND MAGAZINE REVIEWS
"Not a great movie. The Tolstoy story is out of date, stiff, and creaky. But with Garbo as its motivating force, the old war-horse moves with an effort to life and certainly the maximum of grace."
Lit Digest p21 S 21 35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; + - Mediocre; Poor; --- Exceptionally Poor
ANNA KARENINA—Continued

"The new version includes the social implications of the novel, but the issues are now meaningless, dramatically at least, and the film is justified only as a museum piece."
—Robert Giroux
Nation p361 O 2 '35

"A trite scenario, enfeebled and mismanaged in direction... Yet here is the best vehicle for Miss Garbo's talents that we have seen for many a long evening," John Marks
New Statesman & Nation p551 O 19 '35

"The stage technique forced on the other players in Anna Karenina by the personality of Greta Garbo, the slowing of the film to allow time for the incredibly lovely voice, the harsh suffering face, to make their points, calls for a standard of acting they cannot meet, with the exception of Mr. Basil Rathbone, who as Anna's husband draws an intense bitter portrait of a man living for appearances alone... It is Greta Garbo's personality which makes this film, which fills the mould of the neat respectful adaptation with some sense of the greatness in the novel." Graham Greene
Spec p617 O 11 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p58 N 16 '35

ANNAKISLAP Awards, S 6 '35 85min Paramount
Players: Sir Guy Standing, Tom Brown, Richard Cromwell, Rosalind Keith
Director: Alexander Hall
A retired naval officer goes down with his old ship rather than see it demolished for target practice.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"This superbly directed production taken at Annapolis is truly a great picture. It is convincing, interesting, stimulating and highly entertaining..."

Jt Estimates S 1 '35

"With its authentic background of our Naval Academy, its outstandingly fine cast and superb direction, lovely photography and interesting story, we have entertainment most suitable for the Family and Junior Matinees."

Jt Estimate of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"A: Good drama; Y: Stirring; C: Interesting."
Par M p38 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The color, spirit, courage, patriotism and traditional ideals for which the United States Naval academy stands are reproduced in 'Annapolis Farewell', which fills the mould of the neat respectful adaptation with some sense of the greatness in the novel."
—Springfield Republican p66 O 13 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p57 N 16 '35

ANNIE OAKLEY. N 15 '36 88min RKO
Players: Barbara Stanwyck, Preston Foster.
Chief Thunder Cloud
Director: George Stevens

From a story by Joseph A. Fields and Stewart Adamson, based on the life of Annie Oakley, famous western markswoman. It describes the career and love story of the woman who rose from crack shot of Buffalo Bill's Show to appearances before the crowned heads of Europe.

"Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. General approval."
—N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Good of kind. Y: Good. C: Good."
—Christian Century p158 D 18 '35

"Very good."
—Endorsed Motion Pict D '35

"Thrilling scenes of bye-gone days, which include skilful riding, expert shooting, and roping, capture the imagination. Indians and the primitive living life of the period are combined in this most entertaining picture in which a well chosen cast understand the material and give realistic portrayals. Family and Junior Matinees."

—Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) N 14 '35

"A, Y and C: Splendid comedy with Buffalo Bill background."
—Par pl638 Mr '36

"Grand entertainment for all. Recommended to the Committee on Exceptional Photoplays. Family, Junior."
—Wkly Guide N 9 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
Christian Science Monitor p16 N 16 '33

"'Annie Oakley' makes agreeable capital out of a recent American figure who has already become something of a legend... Here she is with a rural origin and a romance to keep her interesting and very interesting she is as Barbara Stanwyck plays her."—Mark Van Doren

—Nation p81 Ja 15 '36

"On the surface, this highly sentimentalized report... is little more than a conventionalized if pleasantly narrated, romance of Colonel Cody's Wild West Show... Fortunately, however, Joel Sartiz, author of the still joyfully remembered 'Rackete Rye' has had a most important hand in the proceedings and his gift for racy, hearty American results in a series of appended episodes that make 'Annie Oakley' a vastly engaging screen play, particularly when it is not bothering too much about its plot. For one thing the photoplay offers the most thoroughly delightful epic and indigenously American comedy character of the season... It is good old Chief Sitting Bull (magnificently impersonated by Chief Thunder Cloud), who in his earlier days had vanquished the dashing Custer at the Little Big Horn and in his later days had been persuaded to join the circus... It is Sitting Bull who walks off with the honors of the photoplay."—Richard Watts, Jr.

—N Y Herald-Tribune p9 D 24 '36

"Although the talented and attractive Barbara Stanwyck gives by far the best screen performance of her career in [this] superlatively entertaining film... it is an Indian named Chief Thunder Bird in the role of Chief Sitting Bull who is actually the real star of the occasion. In him is scattered a little minor part... Chief Thunder Bird walks right off with all the honors in the film—and this in face of some pretty superior competition. Told simply, engagingly and entertainingly, directed with meticulous care and with fine feeling for the period and its humor in the same, and capital and well-played by the entire cast, this 'Annie Oakley' is really a delightful picture that merits your attention and support."—William Boehnlein

—N Y World-Telegram p1 D 23 '35

"The problems of true love in a Wild West show are rather involved and when the director has indulged an urge to give us too many circus scenes. The whole matter gets oppressive as it goes on."
—John Mosher

—New Yorker p53 Ja 4 '36

;++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; ++ Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p58 N 16 '35

"A lovely part for Barbara—and a wholesome entertaining story, well cast and well played."
+ Canadian Moving Pic Digest p18 D 21
'35

Film Curb p16 N 1 '35

"It has action and comedy a-plenty."
+ Film Daily p6 O 29 '35

"The life of the famous markswoman is herewith turned into lively entertainment, although the story probably contains more fiction than fact."
+ Motion Pic Daily p9 O 25 '35
Motion Pic Herald p60 N 9 '35

"Barbara Stanwyck in 'Annie Oakley' should carry box office appeal, and if the picture misses as outstanding it's because the script and direction are not up to the star and title combination. It sums up as a swell idea that doesn't quite come through... After the early scenes, where she plays a backwoods girl effectively, Stanwyck does little for the picture, probably because the material gives her few opportunities. Picture is likely to appeal to elderly patrons who remember the period when William Jennings Bryan camp-paigned for free silver and when Colonel Cody was a national institution and on."
+ Variety p15 D 25 '35

ANOTHER FACE. D 18 '35 70min RKO
Players: Wallace Ford, Brian Donlevy,
Phyllis Brooks
Director: Christy Cabanne
A gangster, having had his face changed by a plastic surgeon, kills the doctor and then becomes a movie idol. His downfall results from an identification by the nurse who helped the doctor.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences."
N Y Archdiocese Motion Pic Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Good."
+ Endorsed Motion Pic Ja '36

"A somewhat involved but novel and exciting picture with numerous funny and thrilling episodes. The cast is capable and the director takes full advantage of the dramatic op-opportunity offered. Adults and young people."
E Coast Preview Committee

"The direction is excellent, the suspense well maintained, smooth fast-moving tempo, innumerable thrills, and many a laugh. Hilarious entertainment for the family."
Nat Council of Jewish Women

"To those who like a dash of the 'gangster' in their pictures this one may prove satisfying. Scenes of movies in the 'making' and a bit of romance lend interest to the picture.
Adult."
Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"This [is an] extravagant and lively farce which is adroitly handled and offers a glimpse of movie studio routine and a breezy satire on film publicity methods. Diverting for audiences over 14."
Nat Soc of New England Women's Clubs

"The background of movie studios is interesting and effective. On the whole, the picture is rather depressing though well cast and directed. Mature."
So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Amusing, fast moving and full of surprises, this picture is entertaining without calling for any intellectual concentration. Added interest is derived from an intimate view of backstage procedure in the studio. Adolescents: probably entertaining; children: no."
Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles
+ Fox W Coast Bul D 21 '35

"Unobjectional for adults."
N Y Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A: Comedy crime drama; Y: Entertaining;
C: Doubtful."
Par M p38 Mr '36

"Comedy-drama with a lot of amusing inside movie atmosphere. Family."
+ Wdy Guide D 14 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Trick melodrama with film studio setting."
Christian Science Monitor p13 Ja 1 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Packed solid with refreshing entertainment, this is a bang-up comedy-adventure that should be one of the box office successes of the year."

+ Box Office p25 N 30 '35

"It is fast-moving with the melodramatic stuff and laughs most plentiful, and is bound to register with any audience."
+ Film Curb p13 D 1 '35

"This picture of a new-faced gangster is a hilarious and dramatic piece of entertainment, which should please as good program material. The original story and screenplay is clever, has twists that one does not suspect, and holds interest all the way..."
+ Film Daily p6 N 18 '35
Motion Pic Daily p11 N 13 '35

"Farce comedy, sandwiched in between sinister drama, this picture, in burlesquing the business of picture making and of star making, provides much audience entertainment."
+ Motion Pic Herald p72 N 23 '35

"Family melodrama."
N Y Exhibitor p54 D 10 '35

"[The] picture has a bright and novel comedy-drama theme which, while not of dynamite rating and a difficult one to sustain for full footage, is amusing enough."
+ Variety p58 Ja 1 '36

ANYTHING GOES. Ja 24 '36 98min Paramount
Players: Bing Crosby, Ethel Merman,
Charlie Ruggles, Ida Lupino
Director: Lewis Milestone
Music and Lyrics: Cole Porter
Based on the musical comedy of the same title by Howard Lindsay and Russell Crouse.
This slight story, interlaced with hit vocal numbers and comedy sequences, tells the tale of a young broker who lacking ticket or passport follows a girl aboard a European-bound steamer. He falls in with a meek gangster posing as a pious clergyman who is in reality
Public Enemy No. 13.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory. Not recommended for any intellectual or emotional attention."
N Y Archdiocese Motion Pic Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A and Y: Very good of kind; C: Probably
good."
Christian Century p310 F 19 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; + Mediocre; + Poor; — Exceptionally Poor ANYTHING GOES—Continued

"Family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"This Bing Crosby musical is diverting and tuneful. Good. Mature." DAR

"The direction is far superior to the subject matter. We have only occasional compe-ments and some decidedly objectionable features. Adults and young people. E Coast Producers' Assn.

"Family and junior matinee." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"There may be a question of good taste in the use of clergymen for satire and comedy, but there is so much factual that it is apparent nothing offensive was intended, Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Off color jokes mar the film. Adults." Nat
Soc of New England Women
Fox W Coast Bul F 1 '36

"Family." Jt Estimates Ja 15 '36

"Good. Family." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"Much of the amusing satire of the stage version of 'Anything Goes' has been left out, its fast tempo slowed down and some of the best dialog omitted. The result is a series of episodes loosely strung together giving the effect of a rather mediocre vaudeville act. Adults. National Jewish Women's Soc. 14-16: harmless; children, 8-12: harmless." — Motion Pict R F '36

"Risque wisecracks and improbable situations provide fair entertainment in this soiled and solemn musical comedy. Fast moving direction, rather dubious lines in which Charles Ruggles outshines the Adults.
— Nat Council of Jewish Women Ja 22 '36

"Objectionable in part." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"The story is hardly of consequence, loosely knit, and tawdry. The direction is superior to the story, although several objectionable features have been included. . . Charles Ruggles, the pseudo-gangster, masquerading as a minister is not up to standard and his rôle is in questionable taste. S. M. Mullen
— The Pastic p90 Mr 4 '36

"Family." Wkly Guide Ja 25 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Something is missing in the translation of 'Anything Goes' to the screen and it's not just the title song, though that is gone, except for a line or two sung by Ethel Merman as the credits are flashed on. The musical comedy seems less spontaneous than when its first stage performance was given. There is a choppy quality now, perhaps because of the interpolation of so many new songs—and only one of them by Cole Porter—and the essential spontaneousness of the story is inclined to be buried by overwhelming settings." M. E. F.
— + Boston Transcript p1 Ja 23 '36

"It will get by, but just." — Canadian M p13 Mr '36

Christian Science Monitor p13 Ja 25 '36

"Because he gives us considerable story, not too much music and only one absurd dance spectacle, we are indebted to Barney Glazer for one of the most entertaining pictures of the season. . . Paramount was wise in not sacrificing the farcical values of the story to the moss effects which clutter up the majority of such pictures. However, it could not resist the temptation to end up with a spectacle, standing out of context, and only serving to delay the closing of the story. The audience witness it in a downpour of rain but no rain falls on the spectator, although one can see no roof covering it. But.
even so is 'Anything Goes' worth the time seen."
+ Hollywood Spec p12 F 1 '36

" 'Anything Goes' is the best sort of musical farce. Handsomely mounted and smartly directed by Victor Moore, 'Anything Goes' will not have you worrying about the outcome of the plot. In fact, audiences will find nothing to brood over. For the picture goes for its silly business with a sure and nimble grace that sweeps away all serious thought." — Liberty p31 F 22 '36

"Risk entertainment in a rather imbecile style. . . Surprisingly, the two song hits, 'You're the Top' and 'I Get a Kick Out of You', don't come off." — New Theatre p24 Mr '36

"'Anything Goes' is, despite its attractive pictorial background, a dull and commonplace musical comedy, with several good songs and a great mass of ineffective comedy and romance. Since on the stage it was one of the outstanding musical shows of recent seasons, I think that this may not be altogether wrong in blaming its decline on the failure of the picture to follow the original edition more carefully. . . Miss Merman, who has got all the action,
'Get a Kick Out of You' while riding through the night club air on a hoop, does as well as possible, but she cannot handle the singters on the screen as magnificently as she does on the stage. I think it is the screen's default. Bing Crosby is not among the heroes, and Charlie Ruggles, ordinarily a fine comedian, is neither a satisfactory substitute for Victor Moore nor a good imitation of him as Public Enemy No. 15." — Richard Watts, Jr.
+ N Y Herald Tribune p12 F 6 '36

"Charlie Ruggles who might have been downhearted over the character he must sing
the role Victor Moore had made so much his own, need not have worried. He is at his funniest in this picture. They have even some new lyrics for 'You're the Top' just to make it all shiny new, a first-rate musical comedy." —
Eileen Graham
+ N Y Sun p27 F 6 '36

"Paramount uncorked its pent-up version of 'Anything Goes' and instead of an exuberant pop and a merry fizz, there was merely a gentle sigh whose burden was: 'Where, O where is Victor Moore?' The answer is that Mr. Moore was not the only notable who were ready to turn their cameras upon the musical comedy hit of 1934-35. 'Anything Goes' with Mr. Moore is a complete comedy, 'You're the Top' without Cole Porter's lyrics. It gets by without distasteful music (but what a huge relief that is). Paramount has done a rather well by 'Anything Goes; screen version, in our estimation."
+ — N Y Times p23 F 6 '36

"Little of the gayety, fun and cheer that made 'Anything Goes' grade A musical comedy when it was presented on the stage seasons ago, materializes in the highly elaborate and somewhat forced screen version. . . Miss Merman and Mr. Ruggles do the best they can, but even their performances lack the snap and dash they should have. Mr. Crosby and Ida Lupino, who impersonate the dream girl, are singularly humorless in their parts." —
William Boehnel
+ + N Y World-Telegram p27 F 6 '36

"Some of the Cole Porter music (including the more sedate rhythms from 'You're the Top') will survive, fortunately, in 'Anything Goes.' " —
John Mosher
New Yorker p65 F 15 '36

"'Anything Goes' was very nearly a disappointment, for I had enjoyed the London stage version and Mr. Cole Porter's music. There are several new and uninteresting songs, the lovely lush sentimentality of 'All Through the Night' is missing, and a deadly wicked version done from the original charm of 'You're the Top.' " — Graham Greene
— Spec p800 F 21 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
"You won't recognize your favorite of the Broadway stage, but maybe if you didn't see the stage version, you will have a few moments of fun."

— Stage p8 Mr '36

"Critics looking for significance in 'Anything Goes' will have to look somewhere else. It is part of the cinema's campaign to cosmopolitanize its audiences. From an entertainment point of view it is rapid, hilarious, and competently directed by Lewis Milestone, whose penchant for playing with trick camera angles probably helps to draw out with point cost in a musical than in any other form of cinematography."

+ Time p57 F 3 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p30 Ja 4 '36

Canadian Moving Pic Digest p5 F 15 '36

"As a matter of fact all the cast do commendable work. Wherever musicals are liked they will be well received."

+ Film Curb p11 Ja 11 '36

"Bing Crosby is at his best yet, Ethel Merman puts over her songs and serves otherwise with highly pleasing results. Charlie Ruggles bats out the comedy for a home run, and additional enjoyment is provided by several other good trouper. So you can't say nothing of the show's original hit songs amplified by a number of new selections."

+ Film Daily p9 F 6 '36

"Fair. It has been given a lavish production, with a few good musical numbers. But the action lags considerably, some of the situations being dragged out to a point where they become tiresome. . . . Because of the risque dialogue of exhibitors have in their judgment and cannot show it to adolescents; children will not understand it. Adult entertainment."

+ — Harrison's Reports F 15 '36

"It is good musical comedy with a transatlantic shipboard background. The film affords Crosby his best role to date. However, judicious cutting would speed up the action in spots. . . . Lewis Milestone directed skillfully with tongue-in-cheek humor balanced by expert photography. The direction of the picture is high spot. Miss Merman's personality is infectious. The photography of Karl Struss is top-notch. This one should please all customers."

+ Motion Pic Daily p6 Ja 6 '36

"Showmen may wish to see the picture first, so as to take full advantage of production values, names and timeliness of the stage musical, from which the picture was taken."

Motion Pic Herald p62 F 22 '36

"Estimate: money show all the way down."

N Y Exhibitor p13 Ja 25 '36

"Cole Porter's lyrics, which were the essence and chief asset of the original stage 'Anything Goes,' have been sacrificed for and replaced by shot motion in this Paramount film adaptation. Generally good box office potentially. The casting of Bing Crosby, is alone a guarantee of attention. . . . But Charlie Ruggles as the gangster is miscast. . . . Where it muffs in a comedy way, it does so because Ruggles is not always suited to the situations he is called upon to carry. His acting is too sap character, and the role calls for low comedy acting, which is out of Ruggles' line."

+ — Variety p16 F 12 '36

"In transferring 'Anything Goes' to the screen little was changed with the exception of a short opening sequence and a chase combined with a musical production number for the finish. Overlength and lack in comedy tempo picture was dray as previewed. However this can easily be remedied. When clipped a bit, it should make top-notch entertainment, is easily the best effort of Bing Crosby during the past year."

+ — Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 4 '36

AUDIOSCOPIKS. (Special. Available for release) 5min MGM

Players: Pete Smith

"It is an exposition of the third dimension idea and calls for the patrons using toy colored spectacles which are handed to them by usher or by attendants at the door. . . . By holding these glasses to your eyes during the showing of the film, there is created the illusion of objects jumping out of the screen and at the audience. The stunt starts in a mild way and builds up to howling proportions when the projected items include a sliding trombone, a squirting water hose and even a rifle shot." Film Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Amusing and somewhat instructive as well. Family-Junior."

+ Wkly Guide Ja 11 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Reviewed by Louise Mace

Springfield Republican p2 Ja 9 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Here is a novel subject that will stir up gaiety and merriment in any theater. . . . The device was used many years ago in a 'Ziegfeld Follies' and is a matter of history. . . . Running comment by Pete Smith adds to the amusement."

+ Film Daily p10 Ja 13 '36

"In this third dimensional short, seen through the red and green glasses, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has introduced a real novelty to the screen. . . . Audience reaction was decidedly favorable when the short was screened before a capacity house. Pete Smith had described the use of the glasses and the showing began. The audience laughed, howled, ducked and thoroughly enjoyed it."

+ Motion Pic Herald p46 Ja 18 '36

BAD BOY. O 25 '35 56min 20th century-Fox

Players: James Dunn. Dorothy Wilson. Louise Fazenda

Director: John Elslystone

Based on a story by Vina Delmar. Torn between her love for a man of whom her parents disapprove and a strong affection for her family, the heroine secretly marries her lazy, pool-playing young man. He is instrumental in discovering a robbery, gets a job and claims his bride.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pic Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Fair. Family."

— Motion Pic Guide Mr '36

"Family."

Nat Bd of R M N '35

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

+ + Exceptionally Gooa; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor BAD BOY—Continued

"A: Light entertainment; Y and C: Yes." Par M p38 Mr '35

"Human and unpretentious... Nicely done. "Famly." + Wky Guide O 19 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p63 N 9 '35

"Occasionally effective, with Mr. Dunn in excellent form, 'Bad Boy' is still no match for 'Bad Girl'... Miss Delmar has a distinct sense of characterization, but this time she did not do so well by the plot... Louise Fazenda as the wisecracking, kindly boarding house keeper, gives her best performance in years." Elleen Creelman

— + N Y Sun p15 O 29 '35

"Story dwells at length on the shopworn mother-knows-best theme. A victim of the cutting room and other departments, 'Bad Boy' seems to have been manufactured in a hurry. The veteran Louise Fazenda has the choicest rôle and contributes a genuinely amusing performance as the wisecracking mistress of a boarding house." Andre Semwaid

— + N Y Times p16 O 28 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p54 N 16 '35

Film Curb p17 N 1 '35

"Although this yarn presents rather familiar stuff without any special new color or freshness, it has a certain amount of human interest appeal that makes it a suitable and moderately satisfying attraction for the family house." — + Film Daily p6 O 29 '35

BAR 20 RIDES AGAIN. D 6 '35 64min Paramount

Director: Howard Bretherton

Based on the famous Hop-a-long Cassidy character created by Clarence Mulford in novel of the same title. "Hop-a-long Cassidy and his hands wipe out Nevada’s gang of cattle rustlers, restoring peace to the territory once more." (Box Office)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pic Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '35

"The usual Western theme of cattle rustling, with beautiful scenery, hard riding and better-than-average treatment." Good + Endorsed Motion Pic Ja '36

"Fast movement, a nice romance, good character relief, satisfactory photography and story provide wholesome entertainment for the family. Adults: enjoyable; 11-18: good; 8-14: good. Family & junior matinee." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Beautiful scenery, fine riding in a tale of cattle rustling and bad men." E Coast Preview Committee

"Suitable for church halls, Catholic schools and family." Internat Fed of Cath Alumni

"Family." Nat Bd of R

"Family and Junior matinees." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

— + Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor

"Developed with considerable humor and some real acting, the film will please family and junior matinee audiences." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Exciting. Family." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Family and Junior matinee." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

— Fox W Coast Bui Ja 18 '36

"A picture for the family to enjoy together."

+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ja 18 '36

"Excellent. Family." Motion Pic Guide Mr '36

"A: Good melodrama; Y and C: Thrilling." Par M p38 Mr '36

Sel Motion Pic Ja 1 '36

"Junior matinee." Wky Guide D 14 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Time p41 D 16 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p51 N 30 '35

"Picture has been given splendid scenic background and some excellent camera angles. Have caught some thrilling moments. The old folks will go for this one and enjoy it as much as the younger set." +

Box Office p17 D 14 '35

"Another very satisfactory and exceedingly well done 'Hop Along Cassidy' story. It can hold its own anywhere. A high class drama of the outdoors that most any audience will enjoy. Just proves how fine a Western really can be." +

Film Curb p18 D 15 '35

Film Daily p4 N 30 '35

"An outdoor action Western, this one retains all the values that are appreciated by audiences and showmen in the familiar pattern and adds much that is unique." + Motion Pic Daily p8 N 29 '35

"This picture provides a soundly contrived story in which the elements of drama, romance, comedy, adventure, action and thrill are competently balanced." + Motion Pic Herald p66 D 7 '35

"Backed by a good script, better than average photography, nice background, this one should please in all western houses. Family Western." + N Y Exhibitor p33 D 25 '35

BARBARY COAST. S 27 '35 97min Goldwyn—United artists

Director: Howard Hawks

Based on the book of same title by Herbert Asbury. "In the days of '49, San Francisco's waterfront was known as Barbary Coast and is the setting for this dramatic story of Mary Rutledge, an eastern girl who comes to the coast to marry, only to learn that her sweetheart has lost his fortune and his life over a gaming table. Her subsequent life as a hardened roulette wheel operator in the establishment of Chamalis, boss of San Francisco, her romantic love affair with a tenderfoot, and the work of the vigilantes is portrayed in this tale of the old west." (Gen Fed of Women's Clubs)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Good of kind; Y: Unwholesome; C: By no means approved."

Christian Century p1438 N 6 '35
"Dealing with the robust life of the period, as it does, the picture is well handled and presented, exceptionally well directed, and acted with sincerity."

+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) 8S 18 '35

"Fine characterizations by an unusually well chosen and capable cast, outstanding photography, artistic direction and a tense and absorbing story add greatly to the entertainment value. Adults."

+ Jt Estimates 8 15 '35

Mo Film Bul p115 D '35

"Good. Adults."

Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"Mature."

Nat Bd of R M N '35

"Not once has Howard Hawks missed a chance to catch the spirit of the fog, the dim lights, the mud, and the life of the frontier that was San Francisco in her early days. Adult."

Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"A: Robust entertainment; Y: Doubtful; C: No."

Par M p38 Mr '36

"An expert melodrama of San Francisco in the gold rush days, centering around a gambler, a girl and a young poet. Excellent photography. M: Mature."

+ Wkly Guide O 12 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"No great thought or work expended by anybody except the photographers. Just a picture to sell."

Don Herold

+ Life p36 D '35

"Presented with considerable vigor and with something of that imagination which is never wholly lacking from the Hecht-MacArthur product."

Mark Van Doren

Nation p48 N 6 '35

"Though it is hardly an impressive panorama of San Francisco, it is engaging enough as a conventional melodrama with a superior background."

Richard Watts, Jr.

+ — N Y Herald Tribune p11 O 14 '35

"Excellently written and staged. It has academic value as an example of the orthodox approach to romance on the screen."

Andre Sennwald

+ N Y Times p33 O 20 '35

"The conventionality of the plot has provided a challenge to the director and the authors to make something real out of the hocus-pocus. They have succeeded triumphantly. There are moments of dramatically exciting as anything I have seen on the fictional screen."

Graham Groene

+ Spec p118 N 1 '35

Springf'd Republican p66 O 27 '35

"Staunch, colorful, thoroughly American entertainment. 'Barbary Coast' will probably please you very much."

+ Stage p18 N '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p59 N 16 '35

Film Curb p19 O 1 '35

"Adult melodrama."

N Y Exhibitor p36 O 10 '35

BEAUTY'S DAUGHTER. See Navy wife

BETWEEN MEN. Ja 25 '36 60min Supreme

Players: Johnny Mack Brown, Beth Marlon.

William Farnum

Director: Robert N. Bradbury

"The story centers on Brown's search for his guardian's granddaughter, who has disappeared with her parents in the western badlands following a family estrangement. The search not only leads him to the girl but to his own father, who had disappeared as a fugitive from Justice years before, after murdering a man whom he believed had killed the son."

Motion Pict Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A, Y and C: Good."

Par M p38 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Rough doings of the early 1900s down New Mexico way provide the occasion for 'Between Men' the extravaganza melodrama replete with bad hombres, fair maidens, stalwart heroes, fast riding and quick shooting. Done with a straight face, most of the film's melodramatic incidents, which are intended to be serious, become so supremely silly that at times the offering is really unintentionally the best comedy that has come this way in weeks."

William Boehnel

— N Y World-Telegram p13 Ja 28 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Plenty of thrills, a real story and beautiful scenery are all features of this well made picture."

+ Film Curb p18 N 1 '35

"A well developed, interesting story somewhat different from the usual thing, a lot of fast action, fast rides, beautiful outdoor photography and locations all combine to make this picture one which should [please] with the outdoor action fans."

+ Film Daily p6 O 28 '35

"This is cut pretty much to the standard Western story pattern and without any distinguishing virtues of its own. ... [It] requires a second feature for support."

+ — Motion Pict Daily p8 Ja 28 '36

"Esther's Play."

+ N Y Exhibitor p35 N 25 '35

"Inexpensively made Western which crams a lot of action into its comparatively short running time. ... For the dual billers strictly."

+ Variety p18 Ja 29 '36

BIG BROADCAST OF 1936. S 20 '35 97min Paramount

Players: Jack Oakie. George Burns. Gracie Allen

Director: Norman Taurog

Lyrics: Leo Robin. Dorothy Parker

When a radio station finds itself in financial difficulties, its two owners enter a contest involving a television device.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval."

N Y Archdioce Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"It is farcical in treatment, stimulating in appeal and affords every variety of entertainment."

+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) O 5 '35

Mo Film Bul p143 D '35

"Good. Family."

Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

BIG BROADCAST OF 1936—Continued

"Family." Nat Bd of R M S '35

"Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women O 1 '35

"A, Y and C: Entertaining." Par M p35 Mr '36

Complete nonsense, dispensed by artists of screen and radio, provides hilarious entertainment for audiences who wish to be amused rather than improved. The note of utter farce is well maintained, while the picture's tempo never slackens. Family.

+ Sel Motion Pic N 1 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p67 N 6 '35

Film Curb p15 O 1 '35

"Family musical." N Y Exhibitor p38 O 10 '35

BISHOP MISBEHAVES. S 12 '35 80min MGM

Players: Edmund Gwenn, Maureen O'Sullivan, Lucille Watson. Norman Foster

Director: E. A. Dupont

Adapted from the play of same title by Frederick Hatton. The Bishop is no doted on detective stories, decided to play detective himself when he became accidentally involved in a robbery. This led to trouble for the "criminals", young lovers who were actually trying to get back from a crook what he had stolen from the girl's father.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A refreshing farce comedy replete with suspense and delightful humor. It is expertly cast and directed and will provide excellent entertainment for the family." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) S 25 '35

"Scenario, direction, acting, all make the whole thing excellent entertainment. Family." + Nat Bd of R M S '35

"Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"A and Y: Amusing detective film; C: Thrilling." Par M p35 Mr '36

It is a wholesome, jolly story with lively dialogue, interesting shots of an old English inn, the Bishop's study and scenes in Limehouse. It is expertly cast and directed and will provide excellent entertainment for the family. Outstanding.

+ + Sel Motion Pic N 1 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p15 O 19 '35

"Flavored with young love and London fog, furnished with an assortment of Sweatered rongue talking Cockney out of the sides of their mouths, the plot capers at the Bishop's galtered heeds."

+ Time p26 S 30 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p56 N 16 '35

Film Curb p16 O 1 '35

"The picture is replete with comedy situations, capably handled. All the ingredients for a successful farce are there, combining appealing, sympathetic, and romantic comedy into a fast moving story."

+ Motion Pic Herald p64 N 9 '35

"Because it is stronger on dialogue, the show may do better in the higher sphere of houses, but in all departments it is a well produced job." + N Y Exhibitor p35 O 10 '35

BLAZING JUSTICE. (Release date not determined) S5min Spectrum

Players: Bill Cody, Gertrude Mesinger.

Director: Al Herman

A western melodrama.

Trade Paper Reviews

"Some of the hardest hitting and fastest riding seen on the Western plains of late will be found in this new Bill Cody outdoor drama—giving it average entertainment value for pictures of this type. Family."

+ — Box Office p49 F 8 '36

"Just a regulation Western, perhaps just a bit below average but Bill Cody tries like a Trojan to make it seem real."

+ — Film Curb p15 F 1 '36

"Satisfactory Western, settling conventional complications with a abandon of fast fights."

+ Film Daily p8 Ja 29 '36

"Blazing Justice' again presents Bill Cody and his Arabian Horse in his usual whopping hard riding, two-anted fun blazing exhibition of outdoor action that will satisfactorily fill the needs of the neighborhood double bills and win favor with the kiddies and lovers of horse operas.

+ Hollywood Reporter p4 F 1 '36

"As usual with Westerns there is the required quota of fights, shootings and hard riding that make for good juvenile fare. Adults will be entertained too. A good Western for Saturday morning juvenile trade."

+ Motion Pic Daily p10 Ja 29 '36

"Estimate: standard Western." N Y Exhibitor p31 F 10 '36

BOHEMIAN GIRL. F 14 '36 80min MGM

Players: Stan Laurel, Oliver Hardy, Thelma Todd, Antonio Moreno, Jacqueline Wells, Mae Busch, Darla Hood

Directors: James Horne, Charles Rogers

Based on the light operetta by Michael Woller, Pallen. "Gypsies Laurel and Hardy find the long-lost kidnapped count's daughter, care for her, bring her back to her home." (N Y Exhibitor)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Good of kind; Y and C: Very amusing." Christian Century p382 Mr 4 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"The careful direction goes far to make the production a completely enjoyable one. Family.

+ + Sel Motion Pic F 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Canadian M p41 Mr '36

"Here, with the aid of his talented script writers [Hal Roach] has patterned a story that, once it gets under way, is a constant explosion of ludicrous antics. . . As for the two principals, Laurel and Hardy, to this way of thinking, they are superb comedians, especially Laurel, who can steal any scene with

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; — — Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
a manipulation of that uncertain countenance of his. The production is careful, and the music, some of it from the score of the operetta. The pictures are in costume, and its natural settings have the impudence faintly to suggest certain ludicrous opera house backdrops. My rating: 5

+ N Y Herald Tribune p10 F 17 '36

"Against the antic lunacies of the screen's popular dimwits, Mr. Baile's score hasn't much chance. Most of it has been preserved, in one state or another, including the familiar 'I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls,' 'Then You'll Remember Me' and 'Heart Bow'd Down,' but, except in the choral singing, the voices are not particularly impressive. This is an opera that should not be seen if your interests are purely musical... Mr. Baile probably wouldn't approve what Laurel and Hardy have done to 'The Honest Girl.' Then again, being Irish, perhaps he would." F. S. Nugent

+ N Y Times F 17 '36

"Just why Laurel and Hardy have chosen to display their knockabout antics in operetta when they make full length features this department is not, unless it is to prove how really ludicrous this particular form of musical entertainment can be when presented seriously, without the oddities while the other actors play theirs straight, the Messrs. Laurel and Hardy obtain some good fun from the picture. It is a case of an entertainment form that used to delight millions but which now certainly belongs on the musical library shelves, Chiefly, the film relies for its entertainment value on the highjinks of Laurel and Hardy, who manage to keep it passably amusing." William M. Keighley

+ N Y World-Telegram p13 F 17 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Comedy version of the Baile opera tailored to fit the antics of Laurel and Hardy, but falling short of their standard measurements. Gags are overworked; scenic background and pleasing melodies are highlights. Family."

— Box Office p17 F 22 '36

"What story there is has nothing to do with the well known operas and it must be stated right off the bat that this is far below M-G-M and Laurel and Hardy standard... Unless your patrons go for ANY Laurel and Hardy comedy to be a flop, you've one to put over... It is our opinion that such pictures as this team make are not suitable for feature length status but as two reelsers we were a joy on any program."

— Film Curb p8 Ja 4 '36

Film Daily p5 F 6 '36

"This is a botched-up, burlesqued version of operetta of which Mr. ('Fatty') Arbuckle, Laurel and Hardy is treated in a comedy vein. Exhibitors may... find it suitable for children and Sundays." [Family]--

— Harrison's Reports F 22 '36

"The familiar operetta provides no more than average appeal as a background for Laurel and Hardy antics. They save the picture from complete mediocrity, the steady comedies on the screen. Exhibitors may... find it suitable for children and Sundays." [Family]—

— Motion Picture Daily p7 D 13 '35

"Showmen are given ample exploitable material, and it might be well for them to emphasize the fact that this is another Laurel and Hardy antics picture. Gags include: 'I Dreamt I Dwelt,' 'When Other Lips,' 'The Heart Bowed Down' and the new 'Heart of a Gypsy' by Charles D. Shilliker and Robert Shayan. Staff writers created the original libretto considerably."

— Motion Picture Daily p7 D 12 '35

"Showmen are given ample exploitable material, and it might be well for them to emphasize the fact that this is another Laurel and Hardy antics picture. Gags include: 'I Dreamt I Dwelt,' 'When Other Lips,' 'The Heart Bowed Down' and the new 'Heart of a Gypsy' by Charles D. Shilliker and Robert Shayan. Staff writers created the original libretto considerably."

— Motion Picture Herald p51 Mr 7 '36

"Estimate: enjoyable entertainment." + N Y Exhibitor p32 Ja 10 '36

"A comedy with little or no comedy, this one will have tough sledding. Laurel and Hardy are not going to be able to gain forgiveness for the sheer silliness of the comedy sequences while they make more serious implications of the plot, dealing in a heavy-handed way with kidnapping, infidelity, torture and thievery, are downplayed. But if there is one who goes through the motions of singing (a mere bit) with the voice track poorly synchronized to her, she seems to be unlike herself. A good deal of her footage, fortunately for her reputation was cut out just prior to release. There is not a good performance in the production." — Variety p12 F 19 '36

"Baile's light opera makes poor film fare for Laurel and Hardy. [An] attempt has been made to tie up the opera's music with a series of gags, all of which fall short of the team's best efforts. [A] slight thread of a story, in no way connected with the opera's libretto, is woven throughout the picture. However, story is so impossible it gets snickers from the audience. Musical direction by Nathaniel Shilkret is acceptable but lacks the snap to which movie picture audiences have become accustomed." — Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 12 '35

BON BON PARADE. D 5 '36 5Min Columbia

Director: Charles Mints

"It is the story of a little boy who makes a wish that he could always live in Candy Town. His wish is granted, and he finds himself seated beside the king of Candyland as the parade of candies goes by." Film Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Good." + Endorsed Motion Pic. Ja '36

Sel Motion Pic. Ja 1 '36

"Junior matinee." + Wkly Guide D '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"Color treatment, novel and amusing situations and a lively pace contrive to make this a corking cartoon subject." + Box Office p52 D 21 '35

"A gorgeous cartoon in Technicolor as good as anything in its field, and better than most. The ingenuity employed in the candy characterizations is unusual, even for the cartoon technique where this ingenuity finds so much expression." + Film Daily p15 D 10 '35

LE BONHEUR. F 27 '36 105Min Pathe-Natan

Players: Charles Boyer. Gaby Morlay. Michel Simon

Director: Marcel L'Herbier

Based on the play of the same title by Henri Bernstein. This is a dialogue film made in France with English sub-titles. "Philippine is an artist anarchistic of the type at one time rather common in Paris. She feels she must do something to dramatize the glaring contrast between wealth and poverty. So he selects the popular movie actress, Clara Stuart, as his victim and shoots her as she is leaving a theatre. She is a perfect personal appearance. She is only slightly wounded, because his hand trembled, as the result of his having fallen in love with her as she was singing 'Le Bonheur' during the performance. When Philippine is released there is a joyous, but..."
LE BONHEUR—Continued
brief, interlude, followed by a series of complications that spoil the "happy end." (N Y Times)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Unobjectionable for adults."
N Y Legion of Decency, Mr 12 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Le Bonheur"... seemed to me false and trivial in spite of certain fine moments."
Mark V. Doron
— + Nation p360 Mr 18 '36

"Le Bonheur" is a travesty on the ballyhoo and publicity built around screen stars and is presented by M. L’Herbier with neatness and humor, although his direction has serious flaws in its extensive use of dialogue at the cost of action. [The] story includes stretches of boredom. ... [It] is not very convincing, even though Mr. Bernstein’s text is so adroit that it gives the impression of being witty and satirical!"
Marguerite Tazelaar
— + N Y Herald Tribune p12 F 27 '36

"This entertaining picture moves rapidly and has plenty of humorous incidents, especially those turning on high-powered movie publicity. The routine plot is likely to be overlooked in admiring the excellent acting and striking scenes."
H. T. S.
+ N Y Times p18 F 28 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Well-acted production."
+ Film Daily p7 F 29 '36

"Another bad picture from France, but one which is likely to get a few nickels in the French-speaking sectors because of its stellar cast. Boyer and Gaby Morlay, plus the Henri Bernstein tag are bound to mean something, though the average auditor is pretty scarce to disappoint... Maybe if the photography were good (which it isn’t) and if the adaptation were good (which it isn’t) and if the direction were good (which it isn’t) the acting would carry it. As it is, it’s a case of several good performances in search of a film."
— Variety p31 Mr 4 '36

BOULDER DAM. Mr 14 '36 70min Warner Bros
Players: Ross Alexander, Patricia Ellis, H. Lyle Talbot.
Director: Frank McDonald

Based on the novel of the same title by Dan M. Temple; "Boulder Dam is the background for this story of the regeneration of an erratic, wisecracking, selfish young man to one who realizes the true values of life... The picture portrays the attitude of the men who daily risk their lives, not for bread alone, but pride in their contribution to the World’s greatest engineering feat." (Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"It is a decidedly a man’s picture... Interesting and admirable is the loyalty of the workers on the Boulder Dam and their pride in this great construction project of their country. Family," Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women’s Clubs

"Family." Nat Soc of New England Women Teachers

"Highly recommended for the family and especially interesting to men and boys. Family." Calif Council of Federated Church Women

+ Fox W Coast Bul F 22 '36

"Though the story is not particularly logical the background of the dam, with its intricate workings, is most thrilling and interesting."
— Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) F 10 '36

"Family."
Jt Estimates F 15 '36

"The background becomes an integral part of the plot in this lively melodrama. The tremendous engineering undertaking... gives us a picture of almost limitless power... It is not a great picture, but vividly realistic."
+ Motion Pict & Family p15 Mr 15 '36

"The plot taxes one’s credulity at times but is refreshing in its simplicity. Adolescents, 12-16: good children, 8-12: good."
Motion Pict R Mr '36

"Beautiful photograph of interesting scenes in the building of Boulder Dam somewhat redeem this trite story."
— Nat Council of Jewish Women F 15 '36

"Good. General patronage,"
Nat Legion of Decency F '36

"Adults and young people."

Good. General Patronage.
Nat Legion of Decency F '36

"An adult story. Good."
Nat Pub. and Teachers' I F 1 '36

"Brisk in action, racy in dialogue, and sympathetic picture of certain types of laborers. Family."
+ Wkly Guide F 29 '36

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences."
N Y Archdiocesan Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p31 Ja 25 '36

"A and Y: Stirring tale of British navy; C: Exciting; Par M p88 Mr '36

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“Unqualifiedly do I recommend this to every adult seeking an intensely diverting hour at the cinema. One scene seen to fine example of how talk and action must be combined to make a splendid motion picture. For that alone, it is a valuable production.” — Tom Heraholt, Hollywood Spectator p13 F 29 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“Gripping, vital drama of a man’s regeneration under the influence of a woman’s love, laid against the construction project in the United States. Family.”

+ Box Office p13 Mr 14 '36

“If you can get ‘em in they’ll enjoy this thrilling melodrama. Practically all of the action takes place about the dam location and there are any number of decidedly exciting sequences. It is not only exciting, [but also] interesting. There is a bit of comic relief here and there that registers.”

+ Film Curb p19 F 29 '36

“‘Boulder Dam’ may only be a program picture, but it has the stuff that should put it across strongly in this audience. Dealing with a subject concerning industrial working people, it should have wide appeal. . . The Boulder Dam project structure is mapped out so that it is worth and should serve as a good selling point.”

+ Film Daily p8 F 25 '36

“It has many worthwhile elements of appeal to mass patronage; will be on the ‘recommended’ list of the uplift organizations, and will have a vigorous box-office pull in the neighborhood houses, especially where the population is industrial and names are not everything. Its chief exploitation point is that it gives a vivid picture of one of the great construction projects of history, vigorously dramatizing it, and making of the work as an enterprise.”

+ Hollywood Reporter p4 F 19 '36

“With the spectacular ‘Boulder Dam project serving as a picturesque background, this picture is far from what may at first seem propaanda. Warners have taken occasion to build a thrilling story around the dam in addition to making the big hole in the Nevada mountains play an important part in the romantic leanings of Ross Alexander and Patricia Ellis.”

+ Motion Picture Daily p8 F 19 '36

“Loaded with spectacular thrills, but minus box-office names this one will have to fight for money. If sold properly through the title it should garner good money on dual bills.”

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 10 '36

BRIDE COMES HOME. Ja 3 '36 85min Paramount

Players: Claudette Colbert, Fred MacMurray, Robert Young

Director: Wesley Ruggles

Based on a short story of the same title by Elizabeth Sanxay Holding. “It deals with a spirited girl and a boy with a temper. Madly in love, they fight with each other, but both combine to fight against any and all comers who threaten his home and his woman. Battling all the way, in action and dialogue, they stake their biggest and most sensational brawl just prior to their wedding, when the girl threatens to wed another man and the boy has to hold the harder than ever before to win his fighting sweetheart back.” — (Motion Picture Herald)

Audio Suitability Ratings

“Class A. Approved for adult audiences.” — N Y Archdiocese Motion Picture Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

“A: Cheap; Y: Undesirable; C: No.”

Christian Century p18 Ja 22 '36

“Good.”

Endorsed Motion Picct Ja 23 '36

“A trite plot, with a cheap ending. Mature-family.” — DAR

Excellent technique and expert acting overbalance a somewhat weighty story, and produce an adult comedy filled with little suspense but many amusing situations. Adults and young people.” — E Coast Preview Committee “Family. Nat Bd of R.

“Adults and growing people.” — Mrs T. G. Winter Forest W Coast Bui Ja 4 '36

“Though the story is weak the picture will prove entertaining due to the excellent acting and charm of Claudette Colbert and the fine work of her team-mate, Fred MacMurray. Family.”

+ Gallery Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) Ja 11 '36

“Good. Family.”

Motion Picct Guide Mr '36

“Family.”

Nat Council of Jewish Women Ja 15 '36

“Unobjectionable for adults.”

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

“A and Y: Good entertainment; C: No Interest.”

Par M p88 Mr '36

*Sel Motion Picct Ja 1 '36

“Family.”

Weekly Guide D 14 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“The Bride Comes Home’ is a light tale that does not quite live up to its comedy possibilities.” — Laura Elston

+ Canadian M p38 F 3 '36

Christian Science Monitor p15 Ja 24 '36

“Deft comedy and light romance flow merrily at a dark tempo, directing attention (together with the expertness of the performances) away from the slightness of plot, and jolly piece of Colbert entertainment, but there’s nary a single illuminating characteristic that shines above all the horseplay.”

+ Commonwealth p244 D 27 '35

“Sheer charm may not be quite enough to carry a picture, but with Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray as chief charmers, ‘The Bride Comes Home’ manages to supply a merry hour. The story is thin, paper thin. There really isn’t any story, just a couple of attractive young people who love and squabble and fall in love again. To supply enough atmosphere and dialogue to make that seem like a picture and an amusing picture too Director Wesley Ruggles and the scenarist, Claude Bin- von, must have worked overtime.” — Eileen Creelman

+ N Y Sun p30 D 27 '35

“It is unlikely that [this] lightweight romantic comedy will cause a rush of blood to the head and interfere with the holiday digestive problems. Stemming from those earlier Paramount comedies, ‘The Gilded Lily’ and ‘Hands Across the Table,’ it works hard at being gay and effortless, and enjoys a moderate if less than devastating success at it. ‘A Bride Comes Home’ is pleasurably performed and shrewdly directed and gives every appearance of being an excellent motion picture in search of a plot. Its story is so thin as to be very nearly non-existent. After a while you can feel the nearness of the script, never granting as it strives to keep the narrative from going off into a corner and perishing gently of sheer inactivity. As a matter of fact, the boys deserve a bonus for getting the idea on
BRIDE COMES HOME—Continued

The laughs predominate but there is romance and drama as well.

— Film Daily p3 D 28 '35

Though it is a fluffy yarn with little body to it, generally satisfactory entertainment is provided by the good work of the cast and snappy direction of the script, which has a certain amount of brightness that makes up for much of the story's thinness... There are no empty words.

— Film Daily p3 D 27 '35

The story is not particularly exciting, but it is breezy, and moves along at a fast pace... Suitable for all. [Family.]

— Harrison's Reports D 28 '35

The slight plot is directed and played so expertly that the film rates as a good, light laugh-provoker. Emphasis on the heart-touched human comedy and the charming cast are the best angles.

— Motion Pict Daily p10 N 12 '35

Nicely staged, modern in atmosphere, moving with a zip and speed that occasionally becomes a bit intimate in action and dialogue, but never going overboard... As moral qualities are concerned, it deals in colorful and alluring situations.

— Motion Picture Herald p74 N 23 '35

Once again, Paramount writers have aimed for that certain style which made 'It Happened One Night' a hit picture; once again, Paramount writers have scored. Family comedy.

— N Y Exhibitor p54 D 10 '35

Claude Binyon has written an adroit scenario; Wesley Ruggles has given it life and palette; Fred MacMurray and Robert Young...

“After a languid beginning [the film] acquires a spry momentum on which it moves briskly and with humor to the end. Unfortunately, however, the spurt it makes, after testing for more than half its unreeling on the edge of insignificance comes too late to save it. If, then, 'The Bride Comes Home' lacks the snap and dash of 'It Happened One Night' or even 'Hands Across the Table' on which it obviously was patterned, the blame must be placed, possibly, on the authors, whose lack of invention in the film's early chapters is so glaring that this department at least is unable to greet it with complete enthusiasm. The final scene, with its last moment switching of bridegrooms and the bickering that goes on, is as uproariously funny as any comedy scene of the year. Unfortunately, it is not enough to balance the rest of the story, and so the film must be put down as one of those far-from-middling entertainments.” William Boehnel

— N Y World-Telegram p19 D 26 '35

“This] must be classed as one of Miss Colbert’s best films, and I doubt that its whimsicalities of the Chicago heiress who has gone broke and entered an editorial office will startle even the most devout Colbert addicts.” John Mosher

— New Yorker p55 Ja 4 '36

Reviewed by Graham Greene

Spec p50 Ja 10 '36

Time p25 Ja 6 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p33 D 28 '35

“When we tell you that 'Brides Are Like That' is just about as good as it can be, it doesn't mean that you should drop whatever you are doing and rush right out to see it. It's a little piece that moves easily as it peeks into the lives of a group of average citizens. For 'Brides Are Like That' has any claim to distinction at all, it is that the picture assiduously dodges all novel and surprising twists that might intrude into the story in its sleep... Moviesters who don't expect too much should find this an amusing portrait of what the studied aptitude of the screen writers have been able to think is typical American home life.” Beverly Hills

— Liberty p50 F 29 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

When the reviewers went to see 'Brides Are Like That' it was just about as good as it can be; it doesn't mean that you should drop whatever you are doing and rush right out to see it. It's a little piece that moves easily as it peeks into the lives of a group of average citizens. For 'Brides Are Like That' has any claim to distinction at all, it is that the picture assiduously dodges all novel and surprising twists that might intrude into the story in its sleep... Moviesters who don't expect too much should find this an amusing portrait of what the studied aptitude of the screen writers have been able to think is typical American home life.” Beverly Hills

— Liberty p50 F 29 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“Hilarious comedy. Family.”

+ Box Office p33 F 1 '36

“Unfortunately once again we find a picture with no big names but the exhibitor that sells this film to his patrons will find that they like it. The players all turn in first class performances and the direction is most workmanlike.”

+ Film Curb p14 Ja 25 '36

“The ingredients utilized have often proved their entertainment and commercial value... Just plain amusement, the show moves to a lively pace in exposition, dialogue and situations. It's the kind of show that can be offered to family audiences with confidence.”

+ Motion Picture Herald p75 Ja 25 '36

“Estimate: best for small towns, neighborhoods.”

— N Y Exhibitor p26 F 10 '36

“It comes as near perfection in sprightly, heart-warming comedy as the average diversion seeker will find.”

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 16 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
BROADWAY HOSTESS. D 7 '35 65min First nations.

Players: Winifred Shaw, Genevieve Tobin.
Lyle Talbot. Phil Regan

Director: Frank McDonald

In this musical drama of night clubs, gambling, Davyday and Park Avenue characters, a young singer is given a trial in a night club and makes good.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences."—N Y Archaeological Motion Pict Guide

"Good."—Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36

"A tawdry drama. . . A capable cast is wasted on a tiresome story. Adults: Fair; S-18: doubtful."—Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Forced comedy. Adults."—DAR

"A bright, amusing little comedy with a misleading title. The ethics are a trifle mixed—none of the hero's motives is particularly noble. Good. Adults."—Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"There is some good acting and attractive photography. Fair for adults."—Nat Soc of New England Women

"The general atmosphere is wholesome. Mature."—So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"The story is insincere, and it has questionable moral values. 12-16: no; 8-12: Imposible."—Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

Fox W Coast Bul D 7 '35

"Though not distinguished, the picture is not destructive in its ethical values. Family, mature."—Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) N 25 '35

"Unobjectionable for adults."—Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A: Diverting; Y: Mature; C: No."—Par M Mr '36

"Adults and young people"—Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"A 20-minute show stretched to 60."—Christian Science Monitor p15 Ja 4 '36

"We doubt if there exists any movie goer incapable of anticipating every turn of characterization and plot once the film begins. If we had only been able to anticipate the beginning without entering the theater!"—Robert Stebbins

"Lavish production—Moral Theatre p41 Ja '36

"The sultry Miss Winifred Shaw, cinema singer of torch songs, strives earnestly to be a star in the new film, but I fear that the odds are too great for her. . . Two unfortunate factors stand in the way of Miss Shaw's somewhat premature debut as a member of the Hollywood hierarchy. In the first place, at this particular time in her career it is doubtful if she possesses the equipment to enable an actress to carry a vehicle. As I understand it, vehicles really should carry actresses, but, unfortunately, in addition to Miss Shaw's incomplete equipment, 'Broadway Hostess' is a film that Greta Garbo, Jean Harlow and Charles Laughton working vaantly together would have difficulty in supporting if the producers of 'Broadway Hostess' were thinking of their hapless audiences, this is the picture that should have been called 'Show Them the Way Home.'"—Richard Watta, Jr.

—N Y Herald Tribune p12 D 16 '35

"In an excess of pre-Christmas tolerance the Strand permitted to slip its screen a dreary little something called 'Broadway Hostess.' This has all the faults, type casting, confusion, monotony and lack of imagination from which Warner pictures at their worst sometimes suffer. It has none of those Warner virtues, daring originality, pace and vision. It is, in fact, quite a bore . . . The story never begins, The picture, however, finally does end."—Ellen Greelman

—N Y Sun p36 D 16 '35

"With a thoroughness that is nothing short of sinister, the manufacturers of 'Broadway Hostess' have succeeded in rounding up all the cliches of Broadway comedy-with-music cycle and herding them into one photoplay."—Andre Sennwald

—N Y Times p23 D 19 '35

"There have been worse films shown on Broadway this season than 'Broadway Hostess' (Cries of 'No! No!'), yet the memory of this department cannot recall at the moment an offering so nicely compounded of tedium and embarrassment in equal parts."—William Boehnel

—N Y World Telegraph p35 D 16 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"This one is below average. Story is threadbare. . . ."—Box Office p23 D 21 '35

"Practically the only really entertaining features of this one are a couple of good songs and one good dance number. Other than that it is a trite-much The Trite story. Below average dialogue. No marquee names. Looks like a tough one to put over. . . ."—Motion Curb p17 D 15 '35

"While this picture makes no pretensions at being elaborate, in either story or production, it has much audience appeal, most of which lies in Winifred Shaw's singing. She has five or six specialties, and Phil Regan has one."—Motion Pict Herald p72 N 23 '35

"Family comedy drama."—N Y Exhibitor p33 D 10 '35

"Musical of program caliber which will prove adequate for family audiences, Production will have to pull hard to get average grosses. Direction of Frank McDonald is routine. Not much comedy, but what there is, is handled by Allen Jenkins."—Variety p12 D 18 '35

BROADWAY MELODY OF 1936. S 20 '35 110min MGM

Players: Eleanor Powell, Jack Benny, Robert Taylor, Una Merkel

Director: Roy Del Ruth

Set backdrop, the picture shows a young producer with a musical production is financed by a stage-struck heiress. When an ambitious dancer from the producer's home town asks for a tryout here finds her home although he loves her. She, with the assistance of his secretary, dons a blond wig and poses as a Parisian celebrity. She is made leading lady and after a series of comedy complications marries the producer.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A and Y: Fine of kind; C: Probably good."—Christian Century p358 O 23 '35

Mo Film Bul p143 D '35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
BROADWAY MELODY OF 1936—Continued

"Family," Nat Bd of R M 8 '35
"A and Y: Hilarious; C: Entertaining." Par M p38 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"A rousing good musical, quite as worthy of attention as the original 'Broadway Melody.' . . The picture is not up to the gay spontaneity of the early Astaire-Rogers musicals; but it's tuneful, lively, funny enough. The songs are hummable, and the humor pleasant if not brilli-
"—Eileen Crestman
+
N Y Sun p22 S 19 '35
"A superior song and dance show in the lavish Metro style, although it is scarcely novel in form.
+
N Y Times px5 N 3 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p56 N 16 '35

BROADWAY PLAYBOY. (Release date not determined) 6min Warner bros
Players: Warren William, June Travis, Barton MacLane. Gene Lockhart. Kathleen Lockhart
Director: William McGann
Based on the play, Home Towners, by George M. Cohan. The film was previously known as The Man from Big Bend. "Warren William, now a wealthy New York stock market man, is to marry June Travis. He calls his old smalltown pal, Gene Lockhart, to act as his best man. When Lockhart meets the girl's family, he believes that his friend is being taken for his money. He disrupts all plans and the engagement is broken and then Lockhart learns he is all wrong. He tries to straighten everything out and at last he is successful in bringing Warren and the girl together again."
(Film Daily)

Trade Paper Reviews

"[It] makes pleasing program entertainment and should do nicely with the family trade.
+
Film Daily p7 Mr 14 '36

"[It is] a mild but quite human comedy of Main Street and Wall Street that will serve pleasantly enough in the run of double bill [houses]."
+
Hollywood Reporter p3 Mr 11 '36

"This . . . is light, humorous film fare which should fill the producer's aim as average program entertainment."
+
Motion Pic Daily p10 Mr 12 '36

"[It] will take care of itself neatly for program returns and is a natural for the family trade.
+
Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 11 '36

(BROKEN TOYS. D 19 '35 8min United artists
Director: Walt Disney
"It shows how a group of discarded toys which, after having been relegated to the junk heap, are summoned to new life by the magical administrations of a sailor boy. He [rebuilt the toys to make] some of the screen's best-known personalities amid a variety of music, singing and gagging and then marches the gang off to spread good cheer in an orphan asylum."

Trade Paper Reviews

"As each of these new Disney subjects pops up, it gets tougher to find new superlatives to properly do them justice. Suffice [it] to say that this latest sample of 'Mickey' entertainment is well nigh the perfect color cartoon. The creative artistry of the Disney staff has never been seen to better advantage.
Young and old, poor and rich, will be delighted."
+
Box Office p32 D 28 '35

"Grand entertainment for children and just as certain to please the grown-ups. The color effects are gorgeous."+
Film Daily p12 D 18 '35

BUILDERS OF SOCIALISM. Ja 28 '36 88min
Amkino
Players: International Workers' Delegation
"Beginning with the arrival of the delegates to the 1935 Moscow May Day celebration, it shows the various army, navy and workers' units passing in review before Stalin. Then it takes you on a photographic tour through the new Moscow subway and to various factories where the workers are building socialism."
N Y World-Telegram

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"There is nothing much in it to recommend."
William Boehnel

Trade Paper Reviews

"[It has] historical and sociological interest rather than entertainment."
Film Daily p8 Ja 28 '36

"This may please members of the International, followers of Stalin's ideas and so-called Communists. But nobody else. Reason is self-evident—it's an attempt to make a glorified newspaper or travelog. No story. No plot."
Variety p15 Ja 28 '36

BULLDOG COURAGE. D 30 '35 60min Puritan
Players: Tim McCoy. John Elliott. John Woodbury
Director: Sam Newfield
A western melodrama.

Trade Paper Reviews

"There are a number of thrilling sequences, notably the dynamiting of a mine. It's all good stuff that certainly will please the outdoor melodrama fans."
+
Film Curb p32 F 22 '36

"Tim McCoy, starring in this Western, plays a dual role and in both provides plenty of action to come up to outdoor action standards."
+
Motion Pic Daily p10 F 17 '36

"Estimate: good Western anywhere."
N Y Exhibitor p21 F 19 '36

BURNING GOLD. D 1 '35 59min Republic
Ingraham. Frank Mayo
"An oil driller sinks a wildcat well, strikes a gusher, becomes a millionaire overnight."
Endorsed Motion Pic

Audience Suitability Ratings
Sel Motion Pict Ja 1 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
CALL OF THE PRAIRIE. Mr '36 65min Paramount
Director: Howard Bretherton
Based on the novel, Hop-a-long Cassidy’s "Protectors," by Clarence E. Mulford. This is the fourth of the Hop-a-long series. A western melodrama.

---

Trade Paper Reviews

"It should more than please in any situation. Family."
+ Box Office p2 F 15 '36
"To date this has been a series of topnotch outdoor features. They certainly must have proved well worth while to many an exhibitor."
+ Film Curb p11 F 1 '36
"Topnotch Western well handled all around with good story and pleasing musical bits."
+ Film Daily p1 Ja 24 '36
"It's pretty exciting Western fare that builds well and is full of explosive action with comedy well sprinkled throughout... Howard Bretherton has directed with speed and polish, keeping his action and gun play well paced, building his climactic suspense to the thrill point with firm hand. The Lone Pine exteriors and the ranch scenes have been grandly photographed by Archie Stout."
+ Hollywood Reporter p3 Ja 21 '36
"Although it is weaker in story material than its predecessors, still it offers enough action to give general satisfaction... Audiences who have followed the series should be pleased with this film."
+ Motion Picture Daily p7 Ja 22 '36
"As it appears on the screen, there is ample evidence indicating that the producer has made strong efforts to make this a worthy entertainment and showmanship successor to the previous pictures in the series."
+ Motion Picture Herald p48 F 1 '36
"Estimate: good Western anywhere."
+ N Y Exhibitor p27 F 10 '36

---

"Call of the Prairie" is top-notch entertainment. Paramount will have little trouble in selling it. Faced slowly at few intervals, piece could be speeded up to make it compelling entertainment for any spot with the exception of the ace houses. Then, too, judicious cutting to eradicate all but the levity expressed while dead men are lying around promiscuously would lend more authenticity to the otherwise capable yarn."
Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 21 '36

---

CALLING OF DAN MATTHEWS. D 10 '35 Tomlin Columbia Players: Charlotte Wynters. Mary Kornman. Richard Arlen. Frederick Burton
Director: Phil Rosen
Based on novel of the same title by Harold Bell Wright. "Arlen is the crusading minister who cleans up a town later aided by the heroine whose father owns a property on which, unwise even to him, he has his sights set. Right, of course, wins, with the minister getting the daughter as well." (N Y Exhibitor)

---

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdioecese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p21 Ja 25 '36

"Fair."
+ Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36
"Suitable for church halls, Catholic Schools, or family night programs." Int Fed of Cath Alumnae
+ Fox W Coast Bul Ja 25 '36
"Unobjectionable for general patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36
"A. Y and C: Fair."
Par M p38 Mr '36

---

Trade Paper Reviews

"Material is familiar. Fair for neighborhoods. Family melodrama."
+ N Y Exhibitor p33 Ja 10 '36

---

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36
"A. Y and C: Good Western."
Par M p38 Mr '36

---

Trade Paper Reviews

"It should more than please in any situation. Family:"
+ Box Office p2 F 15 '36
"To date this has been a series of topnotch outdoor features. They certainly must have proved well worth while to many an exhibitor."
+ Film Curb p11 F 1 '36
"Topnotch Western well handled all around with good story and pleasing musical bits."
+ Film Daily p1 ja 24 '36
"It's pretty exciting Western fare that builds well and is full of explosive action with comedy well sprinkled throughout... Howard Bretherton has directed with speed and polish, keeping his action and gun play well paced, building his climactic suspense to the thrill point with firm hand. The Lone Pine exteriors and the ranch scenes have been grandly photographed by Archie Stout."
+ Hollywood Reporter p3 Ja 21 '36
"Although it is weaker in story material than its predecessors, still it offers enough action to give general satisfaction... Audiences who have followed the series should be pleased with this film."
+ Motion Picture Daily p7 Ja 22 '36
"As it appears on the screen, there is ample evidence indicating that the producer has made strong efforts to make this a worthy entertainment and showmanship successor to the previous pictures in the series."
+ Motion Picture Herald p48 F 1 '36
"Estimate: good Western anywhere."
+ N Y Exhibitor p27 F 10 '36

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; - Poor; --- Exceptionally Poor
CALLING OF DAN MATTHEWS—Continued

Marguerite Tazelaur

— N Y Herald Tribune p6 Ja 25 '36

'The Calling of Dan Matthews' is as old-fashioned as Harold Bell Wright. Its characters are very black or very white, good or bad, wicked or noble, stamped out in a rigid dye. There is no flexibility in this tale, and not a ray of humor.” Eileen Creelman

— N Y Sun p8 Ja 25 '36

N Y Times p18 Ja 25 '36

"After watching the Rev. Dan Matthews save the younger generation of a fair un-named American city from the evils of drinking, gambling and necking, one is left with the suspicion that the crusading Dr. Matthews goes too far in his ambitions to correct evil, for not only does he put sinful and wicked night club and gaming owners to flight but also some innocent film goers since the photoplay is too weary and listless and juvenile to be effective either as a sermon or an entertainment.” William Boehnel

— N Y World-Telegram p12 Ja 27 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Film Curb p4 D 1 '35

"A fair program melodrama. Though the plot is based on the Harold Bell Wright novel, the story is practically new... Suitable for all. (Family)

+ — Harrison's Reports D 21 '35

"In transforming the Harold Bell Wright novel, Dan Jarrett and Don Swift have modernized it at the cost of sacrificing some of the punch the story had when written nearly 30 years ago." — Motion Pict Daily p4 N 23 '33

"Family melodrama." N Y Exhibitor p53 D 10 '35

"[it is] a slow article and creaky film material." Variety p16 Ja 29 '36

CAPPY RICKS RETURNS. S 25 '35 66min Repub.

Players: Florine McKinney, Robert Mc-Wade, Ray Walker

Director: Mack Wright

Based on novel of the same title by Peter B. Kyne. "Retired from active business, Ricks returns to the shipping trade to outwit his former rivals." (Box Office)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Arch-
diosece Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Feeble; Y: Fairly good; C: Little interest." Christian Century p1471 N 13 '35

Mo Film Bul p167 N 25 '35

"A. Y and C: Good comedy." Par M p55 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p35 N 23 '35

"Family comedy drama." N Y Exhibitor p36 O 10 '35

"Cappy Ricks, famous Peter B. Kyne character, is back in harness but he won't pull a load of business in his latest exploits on film." Variety p15 D 4 '35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

CAPTAIN BLOOD. D 28 '35 119min First national

Players: Errol Flynn, Olivia de Havilland, Basil Rathbone, Lionel Atwill, Guy Kibbee, Rod La Rocque, David Torrence

Director: Michael Curtiz

Based on the novel of the same title by Rafael Sabatini. This was originally produced as a silent picture in 1926. "The story begins in the reign of James II, one of England's best-hated kings. When a young doctor named Peter Blood is sentenced to death by the English, he is summarily convicted of treason, sent to Jamaica to be sold into slavery with a group of other convicts. But he escapes. At war with Spain, the pirates cannonade and capture the town, Blood and his friends escape to the pirate craft, turn pirates themselves. With British war at war with France and James II ousted at home by William of Orange, Blood gets a navy commission, captures a French man-of-war in a tremon-dous battle." (Time)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Arch-
diosece Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Excellent; Y: Fine thriller; C: Too strong." Christian Century p158 Ja 22 '36

"Very good." — Endorsed Motion Pict Js 36

"The dash, the color and the adventure characteris-tic of the pen of Rafael Sabatini are brought to the screen in a production breath-taking and of its historic and dramatic scope. Errol Flynn, a newcomer to the screen plays the leading role with spirit and ease. Family." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Excellent. Errol Flynn, as dauntless Peter Blood, heads a fine cast. Mature-family." DAR

"A fine story with a beautifully romantic and exciting plot and a cast that furnishes all the glamor and beauty expected of romantic acting. This, combined with superb direction, should give unique pleasure to all lovers of historic romance. The battle scenes are especially well done and the dramatic tension of the trial of the conspirators has seldom been equaled. One of the exceptional productions of the year. Adults and young people." E Coast Preview Committee

"Errol Flynn magnetically portrays Peter Blood and heads a particularly notable cast in this stirring Sabatini melodrama in which sound effects and photography deserve recognition. Michael Curtiz as director has given a truly great picture. Family." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Vigorous and likeable, with a remarkably effective musical score. Suggested for schools and libraries. Family." Nat Bd of R

"The story itself is a fine tale of adventure and romance, the sets and trappings are technically excellent, the direction effective, the photography outstanding, and interesting sidelights of the seventeenth century England with her elegant life and cruel injustices give color and authenticity to the background. Family and junior matinees." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"It is an amazing production from every point of view and audiences a-plenty will be carried away by its exciting action, its extraordinary setting, its music, and its photography. A revelation of screen beauty. A wealth of detail indicates painstaking research to reproduce a period that to modern eyes seems incredibly brutal and unjust, yet so colorful and thrilling. The roster of players is too long for individual comment, but the acting is uniformly excellent and the casting inspired... With all its mass action and its buffing sea fights, this picture has the individual touches that give reality to every “Superbly cast, intensely dramatic, and magnificently photographed, this stirring tale of the sea is notable for its crisp dialogue and perfonnation. Excellent playing carries the story thrillingly for audiences over 14.” Nat Soc of New England Women.

“Thrillingly effective drama...Wkly. The story, in spite of improbabilities, is exciting and dramatic and entertaining, perhaps too harrowing for young children. Family. So Calif Council of Fed Church Women.”

“Excellent family entertainment but not for excitable children.” Women’s Univ Club, Los Angeles.

“Fox W Coast Bul Ja 4 36”

“The photoplay sweeps forward with dash and power, mingling thills with realistic pic- turization of conditions in England and along the Caribbean Sea in the early colonial period... The replacement of screams and yells in the mob scenes by orchestral music is most effective and pleasant. Excellent playing and characterization alone should make this film worth of study.”

“Motion Pict & Family p2 Ja 15 36”

“Unobjectionable for general patronage.” Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 36

“A: Colorful melodrama with music and humor; Y and C: Thrilling.” Par M p83 Mr 36

“Sel Motion Pict Ja 1 36

“Vigorous and likeable, with a remarkably effective musical score. Suggested for schools and libraries.” Wdly Guide D 21 35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“The film slumps a bit when it gets into sentimental passages. That almost always happens with pirates who become romantic. They seem ill-at ease. Probably they have too little of polite society. But when the story is concerned with deeds of daring and swashbuckling battles it has a heartiness and gusto that more than makes amends for its softer moments.” E. F. M.

“Boston Transcript p10 D 26 35”

“It is a lusty, blustering, bloodthirsty tale, admirably done, largely because Errol Flynn, who plays Blood, has brought to life a difficult, swashbuckling role, without swashbuckling. Our guess would be that this picture will have wide acceptance.” Laura Edleston

“Canadian M p36 F 35

Christian Science Monitor p13 D 25 35

“‘Captain Blood’ has been lavishly staged with thorough knowledge and superior skill—from the broad-bladed cutlasses and seventeenth-century corsets to the great ships of the day and its cities, fortresses and ports. It is real pirate cloth...Thrillingly realistic is the bow-to-bow sea battle between Captain Blood’s ship and two French seventeenth-century warships.” J. P. Cunningham

“Commonweal p272 Ja 3 36

“Another addition to the group of great pictures which the film industry is presenting to the world to demonstrate the limitless sweep of the screen as an art, one that is entitled to a place two ranks above most of the talkie-Wanda productions which it resembles not at all. ‘A Midsummer Night’s Dream’ and ‘The Story of Louis Pasteur.’ For all his imperfections, there is nothing in it to offend the most sensitive spectator. It has great esthetic appeal. Hal Mohr brings to the screen a curious and exotic effect of the photographic art, scenes of brooding beauty in which shadows are used with striking effect. A unique production of the portraiture is graphic to the point of being startling.”

“Hollywood Spec p11 Ja 15 36

“Errol Flynn makes his first important screen appearance in ‘Captain Blood,’ a picture which might have been written especially for this gay, reckless Irish personality... This is straight romantic melodrama, told with all the excitement and genuine action that audiences can crowd into two hours’ entertainment. The dialogue is sometimes awkwardly high-flown, but a cast so completely realized that it is hard to find even that difficulty.” Eileen Creelman

“N Y Sun p25 D 26 35

“With a spirited and criminally good-looking Australian named Errol Flynn and with a steel buckle to the hilt, the photoplay re-captures the air of high romantic adventure which is so essential to the tale. Providing a properly picturesque background for Dr. Blood’s piratical career, the Warner Brothers skilfully reconstruct the England of the sixteenth-century Monmouth uprising, the West Indies of tortured slaves and savage masters, and the ships that sailed the Spanish Main flying the jolly roger... Mr. Flynn has an effective cast at his back. Olivia de Havilland is a lady of rapturous loveliness and well worth fighting for. Lionel Atwill, as the cruel governor of Port Royal, is an honest spy. For all its gore I believe it is a far more excitable undertaking than it would have been twenty years ago.” Andre Sennwald

“N Y Times p14 D 27 35

“Recapturing the turbulent, intriguing England of King James and the colorful West Indies, the motion picture and the theatre, in an enormously effective manner, ‘Captain Blood’ is exciting and thrilling swashbuckling entertainment. Filled with stirring adventures in love, war and politics, it is...always exciting and seems [an] outstanding film.” William Boehnel

“N Y World-Telegram p19 D 26 35

“Another big, showy, costumed thing is ‘Captain Blood,’ which, however, is not going to take the honors for ‘Mutiny on the Bounty.’ The thing is quite talky all through, and rather overlong. The real young Errol Flynn, as Captain Blood, seems to be rather too gent a Flynn for Caribbean brutality...In the event of any human being in the entire affair turns out to be guy Kibbee, and of course good, honest Mr. Kibbee can’t swing a whole buccaneer picture.” John Mosher

“New York p57 D 25 35

“Rafael Sabatini’s lusty tale of piracy and romance is high sans at its peak. In the 17th century, it has been lavishly and thrillingly filmed for the sound screen... For those who enjoy swashbuckling adventures and bloodshed, it offers splendid entertainment... Olivia de Havilland as Arabella, Lionel Atwill as her uncle, Ross Alexander as the pirate, Ross Alexander, David Torrence, Guy Kibbee and many others in Captain Blood’s band all give excellent accounts of themselves.” Louise Mace

“Springfield Republican p2 D 26 35

“Captain Blood seems to be Warner’s answer to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer’s ‘Mutiny on the Bounty.’ Whatever the literary merits of Rafael Sabatini’s florid novels, they make excellent cinema fare when served with the crispness and graphic quality of Captain Blood.”

“Time p16 D 30 35

Trade Paper Reviews

“A lively and powerful adventure tale, with romance as well as thrills. It [is] ideal entertainment for all types of audiences.”

“Box Office p59 Ja 11 36

“Just about the perfect picture. It should make history at the box offices of the country for it has universal appeal and certainly will give entire satisfaction wherever presented. Warners have turned out a wonderfully thrilling screen presentation of a novel, colorful, romantic, entertaining and in deed a perfect picture.”

“Film Corp pl4 Ja 4 36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; + Exceptionally Poor
CAPTAIN BLOOD—Continued

"Worthy of particular commendation is the fidelity to detail in recreating the period of King James. They have caught the feel and spirit of that period and the tragic and troublesome times, and the observer is transported into a world of romance, high adventure and reckless swashbuckling, looking long since gone. The battle scenes between the two French frigates and Captain Blood’s buccaneer ship are splendid... The picture will with surging suspense and realism from one stirring episode to another, mounting to an altogether satisfactory climax."

- Film Daily p4 D 19 '35

+ Excellent entertainment for all types of audiences, adventure, pathos and romance... Suitable for all. ([Family].)

- Harrison's Reports Ja 4 '36

"The swagger, the glamour, the road to high adventure and romance penned in the Rafael Sabatini original have been caught effectively and thoroughly by Michael Curtiz. The producer, apparently recognizing the breadth and sweep inherent in the material, has gone the limit in transferring it from the pages of the novel to the screen in terms of images that arrest. In point of production investiture, 'Captain Blood' ranks in the front rank of Hollywood's recent efforts... There is action, plenty of it. Good adventure and action: a richly tang that sets the blood tingling and enormously effective battle scenes."

- Motion Picture Daily p4 D 19 '35

Motion Pict Herald p33 Ja 11 '36

"Footnote: another big money show; explicit according to Family melodrama."

- *N Y Exhibitor p32 Ja 10 '36

"'Captain Blood,' is a big picture... It will do very well and establish both Errol Flynn and Olivia de Havilland... Miss de Havillard, who comes most to attention in 'Wind,' a Midsummer Night's Dream,' is romantically beauteous as the unsympathetic plantation owner's (later governor) sister in this drama. This film is packed with melodrama, early romantic interest, although all too paltry. It's really one of the prime shortcomings of the production. Camera work is excellent and the special E. W. Korngold score (he also did the 'Midsummer Night's Dream' musicalization) further enhances the technique, in which the Fox publicity is prominent."

- Variety p4 Ja 1 '36

"(It) should grow steadily by word of mouth, coming close to being all things to all men... and most women—an entertainment... Michael Curtiz, exceptionally fine direction is her responsible for much of the picture’s strength and success... 'Wind' loses the melodramatic color and vigor, nor does he slip in keeping his parade of characters engaging and consistent, his romance high and suspense sharp. Smallest detail and the plunging masses of battling pirates alike have been handled with highest skill."

- Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 31 '35

CAPTAIN JANUARY. (Release date not determined 75min 20th century-Fox)

Players: Shirley Temple, Guy Kibbee. George (Slim) Summerville. Buddy Ebsen Director. Victor Schertzinger

Based on the novel of the same title by Laura E. Richards. An old crusty lighthouse-keeper on the New England coast rescues a little girl and adopts her. When she is six, a woman truant officer threatens to have her placed in an institution because she is not being brought up properly. Just in the nick of a wealthy aunt and uncle of the child are discovered and in true fairy-tale style plan to get the girl into the house of the wealthy aunt and uncle.

- Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 31 '36

"Once again heroine Shirley Temple continues to excite the trade by making each picture better than the one before. 'Captain January' will be in the top rank when the grosses are tabulated, thanks to Miss Temple, a good cast, a swell script. Estimate: money show all the way."

- N Y Exhibitor p35 F 25 '36

"'Captain January' is an ideal vehicle for the Temple younger, as it has here been adapted to the little star's talents, and will stand amongst her best. It is an insurance hit for heavy cleanup. Shirley Temple carries her every scene with that combined childish naivete and child-like perception of what is involved which distinguishes her as an entertainment genius as well as a lovely child."

- Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 30 '36
CASE OF THE LUCKY LEGS. O 5 '35 77min Warner bros.
Players: Warren William, Genevieve Tobin, Patricia Ellis, Allen Jenkins
Director: Archie L. Mayo
Based on a novel of the same title by Erle Stanley Gardner. This is the third of the Perry Mason series by Gardner. Perry Mason, attorney, in his usual nonchalant manner unravels a murder mystery involving winners in a contest.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"A: Hardly; Y: Perhaps; C: No."

Christian Century p164 D 25 '35
"The action is confused and at times very informal. Adults."

- + Nat Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) S 22 '35

"A: Entertaining; Y: Un elevating; C: No."
Par M p38 Mr '36

"A fair mystery play in which the murderer has no real motive for the crime and the general tone of the picture is so sad. Adults."

- + Sel Motion Pict N 1 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"This one has been jazzed up to resemble in many of its strained moments 'The Thin Man,' so revered at present by Hollywood producers who have eyes upon its box-office record." Marguerite Tazelaar + N Y Herald Tribune p15 N 1 '35

"A routine murder melodrama tries to vary its expected course by adopting a nonchalant attitude." Eileen Creelman + N Y Sun p35 N 1 '35

"A gay, swift and impertinent excursion into the sombre matter of murder, [it] is at once the best of the Erle Stanley Gardner collection and deserves being rated close to the top of this season's list of mystery films." F. S. N. + N Y Times p25 N 1 '35

N Y World-Telegram p14 N 2 '35

"Perry Mason is my favourite film detective; he is curiously little known, perhaps because his films, as 'second features,' are usually not shown to the Press. The 'Case of the Lucky Legs' is an admirable film. ... Perry Mason is a hard-drinking and not very scrupulous lawyer. He owes something to the character established by Mr. William Powell: there is the same rather facetious badinage with a woman assistant, but he is, I think, a more genuine creation. ... To those who do not yet know Perry Mason I recommend 'The Case of the Lucky Legs' as good Mason if not good detection, better, I think, than 'The Case of the Curious Bride.' " Graham Greene + Spec p170 Ja 31 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p54 N 16 '35
Film Curb p10 O 1 '35
"A generally enjoyable affair packed with good laughs provoked by the combination of amusing situations, fast action, funny lines and effective work by the capable cast."

+ Film Daily p7 N 1 '35

"Apparently convinced that strict mystery murder drama is nothing new to moviegoers, Warner schematised [this] into a comedy-mystery-murder drama that has benefited because laughs have been [inserted]. Family drama."

+ N Y Exhibitor p34 O 10 '35

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; + - Mediocre; - Poor; — - Exceptionally Poor

CASE OF THE MISSING MAN. O 19 '35 58min Columbia Players: Roger Pryor, Joan Perry, Thurston Hall
Director: D. Ross Lederman
A newspaper reporter quits his job to become a street photographer who sells pictures to people he snaps. By accident he photographs a hold-up and becomes involved with a crook who wants the picture.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. General approval."

"A mildly entertaining comedy marred by a strain of vulgarity which does nothing to bolster its obvious weaknesses. The suspense element is well handled, but the entertainment value, as a whole, is just average. Adults & young people."

E Coast Pre-view Committee
"Family." Nat Bd of R + Fox W Coast Bul D 7 '35

"Novel idea. Family."
+ Nat Bd of R M '35

"A and Y: Trifling; C: No interest."
Par M p38 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
Christian Science Monitor p13 N 13 '35
Springfield Republican p6c D 15 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
"An exciting and original mystery yarn has been turned into a good piece of program fare. Although highly dramatic and puzzling but slightly for romance, the tale moves so swiftly that the spectator forgets to look for implausibilities."

+ Box Office p23 D 21 '35
Film Curb p12 D 15 '35
Film Daily p8 N 22 '35

"Family melodrama."
+ N Y Exhibitor p29 N 10 '35

"Acceptable diversion."
+ Variety p11 N 27 '35

CATTLE THIEF. F 23 '36 55min Columbia
Players: Ken Maynard, Geneva Mitchell, a daughter, a crook, a western melodrama.
Director: Spencer Gordon Bennett
A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Good. General patronage."

Lion N 25 '36
"An average Western story. Family."
+ Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"Estimate: [good] Western."
+ N Y Exhibitor p54 Mr 10 '36

CEILING ZERO. Ja 25 '36 55min Warner bros.
First national
Players: James Cagney, Pat O'Brien, June Travis, Stuart Erwin, Isabel Jewell
Director: Howard Hawks
Based on a play of the same title by Frank Wead. "Cagney [a dare-devil pilot] reigns
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

CEILING ZERO—Continued

illness to keep a date with a student flyer, July Crawford, alias Ervin, attempting to land with his radio out of commission and the ceiling zero, with a fog hanging on the ground, crashes to a spectacular death. The film ends with Cagney grounded, taking a mail plane to Bermuda, while love and new ice breaking equipment and crashing after radioing important information. (Motion Pict Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class B: Pictures in this classification are judged to be unsatisfactory. Not recommended because of subject matter or treatment," N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide.

"Extensive research, expert photography, direction by Airman Hawkes, and excellent characterizations by the principal players result in a cinema Epic of the Air. Adults: worthwhile; 11-15: good; 8-14: too exciting." Califf Congress of Par & Teachers.

"Excellent. Graphically realistic, this play keypainted the high tension and tight plot of the film. Adults: very acceptable. Whole family."

"Authentic routine of a large airport is fascinating and interesting. Family," Nat Council of Jewish Women.

"A highly entertaining and instructive picture, depicting the courage, loyalty and friendship necessary for the success and safety of aviation. Family." So Califf Council of Fed Church Women.

"An unusually well constructed play, intensely dramatic, skillfully directed and acted. Adults & young people," Mrs T. G. Winter + Fox W Coast Bul Ja 12 '36

"Adults and young people," Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ja 8 '36

"The picture is exceptionally well done, the whole being so well coordinated that each faction concerned with its making deserves credit. While grimness is inevitable, the script is nicely balanced with humor-humor that is not always in the best of taste, but is in keeping with the character. The problem and the appeal is adults. No compromise having been made to make it acceptable for any other group. Adolescents, 12-18: too sophisticated; children, 8-12: unsuitable." + Motion Pict R Ja '36

"Objectable in part," Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A: Gripping aviation melodrama; Y: Sophisticated," Par M p38 Mr '36

"Recommended to the Committee on Exceptional Photoplays, Family." + Wkly Guide Ja 18 '36

+ Wkly Guide Ja 18 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p4 Ja 18 '36

"This is one of the best of the modern melodramas about aviation. Romance, some clever comedy and a hint of tragedy are blended skillfully until this movie is far more interesting than the popular stage play by Frank Wedekind. Lauren Berton + Canadian M p42 Mr '36

"'Ceiling Zero' is more than screen entertainment. It is a documentary, an informative presentation of the present status of aerial transportation, as up to date as this morning's gripping drama. For given the facts, it has had few equals on the screen during the last twelve months, and no picture has been cast more exactly, acted or directed more effectively. . . . Put 'Ceiling Zero' on your list of things to see. It is another of Mr. Cagney's impressive offerings." + Hollywood Spec p12 Ja 4 '36

"Unless the movie industry surprises everybody, including itself, 'Ceiling Zero' will be one of the best pictures of 1936. . . . Outside of a few vivid second crowd scenes, speed and explosion, a few conventional shots of planes in the fog, flyers at the stick, people at the phone, the film is still a stage play with one main and two subsidiary sets. The flyers, the chief, the big shot, the steeple, the mechanics, together with their wives, girls and other troubles, have to bring their lines and their crises into the control room, either personally, by radio or by phone. It has an extremely high quality for the original stage play that the lack of diversity is not felt, that the whole thing was built right, constructed and presented at the start, so that it makes one of the very rare pieces to be transferred to the screen as a good movie." Otis Ferguson + New Repub p369 F 5 '36

"All things considered the best Cagney film since 'Public Enemy.' The humor of the film, coming at the inopportune moment of the average Hollywood dissection into sex, is at times refreshingly bawdy." Robert Stebbins + N Y Times p32 F 5 '36

"The new picture is, unless my memory is going back on me, the best and most moving of the aviation dramas. . . . Splendidly played by James Craig, Pat O'Brien, and Stuart Erwin, 'Ceiling Zero' belongs among the cinema triumphs of the new year." Richard Watts, Jr. + + N Y Herald Tribune p12 Ja 20 '36

"'Ceiling Zero' has turned out quite as grand a picture as it promised to be. Out of smashing good material the Wadsworths have again made a smashing good melodrama. To the swift action and brisk dialogue of the play it adds a few cinematic excellences of its own, brief glimpses of the fog-laden sky and the planes flown blind by lonely, frightened pilots. . . . 'Ceiling Zero' is one of the heart-stirring melodramas as you're apt to see this season." + + N Y Sun p17 Ja 20 '36

"Tenderly written, handsomely produced and played to an almost perfect flown, this may be the best to come from the Warner studios. The screen has presented no more effective episode of stark drama than that in which Clarke's plane, lost in the fog and with its radio apparatus out of commission, fights its way to the field, tears into high-tension wires and sears an agonizing path along the ground, leaving a flaming trail behind it. This once, give Hollywood its due: It has given wings to a play about aviation." F. S. Nugent + + N Y Times p23 Ja 20 '36

"If the story of 'Ceiling Zero' is somewhat hollow and forlorned by now the briskness and nervous pace with which it is staged and the superior manner in which it is acted more than compensate for these defects and leave you with the feeling that the film is one of the most exciting of all the cinema aviation sagas. . . . Swiftly paced, robust and full of suspense and horror, 'Ceiling Zero' easily goes on your 'must' list of films." William Boehnel + N Y Journal-American

"We who are about to fly perhaps shouldn't be the ones to drop in on 'Ceiling Zero.' If you are not going to fly, however, but just walk, 'Ceiling Zero' will do because [It] gives us Cagney [in] one of the most satisfactory roles he has presented—not one of his usual types this time, but a sensible sketch of the kind of man who makes trouble wherever he goes and for everyone he meets. It's Cagney's picture, I should say, but Pat O'Brien, the part, has nothing to do with it. He adds only to the general disturbance." John Mosher

New Yorker p16 F 1 '36

Springfield Republican p16 Ja 26 '36

"An even more exciting, if possible, screen play than the stage production."

Time p16 Ja 27 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p25 Ja 4 '36

"It has just about everything that goes into the making of a high grade picture. There is plenty of action, a nice romance, thrills and suspense. The cast do a fine job with Cagney and O'Brien standing out in roles particularly suited to them. 'The Devils' Drum' is above par and the production is high grade."

Film Curb p14 Ja 4 '36

"Every once in a while a picture comes along that just grips and holds you; 'Ceiling Zero' definitely is one of those lingering with you, one that you make it a point to see. When good pictures are considered, this one deserves plenty of consideration. 'Ceiling Zero' reminds one of some of the big war pictures except that the foe is weather rather than man."

Film Daily p7 D 24 '35

"A thrilling air melodrama, but somewhat depressing because of the death of two of the leading characters. Because of the wise- cracks it is unsuitable for children or adolescents. Adult entertainment."

Harrison's Reports Ja 25 '36

"Here is a film to delight the hearts of show-men. It is swift, telling drama every inch of the way and is given compelling hu- man qualities by a splendid cast. Strong ap- peal both for men and women is woven into a tale of love at an airport. Howard Hawks' direction deserves high praise for its tension, speed and dramatic emphasis. "Commander Frank Wead made a brilliant screen play from his own of the same name."

Motion Pict Daily p3 D 21 '35

"Marked by splendid individual performances, which cause the preview audience to interrupt with applause, and spectacular production effects, the story has a tense, exciting, stimulating human interest quality. It is soundly produced, there being ample evidence of careful preparation with a view to establishing quality screen merchandis- e. There is also hilarious comedy, just enough but not too much love interest and a definite trend of understandable human inter- est."

Motion Pict Herald p61 D 25 '35

"An excellently produced picture... Ably directed by Howard Hawks, the show is well made in the Warner melodrama manner, should have a pleasing result at any box office."

N Y Exhibitor p32 Ja 19 '36

"All the punch of the original stage play, plus the added bonus the screen can con- tribute to this type of material, is intact in 'Ceiling Zero.' It has a fine cast that's double- headed in the air and ground, and an entertainment wallop of extraordinary power... Cagney reverts to the 'Public Enemy' days in characteristic manner. There is a punch at the finish. From all angles it's not only a natural role for Cagney, but a break for him also. He has been softened up too much lately as an actor and a character in routine scenarios but this one makes up for a lot... The Clarke crash in 'Zero' is about the most exciting piece of stage or screen business that has come along in seasons. It will keep the auditors on edge for a solid fifteen minutes."

 Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 29 '35

Motion Picture Review Digest 23

CHARLIE CHAN AT THE CIRCUS. Mr 27 '36 70min 26th century-Fox

Players: Warner Oland. Kaye Lute. Francis Ford

Director: Harry Lachman

Based on the Earl Derr Biggers character, this is the eleventh in the series of Charlie Chan films. Against the colorful and thrill- ing background of a large circus Charlie Chan unravels the conspiracy of an embittered man who commits murder and establishes what he believes to be the perfect alibi."

(Gen Fed of Women's Clubs)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Mr 1 '36

"An escaped gorilla and a nocturnal visit by a snake make the picture exciting for nervous children. Family."

Nat Council of Jewish Women Mr 4 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"While the picture has its defects—the cast is not uniformly good, much 'mugging' is indulged in by what appear to be amateurs, and Mr. Lachman's direction is not as fluid as one might wish—Warner Oland's Charlie Chan dominates the scene, as he should, smoothing through rough passages, and making the ostensibly incredulous the ostensibly incredulous. Kaye Lute, as young Lee Chan, offers, as usual, a good filial characterization."

Marguerite Tazdaart

"The plot, in spite of the trimmings, is as mechanical as most mystery thrillers. So is the acting. Charlie Chan's humorous suavity and his son's contracting impetuosity con- tinue to keep this series the most engaging, if not the most exciting, of the murder melodrama school."

Eileen Creedman

N Y Herald Tribune p16 Mr 19 '36

"There are degrees even in the quality of a product as standardized as a Charlie Chan picture, and the latest, 'Charlie Chan at the Circus' is good Chan. Unlike its run-of-the-mill predecessor, 'Charlie Chan's Secret,' which depended mostly on trick camera work... it pays some attention to the elements of plot structure, and relatively little to pseudo-Con- fucian maxims, though not little enough, per- haps. Mr. Lachman's direction, of course, any Chan picture is bound to be an essentially hack job at this late date, regardless of highlights."

B. R. Harris

N Y Times p22 Mr 19 '36

"Although I am among Charlie's fondest admirers, I must admit to bitter disappointment over his latest exploit in crime detection. As usual, the bulk of the acting falls upon Warner Oland's shoulders as Charlie, and, as usual, Mr. Oland responds with a fine, sure
CHARLIE CHAN AT THE CIRCUS—Continued
performance. . . But 'Charlie Chan at the Circus' is far from topnotch.” William Bochne-

— + N Y World-Telegram p23 Mr 19 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“[It keeps] the audience in a state of suspense from the very beginning to the closing shot. This is one of the best of the Charlie Chans and it should clean up with the fans who try to guess the solutions.”

+ Film Daily p9 Mr 17 '36

“A steadily growing audience awaits these sure-fire offerings. They never fail of satisfying returns and this one will do, as well, if not better than its forerunners.”

+ Hollywood Reporter p3 Mr 12 '36

“There is considerable opportunity for lively exploitation in this latest of the Chan pictures, and it is obvious from the title. . .
the exhibitor has the circus atmosphere as well as the Chan mystery to sell.”

Motion Pic Daily p10 Mr 6 '36

“Oland gives his standard Chan interpretation which is tops. Second in acting honors is Keye Luke, who, as the detective’s son, handles most of the comedy in the picture and handles it ably. . . Writers go a little haywire on circus stuff but only circus fans will notice it. Photography and art work are both very good.”

Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 12 '36

CHARLIE CHAN IN SHANGHAI, O 11 '35
69 min 20th century-Fox
Players: Warner Oland, Irene Hervey,
Charles Locher, Keye Luke
Director: James Tinling
Based on the story by Edward T. Lowe and Gerald Fairlie and the character Charlie Chan, created by Earl Derr Biggers. “In this murder mystery story we go with Charlie Chan to Shanghai where the Chinese philosopher, ably aided by his eager young son, uncovers the identity of a gang of opium smugglers and solves a murder.” (Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs)

Audience Suitability Ratings

“A: Good of kind; Y: Absorbing; C: Good of kind.”

Christian Century p1471 N 13 '35

“The acting is of the best. The direction leaves much to be desired with delectable bits of irony and comedy adding much to one’s enjoyment. Family.”

+ Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast)
S 18 '35

“The oft-quoted Chinese proverbs casually spoken by the master detective are always interesting; while his personality lends sanity and calmness to all situations. Well directed and acted. Possible for family.”

+ Jt Estimates S 15 '36

Mo Film Bul p185 N '35

“Good. Family.”

Motion Pic Guide Mr '36

“Family.”

Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

“A, Y and C: Good melodrama.”

Par M p35 Mr '36

Wkly Guide S 25 '35

Audience Suitability Ratings

“A: Excessively good; B: Good; C: Fair; D: Mediocre; E: Poor; F: Exceptionally poor

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript D 13 '35

“An admirably balanced film. I believe I like this series partly because Mr. Warner Oland makes Mr. Chan such a gentle, endearing soul—far from the conventional movie flatfoot or from oily Philip Vances. (Not for children.)” Don Herold
+ Life p30 Mr '36

“The picture is not as interesting as some of the Chan films have been, due possibly to the more hackneyed story and the banal treatment.
It employs the old formula of presenting its murderer early in the picture, using the remainder of the footage to follow first one bypath and then another toward a solution.” Marguerite
Tazeelaar

+ N Y Herald Tribune p11 O 14 '35

“A cheery and properly baffling addition to the Chan series, introducing Keye Luke as the son of the amiable Chinese sleuth.”

+ N Y Times p25 O 29 '35

“[It] is a well-made, if conventional, piece of genuine Chan.” Graham Greene

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office ps4 N 16 '35

“Family.”

Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast)
O 12 '35

“The atmosphere is eerie, the sound and photography excellent, while Warner Oland portrays a skilled cop who, with inscrutable character, plays a murderer mystery in his reliable and pleasant manner. . . Capable direction achieves the proper suspense. Family.”

+ Nat Council of Jewish Women O '35

“Uneobjectionable for general patronage.”

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '35

“A and Y: Good mystery; C: Frightening for nervous.”

Par M p38 Mr '36

“A well sustained murder mystery with tricks of fake spiritualism adding a weird and creepy note. The plot is a good one and the cast able, while the direction achieves suspense and a sinister atmosphere. Family. Too frightening for small children.”

+ Sel Film Pic N 1 '35

“Fairly interesting. Family.”

— Wkly Guide D 14 '35

“With the passing of the years the Charlie Chan mystery film has grown to be much standardized and about as uniform in quality as any other consistently selling product of the industrial age. . . There is nothing in [this new one] (including Warner Oland) to surprise or
Trade Paper Reviews

Film Curb p13 Ja 25 '36

"Intriguing; murder mystery up to usual standard of 'Chatt'; series patient and sure to please these fans."

+ Film Daily p7 Ja 18 '36

"A good murder mystery melodrama. It holds one in tense suspense throughout; and the fact that the spectator suspects several persons of having committed the crime intensifies one's interest in the outcome. . . . Because of the murder it is unsuitable for children or adolescents. Good for adults."

+ Harrison's Reports Ja 4 '36

"Family mystery drama." N Y Exhibitor p3 N 10 '35

"Warner Oland's new Charlie Chan story is easily the best of his recent screen efforts. It should make him a hit with his fan clientele and get satisfactory box office returns."

+ Variety p15 Ja 22 '36

CHATTeRB0X. Ja 17 '36 65min RKO

Director: George Nichols

Based on the play of the same title by David Carb. A stage-struck country girl who is eager to follow in her mother's footsteps and go on the stage runs off with a theatre group to New York and manages to get the heroine's part in a version of a play in which her mother stars. She never sees the star until she is famous, and her mother has long since given her up as a failure. She finds that the play is a burlesque of her mother's play and that the audience laughed at her histrionic talents, she returns home to the country. To amass money she finds that the boy in the theatrical group whom she loved had followed her back home.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdioce Motion Pic Guide p24 Ja 25 '36

"A program picture which will please younger audiences. Family." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Pathos and comedy well blended. Mature-family." DAR

"A gay little picture with a nice blending of humor and pathos, Family." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"A humorous sequence between the father and grandfather, back-stage scenes and performances of the Village Players are well done, and add much to a picture that just stops short of being dull. Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"The story has elements of human appeal and is quite innocuous. Fair entertainment, family and junior matinée." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Good cast and photography does not make up for the lack of suspense and dramatic development. Family." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"There are bits of delicious comedy and an engaging sincerity about the players which give a pleasant flavor to the whole. Family." Mrs T. G. Winter

"Misplaced over confidence and final disillusionment are pathetic, just as disillusioned and the rather clever handling of the theme keep it from being really painful. Good family picture."

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; +— Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"This [is a] somewhat saccharine melange." Laura Elston

— Canadian M p2 Mr '36

Christian Science Monitor p15 Ja 4 '36

"Anne Shirley gives us in this picture a tender and appealing interpretation of the same sort of role Katharine Hepburn played so vigorously in 'Morning Glory'—a stage-struck girl who talks incessantly; and as the more experienced actress succeeded in doing in 'Morning Glory,' Anne succeeds in doing in 'Chatterbox'; she makes her eloquence entertaining. The 'Chatterbox' will go forth to meet the unanimous condemnation of the big city critics who judge the values of film entertainments by their heads and not by their emotions; who pride themselves on being hard-boiled and who scoff at sentiment. But the vast majority of film patrons who like decency and cleanliness on the screen, will like it for its possessors of such virtues as a delightful little picture, a simple story of a simple country girl and a rich city boy—just an old story told many times in a delightful little picture, a simple story of a simple country girl and a rich city boy, but never with finer flavor or more appealingly."

+ Hollywood Spec p15 Ja 4 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Delicate, whimsical material, woven into a delightful, entertaining pattern that is a credit to producer Robert Sisk."

+ Box Office p25 Ja 4 '36

"A delightful, homey play that will please the large majority of film fans, especially the folks in smaller towns. As played by Anne Shirley it makes for superior entertainment. A fine, clean yarn of the down-to-earth variety that has been given an adequate production and directed with skill. Supporting cast all do their full share to make this an unusual promising picture, especially Phillips Holmes and Edward Ellis;"

+ Film Curb p12 Ja 4 '36

"This one outpoll yankees 'Pollyanna.' It is just too sweet and innocent for critical words. We can safely say that it is filled with the naive charm of unworldly childhood. It won't 10n the sophisticates and may even make them sneer. But for the family trade in the hinterlands it should be a riot."

Film Daily p8 Ja 25 '36

"Very pleasant program family fare. Although the plot is not particularly novel, it takes on a certain freshness owing to the delightful performance given by Anne Shirley. Good for all. [Family.]"

+ Harrison's Reports p7 Ja 11 '36

"Concentrating practically all the interest on Anne Shirley this is a pleasant small drama. The locale is rural New England and New York. . . It is a suitable all-family attraction."

+ Motion Pict Daily p4 D '36

"Keyed to a pitch of warm human interest, this nicely developed comedy romance has much to make many hearts glad. High in sympathy stimulating quality, it's that kind of show which, in blending its various elements, aims to provoke smiles and light
CHATTERBOX—Continued

laughter. Built on a semi-hokum formula, it's of the character that usually gets under the skin of the masses. As it treats of ordinary human beings involved in situations that might happen to anyone, all traces of forced or artificial theatrics are intelligently eschewed. Of particular potential appeal to family-type audiences, it also affords much to engage the attention of the sophisticates. While not a pretentious attraction, the show is one in which audiences are quite apt to find more entertainment worth than they sometimes do in more elaborately staged features boasting a host of stars.

+ Motion Pict Herald p65 D 28 '35

"Family comedy drama."
N Y Exhibitor p32 J 28 '36

"There is a picture of charm and compelling heart interest which is so well written, played, directed and produced that it offers the most delicate whimsy without losing the common appeal necessary for satisfactory box office. 'Chatterbox' gives Anne Shirley ample opportunity to exercise her spell as the screen's most effective ingenue."
+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 18 '35

CHILDREN OF MONTMARTRE. See La Maternelle

(†)COCK O' THE WALK. (Release date not determined) 8min United Artists

Director: Walt Disney

"Disney has created a prizefighting rooster riding down Main Street on a truck in a boxing ring. A hen deserts her amusing rooster friend to blink cooly up at the fighter. They go into a dance with tango music sounding a lot like La Cucuracha, and the fun begins. There are big chorus numbers, eggs [dance] in the nests and hatch out dancing chicks. Ducks join [the dance] in formations." Film Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Amusing. Family."
Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) D 2 '35
Sel Motion Pict Ja 1 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Splendid animation and splendid Technicolor make this a Walt Disney Silly Symphony a feast for the eye. Class A product."
+ Film Daily p1 D 19 '35

COLLEEN.
Mr 7 '36 105min Warner

Players: Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler, Joan Blondell, Jack Oakie, Hugh Herbert, Louise Fazenda, Paul Draper

Director: Alfred E. Green

The slight musical comedy plot concerns a millionaire's effort to help a gold-digging young woman who works in a candy factory.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Adults and young people."
Mrs T. G. Winter
Fox W Coast BuI F 22 '36

"[It] will prove entertaining to the entire family." Ainsloe in Auxiliary

"Good diversion. Family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good. Mature." DAR

"Mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Light and amusing musical comedy for family audiences." Nat Soc of New England Women

Fox W Coast BuI Mr 7 '36

"Family."
Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) F 21 '36

"It is lengthy, of necessity, for it accommodates an elaborate fashion show, many dance numbers, sentimental songs by Donald, and more as a preposterous plot which does its best to hold all these together in one cohesive unit. If it fails, it is because the picture is primarily a vehicle for the diversified talents of the cast. Adolescents, 12-16: fair; children, 8-12: bore-some."

Motion Pict R F '36

"Elaborate production and pretty girls materially aid this rather tiresome musical drama. For adults."
+ — Nat Council of Jewish Women F 25 '36

"The dialogue is entertaining; the sets and costumes are pleasingly artistic, but the music is disappointingly thin. The chorus routines, though of unquestioned entertainment value, are too elaborate to suit the plot."
+ — Scholastic p90 Mr 7 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Warner Brothers may justly claim a front-rank position in motion-picture selection and creation, but in this instance they make it a difficult to conclude the thought that a 'Midsummer Night's Dream,' a 'Petrified Forest' and a 'Louis Pasteur,' in a row, had the same sponsorship as 'Colleen,' poor Colleen. This latest interpretation of an all musical romantic comedy is hardly worth the celluloid on which its scenes and melodies are printed." J. P. Cunningham

— Commonweal p580 Mr 20 '36

"The weakness of the picture as it was previewed is its lack of regard for the interdependability of its elements. Hugh Herbert's performance is broad farce, while Ruby, Dick and some of the others play straight. Warner Brothers have been giving us a succession of notable pictures. Doctoring will bring 'Colleen' more nearly to its standard. Even as I saw it there is much in it to be commended, much to please both the eye and the ear."
+ — Hollywood Spec p12 F 1 '36

"'Colleen' is obviously a million-dollar picture, a fact which may scare a certain number of people, liking it. It is one of the most with most Warner musicals it has its eye-filling moments. For the most part, though it's a heavy-going affair in which the stars—Ruby Keeler and Dick Powell—are over-shadowed by their helpmates, (2½ stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p28 Mr 7 '36

"It is greatly to be feared that the reliable formula is beginning to creak at the joints just a trifle. . . Whatever freshness there was in the antics of the familiar story has long since disappeared. Even the music seems a bit weary and Miss Keeler and Dick Powell carry on with a somewhat inapril romance to the accompaniment of tunes that, to put it very mildly, lack excitement." Richard Waits, Jr.

— N Y Herald Tribune p8 Mr 9 '36

"It is all a little hectic, more than a little funny, resulting in a fast-moving, entertaining comedy which can carry the few routine musical numbers. Mr. Powell, rather less fortunate than usual in the songs assigned him, croons occasionally; so does Miss Keeler who really shouldn't. Hugh Herbert, goofy and affable as usual, is the real star of 'Colleen.' Jack Oakie adds a few merry moments. It is a light, really amusing routine comedy."
Eileen Creelman
+ — N Y Sun p14 Mr 9 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; – Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

"There isn't much point in composing a critical analysis of these Warner musical films: you just accept for granted the way they are done. Our long-experience the [ Warner] Brothers have become proficient mixers and, large and large, their formula has been successful.

If you are curious enough to require a more definite answer, we might offer a few comments. It is not that films contrast if freshly as it might have been three years ago before '42nd Street' and its descendants accustomed us to this sort of thing. Especially for one ballroom dance by Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire to a whole program by Miss Keeler and Mr. Powell. While individually they are a personal performance, you might happen to like the Keeler-Powell musicals, you probably will find this one entirely satisfying. Hand in hand with the former was the derivation of the past to last year's and the year's before that is unquestionable.

Our final word, and it pains us to say it, is that they are giving up Dick Powell for Lent."

F. S. Nugent

— + N Y Times p20 Mr 9 '36

"Competent performances by Hughes Herbert and Jack Oakie are the chief blessings of 'Coleen,' the ambling, frequently amusing, but, on the whole, rather uninteresting film musical. It is not for Mr. Herbert and Mr. Oakie. 'Coleen' would have very little in it to recommend. It is a dance film for William F. Nolan."

— Variety p15 Mr 9 '36

"I'd gladly sit up through Jack Oakie's rendering of 'A Boulevardier from the Bronx,' some of his nonsense dialogue, some of Mr. DeLorenzo's, some of Mr. Draper's, some of Joan Blondell's insidious little tricks, but I think I could miss easily most of the dance numbers, and I fear I am calm about all the Dick Powell carollings."

John Mosher

New Yorker p35 Mr 14 '36

"'Coleen' may turn out to have a more limited appeal than earlier Warner Brothers musical shows in which much the same cast has performed spontaneous fashion.

Hugh Herbert's demented chuckle is as funny as usual."

— + Time p58 Mr 16 '36

Trade Press Reviews

"Best part of this one is a topnotch cast. Family."

Box Office p49 F 8 '36

"While this is an entertaining musical it is not nearly as good as that many of its films of this sort have been. Very likely when some footage has been eliminated this will prove a far more entertaining film."

— + Film Curb p14 F 1 '36

"The story is one of those inconsequential trifles that is merely intended to carry the spectacle numbers and the specialties, as well as the warbling of Dick Powell. What the production lacks is any real suspense or building up to surpising or real climax. It seems repetitious in spots. It's a highly polished and brilliantly presented affair lacking in the genuine human qualities or emotions that even this type of light entertainment needs. The cast is exceptionally competent throughout. There is plenty to talk about, in spectacle, fashions, dance, song and fine musical score—and Herbert for some really refreshing comedy."

— + Film Daily p8 Mr 9 '36

"This musical is a weak sister according to any standards and will have to depend upon the drawing power of its top names alone. Legitimate laughs are few and far between in the dialogue, although many talented comedians were cast."

Hollywood Reporter p3 Ja 21 '36

"Three tuneful songs and some sumptuous settings in which novel dance numbers are staged, help make this a pleasant hour and one-half of entertainment. It's not one of the best musicals in which Powell and Miss Keeler have been teamed, but it has its moments and is very good laugh material established by Hugh Herbert and Louise Fazenda as his wife."

— Motion Picture Daily p3 Mr 3 '36

"Where names alone are the primary consideration to patrons and exhibitors this picture is not lacking. Where entertainment worthy of the producing company's reputation as makers of colorful romantic musicals and the prestige and profit it claims for itself as a consideration, it's a horse of another color. On several occasions to succeed in getting over its comic contrivances to the laugh of the audience comedy, in this angle there is definite possibility that in certain quarters questions may arise as to its moral value."

— + Motion Picture Herald p46 F 1 '36

"On cast, 'Coleen' should have no trouble getting good returns in all spots. The picture overlooks the advantages that a light yarn gives it, emerges as a saleable entry from the Warners studios. Estimate: names will draw anywhere."

N Y Exhibitor p28 F 19 '36

"While the picture is far from tops for the Powell-Keeler combination, it has enough comedy, music, dancing and performance reliability to insure satisfaction. In terms of ticket sales, it should be well over on the profit side, although unable to match the showings of several prior Powell-Keeler musicals."

+ - Variety p15 Mr 11 '36

"The picture falls short on the entertainment end of the equation. Fans who have become enthused over Ruby Keeler's dancing will be disappointed in her efforts here. First, Miss Keeler is one of the very few dancers who has not overcome her handicap to dancing, second, Paul Draper, one of the stage's outstanding tap dancers, has applied ballet technique to his work. When the pair dance, only Draper is noticeable, although the camera has done its best to favor Miss Keeler."

+ - Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 21 '36

COLLEGIATE. D 27 '35 75min Paramount

Director: Ralph Murphy

Based on the play, "Charm School," by Alice Duer Miller and Robert Milton. Jerry Craig, a happy-go-lucky play boy inherits a girl's semi-nary from his aunt. Not knowing what to do with it, but anxious for a new adventure he decides to turn it over for its management aided by his valet, a newspaper pal and a wealthy but witless young man. When they find that the school is in real jeopardy, they change it to a "charm academy" with courses in the arts of makeup, personal charm and social graces. The semi-nary becomes a sensational success and Craig marries the demure, mousy-fie secritary.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval."

N Y Archdiocese Motion Picture Guide

Catholic News p21 Ja 25 '36

"Another youthfully diverting musical picture. Family and junior matinee."

Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Mediocre. Adults."

DAR

"A stupid and in spots vulgar comedy is not aided either by Joe Penner's inarticulate or Jack Oakie's singing. Adults and young people." El Coast Preview Committee

"A few catchy songs, frivolous, sophisticated comedy, in which the director makes the most of every situation."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Ned Sparks and Joe Penner are both excellent. Family." Nat Ed of R

"[This is] a rather dubious musical farce. Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; + + Mediocre; - Poor; - - Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

Newsprint and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p4 D 28 '35

Reviewed by Richard Watts, Jr.

N Y Herald Tribune p15 Ja 23 '36

"Collegiate" is one of those typical Paramount musicals, characteristic in casting, pace and atmosphere of that that studio. This new one is less typical in almost entirely upon personal appreciation and taste of the personalities involved. "
F. S. Nugent

Boston Transcript p25 Ja 23 '36

"With the aid of several really good performances, there are those offered by the incomparable Jack Oakie, lovely Francis Langford, Lynne Overman and Ned Sparks—and, if you are one of his admirers, Joe Penner—along with a couple of great tunes,
'Collegiate' turns out to be, in a spasmotic way, a fairly amusing picture."

William Boehner

New York Daily News p25 Ja 23 '36

"The whole affair is inconsequential, except for the Penner public." John Mosher

New Yorker p47 F 1 '36

"Springfield Republican p4 Ja 26 '36

"Collegiate—Continued

"Most of the entertainment values of pictures of this type depend on individual taste.

Family matter, "Nat Ped of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"With a plethora of comedians, this extravatagous fare is unamusing for any except possibly the younger fans. A few well sung musical numbers fail to lift it above a com-onplacing, wearisome attempt at humor which fails. 'Covered Drinking.'" Nat Soc of New England Women

"A mediocre fare with only fair entertainment. Some drinking. Mature." So Cali Council of Women

"Unobjectionable for general patronage.

The Wkly Guide Mr 36

"A light and amusing story, done in musical comedy style. Ned Sparks and Joe Penner are both excellent."

Wkly Guide D 21 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Film Daily p8 Ja 23 '36

"Just a moderately entertaining program comedy with music. It should appeal mainly to young people because the music and dancing is one of the popular jazz variety. Suitable for all."

Harrison's Reports Ja 4 '36

"With girls and [jokes], music and dancing, lots of farce and plenty of novelty, this fresly handled collegiate yarn is catchy entertainment.

It is well mounted, colorfully modern in atmosphere, with specialty features carefully woven into the plot. The motivation is handled with concentration on lightness and gaiety."

MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

"Always light and gay, breaking up its straight line continuity with cleverly interpolated (joke) sequences, it bubbles and froths merrily. Built to catch the fancy of the masses, and particularly to stimulate the curiosity of the younger folks, it provides quite a bit of entertainment and plenty in the way of novel story idea and established cast names."

COMING OUT OF THE PANTRY. N 25 '35

British & Commonwealth Union artists

Players: Jack Buchanan, Fay Wray, James
Carew, Olivia Blakeney, Ronald Squire

Director: Jack Raymond

Based on the novel of same title by Alice Duck Miller, and the play, the film is the story of a young British nobleman who, having lost the family money entrusted to him in a bank smash in New York, meets an old servant who is butler to a rich American and gets a footman's job from him. His employer's pretty niece sees through the imposture and falls in love with the impostor, although there is a plan to marry her to his bumptious elder brother. At a dinner party, the impostor of the latter, and the footman proposes in the interval of serving the courses and finally takes his brother's place as guest and as husband-designate." (Motion PICTURE DAILY)

Audience Suitability Ratings

Mo Film Bul p123 D '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Good amusing farce, if a bit dated." Laura Elston

"'Come Out Of The Pantry' has, I'm afraid, no charm, very little humour, and the situation has a tendency to die. For the rest, there is our finest actor of comedy, Ronald Squire, playing a butler's part yet again. This actor is blessed with one of the most expressive faces that can be seen upon the stage to-day, and it is the curse of the modern theatres that he, so apt to be deprived of some intimate art as his, by reason of the very vast open spaces. The advantage which the cinema, particularly this state of affairs, but Mr. Raymond has not used it with anything like the effect that he should and, as the lines give this actor no chance to be more than mildly amusing, his value is wasted."

Mark Forest

Sat R 15044 N 30 '35

+ + + Exceptionally Good; + + Good; + --- Fair; + + + Mediocre; --- Poor; --- Exceptionally Poor
Trade Paper Reviews

"Farcce comedy. The star values are Jack Buchanan, who sings a bit, dances a bit and otherwise gives a rather stiff impersonation of Jack Buchanan, and Fay Wray, who acts very nicely the part of a girl with a sense of humor and looks charming. There is some fair comedy, the best of it in the dinner episode."

• Motion Pict Daily p10 D 9 '35

"Essentially a stage farce both in story values and treatment, this will still provide good old mild entertainment in stations where Jack Buchanan is liked. With him is Fay Wray. Very little is asked of her but she shows an attractive sense of humor in the doing of it and she looks very charming indeed."

• Motion Pict Herald p32 D 14 '35

"Sentiment is moving, but never mawkish, and the comedy evokes considerable laughter. This is due to the excellent ten play which has been made of the story, the straightforward direction, first-rate photography, and the richness without ostentation of the scene interpretation. [The] whole thing could have been a nightmare without the competent cast, superb production and smooth direction, augmented by first-rate camera work. But it got them."

• Variety p34 D 11 '35

CONDEMNED TO LIVE. S 15 '35 60min Chesterfield
Director: Frank Strayer
In this melodramatic horror tale, a young man, supposedly marked at birth when his mother was killed by a large bat, develops a dual personality and commits several murders.

Trade Paper Reviews

"Here is a most worthy independent production that has been well handled by all concerned. Morgan is the hero in the lead role with the balance of the cast do nicely and [the] direction is above average. It should have no difficulty in pleasing most any audience."

• Film Curb p6 N 15 '35

"Not particularly made for children, it can be shown in spots where this type theme is liked. Adult melodrama."

• N Y Exhibitor p34 O 10 '35

CONFIDENTIAL. O 16 '35 66min Mascot
Players: Donald Cook. Evalyn Knapp. Warren Hymer
Director: Edward L. Cahn
"The adventures of a Department of Justice agent in finding the man higher up in a big gambling racket."

Wkly Guide

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

• Mo Film Bul p188 N '35

"A: G-men melodrama; Y: Doubtful; C: No.
Par M p38 Mr '36

"Good melodrama. Family."

• Wkly Guide O 19 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Cheap gangster film."

• Christian Science Monitor p18 O 26 '35

• Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; ++ Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p56 N 16 '35
Film Curb p6 O 15 '35

"Family melodrama."

N Y Exhibitor p30 N 10 '35

"'G' man picture and pretty well made."

• Variety p39 N 26 '35

CORONADO. N 29 '33 70min Paramount
Director: Norman McLeod
When a musically inclined son of wealthy parents spends the summer at a California resort, he promptly falls in love with the resort entertainer who thinks he is a penniless song writer. After she learns the truth, he loses her but in the end with the help of comedy situations, and song and dance routines, he wins her again.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." N Y Archdiocese Motion Picture Guide

• Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Good."

• Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36

"Light, amusing musical entertainment."

A talented cast, led by versatile young Johnny Downs, provides good fun with small plot. Pleasing to eye and ear. Adults: entertaining: 8-18: fair."

• Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"A light, frivolous musical comedy with refreshing music, some clever dancing and well-staged ship-board settings but somewhat marred by unnecessary vulgarity. Family." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Eddy Duchin and his orchestra, and Leon Errol, Andy Devine, and Jack Haley in their usual brash, ably assisted by a group of well-known comedians, in a setting that the name of the resort scarcely seems gay enough to attract many guests. Adolescents: fair; children: little interest." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

• Fox W Coast Bul D 21 '35

"Johnny Downs in some clever dances and catchy songs, ably assisted by a group of well-known comedians, tie together the thin threads of this light, frothy musical farce which at times borders on the risque. Family."

• Jt Estimates D 15 '35

Mo Film Bul p193 D '35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; ++ Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

CORONADO—Continued

"Fair. Family." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"A, and Y: Light entertainment; C: Perhaps."

Par M p86 Mr '36

Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Jack Haley and Leon Errol give 'Coronado' the daft, inconsequential touch needed to differentiate it from the slick screen musicals. It so resembles Haley rambles amably about as a moonstruck gop partied from his bridge at the altar and none too sure of her identity when next they meet. Errol is the girl's wayward father, determined to keep her from marriage. He wrote of the children of Hollywood is applicable to Haley and Errol in this film. They are 'foolish, and all had been Dr. M. E. P."

+ Boston Transcript D 13 '35

"The plot is the old-fashioned musical-comedy pot-pourri describing frustrated romance, between generally efforts, the slightly, and musical interludes with Mr. Duchin and his very efficient orchestra. While so able a director as Norma Shearer is responsible for the pace, it lags in story interest, but this, obviously, is due more to the dated material and production point of view than to its treatment." Marguerite Tazelarr

+ N Y Herald Tribune p18 D 19 '35

"Paramount has slapped some more vaudeville vision on some written dramatic lines, and called it 'Coronado.' This is another of those films shown by theaters to while away the pre-Christmas week. The songs are commonplace and sung with energy but no distinction. The dances are routine vaudeville; the funny sayings seldom are." Eileen Crockman

+ N Y Sun p38 D 19 '35

"Fished out of the entertainment pond with a net, 'Coronado,' the new song, dance and slapstick interlude is several inches short of the minimum requirements for Broadway and should have been bashed back to grow." F. S. N.

+ N Y Times p33 D 19 '35

"The news from Paramount today is extremely good, the reason for it being a woefully inefficient little paroxysm called 'Coronado' in which some of Paramount's strengths and senior players indulge in some antics about on a par with a college musical. At that I am probably being unfair to the Fringe. There is a considerable undergraduate organization, because if the truth must be told 'Coronado' is much too weak to be spanked soundly. The title, it seems comes from the fact that the action takes place at the Hotel Coronado, at Coronado Beach, Cal.—a setting, incidentally, that enables the script writers to drag in a couple of gobs from the navy who provide some painful comedy relief." William Boehnel

+ N Y World-Telegram p55 D 19 '35

Reviewed by John Mosher

New Yorker p37 D 25 '35

Springfield Republican p6 D 22 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"As musicals with an amateur contest background go, this one sputters badly, for it being a woefully inefficient little paroxysm called 'Coronado' in which some of Paramount's strengths and senior players indulge in some antics about on a par with a college musical. At that I am probably being unfair to the Fringe. There is a considerable undergraduate organization, because if the truth must be told 'Coronado' is much too weak to be spanked soundly. The title, it seems comes from the fact that the action takes place at the Hotel Coronado, at Coronado Beach, Cal.—a setting, incidentally, that enables the script writers to drag in a couple of gobs from the navy who provide some painful comedy relief." William Boehnel

+ Box Office p9 Ja 11 '36

"Some good gags, of which part are old and part are new, catchy music and several experienced funsters all combine to make this amusing entertainment. While it may not be anything to write home about it will please the make-believers who see it."

+ Film Curb p8 D 1 '35

"With tuneful music, a story that is light and gay, and humor that is not too subtle this story at the Hotel Coronado will get the rest of the slick screen a ready response from audiences that seek light entertainment."

+ Film Daily p4 D 19 '35

"It should appeal more to young people than adults because the story is light, the music of the popular jazz variety, and the romance revolves around the hero and heroine, both of whom are young; their affair cannot be taken too seriously. Suitable for all. Family."

+ Harrison's Reports D 21 '35

"Tuneful melodies, clever dancing and comedy place this one in the top notch entertainment [rank.] The picture shines in all its departments. . . The story is the usual hokum garnished with unique and very funny comedy situations and sparkling dialogue, refreshingly ditzy. Based on the original of Back to the Future by Edie Duchin's music. . . Norman McLeod has endowed this picture with his usual touch, showing his aptitude for comedy timing."

+ Motion Pict Daily p8 N 11 '35

"Family comedy." N Y Exhibitor p54 D 10 '35

"Coronado just misses. But it makes a fairly diverting if light-weighted musical sproul. It also discloses Johnny Downs as a potent screen find; an engaging, fresh, and young juvenile personality who can tap and sing with great effectiveness. Another junior entertainer who suggests future film heights is Betty Bussel."

+ Variety p15 D 25 '35

COUNTRY DOCTOR. Mr 6 '36 110min 20th century-Fox

Players: Jean Hersholt, June Lang, George J. (Slim) Summerville, Michael Whalen, Dorothy Peterson

Director: Henry King

This film features the Dionne quintuplets and was partly made in Caliander, Ontario. "[The story] is the story of a country doctor, with little material, but well presented. In prospect are plans to bring the Dionne babies into the world under the most trying conditions; fights to preserve their lives with constant danger hanging over them. The overwhelming menace of a northern winter with communication blocked and medicine running low; fights again for the care of the Dionnes in a hospitalization that is not uneventful, and finally in a supreme achievement brings the quintuplets into the world." (Motion Pict Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"While the story is left rather hanging in mid-air, it is scarcely noticeable. Excellent characterizations by Jean Hersholt and Dorothy Peterson. Family."

"Family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Excellent. Mature." DAB

"The direction is splendid, the photography excellent and the recording maintains the high standard set by the entire production. Mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"A most enjoyable film for mature audiences." Nat Soc of New England Women

+ + + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Delightful. The beguiling charm of the five adorable little girls, who prove themselves regular trouper, will bring sheer delight to all. Family. Mature."

+ + + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

F 24 '36

+ + + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Yvonne, Cecile, Marie, Annette and Emilie Dionne are so improbably lovely, with their enormous eyes and cloudy hair, that any movie plot tends to become an anticlimax in their presence, and in comparison to their own experiences. Fortunately, The Country Doctor is of a disarming simplicity, never losing touch with reality; poignant and packed with good fun. The quintuplets are at every turn, the sensible sensation on the screen is lost in a mounting wave of ecstatic gurgles from the infants. The Interests of the whole community of the babies are received, however, with awful delight." — M. E. Creelman

Boston Transcript p3 Mr 7 '36

"Every Canadian should see it and every normal person in the world will want to." — Laura Edson

Canadian M p12 Mr '36

"The Country Doctor" does not yield to the usual rules governing the writing of a screen criticism. You are going to see it, anyway, so why not let me tell you mine telling you it is worth your while or is not? It is a warmly human picture, one which will keep the lump never far away and your heart full of something you will discover for yourself... The most extraordinary feature of the production is the human side of the story. The interaction of the babies is hilarious comedy, yet never for a moment does it depart from good taste nor does it minimize the seriousness of it, the human side of it. Not so quite intelligent is the injection of irrelevant comedy in two or three places, apparently to prove by audience approval, that dramatic scenes should be relieved by laughs. If the producers had contented ourselves with the human side of the story and bunched all the laughs in the naturally developed comedy of the birth sequence, the picture would have been a cinemagraphic masterpiece." — Hollywood Spec p7 Mr 14 '36

"The picture story, incidentally, had the approval of Doctor Dafoe. It is likely to be matched from Coast to Coast by an audience approval. It will be virtually impossible for any one, whatever his or her temperament, to resist the power in this story of the quintuplet sisters of Ontario."

Lit Digest p22 Mr 14 '36

"It proved, somewhat to the surprise of a few observers, a thoroughly delightful heart-warming sentimental drama, touching, humorous and completely likable. As for the celebrated babies, it can be safely said that even those who have felt that the quintuplets might fall along for a few weeks without seeing another photograph of them should find them irresistible. Although the camera angling for their protection are both challenging and inspiring." — Motion Pict & Family p6 Mr 13 '36

"The humor of the birth sequence is uproarious, of the quintuplets and their daily life. The girls playing in their nursery with the doctor on their second birthday is perfectly delightful. It is a uniquely entertaining film, 12-16: good; children, 8-12: very emotional in scenes of illness, not advised."

New York Sun Mr 13 '36

"Destined to become not only a box-office success but real entertainment as well. This saga of the Canadian lumbering village with its emphasis on the quintuplets is to be highly recommended. Recommended to the Committee on Exceptional Photoplays. Family." — Wkly Guide F 7 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"The Country Doctor" will positively cure allerbing box offices. Even without the five beautiful quintuplets, this story of human heroes appealing story would win the audiences of the world. Certainly it should quintuplet grosses from all exhibitors."

+ Box Office p37 Mr 7 '36

"Although 'The Country Doctor' was written to show off the Dionne Quintuplets, although their presence will certainly make it a box office hit. Although five highly publicized little girls are not the real stars. The picture could get by without them. In fact, the red devoted to their undoubted charm is the least interesting of the whole film. The picture, a wholesome, unexciting drama, wherein some grand comedy, falls to pieces as soon as they] start prancing about their nursery. They are not, in themselves, much more dramatic than a basketful of puppies."

N Y Herald Tribune p16 Mr 13 '36

"An irresistibly appealing blend of sentiment and comedy, the Twentieth Century-Fox picture justifies even that anonymous advertising genius who proclaimed the Dionne babies as the greatest event since 'The Birth of a Nation.' There may have been funnier moments in the history of the cinema when John Quisen becomes the astonished father of five, but somehow we cannot recall them. This scene may go down in the annals of the screen as one of its most priceless contributions to the gayety of nations... And finally, in expressing the feelings that have stirred the entire nation, Mr. Levien, who wrote the screen play, and Henry King, who directed, for their refusal to turn the Dionne story into merely a babies-jobs story." — F. S. Nugent

N Y Times p27 Mr 13 '36

"No matter how completely the famous 'quines' have won your heart in the past with their irresistible charm, you'll fall in love with them all over again when you see them in 'The Country Doctor.'... But even without the quintuplets 'The Country Doctor' would still be an extraordinarily fine picture—a picture full of deep, tender charm and the warming spirit of humanity. Here, certainly, is a film for your 'must' list." — William Boehnel

+ N Y World-Telegram p51 Mr 13 '36

"I am not one of the great lovers of children, either. I feel, however, that you must be aware that there is a child anywhere. And on the screen they drive me crazy. The nursery scenes, that is. "The Country Doctor" are just what nursery scenes ought to be, and the babies are delightful. There is no doubt about it. You cannot have the birth sequence: it is hilarious comedy, yet never for a moment does it depart from good taste nor does it minimize the seriousness of it, the human side of it. Not so quite intelligent is the injection of irrelevant comedy in two or three places, apparently to prove by audience approval, that dramatic scenes should be relieved by laughs. If the producers had contented ourselves with the human side of the story and bunched all the laughs in the naturally developed comedy of the birth sequence, the picture would have been a cinemagraphic masterpiece."

New Yorker p75 Mr 21 '36

"It is a truly warm-hearted, amusing and astonishingly skilful cinema which should reward its manufacturers as handsomely as it will entertain its audiences. Most of The Country Doctor is made up of moments of slapstick, for the final shots. Director Henry King and Jean Hershold, who almost steals the show from its star, went to Peking, Ontario."

+ Time p57 Mr 16 '36

"While the quintuplets are the headlines of the picture, the story is the thing. The young doctor steals the show. His love for the people of his community, his sacrifical service for their betterment, and his concern for their protection are both challenging and inspiring."

Motion Picture Review Digest 31

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; - Poor; - Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

COUNTRY DOCTOR—Continued

"If anyone cannot get a thrill out of this—[he] needs a trip to Canada and a 'Country Doctor.'”

+ + Canadian Moving Pict Digest p8 Mr 14 '36

Film Curp p17 Mr 7 '36

"There is a 'five-star' picture that should do a land-office business. The Dionne quintuplets, now five years old, are the top stars. Their fans—parents, brothers and sisters. Each baby is attractive and each brought 'hugs' and 'ohs' from the preview audience." + + Film Daily p6 Mr 2 '36

"Great entertainment; it has deep human appeal, comedy, and pathos. Even without the Dionne quintuplets it would be good entertainment, but with them it is a 'knockout'. . . . Suitable for all. Family." + + Harrison's Reports Mr 7 '36

"'The Country Doctor' is the greatest showmanship picture of the year, probably of many years. It has a ready-made audience of millions who have followed with unabated interest the astounding news story of the Dionne quintuplets. . . . Acting credits must be liberal, for every performance from Jeanette Holt down to the bit players stands out like a perfect gem. Hershel's is really superb. His performance is the high点 highlight of a long, distinguished career. It is a rarely beautiful portrait." + + Hollywood Reporter p5 F 27 '36

"Even without the quintuplets this would be an exceptional picture—a fine, human story, balanced to a nicety between tears and laugh- ter. With the five babies it is a screen masterpiece. The word is used advisedly. It is a picture that will linger long in the memory—mainly the memories of exhibitors as well as audiences. For theatre men everywhere, it will be one of those monumental money-makers that will make them look back upon year after year with fond hopes of playing appear- ance like it. . . . Henry King's direction is superb. The world has been hurt by the problems he en- countered. . . . The quintuplets appear only in the closing sequence. They are remarkable. They have personality, beauty, childlike abandon in the presence of strangers." + + Motion Pict Daily p2 F 27 '36

"A cinch to cop world-wide coin, and prob- ably just as big in the British Empire as in the United States. 'The Country Doctor' re- presents an intelligent production investiture of what was on paper, and is in celluloid form, a show man that will make a tremendous impetus of two years of intensive headline exploita- tion is behind the picture. How can it miss? The family possesses particularly for church and racial elements which advocate large families, and for the whole vast army of sentimental souls and baby-lovers the world over, 'The Country Doctor' has voltage. It will have the parent-teacher vote 100%, and the number of exploitation tie-ups possible through a variety of channels is an invitation to alert house managers and press agents. . . . 'Country Doctor' is not without angles that might be considered weaknesses. First of all, there is not very much footage, comparatively, of the Dionne's, and their late appearance, a necessity for production purposes, may not be a word-of-mouth recommendation. Again the wide distribution of the letterpress stuff devoted to the quintuplets has possibly taken off some of the brightness of the picture's novelty. Even so it's impossible to dismiss 'The Country Doctor' as anything but a box- office bull's-eye." + + Variety p17 Mr 13 '36

"Consumeate stroke of showmanship which Darryl Zanuck cinched in getting the Dionne quintuplets to cavort in 'The Country Doctor' has been matched with fine craftsmanship and wholesome drama and robust comedy for perfect popular entertainment. Picture will do immensely everywhere and long has been talked about with delightful recollection by masses which will see it, from key [cities] to country cross roads. The quintuplets, world's most celebrated babies, alone would insure it extraordinary success, but no one really dare on them alone to score a hit."

+ + Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 27 '36

COURAGEOUS AVENGERS. D 12 '35 88min Supreme

Director: Robert N. Bradbury

A law officer in a western mining town avenge the suicide of his brother's wife and single-handed, traps a gang of vicious thieves who have been holding up wagons carrying silver from the mine to the town.

---

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Arch- diocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Weak plot, poor scenic effects, impossible situations. Poor." Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36

"A. Y and C: Poor." Par M p54 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"[A] good Western with plenty of diversified action and fine scenic photography. Johnny Mack Brown is presented in an interesting picture which should please the Western action fans. Brown does some spectacular riding, the fights are hard and clean cut, the cast is a competent one, there is a thrill now and then. Scenery is beautiful, photography is clear, and it all adds up to a good outdoor action num- ber." + + Film Daily p4 N 30 '35

"Up to the high standard of previous Brown Westerns, this should please wherever the open air type is desired. Family Western." + + N Y Exhibitor p6 Ja 10 '36

CRIME AND PUNISHMENT. N 20 '35 80min Columbia

Players: Edward Arnold. Peter Lorre. Marian Marsh. Tala Birell

Director: Josef von Sternberg

Based on the novel of the same title by Dostoievski. "Raskolnikov murders to save his sister from marrying a pompous govern- ment official. Suffering from a Napoleonic complex, he feels that he, and he alone in all the world, can kill ruthlessly and get away with it. At first terrified of contacts with the police, his ego soon gets the better of him, and before long he is strutting before Inspector Porfiry and engaging in mental rapier thrusts with this seasoned old veteran of crime. In the end, just as Porfiry knew it must happen, because of the ideas he was suggesting to Raskolnikov, the criminal breaks under the strain and gives himself up." (N Y World-Telegram)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." N Y Arch-diocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Good." + Endorsed Motion Pict D '35

"Rather melodramatic treatment, but outstand- ing for the fine acting of P. Lorre and E. Arnold. Adults." DAB

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
"Those acquainted with the novel will doubtless feel that the director has laid more stress upon the melodramatic than upon the psychological. There are moments, however, of great poignancy and deep spiritual significance. These moments are greatly aided by the superb acting of Peter Lorre and Edward Arnold. The photography and lighting heighten the effect of tragedy with its play upon light and dark. Adults and young people." E Coast Preview Committee

+ — Fox W Coast Bul D 14 '35

"Mature." Internat Council of Cath Alumnae

"Dostoievsky's great novel . . . is powerfully brought to the screen. . . The photography, with its significant lights and shadows, forms a suitable, symbolic background for this awesome social drama. Adults." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Adult." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"The film involves a series of portraits which are vividly drawn universal types. The story which could be of any date or locale fulfills the basic requirements of tragedy. Adults.

Nat Soc of New England Women
 Fox W Coast Bul D 28 '35

"Effectively photographed, expertly directed, notable characterizations by Peter Lorre, as the young rascal, and Edward Arnold, as the officer of the law. A deeply moving study in the psychology of human reactions. Adults.

+ — Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) D 16 '35
Mo Film Bul p193 D '35

"Very good. Adults."
Motion Pic Guide Mr '36

"Unobjectionable for adults, Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A: Grim crime drama; Y: Doubtful; C: No."
Far M p34 Mr '38
Sel Motion Pic Ja 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It never quite captures the atmosphere of Dostoievsky. It turns out more a superior detective story than the moment of a tortured soul who found that he could not escape the memories of his crime. Perhaps the fault is in the fact that the story has been done in modern costume rather than as the period piece that it really should be." F. M.

+ — Boston Transcript p7 D 20 '35

"Peter Lorre's performance as the student is something to be remembered. He has a good role in the genial, dogged police inspector of Edward Arnold."
Christian Science Monitor p18 N 28 '35
Reviewed by Don Herold Life p35 Ja '36

"Mr. Sternberg has tried so earnestly and with such evident sincerity that it becomes a painful duty to point out his failure. . . Yet 'Crime and Punishment' won't do any harm. . . cause Sternberg's conception is entirely askew. His treatment, for instance, of the relationship between Raskolnikov and Rodion (here named Roderick) is dangerously akin to the sort of rivalry exemplified by Victor McLagen and Edmund Lowe." Robert Stebbins New Theatre p11 Ja '36

"Mr. Lorre, who is certainly one of the finest actors in motion pictures, is not as brilliant in the leading role as all of us had been sure that he would be. . . the young Raskolnikov too obviously a case for the psychiatrist at the start. Mr. Lorre plays his part as if he were a neurtic hanger that would have caused the inspector to arrest him the first moment he saw him." — N Y Herald Tribune pl7 N 22 '35

"It is not always Dostoievsky, but it is always Russian, always grim, and, in intent at least, it is always psychological. Though it becomes a detective thriller, the melodrama of a sly detective and a sensitive, fear-driven murderer." — N Y Sun p32 N 22 '35

"Although Peter Lorre is occasionally able to give the film a frightening pathological significance, it is clearly Dostoievsky's drama of a tortured brain drifting into madness with a terrible secret. It is Dostoievsky vilified and converted into a nickel-peddling detective melodrama. The production is handsome and, as we might expect from a cameraman of Mr. von Sternberg's skill, visually striking. But the major virtues of the film end there." André Senneval

— N Y Times p18 N 22 '35

"From out of the numerous achingly dramatic, almost intolerably dramatic, incidents in this brilliant novel (the directors) have fashioned a pale and sluggish film. Neither the adapters nor the director has managed to bring an extraordinarily dramatic novel to a vivid, glowing life. They have ignored almost entirely the central idea and motivation of the theme; their thinking is commonplace and their acting and directing mechanics. Instead of being Dostoievsky the film turns out to be a laborious and logistics of an activity story with none of the merits of this form of fiction." William Boehnle

— N Y World-Telegram p23 N 22 '35

"Peter Lorre, who can't be understood out there on the Coast, is simply a Dostoievskyian Raskolnikov, and Edward Arnold is a hilarious Inspector but not a really sinister one. I felt the whole thing was glued together and not for one moment even as real as the nightmare that the French concocted from the same material. And never as exciting." John Mosher

— New Yorker p98 N 30 '35

Springfield Republican p6 C 1 '35

"I can remember very little about Hollywood's 'Crime and Punishment' except that it has Peter Lorre, another actor who lasts after the show is over. His Raskolnikov was much more interesting to me than that of the French film, more human and more suggestive of inner turmoil. Lorre is above all the actors I can think in using all the best resources of the screen." Theatre Arts Mo pl11 F '36

Time p39 D 2 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p10 D 28 '35

"There is no denying that this is a splendid screen version of the well known story. . . It's heavy dramatic stuff, the story of a murderer's innermost soul.

— Film Curb p12 D 15 '35

"Handled with effective directness, with a good cast and judicious direction by Josef von Sternberg, this is one of the best made pictures ever done with outstanding performances by Lorre and Arnold."

— Film Daily p8 N 22 '35

"This is a powerfully different version of criminal-that-is-different tale, presenting its somewhat morbid plot, irrelevant comedy and bizarre, symbolic photography are contrasted.

— Motion Pic Daily p11 N 13 '35

Motion Pic Herald p64 N 30 '35

"Von Sternberg has turned out a directorial masterpiece, well acted, but a probable problem at the boxoffice that all concerned did their work well but no one has had the story's nature, failure of Edward Arnold or

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
CRIME AND PUNISHMENT—Continued
Peter Lorre to be drawing stars will find the director's cut its best in the higher class spots. Adult melodrama.

- + N Y Exhibitor p53 D 10 '35

"It may be that the motivation is obvious. It may be that Lorre's playing too much privy to the pitting of wits between the two, knows the answer; but it is here that historical tension more than offsets the giving away of the denouement. The auditor is captivated by the theatricalism of the antagonistic forces—the cultured, but poverty-stricken Lorre and the good-humored but relentless Arnold."

Variety p14 N 27 '35

CRIME ET CHÂTIMENT. N 12 '35 100min

Players: Pierre Blanchar, Harry Baur. Madeleine Ozeray

Director: Pierre Chenal

Based on the novel, Crime and Punishment, by Dostoevski. Filmed in France but has English subtitles.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. Approved for adult audiences."
N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide Cath News p21 Ja 25 '36

"Very good."
+ Endorsed Motion Pict D '35

Mo Film Bul p192 D '35
Nat Bd of R M D '35

"Unobjectionable for adults."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is successful because its director's respect for his subject goes further than a mere ring-around, for there is a bronze bust in the box-office. Unity of purpose in this film is so complete that Chenal's direction, the acting of Pierre Blanchar as Raskolnikov and Harry Baur as the Magistrate, the penetrating simplicity of Marcel Ayné's dialogue, the intelligence of the 'adaptation,' and Honegger's music, are all equally admirable: elements combined and concentrated on scansion. Chenal has made a very fine film. . . The underlying beat is slow; with all the more effect he can hurry when he needs to. His roving camera, emphasis, emphasis, literary argument, so that movements imply emotions, silence harbours thought, and great rushes of words manifest the result. The result is not the usual jerky working-model, nor yet an advance which other film-makers might safely follow—but a difficult and drastic achievement of television."

+ + New Statesman & Nation p512 N 30 '35

"It is presented with shadowy, sinister settings which heighten the impending gloom and ominous spirit of the great writer. A screen translation of Dostoevsky could doubtless have more clarity and comprehension, yet this one for the emotional values of its acting and its capture of the psychological intentions of the Russian genius is noteworthy." Marguerite Tazlaar

+ N Y Herald Tribune p15 N 13 '35

"Crime et Châtiment" is powerful, relentless, and sordid as its name. Pierre Chenal in acting as well as photography and musical accompaniment to most Continental films, this is an unexpectedly fine version of the tragic novel." Eileen Creedman

+ N Y Sun p29 N 13 '35

"Crime et Châtiment" confirms the opinion creators of the casting. The writer Maître Baur and his colleague Baur, with a good job they set a standard difficult to be attained by their confrères in Hollywood or any place else. In the space of an hour and three-quarters the director has managed to present the very heart of Dostoevsky's monumental criminal romance, built upon the theory that 'this conscience doth make cowards of us all.'"

+ N Y Times p25 N 13 '35

"In every way the French screen version of [the film] lives up to the greatness of the novel from which it stems with great simplicity and powerfully acted, this French film is one more addition to the year's rapidly rising list of triumphant offerings."

William Boehnel

+ + N Y World-Telegram p27 N 13 '35

"Certainly I am inclined to limit the public of such a serious to serious students of something or other, if not of Dostoevsky. Indeed, it's possible that the most avid readers of the Russian novelist may feel that his work is not exactly suited to the screen anyway, and that what is a great novel of a murderer and his conscience, documented and analyzed for hundreds of pages, may seem too much a sensational sketch, flimsy and unreal, in the movies. . . The settings throughout accentuate [the] whole effect; the people in the street seem grotesque figures in a dream; the shadowed staircases, the great, bare rooms and lofts in which the murder occurs, or wherein the murder lies shuddering lest the knock on the door is the police aren't Petrograd's rooms and buildings but those of a nightmare city. A lot of people like nightmares more than I do, and they will love this one. This film is no story or history of a murderer, but it is a simple, pure, little diagram of frenzy, and as such I certainly may relish it."

Eric Donn Mosher

+ + New Yorker p95 N 23 '35

"The story still seems too vast and subtle to be anything but confused on the screen. Outside the occasional heaviness of Pierre Blanchar, the milk-and-wateriness of Madeleine Ozeray as Sonya, its principal flaw lies in an indecisiveness that is only underlined more strongly by some very dim camera work. What with poor focus, jerky trucking shots and other bad lighting effects there is frequently the impression that some of the sequences were taken with a pocket kodak, and on a rainy day at that."

Otie Ferguson

Theatre Arts Mo p139 F '36

Trade-Paper Reviews

"The picture belongs to the group of outstanding films released from Paris."
+ + Film Daily p12 N 14 '35

"Performed in excellent fashion, the picture is well-photographed and strong in atmosphere. It is an adult attraction exclusively."
+ + Film Daily p5 N 14 '35

"Adult melodrama." N Y Exhibitor p55 D 10 '35

"Production meets the background and mood of the narrative perfectly, the direction leaves little wanting, even though there are a few draggy moments, and the scoring intensifies the dramatic import of many a scene. [The] film also bears with English titles."

+ + Variety pl6 N 20 '35

CRIME F DR. CRESPi. O 21 '35 53min Republic

Players: Eric von Stroheim. Harriet Russell

Director: John H. Auer

Suggested by Edgar Allan Poe's The Premature Burial. "Dr. Crespi [who] loves the girl he loves to another doctor, is called upon to operate. Instead of same procedure, killing him, Doctor Crespi places him under the effect of a drug which takes away his power to move. When he aims to carry her alive but before this can happen the victim is saved and the murderous doctor commits suicide."

(N Y Exhibitor)

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory. Not recommended because of subject matter or treatment."

NY Archdiocese Motion Pic Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 ’36

"Objectionable in part."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 ’36

"A: Horror melodrama; Y and C: No."

+ Wkly Guide O 26 ’35

"Gripping horror, providing good entertainment for those who like the type. Mature."
+ Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The play is said to be suggested by Edgar Allan Poe, and it certainly possesses the horror the gifted author was so capable of inventing."

N Y Herald Tribune p8 Ja 13 ’36

"This latest example of the horror drama takes its time in getting under way. The producers have chosen to treat it more or less seriously, dressing up the nonsense with plenty of pseudoscientific explanations. They are, of course, no more convincing than they are scientific. In spite of the earnest exposition, the whole business about Radium X is still a little vague to this non-scientific mind."

"It would probably be a good deal vaguer to a scientist. It crams in thrills for those who are eager to be thrilled; it is, if you insist upon taking it seriously, quite as silly as it sounds; and, taken in the spirit in which it is offered, it is not a bad specimen of its horror-drama type. And, in the tiny role of the madman's mother, is Violet Kemble Cooper, keeping her face straight through it all."
+Eileen Creelman

+N Y Sun p16 Ja 13 ’36

"Even as 'horror pictures' go, which is pretty far south as a rule, 'The Crime of Dr. Crespi' is an almost humorously overheated attempt at grimness. There are spots where the audience was unable to restrain a kind of uncalled-for mirth, which may or may not be the director's intent."

+N Y Times p14 Ja 13 ’36

"It has the stuff of a real horror tale in it, but it is told in such a careless and wooden manner that some of those who listen to it let it go in one ear and out the other. As the nefarious Crespi, Eric von Stroheim performs in a manner reminiscent of the old ten- to twenty-thirty melodrama days."

+ William Boehnel

+N Y World-Telegram p13 Ja 13 ’36

"The piece has its graveyard moments and a nice morgue scene, and Herr von Stroheim is a sly, slightly stout, assassin, but as a whole the thing is a trifling toy."
+ John Mosher

+ New Yorker p64 Ja 25 ’36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p59 N 16 ’35

"A gruesome story, depressing and not at all likely to set well... Von Stroheim puts over a grand performance wherever the audience was able to restrain a kind of uncalled-for mirth, which may or may not be the director's intent."
+ Film Curb p17 O 1 ’35

"Adult."
+N Y Exhibitor p36 O 10 ’35

"[Eric von Stroheim's] entrance into the field of horror pictures does not get him very far. Overaction and overstress in a creaky adaptation brings laughs where none are sought. Even with better acting and direction it still would fail to be convincing... Eric von Stroheim never for even an instant conveys the remotest suggestion of a professional man; particularly a noted surgeon. It is cheap melodrama crudely played and while it occasionally shocks, it is a feeling of disgust rather than of horror."

+ Variety p18 Ja 15 ’36

CRUSADES. O 18 ’35 134min Paramount

Players: Loretta Young. Henry Wilcoxon.
Ian Keith.

Director: Cecil De Mille

From book of same title by Harold Lamb. Semi-religious pageant of the twelfth century when all Christendom made war against all Islam in a gigantic mass movement. The specified Crusade selected is the third in which Richard, the Lion-Hearted, King of England, fought against Saladin, sultan of Islam. Woven into the picture is the love story of Richard and Berengaria, princess of Navarre.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Fine of kind; Y: Thrillingly interesting; C: No."

Christian Century p1471 N 13 ’35

"Adults: very good."
+ Motion Pic Guide Mr ’36

"A fairly unimportant queen... is made more important in the struggle between Christian and Saracen than less glamorous historians appear to have been aware of."
+ J. S. H.

+Nat Bd of R M N ’35

"A and Y: Splendid; C: If interested."
+ Par M p54 Mr ’36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p63 N 9 ’35

"Why it was necessary to drag Christianity into the picture is not clear from anything on the screen. The one character with charity and greatness of spirit is the Sultan of Islam, Saladin, played by Ian Keith."
+ Robert Giroux

Nation p391 O 2 ’35

"A story of men and women. Of course there are the monstrous war machines of the Crusaders for pictorial effect, there are their war galleys, their regiments of knights in armor and men-at-arms; and there are the dark, fierce Saracens and their razor-like scimitars and indomitable courage. But there would have been no Crusaders if there hadn't been Richard the Lion-Hearted, king of England. And there would have been no Saracens without Saladin, sultan of Islam, a noble enemy."
+ Springfield Republican p6 N 17 ’35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p67 N 16 ’35

"DANCE BAND. N 15 ’35 65min British international

Director: Marcel Varnel

This film was made in England. "The story concerns two rival band leaders, Mr. Rogers and June Clyde, who meet under amusing if rather shopworn circumstances and proceed to

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
DANCE BAND—Continued

mix love and business. They experience the usual misunderstandings and temperamental squalls." (N Y Times)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Thin; Y: Harmless; C: If it interests." Christian Century p22 Ja 8 '36

"Pleasant musical entertainment. Family." Nat Ed of R

+ Fox W Coast Bul D 14 '35

"A, Y and C: Diverting." Par M p31 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p63 N 9 '35

N Y Times p19 Ja 4 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"A light and amusing musical from England's shores in which Buddy Rogers neatly displays his ability to play various instruments in a band. Family." + Box Office p23 Ja 18 '36

"Dance Band" is one of those light, harmless little musicals occasionally transported from the British Isles for American consumption. Film appears to be best suited for the double-bill coral. Too lightweight all around." — + Variety p12 Ja 8 '36

DANCING FEET. F 5 '36 65min Republic

Director: Joseph Santley

Based on the novel of the same title by Robert Eden. When her stern grandfather forbids her to marry a play boy, a wilful girl goes to a dance hall where she meets a young dancing instructor. Together they work out a plan for teaching dancing by mail order. When it becomes successful they overcome the grandfather's objections and marry.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Unobjectionable for adults." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"This lively little screen play has some very good situations and clever dialogue." + Scholastic p80 Mr 7 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"A good cast has been well handled by Director Santley and the result is a very entertaining picture. ... Dancing Feet should prove a satisfactory film of its kind and undoubtedly will please the majority who see it." + Film Curb p12 Ja 25 '36

"The screenplay writers have incorporated some good situations and dialogue which in spots is very clever. Along with a number of specialty dances for high spots, plus catchy tunes, it all adds up to good program entertainment." + Film Daily p9 Ja 20 '36

"This music and dance-tinged romantic comedy stacks up as average entertainment. ... It is played in a spirit of lightness and gayety. There is sufficient dramatic contrast to maintain interest." + Motion Pict Daily p8 Ja 16 '36

"Adequate independent production which owes its entertainment to Joseph Santley's direction, in that he has injected sufficient novelty to submerge a poor story. ... Staleness of the yarn is overlooked at times through some excellent dialog." + — Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 15 '36

DANGEROUS. Ja 4 '36 80min Warner

Players: Bette Davis. Franchot Tone. Margaret Lindsay. Alison Skipworth

Director: Alfred E. Green

"A raving young architect attempts the rehabilitation of a young girl he finds in a sordid 'night spot'. whom he recognizes as the former leading emotional actress of the theatre. He strives in vain against her strange fascination and finally, ridiculing her superstitious belief in the 'jinx' that pursues her, he stakes his money and future happiness on a play to star her. The varying moods of this unusual young woman, her influence on the idealistic young architect, her power to wreck the happiness of others, her insolent disregard for the effects of her impulsive decisions. bring a final awaking of all make up the fabric of the play." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory. Not recommended because of subject matter or treatment." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Bette Davis gives an excellent emotional interpretation of the erratic actress. Intelligent dialogue and direction, plus attractive sets and good photography, redeem a sordid story. ... Bette Davis' good; 14-18: delightful; 8-14: no." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Well produced, drab melodrama. Adults." DAR

"Very good for type. Adult." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Noteworthy for Miss Davis' extraordinarily fine acting, pithy dialogue and expert direction. Adults." Nat Soc of New England Women

"It would have been better if Joyce (Bette Davis) had been discovered in an intoxicated condition rather than the continuous drinking scenes. However, the picture is interesting and very well acted. Mature." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

+ — Fox W Coast Bul N 30 '35

"Reminiscent of 'Human Bondage,' though weaker in story material, this picture is beautifully photographed, realistically acted and ably directed. Adults and young people." + — Key Newsp of Women's Clubs (W Coast) N 25 '35

"Objectionable in part." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A: Well-done drama; Y: Sophisticated; C: Mature." Par M p54 Mr '36

"Reminiscent of 'Of Human Bondage,' though weaker in story material, this picture is beautifully photographed, realistically acted and ably directed. Adults." + — Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35

Wky Guide D 28 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"A deplorable film with Bette Davis as an actress rescued from degradation." Science Monitor p12 D 7 '35

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
There is an excitement in 'Dangerous' so typical of the 'movies' it might be interesting for the cinéphile to study as a research. Hundreds of other pictures have had the same harrowing situations, the same themes and motifs, yet this picture holds attention continuously, and is, if not altogether entertaining, emotionally absorbing. Bette Davis is playing a character she should be, a woman whose androgyny is its triteness, its artificiality and the 'hammy' aura that surrounds it. Like all good pictures, it has a moral, which you must pay in life for your weaknesses—that, in short, you reap as you sow. Like any of the 'madam films' of this sort as soon as you leave the theater. But even so, Miss Davis gives a characterization here strikingly good. She is developing, Whatever it all makes sense or not, however, Miss Davis has a lot of fun raising cain all over the screen. It's her way to water down the matter how much of it you care to believe. 'Dangerous' is not an important picture nor, by itself, a very good picture. If it lasts, however, gives Bette Davis a chance to let loose. She does it with all the vigor and ability she possesses in such quantity. Eileen Creelman

"That Bette Davis has been unable to match the grim standard she set as Mildred in 'Of Human Bondage' is not due to her discredit. In 'Dangerous,' she tries again. Except for a few sequences where the tension is convincing as well as deadly she fails. Toward the middle, the dialogue is stripped and biting; and several fine close-ups—the photography is by Ernle Haller—help immensely. The climax immediately suggest 'Ethan Frome,' and is screened breathlessly; the denouement, on the other hand, is too long and although unexpected it is illogical rather than dramatic, moral rather than realistic." M. B.

"Since Bette Davis has a flair for portraying sullen, nervous, shameless, scheming women, as she demonstrated so convincingly in 'Fog Owl,' it is a pity they cast her in the title role of a malevolent but unwise wench. Again, Miss Davis is cast in a town and other films, Warner Brothers have cast her in the title role of a malevolent but unwise lass. 'Dangerous.' Since, then, 'Dangerous' has the surface gloss of profundity, it is easy to be fooled into believing that it is an absorbing and adult drama. Actually, it is pretty stereotyped in its essentials, which are only moderately well worked out. And this cliché by Miss Davis and the supporting players contribute some good performances." William Borden

"As a story, 'Dangerous' is interesting, although more conventional lines and drags a bit toward the end. Miss Davis is magnificent in the early scenes as the unfortunates created."

Reviewed by John Mosher New Yorker p53 Ja 4 '36

"A second-rate picture with first-rate trimmings, the fundamental absurdity of 'Dangerous' is manifestly exhibited in the scene where the suave dialog written for it by Laird Doyle and by the presence of Bette Davis."

Reviewed by Otis Ferguson Theater Arts Mo p142 F '36

"Fairly diverting picture. Bette Davis tries hard to put over a characterization somewhat similar to the one in 'Of Human Bondage.' Supporting cast is good and the offering has been given excellent production background.

+ + Box Office p29 D 7 '35

"[Bette] Davis offers one of her best performances in this story of a selfish courtier. She is comparatively above average entertainment."

Film Curb p14 D 1 '35

Film Daily p4 D 6 '35

"This is unpleasant entertainment because of the actions of Bette Davis, the heroine, a self-willed, neurotic actress. Although she acts her part with force and conviction, the character she portrays is extremely unsympathetic. Unsuitable for children, adolescents or for Sunday showing. Adult entertainment."

+ + Harrison's Reports Ja 4 '36

"This is a dramatic romance. Convincingly portrayed in an atmosphere of directness, the intelligent handling of its sometimes intimate dramatic situations should preclude the possibility of moral exploitation. Miss Davis is capable of turning the trick. Yet there are moments in 'Dangerous' when a lighter action is needed, which the cast cannot do. But when a negative piece of business might have been turned into a welcome comedy situation through less pressure."

+ Variety p14 Ja 1 '36

DANGEROUS INTRIGUE. Ja 4 '36 57m

Co

Players: Ralph Bellamy. Fred Kohler. Gloria Swanson

Director: David Selman

An accomplished surgeon is forced to resign his post in a hospital because he had treated the woman who had become his fiancée's mistress, and who he was wanted for an operation on the daughter of an influential man. From then on a series of misfortunes befalls him. Jobless, his fiancée renounces him, and he suffers an attack of amnesia. He wanders to a small manufacturing town where he takes a laboring job trying to forgotten his memory returns and furnishes medical aid to the men.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A: Approved for adult audiences." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 2 '35

"A and Y: Entertaining; C: If interested." Par M p54 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Springf'd Republican p2 Ja 10 '36

"This melodrama of a doctor who is a victim of amnesia is pretty good program stuff and likely to get by fairly well in those situations in which there is considerable exciting action and the story moves along at a good pace."

Film Curb p9 Ja 18 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

+ + + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; + Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
DANGEROUS INTRIGUE—Continued

"Though not very strong on cast names, this is a sympathetic-evoking drama, suitable for the popular stands or for bills aimed at family audiences."
— F D Daily p7 Ja 18 '36

"A fairly good program melodrama. The story is simple, but it appeals to the emotions of sympathy deeply, and the action is fast. The production and acting are good. Suitable for all."
— Harrison's Reports p7 Ja 11 '36

"Estimate: neighborhood, twin-bill material."
— Exhibitor p15 Ja 22 '36

"Some capable direction and acting has made this inexpensive production a fair programmer that should get its share of dual-bill business. Rather weakly vehicle, that of the failure who wanders to new surroundings and makes good."
— Variety p15 Ja 22 '36

DANGEROUS WATERS. Ja 20 '36 64min Universal Players: Jack Holt, Grace Bradley, Robert Armstrong, Diana Gibson, Charlie Murray
Directed by Robert Hillier

Based on a novel, Glory Hole, by Theodore Reeves. "Jack Holt, as an ambitious ship officer, takes command of a vessel after the death of its captain during a battle. He brings the ship and its cargo safely into port. For a time, he succeeds in the cause of the fire. He accepts command of a vessel whose owners plot to destroy it at sea to collect the insurance. Overcoming the obstacles of a storm at sea, a mutinous crew and a crippled vessel, Holt, with the aid of his first mate again succeeds in bringing his ship into port and is rewarded with the command of a new passenger liner."

(Motion Pic Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory. Not recommended because of subject matter or treatment."
— N Y Archdiocese Motion Pic Guide

"Loose drinking, plus flagrant disregard of the proprieties. The good performance of seasoned screen performers."
— Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"A good cast in a story which is none too convincing."
— Nat Council of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"The picture is not consistent; farcical scenes are introduced by a drunken old Irishman; the triangle love story which runs through the picture adds very little to its value. Mature."
— Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"The picture is not convincing and a discordant note is struck by introducing a minor plot concerning the hero's marital difficulties. Adults."
— Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

"Fox W Coast Bul Ja 25 '36

"Though not an outstanding production, the scenic effects are very good; it is well cast and satisfactorily directed with excitement, adventure and romance adding to its entertainment value."
— Nat Council of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ja 11 '36

"Some thrilling scenes and good comedy, with an ending not very convincing. Fair. Adults and young adults.
— Motion Pic Guide Mr '36

"This is a mediocore film in which a good cast is helpless when confronted with a sketchy story and uneven direction. Adults."
— Nat Council of Jewish Women Ja 15 '36

"Objectionable in part."
— Nat Legion of Decency Mr 19 '36

"A: Fair sea drama; Y and C: Not recommended."
— Par M p54 Mr '36

"A well photographed melodrama of the sea, with some good acting in a rather mediocre story which involves a good deal of drinking. Audiences over fourteen."
— Sel Motion Pic F 1 '36

"Entertaining story of the sea, although the episodes in the boat are not realistic."
— Wkly Guide Ja 11 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Despite strenuous efforts by Mr. Holt, Mr. Armstrong and the good ship Astoria, 'Dangerous Waters,' measured by a critical yardstick, falls as a seaworthy or any other kind of entertainment."
— Marguerite Tzaelaar N Y Herald Tribune p1 Ja 24 '36

"Universal, with less modesty than we might expect, describes 'Dangerous Waters' as a 'roaring drama of the open seas.' Like Universal's screen is open that is open nowhere, barely holding up the negative, we must—howbeit regretfully—characterize the new photoplay as a purringly slow drama which deserves its best when it should be at its least."
— F S. Nugent
— N Y Times p15 Ja 22 '36

"(It) must be set down as another of the cinema's frequent attempts to produce a yarn of sea adventure. The picture is fair enough, and the production runs a considerable gamut for an adventure film, passing in its course to include five or ten minutes of just plain musical comedy. For the rest it is filled with most of the nickel weekly cliches about romance and adventure."
— William Poohen
— N Y World-Telegram p13 Ja 23 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p34 Ja 4 '36

"This yarn of the sea is not quite up to standard, probably due to a poor story. It's a tale of none-too-sweet a bunch of sailors and their girl that quite likely will have hard sledding. Considerably below program grade and perhaps cannot hope for better than a break on the double bills if the situations where audiences are not too particular."
— Film Curb p14 F 1 '36

"Jack Holt and some other good trouper are pretty well wasted, in the dodge-peddle of tribulations aboard ship in the Pacific Ocean."
— Film Daily p8 Ja 23 '36

"Poor. Unsuitable for children, adolescents, or Saturdays. For adults only! "
— Harrison's Reports F 1 '36

"Here is a neat little picture that will thoroughly fulfill all requirements in the market for which it is intended. 'Dangerous Waters' is pleasing program fare."
— Hollywood Reporter p3 Ja 22 '36

"Fashioned after a melodramatic pattern but with its share of good relief and heart interest, 'Dangerous Waters' manages to be good entertainment in an unpretentious way. The results are achieved through a variety of action in a wide variety of situations plus some successful comedy work by Charlie Murray."
— Motion Pic Daily p7 Ja 22 '36

"A melodrama of the sea with Jack Holt supplying most of the action, this picture moves at a swift pace throughout."
— Motion Pic Herald p55 F 8 '36

"Estimate: best for [neighborhood houses] and "— N Y Exhibitor p27 F 10 '36

"'Dangerous Waters' tries hard to work up some excitement but the triteness of the story and the dullness of the dialogue prove too much of a deadweight... The most that this sputtering firecracker can figure on is a dual setup.
— Variety p16 Ja 29 '36

"Despite good production values by Fred S. Meyer, 'Dangerous Waters' is only fair entertaindment due to an obviously written, poorly diaologued story. Picture will have its best chances on double bills."
+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 22 '36

DAREDEVILS OF THE EARTH. Ja 1 '36
Silvia Hallmark
Players: Ida Lupino, Cyril McFadden, John Loder
Director: Bernard Vorhaus
This film was made in England. A melodrama with a motorcycle racing background.

Trade Paper Reviews
"Estimate: for lesser runs, twin bills."
+ N Y Exhibitor p16 Ja 25 '36

"Piling stuff... The story is sluggish, sometimes silly and often incoherent."
— Variety p15 Ja 22 '36

DARK ANGEL. S 6 '35 110min United artists
Players: Fredric March, Merle Oberon,
Herbert Marshall
Director: Sidney Franklin
From play of same title by Guy Bolton.
"Romance of the Great War. Two brothers are called to the British colors. In the line of attack one is missing. He has been blinded, captured and interned in a German camp. The girl he loves believes him killed. He is unwilling to return to her because of his affliction.
The story of what he makes of his life, of her own adjustment and their final happiness make a moving study of human relationships."
(Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
"Direction, acting, photography, sets, and musical score are superlative. Adults. DAR
"An unusually good cast and production, with the three principal parts beautifully acted.
Mature." Nat Bd of R

"A production which should hold general interest. Adolescents, 12 to 16; children, 8 to 12; emotional and mature—little interest."
Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles
+ Fox W Coast But S 13 '35

"The fine photography and excellent music further the dramatic qualities of this production which is one of unusual merit. Family."
+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)
S 3 '35

"The scenery of rural England is beautiful.
The fox hunt with its hounds and horsesmen is thrilling. The delicate and restrained handling of the love scenes is commendable. Adults."
+ Nat Estimates S 15 '35

"Excellent. Adults and young adults."
Motion Pict Guide Mr 1 '36

"This is a gemlike production in which a pognant story, superb cast, understanding, delicate yet forceful direction, careful timing and exquisite photography are combined in so masterly a fashion as to make a gripping, inspiring and powerful social drama. Family."
+ Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"A and Y: Excellent; C: Mature."
Par M p54 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"Altho the film is furnished with many dangerous pitfalls where it might break down into sheer sentimentality, the performance of the three leading players makes it touching without being mawkish, a sincerely moving screenplay."
+ Lit Digest p33 S 14 '35

"Real emotion and rank sentimentality are oddly and thoroughly mixed in this film, which hops backwards and forwards from falsehood to tragedy until only the inveterate flingloer with cinematographic second sight will know what to make of it."
— New Statesman & Nation p447 O 5 '35

"It will be remembered chiefly for the excel-lelent dramatic scene in which the blind recluse carefully memorizes the details of his room and then tries to conceal his affliction from his two friends when they come to visit him."
+ N Y Times p6x N 3 '35
Reviewed by Mark Forrest
Sat p285 O 5 '35
Springfelt Republican p6c O 20 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p59 N 16 '35

DARK HOUR. Ja 15 '36 64min Chesterfield
Players: Ray Walker, Irene Ware, Berton
Churchill, William V. Mong, Hobart Bosworth
Director: Charles Lamont
"A complicated double mystery in which the murder of one of two brothers who are involved in questionable insurance transactions is solved by a young detective, who pits his wits against those of an older and more experienced man." Sel Motion Pict

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Although the plot is jerky and disconnected at times and the acting only average, interest is sustained throughout and the characterizations of Berton Churchill and Hobart Bosworth are especially good. Adults and young people."
+ Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"A murder mystery that has been well hand-dled by all concerned. This one will do very nicely in the smaller spots and especially where murder mysteries are liked."
+ Film Curb p6 F 1 '36

"A well produced, intelligently directed, murder mystery melodrama... Because of the murders it is hardly suitable for children or adolescents, but it is very good for adults."*
+ Harrison's Reports Ja 25 '36

"A lively, satisfying and spirited mystery thriller that steps out of its class in all departments. Only due to lack of names is its box-office value problematical, but exhibitors can place this on any double bills and rest assured of at least 60 minutes of intelligently produced and acted mystery."*
+ Hollywood Reporter p3 F 17 '36

"Production suffers from too much talk, too much opening-closing of doors, but for neighbhood audiences it might prove interesting.
More action would be an advantage."*
+ N Y Exhibitor p26 F 10 '36
DESSERT GOLD. Mr 27 '36 55min Paramount
Players: Larry (Buster) Crabbe, Robert Coogan, Marsha Hunt, Tom Keene
Director: Charles Huggins
Based on novel of same title by Zane Grey.
A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family." Am Legion Auxiliary
"Family and junior matinee." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers
"Good. High ideals are expressed in the character of the hero. Family." DAR
"Family." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)
"Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Good shots of the desert and good riding in a film suitable for family and junior movies."

NW News, p5 May '36

NEWSPAPER AND MAGAZINE REVIEWS

"'Desert Gold' was made for the sort of audience I saw it with—a weekend-night gathering of youngsters and grown-ups in a neighborhood house. It was apparent that the entire film delighted them greatly. Knowing the outcome of its story before the second reel had passed did not in the least lessen my interest, which had been gained almost with the opening scene. 'Desert Gold' is a picture you should see." Allan Hersholt

Hollywood Spec p13 F 29 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"If these Paramount Westerns go on getting better they are likely to become fashionable and find their way into the class houses. That has happened. They are going to make a lot of unexpected money. As it is, this one will go out of its dual duty for a neat clean-up and plenty of praise... It's rattling good stuff, presented with verve by a gallant company and directed with deftness and gusto by Hogan."

Hollywood Reporter p3 F 17 '36

"This handsome Western, placing heavy emphasis on humor and fast riding, should appeal in a big way to boots-and-saddle fans."

Motion Pict Daily p 15 '36

"Estimate: ace Western." N Y Exhibitor p55 Mr 10 '36

"Fast moving Western that will keep boots and saddle fans on the edge of their seats... For his fine directorial effort in some tried-and-true Westerns, James Hogan deserves praise. He has given the picture speed and suspense, has made acceptable a none-too-plausible story."

Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 17 '36

DESSERT GUNS. Ja, 2 '36 70min Beaumont
Players, Conway Tearle, Margaret Morris, William Gould
Director: Charles Hutchison
A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family." Bar Association, Teachers
"Family and junior matinee." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers
"Good. High ideals are expressed in the character of the hero. Family." DAR
"Family." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)
"Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Good shots of the desert and good riding in a film suitable for family and junior movies."

NW News, p5 May '36

NEWSPAPER AND MAGAZINE REVIEWS

"'Desert Gold' was made for the sort of audience I saw it with—a weekend-night gathering of youngsters and grown-ups in a neighborhood house. It was apparent that the entire film delighted them greatly. Knowing the outcome of its story before the second reel had passed did not in the least lessen my interest, which had been gained almost with the opening scene. 'Desert Gold' is a picture you should see." Allan Hersholt

Hollywood Spec p13 F 29 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Here is a better than average Western. More story than is usually the case and a good performance by Tearle. It will be well liked in all situations where outdoor dramas are in favor."

Film Curb p17 Ja 18 '36

"This Western should do well in the houses which play outdoor action pictures. It is well handled, with an interesting story that holds one from beginning to end. There is more drama in the scenes than in many Westerns."

Film Daily p10 Ja 13 '36

DESIRE. F 21 '36 89min Paramount
Players: Marlene Dietrich, Gary Cooper, John Halliday, William Prawley
Director: Frank Borzage

Based on the play, The Pearl Necklace, by Hans Saskaely and R. A. Stommel. It was formerly made into a foreign picture called Die Schonen Tage in Aranjuez. An American automotive engineer on a long desired vacation in Spain falls in love with a notorious jewel thief. To evade the customes men, she conceals a string of valuable stolen pearls in her husband's saddle. In order to recover the treasure she invites him to the home of a confederate who obligingly goes away. Left alone together, the girl falls in love with the young man and they return the jewels thus opening the way for a marriage and a life of comparative quiet in Detroit.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"The picture is thoroughly entertaining due to the fine work of an able cast, lovely settings, and a clever plot of continental flavor. Adults and young people."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Mr 1 '36

"Why this film should be called 'Desire' is more than we can fathom unless the producers thought such a title would please the followers of Marlene Dietrich's former roles... We could not forgive the scenarist if he had written this in a serious vein. However, it is subtly comic and ultra sophisticated, neat and torrid and so dull as one might expect from the title. The cast is excellent, and the setting arranged lovely. Adolescents, 12-16: too sophisticated; children, 8-12: no."

Motion Pict R Mr '36

"The old story of regeneration through love is done here in a sophisticated, original manner. There is an unmistakable milieu undercurrent of sex which will be objectionable to many adults."

Nat Council of Jewish Women Mr 4 '36

"Good. Adults."

Nat Legion of Decency F '36

"Old world backgrounds and exceptionally beautiful photography of Spanish scenes add to the high artistry of the entire production. Adults and young people."

Motion Pict F 1 '36

"A well directed and beautifully acted production. Mature."

Wkly Guide F 29 '36

NEWSPAPER AND MAGAZINE REVIEWS

"After her long series of consciously studied pictures under the guidance of Von Sternberg, Marlene Dietrich becomes surprisingly and pleasantly alive in 'Desire'. For such a part Miss Dietrich fills all of the requirements... It is first-rate. E. P. M."

Boston Transcript p14 Mr '36

"Competent acting and superlatively directing makes rather commonplace material assume

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

40 MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST
"The combination of Frank Borzage, Marlene Dietrich and Gary Cooper is a happy one. I presume 'Desire' will be recut before its final release. As I saw it, it sags in the middle, several scenes, all right in themselves, adding nothing to the story and serving only to retard its progress. ... [It] is a triumph for Gary Cooper. ... From the comedy standpoint it is a picture that stands well on the screen.

Hollywood Spec p3 F 15 '36

"Though [the] romantic sequences contain many moments of the torrid sort, and though the whole business is coiled with a pseudo-sophisticated glamour, 'Desire' is a curiously old-fashioned film. The decorative Fräulein Dietrich, smartly costumed by Travis Banton, unburdens in this picture more than is human and occasionally she is actually gay. Her acting ability, however, remains limited to expressing varying shades of adolescence. The picture is at least always pleasant to watch." (2½ stars) Beverly Hills Daily Lks p35 Mr 11 '36

"Desire' proves two things. It demonstrates that what Miss Dietrich needed desperately, she: has a new director. It also establishes that she is a better actor than almost any one was willing to believe. ... The result is a gay, mocking film, troubling with nothing more important than giving the stars something to do."

Lit Digest p21 Mr 7 '36

"Miss Dietrich does fine work in her new picture, though she seems a bit hard-boiled. She has melted her frozen pose and acted her way through her part in grand style. ... Dietrich's 'Desire' brings [Miss Dietrich] two distinctions: it establishes her as an actress and as the first person ever to receive $500,000 for one picture."

News-Wk p32 Mr 7 '36

"Desire' is a romantic comedy of grace, dexterity and charm in which Marlene Dietrich's performance is the best she has given since she became too dignified to exhibit the legs which brought her her first United States fame in the 'Blue Angel' in 1930. The flattery between [Marlene] and [Gary] suddenly ripens into something dse, something which Director Frank Borzage seems to have contrived in scenes which are at once gay, delicate and, in view of the cinema's attitude toward such matters since the advent of decency, started to operate in 1931, sensationaly explicit."

Time p17 Mr 9 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"This is the last word in glamorous and romantic screen fare set in a continental background of picturesque beauty."

Box Office p17 F 22 '36

"Leaves one rather cold—just as cold as the thief. Much all the old sequences. The Dietrich fans will like it." L. S. Niemeyer

Canadian Moving Pict Digest p10 F 29 '36

"It will please them in the top spots but it may be just a little too much on the sex [side] for the small town and neighborhood houses."

Film Curb p11 F 8 '36

"The situations and plot are well worked out and, with the ever-discriminate handling of Cooper and Dietrich, it is grand entertainment. Except for the climax, which goes somewhat heavy, the piece has that carefree tone that is very enjoyable. ... It is so well played and handled that it should please in a big way."

Film Daily p10 F 4 '36

"A portion of the first half, which is devoted to Miss Dietrich as the jewel thief, is clever and exciting, although demoralizing; and up until the time that she becomes acquainted with Cooper the action contains at a pretty fast pace, combining thrills with laughs. But the second half, which is devoted to the sex situations, is tiresome. ... Unsuitable for children, adolescents, or Sundays. Adult entertainment."

Hollywood Reporter p7 Mr 7 '36

"Paramount's handsome new piece for Marlene Dietrich is not very exciting fare. ... It takes about an hour and a half to develop [the] story and the telling is exceedingly deliberate and seldom inspired, either as to writing or directing. It is all very handsome and polished and there are exciting incidents, but lacks come in the wrong places and the picture is going to have tough going at the box office, except where there is a strong Dietrich following."

Hollywood Reporter p8 Ja 31 '36

"There is much for comedy fans in this production. Those who think that torrid sex as a part of screen entertainment mechanisms is a forgotten thing are in for a surprise. Those who like sentimental romping and a lot of it. 'Desire' is an amalgamation of all three. All right for the sophisticated, probably, but a failure of the public morals and officials guardians of public morals are quite likely to leap on, requiring the application of much pretty astounded. The romantic is not for diplomacy. ... Previewed in the Los Angeles Paramount Theatre. The audience roared at its comedy and did quite a bit of ooh-ing and ah-ing at its sex."

Motion Pict Herald p55 F 8 '36

"Fortified by two names and an Ernest Lubitsch production, 'Desire' is a nice gross at anybody's box office. ... Though the trend in the picture is adult, there is nothing that will scare away wide-eyed, good grosser anywhere."

N Y Exhibitor p34 F 25 '36

"The Marlene Dietrich and Gary Cooper combination, under production guidance of Ernst Lubitsch, clicks impressively. ... For the ace houses it's a natural, and it will fare well on down the line as far as sophisticated comedy and sex drama spell entertainment. ... Lines are graced with sparkle throughout, but aim the picture primarily at the sophisticated rather than the hoi-polloi. ... Tale is adult, smoothly progressive and gamey up to the edge of the cultivated taste."

Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 31 '36

LE DEUXIÈME BUREAU. See Second bureau

DIAMOND JIM. S 2 '35 97min Universal

Players: Edward Arnold, Blinnie Barnes. Jean Arthur, Eric Blore

Director: Edward Sutherland

Based on the biography of James Buchanan Brady by Parker Morell. "Symbol of that era when a young country's expansion by railroad was turned primarily at the sophisticated rather than the hoi-polloi. ... Tale is adult, smoothly progressive and gamey up to the edge of the cultivated taste."

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is fine acting by Edward Arnold, who met the original Brady twice, ably supported by Eric Blore, that the picture owes its virtues. ... But with this background to the canvas the background of a picturesquely and now glamorous period, the film leaves this dramatic service to pick up odds and ends of romances which falter under the breadth of the man's character."
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

DIAMOND JIM—Continued.

— Lit Digest p30 S 7 '35

"Instead of giving us an incisive, persuasive re-capitulation of a sped era which bred a personage, it wasted precious footage on sentimentality, toyed unintelligently with facts and bowed opportunity out the door."— Louise Mace

Spring'd Republican p68 O 13 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p59 N 16 '35

"Decidedly interesting story of the time of Diamond Jim Brady which has been given in first class style.

Film Curb p17 S 15 '35

DIVINE SPARK. N 14 '35 82min Gaumont

British

Players: Phillips Holmes. Marta Eggerth

Director: Carmine Gallone

"From his youthful studies at the Royal College of Music in Naples and the inception of a love which motivated his whole life and inspired his best music, this story carries the Italian composer, Vincenzo Bellini, to the height of his operatic career."— Selected Motion Pict

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for aadult audiences."— N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja. 25 '36

"Good. Suitable for mature audiences, but inappropriate for church halls and school showings."

Internat Fed of Cath Alumnae

Fox W Coast Bui N 16 '35

"Picturque, with actual Neapolitan settings, and a lot of music. For schools and libraries. Family."— Nat Bd of R M N '35

"Unobjectionable for adults."— Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A and Y. Good; C: No interest."— Par p54 D 15 '35

"Although the story lacks the element of suspense to a great degree and has the tendency to be jerky, it has many praiseworthy phases. The life of all artists is interesting and Bellini was a particularly romantic figure; the settings are excellent and the interwoven music from the opera very pleasing. Music lovers will delight in the story and operatic selections but will probably wish that a more expert artist might have sung the arias. Family."— Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p13 D 21 '35

DR. SOCRATES. S 23 '35 79min Warner

Players: Paul Muni. Ann Dvorak, Barton MacLane, Robert Barrat

Director: William Dieterle

"A picture in which a young doctor inadvertently comes in contact with a band of criminals and becomes a hero by cleverly planning their capture." (Jt Estimates)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Good of kind; Y: Not the best; C: No."— Christian Century p1390 O 30 '35

"The direction is forceful and effective with Paul Muni in his supporting cast doing most realistic and convincing work. Mature audience."

— Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) S 9 '35

"A convincing story, with small town narrowness and its paradoxical wholeheartedness cleverly portrayed. Paul Muni's work as Lee Cardwell is commendable. Too much exciting gun play for children. Adults."— Jt Estimates S 15 '35

Mo Film Bui p144 D '35

Motion Pict & Family O 15 '35

"Suitable for adults and young people."

Catholic Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"A: Plausible melodrama; Y: Doubtful; C: No."— Par M p51 Mr '36

"Excellent scenario and acting, and unusually good setting with lifelike minor characters. Exciting and clever plot. Family."— Wkly Guide O 5 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Although this is an entertaining picture in its own right, it is perhaps of chief interest as the latest item in the regeneration of the Wiscon's crooked gangster chivalrians."

— Rich Warra Jr.

N Y Herald Tribune p19 O 3 '35

Spring'd Republican p63 D 15 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p60 N 16 '35

Film Curb p10 O 15 '35

"Adult melodrama."— N Y Exhibitor p35 O 25 '35

DON'T GAMBLE WITH LOVE. F 15 '36 65min Columbia

Director: Dudley Murphy

"Cabot and his wife. Miss Sothern, are deeply in love with one another, and concerned about the future of their infant son. They operate a smart gambling hall on the square, and are successful. Miss Sothern concludes that a baby and a gambling career do not mix and persuades Cabot to give up the racket. His fling in the 'legitimate' brokerage business ends when he is innocently involved in the firm's crooked dealings. Angry, he returns to gambling without his wife."— Motion Pict Daily

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"'Don't Gamble With Love' is typical neighborhood-house fare, which means that it is cut from the usual pattern in plot and treatment, resulting in more or less mediocre entertainment."— Marguerite Tassler

N Y Herald Tribune p15 Mr 5 '36

"Nurseries and gambing dens, true love and crooked dice are all jumbled together in the [film], an unobjectionable and insignificant piece called, 'Don't Gamble With Love.' This all makes a story somehow, but never one to be believed."— Eileen Creelman

N Y Sun p16 Mr 2 '36

"A mildly amusing little program number, ideally suited for the neighborhood, and not altogether alien to the pulsing heart of the Great White Way."— B. R. C.

N Y Times p13 Mr 2 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + + Fair; + + Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
"There is nothing much to pant about one way or another in 'Don't Gamble With Love.' It twitter's along aimlessly for about an hour, now and then showing signs of dullness. It has run its course about the only fatality is a chilling love interest. William Boehnel

NY World-Telegram p7 Mr 3 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Good performances by Ann Sothern and Bruce Cabot, with an able supporting cast, plus a story that holds interest fairly well despite its routine procedures, make this production a generally passable affair for the popular situations.

+ Film Daily p7 F 29 '36

"The result is a well-enough handled picture that will please the non-discriminating audiences throughout the country. The picture will be quite satisfactory on dual bills.

+ Hollywood Reporter p8 Mr 6 '36

"This should prove satisfactory entertainment.

+ Motion Pict Daily p6 Mr 2 '36

"This is a simple little production that starts off slowly, fails to increase its pace and winds up practically in the same spot from which it started. However, it does have strength of cast names, the best line for showmanship. By keen showmanship, exhibitors should be able to attract their patrons, no doubt, by making promotion campaigns to promote this picture, stressing those elements most obvious.

— National Daily p5y Mr 14 '36

"The question this one tries to decide is whether it pays to be honest, even in operating a gambling house. It tackles the problem convincingly but not entertaining enough to assure success at the box office. Title may attract the curious but everything points to less than average pull.

— Variety p37 Mr 4 '36

DON'T GET PERSONAL. F 17 '36 65min Universal

Players: Sally Eilers. James Dunn. Pinky Tomlin

Director: William Nigh

"College graduates, James Dunn and Pinky Tomlin, being broke, resort to [holding a] public auction [to sell] their talents. Miss Eilers, also a graduate, sparsely in order to jack up the price for the boys' benefit. She is horrified when she gets them herself with her last demands that they come home and take care of her home. The cross-country trek is enlivened by furious squabbling between Dunn and Miss Eilers. scenes by Pinky, and a series of comic mishances culminating in Dunn's kidnaping of Sally at the very altar of her spite marriage. Motion Pict Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Fair. General patronage." Nat Legion of Decency F '36

"Adults and young people. Sel Motion Pict F 1 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"In spite of the fact that it took seven writers to turn out 'Don't Get Personal,' the picture is without style or give or else the price determined to be light and amusing, with the result that it is only too cute and picturesque for comfort. Furthermore, Sally Eilers, James Dunn and Pinky Tomlin act to the hilt their carefree juvenile roles so that, as far as adult entertainment goes, the film fails to make its mark. The story has been directed affably by William Nigh and its outdoor settings are pleasant. Means, no doubt, to be just a simple, homespun picture for the unsophisticated, it achieves its end." Marguerite Taze-laar

+ — N Y Herald Tribune p7 F 22 '36

"Don't Get Personal," a slight and unpretentious comedy of two boys, a girl and an aged animal, is surprisingly entertaining." Eileen Cramer

+ N Y Sun p16 F 21 '36

"If you can put up with a renewal of that stormy sort of sparkin' that Jimmy and Lou Collins started. 'Em Rough) Dunn and Sally Eilers usually engage in before they fade out in one big culdic, then 'Don't Get Personal' may prove engaging." J. T. M.

N Y Times p12 F 22 '36

"It may be said of [it] without much fear of contradiction, that [it] is ponderous in movement and pedestrian in speech, in fact, almost entirely lacking in all the elements that go to make up an enjoyable screen entertainment.

+ NY World-Telegram p21 F 22 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"This one should have no trouble in pleasing most audiences. . . If your patrons like good clean fun they certainly will go for this one."

+ Film Curb p19 F 29 '36

"Lively little comedy of hitch-hike love carries good laughs through."

— Film Daily pl0 F 24 '36

"Just a moderately amusing program comedy.

The bickering between Sally Eilers and James Dunn, Dunn comedy is a very good bet for any dual bill location. The story is slightly implausible but none the less funny."

+ Motion Pict Daily p6 Ja 31 '36

"Promotion for the picture, with no suggestion of tremendous magnitude or power, can safely promise frothy, modern, amusing entertainment, an hour of light and generally pleasant pastime. Basic material is familiar pattern but treatment is fresh. A bit of imbibing all by hands, purely for comedy purposes, may be an item for exhibitor consideration in some localities."

+ Motion Pict Herald p10 F 25 '36

"James Dunn and Sally Eilers as a combination have made several attempts to duplicate 'Bad Girl,' and this new Sally Eilers-James Dunn comedy is a very good bet for any dual bill location. The story is slightly implausible but none the less funny."

+ Variety p37 F 26 '36

DOUGHNUTS AND SOCIETY. (Release date not determined) 63min Mascot

Director: Lewis D. Collins

"Louise Fazenda and Maude Eburne, after numerous disasters with an Alaska gold mine, settle down amicably to the manufacture of doughnuts. The romance between their respective children, Edward Nugent and Ann Rutherford, has a temporary setback when Miss Eburne sells a piece of property and starts a vigorous climb on the social ladder."

Motion Pict Daily

Trade Paper Reviews

"Satisfying, carefully built film overcomes story weakness. A family 'tragic' comedy."

+ Film Daily p9 Mr 17 '36

+ — Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
"This is the last of the Mascot films and its release at this time serves as a gentle but very pointed reminder of the improvement in Reproductive product."

Motion Pict Daily p8 Mr 16 '36

"[The] picture is of hokum slapstick variety that brings back memories of old Keystone specials. Lewis D. Collins' smart direction and handling of situations keeps it from getting into the class of the ridiculous and lifts it to level where the small towners, family trade and unsophisticates will find it entertaining."

— + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 12 '36

DRIFT FENCE. F 14 '36 63min Paramount
Players: Larry (Buster) Crabbe, Katherine De Mille, Tom Keene, Benny Baker, Glenn Erickson, Irving Bacon

Director: Otho Lovering

Based on a novel of the same title by Zane Grey. A young easterner is sent west by his uncle to take charge of a ranch. He dislikes the rough ranch life and asks an undercover ranger to substitute for him. The ranger is disinclined to do so until he learns that a gang of rustlers whom he is trailing are playing havoc with the herds on the easterner's ranch. By permitting the rustlers to believe him a tenderfoot, he learns their plans and after numerous battles he brings them to justice.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

"Family and junior matinee." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Family." E Coast Preview Committee

"Family and juvenile matinee." Nat Bd of R

"A mediocre Western with the redeeming feature of beautiful outdoor scenery and fine riding. Family and Junior matinee." Nat Council of Women

"There is plenty of action, a bit of romance and expert horsemanship in this better-than-average Western. Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Family, altho there is a good deal of drinking and the film is over-tense for small children." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Exciting and thrilling rodeo scenes will appeal to boys. Family." Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Even though violent death is an indispensable adjunct of pictures dealing with the lawlessness of the frontier, this film makes murder seem too casual and too easily justified. Adolescents, 12-16: questionable; children, 8-12: no." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

Fox W Coast Bul F 8 '36

"Family and junior matinee." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) F 1 '36

"A, Y and C: Good action melodrama." Par M p54 Mr '36

"A regulation Zane Grey story, of fair interest, with fine photography of the picturesque Arizona, cow country and interesting scenes of the building of a range fence to keep out the infamous child raised in the 'family.'"

+ — Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

"A good lively Western."

+ Wkly Guide Ja 4 '36

EAGLE'S BROOD. O 15 '35 58min Paramount
Players: Dorothy Revier, Bill Boyd, Jimmy Ellison

Director: Howard Bretherton

Based on novel of same title by Clarence Mulford. The second of the series of Hop-A-Long Cassidy stories. Two peace officers enforce law and order in the early days of the great Southwest.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A and Y: Hardly; C: No." Christian Century p94 Ja 15 '36

"A; Good melodrama; Y: Thrilling; C: Too gory."

Par M p54 Mr '36

"Family." Wkly Guide O 19 '35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p57 N 16 '35

"Unusually satisfactory Western that will please followers of outdoor films."
- Film Curb p1 O 15 '35

"Family Western."
N Y Exhibitor p35 O 25 '35
Variety p16 Ja 29 '36

EAST OF JAVA. D 2 '35 75min Universal Players: Elizabeth Young, Charles Bickford.
Frank Albertson. Siegfried Runnman
Director: George Melford
Based on novel, Tiger Island, by Gouverneur Morris. "[An] American fugitive fleeing police, ships on a tramp steamer which is wrecked on [a] small island, takes command but the men are killed off one by one, by wild animals, until he gives his life to save [a] young couple, the only other survivors." (Box Office)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Poor."
- Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36

"Excellent direction, sound effects and phototography. Adults: thrilling; 14-18: doubtful; 8-14: too brutal." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"A gripping, interesting melodrama in which brawn pitted against brain wins in most instances. It is forcibly directed and realistically acted. ... Beautiful photography, effective music, especially Clarence Muse's tom-tom song, a realistic storm, strong suspense and tense drama make this picture based on a story by Gouverneur Morris most stimulating.
Adults and young people." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"An excellent cast, fine, virile direction, unusual photography and a thrilling story. Adults."
Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Brutal details make this a film only for adults of steady nerves." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Direction seems to have made use of every cinema possibility. The cast is excellent and they appeal to [adult] and young people. Scenes are carried through by use of silences and suspense to make it an entertaining, amusing picture."
So Calif Council of Fed Church Women.

"The part of Bowers played by Charles Bickford, dominates the film; direction is sure and moves towards an inevitable end. However, it is doubtful if the story in which many men are lost in a shipwreck and four survivors devoured by lions and tigers can be called diversion for any except the hardest adults. Adults: too strong; children: terrifying.
Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles
+ Fox W Coast Bul D 21 '35

"Fair. Adults."
Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A and T: Exciting melodrama; C: Harrowing for nervous." Par M p54 Mr '36
Sel Motion Pict Ja 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"From a leisureed and ponderous start, 'East of Java' works up to a climax packed with shining entertainment. A reversion to consistency of pacing gives the film a contagiously feverish quality not inappropriate to its conten. There was a good deal of time, trouble and actual money involved in this screening of Gouverneur Morris's 'Tiger Island.' ... To assist its fearfully measured crescendo of atmospheric tension, 'East of Java' has an eormously effective cast of players."
- Boston Transcript p7 D 20 '35

"Exciting melodrama."
Christian Science Monitor p13 D 21 '35

"As a cheerful prelude to Christmas, [Universal] brings in a new picture teeming with wild beasts which in the course of an hour devour five of the principals of the play in plain view while the three remaining wretches are reduced to such a state of the jitters that their ultimate rescue seems of little consequence. Melancholy and doom strike the keynot of the entertainment, billed as 'East of Java,' and, therefore, for those who desire a counter-irritant to Christmas shopping and holy wreaths it may prove comforting. All this is acted out in all seriousness by an excellent cast, whose sense of humor appears, appropriately, to have been placed in storage for the time being." Marquita Tazelaar
- + N Y Herald Tribune p12 D 16 '35

"During its hour or so on the screen 'East of Java' crowds in more melodrama than half a dzen of the usual films. This is straight-action melodrama, good old blood and thunder stuff, with wild tigers and a gangster, a madman, a heroine who is heroically marooned on a desert island. Everything happens that possibly could happen, and undoubtedly quite a lot more.
It is not half as bad as it sounds, but somehow it manages to sustain the excitement until the end." Eileen Creelman
- + N Y World Telepgram p39 D 17 '35

"Though it has a certain melodramatic vitality about it, 'East of Java,' doesn't quite jell.
The ingredients for a successful thriller are all there, but this film has been pieced together instead of cement and as a result is a loose and leaky entertainment. ... The film is not lacking in thrills—indeed it would be a waste for Mr. Bickford to give his customary vigorous performance as the gangster, and there is a grand piece of acting by Siegfried Runnman as an animal trainer who loses his mind and courage as the survivors are besieged by the lions. The romantic interest is provided by Elizabeth Young and Frank Albertson." William Boehnel
- + N Y World Telepgram p39 D 17 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p88 D 7 '35

"This wild tale of [a] party shipwrecked on an island packed with lions, tigers and other wild beasts will probably please and create excitement for a juvenile audience but that's about all. [It is] rather an improbable yarn."
- Film Curb p14 D 1 '35

Film Daily p10 D 17 '35

"Melodramatic thrill action, with a trend toward horror, this is red meat for those liking that type of entertainment. Full of vivid, menacing danger scenes yet artificial to the point of unreality, the picture is for thrill fans."
- + Motion Pict Daily p10 N 12 '35

"While it is apparent that much attention was paid to the closely directed and realistic-ly executed shooting, [the] story is completely handicapped by being too familiar. Family melodrama."
- + N Y Exhibitor p53 D 10 '35
Variety p12 D 18 '35

ECSTASY OF YOUNG LOVE. See Young love

EIN JUNGEN MÄDCHEN—EIN JUNGER
MANN (German title) See Knock-out
ESCAPE FROM DEVIL'S ISLAND. N 10 '35
65min Columbia
Players: Victor Jory, Florence Rice
Director: Albert Rogell
Two films, both set in the French penal colony, depict the struggle of the innocent against the ruthless guards. Though both films are melodramas, they offer different approaches to the genre.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

"Nonsensical, and in the middle the suspense, which was building nicely, slips back considerably." + - Motion Pict Herald p39 D 14 '35

"Family melodrama." + Variety p26 N 27 '35

"'Escape From Devil's Island' deals with familiar material but deals with it moderately well." + Variety p39 D 10 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Why, one wonders, did Columbia waste the talents of so sophisticated an actress as Miss Florence Rice, who not long ago proved so engaging in 'She Loves Me Not,' in fact, why did Columbia make this obvious, tinsel, nonsensical picture at all?" Marguerite Tazelaar

- N Y Herald Tribune p12 N 25 '35

"As a quickie thriller, the picture has a high amount of excitement. The acting, however, is pretty poor, even that of Victor Jory who made such a magnificent Oberon in 'A Midsummer Night's Dream.'" Eileen Columb

- N Y Sun p26 N 25 '35

"Columbia's casting director deserves credit for peopling the pictures with a motley crew of cut-throats as we have seen in many a month. Though it probably wasn't intended, the film presents its cargo of derelicts in a sympathetic light and you cannot help pitying the poor wretches as they toil under the scorching tropical sun." T. M. + + N Y Times p22 N 25 '35

"Although melodramas about Devil's Island usually command attention because they are invariably vigorously presented and are based on elemental human themes, this latest is pretty leaky and stereotyped." William Boehncl

- N Y World-Telegram p11 N 26 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"Action fans will be certain to find this melodrama, depicting the horrors of the French penal colony, to their liking. Exciting moments are numerous, with the harrowing escape of three hunted men through the dangerous and snake-infested jungle holding the maximum of suspense." + + Box Office p25 J a 4 '36

"Rather a good melodrama based on France's famed penal institution. It moves along at a good pace and should be liked by those who cotton to this brand of entertainment." + + Film Curb p12 D 15 '35

"Handicapped from the start with a story that falls into a cut-and-dried pattern, neither the earnest efforts of the cast nor the direction by Al Rogell were able to make much with this production." + Film Daily p7 N 26 '35

"Motion Pict Daily p1 N 16 '35

"The character portrayals are in keeping with the production, which, in most scenes, is authentic and realistic. The direction, however, seems to allow the action to bog down in the middle and the suspense, which was building nicely, slips back considerably." + - Motion Pict Herald p39 D 14 '35

"Family melodrama." + Variety p26 N 27 '35

"'Escape From Devil's Island' deals with familiar material but deals with it moderately well." + Variety p39 D 10 '35

EVERY SATURDAY NIGHT. F 7 '36 70min 20th-century-Fox

Players: June Lang, Thomas Beck. Jed Frount, Spring Byington

Director: James Tinling

Based on the play of the same title by Katherine Kavanagh. "(The story) deals with the parental problems of the Evers family. There is Lonnie who goes with the spoiled son of wealth; Jack, who finds it impossible to be a girl on his two-dollar weekly allowance, and the use of the family car one night in seven; Roget, too young for sweethearts, but a financial genius who lends his older brother money at exorbitant interest; Lucy, who thinks she is grown up; and little Bobby, too young to know anything other than a comfort to his parents." (Box Office)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"In short, a picture you'll enjoy because it is about yourselves! Family and juvenile matinee." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good. Family." DAR

"The production has the charm of familiarity, homeliness. And the whole picture looked as though it were made in a Hollywood studio, as indeed it was." Eileen Columb

"Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Splendid mingling of humor, pathos and delicate human touches make the picture one of marked high ethical standard." Family. E Coast Preview Committee

"A perfect family picture." Mrs T. G. Winter

Film Pict Guide Mr '36

"The characters are not particularly interesting in themselves, and the events are neither dramatic nor unusual, but the film is interesting because of its success in catching the exact renditions of human beings those prototypes everyone knows in real life. Adolescents, 12-16: entertaining; children, 8-12: mature." Motion Pict R Mr '36

"We hope this will be a forerunner for more pictures which will prove such acceptable entertainment for the entire family." + Nat Council of Jewish Women F 5 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"An exciting, blistering story of a day American family told in a delightfully humorous but sympathetic way. Family." + Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

"This is a pleasant, human comedy. Family." + Wkly Guide F 1 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; + - Mediocre; - Poor; --- Exceptionally Poor
Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"You'll like the whole family. Though don't go to forget your own troubles. You'll see most of them in the picture." — Beverly Hills Times

+ Liberty p29 Mr 7 '36

"This is the first of a series of homespun comedies which Twentieth Century-Fox is sponsoring. An audience would fare better here to be as completely disarming as 'Every Saturday Night,' then films of this genre need no longer be relegated to the neighborhood houses at the hinterland. That there is room for 'wholesome' photoplays on Broadway was attested yesterday when an audience that laughed loud and frequently and further demonstrated its approval by a final round of applause." — T. M. F.

+ N Y Times p10 Mr 14 '36

"In case you are in search of what is known as 'hOMespun' entertainment 'Every Saturday Night' is the place to find it. An unambiguously important, short-winded anecdote, it is somewhat enlightened by the expert playing of the cast. William Boyd.

— + N Y World-Telegram p25 Mr 17 '36

"'Every Saturday Night' bathes its audience in an atmosphere of homey sweetness which should make it a picture for Family success at any neighborhood playhouse.

When Producer Darryl Zanuck prepared 'Every Saturday Night,' he was so delighted he decided to make three more pictures along the same line, using the same cast and taste in the mould of 'Our American Family' series, the four pictures will be the first example in the talkies of an Idea Mrs. Sidney Ed-Davis used long and successfully in silent days.

+ Time p25 Mr 2 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Humorous, homespun story, typical of the average man's family, packed with entertainment value and definitely a smash grosser. Family.

+ Box Office p49 F 8 '36

"One of those down-to-earth, back-home-with-the-family pictures that likely will provide fairly satisfactory entertainment for the not-too-particular. It's a tear-jerker that depicts incidents in an American family and is evidently designed for the neighborhoods and small town theatres. Cast do a rather commendable job and the direction and production are good.

+ Film Curb p13 F 1 '36

"Here is a picture that can readily fill the need for funny and sympathetic pictures which will not lessen the good taste in audiences. The simple story is splendidly kept together with every day incidents in family life which cannot fall in appeal.

+ Film Daily p7 Mr 14 '36

"...Pleasant family entertainment of program grade: It has pathos and comedy. The trouble with such a film is that it is in fact the theme that is too close to one's everyday existence. Suitable for all.

+ Harrison's Reports F 15 '36

"The production has been aimed for the masses and hits the bull's eye squarely with keen and homely humor. The first of a planned series, 'Every Saturday Night' should prove a popular and profitable new trend at the box office."

+ Hollywood Reporter p3 Ja 25 '36

"It should do well in the general field, particularly with the family patronage." — Picture Daily p7 F 27 '36

"Here's a picture that any exhibitor certainly those playing to family trade audiences, can be glad to present to his audiences. The cast is homely and the title isn't so hot, but the entertainment it presents and the way it presents it is all wool and a couple of yards wide.

+ Motion Pict Herald p58 F 8 '36

"Before enthralling over the announcement that 'Every Saturday Night' is the first picture in an American family series, exhibitors will first test it. It is intended to satisfy the movie goer that a picture so devoid of names can attract patrons. No one can deny that on twin bills, in neighborhood or small playhouses, a film with the social status of a key city first run can play this by itself is a question still to be answered.

— + N Y Exhibitor p35 F 25 '36

"Lacking name strength, this film can't be expected to draw on its own, but once they're inside it should prove pleasant entertainment. For one thing it's 'Family' and nobody has yet forgotten the family, pure but appealing in its small way. Being a B picture, it's destined almost strictly for the dusters, but there it will hold up its end nicely.

+ Variety p28 Mr 18 '36

EVERYBODY'S OLD MAN. Mr 20 '36

24 min 20th century-Fox

Players: Irvin S. Cobb, Rochelle Hudson. Johnny Downs, Norman Foster

Director: William Wellman

["[The] story deals with a manufacturer who loses interest in business upon the death of his life-long companion. He takes a vacation and returns with a new lease on life as a country squire and becomes a Napoleon which he regards as a has-been. So the old man takes over the affairs of the firm, doing even more..."

Hollywood Reporter

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It gives audiences a laugh a minute." — Laura Elston

+ Canadian M p42 Mr '36

"There is nothing new in the story from which 'Everybody's Old Man' was made, and Irvin Cobb comes a long way short of being a good actor, yet the picture is thoroughly enjoyable. From the first the story is obvious. Pat McNutt and A. E. Thomas, writers of the screen play, are to be congratulated upon the shameless manner in which they refused to think up anything new and the expert manner in which they use their old in fabricating as amusing a little comedy as one could wish for. Put this picture on your list of those to see. You will have a pleasant time.

+ Hollywood Spec p3 Mr 14 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Irvin Cobb's début as a full-fledged actor is not altogether auspicious due to poor story material. The plot has been used many, many times and no new twists are apparent in this telling. . . . The star lacks a good deal when it comes to acting and if there was any idea of building him up to do the late Will Rogers stuff, it must be forgotten.

+ Film Curb p33 Mr 14 '36

"Not a Zanuck special, but a pleasant evening's entertainment, due for consistent grosses wherever it plays. It is extremely well written, nicely directed and played for all that is in it. . . . Cobb is a character rather than a character actor and his personality is delightful. He seems to be enjoying himself hugely and his enjoyment is infectious. Momentarily, you expect him to look directly at you and say, 'Unaccustomed as I am to public acting.' . . . Nonetheless, Cobb is a name to be reckoned with on the home market."

+ Hollywood Reporter p3 Mr 7 '36

"Irvin S. Cobb, in his first starring picture, comes through most commendably and his picture as enjoyable entertainment is geared nicely to a popular formula. . . Cobb reveals a definite screen personality and it may be that part of the mantle of the late Will Rogers which Darryl F. Zanuck here strives to throw around him may fit. There is no way of forecasting such an eventuality until the public votes cast in this and succeeding pictures.”

+++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
EVERYBODY'S OLD MAN—Continued

+ Motion Pict Daily p10 Mr 9 '36

“...This production is a readaptation of The Working Man made several years ago with George Arliss in the leading role. The basic plot has been unchanged; only the atmospheric backgrounds have been altered, but it is still engrossing, human interest entertainment. With Irvin S. Cobb, whom it is quite evident, 20th Century Fox are molding to take the place of the late Will Rogers, and the supporting cast completely new, there is every reason to anticipate that this picture will receive the same popular reception as the other. As he appears in the picture Cobb is more himself in character than he is an actor.”

+ Motion Pict Herald p56 Mr 14 '36

“20th-Fox has done well by Irvin Cobb on his first feature in which he stands on his own. Picture undoubtedly will establish the erstwhile writer as screen performer. His value, however, will depend on the story material given him by the studio. . . Cobb gives a highly competent performance and the man in him is no actor but in his naturalness lies his value. He handles dialogue well, is at times convincing.”

+ Variety (Hollywood) p4 Mr 7 '36

EXCLUSIVE STORY. F 7 '36 70mm MGM

Players: Stuart Erwin, Franchot Tone, Magde Evans. J. Farrell MacDonald. Joseph Calleia

Director: George B. Seitz

A 20th-Century-Fox production. Erwin is enraged when he is told by his city editor to retract an exclusive story about a paving contract let to a racketeer. He obtains the assistance of a play boy attorney and together they wipe out the racketeer after many thrilling encounters.

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Class A. Approved for adult audiences.” N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide p54 Mr 25 '36

“Generally unwholesome atmosphere and considerable casual drinking make this film dubious for family consumption. Adults: good; 14-18: doubtful; 8-14: no.” Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

“Good. Mature.” DAR

“Mature.” Nat Bd of R

“Franchot Tone, a really competent actor, does the best he can in the role of a legal advisor who takes nothing seriously but his drinking. Adults.” Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

“[It has] a definitely constructive theme. Adults.” Nat Soc of New England Women

“Racketeering, murder, kidnapping and fire at sea are the high lights of this mediocre story, on which an excellent cast is wasted. Mature.” S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

“[It] will provide entertainment for those who enjoy this type. Adults and young people.” Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ja 11 '36

“It is too loosely wrought, dramatically, to make the town pick up its ears. There is much violent activity and great heartlessness, but one assumes that no great disaster will befall the nice young man and the pretty girl, and none does. Adolescents, 12-16: unsuited; children, 8-12: no.” Motion Pict R F '36

“A melodrama that, because of its theme, is suitable only for adults.” Nat Council of Jewish Women Ja 15 '36

“Unobjectionable for adults.” Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

“A: Suspenseful melodrama; Y: Possibly a bit strong; M: None.” Par M p54 Mr '36

“Adults and young people.” Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

Wkly Guide Ja 15 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Canadian M p42 Mr '36

“Confused melodrama about municipal graft, the policy racket and profiteering in island revolutions; three good stories rolled into one that isn't so good.” + + Christian Science Monitor p13 Ja 25 '36

“It is one of those things rushed through on the lot and not taken as seriously by its makers as they intend the public to take it. We suggest that Mr. Seitz cut his teeth on one crime. We are given so many we become muddled and half way through the picture begin to yawn and think how nice it would be if we were home, sitting in front of the fire with a book containing only one corpse and one murderer. There has been placed, in this picture whose power to irritate me is increasing in ratio to the frequency of its inclusion in conversations. . . . Nothing short of a legitimate place in drama, as can every other vagary of man's inclinations, but its wholly gratuitous inclusion in pictures whose stories do not demand it, makes it merely an element more disgusting than entertaining. As the studios apparently see some virtue in constant inburing not apparent to the rest of us, it might be a good idea for Joe Breen to cast his eye on it and say something about it to somebody when he finds it unnecessary.”

+ + Hollywood Spec p14 Ja 18 '36

“I think that 'Exclusive Story' is one of the most offensive melodramas of the season, and I won't be able to take that back, even if Mr. Mooney, escaping from his customary rut in this film, does come to the rescue. The conclusive proof that every episode in his story was based on cold fact. . . . While expressing little admiration for the film, a more laudatory opinion and more cheery response to the brilliant work of Joseph Calleia as the dope-ridden, homicidal and demoralized agent of the racketeers. Last week Mr. Calleia again stole a picture from Miss Harlow, and now, giving a chillingly real performance in a photoplay in dire need of reality, he proves again that he is one of the really fine actors of the cinema.”

Richard Watts, Jr. + + + N Y Herald Tribune p8 Ja 18 '36

“[Not for the] melange of fact and fancy that Metro's photoplay be approved, but for its generosity in providing another major role for Joseph Calleia, who is rapidly becoming this department's favorite villain. Last week Mr. Calleia stole 'Riffraff' from the great Jean Harlow; here, with less serious competition, it is not so much a matter of theft as of open expressage. . . Mr. Calleia contributes a performance that will be remembered when the time comes to take inventory of the year's best.” F. S. Nugent

N Y Times p19 Ja 18 '36

“[It seems] to be always stimulating. . . As a gangster of a mean species, Joseph Calleia presents a most forbidding and striking character. . . John M.

+ + New Yorker p64 Ja 25 '36

Time p46 Ja 27 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — + Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
Trade Paper Reviews

"Smart dialogue lifts this out of the ordinary gangster class and it stacks up as good fare for the crime-story fans."
- Box Office p25 Ja 25 '36

"A better than usual racketeer melodrama that is well played by a competent cast. Mooney knows his underworld stuff and has supplied a fair amount of material."
+ Film Curb p10 Ja 15 '36

"Martin Mooney's inside story of the big New York City racket has been built up into a very exciting picture...it...is a little too strong for children or as ascents; very good for adults."
+ Harrison's Reports Ja 25 '36

"There is plenty of excitement in this tale enough good acting to satisfy all corners and lots of tense action...Joseph Calleia does a smart work as a small time racketeer who is forced by the 'big boys' into murderous extremes and each of his scenes remain in the memory as the highlights of the film."
+ Motion Pic Daily p11 Ja 7 '36

"Two bits of work by Calleia, coming off a 'dope bat' and cringing in terror before the time bomb, won applause from the audience. Stuart Erwin gives the part the natural and human in relation to his character and family ties as it is not ordinarily seen on the screen. They are the standout performances in which, in relation to the story, patrons are apt to find interest and entertainment."
+ Motion Pic Herald p44 Ja 18 '36

"This feature is rich in publicity angles, but in spite of some distinguished performances and some thrilling bits, it's grade B. Story starts off in a large way, but quickly drops into the personal angle and becomes just another G-man story, without a G-man. And even this personal story lacks punch at times in spite of good situations...The direction is good and the production handsomely done, but the story is too disconnected to carry the interest along properly."
- Variety p22 '36

"Exclusive Story starts off in fine stride as melodrama with stress on interesting character and delectable comedy, slows from too much story handicap and comes under the wire as average B class programmer...Except for too much plotchage, with its scattering action, picture might have held to its initial quality and have come through as unqualified winner in its field."
- Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 6 '36

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Light entertainment. Family." Am Legion Auxiliary

"[It is] an action-filled farce." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Mediocre. Family, but mature for children." DAR

"There is a good idea back of this picture, which satisfies our typical thrillers; but the G-man pictures, but succeeds in being only mildly amusing; the trouble seems to be that the story lacks the necessary subjective stuff for a full-length picture." Nat Fed of Busines & Professional Women

"A good average 'filler' suitable for family audiences." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Light and amusing. Family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bul Mr 7 '36

"Adults and young people. Unconvincing picture. Harmless 'entertainment'."
- Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) F 24 '36

"Fair for the family." + Nat Council of Jewish Women F 25 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." + Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"A moderately-entertaining film dealing with G-Men and their activities from a comedy angle. Family."
+ Box Office p18 Mr 14 '36

"It is a lightly amusing picture that will please in most situations." + Film Curb p12 F 22 '36

"Just a program comedy, with an appeal mostly to younger people. It has a few good gags that provoke laughs, but for the most part it is silly and may prove tiresome to adults. Suitable for all. Family." - Harrison's Reports Mr 21 '36

"Here is a comedy...which will make patrons of double bills feel that they have full value for the money in spite of no draw names. Plenty of action and a generous measure of gag situations give the film its chief value. Though Hale's roundelay comedy is good for the part."
+ Motion Pic Daily p8 F 17 '36

"Obviously made for nothing more than passing attention, it will succeed nothing more than as a form of 'filler'."
- N Y Exhibitor p55 Mr 10 '36

"Paramount's 'F-Man' starts with promise of being topnotch comedy, but regardless of heroes of Jack Haley and William Frawley, it runs into too many kinks to keep it above excellent dualist in the lesser spots. Families in neighborhood houses will bowl with glee at Haley's squat-gun he-man antics. Yarn drags in sections and some of the dialog is stillt." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 15 '36

FALSE PRETENSES. O 22 '33 66min Chesterfield
- Players: Irene Ware. Sidney Blackmer. Russell Hopton
- Director: Charles Lamont

Awaitress who yearns for luxury arrangements to borrow money to finance a campaign where- by she hopes to find a wealthy husband, crash the gates of society and then repay the loan.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"A: Dull; Y: No; C: No." Christian Century p139O 30 '35

F-MAN. Mr 13 '36 65min Paramount
Players: Jack Haley. Grace Bradley. William Frawley
Director: Edward F. Cline

"Jack Haley plays a bucolic soda jerker who longs to be a G-Man and after a correspondence comes off for Los Angeles, never doubting that a letter from its local sheriff will open the door of Dickdom. Headquarters is a regular Al, of the backwoods variety (which poor spirit is considerably bruised at having to scoop up ice cream, instead of chasing criminals, in the big city, especially when his sweetheart comes to witness his failure."
- Motion Pic Daily
FALSE PRETENSES—Continued

“A: Moderately amusing; Y and C: Unsuitable.”

Par M p51 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p63 N 9 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

“Moves along at a good pace and would be termed satisfactory entertainment in most situations.

+ — Film Curb p11 N 1 '35

“Fair program offering with good cast and moderately satisfying entertainment values.”

+ — Film Daily p10 O 25 '35

“It has an illogical plot and, what’s more, inexorable acting.

— Motion Pict Daily p13 N 8 '35

“The picture leaves much to be desired in its story content and especially its dialogue.”

— Motion Pict Herald p74 N 23 '35

Comedy drama, “Family.”

N Y Exhibitor p59 N 10 '35

‘False Pretenses’ is light, breezy comedy drama unusually lavish and well produced for independent product, comparing favorably with many of the more pretentious offering of similar nature, It offers an hour’s genuine amusement and will click as a leader in its class. Humor is genuine, dialogue is smart, sentiment is delightfully preserved.”

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 20 '35

FANG AND CLAW. D 20 '35 65min Van Beuren-RKO

Players: Frank Buck. Natives

Director: Frank Buck

Frank Buck in his third film based on wild animal expeditions into the jungles of Malay this time captures several fine specimens of pythons, a rare bird of paradise, a crocodile which he calls “Public Enemy No. 1 of the Jungle,” an armoured-covered rhino and countless monkeys of all species and qualities.

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Class A. General approval.” N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

“It is thrilling to watch the endless battle of jungle beasts against man and against each other. Dramatic, tense and very worthwhile diversion. Very good.”

+ Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36

“Lacks the novelty of his earlier films and gets repetitious, but this kind of thing always has interest if it is at all well done. Family, Junior.” Nat Ed of R

+ — Fox W Coast Bul D 21 '35

“Adults: interesting; 14-18: good; 8-14: good; family & junior matinee.” Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

“Good. Family.” DAR

“Family.” E Coast Preview Committee

“Dramatic, tense and very worthwhile diversion. Suitable for church halls, Catholic schools, or family.” Internet Fed of Cath Alumnae

“Family, Junior.” Nat Ed of R

“The musical accompaniment is most fitting and the direction should prove of great interest to children and the students of Jungle lore. Family and Junior matinee.” Nat Council of Jewish Women

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ±— Fair; —— Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

“The picture follows the usual formula with one exception—there are none of the usual bitter combats between wild animals. Family.” Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women’s Clubs

“Beautifully photographed, instructive and thrilling for any audience.” Nat Soc of New England Women

“A real nature picture, true to life and superlative in value. Good for class rooms and church halls. Family.” So Calif Council of Fed of Women’s Clubs

Frank Buck’s narrative is instructive and well expressed. Adolescents: excellent; children: good.” Women’s Univ Club, Los Angeles

+ Fox W Coast Bul Ja 15 '36

“Exceptionally interesting for the family.”

Gon Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) Ja 6 '36

“Unobjectionable for general patronage.”

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

“A. Y and C: Thrilling camera adventure with Frank Buck.”

Par M p54 Mr '36

Sel Motion Pict Ja 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“[This film] stirs up the jungle animals to give case-hardened thrill-seekers vicarious shocks and shivers.”

Christian Science Monitor p13 D 28 '35

“We concluded some time back that from the viewpoint of similarity, a Frank Buck is a Frank Buck and that’s that. To that observation Mr. Buck’s ‘Fang and Claw’ at least partially gives the lie, deviating, as it does to some extent, from the standard Frank Buck wild animal motion picture technique. Gone are the revolting flesh-tearing, blood-spilling fights among beasts. Gone, too, are the all too theatrical jungle ‘thrills’ which predominated before. In the new form, Mr. Buck stresses the informative side rather than the thrill aspect of the gun-and-camera expedition, disclosing the ingenious tricks of the trade, the specific manner and method of capture.” J. P. Cunningham

Commonweal p301 Ja 10 '36

“The film suffers from a paucity of excitement and a quality of over-staging. Things happen too patly, the invisible cameraman grinding through the bush, Mr. Buck away, Mr. Buck driving, the latter in command of the situation, and the animals in the main rather dull-witted. The monkeys, of course, are standard comic relief, and these jungle odysseys, and they give their customary able performance. Mr. Buck’s native assistants are less effective. A few years ago, when motion-picture expeditions were comparative novelties in the jungle, the natives managed to seem shy and child-like in their joints with the camera. But familiarity is breeding a consciouswill to act and the ham in them is coming out... [Buck’s] adventure with the python which has coiled itself about one of the native boys is less persuasive, however, and you find yourself wondering how many ‘takes’ he required to get the scene right... ‘Fang and Claw’ is ably photographed and Mr. Buck is reasonably modest in his off-screen commentary, but I am afraid the enterprise doesn’t offer much constructive evidence to support the theory that nature in the raw is seldom mild.”

André Sennwald

— + N Y Times p10 D 28 '35

“Although [it] is not an uninteresting Prometheus, it is not an exceptional one, since most of the adventures we experience as we saunter along are old stuff... Even so, the film is not without interest, although Mr. Buck makes big game hunting seem as tame and simple as eating pumpkin pie.”

William Boehnel

+ — N Y World-Telegram D 28 '35
“The pythons and tigers, the 'camp pets,' as he calls them, of Frank Buck’s 'Fang and Claw' [and not exciting,']" John Mosher
— New Yorker p53 Ja 4 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"[It] will prove excellent entertainment for masculine audiences as well as being a 'natural' for the children." + Box Office p99 Ja 11 '36

"This latest in the series of Frank Buck's jungle pictures is up to standard and contains the element of thrill stuff . . . a scene that could be eliminated is that showing Buck amputating the ear of a rhino that has been injured by a tiger. It’s just a bit too realistic for general run of theatre goers. Where Buck’s other pictures have registered this one should get by nicely." + Film Curb p12 Ja 4 '36

"Somehow when this one finishes you get the impression that it is a smoothly presented account of Frank Buck's expedition into the wilds of the jungle to replenish some of our American zoos with live specimens, and not the feeling that you have witnessed a real adventure in the jungle with unexpected and unplanned thrills. In a word, the Buck expedition was too well organized commercially, and the basic appeal of the screen seems to have been made second-rate. That is, very interesting as an inside story of how wild animals are captured." + Film Daily p7 D 21 '35

"Although it is interesting it is not so entertaining as his other two pictures. For one thing, the novelty of watching him trap the animals has worn off considerably. Then, some of the situations may sicken those who have weak stomachs." + Harrison's Reports D 28 '35

"The third Frank Buck production differs from its predecessors in the absence of so-called brutal scenes. In 'Bring Em Back Alive' and 'Wild Cargo,' sequences of animal fights highlighted the picture. In the present version of Mr. Buck's expedition in the Malayian jungle such scenes are eliminated. The photography is excellent and on a par with that in the other two pictures." + Variety p33 Mar 4 '36

"Photographed on Frank Buck's expeditions in Malaysia, this is enormously interesting, but too long. Estimate: excellent animal stuff." + Variety p33 Ja 4 '36

"It is far less exciting than the two which preceded it, 'Bring Em Back Alive' and 'Wild Cargo.' It also is more or less routine and includes too much that is similar to material in the two previous Buck expedition features . . . There is no real excitement or drama in 'Fang and Claw'; although efforts are rather obviously made to try to inject both into the footage that was exposed . . . Mostly tiresome about 'Fang and Claw' is the routine of building camps, preparing traps and tying up animals that have been captured. Buck's narrative is satisfactory and well delivered, while in the recording a good job has been done." + Variety p58 Ja 1 '36

FARMER IN THE DELL
Mr 27 '36 65min RKO
Players: Fred Stone, Jean Parker, Esther Dale, Moroni Olsen
Director: Ben Holmes
Based on the novel of the same title by Phil Stong. House of Rogers. However, a near-minded Iowa farmer, is persuaded by his wife to sell his farm and move to Hollywood, on the pretense that he has worked hard all his life and needs a rest. Actually what Mr wants to do is to get daughter Adie into the movies." (N Y World-Telegram)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Although not notable for any particular dramatic value, the picture will please those who enjoy this kind of sentimental comedy. Family." + Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

"Family." Wdly Guide F 7 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The film version has a nodding acquaintance with Mr. Stone’s novel, but hurries on from there to embrace such old friends as Merion and detectives. Under the titles of 'Once and Again' and 'Once in a Lifetime,' it seems to be quite a bore for the innocent bystander. . . Granting that it has a few amusing scenes, our thumb still points down." F. S. Nugent + N Y Times p11 Mr 7 '36

"For about one-half of its unrelieving, 'The Farmer in the Dell' is an animated satire cruelly razzing the insanities of Hollywood as well as some of those who want to crash its lovely ploy. Under the former, sections of 'The Farmer in the Dell' are not as brisk as or satirical as those reported in the later sections. After a certain time the film dwindles into a conventional, ambling, uninteresting story," William Boehnel + Tel: Mirror p39 Mr 14 '36

"The film seemed so little comic and bright that, frankly, I got up in the middle of it and climbed out. I am pretty well persuaded that I shall miss all the rest. Somehow I saw enough to know that Fred Stone never should have played an Iowa farmer, and the few big scenes would bring out the hayseed in him," John Mosher + New Yorker p76 Mr 14 '36

"This not too entertaining film [goes completely unnoticed]." + News-Wk p40 Mr 14 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"It is a homespun yarn just made to order for the dual trade and should be very easy to please. It is much the type of film that the late Will Rogers made famous and producers will make a big mistake if they don't build up Stone with stories such as this." + Film Curb p8 Mr 14 '36

"Fred Stone is perfectly adapted to the role of the Iowa farmer and has a natural voice that is very pleasant and refreshing story that will hold the entire family." + Film Daily p4 Mr 7 '36

"Pleasant program family fare. It is not particularly exciting entertainment, for it moves at a somewhat slow pace, and the story centers mainly around one character. But it will please those who enjoy homespun comedies. Suitable for all. Family." + Harrison's Reports Mr 21 '36

"Fred [Stone] has most of the qualities fans loved so well in Will [Rogers], and all he needs is a bit more careful handling by the script writers. We want him a little less bo- gian and downtrodden and a mite more shrewd in his observations and a little less. Stone's novel has been turned into a mildly amusing satire of Hollywood life which begins to peter out lackadaisically after the first half." + Hollywood Reporter p1 Mr 12 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; --- Exceptionally Poor
FARMER IN THE DELL—Continued

"A wholly human, and often highly amusing story. . . This picture should be found enga-gaging entertainment almost wherever played."
+ Variety p11 Mr 14 '36

"This is an all-audience picture, alive with appeal to general patronage, with Fred Stone, Jean Parker and the fact that the story from which the picture was adapted ran serially in the Saturday Evening Post as its chief selling angles. Showmen have ample material with which to work, for the material prevented is of the homespun, down to earth type that has been proved of entertainment value.
Showmen might do well to see this before playing it and thus pick out those points best suited for their situations."
+ Motion Pict Herald p60 Mr 14 '36

"Originally intended for the late Will Rogers, according to report, the mistake has been made of trying to shape Fred Stone's personality to the Rogers manner. The result is neither a good performance by Stone nor a good impersonation of Rogers. It might have been bettered if have let Stone play himself. . .
[It] probably will be better suited to the smaller spots, where they react more decisively to homespun sentiment." — + Variety p15 Mr 11 '36

FAST BULLETS. (Release date not deter-determined) 57min Reliable Players: Rex Lease, Margaret Nearing, Al Bridge.
Director: H. Samuels
A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"While this is familiar stuff it has been so produced as to make an exciting Western. Undoubtedly will satisfy those who like this sort of film."
Film Curb p8 F 29 '36

"This one is pretty much along the beaten path of Western entertainment, rehashed and revised so that it should prove generally satisfying to the action picture clientele."
+ Film Daily p10 F 25 '36

"The usual excitement prevails and it should be a good adjunct to a Saturday children's program."
+ Motion Pict Daily p12 F 24 '36

"Estimate: standard Tyler."
+ — N Y Exhibitor p69 Mr 10 '36

"These two western lads, Tyler and Lease, put plenty of realism into their work whether doing a rescue, a slam-bang saloon fight or a wild canter over the plains. Climax of the battle is a teeth-rattling affair. . . Should be obtain for Western houses and as secondary drama."
+ Variety p31 Mr 4 '36

FEATHER IN HER HAT. O 17 '35 70min
Columbia
Players: Pauline Lord, Louis Hayward,
Basil Rathbone, Billie Burke
Director: Alfred Santell
From the novel of same title by I. A. R.
Wylie. An English shopkeeper brings into her home a gentlemanly drunkard who she commissions to impart to her growing son the secrets of gentlemanly conduct. When her son of 15 fails to fit in with life's savings, tells him that she is not his mother and sends him away to join "quality folk." The son becomes a successful playwright; the mother dies on the opening night of her son's play.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences."
N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

"A: Excellent; Y: Mature but good; C: Little interest."
Christian Century p1066 D 11 '35

"Good. Adults and young adults."
Motion Pict Daily p10 Mr 25 '36

"A and Y: Interesting; C: Mature."
Par M p64 Mr 25 '36

"Family."
Wky Guide O 19 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p13 N 23 '35

"The most interesting performance is offered by Basil Rathbone. His portrait of the juvenile-hood, which he handled with splendidly managed." Richard Watts, Jr.
N Y Herald Tribune p15 O 25 '35

"More of a book than a play. Its quaintness is that of the printed page; its situations are unreal but not fantastic. The characters have ai a finely literary quality. The tear-jerking motif is still effective. It is a highly emotional story. Alfred Santell, in the directing of it, never quite manages to wring the hearts of his audience. His actors hurry through their lines and business. They seem all obviously rehearsed, especially in the lighter moments.
Nor does Mr. Hazard's bookish dialogue, with an occasional long and elaborate speech, add to the naturalness. . . It is undoubtedly a techically excellent performance, but one that quite fails to stir." Eileen Creelman
+ + N Y Sun p34 O 25 '35

"Too plotty to be properly effective."
N Y Times p56 O 27 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p53 N 16 '35

"Good human interest drama in mother-son story with nice accompanying romance."
+ Film Daily p10 O 25 '35

"Teary, generally moving at a slow pace, the picture has been sympathetically handled throughout. Family drama."
+ + N Y Exhibitor p29 N 10 '35

FIGHTING COWARD. D 15 '35 55min Victory
Players: Ray Walker, Joan Woodbury, William Farnum
Director: Dan Milner
Based on a short story, The Last Assignment, by Peter B. Kyne. A promising young detective is sent to capture a killer and discovers that the man is his father. Family love proving stronger than his sense of duty, he allows his father to escape and finds himself branded a coward. After a battle with a criminal gang in which his father helps him, the young detective is restored to the good graces of the police department.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences."
N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

"A: Excellent; Y: Mature but good; C: Little interest."
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A and Y: Interesting; C: Mature."
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36
Trade Paper Reviews

"A good way to describe this musical comedy with a Venetian background, temperamental squabbles, wry comedy, static direction and poor recording is to say it sums up as frail entertainment."
— Box Office p59 Ja 11 '36

"Foreign made musical will have a hard row to hoe. And its only appeal will be to lovers of fine singing as Foresta puts over his numbers in grand style. However, it is difficult to see where American fans will find much entertainment in this one. It will be hard to get them in with no names and we doubt if they'll be very well pleased if they do go in."
— Film Curb p15 Ja 4 '36

"Franco Foresta, tenor, is outstanding" in this importation, using his voice to good advantage in introducing arias from various operas. The theme song, "For Love of You," by Franz Vienna, is a pleasing tune and well delivered by Foresta.
— Film Daily p1 D 19 '35

"The film...is occasionally amusing." Selections from "Othello" by Verdi; "The Pearl Fishers," by Bizet; Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" and Offenbach's "Barcarolle."""
— Motion Pict Daily p15 D 18 '35

"Foreign made musical that should appeal best to music lovers, this is short on name appeal. Picture, itself, has been well made from production standards, is a natural for houses which cater to audiences which like good music, regardless of the picture's origin."
— N Y Exhibitor p54 Ja 10 '36

FORBIDDEN HEAVEN. S 26 '35 70min Republic
Players: Charles Farrell, Charlotte Henry
Director: Reginald Bond
From novel of same title by Christina Jope-Slake. "The adventures of four homeless people who find temporary shelter in Hyde Park, and for a short time live in a fairy world of their own making." (Wkly Guide)

Audience Suitability Ratings
Mo Film Bul p169 N '35
"A, Y and C: Interesting."
Par M p54 Mr '36
"Family."
Wkly Guide S 28 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p59 N 16 '35
"Fair entertainment."
— Film Curb p17 O 1 '35

FORCED LANDING. N 25 '35 63min Republic
Players: Esther Ralston, Onslow Stevens, Nancy Blackmer, Toby Wing Director: Melville Brown
"[A] transcontinental aeroplane carrying 13 passengers is forced to land on an isolated emergency field, which provides the setting for a different kind of murder mystery." Box Office

Audience Suitability Ratings
"[This] is not exceptional in any way. Fair."
— Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36

"Well managed for interest, excitement and keeping the identity of the murderer hidden. Family."
— Nat Bul of R

Fox W Coast Bul D 21 '35

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."
— Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A and Y: Murder mystery; C: Doubtful."
— Par M p54 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Onslow Stevens and Esther Ralston help the trite story to get by."
— Christian Science Monitor p13 D 21 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"The authors have put a good deal of what it takes to keep audiences in a suspenseful frame of mind into this ultra-modern variation of a typically over-imaginative drama."
— Box Office p17 D 14 '35

"Plenty of action. Mystery is logically worked out and suspense well maintained. It's exciting, has been well directed and is played by a swell cast."
— Film Curb p12 D 1 '35

"This long arm of coincidence in having them all on the same plane is stretched to the breaking point, but outside of that the narrative has many original twists and surprises."
— Film Daily p7 N 26 '35

"This is a continually interesting mystery drama, having its moments of suspense, original though somewhat improbable major situations and rapid-fire developments. With a transcontinental air trip and a forced landing en route for its novel background, the picture makes good use of its ingredients for heightening interest."
— Motion Pict Daily p10 N 26 '35

"Family mystery drama."
— N Y Exhibitor p54 D 10 '35

"Mystery thriller using be-whiskered formula of taking all principals in the crime and putting them in but given a new setting—aboard a transatlantic transport plane. . However [it] still remains quite familiar material, not heightened much here by any originality or logic. Aside from familiar territory covered, chief weakness of this [movie] is the lines and the way some are handled. Onslow Stevens, as the Justice Dept. operative, neither looks like one nor acts like one. Nancy Blackmer more resembles a G-man but here he is the tough gangster."
— Variety p38 Ja 1 '36

FOUR MASKED MEN. N 9 '35 62min Olympic Players: John Stuart, Judy Kelly, Miles Mander
Director: George Pearson
Made in England, "Story deals with a criminal quartette, disguised by masks, who pop up at various international affairs and pull off some heavy robberies. Due to the killing of his brother in one of the holdsups, John Stuart, who is on the trail of the gang, identifies a member and forces him to swap places, then attends a meeting of the quartette and recognizes the ringleader who chooses suicide when his game is up." (Film Daily)

Trade Paper Reviews

"Produced in England in the 1934 season but just shown in New York, this is a moderately satisfying mystery melodrama with good handling of the material and a generally effective direction and carefully cut, action, and suspense."
— Film Daily p7 N 9 '35

"With a title that might intrigue, not too much English accent, it might go in some neighborhoods or slip by on double bills."
— N Y Exhibitor p53 D 10 '35

[End of text]
FRASQUITA. Ja 17 '36 80min DuWorld
Director: Carl Lamac

Based on the operetta of the same title by Franz Lehar. The film is in German with English sub-titles. Two friends are en route to the home of Harold's prospective bride. They encounter a band of gypsies and Harold falls in love with Frasquita. His friend falls in love with Harold's fiancée. From that point on amusing complications develop as the friend attempts to help Harold's fiancée help further the romance of Frasquita and Harold, leaving the way clear for his own courtship. Eventually, of course, there is a quadrille love triangle between Frasquita, Harold, and his friend's romance is also completed. (Motion Pict Daily)

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The piece has been strung together logically, and while it offers the lightest kind of entertainment, it is diverting, particularly for Herr Lehar's music." Marguerite Tazelaar

"In spite of a Franz Lehar score and in spite of two excellent voices to sing it, 'Frasquita' is rather a forlorn little film. Its technique and photography are markedly old-fashioned; its acting is vehement rather than subtle... Jarmlia Novotna, whose dark beauty deserved better photography than it got, plays the gypsy of the title role. Her voice is fresh and pleasing. She does not nor does any one in the cast, seem much concerned with acting. 'Frasquita,' in spite of Miss Novotna and the lilting Lehar songs, does not rate highly as a picture. It must have been made several years ago. -Eileen Crecelman"

+ + N Y Herald Tribune p12 Ja 20 '36

"Frasquita, the Viennese operetta should satisfy all those who are in search of light music, pleasingly sung by a creditable cast of principals. Like all operettas, this one by Franz Lehar has a book that is pretty standardized and feeble, but it is as good as the average opera. I will plot and, for all who care much if the music is light and gay and tuneful?" William Boehnel

+ N Y World-Telegram p19 Ja 22 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Good music, comedy and some attractive Adriatic views combine to make a pleasing musical romance based on the popular Franz Lehar operetta. In adaptation, the story has been brought somewhat up to date." + Film Daily p9 Ja 20 '36

"Superimposed dialogue translations, which might have been more plentiful, assist in an understanding of the story by those unfamiliar with the language. Throughout the film the music is highly attractive." + Motion Pict Daily p9 Ja 21 '36

"The Viennese producers who made this film went about it properly, Misfortune is that, after they figured out how to make it they cast it almost uniformly with actors who either don't know how to act or don't fit their roles. No pace and many script deficiencies. What makes it charming and entertaining is the deft touch with which it is handled, the clever comedy which is injected and the really excellent music, that helps things to fall together. The film is there; the comedy and deft touch are hinted at and sketched for Hollywood (when it gets around to it) to work out and make really delectable. The photography is only fair and the sound a bit under that." + Variety p15 Ja 22 '36

FRAUEN UM DEN SONNENKENOENIG. See Private life of Louis XIV

FRECKLES. O 4 '35 63min RKO
Players: Tom Brown. Virginia Weidler. Carol Stone
Directors: Edward Killy. William Hamilton

"This is a modernized version of Gene Stratton Porter's famous story of 'Freckles,' the orphan boy who aided by his little friend, Laurie-Lou, child of the forest, captures a gang of bank robbers who are hiding in the solitude of the giant redwoods." (Gen Fed of Women's Clubs)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Elementary; Y: Fairly good; C: No." Christian Century p1448 N 6 '35

"The direction is very fine, the cast able, with highest honors going to quart Virginia Weidler. The picture is enhanced by a charming romance, beautiful forest scenes and interesting shots of small animal life." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) S 9 '35

Mo Film Bui p169 N '35

"Family. Junior matinee." Nat Bd of R M S '35

"This oft-read tale of childhood makes a very successful and entertaining picture. Family. Junior matinee." + Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"A: Fair; Y and C: Wholesome." Par M p54 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p13 D 21 '35
N Y Times p12 O 26 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p58 N 16 '35

"Considerably above the average in entertainment values." + Film Curb p18 O 1 '35

"Family melodrama." + N Y Exhibitor p37 O 10 '35

FRESHMAN LOVE. Ja 18 '36 67min Warner
Director: William McGann

Based on a play, College Widow, by George Ade. the scenario of the crack boat racing crew by a college suffering from athletic anemia." (Variety [Hollywood])

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p21 Ja 25 '36

"A: Ridiculous; Y: Useless; C: No." Christian Century p446 Mr 18 '36

"Good fun for the family. Adults; entertaining; 14-15; good; 8-14; amusing. Family and junior matinee." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Mature. Medioere." + DAR

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; + Mediocre; - Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
"Although the ethics of this musical comedy are somewhat doubtful, nevertheless it will serve as light entertainment. Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"A good cast; weak story. Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"It is a satire on the college spirit of 'anything to win' and the inconsistency of Freshman love. Parents will explain it is a farce." 8 Califf Council of Fed Church Women

MUSICAL FILMS

Musical films with campus settings seem to be all alike and seldom better than mediocre. Though this one had an idea back of it that might have made excellent satire it is no better than the average. Adolescents, 12-16; passable; children, 8-12; passable. Women's Union Church Club, Atlanta

"Fox West Coast Buil 5 Ja 18 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A: Light comedy; Y and C: Probably entertaining." Par M p54 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Freshman Love" may be recommended, with some reservations, as a minor but mirthful excursion. . . . Though there are moments when the acting is weak, there's more than offset by Frank McHugh's always amusing portrayal of Coach Hammond." T. M. P.

"Although no more serious alarm than the trifling loss of some sixty-six odd years has been done by the production of 'Freshman Love' it does seem that something constructive should be done about campus films . . . 'Freshman Love' is dull and awkward. There seems to be nothing else there. About the film except that because of the nursery antics in which they are asked to participate, Frank McHugh, Patricia Ellis, Warren Hull and the others in the cast should not be judged too harshly." William Boehnle

— N Y World-Telegram p12 Ja 27 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p39 Ja 11 '36

"College atmosphere excellent and entire production is striking, amusing and do nicely for the exhibitors in practically any locality."

Film Curb p14 Ja 4 '36

Film Daily p7 Ja 24 '36

"Moderately entertaining program fare. . . Suitable for all. Family!"

— Harrison's Reports F 1 '36

"Played against what is virtually a musical background, this mild little comedy of college rowing and romance is apt to prove fair, light entertainment for the younger generation, with a number of laughs, and the comedy of Frank McHugh. Adults." Film Daily p4 Ja 25 '36

"The title providing the descriptive key, this production is a unique comedy of college life and love. Of all this will be included in the picture is not included in title significance. Substantiating production values are novel. The theme, however, supporting straight comedy and romantic story content, has a timely but different topical appeal. It deals with the matter of collegiate athletics, and the proselytizing about the film concentrating on the current subject of football, the subject treats of crew commercialism. In no way does this matter from a satirical or condemning viewpoint, but makes this feature a part of its romantic comedy. . . The topical, familiar nature of the story, which is of unusual interest to adolescent and younger contingents of prospective audiences, is substantiated by cast selections."

Motion Pict Herald p50 N 16 '35

"Packed with Warner comedy names, not laying too much stress on the intelligence, 'Freshman Love' will cause no general sensation, will prove pleasing entertainment for family type audiences."

— Exhibitor p34 Ja 10 '36

"Freshman Love" does a weak song and dance around the campus nonsense, with the interest of the lagging sort, the story too easy to anticipate, the laughs moments thin and the casting just good enough to pass muster. It's filler-inner fair."

— Variety p16 Ja 23 '36

"George Ade supplied the original impetus for this snappy collage of campus nonsense with his 'College Widow.' The widow wouldn't be recognized in Warners agreeable face-lifting operation, a pleasant, entertaining refreshment of the older pattern, but it has the same surefire elements for popular appeal."

— Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 21 '35

FRISCO KID

N 30 '35 75min Warner

Players: James Cagney. Margaret Lindsay. Ricardo Cortez. Lili Damita

Directors: Lloyd Baxandall

"Story of lawless Barbary Coast, San Francisco's water front, in the gold rush days, and the its complete destruction by the vigilantes. Among the many seeking gold, came a sailor youth of unusual courage, who tried for success, was lawless, honest, the only code he knew but underneath the outer law, was a spark of finesse that eventually saved him." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Good of kind; Y: Unwholesome; C: By no means."

Christian Century p163 D 18 '35

"Good." + Endorsed Motion Pict D '35

"A grippingly interesting picture, ably cast and convincingly directed, with wise use made of setting and lighting and all the adult." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) O 12 '35

Adults.

— Jt Estimates O 15 '35

Mo Film Bul p194 D '35

"Good. Adults." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"The story is well told, the cast well-chosen and the direction excellent, while the stage settings are lavish and the suspense is maintained throughout. Adults." + Nat Council of Jewish Women O 1 '35

"A: Good melodrama; Y: Debatable; C: No." Par M p54 Mr '36

"This is an absorbing story excellently directed and cast with many thrilling episodes and sequences of human interest. Adults." + Sel Motion Pict N 1 '35

Wkly Guide N 9 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The general pictorial atmosphere in the film is good, with its roistering denizens of the dives, its roaring mobs bent on vengeance when..."
FRISCO KID—Continued

the vigilantes start cleaning up and the trial and execution of the two leaders of the underworld." E. F. M.

+ Boston Transcript p4 N 30 '35

"A roaring, brutal melodrama for thrill seekers." — + Christian Science Monitor p13 N 13 '35

"It goes along with fair suspense, though it is a close carbon of Barbary Coast, with its swinging doors and swinging flats. Margaret Lindsay is just as, too, Junior League, and I'm getting tired of the line 'Someday San Francisco is going to be a real city.'" Don Herold

+ Variety p14 N 27 '35

FRISCO WATERFRONT. D 9 '35 60min Repub

Players: Ben Lyon. Helen Twelvetrees. Rod La Rocque

Director: Arthur Lubin

While lying on an operating table after an automobile accident, a candidate for governor re-lives his life. He sees himself as a young man demoralized by his war experiences, floundering from job to job as a dock worker. Then comes the blow of his wife's desertion and marriage to a hated rival. The story of how he fights his way to the top is shown against the authentic background of the San Francisco waterfront and how he re-wins his wife concludes the film.

—

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory. Not recommended for children under 10 or for treatment." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Objectionable in part: violence, marriage, gambling, gambling, drinking, drinking, gambling, gambling, drinking. Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

A: Unusual drama; Y: Interesting; C: No appeal.

Par M p54 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 10 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Forceful direction by Arthur Lubin and capable performances by Ben Lyon, Helen Twelvetrees and Rod LaRocque make this film good average entertainment for general audiences." + + Box Office p32 D 21 '35

"The story has been well worked out, is exceedingly well played by the cast and has been most capably directed. It is good entertainment all the way." + + Film Daily p31 D 15 '35

"This rates as a nice fairy tale for the patronage that is satisfied with the entertainment values regardless of the probabilities." + + Harrison's Reports D 21 '35

Motion Pict Daily p8 N 29 '35

Motion Pict Herald p66 D 7 '35

"Generally incredible, but providing entertainment, holding interest, this is fairly well done. Family drama." + - N Y Exhibitor p40 D 25 '35

Variety p25 D 25 '35

FRONTIER. D 28 '35 83min Amkino

Players: S. Shagalda. S. Stoliarov. S. Shkurat

Director: Alexander Dovjenko

This film was made in Rovda and has English subtitles. "The tale of Red Army frontier guards who suppress a counter-revolutionary movement of White guardists led by a Japanese. The film, released at Moscow in celebration of the eighteenth anniversary of the October Revolution, has an emphasis which I assume it would not have had ten years ago.

[It] plainly takes its place among the great Russian films." Mark Van Doren

+ New York p54 Ja 15 '36

"Frontier" is mature and firm and is a tribute to the director's increasingly creative powers. ... It is difficult to be coldly critical of a film that is unlike any other, and unique in a way which is rare. Somehow the sustained photographic beauty of Dovjenko's earlier films is lacking. Even the two planning sequences, work is too realistic, too prosaic for the mood of the film. Camera work in the opening two sequences, when it seems as something more than an unusual film; it is a profound intellectual document that demands your attention." Peter Ellis

+ New Theatre p24 Ja '36

"While 'Frontier' is as sweeping in its epic plan as was 'The Covered Wagon,' its execution somehow has gone wrong and cannot be compared with the simple majesty of James Cruze's pioneers in their valiant struggle to conquer the West... Yet in spots it shows as magnificent a style as this reviewer has ever seen—the opening scenes, for example, with the camera catching a lone plane flying endlessly through the clouds; glimpses of the infinite Pacific and the mountains with their deep forests seeming to possess the globe—so dense and vast and uninhabited are they. ... Had the story clarity, at least to one not understanding Russian, and a continuity which would have told the story in connected episodes, it would have held the interest more closely. At it is, it leaves one confused, bewildered and finally bored by its lack of an intelligent, running story." Marguerite Tazelaar

+ N Y Herald Tribune p3 D 25 '35

"The U.S.S.R. issues a definite warning to her enemies in the Far Eastern borders in 'Frontier.'... Frequently able to merge didacticism and drama so expertly as to make for vigorous and powerful motion pictures, the State-controlled Soviet cinema falls rather badly this time. Although some of its individual episodes are fine, the work as a whole is confused in its story-telling and hysterical in its assault upon Japanese imperialism." Andre Sennwald

+ N Y Times p10 D 28 '35

"'Frontier' is a decidedly inferior entertainment when considered as a whole, although it contains some strikingly individual performances and scenes. ... [It is so] confused and jumbled that at times it makes little or no sense. One soon confuses every small and dramatic scene when Stepan is forced to shoot Vasi, his friend from boyhood, for treason, and acting entirely in a Russian manner by V. Skagaida as Stepan, is extremely good. But for the most part 'Frontier' has very little life to recommend or to keep it out of the dullard class, either as entertainment or propaganda." M. William Boehnel

+ N Y World p30 D 28 '35

"I found the characters, I must say, without any exception quite unbalanced and unaccountable. I was not entertained by their antics, and only mildly by the big airplane display toward the finale." John Mosher

+ New York p76 Ja 11 '36

"The primary virtues of the Russian films are in nouveau-nerve 'Frontier.' Perhaps the chief of these is the richness and variety of human types and characters. Apparently, Russians do not know what it meant to be camera-shy; they act before the camera with the greatest bravado and, with a kind of abandon and gallantry which is like nothing in the cinema of Hollywood at all. The freshness and strength of 'Frontier' (a 35mm film) points the way to the moving picture of the future." Elizabeth McCausland

+ Spring'd Republican p5c Ja 5 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"By and large just another example of the Russian idea of an evening's entertainment. It is [a] somewhat crude drama but ending in ten or twelve minutes of the most remarkable series of coast battles of probably ever offered in a film. ... Hollywood in its most lunatic moments never dared dream of an air picture of magnitude or magnitude and, it had been photographed with rare effectiveness by Edward Tissie.... If the idea of the drama were less far-fetched and absurd, minutes of repetitious action could be cut out, this might stand a chance in general release, but American movies are too weird for about an hour waiting for the show to start. And there is nothing to interest the outsider up to then. Russian sub-titles are no great help." Variety p2 Ja 8 '36

FRONTIER JUSTICE O 1 '35 55min Futter Players: Hoot Gibson, Jane Barnes, Frank-lynn Farnum
Director: Robert McGowan
Western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Good. Family night programs or Catholic schools. Infatuation Fed of Cath Alumnae + Farm care.

"A, Y and C: Satisfying Western." Par M p54 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p30 N 23 '35

"This one can hold its own with any of the recently produced outdoor dramas."

+ Film Curb p10 Ja 11 '36

"Satisfactory Western with Hoot Gibson turning in a good performance in his best style." Film Daily p14 Ja 3 '36

"Hoot Gibson's return to the western scene in a new series finds him up to his high, usual standard. Family Western." + N Y Exhibitor p34 O 25 '35

"The picture moves swiftly; has plenty of horse trotting and strong-man action, besides some snappy vistas. Meets the mark as a supporting program number." + Variety p3 Ja 8 '36

GALLANT DEFENDER. N 30 '35 57min
Columbia
Players: Charles Starrett, Joan Perry,
Harry Woods, Jack Clifford
Director: David Selman

The action is based on actual occurrences in the days when homesteaders were vying GALLANT DEFENDER—Continued

with cattlemen for possession of the range country of the West. This film dramatically presents the struggles of the cattlemen who refused to allow their grazing lands to be divided into small farms.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pic Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Good."

"Endorsed Motion Pic Ja '36

"Covered wagons and the staking of homestead claims form the colorful background of an otherwise mediocre picture. There are numerous inconsistencies and the dramatic effect is weakened by the obviousness of the story. The cast is capable and there are good bits of comedy and appropriate music. Adults and young people." E Coast Preview Committee

"A new Western star and a pretty good story. Family, junior matinee." Nat Bd of R
+ Fox W Coast Bul D 21 '35

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A, Y and C: Good melodrama." Par M p25 Mr '36
Sel Motion Pic Ja 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p13 D 28 '35
Springfield Republican p6c D 22 '35

Trade Reviews

"Estimate: good."

+ N Y Y Exhibitor p32 Ja 10 '36

("GAME OF JAI-ALAI. D 27 '35 8min Instructional
Players: Edward Thorgersen

"What is conceded to be about the fastest game in the world, Jai-Alai (pronounced 'Hi-leaf') is built up interestingly from its earliest form generations ago as an old Mexican and Spanish game similar to the present-day American hand-ball. Then it is given in its modern form as demonstrated in Mexico City by a quartet of expert players." Film Daily

Trade Paper Reviews

"A sports novelty that will click. [It is given] a fine story narration by Edward Thor-gersen."

+ Film Daily p11 Ja 7 '36

"This is an interesting exhibition of something that is new to most audiences."

+ Motion Pic Daily p16 Ja 16 '36

"Enormously interesting with added benefit of humor. Very good."

+ N Y Exhibitor p31 Ja 10 '36

GARDEN MURDER CASE. F 28 '36 60min MGM Players: Edmund Lowe, Virginia Bruce, Benita Hume, Douglas Walton, Nat Pendleton

rector: Edwin L. Marin

Based on the novel of the same title by S. S. Van Dine. Hypnosis is the theme of this murder mystery which is unraveled by that skilful sleuth, Philo Vance.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Excellent diction, direction, action, settings and scoring make this a fascinating mystery melodrama. Adults: interesting; 14-18: doubtful." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good. Not so logical as the Van Dine book. Mature." DAR

"Fine performances by a well chosen cast and admirable direction make this a stimulating and highly entertaining picture. Adults and young people." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Adults." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Very satisfactory for its type. Adults." Nat Soc of New England Women

" Entirely free from sex allure and excessive drinking. Mature." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"S. S. Van Dine's book has been rather garbled in its adaptation for the screen but for one who enjoys setting his mind to the task of unravelling mystery, and does not demand literary or artistic values in pictures, this mystery tale may contain sufficient knotty problems to be considered entertaining. Adults." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

+ Fox W Coast Bul F 15 '36

"Adults and young people." Jt Estimates F 1 '36

"[It is] more than satisfactory entertainment. Adults."

+ Nat Council of Jewish Women F 5 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Adults and young people." Sel Motion Pic F 1 '36

"Mature." Wkly Guide F 22 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Well done, handsomely mounted mystery."

+ Canadian M p15 Mr '36

"The Garden Murder Case' undoubtedly was more absorbing in the book than it is on the screen. The picture succeeds in being only mildly entertaining. It adheres to the routine formula, pointing the finger of suspicion first at this character, then at that one, until at the end it makes a surprise move which did not seem to be the logical development of anything which went before it. It scores the same principle that it is all right to fool the characters but never permissible to fool the audience."

+ Hollywood Spec p13 F 15 '36

"Designed strictly for the double-feature trade, The Garden Murder Case' is mildly interesting, if never believable, and it should keep most of the audience seated until the main feature. ... For some reason that we don't pretend to know, the acting in mystery films is generally inferior. "The Garden Mur-der Case' is no exception." (1/2 stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p36 Mr 14 '36

"The criticism of this jaded observer is that the piece lacks originality. It has no longer much suspense for those familiar with the Van Dine pattern; it is staged handsomely but with stereotype imagination; its direction is fast but rather pointless and its performance while competent, is uninspiring. In other words 'The Garden Murder Case' is what the critics call 'pedestrian.' "Marguerite Tashman

+ N Y Herald Tribune p10 F 29 '36

"It is a stimulating and ingenious murder mystery (not too difficult of solution if you recognize the portents that are portended in the film) and an experienced cast does an excellent job with it. It goes on the must list for confirmed Van Dine addicts." J. T. M.

+ N Y Times p13 Mr 2 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + + Fair; + + Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
"Even his most ardent and tolerant admirers will have to admit that on occasion the foppish Philo Vance can be an extremely exasperating person. As impersonated by Edmund Lowe, he is about as amusing as an ice-cream cone. But that this is Mr. Lowe's fault, especially because he is, I imagine, only interpreting the character as Hollywood writers wrote it. But the fact remains that in the present instance Philo is pretty hard to take—a conceited, humbug, arrogant know-it-all who has only had Hollywood changed Philo's character in "The Garden Murder Case," but it has also changed historically, and he has a present-day good murder-mystery into something just average in its production, slow in its movement and pedestrian in its dialogue."—William Boehne

+ S N Y World-Telegram p1 7 Mr 3 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Standard Philo Vance murder mystery that will please patrons of this particular type of offering. Family." + Box Office p27 F 15 '36

"There is no denying that as Philo Vance, Edmund Lowe is just about tops. There is an excellent cast of seasoned players, the production is up to M-G-M standard and all in all this is an able A piece of entertainment." + Film Curb p9 F 8 '36

"Better than usual mystery drama with exceptionally strong cast and ample production values." + Film Daily p7 F 29 '36

"This murder mystery melodrama is good program entertainment... Not suitable for children or Sundays. Good for adults." + Harrison's Reports Mr 7 '36

" MGM has here added to its B-string a piece of first-class entertainment... This engaging find-the-murderer piece brings back the immortal Philo Vance in a new person—Edmund Lowe who must be about fifth in the succession of interpreters, and who is better fitted in the role than he has been for some time. In fact, his easy and self-satisfied Vance is good—very good." + Hollywood Reporter p3 Ja 29 '36

"The plot moves quickly and logically, effectively establishing, but, at the same time, concealing clues that might lead to a possible easy solution of a series of killings in which many are suspected. The story blends dialogue, action and situations to build strong suspense... The atmosphere created is one of sophistication." + Motion Pict Daily p2 Ja 30 '36

"When it's a S. S. Van Dine story and the resoulted Philo Vance is the hero, pretty nearly everybody knows just about what to expect... Of course the story is geared to be fudged and baffle. It does both in a logical and interesting way. It puts down the motives for the killings, deftly puts the finger on the real killer, establishes the full number of suspects, but does so in a manner that so cleverly hides its clues that solution should give the amateur sleuths as well as general patronage ample opportunity to exercise their detective talents." + Motion Pict Herald p36 F 8 '36

"Usual Van Dine mystery murder story, this will please where thrill seekingasseems... What it does in the de luxers depends on the handling. Of a standard mystery type seen around many times, it has saleable angles, all of which should help the gross." + NY Exhibitor p34 F 25 '36

"[It] is a fair thriller that will do fair business... Lowe makes an excellent detective of the sophisticated school, and Virginia Bruce is a charming suspect." + Variety p27 Mr 4 '36

"Again Philo Vance parades his unfailing sleuthery in 'The Garden Murder Case' for good standard killer-mystery which will hold up its end on the program wherever this type of picture prospers." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 29 '36

(*)GASOOLONS. Ja 3 '36 10min RKO

Players: Edgar Kennedy, Florence Lake, Dot Farley, Jack Rice

"[Edgar Kennedy's] family wangle him into buying a gasoline station instead of going on a vacation, and then his troubles begin. He starts a small job on a car to adjust a windshield wiper, and winds up by tearing the car apart and selling it. But it seems he made the mistake of working on his own car."—Film Daily

Trade Paper Reviews

"The rib-tickling and highly-humorouss pan-tomimic quality that distinguishes the work of Edgar Kennedy was never in better evidence." + Box Office p18 Ja 18 '36

"Family comedy... This one will give the laughs to the Kennedy fan." + Film Daily p13 Ja 2 '36

"Effective comedy with standard laugh material." + Motion Pict Daily p12 D 31 '35

"Kennedy carries this along, and whatever laughs result are from spectacle of him trying to hold temper. Good." + N Y Exhibitor p30 Ja 10 '35

GAY DECEPTION. S 13 '35 79min 29th-century-Fox

Players: Francis Lederer. Frances Dee

Director: William Wyler

"A modern Cinderella, a sweepstakes winner, finds her Prince Charming disguiised as a bellhop in a great hotel."—Jt Estimates

Audience Suitability Ratings

Christian Century p294 O 9 '35

"Excellent entertainment of the light, clever, whimsical type that leaves one in a happy frame of mind. Enjoyable for all. Family." + Jt Estimates S 1 '35

Mo Film Bul p145 D '35

"Family." + Nat Bd of R M S 35

"This charming, cinderella-like tale is suitably and carefully cast, is spontaneously directed and moves to an illogical but delightful ending. Family and Junior mathees." + Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"A, Y and C: Amusing romance of prince and pauper." Par M p54 Mr 35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

N Y Times px5 N 3 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p55 N 16 '35

GENTLE JULIA. Ap 17 '36 29th century-Fox

Players: Jane Withers, Tom Brown, Marshal Hunt, Jackie Sears

Director: John Blystone

Based on the novel of the same title by Booth Tarkington. The story occurs in the atmosphere of a small middle-western town of several decades ago is caught in this story of

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; ++ Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
GENTLE JULIA—Continued

Julia, the delectable village belle whose affairs of the heart are settled by her irrepressible small cousin Florence.” (Calif Cong of Par & Teachers)

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Family and junior matinee.” Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

“Good.” DAR

“Family and junior matinee.” Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast)

“Family.” Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women’s Clubs

“A diverting comedy which offers some finished characterizations despite its farcical style. Good for family audiences.” Nat Soc of New England Women

“Wholesome and suitable for family entertainment.” S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

“Family.” Mrs T. G. Winter

“Family and junior matinee.” Women’s Univ Club, Los Angeles

_Fox W Coast Bul Ja 25 ’36_

“This is a charming, entertaining picture. Family and junior matinee.” Nat Council of Jewish Women Ja 15 ’36

“Unobjectionable for general patronage.” Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 ’36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“It features Jane Withers, a child, has other children in its cast and a majority of its footage is devoted to childish pranks. But commendation of it as a picture that will please children does not imply condemnation of it as one which will bore adults. As a matter of fact, a picture boring to adults will not be pleasing to children... It is good for us to live our youth again even for the brief period of a picture’s unreeling, so ‘Gentle Julia’ is a production I can recommend to you for your own enjoyment, and I positively insist you take the children with you when you go to view it.” Allan Herscholt

_Hollywood Spec p9 F 29 ’36_

“Jane Withers, the screen’s leading—and practically only—tomboy, has in ‘Gentle Julia’ a role that fits her bouncing talents perfectly. An unpretentious little offering, ‘Gentle Julia’ has as its winsome ways and [has] such a hilarious chase climax that it should please adults as well as children.” (3 stars) Beverly-Hills _Liberty p53 Mr 28 ’36_

Trade Paper Reviews

“Sure-fire box-office and a natural for entire family patronage. Little Jane Withers tops all previous efforts. Family.”

_Box Office p55 Mr 7 ’36_

_Canadian Moving Pict Digest p8 Mr 14 ’36_

“It could hardly expect to hold the screen of a big city theatre but it will very likely please the family trade for which it was evidently made.”

_Film Curb p11 F 22 ’36_

“This is a knockout of a show for the family trade. Any audience that likes a good wholesome comedy will enjoy the Jane Withers fans especially will find it grand entertainment. Jane carries most of the picture and she does it in great style.”

_Film Daily p4 F 19 ’36_

“Excellently Good; Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; Poor; — Exceptionally Poor

“The Jane Withers pictures grow steadily better, thanks to good production judgment, and this one will overtop the others at the box office both on the momentum of the series and on its merits as a natural for laughs and wholesome entertainment.”

_Hollywood Reporter p3 F 15 ’36_

“Presenting Jane Withers, whose legions of followers are rapidly growing, in one of Booth Tarkington’s best known stories, this picture is a sound combination of amusing entertainment and easily adaptable exploitation. An all-family attraction, it is nonetheless unique and exciting comedy, stacking up not only as exceptions to the wholesome entertainment, but also holding considerable interest for adolescents and grown-ups.”

_Motion Pict Herald p10 F 25 ’36_

“The child star’s brilliant portrayal and the sympathetic guidance of the director, creates the perfect family picture, in theatrical high places or low. Box offices will click merrily to its laughter, sighs and hilarious antics wherever the Withers name has come to indicate a certain kind of entertainment, and in other spots where this gifted young player’s qualities will be [made known throughout] the neighborhood. A good, craftsman-like performance it is probably the best of the youngster’s pictures.”

_Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 15 ’36_

GHOST GOES WEST. Ja 8 ’36 78min London films-United artists

_Director: René Clair_.

_Based on the short story, Glorious Castle, by Eric Keown. “A penniless Scottish aristocrat sells his ancestral castle to an American millionaire who transports it piecemeal to New York. The family ghost accompanies the stones and haunts the liner. The news is flashed to New York. On arrival, there is a fine travesty of a civic receive, with an empty car reserved for the ghost and other farcical scenes due to the desire of two rival magnates to tie up the ghost for publicity purposes.” (Motion Pict Daily)_

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Class A. General approval.” _N Y Arch-diocese Child Pict Guide Mr 14 ’36_

_Cath News p24 Ja 25 ’36_

“Excellent. Mature.” DAR

“[It is] an outstanding production. Adults and young people.” _E Coast Preview Committee_

“[It is] A fresh and entertaining picture. Family.” Nat Ed of R

“A happy blending of good comedy and clever satire. Family.” Nat Council of Jewish Women

“[It holds] one’s interest to the final fadeout. Audiences over 14.” Nat Soc of New England Women

“The director is to be congratulated for this clever and outstanding production. Family.” S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

_Fox W Coast Bul F 8 ’36_

_Mo Film Bul p104 D 3 ’36_

“Rarely imaginative in direction, lavish in production and witty in line—a real treat. Very good. Family.”

+F + Motion Pict Guide Mr 36

“It is immensely comical... Do not overlook this amusing entertainment. Adolescents, 12-16: fine; children, 5-12: good fun.”

_Motion Pict R F 3 ’36_

“Unobjectionable for general patronage.”

_Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 ’36_

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Quality</th>
<th>Rating</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Good</td>
<td>++</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fair</td>
<td>+</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mediocre</td>
<td>—</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Poor</td>
<td>—</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exceptionally Poor</td>
<td>—</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
"A Satirical fantasy; Y: Entertaining; C: No interest.
Par M p54 Mr '36
"Some delightfully original touches and clever technical effects add to the merit of an outstanding production, Adults and young people.
+F + Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36
"Family.
Wkly Guide Ja 18 '36
Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"René Clair has evidently not succeeded in impressing his own character at all consistently on his first English film, 'The Ghost Goes West.' Says the reviewer for the London Times. At times. his vivid, freakish, and satirical imagination comes to the front; at others, love and the formalities of the commercial film—M. Clair can hardly have controlled the English dialogue—take charge of the situations and develop them according to the conventions... The nonsense itself is much in the manner of Mark Twa.in. The plot and its ramifications are more likely to keep the appearances of the ghost are nicely calculated to keep it mysterious and alarming while all around him the story unfolds, that Clair has achieved an originality, a difficult task which must have needed the greatest tact both in the director and in Mr. Robert D'Ore.
+B+ Boston Transcript p4 Ja 3 '36
"The Ghost Goes West' [has] started on a career that promises to make this delightful bit of foody one of the stand-out pictures.
+ Laura Elston
++ Canadian M p42 Mr '36
"This, of course, furnishes the opportunity for putting out some of his most amiable jokes in the Anglo-American repertory. The youth of America, said Oscar Wilde, is its oldest tradition and a tradition that M. Clair sees no reason for discarding. He has many a sally at the expense of Americans' supposed fondness for transporting antiques from Britain, and employing them to advertise the most incongruous merchandise. Occasionally, his satire hereabouts is very funny, as in the ubiquitous nature of his radio installations, but at times it descends to the mechanical gesture of employing his characters mispronounce words.
+ + Christian Science Monitor p6 F 4 '36
"Stald Queen Mary's royal laughter was awakened by evening in the Leicester Square premiere in London of Alexander Kor da's Intelligenty imaginative British-made comedy, 'The Ghost Goes West', others readily amused. The importation is the Frenchman René Clair's first English-speaking directorial effort, and a witty piece of picture-making it is."
J. P. Cunningham
+ + Commonweal p353 Ja 21 '36
"Gallic wit was a wise choice for the task of poking fun at Scottish traditions and American multi-millionaires. The result proves that 'The Ghost Goes West' does not sparkle as brightly as some of his other pictures, but the combination of Bob Sherwood's script and René Clair's sense of humor gives the picture perhaps the most delightful foundation of legitimate comedy the French director ever has had to build on. You cannot afford to miss it. Student, M. Apthorpe, a most valuable reviewer has found this picture a valuable subject for study."
+ + Hollywood Spec p10 F 1 '36
"I hate ghost stories [but] this one is a real laugh. I thought the London premiere of the 'Ghost Goes West,' and you leave the theater chuckling to yourself. The humor of the picture is completelyellow.
+ + Lit Digest p20 Ja 18 '36
"M. Clair is not yet quite so much at home on his new soil as on soil of his first British film, 'The Ghost Goes West' is full enough of happy invention and quick, gay humor to thoroughly and genuinely entertain... Many able actors besides Robert Donat contribute to its fun. In particular the mingling of the Foolery and exuberance on the antique face of Eugene Pallette when, as the purchaser of Glorie, he discovers from personal experience that he has acquired a real ghost is more richly comical than anything in film comedy."
A. S. Neill
+ + Manchester Guardian p13 F 25 '36
"Here is Clair's latest picture; and it is a failure. It is only relatively a failure. 'The Ghost Goes West' is more amusing and more imaginative than 'The Ghost,' but there is no evidence of whatever provenance, and indeed the audience of which I was a part laughed loud and long. But, that is perhaps the true, between exaggeration and exquisiteness... There is no lack of nice things and drop of such Gonality, but there is always the reminder that this man once held a precious secret in his hands. But he has lost it in the crowd, and it is hard to believe that anything outside of himself is to blame."
Mark Van Doren
+ + Nation p337 Ja 29 '36
"To be sure, Mr. Clair's touch in this film is not exactly what one would call incisive, but perhaps after he familiarizes himself with the soft and hard edges of his policies, he can win back with all the brilliance he brought to bear on his own people in 'The Italian Straw Hat.'"
Robert B. Edmondson
+ + New Theatre p23 F 36
"[René Clair's] picture is so gay and charming and imaginatively amusing. Heaven knows, it has its faults. But that is not about it, for example, the unhappy defect of letting down to an anticlimax, rather than building up to it. It lacks something, too, the distinctive style and urbane wit that has gone into the best of the distinguished Frenchman's works. Also, in the manner of photo-plays manufactured in England, it sometimes lacks the pace that films require, unless they are to drop entirely on the flat. All of this, however, does not keep it from being striking, delightful and original." Richard Watts
++ + N Y Herald Tribune p8 Ja 11 '36
"'The Ghost Goes West' is just what its title implies, a ghost story, and one of the season's funniest pictures. It is told with high good-natured clumsiness with which the cast has the air of enjoying it all as hugely as the audience. M. Clair's fantasy is neither earthy, nor penitent. It balances delicately, precisely; telling a grand ghost story at the same time it chuckles over a very human romance. The picture is original not only in idea and viewpoint, but in directorial touches. Mr. Clair tells his story lightly, subtly, as a ghost story, should be told, stressing none of his points and permitting no one to miss any of them either. 'The Ghost Goes West' is a rollicking tale of a most delightful phantom." Eileen Creelman
++ + N Y Sun p8 Ja 11 '36
"Faced with an event of such imposing interest, Mr. Clair's first English-speaking film, it is a grave temptation to go in for comparisons. The film is not pure Clair, or even very much Clair, but after the first time he is working in a strange language and from a script that is not his own, . Although the film is not pure Clair, in the fullest sense of Clair's typical work, it has a sly wit and an adroitness of manner that make it delightful. It is the first important film of the new year, and a joyous one. It is the cream of an ebullient jest."
C. S. Mundy Stout
++ + N Y Times p9 Ja 11 '36
++ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; Exceptionally Poor
GH0ST GOES WEST—Continued

"Although 'The Ghost Goes West,' which Clair produced in London for Alexander Korda, is not quite the film, in the fine tradition of 'Le Million,' and as such it has more than its share of charm and humor...Scene after scene is pregnant with the sly, subtle satire that has made Clair the world's outstanding director. There are some who will insist that 'The Ghost Goes West' is lacking in the urbane wit and distinctive style that has characterized this brilliant Frenchman's most distinctive screen efforts, but none can deny that it is at once a striking, delightful and original film—one that something to see and cheer about." — William Boehnel

+ + New Yorker p60 Ja 18 '36

"London Films has produced the best British film of [the year], 'The Ghost Goes West.'" — Mark Forrest

+ + Sat R p672 D 28 '35

"I have never believed more firmly in Clair's genius than I did during this film. The silly story, the mumbo-jumbo of Clair's peculiar qualities, were forgotten in my admiration for his camera sense. In no other film this year has the beauty of the film been so...subservient to the mobility of visual freedom. And the actors responded...with unfurled lightheartedness. Mr. Eugene Pallette...gave a very fine performance...that at least forgives the film..." — Graham Greene

+ Spec p1065 D 27 '35

"M. Clair satirizes Scots and Americans, and the film has much of the delicacy and high spirits of his earlier French pictures; but there is more humanity in it, and a charming love story..." — Joan Littlefield

+ Springfield Republican p7c Ja 12 '36

"The most virile satire of the year by that super-satirist, René Clair; and incidentally, his first English picture..." + Stage p8 F 36

"It is a satiric fantasy notable for the quality of its humor and critical wit that have long distinguished its director's work in French. Produced by a Hungarian, written by a Frenchman and directed by a Frenchman, and acted by an English-speaking cast, it has the homogeneity of style, the slyness, polish of conspicuously lacking in its Hollywood counterparts. Its most serious fault is an occasional lethargy of pace, which is the only thing it has in common with any other film comedy so far exported out of England." + Time p57 Ja 20 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"One of the most delightful bits of nonsense the screen has seen. Family." + Box Office p28 F 1 '36

Film Curb p16 Ja 15 '36

"Swell entertainment for all fans. Highly humorous with fine work by Donat and others...René Clair's direction gets the full value out of the shrewdly written satirical screenplay..." + Film Daily p3 Ja 11 '36

"This picture has some unusually good comedy situations, a novel plot, and fine performances. As a whole, it is entertainment suitable more for the classes than for the masses; its pace is somewhat slow and its humor is suitable for all..." + Harrison's Reports Ja 18 '36

"This film has effective satire, broadening frequently into the realm of farce. René Clair has handled the imaginative, ingenious, satiric humor and imagination...There are many original touches including conversations of the ghost with his disembodied father in limbo, Scottish clan warfare, the American love of antiques, the ballyhoo which is equally well satirized..." + Motion Pict Daily p12 D 18 '35

"The peculiar flavour of the film, directed by the well-known screen satirist René Clair, of 'Le Million' fame, is only faintly to be deduced from a recital of episodes, yet an account of the plot does indicate something of its imaginative freshness...Clair never loses grip of material which might easily have degenerated into near-slapstick....Where there are audiences receptive to the essentially satiric flavouring of the story, 'The Ghost Goes West' is a subject of excellent possibilities. The broad humour of the 'ballyhoo' for the ghost, and the caricature of American new-rich infatuation with art, are material for all classes. Donat's personal charm has certainly never been better used than in this dual role with a soft Scots burr to give it flavour..." + Motion Pict Herald p48 Ja 4 '36

"A silly story intended to be a satire...of American social customs. This may be purpose, but provides plenty of laughs nevertheless..." + N Y Exhibitor p27 F 10 '36

"It should get rave reviews from critics and it should do splendid business in key spots in the U.S. and almost generally abroad. But it will probably receive more enthusiastic and reverent spots than is probably unfair to tone down raves for the film, because as screen art it is undoubtedly a splendidly effective piece of entertainment...It is that it is satire of a very high calibre and the great masses of American cinema patrons will find it hard to laugh at some of the sequences—they can't help that—but it is not American type comedy, it isn't slapstick; it isn't hokum. And there lies the rub..." + Variety p18 Ja 15 '36

"[T] is smart, satirical high comedy of a kind seldom served to American audiences [and] will mightily regale the sophisticated, the comparatively limited clientele of cultivated humor. Should do fine business in the acres houses, but will be a gamble from there down the line. With reasonably good direction in general run of spots where more blatant comedy is the meat-and-potatoes of entertainment..." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 21 '36

GIVE US THIS NIGHT. Mr 6 '36 70min Paramount

Players: Jan Klepura. Gladys Swarthout. Philip Merivale

Director: Alexander Hall

Music and Lyrics: Erich Wolfgang Korngold. Oscar Hammerstein II

"The story is constructed on the backstage opera formula with Jan Klepura cast as a singing man who is redound from France through the efforts of Gladys Swarthout, a diva and Philip Merivale, a composer." — Motion Pict Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Good. General patronage." Nat Legion of Decency F '36

"It is a pleasant film in which neither the singing nor the music establish a high standard. Nevertheless, it is a step in the right direction towards a true musical film in which the musical related to the story..." + Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — + Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
"Both voices are great and though the story, containing is trite, the production on the whole is excellent. Family."

Wkly Guide P 7 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Its ballads are the most advanced light opera music yet composed for cinema, and it contains one scene of cinema's first grand comic opera. The second act was called 'Romeo and Juliet' of which only a few skeleton scenes were written... Strictly in the new opera style for the screen, the plot is less a series of music cues than an ornamental bubble tossed on the flood of song issuing from Kiepura and Swarthout."

Time p46 Mr 9 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"A weak one that will need strong support. Family.

+ + Box Office p27 Mr 7 '36

"While this is a high class musical film of the light opera variety it is doubtful if it will appeal to audiences. There is no denying that Kiepura has a fine voice but his acting leaves much to be desired and his dialect isslider that is far below Hollywood standards.

- + Film Curb p15 Mr 7 '36

"This is high class entertainment, with good music, and an excellent production. But its appeal will be directed mainly to music lovers, since most of the story is told in operatic terms. It is not for mass consumption. Suitable for all.

+ + Harrison's Reports Mr 21 '36

"Three-fourths of its length is song, and song of a high class, and it is for the most part gorgeously sung, with Jan Kiepura and Gladys Swarthout in the leading roles and doing most of the singing... It is weak as to comedy, but strong in dramatic appeal, and will be popular in communities where good music, and especially operatic music, will attract; will do substantial business in the key cities, and should have a long life, for here is music that can be heard again and again. It will also gross large in foreign countries, but its reception in our own small towns and neighborhood houses is problematical."

Hollywood Reporter p2 F 27 '36

"Too heavy with music, this picture is apt to have a very limited appeal only to music audiences. The musical score by Erich Wolfgang Korngold with lyrics by Oscar Hammerstein is good but offers no time to capture the popular fancy."

Motion Pict Daily p10 F 28 '36

"Done in a continental motif, the picture has elements for that contingent of fans which understands and appreciates classical music, not all of which is operatic. For the general rank and file the preponderance of music provides a problem which may possibly be eliminated if the romantic love interest content is stressed."

Motion Pict Herald p46 Mr 7 '36

"For American consumption, 'Give Us This Night' is questionable entertainment. Overloaded with music plus a performance by Jan Kiepura, the picture will have a hard time making the grade. Lack of draw names will also prove a stumbling block. Jan Kiepura is sacrificed a good deal like a Sennett comedian. His dialect is more acceptable for comedy work rather than operatic work. Locally he has a remarkable voice, particularly in the higher registers but his singing is anything but effortless. Unfortunately, in 'Grain' Kiepura is sacrificed in order to build up the singing of the Polish star."

Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 27 '36

GRAIN. Jt 14 '36 85min Amkino

Players: Emma, Teessarskaia, Boris Tenin, N. Narokot, A. Abrakosof

Director: Olga Preobrazhenskaia

Based on the novel, Enemies' Paths, by Ivan Shishov, this was made in Russia and there are dialogue titles in English. "This latest importation from Russia... once again attempts to certify the unceasing efforts of the new order. It tells of the victory of a group of peasants organizing their first collective farms, or the unceasing efforts of the kulaks, or land owners, to preserve their vanishing power over the peasantry." (Motion Pict Daily)

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Either the humor and lightness the directors aspired to proved too much for their propaganda efforts or the picture was not planned out carefully to begin with. For while it is not really a bad production, it is just a run-of-the-mill piece, long drawn out and not a subject of collective farming. "

"The picture has elements for that contingent of fans which understands and appreciates classical music, not all of which is operatic. For the general rank and file the preponderance of music provides a problem which may possibly be eliminated if the romantic love interest content is stressed."

"The film is plentifully sprinkled with English translations of the Russian dialogue, making for ready understanding of the story, but it is doubtful that the picture will retain its entertainment value for the average American audience. It is one of those films which is apt to have a very limited appeal only among those who have a distinct sympathy for the Russia of today."

Motion Pict Daily p8 Ja 17 '36

GRAND EXIT. O 25 '36 67min Columbia

Players: Edmund Lowe, Ann Sothern

Director: Earle Kenton

"Unable to determine the origin of a series of sensational fires, a large insurance company engages Fletcher as a private investigator. Although he manages to unravel the methods by which the fires were set, the crime, he is unable to dig up any clues that might reveal the identity of the guilty madman. Eventually the fire, which started on the fires gives him the lead for which he is searching."

N Y World-Telegram

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences."

N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Sa 25 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; -- Fair; --- Mediocre; Poor; -- Exceptionally Poor
GRAND EXIT—Continued

"A: Depends on taste; Y: Amusing; C: Doubtful."

Christian Century p1638 D 18 '35
Mo Film Bul p170 N '35

"Good. Adults and young adults."
Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"A and Y: Light mystery; C: Possible."
Y Pict Mr '36

"A mystery story, well sprinkled with comedy. Family."
Wkly Guide O 22 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Plenty of action, a story which makes enough sense, and some amusing wise-cracks. Of its kind, 'Grand Exit' is fair entertainment."
Eileen Creelman
+ — N Y Sun p27 N 5 '35

"Entertaining if highly implausible melo-drama."
T. M. F.
+ + — N Y Times p24 N 4 '35
N Y World-Telegram p34 N 4 '35
Springf'd Republican p66 N 24 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"Plot development is brisk, covering much that is implausible. Amusing incidents are plentiful, giving Lowe wide range for a debonair and snappy performance. Director Eade Keaton does well. Good comedy."
+ Box Office p29 D 7 '35

Film Curb p4 N 15 '35

"Fairly satisfying mystery drama that ought to go over all right in the neighborhood houses."
+ + — Film Daily p7 N 5 '35

"Family melodrama."
N Y Exhibitor p29 N 10 '35

(*)GRAND SLAM OPERA. F 21 '36 20min Educational Players: Buster Keaton
Director: Charles Lamont

"Keaton comes to New York from Gopher Prairie to do on an amateur radio program with his juggling act. He tells the amazed di-rector of the program that he does it by explaining each stunt to the radio audience. He gets the gang at the first juggling stunt, but keeps going, not realizing that the orchestra is going ahead with the next number."
Film Daily

Trade Paper Reviews

"Buster Keaton has the first leg on the year's funniest comedy with this offering. . . It's a natural laugh-provoker with a heap of origi-nality to boot."
+ Box Office p48 Ja 18 '36

"Easily the best comedy Buster Keaton has ever delivered. Whoever supplied the original and side-splitting gags should be given a long-term contract. This unknown writer has the perfect material for this dead-pan comic, and the way Buster handles that material puts it over for a continuous salvo of laughs. It is fast. It has variety. It has, above all origi-nality."
Par M p50

"A ribald and slapstick burlesque of amateur programs with Buster Keaton contributing some of his best comedy, this one has entertain-ment from every frame."
+ Motion Pict Daily p41 Ja 7 '36

"Buster Keaton is again his old, inarticulate, inadequate, uproariously awkward self. This brings out all the old laughs belonging to a character type as unique as Chaplin. Very good."
+ + N Y Exhibitor p30 Ja 10 '36

GREAT IMPERATION. D 9 '35 70min Universal
Director: Alan Crosland

Based on novel of the same title by E. Phillips Oppenheim. "The story deals with a renegade Englishman and a conniving Austrian in the employment of an international munitions trust. It tells how the Austrian presumably takes the place of the Englishman, found on the brink of death in the Alps, and returns to London to advance the predatory aims of the arms makers by crippling British factories and thereby inducing orders for replenished supplies from the factories which make up the munition king's domain."
(Motion Pict Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval."
N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

"Good."
Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36

"Oppenheim addicts will enjoy this mystery thriller, with its blood-curdling moments, its high intrigue, its fantastic plot and its sur-prise finish. Adequately directed and photo-graphed, this picture will not prove conduc-tive to pleasant dreams for the kiddies. Adults: fair; 14-18: fair; 8-14: no."
Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"One of the best known and most absorbing of the E. Phillips Oppenheim mystery stories, in which Edmund Lowe plays the double role of a German and an Englishman with great skill and with a clever appreciation and un-derstanding of the contrasts in the Teutonic and the Anglo-Saxon minds. . . Excellent ly directed and acted. Family."
E Coast Pre-view Committee

"With an involved and confused story and vacillating direction this exposition of a sinister plot on the part of international munitions manufacturers is bound to be uncon-vincing. A timely and worthy theme is handled in a careless, uncertain manner al-though the suspense is maintained through-out and ends with a surprise dénouement. Adults.
Nat Council of Jewish Women

"An exciting picture, but lacks clearness at times and death in the attention."
Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Edmund Lowe gives an exceptional per-formance in the dual role. The direction is commendable, and good use is made of light and sound effects. Mature."
So Calif Council of Fed. Church Women
+ — Fox W Coast Bul D 14 '35

"Capably and effectively directed, with Ed-mund Lowe giving an exceptionally fine per-formance in a dual role, ably assisted by a well chosen cast. A thrilling mystery drama. Adults and young people."
+ + Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) D 4 '35

"Good. Adults and young adults."
Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A and Y: Clever spy drama; C: If interesting."
Par M p54 Mr '36
Set Motion Pic D 1 '35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; — Mediocre; —— Poor; ——— Exceptionally Poor

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript D 13 '35

"I am usually sufficiently annoyed by even one Edmund Lowe in a picture, and in "The Great Impersonation" I get two—with Mr. Lowe in the role of a villain, the kind of lusher romanticism and wild-eyed melodrama usually associated with his name. . . . [It] must be seen by all and is an all-time classic. . . . It is a fairly good-looking production, but [the] action is ragged and basically incredible." — Variety p12 D 18 '35

GREAT ZIEGFELD. (Release date not determined) 15min MGM

Players: William Powell, Myrna Loy, Luise Rainer, Fanny Brice, Virginia Bruce, Frank Morgan, Nat Pendleton

Directors: Robert Z. Leonard, Arthur Lang

Music: Walter Donaldson. Harold Adams

The life of the great entertainer is brought to the screen with many of the former stars from the Ziegfeld's Folies taking part.

Trade Paper Reviews

"It is a lavish, well produced, entertaining picture that cannot fail to please. With proper exploitation it will be a hit with any class of patrons. . . . They don't come much better than this one." + + Film Curb p6 Mr 14 '36

"In New York and environs it should pack them from the opening day, but in the hinterland it must be sold and exploited to the hilt and where this is done it will be okay. About an hour must be cut for regular theatre runs, making it the kind of fast-moving story audiences expect and managers can handle. Present roadshow length perhaps okay for around New York, but neither star draw nor story place it in roadshow class. It's just grand entertainment that will stand with the beat the public has had on the regular Metro releasing programs." + + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 9 '36

GUARD THAT GIRL. S 20 '35 65min Columbia

Players: Florence Rice, Robert Allen, Barbara Kent. Arthur Hohl

Director: Lambert Hillyer

"An exciting mystery story about a girl impersonation racket, well photographed, well handled, and the two detectives who guard her and finally capture the guilty person." Nat Bd of R M

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

="A: Fairly good; Y: Good; C: Hardly." Christian Century p94 Ja 15 '35

Mo Film Bul p170 N '35

"Fair; Adults and young adults." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

Family

Nat Bd of R M S '35

"A and Y: Thrilling; C: Very exciting." Par M p4 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Passable entertainment of its sort." + + Christian Science Monitor p15 O 19 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p23 N 23 '35

"Satisfactory murder mystery. A not unfamiliar plot but it has been well handled. [The] suspense [is] well maintained. A bit of romance and comedy add to enjoyment of the picture."

--- + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
GUARD THAT GIRL—Continued

+ Film Curb p11 N 1 '35

Motion Pict Daily p4 N 2 '35

"A mystery film of more, or less routine character, 'Guard That Girl' offers little in the way of unusual material. . . With suspicion falling almost equally upon a number of involved persons the mystery keeps the identity of the perpetrators of the crime sufficiently under cover until the detective by simple deductions makes known the criminal's true

character."

— + Motion Pict Herald p74 N 23 '35

"Family melodrama."

N Y Exhibitor p34 O 25 '35

GUN PLAY. D 31 '35 60min Beacon

Players: Guinn Williams. Frank Yacanelli.

Marion Shilling

Director: Albert Herman

A western melodrama.

— Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Arch-

diocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '35

"A, Y and C: Thrilling Western."

Par M p54 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"A Western with a new plot and that's a novelty. This snappy outdoor action drama should more than satisfy those who like such films. . . Williams does some fine work in this picture and he is ably supported by balance of the cast.

+ Film Curb p6 Ja 4 '36

"This Western carries more than the usual amount of plot, and the plot also departs from the usual Western thrillers with a rather novel

theme."

+ Film Daily p3 D 27 '35

"Standard western action material. . . It has no lack of fast-moving action and should be found reasonably satisfactory."

+ Motion Pict Daily p12 D 31 '35

"As per the title there's plenty of gun-play in this action picture. . . Perhaps not a brilliant plot, but good enough for this calibre picture. There is a sincere effort to project some humor, and although the romance is rather light, it's pleasing. The backgrounds keep revolving before the camera and may look familiar to the very discerning kind of fans."

— + Variety p58 Ja 1 '36

GUYNOR, THE. See Mister Hobo

H

HAIR TRIGGER CASEY. (Release date not determined) 60min Atlantic

Players: Jack Perrin. Betty Mack

Director: Harry Fraser

A western melodrama.

— Audience Suitability Ratings

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

Trade Paper Reviews

"A Western that is considerably above average, with a fresh slant that builds suspense and some good comedy, this one should click with ease. In addition to the typical shoot-'em-up pattern that it follows, there's an exciting flashback of action during the war and a smuggling angle that involves an army officer. Family."

+ Box Office p37 Mr 7 '36

"An entertaining Western."

+ Film Curb p8 F 22 '36

"While following the usual formula of smuggling on the border, this action Western in story treatment and especially in directorial touches achieves some new slants that lift it out of the run-of-the-ordinary Westerns."

+ Film Daily p4 F 19 '36

"As Westerns go, it is an ordinary production."

— + Motion Pict Daily p9 F 19 '36

HANDS ACROSS THE TABLE. O 18 '35 80min

Paramount

Ralph Bellamy

Director: Mitchell Leisen

Adapted from Vina Delmar's novel Bracelets.

A cynical manicurist anxious to find a wealthy husband marries an impoverished play-boy who plans to wed an heiress for exactly the same reason.

— Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory. Not recommended because of subject matter or treatment." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 35 '36

"A: Fairly amusing; Y: Unsuitable; C: No."

Christian Century p1806 D 11 '35

"A light refreshing comedy, excellently cast, well staged, photographed and lighted, in which expert direction gives piqiuancy to situations that might otherwise be offensive. Adults and young people." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

N 15 '36

"This bit of sophisticated fluff, with its near title, becomes very diverting entertainment by reason of excellent direction, superior acting and clever and unusual comedic situations.

Adults. Light comedy." + Jt Estimates N 15 '35

Mo Film But p170 N '35

"Good. Adults." + Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"Mature." + Nat Bd of R M N '35

"Carole Lombard, ably assisted by Fred Mac-

Murray, makes this implausible, charming farce-comedy almost believable. Smooth, excellent direction, lavish stage settings, witty dialogue and a not new but good story add much to the entertainment value. Adults." + Nat Council of Jewish Women N 1

'35

"Objectionable in part." + Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A: Fairly amusing; Y: Mature; C: No."

+ Nat Pict p4 Mr '36

"Lightness in direction and acting make an

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"A comedy which radiates comic warmth from almost every foot of celluloid. Its unabashed make-believe is an appealing asset.”

R. S.

+ Boston Transcript p4 O 19 '35

Christian Science Monitor p15 O 19 '35

“The story skips through its charming paces so lightly that this little comedy romance is quite likely the best thing of its fairy-tale sort to have been seen this season,” Beverly Hills.

+ Liberty p29 N 23 '35

Lit Digest p24 D 7 '35

“The film is quite an entertaining bit of minor gayety as long as it keeps moving rapidly... When it slows down for its romantic interludes, the pace becomes lethargic enough to give you a chance to think things over and remember that the hero and heroine really were speaking pretty soundly when they described themselves by that highly descriptive term, ‘hearts.’ The first half of the work is unassumingly diverting, and the film never fails to offer a suggestion of liveliness.” Richard Watts, Jr.

+ — N Y Herald Tribune p6 N 2 '35

“Unpretentious and likable, it has an appealing freshness about it.” Eileen Creelman

+ — N Y Sun p10 N 2 '35

“An uproariously funny, romantic comedy, with a brilliant screen play.” Andre Sennwald

+ — N Y Times p13 N 2 '35

“A gay, rollicking bit of fluff... Done with a light, frivolous touch, it moves briskly and uproariously along to its inevitable conclusion, but in a manner that anyone in search of delightful entertainment should find altogether satisfying.” William Boehnel

+ — N Y World-Telegram p31 D 5 '35

Reviewed by John Mosher

New Yorker p95 N 16 '35

Reviewed by Graham Greene

Spec p38 N 22 '35

Springfield Republican p6c N 24 '35

“Some of the grandest comedy to come out of Hollywood this season.”

+ Stage p10 N '35

“Hands Across the Table,” [is] as pretty a mixture of wit, sentiment and right handling as we are likely to get for a while.” Otis Ferguson

+ — Theatre Arts Mo p41 F '36

Time p54 O 28 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Film Curb p7 O 15 '35

“Grand romantic-comedy entertainment with plenty box-office pull for all classes. Delightful fare that will meet with a merry reception anywhere.”

+ Film Daily p10 O 25 '35

“With sparkling acting, well directed, ‘Hands Across the Table’ is a good number in the current smart dialogue comedy school. Family comedy drama.”

+ — N Y Exhibitor p35 O 25 '35

HAPPINESS C. O. D. O 15 '35 69min Chesterfield

Players: Irene Ware, Donald Meek, Edwin Maxwell, Maude Eburne

Director: Charles Lamont

When a father of extravagant children mortgages his home to pay their bills, the children reform and help their father out of his plight.

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p34 N 16 '35

“It is all worked out so nicely, played so earnestly and directed so well that it comes near being perfect screen entertainment of this type.”

+ Film Curb p4 N 15 '35

“This little comedy has a certain amount of human interest appeal that ought to get over well enough with the not too discriminating family trade. While there are no important names in the cast, the players fit their roles adequately.”

+ — Film Daily p7 D 21 '35

“By giving human touches to a story about the spendthrift children who reform and help their father lift the mortgage on the old homeestead, Director Charles Lamont has furnished a picture which should be acceptable average entertainment.”

+ — Motion Pict Daily p4 N 2 '35

“Family drama.”

N Y Exhibitor p34 O 10 '35

“Despite lack of strong name draw, ‘Happiness C.O.D.’ might have been a strong pro- grammer until directors and cutters went awry, but despite this weakness, picture’s length and a rather unpromising title, it should prove interesting because of Maude Eburne’s grand performance.”

+ — Variety p15 D 25 '35

HARMONY LANE. Ag 25 '35 81min Mascot

Players: Douglas Montgomery, Evelyn Brawley, Joseph Cawthorn, William Frawley

Director: Joseph Santley

“A musical drama based on the life and loves of Steven C. Foster, showing his despair and disappointments, and the tragedy of his drunken death.” So Calif Council of Fed of Church Women

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Class A. General approval.” N Y Archdioce Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

Christian Century p326 O 16 '35

“William Frawley gives a notable characterization of the Whitly there are. Family.” Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

“The costumes and settings are unusually faithful to the times, the music is deftly blended in, and the romance will prove satisfactory for all but conscientious objectors to sentiment. Suggested for schools, libraries and church use.” Excellent for music clubs, Family.” Nat Bd of R

“Excellent acting and direction combined with its educational and dramatic values to make it an exceptional production. Adolescents 12-16: excellent; children; mature and sad.” Women’s Univ Club, Los Angeles

+ — Fox W. Bul. S 11 '35

“The charm of the life, customs and settings of the pre-Civil War days, the historical interest of the story, and the added pleasure of the old familiar music and songs make this a most enjoyable production. Family and junior matinee.”

+ — Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) S 3 '35

“Family.”

Jt Estimates S 1 '35

Motion Pict & Family O 15 '35

“The poignant story of Stephen Foster comes to the screen carefully cast, sympathetically directed and beautifully photographed. The stage settings and mid-nineteenth century life add much to the interesting story. Family.”

+ — Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

“A, Y and C: Delightful.”

Par M p54 Mr '36

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
HARMONY LANE—Continued

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Unpretentious melodrama, pleasing of its sort."
+ — Christian Science Monitor p13 O 26 '35

"A routine little sentimental drama, given its occasional moments of interest by the Foster songs."
Richard Watts, Jr.
+ — N Y Herald Tribune p15 O 24 '35

"Lugubrious, despite the songs."
N Y Times p19 O 27 '35

Sprng!d Republican p6c O 13 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p56 N 16 '35

HEIR TO TROUBLE. S 26 '35 80min Columbia
Director: Spencer G. Bennett

A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Good. Family."
Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"A, Y and C: Good Western."
Par M p51 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p29 N 23 '35
Film Curb p5 Ja 4 '36

"Good outdoor action drama with more than usual amount of plot material. Fortified by ample story ingredients, albeit the basic plot is not radically new in any respect, this ought to prove satisfying fare for the outdoor action fans."
+ — Film Daily p10 D 17 '35

"Family Western."
N Y Exhibitor p34 O 25 '35

HELL SHIP MORGAN. F 8 '36 63min Columbia
Director: D. Ross Lederman

"A tuna fishing boat is the unusual setting for a triangle story involving a blustering captain, a girl whom he befriends and marries, and a young man whom he rescues from a waterfront saloon."
Sel Motion Pict

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Fair. Objectionable in part."
Nat Legion of Decency F '36

"The excitement of storm and rescues, the constant threat of tragedy and the fascinating scenes of tuna fishing provide thrilling and realistic drama. The story is a vigorous one, the acting is expert and some of the camera effects are remarkable. Adults and young people."
+ — Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Take all the intrigues, stock figures and stereotyped phrases of penny-shopper romances and there you have 'Hell Ship Morgan,' the generally preposterous film with George Bancroft. . . . During the telling of this breathless and fearless odyssey of the tuna fishers all the old-fashioned theatricalisms drench the situation, the dialogue and the characters. The three principal actors perform their unattractive jobs in a workmanlike manner, but the whole thing seems to me to have been shipwrecked on the shoals of sex."
William Boehnel
— N Y World-Telegram p21 Mr 10 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"The players and the director have done their best with the trite material, but it results in just plain fascinating fare, with chief interest from a box-office standpoint being in the return of George Bancroft to the screen."
+ — Film Daily p8 Mr 10 '36

"A moderately entertaining program melodrama. There is not one new angle in the story; the plot is quite obvious and one loses interest in the outcome. Not for children or Sundays. Adult entertainment."

— Harrison's Reports F 29 '36

"A better tale than this might have been contrived for George Bancroft's return to the screen after a long absence, for the good cast has little chance against the thin story of love in the tuna industry. The three principals struggle valiantly with the difficult dialogue."
— Motion Pict Daily p3 F 29 '36

"Weak for single featuring, other attributes [may] be sold to advantage to patrons liking action with an entertaining story."
+ — N Y Exhibitor p34 Mr 10 '36

"It is not a particularly inspiring vehicle. . . . Cast is worked far above scripting and direction. Weakness in latter two departments will keep 'Hell Ship,' to duellers and some [neighborhood houses]."
+ — Variety p29 Mr 11 '36

"Thrills of the tuna fishing industry off the coast of California, poignantly displayed through direction, story and photography, swing this Columbia film above the mediocire class for [neighborhood houses.] With more name production it would have hit the class spots with ease."
+ — Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 27 '36

HER MASTER'S VOICE. Ja 17 '36 68min Paramount
Players: Edward Everett Horton. Peggy Conklin
Director: Joseph Santley

Based on a play of the same title by Clare Kummer. In this farce comedy Horton's wife is spirited away by her aunt because of opposition to the marriage. He obtains a position as butler in the aunt's home and while attempting to enter his wife's room, he inadvertently lands in her aunt's room where he is discovered and accused by the aunt's middle aged suitor of philandering. But when the suitor, who is owner of a great radio chain discovers that he and Horton are old pals, the stage is set for Horton to become a radio star.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval."
Y Archdiocese Pict Guide Mr 31 '36

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Good for tired nerves. Family."
+ — Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"Adolescents, 12-16: very entertaining; children, 8-12: slight interest."
— Motion Pict R Mr '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr '36

"A: Fair farce; Y: Debatable; C: No."
Par M p54 Mr '36

"Adults and young people."
Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36
"Some very comical situations and an excellent cast."

Wkly Guide D 29 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Edward Everett Horton proved again that, given the right kind of material, he’s in the Ollie Hardy-Roland Young class of sly, observant, humorous acting. No, even without the good lines, he gets them just the same."

New Statesman & Nation p188 F 8 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p30 Ja 4 '36

"It’s grand for a laugh."

+ Canadian Moving Pict Digest p10 F 22 '36

"This one can be chalked up as just a bit better than average program fare. In most situations they should like it."

Film Curb p11 F 1 '36

"Fairly entertaining fare, with limited plot and location, best for the dressing room comedy fans."

Film Daily p13 F 21 '36

"Although it is a little silly at times, it will probably get by with non-discriminating people. . . Because of the one [risque] situation it is unsuitable for children or adolescents. Harmless for adults."

+ Harrison’s Reports Ja 25 '36

"Maybe it doesn’t make much sense, but it does make a lot of entertaining nonsense engagingly presented. The script is gaily and naturally dialogued and makes the fun grow out of the situations with easy nonchalance."

Hollywood Reporter p4 F 12 '36

"This lighthearted comedy of mistaken identities is an excellent one to couple with a sombre drama. . . The film closes on a hiliarious note when Horton is revealed as a success at last, as a radio crooner."

+ Motion Pict Daily p10 F 13 '36

"As with the exception of Miss Conklin the cast is composed of older artists, it might appear that the appeal of the picture would be directed mainly at more mature audience contingents. Such is not the case, however, inasmuch as comedy is the principal motivation and Horton’s popularity with all ages and classes should be enough to convince the general audiences of the picture’s entertainment worth to them."

+ Motion Pict Herald p52 N 16 '35

"For general mass entertainment, it must be considered lightweight, will be twin-billed or booked on premium-chance game days. Estimate: best for class sectors."

N Y Exhibitor p27 F 10 '36

"Paramount has turned out a fairly entertaining comedy in ‘Her Master’s Voice.’ Probably won’t startle with its grosses but should get its share of dual business."

+ Variety p37 F 26 '36

"With a stronger name cast, this top notch feature would attract important grosses. As is, it will serve best on double bills. Entertainment is there from start to finish with an expert cast, all from the stage, troup ing the story in grand fashion."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 12 '36

HERE COMES COOKIE. Ag 30 '35 65min Paramount

Players: George Burns, Gracie Allen, George Barbier, Betty Furness

Director: Norman McLeod

"The story deals with a rich man who has two daughters. One of them is being courted by a fortune hunter, much to the father’s disgust. Therefore he signs over his millions to his other daughter for sixty days in order to prove how false are the motives of the pursuing Romeo."

N Y Herald Tribune

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval."

N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

"A fast moving hilarious farce. . . The picture is well presented, the director has made clever use of all material especially the many amusing vaudeville skits, providing light breezy entertainment with many chuckles for the audience."

+ Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) S 14 '35

"A jolly bit of nonsense filled with the usual Burns and Allen absurdities and some good vaudeville numbers. A matter of taste for family."

+ Jt Estimates S 15 '35

"Amusing incidents, a good supporting cast, some really worthwhile vaudeville numbers and a bit of a story produce acceptable entertainment for the entire family."

+ Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

N Y Herald Tribune p9 O 12 '35

"Nothing in the picture makes sense and the result is lots of fun, if you are one of the thousands with a weakness for Miss Allen’s special brand of foolishness."

+ N Y Sun p9 O 12 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p58 N 16 '35

HERE COMES THE BAND. Ag 30 '35 77min MGM

Players: Ted Lewis, Virginia Bruce, Harry Stockwell, Nat Pendleton

Director: Paul Sloane

"The story of the composition of an American song based upon our country’s folk music serves as a vehicle for Ted Lewis’ vaudeville acts, and introduces Harry Stockwell to screen audiences who’ll remember best his fine voice in ‘Headin’ Home.’"

Jt Estimates S 1 '35

"Well known stage and screen personalities fail to make of this musical comedy other than mediocre entertainment. Family."

+ Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"A, Y and C: Entertaining."

Par M p54 Mr '35

HERE COMES TROUBLE. F 21 '36 65min 20th century-Fox

Players: Paul Kelly, Arline Judge, Mona Barrie, Gregory Ratoff

Director: Lewis Seiler

"[The] story is woven around two gangs of crooks trying to get a famous ruby supposed to be in the possession of the passenger of a ship who is really a detective out to get the crooks. Paul Kelly, member of the crew, gets involved when Mona Barrie, one of the crooks, presents him with a lighter in which the stolen gem is hidden."

Variety (Hollywood)

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; +— Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
HERE COMES TROUBLE—Continued

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Adults: fair; 14-18: fair; 8-14: no." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"A little too sophisticated for children. Entertaining for adults." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bul F 15 '36

"The picture is but mildly entertaining. Adults..." — Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) F 8 '36

"Wearsome to a degree, despite some good characterizations. Adults." — Jt Estimates F 1 '36

"The production is a striking example of wasted effort. Adolescents, 12-16: no; children, 5-12: no." Motion Pict R Mr '36

"This is a mediocre picture combining a hackneyed theme, an undistinguished cast, unsuccessful attempts at comedy and only now and then an effective bit of direction. Fair for the family." — Nat Council of Jewish Women F 5 '36

"Fair. General patronage." Nat Legion of Decency F '36

"Family." Wky Guide F 22 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Here Comes Trouble" shrieks movie. It never displays true cinema. The lighting is decidedly flat, the camera angles are commonplace and lacking are the moving shots that would have helped. It is a witless affair, clumsy and noisy.... Gregory Ratoff, a fine actor, should not have been cast in the film. He has an explanatory speech, important to the picture, and his delivery of it, due to the broad accent he has, is very difficult to understand. I missed nearly half of it." Allan Hershow — Hollywood Spec p14 F 15 '36

"This one fails in the run-of-the-mill category, being undistinguished in any respect, although it has a fair amount of action and is sufficiently guided by comedy to get by in the lesser grades." — Film Daily p4 Mr 7 '36

"Just program fare. But it should appeal to audiences who are not too discriminating about plot defects.... Since the picture is treated more as a comedy than a crook melodrama, exhibitors may find it suitable for children and Sundays." — Harrison's Reports F 22 '36

"Completely misfiring as a comedy of jewel hijacking on the high seas. 'Here Comes Trouble' turns to familiar slapstick and knockabout routines. The result is confusing to say the least.... Only a trifle of the story comes through and the laughs are not in the dialogue but in the routines.... 'Here Comes Trouble' may just get by in smaller bookings. It is weak even as a class B release." — Hollywood Reporter p4 F 1 '36

"With a capable cast and an interesting story of international jewel thieves, this production should please in the subsequent runs for which it is aimed." + Motion Pict Daily p5 F 3 '36

"Pretty much ado about nothing, although about half a dozen conflicting and counteracting sub-plots are hitched on to the basic motivations.... Because it is just so much film footage, showmanship facets as many headaches as understandable if those who made it. Previewed in the Uptown Theatre, first-run neighborhood house, to a confused audience." — Nat Council of Jewish Women F 5 '36

"Estimate: program; twin-bill; premium." N Y Exhibitor p37 F 25 '36

"As full of holes as a golf course 'Here Comes Trouble' can hope for little more than double bills. Yarn is jumpy through, a renewable interest more than passably interesting. Production is class B." — Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 1 '36

HERE'S TO ROMANCE. O 4 '35 85min 20th Century Fox

Players: Nino Martini, Genevieve Tobin, Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, Maria Gambarelli

Director: Alfred E. Green

"The story is the familiar conflict of love and ambition, with the young aspirant of opera fame trying to keep peace between his fiancée, a ballerina, and his mother, a rich young woman, inclined to be possessive. For balance, there is her husband, flirtatious, and also a patron of the arts as they concern talented young ladies. There are scenes in Paris garrets, behind the scenes and on the stage of the opera, and a dénouement in a ten-cent store, where the hero is reduced to demonstrating songs—operatic as well as jazz." Boston Transcript

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

Christian Century p1326 O 16 '35

"Excellent cast, fine orchestral score and rare direction make the picture delightful entertainment for all audiences. Family." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Nino Martini's glorious voice adds brilliance to a skilfully directed story.... Superb opera selections. Nature-family." DAR

"The cast is excellent, the scenery and lighting beautiful, and the music grand. The appearance of Mme. Schumann-Heink is a great treat and the singing of Martini glorious. Excellent entertainment for the family." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"One of the pictures that must not be missed. Family." Mrs T. G. Winter

"The admirable cast, the settings in New York and Paris, and the almost continuous music, both light and classical, insure enjoyment of the highest type. Adolescents, 12 to 16; good for children, 8 to 12; good but mature." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

"Fox W Coast Bul S 13 '35

"Delightful musical production.... Martini sings superbly. Selections from Ianroman, Piazzlied, Cavalliera Rusticana and La Tosca. Family." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) S 3 '35

"Family." Mo Film Bul p170 N '35

Nat Bd of R M N '35

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; ++ Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
HI GAUCHO. O 11 '35 60min RKO
Players: John Carroll, Steffi Duna, Rod La Rocque
Director: Thomas Atkins

"The romantic meeting of a handsome young Gauchito and a beautiful young girl, son and daughter of rival feuding families, frustrates the pretensions of the mother. Excitement and complications are added to the character of Escuro, the bandit." Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast)

Audience Suitability Ratings
- "This colorful outdoor picture has fine photography, good comedy, delightful singing, and an interesting Argentine background. Family and junior matinee." Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) S 18 '35
- "Fair entertainment. Family." Jt Estimates S 15 '35
- "Fair. Family." Mo Film Bu 195 D '35
- "Charming Spanish atmosphere and beautiful photography somewhat redeem this otherwise mediocre production. ... Good music, fine direction, nice riding and beautiful horses. Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35
- "A, Y and C: Fair." Par M 55'4 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
- "The picture includes bandits, horsemanship, picturesque costumes [and] handsome photography." Christian Science Monitor p15 O 19 '35
- "Exceptionally Good." Springfield Republican p7c O 20 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
- "Exceptionally Good; Good; Fair; Mediocre; Poor; Exceptionally Poor"

HIS FAMILY TREE. S 20 '35 68min RKO Players: James Barton, Margaret Callahan.
Director: Charles Vidor

"[An] old Irishman arrives in America to find his social and politically inclined son and daughter-in-law are ashamed of him. The son finally wins a mayoralty with his aid." Box Office

Audience Suitability Ratings
- "Light comedy. Family." Christian Century p1294 O 9 '35
- "A and Y: Fair; C: Doubtful." Jt Estimates S 1 '35
- "As a shabby old Irishman, James Barton may be credited with making a skillful and moving film out of [a] slight political drama." Mo Film Bu 171 N '35
- "A, Y and C: Fair." Par M 55'4 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
- "Melodrama of the Northwest Mounted provides fast action entertainment that the followers of this kind of picture will delight in." Springfield Daily Republican p14 D 25 '35
- "Nicely photographed, with some songs, the picture will satisfy any outdoor loving audience. Family drama." N Y Exhibitor p32 N 10 '35

HIS NIGHT OUT. O 2 '35 72min Universal Players: Edward Everett Horton, Irene Hervey
Director: William Nigh

From short story, Skinner’s Dress Suit, by Henry Irving Dodge. "Horton as the timid clerk, who finding he has only three months to live, takes the place of his disfigured brother when he thinks the heroine is responsible for a theft, eventually proves a hero when the $100,000 bonds that were stolen are recovered through him." (N Y Exhibitor)

Audience Suitability Ratings
- "Class A. General approval." Christian Century p1606 D 11 '36
- "Exceptionally Good; Good; Fair; Mediocre; Poor; Exceptionally Poor"
HIS NIGHT OUT—Continued

"This picture can safely be classified as a program filler. Good. Family-mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"The film shows hasty construction. Nevertheless, it develops some excellent comedy which will appeal to adult audiences." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Good, wholesome entertainment for family." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Excellent vehicle for Horton's particular type of humor. A clean, wholesome comedy. Family." Women's Film Only Club, Los Angeles

+ Fox W Coast Bull N 30 '35

"A hilariously amusing farceal comedy. An able well chosen cast, fast tempo and clever direction make this a highly entertaining picture. Family." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) N 18 '35

"Family." Nat Bd of R M N '35

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A, Y and C: Good comedy." Par M p54 Jr '35

"Laugh follows laugh in a picture which will please family audiences." + Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p13 O 26 '35

"A decidedly minor comedy which fails to be amusing." T. M. P. — N Y Times p39 N 16 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p60 N 16 '35

Film Curb p17 N 1 '35

"Engaging and highly individual comedy." + Motion Pict Daily p11 O 17 '35

"Family drama." N Y Exhibitor p31 N 10 '35

Variety p39 N 20 '35

HITCH HIKE LADY. D 15 '35 74min Republic

Players: Alison Skipworth, Mae Clarke, Arthur Treacher, Jimmy Ellison, Warren Hymer

Director: Aubrey Scotto

After receiving glowing letters about his ranch in California, an English woman decides to spend a small inheritance in visiting her son. He is in prison in San Quentin and has covered up his long absence by the story of a supposed fruit ranch. The mother, fleeced of her savings by a crook left stranded on the road to California. She meets some men of dubious character, and through their help is reunited with her son on a real ranch provided by the men and never finds out about her son's prison record.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"This is an amusing story. Family." + N Y Council of Jewish Women Ja 1 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A. Y and C: Good comedy." Par M p54 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p13 D 28 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"Good entertainment spiked with smart dialogue and clever situations. . . Picture is full of twists and surprises and the clever unfoldment of the plot lifts it above the average film family." + Box Office p33 D 28 '35

Film Curb p11 Ja 4 '36

"This has plenty of laughs and will please all types of audiences. It has a human story and Director Aubrey Scotto handled the pathos and comedy well." + Film Daily p10 D 17 '35

"Very good! It is an entertaining comedy, with human interest, and a pleasant romance. . . Suitable for all. [Family]." + Harrie's Reports D 28 '35

"This picture has plenty of box-office lure. . . It has fast-moving comedy that starts with a rush and ends with a laugh. Alison Skipworth shows her as good in emotional roles as she is with comedy." + Motion Pict Daily p4 D 12 '35

"A family type attraction, this production has the elements that make for substantial comedy entertainment. While there is nothing new or novel to the hitch-hike premise, the manner in which it is presented here carries an atmosphere of refreshing difference, as the factors of comedy, romance, action and deception are capably merged in dialogue and action. Moving to a fairly fast tempo, interest is created quickly, and though many odd twists are interwoven, that quality is continually maintained." + Motion Pict Herald p52 D 21 '35

"Estimate: good." + N Y Exhibitor p33 Ja 10 '36

"Best effort from Republic in a long time. Good entertainment on any double lay-out and should gain fair grosses in some houses soloing. . . Story is an achievement as conceived by Wallace MacDonald, the former screen player. Add to this some polished performances." + Variety p18 Ja 22 '36

"Republic has taken the topical subject of hitch hiking and with the aid of clever treatment, expert direction and capable assistance from all departments has molded 'Hitch Hike Lady' into a highly polished comedy. . . Alison Skipworth delivers an outstanding performance as the mother, who provides an undercurrent of pathos by her sincerity and faith in mankind." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 13 '35

HITCH HIKE TO HEAVEN. D 1 '35 65min Invincible

Players: Henrietta Crosman, Norman Houston, Anita Page, Herbert Rawlinson

Director: Charles Lamont

The domineering grandmother of a theatrical family has no patience with motion pictures in which her son is a shining star. An extra girl who plays in the grandmother's troupe is innocently cast as a correspondent in a divorce suit of the motion picture star. Because of the divorce suit's unsavory aspects, the star loses his popularity but learns to love the young girl.
Trade Paper Reviews

"It's all good stuff, a story of stage folk that is now and interesting and dramatic. It is expertly played by the leading characters. The production is above average."
+ Film Curb p9 Ja 25 '36

"[It] should do all right in the family houses. Giving the folks a bit of insight into the back-stage operations of Hollywood, and performed by a cast that contains plenty of good acting talent, this story of show life is generally entertaining despite the fact that it is nothing that is either radically new or particularly punchy."
- Film Daily p6 Mr 13 '36

"With some capable character actors, an interesting story, this should please the family trade."
+ N Y Exhibitor p39 D 25 '35

"An independently-made picture of show folk, 'Hitch Hike to Heaven' is both mediocre and fanciful. It has the odds against it in holding to the water level at the box office."
+ Variety p29 Mr 18 '36

"Picture is held up for better than average merit in its program class by skillful playing of principals and several members of supporting cast. Performances rate all the higher because they overcome handicap of conventional and, in spots, stodgy direction and mediocre photography."
+ Variety (Hollywood) p8 Ja 15 '36

HONG KONG NIGHTS. S 15 '35 59min Futter
Players: Tom Keene. Wera Engels. Warren Hymer
Director: E. Mason Hopper

"The story of the dangers faced by a young man appointed by the American Consulate in Hong Kong to capture an escaped American convict who is delivering guns and ammunition to the natives."
Int Fed of Cath Alumnae

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Good. Suitable for Catholic schools and family nights." Int Fed of Cath Alumnae + Fox W Coast Buf N 30 '35

Mo Film Bul p171 N '35

"A and Y: Action melodrama; C: Exciting for nervous."
Par M p54 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p30 N 23 '35

"Set in a Chinese locale, with the business of gun smuggling as its motivating force, this yarn has plenty of melodramatic action and suspense plus enough comedy to make it a generally satisfying program offering."
+ Film Daily p7 D 24 '35

"Mixed in with all this are Warren Hymer comedy, many fights, intrigue, authentic Chinese background, fast action. Family melodrama."
+ N Y Exhibitor p34 O 10 '35

(*HOT PAPRIKA. D 12 '35 18min Columbia
Players: Andy Clyde
Director: Preston Black

"Andy Clyde goes on a trip for his health to the Latin American republic of Paprika, where he runs afoul of the revolution, and gets himself in dutch with the government troops, Andy is lined up against the wall before a firing squad, and escapes by a fluke and saves the day for the revolutionists. Thus he becomes a national hero."
- Film Daily

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p48 Ja 18 '36

"Good Andy Clyde technique in a yarn that has plenty of action and excitement and a peppery senorita, Arthur Highway."
+ Film Daily p14 Ja 3 '36

"The offering definitely follows a formula vein and will be hard put to provoke amusement."
- Motion Pict Daily p11 Ja 7 '36

"This has few gags that aren't outrageously burlæsque. The result is silly, depending on Andy Clyde Motion Pict Daily p10 laugh by appearance and dumbness. Fair."
+ N Y Exhibitor p30 Ja 10 '36

HOUSE OF A THOUSAND CANDLES. F 29 '36 70min Republic

Director: Herbert Blachly

Based on the novel of the same title by Meredith Nicholson. "Story depicts vicious workings of an international espionage system, headquartered in an elaborate Parisian hotel overlooking lavish gambling halls and entertainment for nobility and tourists."

Variety (Hollywood)

Trade Paper Reviews

"A fast-action story of intrigue dealing with an European spy ring trying to outwit England. It is well-mounted, finely directed and [contains] standout performances by the entire cast."
+ Box Office p13 Mr 14 '36

"It is a pretty interesting espionage melodrama, which should entertain the average picture-goer fairly well. Suitable for all. Family."
+ Harrison's Reports Mr 21 '36

"Drama of international espionage, this offers everything new but the title. Well produced, with romantic love interest and comedy balancing the suspense of the motivating plot, the film has that quality which should interest general audiences... The character of the story plus the names gives the exhibitor a fair opportunity to develop an interest-creating campaign emphasizing the novelty of the adaptation. Based on the novel by Meredith Nicholson, the modern screen play is an intelligent departure from the original."
+ Variety Pict Daily p30 F 28 '36

"The subject of spies usually being an engaging topic, it is presented here in a manner that is both entertaining and of much showmanship availability. Previewed in the Fox Wilshire Theatre, Los Angeles deluxe neighborhood house. The audience watched the picture attentively and appeared to be deeply absorbed in the manner in which it pictured the workings of a world spy ring."
+ Motion Pict Herald p30 Mr 7 '36

"Republic has given this trite story an excellent cast of box office names plus a lavish production, topping average run of lot's product. Had it not been interpreted by a less screen treatment, it would have a chance."
+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 27 '36

(*HUNTERS' PARADISE. N 30 '35 10min Columbia
Players: Ford Bond

"Opens with a safari in India after tiger, then bird hunting with a cehetah as retriever, capturing alligators by hand, and rounding up

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
HUNTERS' PARADISE—Continued
fawns with dog and net. Best bits concern the corraling of kangaroos in Australia and the capture of a mountain lion in Western States with the help of a pack of highly-trained dogs.

Box Office

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Good."
+ Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36
"For adults not too sensitive."
Jt Estimates D 15 '35
Sei Motion Pict Ja '36
"Family."
Wkly Guide D 14 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"A variety of fairly interesting shots, not all new, show how game hunting is carried on in different parts of the world."
+ — Box Office p32 D 28 '35
"Out-of-the-ordinary hunting scenes, covering the globe."
Film Daily p4 D 12 '35

I

I CONQUER THE SEA. D 28 '35 68min Academy
Players: Steffi Duna. Stanley Morner. Douglas Walton
Director: Victor Halperin

"This tells a story of the whaling men of Newfoundland. Woven in is a romance, and the conflict which exists between the native whalers and the Portuguese cod fishermen of the village."
Motion Pict Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory. Not recommended because of subject matter or treatment."
N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A too tragic story. . . Lacking in comedy relief this picture almost falls into the category of educational features."
Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs
Fox W Coast Bui Ja '36

"A well chosen cast capably directed; magnificent shots of the whalers at sea and the return of the small craft with its prize, add much to the realism of this unusual and deeply moving picture."
+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ja 11 '36

"A deeply interesting story, beautifully produced and capably directed, I Conquer The Sea' merits high praise."
+ Nat Council of Jewish Women Ja 15 '36

"Objectionable in part."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A and Y: Thrilling sea film; C: Pretty strong."
Par M p54 Mr '36

"The plot is trite, that of two brothers in love with the same girl and the sacrifice one makes, but the scenes of harpooning and the simplicity of the fishfolk make an interesting and at times a thrilling tale."
+ — Wkly Guide Ja 18 '36

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"If 'I Conquer the Sea' were more skilfully cut and synchronized, if its interposed story were slightly less trite, it might be a really important film. The background of whale-hunting off the coast of Newfoundland is an excellent one, the picture is photographed with a breath-taking skill, and it is difficult to see how the acting could be improved. But somehow it just misses."
B. L.
+ Boston Transcript p3 Mr 7 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Good photography with some excellent whale-shotting shots that provide thrills and suspend. Family."
+ Box Office p49 F 8 '36

"An interesting, exciting and romantic tale of the Newfoundland whaling men. . . . It offers a novel and very entertaining feature for any class of theatre and is certain to be well liked."
+ Film Curb p17 Ja 18 '36

"[It] is a credit to the independent field, and tells a wide story and sincere story of the Nova Scotia whalers tied up with a love story that rings sincere. The production is marked by sincere naturalness and faithfully portrays the life of the folks in the little fishing village."
+ Film Daily p12 Ja 16 '36

"Pretty good entertainment. The interesting feature of this picture is the Newfoundland whaling country background, and the actual scenes of the fishermen harpooning a whale and bringing it in. These scenes are thrilling, for the task is not an easy one. . . Suitable for all. Very good for small towns. [Family.]
+ — Harrison's Reports Ja 25 '36

"The film has been well produced, and presents an interesting and occasionally exciting picture of the battles which result between the fishermen and their anticipated prey."
+ Motion Pict Daily p8 Ja 16 '36

"A drama of love, heroism and sacrifice told against the thrilling action background of whale hunting, 'I Conquer The Sea' offers much to engage the attention of showmen and audiences. . . Narrated in a simple, straightforward manner, with the quality of human interest always emphasizing dialogue and action, there is a realism and authenticity to the production that precludes anything savoring of theatrical artificiality."
+ Motion Pict Herald Ja 23 '36

"Estimate: for neighborhoods; twin bills."
N Y Exhibitor p29 F 10 '36

"As a whaling story, with all the thrills attached to harpooning expeditions, this may attract, but as screen entertainment it has extremely limited appeal. . . The effort to combine some truly vivid shots of giant whales being speared and a sketchy story is not aided particularly here either by the writing, acting or direction. . . Lack of humor is another detriment."
+ Variety p16 Ja 29 '36

"Excitement and tragedies of the Newfoundland whaling folk are effectively used in this novel background drama as considerably better than average, offering, from the story and performance standpoint."
+ Variety (Hollywood) p8 Ja 17 '36

I DREAM TOO MUCH. N 29 '35 95min RKO
Director: John Cromwell

"Two young music students are happily married until the girl's first and [her] husband resents her supporting the family. She arranges his operatic score as a musical com-
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A; Enjoyable; Y: Excellent; C: Mature but good.

Christian Century p94 Ja 15 '36

"Excellent." + Endorsed Motion Pict Js '36

"Lily Pons' glorious, crystal-clear voice in lilting, raffish, and adroit music lovers. Slow tempo. Mature." DAR

"The story plot is somewhat shopworn, and the production is overlong, but it is so permeated with beautiful music and with the charming personality of Lily Pons that these weaknesses can be easily overlooked. Directed with originality, it is wholly delightful entertainment. Family." E Coast Preview Committee

"A lively and pleasant story with some of the most charming music, well handled, and the singing. A couple of grand opera selections and new music by Jerome Kern. Family." Nat Bd of R

"This picture .. is above average entertainment. Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"To lovers of music, grand opera in particular, this picture offers much. . . Alcoholic marriages have always been frowned upon and using this method of bringing together the principals was a breach of good Judgment and good taste. . ." Nat Fed of Business and Professional Women's Clubs

"Of course, Lily Pons' birdlike notes dominate the film which is notable also for refreshing, comedy, and adroit turns of plot." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Delightful music, pleasing scenery, good cast, and direction, all tend to make a highly entertaining picture. Family." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Among the many delightful musical numbers, the star's rendition of the 'Bell Song' from Lakme' is memorable for its exquisite charm and clarity. Family." Mrs T. G. Winter

"The plot is perhaps stereotyped but because of the original humor, novelty of Parisian settings and skill of the cast, this fact does not detract materially from its entertaining qualities. This may be recommended as one of the better of the finer type of musical films. Adolescents: excellent; children: good." Wom'en's Univ Club, Los Angeles + Fox W Coast BuI D 21 '35

"Excellent. Family." Motion Pic Guide Mr '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage.

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A: Excellent entertainment; Y and C: Splendid.

Par M p54 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is the singing, Miss Pons's lively personality and the acting of the cast assembled around her that give the picture its merit. The story is far from original, and as are most such stories, to provide the setting for her songs. Though this department as a rule yields a great deal of admiration for Mr. Kern, the film might have been even better if there had been more operatic music. Miss Pons is no doubt attractive to sing for the movies. And there are other singers who can carry Mr. Kern's melodies, pleasant though they may be."

+ + Boston Transcript p5 Ja 2 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; - - Mediocre; - Poor; ---- Exceptionally Poor

"Miss. Pons reveals a talent for gaminerie besides her skill on her solo in this delightful operatic presentation of the Bell Song from Lakme', and singing several of the compositions of the late G. Ravel and D. Debussy."

+ Christian Science Monitor p13 N 13 '35

"The motion picture debut of petite Lily Pons, the fragile diva, will be a surprise to cinema followers, for they will find a sparkling, lovable nymphet, who carries from the stage of the opera a great voice that is set on film as naturally and capably as the performance. Following a well-established cinema comedienne, to the music and laughter of a musical comedy bubbling with fun." J. P. Cunningham

+ Commonweal p13 D 20 '35

"I will say that I, personally, get some of my best cinema thrills when one of the real singers is hitting on all eight—and I, myself, can't sing a straight line, like singing, but I hate singing, and I am going to see on one-man rampage if I have to listen to any more bloopers. The effect of singing pictures would be better if they expurgated everything but the singing. 'I Dream Too Much for Love' is excruciating; and in it getting its songs into the picture ... but it is another singer plot, just the same—but better than the usual plan, as the play is a singer plot, nevertheless."

Don Herold

Life p26 F '36

"Miss Lily Pons contrives to sing a little more in this film than in her last appearance at the Metropitan. It is said that she possesses moderate comedy sense. That may very well be, but perhaps not. May not the scenarists will permit her to prove it." Robert Stebbins

+ New Theatre p11 Ja '36

"(Miss Pons') English is not always as clear as it should be in the Kern numbers, but her voice is effectively recorded and registers with genuine emotional force. In addition, her acting in the scenes of gamin comedy with genuine charm and handles her emotional episodes as well as Marjorie Reynolds." Richard Wold

+ N Y Herald Tribune p15 N 29 '35

"Equipped with a good romantic story, hampered only slightly by slow direction, this new musical film is a horror for its occasion. The score is full of pleasant fantasy, the cast a handsome and engaging one, the score and Lily Pons's voice entertaining and delightful to music lovers."

Eileen Creelman

+ N Y Sun p36 N 29 '35

"Fortified by superb mechanical recording, Miss Pons is happily a thorough delight in this conventional and musically undistinguished tale." Andre Sennewald

+ -- Times p57 F '35

"Besides possessing one of the loveliest voices in the world, Miss Pons is an accomplished and attractive actress who can hold her own in the company of more experienced performers. One can see that the plot is not exactly striking, but, nevertheless, the little fable is so engagingly and humorously performed that it makes for an entirely charming little screen comedy. Chiefly, though, the film is concerned with giving Miss Pons chances to sing. She does beautifully . . All in all, the occasion is quite a triumph for both the star and screen."

Richard V.Boehnel

+ N Y World-Telegram p31 N 29 '35

"In general, the story is bright and lively. . . (Miss Pons) does so well that I feel she deserves the highest credit and I think that this film just misses being one of the great charmers. The trouble is that old one which always seems to dog musicals in motion pictures. Too much plot, Too much situation. There is less of that kind of thing here than usual, but there's enough to take off the fine edge of things." John Mosher

+ -- New Yorker p121 D 7 '35

"When the star is singing the entertainment is wholly delightful, but when the director insists upon following the dictates of the
I DREAM TOO MUCH—Continued—

scenarios, the film is deluged with narrative of lingering tendencies. Romance is its keynote, but John Cromwell, the supervisor, makes so many sidetrips in search of variety that the action is cluttered. Miss Pons does not sing often enough and more of her voice and less of the story would not be amiss." Louise Mace

Trade Paper Reviews

"Despite shortcomings of a thin story this is a delightfully entertaining picture with Lily Pons' marvelous singing alone worth the price of admission... Good direction by John Cromwell. Operatic-musical-comedy."

"Lily Pons has absolutely everything, including an accent which in itself is lovable."

"It's Miss. Motion FOUND. Film receptions."

"Lily Pons has a remarkable voice, she has genuine dramatic ability both in her comedy scenes and her dramatic interpretations."

"All they have promised for Lily Pons in her first role have been more than fulfilled. She is sensational. Besides a gorgeous voice, she has genuine dramatic ability in both her comedy scenes and her dramatic interpretation."

Film Daily p17 N 27 '35

"It also presents a newcomer to the screen, whose vocal ability is known, but whose flair for comedy is certain to provide a pleasing surprise to picture fans... It's almost certain that after this picture audiences will want to see her again."

Film Herald p70 N 23 '35

"Family comedy with music. 'I Dream Too Much' will not only bring to movie millions Lily Pons' voice, but it will reveal her as a comedienne who has more than her voice to mark her as potential starring material. Well produced, with no check on the production cost, the film aims not at class appeal but entertainment which should attract all classes."

"Songs are none too well spotted... Photography would have been good if the cameraman and the director had taken more care with close-ups."

Variety p15 D 4 '35

I FOUND STELLA PARISH. N 16 '35 84min

First national

Players: Kay Francis. Ian Hunter. Paul Lukas. Sybil Jason

Director: Mervyn LeRoy

A famous London actress with a prison record, desiring to protect her child, flees to New York where a reporter digs up the scandal of her past. Later he learns of her innocence and of her love for him.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory. Not recommended because of subject matter or treatment."

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Interesting; Y: Good; C: Beyond them."

Christian Century p1664 D 25 '35

"A well mounted picture that will hold its audience because of the chain of gripping dramatic events which are woven together by dialogue, settings, fine direction and acting. Adults and young people."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) O 30 '35

Adults and young people."

Jt Estimates N 1 '35

"Adults and young adults."

Film Daily p15 D 25 '35

"This is absorbing entertainment for adults.

Nat Council of Jewish Women N 1 '35

"Mature."

Wkly Guide N 9 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"I Found Stella Parish" is merely an ordinary Hollywood film, uninspired but mechanically close to perfection. All the English scenes in it, of course, are wrong... It has a cinematographic unity and coherence that would be remarkable if these qualities were not common to so many American films. The mechanism, for example, does not click..." D. W. Buchanan

Canadian Forum p15 Ja 3 '36

Christian Science Monitor p15 D 7 '35

"The entertainment [is] reasonably good..."

Marguerite Tazelaar

"Flowerly dialogue does not help to make the plot less preposterous, nor the characters more likable." Eileen Creelman

"A sorry tale and one that has but few redeeming qualities... Miss Francis' unfortunate line continues to plague this corner; it makes even the unprofitable notion that London could regard her Stella Parish as the Duse of the day." F. S. N.

"The background is authentic and the drama occasionally verges on melodrama." Springfd Republican p2 N 15 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p54 N 16 '35

"It is nothing remarkable, just a bit above average in the dramatic line."

Variety p15 D 4 '35

"A generally satisfying affair, especially for the women fans, chiefly because of the good performance by Kay Francis in a role that covers a wide range."

Motion Picture Daily p4 N 2 '35

"Family drama."

N Y Exhibitor p50 N 10 '35

I GIVE MY HEART. O 1 '35 85min Associated British

Director: Marcel Varnel

Made in England from the operetta The Du Barry, by Paul Knepler and J. M. Welfemski. "The story pictures the elevation of Jeanne, a Paris milliner, to the role of King's mistress in succession to the dead Madame Pompadour. The intrigue by which she is first married to the penniless Count Dubarry and then introduced to the queen, is presented in such a way as to avoid the cliche of a rival court faction is treated in a musical comedy vein." (Motion Picture Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

Mo Film Bul p146 D '35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; —+ Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
Trade Paper Reviews

"Gitta Alpar, from Vienna, has a series of good numbers and sings them all, particularly the title theme song, very well. She is the main appeal of the picture and her voice compensates for some shortcomings as a screen actress."
— Motion Pic Daily p6 N 14 '35

"It is also well staged and notably better costumed than many British efforts, and its best spectacular effects come at the right place — the end."
— Motion Pic Herald p66 N 16 '35

I LIVE FOR LOVE. S 23 '35 64min Warner Players: Dolores Del Rio. Everett Marshall Director: Busby Berkeley

In this light musical comedy a tempestuous actress quarrels with her leading man and later when he becomes a great radio star she falls in love with him.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

"Well mounted, this picture is ably cast, interestingly directed, has good photography, and the beautiful voice of Everett Marshall adds much to its entertainment value. Family." + — Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) S 3 '35

"Fine singing and beautiful clothes in an otherwise undistinguished film. Family." + — Jt Estimates S 15 '35

"Fair. Family." Motion Pic Guide Mr '36

"Family." Nat Bd of R M N '35

"A mildly amusing light musical comedy. Slow motion but good direction, beautiful stage settings, gorgeous gowns. Family." + — Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"Family." Wkly Guide S 28 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"A commonplace musical of back-stage life." — N Y Times p60 O 27 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p60 N 16 '35

"Only mildly entertaining and is only saved by some excellent comedy and some songs."
— Film Curb p11 O 15 '35

"Family comedy with music." N Y Exhibitor p38 O 10 '35

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

Christian Century p33 S 3 '35

"This lively comedy is beautifully mounted and presented. [It is] a most entertaining picture, adroitly directed, most fittingly cast, with Joan Crawford doing the best work of her career. Family."

+ — Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) O 5 '35

"Mature." Jt Estimates O 15 '35

Mo Film Bul p195 D '35

"It is amazing to discover that the most hackneyed, threadbare plot when adroitly directed, beautifully mounted and enhanced by a well chosen, capable cast, can emerge as good entertainment. The picture has no ethical valid and solves its problems, but the entire production is fast-moving, with clever dialogue, lavish stage settings and beautiful outdoor photography. Adults."

— Nat Council of Jewish Women O 1 '35

"A and Y: Entertaining: C: Little interest." Par M p54 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"W. S. Van Dyke's satirical directing touch helps largely in building up the laughter."

+ Christian Science Monitor p13 O 26 '35

"One of the better Joan Crawford pictures. Nonsense, really, but enlivened by W. S. Van Dyke's direction." + — N Y Times p55 O 20 '35

"An unusually alert series of tantrums and tussles."

+ New Yorker p 4 N 16 '35

Springf'd Republican p6c O 13 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p56 N 16 '35

Film Curb p16 O 1 '35

"Family comedy drama." N Y Exhibitor p35 O 10 '35

IF YOU COULD ONLY COOK. D 30 '35 75min Columbia

Director: William A. Seiter

"It tells of a man and a girl who meet on a bench in Central Park and, because the only suitable want ad demands a couple, apply for the jobs of butler and cook in a country estate and get them. The man happens to be a millionaire, head of an automobile company, and the girl the orphaned daughter of a college professor. The man happens also to be engaged to marry within a week. Naturally he falls in love with his supposed wife, the cook." N Y Sun

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

"A: Pleasing; Y: Very good; C: Good." Christian Century p208 Ja 29 '36

"A sparkling comedy that keeps one chuckling throughout. Very good." + Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36
IF YOU COULD ONLY COOK—Continued

"Excellent entertainment. Family." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"It is directed with a nice feeling for comedy values, and is excellently acted. Adults and young people." E Coast Preview Committee

"Jean Arthur delights with her naturalness, while Herbert Marshall's charm and ability will please. Family." Fred Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"A sparkling comedy that keeps one chuckling throughout. Mature." Internat Fed of Cath Alumnae

"Light and lively, Family." Nat Ed of R

"Excellent entertainment with wide appeal in its blending of romance and humor. Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

Audiences over 14: Nat Soc of New England

+ Fox W Coast Bul Ja 12 '36
Mo Film Bul p195 D '35

"Unobjectionable for adults." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A and Y: Entertaining comedy; C: Mature." Par M p54 Mr '36

Selected Motion Pict Ja 1 '36

"Highly amusing comedy of two people who hire out as cook and butler to a man who turned out to be a racketeer. Light and lively, Family." + Wkly Guide D 11 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p6 D 24 '35

"If You Could Only Cook" is a well-acted film, if you do not ask too much in the way of plausibility, and it will be found highly diverting." Laura elysts + — Canadian M p38 F '36

Christian Science Monitor p13 D 28 '35

"One of the unsolved, but amiable, mysteries of Hollywood is the facility which expert scenarists have for transforming a feather into an honest yard of dapper wool. The plot-structure of Columbia's new flippan comedy is neatly in the feather school of lightweight story-making, the resulting scenario is excellent, entertainment." + Lit Digest p22 D 21 '35

"Although the formula is familiar and the story cleverly done, despite the surprise, the play is managed with dexterity and lightness, and while you will find the work in a regulation plot tradition, you should enjoy its amiability and its easygoing romantic charm. Mr. Marshall and Miss Arthur are excellent in the leading roles, and Mr. Carrillo is effective in his characteristic part of jovial bandit. Lionel Stander, a really fine comedian, is immeasurably helpful as the gang chief's suspicious assistant, and the handsome Miss Ines court obviously deserves better things than the small and unimportant role of the routed flâncée." Richard Watts, Jr. + — N Y Herald Tribune p9 D 25 '35

"If You Could Only Cook" is a gay, light comedy conceived along the same lines as "Hands Across the Table" and "It Happened One Night." William A. Seiter keeps the audience chuckling from the first scene of a wedding rehearsal to that last extraordinary wedding sequence. Jean Arthur, at her forthright comedy best, and Herbert Marshall, not required to be at all noble this time, make a good romantic comedy pair. Eileen Creelman + — D NY Times p25 D 26 '35

"Herbert Marshall, wearing too often a hat like reporteurs are supposed to wear but seldom do, strives solemnly to coax the most out of the lead of [the film] but the texture of the production is too uneven. It has laughs but lacks pace. The sentimental touches which have marked films of the light-and-airy genre before have been applied again, although sparsely—and the inevitable result is like wooden handles on a fluffy green broom." M. B. — N Y Times p21 D 26 '35

"A merry movie full of light and laughter and it's all clean fun." Louise Mace + — Daily B Miscp D 26 '35

"If You Could Only Cook" has a quality most easily assessed as charm, which definitely compensates for such minor shortcomings as its title. + Time p28 Ja 6 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Smart, refreshing entertainment geared for laughter and pleasure. It will delight the average fan." + Box Office p23 D 21 '35

"An entertaining yarn, well acted and produced... Marshall, Arthur and Carrillo turn in fine, in the midst, performances, probably well directed and should have appeal for all classes. Quite a bit above general program grade." + — Film Daily p37 D '35

"Despite a story that is not of very great weight, this production has been handled with ingenuity and tempo that make it thoroughly palatable. One for the parlor. You'll like it. In the 'It Happened One Night' mood, with some good writing and continuous action to keep interest consistently keyed up." + — Motion Pict Daily p7 D 11 '35

"Though the story may be far-fetched, the acting (and) writing (are fine), with the result a show that can be strongly recommended. Family comedy." + — Exhibitor p38 D 25 '35

"In this far-fetched bit of whimsy there's a mixture of humor and heart-tugging that should appeal to any class of audience. Neatly blended, the performances are handled in by Herbert Marshall and Jean Arthur, while the direction has all that it takes to keep them absorbed. As in 'The Cinderella Story.'" + Variety p44 Ja 1 '36

"Old maquerade pattern of rich man posing as poor man to find true love has been delightfully refreshed in smart writing, capital direction and persuasive comedy performances in this one. Only minor drawback to picture is occasional slowing of pace—a little too much lagging in dwelling on the assumed man-and-wife relationship of the butler and the cook in the midst of the pieces."

+ — Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 7 '36

I'LL NAME THE MURDERER. Ja 27 '36

67min Puritan

Players: Ralph Forbes, Marion Shilling, Malcolm MacGregor

Director: Raymond K. Johnson

"Story depicts columnist as a one man police organization who, in opposition to the police and a special investigating organization, solves a very complicated double murder and brings gangster leader to answer for the crimes." Variety (Hollywood)

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
Audience Suitability Ratings
"Poor. General patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency F '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"A tale of a newspaper columnist that will fit in nicely in the smaller spots. It is not big-time by any means but is a pleasing piece of entertainment for the not too particular."
+ — Film Curb p12 F 22 '36

"With night club sequences, some singing that runs to the usual pattern, it has some fair performances throughout. Looks much more attractive than the usual low budget pictures. Estimated domestic box office."
+ N Y Exhibitor p59 Mr 10 '36

"Story and dialog are well written, but marred by faulty and jumpy editing. With faults eliminated it will bring picture up to the fair program class."
+ — Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 12 '36

IN OLD KENTUCKY. N 22 '35 81min 20th-century-Fox
Director: George Marshall

From play of same title by Charles T. Dazey. "Will Rogers portrays a story about the feud between two horse trainers. He has charge of a steed that runs best on a wet track, and a raider enters in the denouement wherein the heroine rides the winner in the time-honored way of this long-popular melodrama of the stage."
(Christian Science Monitor)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Good; Y and C: Excellent."
Christian Century p1574 D 4 '35

"Excellent. Family." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"A, Y and C: Excellent." Par M p64 Mr '36

"Family, Junior matinee." Wkly Guide N 9 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"Never has Mr. Rogers been so versatile or ingratiating as in this film. The familiar mannerisms, lovable as they were are less apparent. No longer does Will slouch through the film twisting up his face or rumpling his hair, but moves purposefully and gives several exhibits of tap dancing, modeled on Bill Robinson's, and almost as good as the original."
+ — Boston Transcript N 15 '35

Christian Science Monitor p16 N 16 '35

"The last of the Will Rogers films is likely to be regarded with mingled emotions. Possessing its pleasantly farcical humors and its traces of clumsy, plot maneuvering, 'In Old Kentucky' must be judged chiefly on your reaction to the posthumous sight of one of the nation's most revered figures indulging in extravgant comedy."
N Y Herald Tribune p10 N 30 '35

"This is a typical Rogers film, plenty of hokum, plenty of laughs, enough of the Oklahoma homely philosophy. Since it must be a farewell, it is well that this is a cheerful farewell."
"—Sun p8 N 30 '35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; —+ Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

"From the treasure trove of the old Charles T. Dazey melodrama, which first saw the light of Broadway back in Ninety-four and has run through two previous screen versions, Sam Hellman and Gladys Lehman have purloined enough material for a warm, human and jolly comedy. 'In Old Kentucky' can be listed as a first-rate comedy and a handsome epitaph to twentieth century America's first humorist."
F. S. N.

+ N Y Times p24 N 29 '35

Reviewed by William Boehnel
N Y World-Telegram p31 D 5 '35

"[The picture] is a rather minor affair."
John Mosher
— New Yorker p12 D 7 '35

"Will Rogers is gone but his memory will linger through the fine understanding and humorous readings he has given his screen characters."
Springfield Republican p6 N 21 '35

Time p16 D 9 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p30 N 30 '35

"In Old Kentucky' is a delightful comedy."
+ Variety p15 D 4 '35

IN PERSON. N 22 '35 81min RKO
Players: Ginger Rogers. George Brent
Director: William A. Selter

Based on a serial story of same title by Samuel Hopkins Adams. "A famous movie star suffers nervous breakdown when mobbed by an admiring throng at a personal appearance. Disguised as an unattractive bachelor maid, she seeks solituide in a mountain retreat with a student of nature, who penetrates her incognito with happy results." (Calif Cong. of Par & Teachers)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Perhaps; Y: Amusing; C: Little interest."
Christian Century p1066 D 11 '35

"Good."
+ — Endorsed Motion Pict D '35

"Adults: entertaining; 8-18: amusing; possible for family." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"The direction is slow moving, the cast too good for so trivial a picture which is somewhat redeemed by the beautiful dancing of Ginger Rogers. Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"The picture has plenty of action and the dialogue is amusing, but somehow the story misses fire as a satire on personal appearances. Good. Family. Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Nicely staged with some good dancing and singing, this film is acceptable family entertainment." Nat Soc of New England Women

"An undesirable Cabaret scene, in which Ginger Rogers dances on a table, is introduced, having no bearing on the plot, Mature." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Some good music and two clever dance routines for Ginger Rogers are included in this film. Family." Mrs T. G. Winter

"It makes no pretense at either plausibility or subtle characterizations, but it attains its mission of providing an evening of wholesome fun. 12-16: amusing; 5-12: no interest."
IN PERSON—Continued

Women's Home Life, Los Angeles.
— + Fox W Coast Bul N 16 '35

"Family."
Jt Estimates N 1 '35
Mo Film Bul p196 D '35

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A and Y: Rollicking comedy; C: Little interest."
Par M p54 Mr '36

"A romance, some lovely mountain scenery, clever dancing and singing give this picture its value. Fascinating."
+Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35

"Bright and literate with some incidental sly digs at movies, radio, and human folly in general. Family."
+Wkly Guide O 16 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p4 N 22 '35
Christian Science Monitor p13 N 23 '35

"This is Miss Rogers' first starring vehicle, and is pretty sad. The story is a pulp romance, and very dull. Here again
Mr. Tully's worth of entertainment for which theatres everywhere are getting from forty to eighty-five cents, with a chance sometimes in which usually is a case of minus instead of plus."
D H Holden
Life p21 F '36

"The film goes on being quite reasonably bright all through. . . . It is] a pleasant, easy little picture."
+ New Statesman & Nation p185 T 8 '36

"[The] vehicle is so feeble and so clumsily padded that it is not likely to cause much of a sensation. . . . and the thoughtless, instead of laying the work's defects by a third-rate script, are likely to blame it on the innocent Miss Rogers."
Richard Watts, Jr.
N Y Herald Tribune p18 D 13 '35

"The atmosphere is light, the idea fresh and the performances fairly spontaneous. . . . [It] is a pleasant comedy."
Eileen Creelman
+N Y Sun p56 D 13 '35

"With many a buff and a puff, 'In Person' works up some laborious fun out of the situation, prolonging it far beyond its normal life-span."
Andre Semnwald
+N Y Times p31 D 13 '35

"Among the complaints that may honestly be lodged against the narrative of 'In Person' are that it is pat and trilling and that it irritates away to nothing as it is unresolved.
The story of a spoiled and headstrong woman who is finally brought to her senses by a strong hero who ignores her is a fairly standardized one by now. That in itself, however, is not a serious criticism, because, if it were treated as a gay and frolicsome entertainment. Since the present version of this theme is told in a heavy-handed manner and is altogether lacking in invention, it perhaps is pardonable if we point out that what it resolves itself down to is the traditional tug-of-war between two headstrong characters, with nothing to distinguish it from countless other variations of the same plot. . . . Only middling fair is the best that can be said of 'In Person.' "
William Boehnle
+N Y World-Telegram p31 D 13 '35

"The Ginger Rogers movie has its bright spots, what with Miss Rogers herself being involved in evidence throughout most of it.
Oddly enough, Hollywood has seized the occasion to show off one of its pretty stars as a Tramp.
The plot demands it, and Miss Rogers doesn't shirk the problem. . . . The whole sketch has its mildly lively incidents, a number of them which somewhat solidified, to be sure, by George Brent's rather unbending behavior. I should add, perhaps, that though Miss Ginger has a chance to do a turn or two on her toes, she has no hope of Astaire measures in this little comedy,"
John Mosher
— + New Yorker p89 D 21 '35

Spring'd Republican p1c Ja 19 '36

Time p41 D 16 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p58 N 16 '35

"[The picture] can be depended upon to keep an audience in rare good humor throughout its presentation."
+ Film Curb p9 N 15 '35

"RKO has done handsomely by Ginger
Rogers' first starring film, providing George Brent as the leading man, light romantic comedy and good songs."
+ Motion Pict Daily p7 O 30 '35

"The picture, while being different in every way from those featuring Miss Rogers and Fred Astaire, does provide Ginger with ample opportunity to exercise her singing and dancing foresight."
Motion Pict Herald p57 N 9 '35

"Family comedy."
N Y Exhibitor p36 N 25 '35

"Away from the Fred Astaire partnership, which catapulted Ginger Rogers into radiance as a screen satellite, 'In Person' is an unfortunate debut starring effort for her. It may fetch an abnormal amount of negative comment at the expense of Miss Rogers when it's strictly a script fault."
— Variety p12 D 18 '35

INDESTRUCTIBLE MRS TALBOT. See Lady consents (new title)

INVISIBLE RAY. D 30 '35 72min Universal
Players: Bela Lugosi, Frances Drake. Boris Karloff
Director: Lambert Hillyer

"Deep in Africa, a scientist discovers an invisible ray that contains all the destructive and part of the beneficial qualities of cosmic creation. When his domestic happiness is threatened he uses the ray to turn killer."
Box Office

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class B. Pictures in this classification are judged to be unsatisfactory. Not recom-manded because of subject matter or treatment."
N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '35

"The ensuing fantastic story is rendered plausible by a highly imaginative script, good cast and excellent photography. Adults:
thrilling; 14-18: interesting; 8-14: no."
Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Good. Mature."
DAR

"One of the most logical and plausible fantastic mystery tales yet brought to the screen. Adults and young people."
E Coast Previon Committee

"Family."
Nat Bd of R

"The change in a scientist from a man of intelligence and poise to that of a madman infused with radium poison is not pleasant to behold. Adults."
Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Adult."
Nat Fed of Business & Professional
Women's Clubs

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; +— Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
“Interesting and very well photographed, this film will fascinate audiences over 14 who enjoy the gothic and pseudo-scientific.” Nat Soc of New England Women

“An impossible fantasy with no constructive value. The drinking scenes are objectionable. Motion Picture Daily, Council of Fed Church Women

“Although some excellent astronomical slides are used to enhance credibility, the whole idea is based on false principles of science. Adolescents of the older groups; children: no.” Women’s Univ Club, Los Angeles

“Far West Coast Bul Ja 13 '36

“The story is convincingly told; the direction thoughtful and intelligent; each member of a most able cast gives a realistic performance; its purpose and conveys the beautiful undertone of all an exceptional entertainment for the mature audience.”

+ Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) Ja 8 '36

“A spectacular and fantastic thriller of the horrific type... Suitability: adult. It is very definitely not a film for children or for the nervous of any age.” Mo Film Bul p25 Ja 27 '36

“A: Horror melodrama; Y and C: No.” Par M p54 Mr '36

“A thrilling and dramatic horror story...” Wkly Guide Ja 4 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Reviewed by Marguerite Tazelaar

N Y Herald Tribune p8 Ja 11 '36

“Universal, which seems to have a monopoly on films of this sort, has made its newest penny dreadful with technical ingenuity and the gross hopes of frightening the children out of a year’s growth. There is evidence, too, that Carl Laemmle wanted to ‘boo’ to matinee audiences. In a printed foreword is the legend, ’Which you are now to see is a theory whispered in the chambers of science. Tomorrow these theories may startle the universe as a fact.’ ‘Boo’ right back at you, Mr. Laemmle!” F. S. N.

N Y Times p8 Ja 11 '36

“If the object of a horror film is the terrorizing of the timid moviegoer let us doff our caps to ‘The Invisible Ray,’ which in lieu of subtler qualities to keep its plot moving, substitutes a medley of pseudo scientific experiments, gruesome murders and vandalism. Granting the premise, then, that not much sense is ever expected from a shocker, ‘The Invisible Ray’ is incredibly crude but very effective, and it is built on such solid foundations as to be in the ranks of the superior horror films. ‘The Invisible Ray’ is something extraordinary, something unusual. Although ‘The Invisible Ray’ is nothing to write home about, it is, in spite of its unbelievable antics, fairly exciting.” William Boehnel

+ - N Y Word-Telegram p21 Ja 11 '36

Spring’s Republican p2 Ja 15 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p38 D 7 '35

“It packs the chills and thrills and all fans who like this sort of entertainment will go for it. It is a bit above average popular entertainment.”

+ - Film Curb p16 Ja 18 '36

Film Daily p3 Ja 11 '36

“A well-produced horror melodrama; it holds one in tense suspense. But the material is extremely light and the拍 closing scenes leave one with a sickening feeling. Too gruesome for children, adolescents, or Sundays. Adult entertainment.”

+ - Harrison’s Reports Ja 11 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; - Poor; - - Exceptionally Poor

“On the whole the film is good entertainment, interest-holding and enjoyable, and largely without the ‘horror’ theme which has featured many of the films of Karloff and Lugosi.”

+ Motion Pict Daily p4 Ja 11 '36

“This production is a typical Karloff-Lugosi shudder picture and therein lies its entertainment values... Of interest is the fact that Karloff appears without the distorted makeup of his ‘Frankenstein’ pictures...”

+ Motion Pict Herald p39 Ja 25 '36

N Y Exhibitor p43 Ja 25 '36

“It isn’t blood-curdling to the point achieved in some Hollywoodian efforts but it is different and fairly entertaining... Scenes in Africa are a bit absurd but the radium idea and the power it generates makes a grand excuse for horror stuff.”

+ - Variety p18 Ja 15 '36

“‘Invisible Ray’ deservedly will stand among the top productions in Universal’s fine gallery of exciting and entertaining... ‘Invisible Ray’ is a successful example of a picture on which the studio virtually has a patent... It will fulfill every entertainment requirement wherever bizarre and macabre melodrama is relished... Karloff has never done a more impressively macabre character nor given a more credible and well carried performance. Transition of the scientific zealot to the mad destroyer is superbly managed.”

+ Variety (Hollywood) p9 Ja 11 '36

INVITATION TO THE WALTZ. N 14 '35 80min Associated British Players: Lillian Harvey, Wendy Toye, Carl Esmond, Harold Warrender

Directed By Wul Merzba

Made in England. “An English dancing girl is asked by the British ambassador to Wurtzbourg to influence the impecunious duke to sell his army to the Allies instead of to Napoleon. She is in love with an officer, who is ignorant of her mission and who assumes that she has become the duke’s mistress. Napoleon descends on the city, the dancer is captured and the officer faces court-martial for trying to arrange her escape. The girl and benevolently arranges for her to carry off her lover concealed in a trunk.” (Motion Pict Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

Mo Film Bul p146 D '35

Trade Paper Reviews

“The production has not made the most of the material or of the artists, the general atmosphere being one of staginess. The American appeal of the picture seems likely to be slight.”

+ Motion Pict Daily p7 O 30 '35

“The waltz theme is well used and generally the musical background is attractive, but the production as a whole is not very expert and many good situations are inadequately used.”

- Motion Pict Herald p65 N 16 '35

IT HAD TO HAPPEN. F 14 '36 78min 20th century-Fox

Players: George Raft, Rosalind Russell, Leo Carrillo, Arline Judge, Alan Dinehart

Directed: Roy Del Ruth

Based on the novel, Canavan, by Rupert Hughes. “The story concerns around [a city laborer] and his fast rise in the political life of New York and the romance that won the hand of the country’s richest girl.” (Holly- wood Reporter)
IT HAD TO HAPPEN—Continued

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Implausible and ethics twisted. Usual Raft 'acting' and English. A: Depends on taste; Y: Better not; C: No."

— Christian Century p115 Mr 11 ’36

"Adults: entertaining; 11-18: doubtful; 8-14: no." C Calif Council of Ped Church Women

"Mediocre. [It is] a highly improbable romance, Mature." DAR

"The story is lacking in idealism and the picture spares us none of the sordid and depressing details of the game of politics. Adults. Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Very handsomely mounted, this far-fetched story presents an undercurrent of rotten politics and deals very casually with divorce and remarriage. Tense dialogue and accurate atmosphere. Adults." Nat Sec of New England Women

"Adults will find it an absorbing picture, interesting in its characterization and motivation, will enjoy its clean wholesome entertainment, and children will like the humor and drama." S Calif Council of Ped Church Women

"This unlikely story is made plausible and thought provoking by skilful direction and excellent character interpretations. Adults and young people." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) F 8 ’36

"Adults and young people." Jt Estimates F 1 ’36

"Could this picture have been intended for satire? Anything can happen in America and something does, but this promise is hardly clever enough to put over its thesis, assuming that it has one. Adolescents, 12-18: no; children, 8-12: no." Motion Pict R Mr ’36

"An implausible story is made somewhat convincing because of a capable cast... Illogical episodes and a dubious ending detract from its value." Adults. Nat Council of Jewish Women F 5 ’36

"Fair. Objectionable in part." Nat Legion of Decency F ’36

"Adults and young people." Sel Motion Pict F 1 ’36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The followers of Raft will be pleased to see him in a role unlike the others he has played, one which in my opinion makes demands upon him beyond his ability to meet satisfactorily. Twentieth Century presents him as an actor instead of as a type. As a type he has distinction: as an actor he has his weaknesses, Miss Russell, though, is a delight. The story is somewhat slow in getting under way, in letting us know what It is going to be about, but when it gets going it moves along briskly. It is not a story you will believe readily, but it will hold your interest, and that is all that matters."

— Hollywood Spec p7 F 15 ’36

"Though it is somewhat less than compelling cinema fare, 'It Had to Happen' is a satisfactory movie of the unpretentious sort. The surprising and most gratifying thing about the picture's theme is that it shows how Raft can handle a comedy scene when given the chance." (3 stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p28 Mr 21 ’36

"Could you do anything with George Raft and a script about how the humble ditch-digger, turned honest politician, won the heart of Manhattan's most elusive and richest jewel?"

— New Theatre p24 Mr ’36

"On the whole, it is rapid, amusing, artificial entertainment." Marguerite Tazelaar Herald Tribune ’36

"As entertainment 'It Had to Happen' seems to me to be woefully inert and childish and this in spite of the fact that it has in its cast the charming and talented Rosalind Russell who does her best to help matters along." William Boehm World-Telegram F 15 ’36

"Rosalind Russell, still a rookie Myrna Loy, and Raft, whose arrogance may be taken as an expression of his delight at not having to do a rumble, give Raft, act it pleasantly enough."

— Time p58 F 24 ’36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Well-knit success story of lowly Italian emigrants' rise to political power and wealth."

— Box Office p25 F 29 ’36

"It is an entertaining bit of business."

— Motion Pict Daily Pl0 F 22 ’36

"It's a typical Hughes story and if you like this author perhaps you'll enjoy this picture, it must be said that Raft does better work than usual while the balance of the cast is quite satisfactory. Direction cannot be complained of and the production is up to 20th Century standard."

— Film Daily p13 F 1 ’36

"Not even the combination of George Raft and Rosalind Russell can save this from being just ordinary entertainment. It is all talk instead of action. Not for children or adolescents. Good entertainment."

— Harrison's Reports F 22 ’36

"Good entertainment, with George Raft in the best part he has had in ages, acting it with his best ability. That's the rating of Darryl Zanuck's latest, 'It Had To Happen'."

— Hollywood Reporter p3 Ja 27 ’36

"Built on a popular, semi-topical theme, this is a comedy-drama, with all the earmarks of an attractive feature."

— Motion Pict Daily p25 Ja 25 ’36

Motion Pict Herald p14 F 15 ’36

"'It Had To Happen' should have no trouble all the way down the line. Estimate: good program anywhere."

— N Y Exhibitor p37 F 25 ’36

"'It Couldn't Happen' would be a more appropriate title for this picture. A lot of good production is tossed away, in it is an extremely unworthy subject. Rosalind Russell, co-starred with and playing opposite Raft, wears some stunning [clothes] and gives a near performance, but she's always up against the problem of seeming real in unreal situations. An error was committed in giving Raft several too lengthy speeches. Raft's playing weakness, outside of character roles, is permitted to show up too prominently ever so often, particularly in the anti-climactic recrimination scene in which he pleads himself out of a bribery indictment."

— Variety p12 F 19 ’36

IT'S A GREAT LIFE. D ’36 ’35 ’41 min Parramount

Players: Joe Morrison, Paul Kelly, Charles Cawtell, Steve Sale, Rosalind Keith, William Frawley

Director: Edward F. Cline

This tells the story of two young men who join a Co. Camp. They find the going rough in the camp under the leadership of a war-hardened sergeant. They both fall in love with the same girl and after one shows his heroism and rescues his comrades during a terrific forest fire, the other steps out and lets him win the girl.

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Picture Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Good. Family." Motion Picture Guide Mr '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A: Moderately diverting; Y and C: Interesting and wholesome." Par M p54 Mr '36

Sel Motion Picture Ja 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p15 Ja 11 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"There is not much of a plot and the best we can give this is just program fare."

+ — Film Curb p12 Ja 25 '36

"Ordinary program fare. The story is inane, and the action slow. The production is hardly worthy of a Paramount release. Suitable for all. [Family]."

— + Harrison's Reports Ja 18 '36

"Mild, it is suitable only for family, type, small town or neighborhood audiences."

+ — N Y Exhibitor p33 Ja 10 '36

IT'S IN THE AIR. O 11 '35 80min MGM

Director: Charles Reisner

"Two young men, living by their wits, through shady activities, inadvertently become heroes through a stratosphere adventure." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Feeble; Y: Dubious ethics; C: No." Christian Century p1606 D 11 '35

"A light entertaining comedy, suitably cast and well directed. [Family]."

+ — Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) O 5 '35

Mo Film Bui p146 D '35

"Good. Adults and young adults."

Motion Picture Guide Mr '36

"An excellent cast and competent direction, realistic photography are responsible for the success of this farce. Because of questionable ethics, the picture is suitable for adults only."

+ — Nat Council of Jewish Women O 1 '35

"A: Farce; Y: Amusing, if unethical; C: Doubtful."

— Par M p54 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p3 N 9 '35

Liberty p23 N 16 '35

Reviewed by Marguerite Tazelaar

N Y Herald Tribune p15 N 8 '35

Reviewed by Eileen Creedman

N Y Sun p15 N 8 '35

N Y Times p18 N 8 '35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

"An engaging bit of nonsense with some good and some not-so-good gags in it." William Boelhower

+ — N Y World-Telegram p11 N 11 '35

Time p53 O 28 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p56 N 16 '35

"It's all nonsense but highly amusing."

+ — Film Curb p7 O 15 '35

"It's not a pretentious picture, but it does appear to be one that has entertainment to offer."

+ Motion Picture Herald p66 N 16 '35

"A laugh show that can't help but please those who like their fun. Family comedy."

+ — N Y Exhibitor p34 O 25 '35

ITTO. Ja 28 '36 90min Eureka

Directors: Jean Benoit-Levy. Marie Epstein

This film was made in Morocco and has English sub-titles to translate both the native dialect and the French language. Ja [11] is a drama of North African tribesmen involved in war with the first white men they have ever known, the conquering French. Dissension between the various tribes, with some of them going over to the French, leads to tragedy for the young hero and heroine." (N Y Sun)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Very good. Objectionable in part."

Nat Legion of Decency F 36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Although it may provide documentary reportage on the difficulties of tribal conquest in Northern Africa, it is singularly devoid of dramatic compulsion. Even as imperialistic propaganda the work falls far short of conviction. It does not redound to M. Benoit-Levy's credit that he has lent his name, if not his talents, to such an unmitigated piece of jingoistic nonsense. The best that can be said of 'Itto' is that the photography, at times, is extraordinarily effective." Howard Barnes

+ — Y Mail Tribune Ja 30 '35

"'Itto,' because of the authenticity of its background—Hollywood art directors could never get the feeling of that harsh yet picturesque landscape—and because its time seems almost as real as its setting, is the most vivid of all the Moroccan melodramas. . . Had the acting been equal to the opportunity, 'Itto' might have been an important picture." Eileen Creelman

+ — N Y Sun p26 Ja 29 '36

"'Itto,' the new importation contributes more to the cause of French imperialism than it does to that of entertainment. . . Scattered, unhappily, at too-distant intervals through the film are some brilliant episodes and photographic studies which make one regret all the more that 'Itto' was not what it might have been." F. S. Nugent

+ — N Y Times p15 Ja 29 '36

"Although 'Itto,' the new French film won a prize at one of the late concerts at the Venice International Exposition last year, it has none of the qualities which put 'La Maternelle,' 'Crime et Châtiment' and 'Maria Chapdelaine' among the first flight screen entertainments. . . 'Itto' is a puffy little weakling celebrating romantic life in the Atlas Mountains of Morocco, with feeble shots of native customs and ceremonial in it to give it an authentic flavor. The only one who does reasonably good work is Simone
ITTO—Continued

Audience

Berriaus as Itto; the others try, but are handicapped by the wearisome circumstances under which they labor." William Boehm

— N Y World-Telegram p19 Ja 29 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"This latest French importation is a superior travelogue of Morocco and contains a weak story upon which the direction of Jean Renoit-Levy and Marie Epstein is lost. The film may be acceptable for 'little theatre' audiences with its high technical skill and photography which is a treat to the eye." Motion Pict Daily p2 Ja 30 '36

IVORY-HANDLED GUN. O 30 '35 59min Universal

Players: Buck Jones. Charlotte Wynters. Frank Rice

Director: Ray Taylor

"[The] action revolves around an ivory-handled gun that is in the possession of a clan which has been engaged in a long feud with the Jones side. Jones' mission is to recover the gun and reestablish the Jones family. In true hero fashion, he accomplishes the job." Film Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Catholic News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A, Y and C: Usual Western." Par M p41 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Film Curb p14 D 1 '35

Film Daily p8 N 19 '35

"Buck Jones is up to his usual standard in this rough and tumble Western. There is plenty of gunfoting and shooting, horseback riding and hand-to-hand encounters which meet all requirements of the fastidious action seekers."

+ Motion Pict Daily p7 O 31 '35

"Family Western." N Y Exhibitor p36 N 25 '35

"Contains usual number of implausible situations and incredible stunts, but will get over with the Western fans. . . Frank Rice turns in neatest rough-and-ready Western characterization uncovered in horse operas for months. Head and shoulders above others here though supporting cast is satisfactory. Charlotte Wynters is welcome relief from usual sugary heroines of these pictures, though a slightly English accent is incongruous."

+ — Variety p15 Ja 22 '36

Judgment Book. N 1 '35 61min Beaumont

Players: Conway Tearle. Bernadine Hayes. Howard Lang

Director: Charles Hutchinson

In this tale of the lawless west, a group of cattle owners ruthlessly dominate a town and its citizens. A young man comes out to ruin the town newspaper after the death of his uncle and soon learns of the dictation of the group. When they attempt to intimidate him as they had his uncle, he determines to clean them out.

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A, Y and C: Good action Western with picturesque scenery." Par M p54 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"An outdoor drama that is different. Tale of frontier days offers excellent entertainment. Plenty of fast-action and excitement when Tarpe cleans up a lawless town."

+ Film Curb p18 N 1 '35

"The picture may be satisfactory as the second half of a double feature program, since it has at least a portion of the expected Western action."

+ + Motion Pict Daily p7 D 26 '35

"Family Western." N Y Exhibitor p38 N 25 '35

Just My Luck. N 11 '35 76min New Century

Players: Charles Ray. Anne Grey. Eddie Nugent

Director: Russel R. Heinz

"Ray is cast as an emplee in an automobile tire factory. He has perfected a rubber substitute which he is unable to make his employers inspect seriously. Buffeted about, and made the butt of practical jokes, Ray drifts through the picture until his employers, faced with a rubber shortage, send for him to investigate his substitute. His company's competitors have meanwhile engaged labor agitators to call a strike at the plant, and keep Ray away from the office. In the ensuing melee Ray is knocked down many times before things are settled and he wins the girl. Anne Grey, his employer's daughter." Motion Pict Daily

Trade Paper Reviews

"Ray has a poor vehicle for his attempted comeback. [The] familiar character he made famous is seen again."

— Film Curb p15 D 1 '35

"Charles Ray works very hard in this picture to revive the character of the abused awkward boy which he made famous, but handicapped by a weak story and production which lacks professional finish, only in occasional flashes does he achieve his purpose."

+ — Motion Pict Daily p8 N 11 '35

"Just My Luck. Isn't strong enough to attract, although the star turns in a sincere, effort-taking performance. Family comedy drama."

— N Y Exhibitor p56 D 10 '35

(*)Kannibal Kapers. N 21 '35 7min Columbia

Director: Charles Mintz

"Krazy Kat starts off in the middle of the ocean and is flung by a fish into a palm tree on a tropical isle. He tries to entertain the cannibal chief and enragies the regular entertainers." Motion Pict Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family-junior matinee."

Wkly Guide Ja 11 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"This is a fairly-amusing cartoon."

+ — Box Office p18 Ja 18 '36

()KANNAKIB KAPERS. N 21 '35 7min Columbia

Director: Charles Mintz

"Krazy Kat starts off in the middle of the ocean and is flung by a fish into a palm tree on a tropical isle. He tries to entertain the cannibal chief and enragies the regular entertainers." Motion Pict Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family-junior matinee."

Wkly Guide Ja 11 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"This is a fairly-amusing cartoon."

+ — Box Office p18 Ja 18 '36
"The cartoon has clever [joke sequences], and moves fast."
+ Film Daily p11 Ja 3 '36

"[It has] little novelty. . . An ordinary cartoon offering."
— + Motion Pic DAILY p11 Ja 7 '36

"In the absence of any interesting plot, Mintz has savages run through various dance forms and the hot-cha orchestra display the versatility with instruments that only a cartoon will allow, the result is so-so. Fair."
+ — N Y Exhibitor p31 Ja 10 '36

KIND LADY. D 15 '35 78min MGM Players: Aline MacMahon, Basil Rathbone.
Doris Lloyd; Donald Meek
Director: George B. Seitz

Based on the play of the same title by Edward Chodorov, which in turn was taken from a short story, The Silver Mask, by Hugh Walpole. A kind lady, collector of famous art treasures, befriends a needy stranger who turns out to be a suave and vicious leader of a gang of art thieves. As a guest in her house he torments and terrorizes her, in a weird assortment of characters, prepares to sell her collection, and so completely frightens the observer and discover that she cannot inform anyone of her predicament. In the finale, she does get new to the outside and finally triumphs over the gang.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. Approved for adult audiences."
N Y Archdiocesan Motion Pic Guide

"Of no interest to children. Very good for adults."
+ — Endorsed Motion Pic Ja '36

"Adults: very good; 14-18: good; 8-14: no interest."
Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Poorly edited and directed. Mature."
DAR

"An outstanding picture by dint of splendid direction, expert acting and excellent photography as well as a sympathetic and exciting narrative. The director has fully utilized the possibilities of an atmosphere of sinister mystery, the effect of which is aided by appropriate musical accompaniment. Adults and young people."
E Coast Preview Committee

"This attention-compelling melodrama, well cast and acted, with notable characterizations by Aline MacMahon and Basil Rathbone, is intensified by effective music and settings. Adults and young people."
Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"An excellent cast and fine direction, because of rare ability, only succeed in making this unpleasant story more morbid and depressing. Adults."
Nat Council of Jewish Women

"This tense mystery story by Hugh Walpole will please those who like the unusual in picture entertainment. . . Suspense and interest are sustained until the very end of the picture because of good direction and sincerity of the cast. Adult."
Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"A sinister story filled with painful details and offering anything but entertainment."
Nat Soc of New England Women

"There is very little relief, and somehow the conclusion, though satisfactory in strength, is weak."
So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Characteristic of Walpole's stories of the Herries clan, filled with evil forebodings and odd people, it is directed with understanding of its singular moods and tenses and is well cast. The suspenseful machinations of vul-

... The New York Times...

urty-like crooks preclude its suitability for young children. Adults."
Mrs T. G. Winter

"One of the few really strong pictures for the young audience that the summer term offers. Adults."
W Fox West Coast Bul D 21 '35

"Unobjectionable for adults."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A: Spellbinding melodrama; Y: Tense; C: No."
Par M p54 Mr '36

Sel Motion Pic Ja 1 '36

"Unusual in plot, with a fine melodramatic tenseness. Mature.
+ — Wkly Guide D 7 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p34 D 7 '35
Film Curb p18 D 15 '35

"There is a fair amount of strong action and suspense, but the story as a whole does not make very comfortable amusement.
+ — Film Daily p3 D 27 '35

"This melodrama is too horrifying for sensitive young minds. It deals with children, adolescents, or Sundays. Adult entertainment."
Harrison's Reports D 21 '35

"Director George Seitz builds suspense, once the plot starts, with a scene where the gang cloes in on Miss MacMahon. This serves as a tense moment. The gang is almost entirely British, gives good performances."
+ Motion Pic DAILY p8 N 29 '35

"On paper this production promised much. On the screen it results in so much plot and so little entertainment that few can understand what it's all about. . . As screen material, it is a demonstration that if there are to be double bills, there must be double bill pictures.
+ — Motion Pic Herald p68 D 7 '35

"Generally a melodrama that has been well handled, considering the material, it is, however, restricted in the name division, should please best in neighborhoods."
N Y Exhibitor p35 D 25 '35

"Stands out as one of Miss MacMahon's best acting contributions, with Rathbone running her a close second. Chief flaw is the tedious build-up to a fairly intriguing plot."
+ — Variety p58 Ja 1 '35

KING OF BURLESQUE. Ja 3 '36 83min 39th century-Fox

Players: Warner Baxter, Jack Oakie, Alice Faye, Charles Quigley, Gregory Ratoff, Arline Judge, Dixie Dunbar

Director: Sidney Lanfield

Based on the novel Day Never Came, by Vina Delmar. Not satisfied with the sure profits of the dime trade in cheap burlesque, a producer risks his fortune in one mad gamble and moves to Broadway over the protests of his partner. He becomes the undisputed king of lavish musicals until he meets a once wealthy society girl who, hard pressed for money, consents to a marriage. She inspires him to stage three "arty" plays which are failures and after he loses all his money she leaves him. Then a fake millionaire, his old partner and the soubrette from his former burlesque aid him up the ladder of success once again.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory. Not recommended because of subject matter or treatment."
+ — Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

... The New York Times...
KING OF BURLESQUE—Continued

"Originality in scenario treatment lifts this film out of the category of 'just another musical show.' Adults: good; 14-18: good; 5-14: unsuitable. Filmmaker." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Trite account. Mature." DAR

"An entertaining picture with clever dialogue. Family." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Interesting picture. Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"The plot is of course one of the old standbys, but the picture makes excellent use of the talent assembled. Adult." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Light entertainment for the family with some interest for young children." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Family." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"A good example of this type of picture. Family." Family Film Analyst, Winter

"Old story but with fresh handling it is made into fast-moving, entertaining drama. Family." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

+ Fox W Coast Bui Ja 4 '36

"Good. Family." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"Objectionable in part." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A, Y and C: Jolly comedy romance." Par M p54 Mr '36

"Jolly entertainment." + Wkly Guide Ja 4 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p4 Ja 25 '36

Christian Science Monitor p15 Ja 11 '36

"The musical comedy film never strays very far from the formula of its school, but it is lively, good-looking and tuneful, and for these reasons it should be greeted as one of the pleasant entertainments of the new cinema season. Although the plot is not enormously stimulating, it is serviceable enough as a framework for the music and the production numbers, and, above all, for a number of exceptionally bright bits of the wisecracking, fastidious back-stage of the school, which lose nothing from the expert delivery of Jack Oakie and Miss Arline Judge. Richard Watts, Jr.

— N Y World Tribune p14 Ja 16 '36

"[This is] one of the fastest, liveliest and most tuneful musicals the season has witnessed. . . 'King of Burlesque,' being a story of show business, is strikingly original in neither plot nor atmosphere, not even in characterizations. That is surprisingly unimportant in this case. [It] is a nice piece of work." Edwin Creelman + N Y Sun p20 Ja 16 '36

"If you are willing to overlook the antiquity of the fabric and concentrate on its trimmings, 'King of Burlesque,' may be set down as one of the screen's more entertaining ventures in the musical comedy line. . . Our advice is to overlook the story entirely and concentrate—as you probably will without being told—on the comic pursuits of Jack Oakie and Arline Judge. . . never formed so seriously as contenders for comedy crowns." F. S. Nugent + N Y Times p25 Ja 16 '36

"It would have been a great deal heartier if its topic were less familiar. But it is entertaining enough for a pleasant and agreeable hour in the cinema. In a less skilfully played and directed production the narrative's banalities would be more apparent. But because the players and the director bring a certain freshness and vigor to it 'King of Burlesque' emerges a reasonably entertaining film." William Boehnel + — N Y World-Telegram p15 Ja 16 '36

"The little acts and songs and bits that are scattered through this woof story are quite funny and refresh a spectator who might otherwise be oppressed by the revelations of highbrow fidgets." John Mosher + — N Y Sun p63 Jr p65 Wk 4 '36

"'King of Burlesque' is [a] one of the year's best muscals." + Time p28 Ja 6 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"[It] will capture any audience from New York's Broadway to the most obscure main streets. Tuneful laughter, a fine show for every showman and every patron." + Box Office p25 Ja 4 '36

"The old backstage story brought forth again and it is only mildly entertaining. It will provide fair entertainment for the fans but they aren't going to rave about it." + — N Y Curb p13 Ja 4 '36

"Only fair. There is nothing offensive in the story, and so it is suitable for all [Family]." + — Harrison's Reports Ja 18 '36

"Twenty-fifth Century—Fox is hitting a handsome stride in musicals with its second tuneful film ringing a positive bong on the well-known bell. . . Oakie was never funnier than in his Jolson imitation and churning Jaguar scene. Arline Judge, determined on marriage, is a perfect foil for the rapid-fire bufonery, Baxter makes the extremes of the mood count; Miss Faye scores in the song and dance numbers; Miss Barrie is charming and convincing as the social registerite, and Dixie Dunbar draws individual applause in a dance." + Motion Pict Daily p6 D 24 '36

Motion Pict Herald p49 Ja 4 '36

"Estimate: Satisfactory anywhere. . . The picture is packed with laughs, most of them furnished by Jack Oakie who gives a sterling performance. Production is noteworthy both in supervision and intelligent handling of the story. Dialogue is excellent, writing by the Markay-Tugenb combination. Their continuity flows easily, is well written. James Seymour has made a good adaptation of the none too original Vina Delmar story." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 21 '35

KING OF THE DAMNED. Ja 20 '36 75min Gaumont British

Players: Helen Vinson, Noah Beery, Conrad Veidt

Director: Walter Forde

Based on the play of the same title by John Chancellor. The film was made in England. Conscripted in the Devil's Island penal colony unable to bear the harsh treatment of the gaolers, mutiny and run away over his own account. Under the leadership of Noah Beery they turn the island into a communal workshop. In the end they surrender on a promise that they will receive justice.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide + Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

+ — Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
“Adults... Though not entertaining in the usual sense this timely theme is thought provoking.”

Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) Mr 1 ’36

“The tempo is slow and there is no comedy relief in this story of bitterness and revolution. Adults.”

Nat Council of Jewish Women Mr 4 ’36

“Unobjectionable for adults.”

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 ’36

“A: Social drama; Y: Mature; C: No.”

Par M p54 Mr ’36

“Adults.”

Sel Motion Pict F 1 ’36

Wkly Guide Ja 25 ’36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“Finely sincere acting by Veidt and Helen Vinson make this better than just a scene of horror.” Laura Elston

+ Canadian M p88 F ’36

“Mr. Veidt, rarely seen these days, is forceful in the role and has the excellent help of the still rare screen personality, Noah Beery.”

Lit Digest p39 Ja 25 ’36

“So obvious, sensational and blatant is the story that it is doubtful whether the cruel and unjust deal to the tortured prisoners will depress you too much... The film, while not rapidly wastes too much time over certain sequences and is not always clear in its story-telling as it might be. The lighting, while effective, in its shadow quality and atmospheric feeling, leaves something to be desired for the strained eyes of the spectator, and the other camera work proves most too self-conscious.”

Marguerite Tazelaar

+ N Y Herald Tribune p4 F 1 ’36

“Although ‘King of the Damned’ deals with a penal colony in the Caribbean and possesses most of the elements necessary for blood-curdling melodrama, it has been put together in a lax manner and its story has been permitted to become so preposterous that the result is pretty mediocre in every respect.”

William Hendrick

+ N Y World-Telegram p21 F 1 ’36

“This is a minor film about a penal settlement of some unnamed country on some unamed island in the Caribbean.”

John Mosher

- New Yorker p69 F 8 ’36

“The story of a wicked commandant and a mutiny led by a convict with ideas of social reform is unconvincing.”

Graham Greene

+ Spec p50 Ja 10 ’36

“A penal colony story, enlivened by floggings, garrottings, and miscellaneous misery... You never care much whether they end up as heroes or shark bait.”

Stage p3 F ’36

Trade Paper Reviews

“A regular he-man’s picture. Should please in practically any situation.”

Film Curb p9 F 8 ’36

“The British studio went heavy on the depressing phases of this penal colony drama of Santa Marta and overlooked the good possibilities for building the romantic side of the story between Conrad Veidt and Helen Vinson... So also the whole is a rather heavy and stodgy recital of a revolt plot engineered and carried through successfully by Conrad Veidt, and the whole reliance in sight is the grand work of Noah Beery as the tough convict sentenced to death and his fellow-prisoners.”

Film Daily p6 F 1 ’36

“This British made melodrama is good entertainment, suitable for American audiences, particularly men... It may be a little strong for children. Good for adults.”

Harrison’s Reports F 1 ’36

“‘There is fighting aplenty and it is hair raising stuff in the scenes of the convicts capture of the barrack square and of the shelling of the settlement from a cruiser... Veidt is a very fine revolutionary, but many will respond to the emotional appeal of his last demand for justice for the oppressed, which nevertheless does not quite lift the film out of the class of effective melodrama.”

- Motion Pict Daily p4 Ja 15 ’36

“In sheer strength of incident and in scale of production the film has strong values. Outstanding are scenes in which the revolting convicts, paraded for the garroting of one of their comrades, storm and capture the barrack square; grimly original also are the episodes in which the captured officers are made to welcome officers from a cruiser and to pretend that all is well, because the convict servants who wait at table have pistols... Its appeal, which is definitely to adults, rests almost entirely on the exceptional realism of its details and the strength of the revolt and execution scenes, reinforced by the fact, already indicated, that it can be sold to certain audiences, and that part of the story will be an indication of the system of punitive settlements.”

+ Motion Pict Herald p39 Ja 25 ’36

“Made on a scale that indicates no expense was spared, ‘King of the Damned’ is well produced melodrama with packed action and performances. Moving rapidly, strong on suspense, with excellent mob scenes, it will please melodrama lovers and any filmgoer will prove satisfactory.”

- N Y Exhibitor p26 F 19 ’36

“Force, who rates high as a native producer, made the most of the exciting scenes, and despite occasional patches where it doesn’t convince, the film generally has plenty of punch.”

+ Variety p19 Ja 15 ’36

KING SOLOMON OF BROADWAY. S 16 ’35

Tomin Universal

Players: Edmund Lowe, Dorothy Page, a Pinky Tomlin, Edward Pawley

Director: Alan Crossland

This musical melodrama tells how a debonair partner in a Broadway night club loses his interest to a gangster in a game of poker, rescues a wealthy girl who has been kidnapped and re-wins his palace of revelry.

Audience Suitability Ratings

“A: Depends on taste; Y: Unwholesome; C: No.”

Christian Century p1471 N 13 ’35

“While the presentation is attractive, photography good, Pinky Tomlin and his music pleasing, the production and most adequate, the picture is not constructive because of the tawdry story and much unnecessary drinking. Adults.”

- Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) S 25 ’35

Mo Film Bui p147 D ’35

“A lavish social drama... Moments of good entertainment are afforded by Pinky Tomlin who steals every scene in which he appears.”

Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 ’35

“A and Y: Waste of time; C: No interest.”

Par M p55 Mr ’36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“All of this should somehow make for more excitement... Good hearty melodrama is few and many is to be found in this curiously outdated melodrama of what once was called the Great White Way.”

Ralph Watts, Jr.

N Y Herald Tribune p8 O 19 ’36

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
Review Digest

KLONDIKE ANNIE. F 28 '36 80min Paramount

Players: Mae West, Victor McLaglen, Philip Reed, Harold Huber

Director: Raoul Walsh

"In self-defense, Mae kills the wealthy Chinese, who has been keeping her cooped up as an entertainer in his resort in San Francisco..." The New York Times, p9 O 27 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p30 N 28 '35

Film Curb p19 O 1 '35

"Family melodrama." N Y Exhibitor p37 O 10 '35

KISS ME GOODBYE. D 9 '35 66min Celebrity

Players: Arthur Riscoe. Naunton Wayne. Magda Schneider

Director: Carmine Gallone

Made in England, "The theme is that of two London playboys hitting Vienna, meeting a little heroine directitch spot, and promoting her into a musical comedy by a ruse of getting the director of the opera to hear her sing against his will. Then the old stuff of the little girl making good in a big way. The two London lads who are both in love with her realize that they must be good sports and save their friendship by losing the girl." (Film Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A" Y and C: Passable. Par M 55 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"A charming Viennese actress, Magda Schneider, makes her bow to American audiences in this foreign-made musical. Miss Schneider's pleasing singing voice, captivating accent and attractive smile will carry her far if she is given the proper material. Her present vehicle has few entertaining qualities, the star and the supporting players struggling valiantly, but unsuccessfully, with a weak story and inferior direction."

Box Office p35 Ja 4 '36

"This production is so far inferior to the independent product from Hollywood in the same field of musical romance that it is outclassed in every respect. Miss Schneider alone is worth while. She has real talent and personality, but the inept story and direction leaves her sunk. Add to this good photography, and that's all the most kindly critic can say for it."

Film Daily p4 N 30 '35

"A fair musical picture of program grade. Suitable for all. [Family]."

- + Harrison's Reports Ja 4 '36

"The star sings effectively and the film's music is attractive, but the story is almost too light... The comedy elements are fairly well handled with an occasional touch of slapstick."

- + Motion Pic Daily p4 N 30 '35

"The production ends on [an] indecisive note and because of it the picture suffers from lack of completeness. The ending, however, is in keeping with the whimsical tenor of the story, which is perhaps too light. The singing sequences and the comedy help to balance the production and its dearth of story value."

- + Motion Pic Herald p83 D 14 '35

"What is for British audiences a fine musical comedy is not necessarily entertaining for our own people. [The] picture is often recorded badly, has little plot, has a parochial viewpoint."

N Y Exhibitor p40 D 25 '35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; - Poor; - Exceptionally Poor

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Disgusting; Y: Unwholesome; C: No." Christian Century, 21 Apr 18 '36

"It is most evident, however, that this picture is made to exploit the particular talents of Mae West with the usual wise-cracking innuendoes for the adults." Auxiliary

"The dramatic situations are so evidently created for the purpose of giving full scope to Miss West's peculiar talents that there is hardly a note of sincerity in the whole production. Her reformation seems but a temporary one and the questionable taste of her actions and dialogue is very apparent. Adults." E Coast Preview Committee

"Quite shameless is the characterization of a Christian woman which must give rise to well-merited objections. Replete with insinuations, the picture is a typical Mae West vehicle with the usual amount of risque and pungent wisecracks and obvious sex appeal. Adults: matter of taste." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (West)

"Mae West, limited to one type of role, labors valiantly to give vitality to an improbable and shoddy story. ...'Klondike Annie' is a misrepresentation. ...it is a contrivance designed to exhibit Miss West's robust good nature and her flamboyant personality without skin deep character. A good deal of this picture is in questionable taste. Adults." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"A combination of sophisticated farce and melodrama, this film will undoubtedly meet adverse criticism in many quarters. Nevertheless, it is a definite dramatic structure, the acting is very real and the motivation is logical. It deals, of course, with a side of life ignored in polite society, but it is without a feature of genuine truth. Definitely adult." Nat Soc of New England Women

"A picture full of questionable and suggestive dialogue and action. The masquerade [of a Christian worker, Mae West] still seems to bring her love life, [also] the situation the creation in the Settlement House, will not meet the approval of any member of the Protestant Churches. Even the men mission-aries of the Settlement. The picture is a direct insult to the many good self-sacrificing men and women who enter this field of work. Not recommended."] S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bul F 29 '36

"It is difficult to gage the entertainment value of the film for our own people. Mae West has been a born woman too long for us to be sympathetic when young heroes emote over her as a 'lovely girl.' It falls because its motivation is too limited to attempt to cum- oufully excite the young and inculcate the views of the good, and vulgarity is at the expense of religious missionaries. Miss West's field is too limited to attempt to cum- outfully excite the young and inculcate the views of the good, and vulgarity is at the expense of religious missionaries. Miss West's field is too limited to attempt to cum- outfully excite the young and inculcate the views of the good, and vulgarity is at the expense of religious missionaries.

Motion Pict R Mr '36

"In spite of its attempt at compromise and the obvious concessions the humor is the same alone presents to her public. In attempting to avoid censorship the production merely becomes ludicrous.

- Addlecents 12-15: No; children, 8-12: No." — Nat Council of Jewish Women F 19 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The truth is that La West needs to change her act. The rolling gait, the husky tones, the words slightly slurred, even the form of the dialogue are very familiar by now. There's a singular lack of inventive technique in her acting. Not only is she the same in one part after another, but there is an unvarying stasis in her characterization. She can be amusing the first or second time. But by the fourth or fifth she is taking a toll of the audience. Her audiences are still impressively large. But they used to roar with laughter. Now they only look and sit, as a rule." — Boston Transcript p4 F 29 '36

"In Mae West's new picture the Production Code Sapollo missed a spot or two. Mae West says that she is going to be married, but the double entendre and the question-and-answering taste, through talking and acting limitedly." J. P. Cunningham

Commonweal p534 Mr 6 '36

"'Klondike Annie,' is not worth seeing but its career will be well worth watching. If Paramount is foolish enough to release it generally, it is going to be met with an uproar of protest by all the organizations which stand for good taste and decency in screen entertainments. The whole thing reveals the functioning of a foul mind at the peak of its odor. Picture is so poor a disgrace not only to Paramount but to the entire film industry. And it bears the purity seals of the organization." — Hollywood Spec p5 F 20 '36

"'Klondike Annie,' Mae West's outspoken history of a bad woman turned revivalist, is the picture she has ever made. It is dull, dirty, and poorly played. Its noisy attempts at robust life are contrived with self-conscious leering. (1 star) Beverly Hills Liberty p29 Mr 21 '36

"As long as Miss West is moving about in the select underworld set of San Francisco, she is in the old-time form and is as vulgarly amusing as only she can be at her best. For the rest of the time, however, her vehicle and her performance are both dull. As they are cheap, and that is no small tribute. 'Klondike Annie' is vulgar without being funny and rowdy without being gay. Any- way, I think we've had enough of Miss West for a while." — Richard Watts, Jr. "Herald Tribune" p4 Mr 12 '36

"It is somehow the most distasteful role Miss West has yet played. Mae West as a comedienne burlesquing sexy dramas is not nearly as crude as Mae West in plays where she plays a sentimental worker's bonnet talking of religion and good deeds. The reformation seems as phoney and artificial as the spoofs in this film. "Klondike Annie," dullest film she has made, is both the cleanest and the most offensive. " — N Y Sun p20 Mr 12 '36

"Mae West's 'Klondike Annie' really does not merit the agitation it has caused. Neither as sanitarily as vulgarity suggestive as many of her earlier pictures, it emerges on the screen as a tiresome and rather stupid combination of false odor and slapstick japes. It is, of course, highly ironic that the more she attempts to please the censors the more she disappalls them. It is unfortunate that there can be no truce between Miss West and the censorship. Under West's direction there is no place on the screen for her form- er Rabelaisian humor; but there is no place anywhere for the stupid subterfuge under which West now is trying to pass as comedy. We found 'Klondike Annie' quite unconvincing, quite witless, quite archaic and quite a bore." — F. S. Nugent — N Y Times p18 Mr 12 '36

"Among the complaints that may safely be lodged against 'Klondike Annie,' the new Mae West picture, are that it is feeble, sham- bling, bogs, completely lacking in good taste and thoroughly dull. Even if there weren't sufficient reasons for excoriating the film for its bad taste, it could still be condemned on the grounds that it is about as tiresome an offering as has come along in weeks. It has a few brief moments in the beginning when it is amusing. West's acting ambles along aimlessly and tiresomely, trying to get its laughs by some bewhiskered jokes and at the expense of the organization and of someone thought would be funny but which is indecise, insensitive and tasteless. In the end, when it has finally run its course, the ninety minutes of valuable time have forever disappeared." — William Boehm — N Y World-Telegram p19 Mr 12 '36

"Also a surprise to scientists, Miss Mae grows less surprising to her public as she continues to be the same Mae in picture after picture. The old-time Mae is still about. Her personality should not be asked to alter the general line of her behavior, perhaps, and in the deadly dullness of it all, the public seems to be content to stand by. As usual, the comedy depends mainly upon the incongruity between Mae's up-to-date wisecracks and their 'fin de siecle background.'" — Time p14 Mr 9 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Of course the picture is a bit risque but it wouldn't be a Mae West yarn if it wasn't. McLaglen is swell and balance of cast okay. Direction and production [are] all that could be asked for. It's another West success." + Film Curb p14 F 15 '36

"The picture is Mae's all around. She still has the same sort of put-upon personality that only she knows how, and her fans like her in this number. Under Raoul Walsh's direction the plot moves along smoothly with interest held throughout." + Daily Film Daily p3 F 10 '36

"It takes La West back to the nineties where she is at her best. The efficiency with which the unsavory aspects of the plot, is a better tailor- made vehicle than her last two modern stories. It is nothing if not a sincere attempt to be expressive. "Klondike Annie," will be toned down before release. Unlike previous West pictures, situations rather than lines offer the humor and, in some scenes at least, the style. This is where Mae changes clothes with the dead Sister. It is unnecessary to show the flash of the dead woman with her hair curled and dressed in filmseys. Other dangerous situations are the relationship with a philosopher and some of the things that are said from the settlement platform.
KLONDIKE ANNIE—Continued

— Hollywood Reporter p2 F 5 '36

Previewed in the Alexander Theatre, Glendale. Audience reaction vividly depicted thrill and surprise that might be interpreted as shock.
If creating controversy based upon objection to some moral and ethical character of the picture can be construed at this time as being desirable exploitation or interest-creating asset, audience reaction gives every indication that this should appease the most rubicid.
— Motion Pict Herald p14 F 15 '36

"Back to 'She Done 'Em Wrong' technique, Mae
West should turn in a good gross in 'Klon Idike Annie,' again the bad woman who turns straight, who has a penchant for double entendres, Mae swaggers through the picture, handing out laugh lines between melodramatic lines in theme, the picture may not be for children but looks as if it is made for showmen.

+ N Y Exhibitor p34 F 25 '36

"Newspaper attacks will probably pulmot the chances of this one materially. As a picture it is again Mae West with the same formula of rape. This is no longer enough.
The mission scenes are merely the peg for some canted biblicism and a farcical development that may give more offense to earnest church workers than anything since Chaplin's 'The Pilgrim.' It is in this, rather than the supposed indecency, that offense is apt to be found.
And it is unnecessary...
Miss West really ought to let someone else have a word as to her stories. There is a rough, if unpalatable humor in the mission scenes...
But in general the picture lacks centre points.
'Annie' is badly told, insincerely acted and largely lacking in the saity quips anticipated.
— Variety p17 Mr 18 '36

"Subject matter contained in 'Klondike
Annie' is highly controversial, will possibly be considered in bad taste by many a fan.
Nevertheless, picture is well produced, acted and directed, should please those who rave over La West's personality, her ability to handle broad characterizations...
The story falls down. Dialogue is the usual type for Miss West, in spots extremely stupid in order to build up to a blackout finish for the star. There's plenty of double entendre spotted throughout the picture, handled in Miss West's best vein.

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 5 '36

KNOCK-OUT. F 28 '36 85min Bavaria-film
Players: Anny Ondra. Max Schmeling. Hans Schonrath
Director: Karl Lamac
Dialogue film made in Germany with English subtitles. Also called Ein Junges Mad-chen—Ein Junger Mann. 'A story about the rise of a prize-fighter and his romance with a pretty blonde.' (Film Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Unobjectionable for adults."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"Fairly entertaining."
Film Daily p6 Mr 2 '36

"'Knock-Out' proves that Max Schmeling is still alive with his mitts but that the acting to be done in his family will be done by his wife, Anny Ondra. Both are in the film, but the only thespian ability is displayed by Miss Ondra... Even with its apparent flaws, this feature should prove a welcome change of pace for German-speaking houses.
+ Variety p27 Mr 4 '36

LAC AUX DAMES. Ja 14 '36 90min Franco-American
Players: Simone Simon. Jean-Pierre Au-
mand. Rosine Desran. Michel Simon. Odette Joyaux
Director: Marc Allegret
Based on the novel, Martin's Summer, by Vicki Baum. The film was made in France and his English Tut-tut, but practical and impoverished engineer acts as a swimming instructor at a famous Austrian resort hotel. There he meets Puck, an elfish young girl whose father owns an estate on an island. She loves him but he in turns falls in love with Danielle, a daughter of a wealthy manufacturer. Danielle's father is opposed to their marriage and he takes his daughter away.
Ill, starving, Eric is found by Puck whom he tells of his love for Danielle. Puck realizing he will never love her, brings Danielle back to him.

—

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. Approved for adult audiences."
N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 35 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"'Lac Aux Dames,' belongs to the ymph school of literature, with its portrayal of puckish character and thin bohemian situation.
The practical French have attempted to nail its flight to solid earth. The film, rather practical and impoverished engineer acts as a swimming instructor at a famous Austrian resort hotel. There he meets Puck, an elfish young girl whose father owns an estate on an island. She loves him but he in turns falls in love with Danielle, a daughter of a wealthy manufacturer. Danielle's father is opposed to their marriage and he takes his daughter away.
Ill, starving, Eric is found by Puck whom he tells of his love for Danielle. Puck realizing
he will never love her, brings Danielle back to him. Very likely the picture has been badly cut, for its string of episodes does not always make sense... Most of the stories set against a beautiful background of the Austrian Alps, and the lovely lake which plays such an important part in the story. The swimming exhibits are handsome. M. Jean-Pierre Aumont (Eric) proving himself an excellent swimmer and diving with a breath-taking speed, and the carefree, sunny atmosphere surrounding the indolent vacationers is refreshing." Marguerite
Tazelaar
+ N Y Herald Tribune p14 Ja 16 '36

"The views of the Tyrol are so stunning that they completely over-shadow the fragile little love story. The film is rather young, but slightly in its plot, and whatever moderate pleasure it affords is due to its lovely backgrounds and to its pleasant players." William Boehnel
+ N Y World-Telegram p19 Ja 22 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"This is an enjoyable love story, filmed in the beautiful background of the Tyrol, with some music and dancing, and acted by an excellent cast. Principal player is Simone Simon, a very engaging actress, who is now at the 20th Century-Fox studios in Hollywood."
Film Daily p12 Ja 16 '36

"This French importation of the adaptation of a story by Vicki Baum presents strong and interesting drama... Largely devoid of action, the film nevertheless tells an interesting story of young romance and its trials and happy-ness."
Motion Pict Daily p8 Ja 16 '36
Trade Paper Reviews

"Truex does a neat bit of comedy work throughout." + Film Daily p10 O 30 '35

"[It] is a reasonably entertaining comedy of the usual Truex variety. For once Truex does not come out the loser." + Motion Pict Daily p9 N 7 '35

"The story is slightly effeminate... . Fair." + N Y Exhibitor p27 N 10 '35

"Mildly amusing. Not enough devotion to detail. As a romance it might have been squeezed out of [a] couple of fair and off-usual-track situations." — Variety p15 D 18 '35

LADY CONSENTS. F 7 '36 75min RKO
Players: Ann Harding, Margaret Lindsay, Herbert Marshall, Walter Abel, Edward Ellis
Director: Stephen Roberts

Ann Harding portrays a young woman in love with her husband who consents to a divorce when she realizes that he is in love with another woman. As it becomes apparent that the second wife has married only for social position and luxury, the husband is very unhappy. Over the death bed of his father, he meets his former wife and they renew their love. After a divorce, they are remarried.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Interesting; Y: Doubtful; C: No."

Christian Century p311 F 19 '36

"Intelligent action, pointed dialogue and amusing repartee, with considerable casual drinking and tricky manipulation of situations which brings about the inevitable happy ending. Mature." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Excellent. Mature." DAR

"This variation of the old triangle theme is well and smartly done. Adults." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"The story is of no particular value and the picture of smart society with the implication of continuous casual drinking is not edifying. Distinctly, an adult film." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Full of human interest. Mature." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"The easily managed marriage, divorce, and remarriage of the principals involves a good deal of deception, and is part of an understanding wife, but the picture makes such things seem rather like a pleasant way of breaking the monotony of existence. Adults." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

+ Fox W Coast Bul F 1 '36

"Adults and young people."

Gen of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ja. 22 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor

"There is a general atmosphere of drinking, gaming and easy divorce. Adults."

Nat Council of Jewish Women Ja. 22 '36

"Objectionable in part.

A: Dramatic romance; Y: Mature; C: No." Par M p55 Mr '36

"The production is to be commended for its dignified treatment of an important and ever-present problem of modern life. Adults and young people."

+ Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is a neatly played conversation piece." Laura Elston

+ Canadian M p42 Mr '36

Christian Science Monitor p13 Ja. 25 '36

"The Lady Consents' can not be singled out as a production of outstanding character, being merely another one of which the largest part of the screen is constructed. J. P. Cunningham

+ Hollywood Spec p10 Ja. 18 '36

"In 'The Lady Consents,' Ann Harding, the screen's Public Enemy No. 1, shows what a large amount of anguish a wayward husband can cause a wife. Miss Harding suffers consideration though she does attempt at times to hide her broken heart behind feebie and heavy-handed wisecracking. Though most of the film is skated over in beggared knees and charming Ilka Chase and Walter Abel give the film some good moments, Edward Ellis, who plays Mr. Marshall's father and who finds it a trifle difficult to reconcile the couple, steals the show. But stealing 'The Lady, Consents' is, at least, only petty larceny." Beverly Hills

+ Liberty p50 F 29 '36

"Ann Harding deliberately relinquishes that most relinquishable and stubborn of ex-Juvenile delinquents, Herbert Marshall, to the scheming Margaret Lindsay. Eventually, Marshall returns to his senses and returns to Ann. Everything returned but your money at the box office."

+ New Theatre p24 Mr '36

"Unless the cinema is deceiving us once again, the word 'lady' must have been invented for the exclusive use of Miss Ann Harding. Always you will see Miss Harding as a victim over the powers of evil by the sheer force of her personality. In fact, it is my fear that she is so filled with spiritual sweetness that she ends by making you just a trifle resentful of so much spiritual beauty. But this is too small a criticism. The real virtue of the picture is that it presents Miss Lindsay in the proper sort of role. Hitherto she has striven chiefly to prove that she is less than perfectly equipped for such a role. As a shallow and selfish villainess she is admirable, and one is pleased if she makes such unsympathetic parts she will be vastly successful in her cinema career." Richard Watts, Jr. N Y Herald Tribune p7 F 8 '36
LADY CONSENTS—Continued

"The screen’s leading exponents of suffering nobility, Ann Harding and Herbert Marshall, exhibit their customary gallantry and restraint under fire, but even in The Lady Consents, for all its expected talk of good sportsmanship and its tears behind the smile, is much livelier than most of Miss Harding’s dramas. . . The trouble with it probably lies in the writing of Miss Lindsay’s part. This is a heavy handed characterization, bad and obvious in its conception as its dialogue. Miss Lindsay, dressed almost as Miss Harding, has little chance to make the scheming Jerry a human being. Because of that, the drama becomes little more than a charade in which to exhibit the stars in the type of role in which they have played so often and so profitably." Eileen Creelman

— N Y Sun p25 F 5 '36
N Y Times p23 F 8 '36

"It twitters aimlessly along for some eighty minutes or so, and when it is over leaves the cinema just about where it found it. . . Some of the film’s monotony is relieved by the good acting of the cast. But in spite of its efforts The Lady Consents remains one of the least interesting of the current cinema’s entertainments." William Boehnln
— N Y World-Telegram p25 F 5 '36

"The story of a disrupted home, told in homely and cliché." — Stage p8 Mr '36

"Ann Harding has a clause in her contract which permits her to select her own stories. The only kind of stories she likes are those in which she appears as a lady who, disappointed in love, eventually gets what she wants by mouthing whimsicalities beneath a stiff upper lip. "The Lady Consents," true to type, is less painful than most of Miss Harding’s pictures." + — Time p18 F 17 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p29 Ja 25 '36

"The three leads are almost perfect and Edward Ellis turns in a remarkably fine performance. It is natural that every story and the lady will go for him. This is the sort of entertainment that should fare well in both the big and small town theatres. An attraction that can be shown in practically any class of theatre.

+ Film Curb p15 Ja 18 '36

"Well handled triangle drama, nicely directed and acted, with special appeal for women." + Film Daily p7 Ja 14 '36

"Good! It is an interesting marital drama, with deep human appeal. Although the plot is of the familiar triangle variety, it is somewhat more significant than pictures of this type because of the unusual relationship between the wife and Edward Ellis, the father-in-law. . . Not for children or adolescents. Good for adults." + Harrison's Reports F 1 '36

"This is dramatic romance with smart dialogue and intriguing situations." Motion Pict Daily p4 Ja 13 '36

"A picture that should make audiences laugh much and maybe sob a bit, it’s a story of heartache, sacrifice, frustration and triumph of love, the ordinary appeal to women." + Motion Pict Herald p41 Ja 18 '36

"Smart from the first camera turn, likely to be most pleasing in class sectors, it will probably have its troubles in the mass neighbor-plays the part of a young woman whose lover is killed in the war. She is compelled by her father to rear her illegitimate child as her sister. When the child grows up, complications in her love affairs cause the mother much anguish, but in the end all turns out well.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Good; Y: Perhaps; C: No interest."
Christian Century p115 Mr 11 '36

"Adults and young people." E Coast Preview Committee
Fox W Coast But F 22 '36

"Adolescents, 12-16: no; children, 8-12: no." Motion Picture P 36

"Unobjectionable for adults."
National Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Although the theme, that of the interference of parents in the lives of their children, has universal appeal, the tame and complicated story moves slowly and is not deepened, by the unconvincing melodrama which dominates it. Adults and young people."
— Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

"Mature."
Wkly Guide F 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Ruth Chatterton returns to the screen after an uncommonly long absence in a motion-picture likely to divide film-critics into bitter, sullen camps. Already, is Hollywood's 'No More Yesterdays', Columbia's 'Lady of Secrets' has caused critical division. 'A daring, dramatically high-lighted story of maternal love, told without pulling punches, but with fine subtlety and restraint, gives the [film] appeal not only to the Chatterton and Kruger followers, but to the vast audience of entertainment seekers,' the Hollywood Reporter decides after seeing the film. No such commendation, however, is found in the criticism in the Hollywood Daily Variety, which bluntly, and with pungent phrasing, offers an entirely critical view."
Lit Digest p20 Ja 11 '36

"It can be said for Miss Chatterton that no matter how poor her material she gives freely of her talent, never stooping to walk through a line of dialogue offered an indifferent performance. Had Mr. Gering leavened his production with a little humor, or had the script writers turned the light of modern psychology upon their weighty efforts, the piece might not have seemed such stilted hokum."
Marguerite Tazelaar
— N Y Herald Tribune p8 F 24 '36

"This stress on plot has kept the picture from making full use of mood and characterization. The acting, like the script, is conventional. The theme should have been moving, the climax poignant. Instead, the script is routine and the acting almost unbelievable. In spite of its prevalent treatment 'Lady of Secrets' does at least have a central theme not yet was supported by constant use on the screen."
Eileen Creelman
— N Y Sun p8 F 22 '36

"A picture that sashays back and forth in space and time without progressing far in any direction, 'Lady of Secrets,' is scarcely worthy of its cast. The result, in the curious mathematics of the cinema, is zero." B.R.C.
N Y Times p12 F 22 '36

"No less a shining star of the fiction field than M. W. Chatterton plays the leading role. With such a star-spangled combination you might reasonably expect at least a modicum of their combined efforts. But 'Lady of Secrets' lacks every proof that its perpetrators are anything but a group of amateurs."
— W J Eicher
— N Y World-Telegram p15 F 25 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p27 Ja 4 '36

"This is a tale of mother-love that ought to spell box office. It is well played by the leads and supporting cast and has been well produced. It offers no appeal for women, of course. Chatterton turns in a remarkably fine performance in a difficult role."
— Film Curb p5 Ja 4 '36

"Ruth Chatterton returns to the screen with another story that licks her. Though she and the rest of the good cast try hard, and despite all the efforts of Director Marion Gering, the yarn is one of those creaky mother-love things that make the more mature audience of the feminine clientele but not from the fans at large unless the story has some novelty or big suspense."
— Film Daily p13 F 21 '36

"A somewhat slow-moving drama of mother love, with an appeal mainly to women. Parts of it are slightly reminiscent of Miss Chatterton's earlier pictures."
— L A Times p7 D 26 '35

"When she last appeared in pictures, heroine Ruth Chatterton was slipping at the box office. Columbia picked her up, placed her in 'Lady of Secrets'. Miss Chatterton, who did not have the audience she had in the past, will not advance very far in her path back to box office prowess. Bearing little that demanded from film audiences, the picture will have to be helped by whatever star draw the female star still retains."
— N Y Exhibitor p2 Ja 25 '36

"Ruth Chatterton, back to the screen after a long absence, is still having trouble with her film. This time she is also having trouble with the play, the direction and occasionally with the photography. It adds up as a creaky old-fashioned and stilted production of a story hard to swallow. The talk is often hackneyed, the dramatic moments are hokum and the story is still nothing like some of those productions that pattered out along the line. As a whole an excellent cast is wasted."
— Variety p37 F 26 '35

"Lacking [star] names and with the most familiar of stories, 'No More Yesterdays' will have to struggle for its living. The picture is draggy throughout, extremely talky. Despite being well produced and written, it lacks the motivation to hold interest. Marion Gering's direction is heavy-handed throughout. Picture has but few light moments. Half of the story is told in a single flashback and the really interesting thing that is not telegraphed away in advance."
— Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 24 '35

Exceptionally Good: + + Good: + Fair: + Mediocre: Poor: Exceptionally Poor
LAND OF PROMISE. N 29 '35 60min Urim Palestine picture corp
Players: People of Palestine
Directed by Basil Rathbone.

"The film is a pictorial record of the achievements of the 300,000 Jews who have poured into the Near East in the last fifteen years, enduring hardship, reminding us of the pioneers of the last century to cover the arid, barren land with orange groves, thriving settlements and bustling towns." N Y World-Telegram

Audience Suitability Ratings
"A, Y and C: Interesting and Impressive." Par M p55 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
Christian Science Monitor p13 N 13 '33

"While the film is in the nature of a travelogue, it is never dull because of the vigor and liveliness of its theme; also because it has been produced, directed and edited by experienced persons." Marguerite Tazelaar, N Y Herald Tribune p1 N 22 '35

"Rarely has the camera presented such magnificent portraiture, nor used it with more telling effect. As a factual account of life in Palestine, colored slightly no doubt, by the film-makers' point of view, the picture is complete. Whether as a newsreel of the new Palestine, or as a commentary on the historic and sociological importance or as pictorial entertainment, 'The Land of Promise' deserves being seen." N Y Times p27 N 21 '35

N Y World-Telegram p22 N 21 '35
Reviewed by John Mosher
New Yorker p122 D 7 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
"Impressive picture of Palestine-rebuilding by the Jews is entertainingly developed." + Film Daily p8 N 19 '35

"Juda Leman, a German refugee, has done a fine job in his handling of the theme, skillfully applying his directing talent to make this a splendid production. The picture is not regulatation entertainment and, as such, will have a limited appeal among average audiences." + Motion Picture Daily p9 N 19 '35

"'The Land of Promise' is a complete recording of the multifarious activities engendered by a migratory and pioneering people. (It is) an interesting and instructive production." + Motion Pict Herald p70 D 7 '35

"Well photographed, with interesting narration by announcer Ross, tasteful musical accompaniment, this is inspiration for all Jews. Its appeal is limited, however, to sections strongly Jewish. Family travel." + N Y Exhibitor p55 D 10 '35

"For Zionist meetings, religious sessions and other sectarian affairs it's highly meritorious, being the most comprehensive treatise on the Palestine subject yet devised, and telling more about Palestine, and with more power and authority, than reams of printed data and hours of lecture platform dissertations." + Variety p30 N 27 '35

LAST DAYS OF POMPEII. O 18 '35 55min RKO
+ Dorothy Wilson
Director: Ernest B. Schoedsack
Suggested by the Bulwer-Lytton novel of same title. The scene is Jerusalem and Pompeii during the first century A. D. under the Roman Empire. The adventures of an upright blacksmith who loses wife and child because of his poverty and then determines on an unscrupulous career of wealth. As gladiator, as slave dealer, as horse trader and as armed mercenary, he builds a fortune for himself and his adopted son, only to find in the end that his children and hence his heir more profoundly than his own credo of financial success." (N Y Herald Tribune)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Fine of kind; Y: Probably good; C: No." Christian Century p1459 N 6 '35

"A brilliant, dynamic and powerful spectacle which carries a message of the ever-present conflict between material and spiritual forces. Family, emotional for young children." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) O 26 '35

"Director Schoedsack, who ranks high in the production of the spectacular, should be complimented for his skillful handling of the masses in the arena, and for the delicacy and restraint displayed in the introduction of the Christian. Adults: good; possible for family." + Jt Estimates O 15 '35

Mo Film Bul p172 N '35

"Good. Adults." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"'Last Days of Pompeii' frankly bears no relation to the old Bulwer-Lytton novel except in its title." J. S. H.

Nat Bd of R M p14 N '35

"This picture is most interesting with its well told story, its fine cast, sincere portrayals, expert direction, lavish set stages, fine photography and spectacular scenes. Family, but not for small children." + Nat Council of Jewish Women O 1 '35

"A, Y and C: Good spectacular drama." Par M p55 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
Boston Transcript p8 O 16 '35

"Spectacular melodrama. . . Parents will use discretion about taking their children to a film that closes with scenes of terror and destruction that may be frightening." + Christian Science Monitor p15 O 19 '35

Liberty p27 N 9 '35

"There is enough heart interest and plot and historical aura in this strut-and-fret movie to keep you interested until Vesuvius pops, and then the real show begins." Don Herold + Life p22 D '35

"The Last Days of Pompeii" is shrewdly arresting and entertaining. Richard Waits.
+ N Y Herald Tribune p16 O 17 '35

"Although it is persuasively staged and excitingly narrated, the work is rather more absorbing in its straightforward melodrama than in the later phases." Andre Sennwald + N Y Times p29 O 17 '35

Springf'd Republican p4c D 29 '35

Time p52 O 25 '35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
Film '36.
Film It Film

"This picture, somewhat of a travelogue, most artistically photographed and well acted, shows in all its beauty the native life of islanders and the dramatic effect of storm, sky and sea."
+
Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) D 28 '35

"It is an interesting and vivid picture. Outstanding. Excellent entertainment. Family."
+
Jt Estimates D 15 '35

"Carefully synchronized music also aids an appreciative understanding of the moods and emotional reaction. The film is especially notable for its pictorial beauty. It is consistently appealing and entertaining, with many novel features."
+
Motion Pict & Family p2 Ja 15 '36

"Unobjectionable for adults."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A and Y; South Seas idyll; C: Interesting."

Par M p55 Mr '36

Sel Motion Pict Ja 1 '36

"Good atmosphere, and a touching love story."
+
Wkly Guide D 21 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
Christian Science Monitor p16 N 16 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"This is the final one in the first series of four Carey action Westerns, and looks to be about the best of all."+
Film Daily p7 N 12 '35

"This Western is routine material of its kind, containing that amount and sort of action that is usually found pleasing by the youngsters and those of the adults who still enjoy westerns."—
Motion Pict Daily p6 N 14 '25

"Family Western."

N Exhibitor p56 D 10 '25

LAST OF THE PAGANS. D 13 '35 72min MGM
Players: Ray Wise, Lotus Long
Director: Richard Thorpe

Native dialogue with English subtitles. Filmed in the South Sea Islands. Based on the novel Tyree, by Herman Melville. "On a wife hunting expedition, Mala finds Natita and takes her back to his island to marry her. Natita learns to love the boy, but before the marriage ceremony, Mala is abducted and taken to the phosphorus mines on a nearby island. During a blast, he helps to save a white boss, and for his deed, Natita is sent for. The officials want to ship her back, because they believe she is the wife of a chief. After being jailed for becoming violent, Mala escapes, finds his Natita and they sail away to a new life on another island." (Film Daily)

 Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide Cath News p24 Ja 25 '26

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A, Y and C: Melodrama of the West."

Par M p55 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
Christian Science Monitor p16 N 16 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"This is the final one in the first series of four Carey action Westerns, and looks to be about the best of all."+
Film Daily p7 N 12 '35

"This Western is routine material of its kind, containing that amount and sort of action that is usually found pleasing by the youngsters and those of the adults who still enjoy westerns."—
Motion Pict Daily p6 N 14 '25

"Family Western."

N Exhibitor p56 D 10 '25

LAST OF THE PAGANS. D 13 '35 72min MGM
Players: Ray Wise, Lotus Long
Director: Richard Thorpe

Native dialogue with English subtitles. Filmed in the South Sea Islands. Based on the novel Tyree, by Herman Melville. "On a wife hunting expedition, Mala finds Natita and takes her back to his island to marry her. Natita learns to love the boy, but before the marriage ceremony, Mala is abducted and taken to the phosphorus mines on a nearby island. During a blast, he helps to save a white boss, and for his deed, Natita is sent for. The officials want to ship her back, because they believe she is the wife of a chief. After being jailed for becoming violent, Mala escapes, finds his Natita and they sail away to a new life on another island." (Film Daily)

 Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide Cath News p24 Ja 25 '26

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A, Y and C: Melodrama of the West."

Par M p55 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
Christian Science Monitor p16 N 16 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"This is the final one in the first series of four Carey action Westerns, and looks to be about the best of all."+
Film Daily p7 N 12 '35

"This Western is routine material of its kind, containing that amount and sort of action that is usually found pleasing by the youngsters and those of the adults who still enjoy westerns."—
Motion Pict Daily p6 N 14 '25

"Family Western."

N Exhibitor p56 D 10 '25

LAST OF THE PAGANS. D 13 '35 72min MGM
Players: Ray Wise, Lotus Long
Director: Richard Thorpe

Native dialogue with English subtitles. Filmed in the South Sea Islands. Based on the novel Tyree, by Herman Melville. "On a wife hunting expedition, Mala finds Natita and takes her back to his island to marry her. Natita learns to love the boy, but before the marriage ceremony, Mala is abducted and taken to the phosphorus mines on a nearby island. During a blast, he helps to save a white boss, and for his deed, Natita is sent for. The officials want to ship her back, because they believe she is the wife of a chief. After being jailed for becoming violent, Mala escapes, finds his Natita and they sail away to a new life on another island." (Film Daily)

 Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide Cath News p24 Ja 25 '26

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A, Y and C: Melodrama of the West."

Par M p55 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
Christian Science Monitor p16 N 16 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"This is the final one in the first series of four Carey action Westerns, and looks to be about the best of all."+
Film Daily p7 N 12 '35

"This Western is routine material of its kind, containing that amount and sort of action that is usually found pleasing by the youngsters and those of the adults who still enjoy westerns."—
Motion Pict Daily p6 N 14 '25

"Family Western."

N Exhibitor p56 D 10 '25

LAST OF THE PAGANS. D 13 '35 72min MGM
Players: Ray Wise, Lotus Long
Director: Richard Thorpe

Native dialogue with English subtitles. Filmed in the South Sea Islands. Based on the novel Tyree, by Herman Melville. "On a wife hunting expedition, Mala finds Natita and takes her back to his island to marry her. Natita learns to love the boy, but before the marriage ceremony, Mala is abducted and taken to the phosphorus mines on a nearby island. During a blast, he helps to save a white boss, and for his deed, Natita is sent for. The officials want to ship her back, because they believe she is the wife of a chief. After being jailed for becoming violent, Mala escapes, finds his Natita and they sail away to a new life on another island." (Film Daily)

 Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide Cath News p24 Ja 25 '26

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A, Y and C: Melodrama of the West."

Par M p55 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
Christian Science Monitor p16 N 16 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"This is the final one in the first series of four Carey action Westerns, and looks to be about the best of all."+
Film Daily p7 N 12 '35

"This Western is routine material of its kind, containing that amount and sort of action that is usually found pleasing by the youngsters and those of the adults who still enjoy westerns."—
Motion Pict Daily p6 N 14 '25

"Family Western."

N Exhibitor p56 D 10 '25

LAST OF THE PAGANS. D 13 '35 72min MGM
Players: Ray Wise, Lotus Long
Director: Richard Thorpe

Native dialogue with English subtitles. Filmed in the South Sea Islands. Based on the novel Tyree, by Herman Melville. "On a wife hunting expedition, Mala finds Natita and takes her back to his island to marry her. Natita learns to love the boy, but before the marriage ceremony, Mala is abducted and taken to the phosphorus mines on a nearby island. During a blast, he helps to save a white boss, and for his deed, Natita is sent for. The officials want to ship her back, because they believe she is the wife of a chief. After being jailed for becoming violent, Mala escapes, finds his Natita and they sail away to a new life on another island." (Film Daily)
LAST OF THE PAGANS—Continued

"Delightful entertainment for discriminating audiences, something on the order of 'Tabu.' . . Suitable for all. [Family.]"

Harrison's Reports 1a 4 '36

"Located in the South Sea Islands, this picture tells the exotic love-drama of a primitive native couple. Essentially, its elements are those to all dramatic romances. Sub-titles explaining the Polynesian dialect and movement are made understandable by the interesting medium. Its love interest is idyllic and the sympathy of the stimulating drama is powerful and appealing. Intelligently produced and directed, it is acted on in a simplicity rare in current attractions. . .
As the native courtship customs are depicted in song and dance, Herbert Stothart's musical score accentuates the romance and drama. . .
The charm of the beautiful backgrounds is excellently accentuated by Clyde De Vinna's expert photography."

Motion Pict Daily p13 D 7 '35

"Unusual photography has captured the full charm of strange and beautiful backgrounds. . . To make the feature, a large company of actors, technicians and production crew spent months in the Islands, as a result of which all that will be seen on the screen is actual and authentic. As the backgrounds are real, so is the character of the story. With simple humans featured, it concentrates on humanism in its strange love interest and gripping drama."

Motion Pict Herald p50 N 16 '35

"Metro has produced a sincerely made South Pacific idyll, one that may do its best in the better type houses, but which ought to be saleable anywhere."

N Y Exhibitor p38 D 25 '35

"Probably will mostly make double bills but elsewhere it may also do some fair single role business. Picture is weighted down with native chatter (often with English titles appended on film) that means little. This is counter-balanced in later footage by good mixture of suspense and dramatics."

Variety p19 Ja 15 '36

LAST OUTPOST. O 11 '35 72min Paramount

Players: Cary Grant, Claude Rains, Gertrude Michael, Kathleen Burke

Directors: Louis Gascnier, Charles Barton

Based on novel Drums by F. Britton Austin. "Age-old background of warfare with uncivilized tribes of Kurdistan and the African Sudan, during the Great War, we see the rescue of a British officer by a member of the Secret Service Department, their subsequent friendship and its peril when love enters in the person of Nurse Hayden." (Gen Fed of Women's Clubs)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide Cath News p21 Ja 25 '36

"A: Fairly good; Y: Thrilling; C: Unsuitable." Christian Century p1439 N 6 '35

"An entertaining drama due to fine work by an able cast. Family."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) O 12 '35

Mo Film Bul p173 N '35

"Good. Adults."

Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"Unconvincing and tedious. Adults."

Nat Council of Jewish Women O 1 '35

"A: Fair Western; Y and C: Interesting."

Par M p55 Mr '36

"A beautifully photographed and interesting, although rather confusing, story. Family."

— Wkly Guide O 5 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"An ill-considered release at this time, with machine guns mowing down hordes of dark natives."

— Christian Science Monitor p13 O 26 '35

"[It is] a stereotype of the same old excessive and silly romance of two uniforms and a girl, not wholly bad; however; Claude Rains is in it. The first half is excellent, good enough to make what follows doubly regrettable."

— New Statesman & Nation p97 D 11 '35

Reviewed by Andre Sennwald

N Y Times p35 O 13 '35

Springfield Republican p6c D 1 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p34 N 23 '35

"Paramount fell down trying to make another 'foreign Lancer.'"

Film Curb p75 15 '35

"Family melodrama."

N Y Exhibitor p55 N 10 '35

LAUGHING IRISH EYES. Mr 19 '36 70min Republic

Players: Phil Regan, Walter Kelly, Eva-lyn Knapp

Director: Joseph Santley

"Kelly, film right promoter of the Irish-American A. C., goes to Ireland to find a good fighter to restore the prestige of his club. Miss Knapp, his daughter, accompanies him. There she meets and falls in love with a blacksmith, Regan, who wins a singing contest at a fair.

Motion Pict Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Family."

Wkly Guide F 7 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"That it perhaps will hold up its end of a double bill is about the best than can be said for this picture. . . It is a sad waste of acting ability. Phil Regan has possibilities, possessing a pleasing personality and a sing- ing voice of ingratiating quality. He can be built into a favorite if given better vehicles than fell to his lot in his first starring production." Allan Heraholt

Film Curb p16 Mr 7 '36

"For the popular houses of all classes it [will] please audiences of all types. And we are free to state that it carries more real human appeal and downright entertainment than a big slice of the more pretentious productions. . . You can shout about this as grand entertainment for the entire family and you'll have no kick-backs. For Irish communities [it will be] a cleanup."

— Film Daily p5 Mr 4 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
"Very pleasant fare it is, with a limited budget expertly handled for entertainment values and it will dual to good returns pretty well up the scale."

Hollywood Reporter p3 Mr 5 '36

"Light and entertaining, although unpretentious fare, this should prove satisfying in the smaller situations particularly. It is tuneful and often amusing, and a film which should be easy to sell in the Irish communities. Phil Regan, in the lead, sings several Irish songs in attractive fashion..."

Motion Pict Daily p92 Mr 4 '36

"Here's a show that is not only entertaining but also one that readily lends itself to unique and effective interest-creating exploitation. For entertainment purposes it blends the sock of prize ring thrill action with the appeal of music tinged with love interest...Previewed at the Fairfax Theatre, Los Angeles, subsequent-run neighborhood house. The audience watched picture intently, occasionally breaking out into applause in appreciation of Regan's singing and the thrill action."

Motion Pict Herald p58 Mr 11 '36

"Well cast and studied with a group of names that mean box office for any independent picture, 'Laughing Irish Eyes,' though marked by a few production handicaps, should be able to hold its own outside of the de luxe houses. In the neighborhood houses, it has a good chance of being the top of double bills. Story is none too original but well written, and holds up throughout."

Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 5 '36

LAWSLESS BORDER. D 10 '35 5min Spectrum
Director: Ray Kirkwood
A western melodrama.

Audienc suitability Ratings
"A. Y and C: Interesting Western."
Par M p55 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"Interesting Western with more than the usual amount of dramatic and romantic sequences. Action, however, has not been neglected with Bill Cody providing enough hard-riding and gun fights to please the most exacting lover of adventure films."

Box Office p53 D 28 '35

"The love interest is well handled and more attention paid to developing dramatic scenes than in most Westerns. This makes up for some overemphasis in close-up scenes with too much explanatory conversation."

Film Daily p4 D 11 '35

"Designed for juveniles. While not enjoying a full quota of action and suspense, the material presented will satisfy the youngsters who go in for this sort of entertainment."

Motion Pict Daily p7 D 11 '35

"Photography is only fair, together with editing and recording; but acting is competent, casting excellent, story certainly as good as in other films."

Box Office p53 D 28 '35

"Lawless Nineties. P15 '36 57min Republic
Director: Joseph Kane
A western melodrama of the early days of Wyoming when the territory applied for admission to the Union.

Audience suitability Ratings
"Unobjectionable for general patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"A fast-riding, hard-shooting action yarn has been wisely placed against an authentic historical background with excellent results. The story of those turbulent days when Wyoming was still a territory seeking admission to the Union as a State is ideal material for this higher type of Western which will furnish exciting entertainment for audiences everywhere."

Box Office p13 Mr 14 '36

"Fully up to the standard of the Wayne Westerns... While Westerns are pretty much alike as to plot, an attempt is being made by producers to make them a bit different. In this case it has been done successfully."

Film Curb p16 Mr 7 '36

"The yarn whips into a series of knock-down fights and gun play with plenty of furious riding... The finale is a pitched battle at the edge of the barricaded town and the clean-up of the gang and capture of the leader. Has all the exciting stuff the fans will go for."

Film Daily p7 P 29 '36

An excellent Western: It is packed with action and comedy and has been photographed amid beautiful scenery. One thrilling and exciting situation is where Wayne, attacked by two ruffians is forced to fight for his life. . . Suitable for all. Family."

+ Harrison's Reports Mr 21 '36

"A western yarn built around the efforts of the lawless element to control the vote of Wyoming territory when it applied for admission to the United States in 1890, and the manner in which Government agents protected the voters. This picture is fast-moving and lively action fare, good for the week-end program or on a double bill."

Motion Pict Daily p6 Mr 2 '36

"Although the picture is a run-of-the-mill action drama, similar in plot and trimmings to previous members of this series starring John Wayne, it has the stuff which, taken as a whole, has proved successful with audiences in most situations where this type film is presented."

Motion Pict Herald p53 Mr 7 '36

"Estimate: fast moving Western.
N Y Exhibitor p55 Mr 10 '36

LAWSLESS RANGE. O 3 '35 57min Republic
Players: John Wayne. Sheila Mamors
Director: Robert N. Bradbury
Mysterious raids on ranches in an isolated valley containing gold deposits are uncovered by a shrewd government agent in this western melodrama.

Audience suitability Ratings
"Good."

Endorsed Motion Pict D '35

"A. Y and C: Good Western melodrama."
Par M p55 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p35 N 23 '35

"'Lawless Range' can hold its head high because its action is [good]... its story keeps moving at a rapid speed. Family Western."

N Y Exhibitor p54 D 10 '35

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + --- Fair; --- Mediocre; --- Poor; --- Exceptionally Poor
Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p10 D 28 '35

"Estimate: satisfactory Western anywhere."

+ N Y Exhibitor p42 Ja 25 '36

LEATHERNECKS HAVE LANDED. F 22 '36
65min Republic

Players: Lew Ayres, Isabel Jewell, Jimmy Ellison, James Burke

Director: Howard Bretherton

A hot-tempered marine in constant scrapes with his fellow soldiers is dishonestly discharged when he is involved unwittingly in a murder. He joins a gun smuggling gang in Shanghai and later has a chance to help the marines in a battle with raiders whom he had supplied with guns.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Very good. General patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency F '36

"Family."

Wkly Guide F 29 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is not a big picture, but it is one of the newest jobs of picture making I have seen for some time. In a result of the intelligent direction Bretherton gives the well constructed story, we have a picture which will give satisfaction to any audience." Allan Hersholt

Hollywood Spec p11 F 29 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Appropriately titled ‘The Leathernecks Have Landed,’ this offering lands directly on the box-office front with barrage of sure-fire entertainment that should capture one hundred percent family patronage."

+ Box Office p25 F 29 '36

"An entertaining picture with the Marines as a background. It is fast moving, amusing and has several thrilling sequences."

+ Film Curb p8 F 29 '36

"Good popular entertainment with an action story and nice work by a capable cast."

+ Film Daily p18 F 17 '36

A pretty good action melodrama. It is a little slow in getting started, but once it finishes establishing the different characters, it becomes exciting and holds one’s attention to the end. Suitable for all Family."

+ — Harrison’s Reports Mr 7 '36

"It packs a lusty dramatic wallop and a vein of genuine sentiment and it is so well made that it ranks with the best independent productions of the year. Only the lack of strong box office names will keep it from soaring and as it is, it will head double bills to a swell profit."

+ Hollywood Reporter p3 F 13 '36

"Although the story has some elements of weakness, there is enough fighting to satisfy those who enjoy two-fisted action."

+ — Motion Pict Daily p5 F 18 '36

Motion Pict Herald p44 F 25 '36

"Estimate: good programmer, saleable anywhere."

+ — N Y Exhibitor p55 Mr 10 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor

LEAVENWORTH CASE. F 10 '36 65min Republic

Players: Donald Cook, Jean Rouverol, Norma Foster, Erin O’Brian-Moore, Maude Eburne, Warren Hymer

Director: Lewis D. Collins

Based on the novel of the same title by Anna Katherine Green. "Although there are a number of suspects, the murderer is identified for the audience at the start. The point is to have the detective discover the killer. However, the person who unravels the mystery is not the detective but the comic hard-of-hearing old maid aunt." (Film Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Murder mystery; Y: Doubtful; C: No."

Par M p55 Mr '36

Wkly Guide Ja 18 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"While this one won’t set the world afire its bound to hold its own in most situations."

+ — Film Curb p12 Ja 11 '36

"Entertaining murder mystery with good cast and emphasis on the comedy angle. Its best point is the comedy work of Warren Hymer and Maude Eburne."

+ Film Daily p9 Ja 6 '36

"In adapting this from the novel, the producers have altered the plot considerably; to such an extent, in fact, that the story is unrecognizable. It is, however, a good murder melodrama, holding the spectator in fair suspense throughout... Unsuitable for either children or adolescents, in theatres where murder melodramas are not shown. Good adult entertainment."

+ — Harrison’s Reports Ja 18 '36

"Of average entertainment value and providing little that is new, the picture is benefited by good names."

+ — Motion Pict Daily p12 Ja 3 '36

"In this picture, a murder mystery embellished with comedy and romance and with drama building suspense, the murderer for murder and the mystery of how it is done are made evident in the first few sequences. Thus it differs materially from the usual manner in which mystery drama features are presented."

Motion Pict Herald p53 Ja 11 '36

"What should have been an intriguing sleuth-murder mystery film wobbles badly through inept casting and sloppy direction. Net result is that ‘The Leavenworth Case’ is just another detective melodrama, lacking good draw names and designed for double programs."

— Variety p14 Ja 22 '36

"Fair... Mystery is exploded after the first ten feet but there's enough interest to hold... not too particular audiences. Direction indicates haste."

+ — Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 31 '35

LEGONG. N 15 '35 50min DuWorld

Players: Native cast

Director: Marquis Henri de la Falaise

"A slight story relates the love of the boy, Nyong, for the girl, Sapak. Unfortunately, he is betrothed to Poutou, (and) cannot break off lest she lose face before the community. The clandestine affair is found out by Poutou; she eases herself out of the way, via suicide."

N Y Exhibitor

Audience Suitability Ratings

Class A. Approved for adult audiences.

N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p4 N 14 '35

"The picture has been produced with care, and many of its backgrounds, against the sea, in the market place, and those for the dance of the virgins, are handsome reproductions in natural colors." Marguerite Tazelaar

+ N Y Herald Tribune p13 O 3 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"[A] pictorial review of [a] beautiful island as it really is."

Film Curb p12 O 15 '35

"Adult melodrama."

N Y Exhibitor p30 O 25 '35

LIEBELEI. F 27 '36 65min Elite tonfilm

Players: Paul Hoerbiger, Magda Schneider. Luise Ullrich. Gustaf Gründgens

Director: Max Ophuls

Based on play of same title by Arthur Schnitzler. German dialogue film made in Vienna with English sub-titles. "Having fallen in love with the fiancée, a young officer is haunted by the complications of a former affair with a married woman. In the end he has to fight a duel with the husband." (Variety)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Objectionable in part."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is suffused with German sentimentality and approaches again in spirit those pictures that came out of Germany several years ago when they were producing such things as 'Two Hearts in Waltz Time'. . . The story is presented with persuasive charm and sentimentability. It is mesmerizing in its settings and atmospheric feeling, as it should be, of course. The performances are excellent." Marguerite Tazelaar

+ N Y Herald Tribune p13 Mr 4 '36

"'Liebelei' is not epochal, but it is a charming, Old World, sensitively performed and absorbing photoplay which ends on a note of poignant tragedy. With so somber a tale at its mercy, the wonder of 'Liebelei' is that it can at the same time be so mellow, radiant and tender a picture. But it is, and that can be attributed only to the players, their director and to the photography." F. S. Nugent

+ N Y Times p18 F 28 '36

"I, for one, however, must admit to mixed and troubled feelings about this latest cinema importation. It is extremely well acted, and there is a great deal of charm in its curiously pathetic and tender little love story. But it tells this tale in such a languid manner that most of its effectiveness is lost. . . All of this would be pretty unendearingly archaic and depressing if it were not for the work of a really expert cast of players who recite it tenderly, carefully and sensitively and sometimes even movingly." William Eoehnel

+ + N Y World-Telegram p25 Mr 4 '36

"It's mostly about lovers walking around the block in a drizzle. That's how you feel, anyhow, after two or three hours of it." John Mosher

New Yorker p26 Mr 7 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"This is a better than average foreign production with very good cast, good direction, fine acting and the best in the way of photography. The picture is a romantic drama with a tragic ending."

+ Film Daily p7 F 29 '36

"Spoken in German and fitted out with English subtitles Arthur Schnitzler's tragic romance ranks well above the average importation of its kind in dramatic power and general makings. The audience evidenced evidently Teutonic origin in attendance at the 55th Street Playhouse, New York, the picture appeared to be immensely amusing in its early stages, gripping in its closing sequence."

+ Motion Pict Herald p58 Mr 14 '36

"It is a picture of few virtues and many obvious limitations, even for the Teutonic market in the United States. Performance, direction, sound and photography passable but undistinguished."

+ Variety p81 Mr 4 '36

LIMELIGHT. (Release date not determined) 65min Wilcoxon

Director: Herbert Wilcoxon

This film was made in England. "A [chorus girl] hears a down-and-out singer in the street, and when the star singer of her show loses his voice within a half hour of the first night she drags the boy in and pleads with the management to give him a chance." (Variety)

Trade Paper Reviews

"There are some good ballet scenes, but in the absence of really convincing story values it stands or falls as a singing show by Tracy. His numbers are well put over and balance his lack of screen personality."

+ + Motion Pict Daily p4 Ja 25 '36

"The high spots of this picture are the graceful dancing, and Arthur Tracy's fine voice. . . There is too much repetition; too much flashing back to the same stage set and recurrence of song scenes. But withal there is an air of sincerity that makes the story pleasing, if not epoch-making. . . Interesting, but the picture will be more local [England] than universal."

+ + Variety p27 Mr 11 '36

LITTLE AMERICA. O 4 '35 52min Paramount

Players: Members of the second Byrd Expedition

Director: Dario Farulla

A scene-by-scene account of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's second Antarctic expedition; filmed by John L. Herrmann and Carl O. Peterson who were among the band of fifty-six men comprising Admiral Byrd's crew and staff. The picturization of the expedition shows how the colony lived during the long months of winter night, how scientific information of all sorts was recorded and how they discovered that microscopic life existed.

Audience Suitability Ratings

Class A. General approval.

N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Thrilling scenes of unloading the ship, preparations necessary for their existence through the long Arctic night, the care of the dogs, the terrific storms, the dangerous crevasses,
LITTLE AMERICA—Continued

The scientific research made, and the almost tragic ending of Admiral Byrd’s solitary vigil in the bleak latitudes are but parts of this most stirring and educational drama. Excellent entertainment. Family and Junior matinees.

+ Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) O 12 ’35

“This film has excellent educational values for the best in human life—devotion to science, self-sacrifice, and high courage. Family.”

+ Jt Estimates O 15 ’35

“Very good. Family.” Motion Pict Guide Mr ’36

“It is a valuable document of history in the making. . . . Excellent entertainment. Family and Junior matinees.”

+ Nat Council of Jewish Women O 1 ’35

“Unobjectionable for general patronage.” Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 ’36

“A, Y and C: Entertaining and instructive.” Par M p55 Mr ’36

“This picturization of Admiral Byrd’s second expedition to the South Polar Regions (Antarctica) is an inspiring narrative of devotion to science. . . . This film has excellent educational values, for it glorifies the spirit of high devotion to the work of science, self-sacrifice and high courage. Family.”

+ Sel Motion Pict N 1 ’35

“Both entertaining and instructional. Recommended to Exceptional Play (Decentralization Committee). Suggested for schools and libraries and for lists of films worth keeping permanently available. Family and Junior matinees.”

+ Wkly Guide 8 28 ’35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“[This] is a splendid, forthright, dramatic motion-picture complete with sound, conversations, and hints of plot-picture. The drama is real and convincing . . . This is the first of the factual polar films accomplished with fine coordination among cameramen, writers with a sense of drama, and the events themselves. It is more nearly a feature fictional film in form than a factual narrative, but there is no spurious filming here. It was ‘shot’ in Little America. Advance screening took place first in Hollywood.”

+ Lit Digest p25 O 12 ’35

“The film is disappointing in not revealing why Admiral Byrd engaged in his lonely experiment or what he did while at his farthest south and in giving no word of explanation from him regarding the solitary sojourn. The picture is interesting from beginning to end and is accompanied by intelligent comment.” Marguerite Tazelaar

+ N Y Herald Tribune p19 O 15 ’35

“The photography is generally excellent and the sound recording clear.” F. S. N.

+ N Y Times p19 O 15 ’35

Springd’ Republican p6 N 21 ’35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p58 N 16 ’35

Film Curb p8 O 15 ’35

“Family drama.” N Y Exhibitor p35 O 25 ’35

LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY

F 28 ’36 98min

United artists-Selznick International

Production

 Directed by John Cromwell

Starring: Freddie Bartholomew as Little Lord Fauntleroy, Dolores Costello, Aubrey Smith, Guy Kibbee

Based on the play of same title by Frances Hodgson Burnett. Previously made as a silent film. “It tells of a younger whom fate elected to yank out of happy surroundings and set down in a tradition-encrusted manor house of high old England, yet some Lord Fauntleroy, heir presumptive to the title, The Earl of Dorincourt.” (Motion Pict Herald)

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Frances Hodgson Burnett’s classic as adapted by Hugh Walpole is an outstanding picture. It is an honest, unromantic, the setting, costumes, and decorative details give indication of careful consideration of the period and the social environment to be portrayed.”

+ + Motion Pict & Family p4 Mr 15 ’36

“A story which might easily have become saccharine and sentimental avoids every pitfall because of tasteful direction and exception-tional acting, and in addition this young English actor may well be called an ambassador of good will, interpreting to American children the customs and habits of another land. We recommend this as an ideal family treat. Adolescents 12-16: highly entertaining; children, 8-12: excellent.”

Motion Pict R Mr ’36

“Unobjectionable for general patronage.”

+ + Motion Pict & Family p4 Mr 15 ’36

“A: Delightful, particularly for those who remember; Y and C: Splendid.”

Par M p55 Mr ’36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“There was bound to be a good deal of sentiment in ‘Little Lord Fauntleroy.’ That is the way Frances Hodgson Burnett had written it. But in adapting it to the screen Hugh Walpole has avoided as much sugary sweetness as he could. ‘Little Lord Fauntleroy’ has merits to appeal to the masculine as well as the feminine audience.” E. F. Melvin

+ + Boston Transcript p3 Mr 7 ’36

“Little Lord Fauntleroy is no longer the oversentimental face and old lavender Fauntleroy of Mary Pickford’s portrayal of the early ‘20’s. In this new version he is the standard film of Master Freddie (David Copperfield) Bartholomew, a thoroughly human youngster, a regular lad who has the courage and moves the world. His appearance requires no strain of the imagination to understand why he wins his ways into the craggy old heart of the Earl of Dorincourt.”

Commonweal p552 Mr 13 ’36

“While I do not agree that the script is the best that could be written from the book, I grant it is quite good enough to permit John Cromwell to give us a picture which should satisfy audiences throughout the world. The story of Little-Lord Fauntleroy is classic hokum. It is all sentiment, its goodness dripping with virtue and its badness yielding to virtue triumphant. If the story had no classic background and had been submitted to a Hollywood producer as an original, its progress toward the screen would have come to an abrupt stop at the desk of the first reader who scanned it. But it has become a classic, so it comes to the screen and we do big business at the box-office.” Allan Hersholt

+ + Hollywood Spec p5 F 29 ’36

The most prying and suspicious psychologist will pass over the mother-and-son situation in the picture, and Freddie wears no curls. What’s more, the astute producers have allowed him a good stutter brawl in the streets. ‘Little Lord Fauntleroy’ has overtones of ‘Skippy’ and ‘Little Lord Fauntleroy’ is Saving.”

Lit Digest p20 Mr 21 ’36

“Almost any screen rendering of Frances Hodgson Burnett’s famed story . . . would automatically have been based of an enthusiastic response from female cinemaddicts. However, not content to let the production depend upon the hallowed sentimentality of its source, Producer Selznick has made the mother of the novel more than a stock sample of Hollywood lavender and old lace. Handsomely rewritten for the screen by Mrs. Walpole, beautifully staged, and superbly directed by John Cromwell, it affords proof that Selznick International is capable of starting and carrying on a successful holiday to Freddie Bartholomew, C. Aubrey Smith and Dolores Costello Barrymore.

Trade Paper Reviews

"Little Lord Fauntleroy" is another triumph for David O. Selznick. Laughter and tears are expertly woven into a cinematic fabric that resolves itself into magnificent entertainment patterned for mass and class appeal, and definitely establishes Freddie Bartholomew as the screen's greatest male child star. Family.

Box Office p55 Mr 7 '36

"This will be popular with all types of audiences, but will have especial appeal for women. It is full of warm heart interest and is a credit to all concerned in its making." Film Daily p9 F 25 '36

"Excellent! It is a warmly human, deeply moving, as well as humorous story. Excellent for all Family." Harrison's Reports Mr 21 '36

"Strictly in the mood which has characterized all of his recent pictures, such as 'A Tale of Two Cities,' the producer has turned to the sticky and minor classic of Frances Hodgson Burnett and, by dint of considerable ingenuity and intelligence, has fashioned an attraction which should send parent-teacher associations out cheering and club-women into ecstasy. Raves over this celluloid exploration into motives pure and chivalry unattached. Motion Pict Daily p10 F 25 '36

"As conceived, prepared, acted, directed and produced, it is a valuable piece of screen merchandise. In every way it is potentially promising as being entertainment at least as important to exhibitors and theatre-goers as was 'David Copperfield,' the picture that introduced its star, Freddie Bartholomew." Motion Pict Herald p40 F 25 '36

"It will delight all manner of audiences, critical or casual, with its high comedy, effective pathos, genuine feeling and fine dramatic unfoldment, and will clean up financially from the ace [houses] to the subsequent because of its sea and irresistible tear appeal... It may well be that young Bartholomew's sensitive and wholly captivating performances will make him a hot contender for top acting awards for 1936. His ability to invest his restrained childish conicalities with genuine pathos give him as much appeal to men as to women—and 'Little Lord Fauntleroy' will score as a strong mixed-audience picture." Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 21 '36

LITTLEST REBEL. D 27. '35. 70min 20th Century-Fox

Director: David Butler

From the old play of the same title by Edward pepile, a little Southern girl, caught up in the Civil War, loses her mother and finds her father taken prisoner by a Yankee officer. She pleads with him to free her father. When he does so, both he and the father are sentenced to death. Then she goes to the Great Emancipator himself to plead for her father and the Northern officer.

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; —— Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p21 Ja 25 '36

"Shirley gives one of her most charming performances of the season." Endorsed Motion Pict Ja 25 '36

"Family." DAR

"Fascinating entertainment with a nice blend of humor and pathos that is largely due to Shirley Temple's beguiling charm and remarkable talents and the gifted dancing and acting of Bill Robinson. Family." E Coast Preview Committee

"Family. Junior." Nat Bd of R

"Photographed with artistry and grace, it has a tear-drenched beauty only momentarily lighted by whimsical comedy. Bill Robinson, as the faithful family slave, shares laurels with little Miss Temple. The balance of the cast is finely adequate but it is the clowning, the singing, the tap-dancing and the spontaneity of these three which will captivate all." Mrs T. G. Winter

"12-16: good; 8-15: exciting but good." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

++ Fox W Coast Bul D 23 '35

"Once in a blue moon there comes a picture which will prove delightful to every member of the family; from little sister right through to Grandpa and Grandma and junior matinee." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"This is a delightful story. Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

++ Fox W Coast Bul D 28 '35

"The delightful naturalness of Shirley Temple, the dramatic appeal of her work with John Boles, her expert dancing with Bill Robinson, again win the heart of the audience, giving to this talented child added honors. Family and junior matinee." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) D 16 '35

"Very good. Family." Motion Pict Guide Mr 36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A and Y: Appealing, with Shirley Temple: C: Excellent." Par M p55 Mr '36

Sel Motion Pict Ja 1 '36

"Family." Wky Guide D 14 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The Civil War seems to have been fought, according to this picture, simply to harass poor little Shirley Temple. In 'The Littlest Rebel' battles are fought on Shirley's front lawn and raiding parties tramp through the parlor of her splendid Southern mansion, and in spite of her efforts to repel them with a sling-shot. It was not, at least might say, a war that went to waste, however, as it gave the wonder to a chance to black up, be determinedly merry in distressing circumstances, sing a few tunes, weep with the old realistic heart-break, and best of all, dance. When Shirley Temple and Bill Robinson team up, they work a heel and toe magic that is unsurpassed by any of their contemporaries. Though half a century of time in between, these two, a pair that went feather-footed and nimble as his small partner and Shirley is as adroit, Inventive and enthralling as ever. Through this region of war and acting swap the noble officers, both Blue and Gray, of the film, the rude Yankee plunderers, the too-quaint-for-words slave, John Henry, the darky cook named Roosevelt and throw in Abraham Lincoln, who displays his brooding physical—unintelligent—warmth. Their glittering profiles of Robinson and Temple doing their sidewalk strut and the tap on a flight of stairs.”
LITTLEST REBEL—Continued

M. E. P.
+ — Boston Transcript p4 D 21 '35
Christian Science Monitor p10 D 5 '35
"Dextrous young Shirley Temple makes her début in so-called 'straight drama,' but not without a generous sprinkling of Shirley Temple smile, song and dance, A Civil War 'meller,' but not quite a Civil War 'tear-jerker'.", Cunningham.
+ — Commonwealth p244 D 27 '35
Reviewed by Robert Stebbins
New Theatre p41 Ja '36
"I must confess that I invariably encounter films starring child players with skepticism and a trace of discomform. As frequently as I have seen little Miss Temple, I find myself still unprepared for approaching her latest vehicle. Yet so amazing is the talent and persuasiveness of the most famous of baby actresses that each time I am slowly won over by her remarkable expertise and end filled with admiration. Here Miss Temple is in her element, whether she is being comic or emotional, and the result will be the not undeserved the baby Bergner in this vanished commentary," Richard Watts, Jr.

+ — N Y Herald Tribune p22 D 21 '35
"The little star is entertaining her large and fervent audience in a picture that is probably her best since 'Little Miss Marker,'... Shirley Temple remains, through some happy miracle, still a wonder-child, and a likeable as well as an extraordinary one. She has dropped the mom in her mannerisms and lost the air of self-consciousness so apparent for a while. The dimples are still in excellent working order; she dances more gayly than ever; and she does some heavy crying with heart-breaking naturalness." Eileen Creelman
+ — N Y Sun p28 D 29 '35
"You may have got the mistaken notion from 'So Red the Rose' that the war between the States was filled with ruin, death, rebellion, slavery, and horror, and yet, it is not so.

'The Littlest Rebel' corrects that unhappy thought and presents the conflict as a decended fairyland. The film is a sentimentalized version of that war and the Children's Home of Lincoln, New York. N Y Times p30 D 26 '35
"Whether or not Miss Temple's art is more mature than Frank McGlynn's as Lincoln, may be a question, but it certainly seems more mature to me than the art, as we love to call it, of John Boles or Jack Holt, two of the gentlemen of the piece. In the eyes of all parents who are tired of working, Miss Temple must indeed be the model child." John Mosher

New Yorker p67 D 28 '35
"The horrors of the Civil war are kept well in the background, so that the youngest Shirley Temple plays not too great a share. Judging from the reaction of last night's audience, it is entertaining adult fare as well, even to the sentimental Temple-Lincoln scene going on big. Louise Mace
+ — Spring'g Republican p2 Ja 2 '36
Time p16 D 30 '35
Trade Paper Reviews
"This has splendid comedy relief." + — Box Office p29 D 7 '35
Film Curb p13 D 1 '35
"Among the best of the Shirley Temple pictures are the enjoyable ones. The spotlight is on Shirley most of the time, the story has a lot of charm, a little sentiment, and with Shirley playing her role very naturally, the picture is an enjoyable one. Bill Robinson is there with his dancing, and with Shirley they are some combination. Besides his dancing, Robinson carries a large acting assignment, which he handles very well. . . . The screen play moves along nicely without new a dull moment."
+ — Film Daily p8 N 22 '35
"Shirley Temple carries the burden of this picture on her shoulders and is entirely responsible for whatever entertaining values it has. The plot is feeble. . . . Suitable for all. [Family]." + — Harrison's Reports D 21 '35
"Shirley Temple is this picture's prime entertainment and competitor. Of the singing, dancing and smiling Shirley scores a personal triumph, her first straight, starring dramatic role.
+ — Motion Pict Daily p8 N 20 '35
"In this, an adaptation of an old and popular legitimate stage attraction, there is a singing, dancing, acting Shirley snuggling her way into the hearts of the audience. It is, in a dramatic role which mingles tears and heart throbs with smiles and laughs, as the story narrates the family's fight to get pungent romantic dramas of the Civil War.
+ — Motion Pict Herald p50 N 16 '35
"Family comedy drama."
+ — N Y Exhibitor p52 D 10 '35
"All bitterness and cruelty has been rigorously curbed out of the picture, and the result is a misunderstanding among kindly gentle men with eminently happy slaves and a cute little girl who sings and dances through the story. Bill Robinson and the child again dance. This is surefire, and it bespeaks plenty of hooting rehearsal. Robinson is the teacher of the Burke family, but he makes little misg." [There is] no trace of the Edward Peple play in the Burke family story. The story is synthetic throughout but smart showmanship instills the illusion of life. Besides which the picture has good tempo." + — Variety p15 D 26 '35

LONE WOLF RETURNS. D 31 '35 69min Coobra
Players: Arthur Hohl, Melvyn Douglas, Gall Blanchard, Thurston Hall
Director: Roy William Neill
Based on the novel of the same title by Louis Joseph Vance. An international jewel thief decides to steal a collection of jewels from a wealthy young woman. When he meets her at a social function she falls in love with her and decides to go straight. Another gang of thieves really steal the jewels and arrange matters so as to throw suspicion on the reformed thief. Through a clever ruse he round up the gang and recovers the jewels.

C:

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Unobjectionable for general patronage." + — Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36
"A and Y: Entertaining; C: If interested." Par M p55 Mr '36
"The implausible story is complicated, but never confused, has effective comedy, is cleverly directed, very well acted and constantly entertaining. Adults and younger people."
+ — Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36
Wkly Guide Ja 11 '36

Exceptionally Good: + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Mr. Neill presents his story with such fresh-ness it almost achieves the deft touch of a Von Stroheim. It is done formally and in its rapid pace, and it bends to the director's humor as a weed in the wind. The staging, too, is elaborate, is our falli, and the performances are excellent." — Marguerite Tazelaar

+F Y Herald Tribune p7 F 3 '36

"The international jewel thief, one of Holly-wood's most overworked brain children, is with us again in a periodical revival of Louis Joseph Vance's The Lone Wolf Returns. The time may pass pleasantly enough if this sort of thing is new to you, or if you may be bellowed into a more charitable mood by the performance of Mr. Douglas... Speaking for ourselves, we thought the Lone Wolf had slow and the situations far-fetched. Comedy has been put into some of the situations but it is forced and tends to retard the action. The closing scenes are fairly exciting and hold one in suspense. Because of the robberies it is unsuitable for children, adolescents, or Sundays." — Harrison's Reports Ja 18 '36

"A well-blended concoction of comedy, romance, crook intrigue and light drama, this is enjoyable entertainment. The director gives the pre-tensions in cast or production values, it succeeds in being amusing. The story is well conceived, acted and directed." — Motion Pict Daily p12 Ja 15 '36

"One of the followers of the Louis Joseph Vance novels is numbered in the legions and the pictures that preceded this provide a ready-made audience. The fact that the picture is a combination of mystery and drama and plays up the type of criminal that is probably more pleasing to women patrons than other thieves would seem to indicate a campaign directed towards both sexes." — Motion Pict Herald p48 F 15 '36

"Estimate: good neighborhood programmer." — Y Y Exhibitor p42 Ja 25 '36

"Cast, director and writers have done well with this Louis Joseph Vance story. Resulting entertainment is deft society crook comedy that rates top position on any dual assignment. For the beautiful heiress to fall blindly in love with the suave thief is a later revelation to taxes the credulity. As does the crook's reference to the mind. But it's all stressed and is put over so glibly that the average audience won't mind. Proper suspense is injected in tight spots and the scenes turning the slick Lone Wolf over to his enemies are a capital example of excit-ing situations." — Variety p33 F 5 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

LOVE BEFORE BREAKFAST. Mr 2 '36 72mir Universal

Players: Carole Lombard, Preston Foster, Janet Beecher, Cesar Romero, Betty Law-ford

Director: Walter Lang

Based on the novel Spinster Dinner, by Faith Baldwin. "The plot deals with a millionnaire's pursuit of the lady of his choice. He buys an oil company so that another suitor can be sent to Japan and thereby removed from competition. The girl rebuffs all the tricks, including tricking tricking trick to trick, until she suddenly abandons the chase. The tables are quickly turned. The pursuit becomes the pur-suer. After a rescue at sea, the couple are married by the captain. They are still arguing." (Hollywood Reporter)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Unobjectionable for adults." — Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Adults and young people." — Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

"Family, Amusing." — Wdy Guide F 22 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is an extremely tiresome and silly pic-ture... which talks incessantly, but a great deal of background music eases the pain of listening to it but does not condone its many faults." — Hollywood Spec p11 F 29 '36

"The hero and heroine of the new film repre-sent types that Hollywood seems to find peculiarly fascinating... In private life you would find both of them selfish, arrogant and unmanly, but, on the screen you are supposed to think them inexpressibly charming... On behalf of the film it can be said that the dialogue is frequently more sprightly than the plot. The acting, too, is passable. Mr Foster is quite credible as the romantic ex-cutive, Miss Lombard is at least less man-nered than usual as the girl." — Richard Watts, Jr.

+F Y Herald Tribune p8 Mr 16 '36

"It's rather a merry piece in its unostenta-tious way, fast, lively, and good looking. Carole Lombard, surrounded by leading men usually given heavy roles, has to carry most of the fun single-handed." — F Y Sun p10 Mr 11 '36

"A story thin to the point of emaciation is padded out with distractingly bitter incidents, boisterous incidents and scenes after scene involving the stylized mouth and eyebrows of Miss Carole Lombard sufficiently to make of 'Love Before Breakfast,' a quantitatively passable picture. Incidentally, collectors of titles that have little or no bearing on their supposed sub-ject-matter will find this one a veritable mu-seum piece." — B. C.

+F Y Times p10 Mr 14 '36

"This is another footling adaptation of a story by Faith Baldwin, the popularity of whose work in Hollywood may be due to the fact that no terrible effort is required to translate it to the screen... Miss Lombard resents Mr. Foster's methods with such fury that her action is often subordinated to the study of feminine psychology than a problem for psychiatry." — Time p53 Mr 16 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Smart, amusing story of love among the socialites, with a sceneExpandGood: has good family appeal." — Box Office p35 Mr 7 '36

"Three of our favorites in the lead, Carole, Preston and Cesar and do they score!" — Afghanian Moving Pict Digest p10 F 22 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; - Mediocre; - Poor; - - Exceptionally Poor
LOVE BEFORE BREAKFAST—Continued

"A rather sophisticated comedy this will undoubtedly do nicely especially in the smaller spots."

Film Curb p15 F 22 '36

"Handsome production values, and the parading of a lot of fancy apparel by the players to delight the feminine clientele, do much to cover up this story's lack of substantial or novel features. There is no development in the way of genuine action, the story being largely a matter of conversation."

Film Daily p7 Mr 11 '36

"A fairly comedy; it should please romantically inclined young people. There is nothing unusual about the story, which is another modern version of 'The Taming of the Shrew.' ... Suits everyone, all Family."

Harrison's Reports F 29 '36

"One long howl from start to finish. Universal has a smash box-office comedy in 'Love Before Breakfast.' For any house, this adds up to money in the bank. It simply can't miss. ... No short synopsis can do justice to the infectious humor of the piece. It is farce pure and simple, mad farce. Lang's direction strikes at all the right spots and never lets down. He points without seeming to point all the sophisticated laughs and gets everything possible out of the material."

Hollywood Reporter p3 F 15 '36

"This picture attempts to overcome its plot deficiencies by resorting to dialogue which may or may not amuse ... A poor little short length comedy, this picture will doubtless please in many localities."

Motion Pict Daily p8 F 17 '36

"Built upon the premise that a man and a woman cannot get along either with or without each other, this picture stacks up as the kind of attraction for any kind of audience. Wholesome Humor while having just enough of that intimate romantic quality to keep interest continually peeled up, the yarn concentrates on fun."

Motion Pict Herald p11 F 25 '36

"Universal had many headaches before 'Love Before Breakfast' went into production. The result of the screen should be a panacea for any head condition of either the studio or exhibitors, for the picture is topnotch entertainment, headed for good returns in anybody's theatre. ... Picture belongs to Miss Lombard who does the best work she has done in some time, and to Mr. Raymond who is admirably done. She changes pace continually, never lets down. Her handling of the comedy situations is near perfect."

Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 15 '36

LOVE ON A BET. Mr 6 '36 80min RKO

Players: Gene Raymond, Wendy Barrie, Helen Broderick

Director: Leigh Jason

"Gene Raymond makes a bet with his uncle that he will not leave New York dressed only in his underwear, arrive in Los Angeles, ten days later with a good suit, $100 in cash and a sweetheart. If he fails, he loses his uncle's meat packing house. If he wins, he will receive sufficient money to produce a play of which the cross country trip is the plot."

Variety (Hollywood) 12-16:

Audience Suitability Ratings

A: Hardly; Y: Probably good; C: Little interest.

Christian Century p15 Mr 11 '36

"Good. ... Amusing comedy; dialogue vulgarities." DAR

"Lots of sparkle to it and plenty of laughs."

Family. Nat Ed of R

Fox W Coast Bul F 22 '36

"Family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Clean, clever comedy, expert direction and excellently produced. Miss Barrie gives this material greatly aid this production. Adults and young people."

E Coast Preview Committee

"Family." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"It is a gay and refreshing comedy—moving, along smoothly, and the improbable situations, Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"A good family picture."

Nat Soc of New England Women

"The whole, however, is marred by snatches of vulgar dialogue. Family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

F 29 '36 W Coast Bulg F 29 '36

"Family."

Jt Estimates F 15 '36

"'Love on a Bet' is a light farce of modern American life bearing a resemblance to that type of comedy which holds 'It Happened One Night' as its pattern. It assembles improbable situations and fast-flying wisecracks into an amusingly constructed and inconsequential piece of entertainment. Adolescents, 12-16: good; children, 8-12; little interest."

Motion Pict R F 35 '36

"Family."

Nat Council of Jewish Women F 19 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Adults and young people."

Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

"Family."

Variety

Wkly Guide F 15 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The offering, I am told, was intended to be an unimportant program feature. It emerges as one of the most charming comedies of the past twelve months, primarily because of its superb direction."

Allan Hersholt

Hollywood Spec p4 F 15 '36

"The joy Mr. Gene Raymond is even more whimsical and winsome than is his pretty custom in 'Love on a Bet,' the newest and most distressing of the cinema's innumerable efforts to revive the 'Night at the Opera.' It is only fair to say that if you would enjoy a transcontinental motor trip with Mr. Raymond, you may yet find the new film more enlivening than did this correspondent, who would rather travel alone. All of this is told amid an outpouring of minor gags and counter-plot that struck me as being curiously lacking in hilarity after, say, the first ten minutes. For that long it is passable, Miss Barrie isn't immensely helpful as the girl of the story, but then she really cannot be blamed too greatly for that." Richard Watts, Jr.

N Y Herald Tribune p15 Mr 5 '36

"The fun is fairly constant, the atmosphere gayly romantic and the characters amusing. Just like a good short piece, acted competently but hardly with brilliance. It is well above average for its type of film."

Creelman

N Y Sun p21 Mr 5 '36

"Having a diverting and fresh story angle at its disposal and with a cast and director in amiable mood, the picture becomes an engaging treatise on unilateral possibilities. ... Miss Broderick is priceless, as ever, in a role that is perfectly suited to her wry, straight-faced manner, and Mr. Raymond and Miss Barrie carry the comedy-romance along splendidly. In brief, after one more good word for the script writers and for Leigh Jason's direction, 'Love on a Bet' is a mighty pleasant little comedy." F. S. Nugent

N Y Times p30 Mr 5 '36

"Exceptionally Good; Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
"After the success of 'It Happened One Night' it is encouraging that we should see a good many melodramatic comedies of romantic young people hitch-hiking their way up and down and across the continent. The latest offering in this cycle is called 'Love on a Bet.' But don't be inveigled into expecting something skillfully directed, attractively played and highly entertaining as 'It Happened One Night. Indeed, why be inveigled into it at all? For 'Love on a Bet' is just a inconspicuously poor film. However, it is to be hoped that with 'Love on a Bet' out of its form the weakened but still live cinema will begin its slow, uphill convalescence. Potentially, it probably is a fairly amusing idea. But it has been written so maladroitly and it is so clumsy in its mechanics that it stands as an enormously silly entertainment." — William Boehnel

— N Y World-Telegram p19 Mr 5 '36

"'Love on a Bet'... is nothing at all. [It] could be pretty well dozed through entirely, I should say. Helen Broderick, in her more acrid style, contributes an occasional bright moment, but the two young people chiefly in evidence, Gene Raymond and Wendy Barrie, are inclined to be a bit casual about the few little stunts asked of them. John Mosher

— N Y Times p35 Mr 14 '36

"The title is self-explanatory. Gene Raymond bets his wealthy uncle he can leave New York in his underclothes and no money, and arrive in ten days later with $100, a suit of clothes and a fiancée. He does, but audience reaction is "what of it?"

— Pict News Wk p27 F 1 '36

"The result here is a 75-minute exhibit of biceps and boyish charm by Gene Raymond, pleasantly relieved by glimpses of Wendt Barrie the fiancée and Helen Broderick as her sharp-tongued aunt."

Time p57 Mr 16 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"'Love on a Bet' is a good box-office bet for the family trade. It is riotous comedy full of humorous situations and spiked with witty dialogue."

— Box Office p27 F 15 '36

"Great stuff."

— Canadian Moving Pict Digest p10 F 22 '36

"It is one of the most amusing films we've seen in some time and offers real entertainment for any sort of audience."

— Pict Post p34 F 12 '36

"You can chalk this in your date book right now as a light and breezy comedy of two modern lovers that will send your patrons out hugely pleased and completely entertained."

— Film Daily p5 F 25 '36

"A pretty good comedy... Some of the gags are old, but they are still funny enough to amuse the average picture-goer. Suitable for all."

— Harrison's Reports F 22 '36

"This is tops in frolicsome, uproarious mirth that's as clean as a whistle, and hits major league comedy entertainment. It's minor league in names, but provides more laughter per foot than many of its highly-touted brothers... Exhibitors can bet on 'Love on a Bet' to outlast any picture in a long time."

— Reporter p3 Ja 31 '36

"This romantic farce, loaded with situation and dialogue laughs, rates as splendid family entertainment... The picture should be surefire in 'Love on a Bet.'"

— Motion Pict Daily p4 F 1 '36

"Motion Pict Herald p55 F 8 '36

"'Estimate: good program comedy; best for neighborhood houses.""

— N Y Exhibitor p55 F 25 '36

"Making no pretense at anything more. 'Love on a Bet' succeeds in being a pleasant comedy that dishes up an hour or so of satisfactory entertainment. It won't rate better than moderately on the draw because it hasn't the kind of names that attract, but it won't chance em once with its appeal."

— Variety p15 Mr 11 '36

"Top-notch comedy, which if it had stronger names in the cast, would be headed for strong earnings. As it is, it should be a profitable programmer, good enough to stand by itself except in the bigger ace houses. In the subsequent runnings, it should make money. Raymond romps through the picture in a nice easy manner as does Miss Barrie. Both give excellent performances but it is to Miss Broderick to steal the picture. She handles the flip lines in a grand manner and tops her previous screen performances."

— Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 31 '36

M

MAGNIFICENT OBSESSION. Ja 6 '36 110min Universal

Players: Irene Dunne, Robert Taylor, Charles Butterworth, Betty Furness, Sara Haden

Director: John M. Stahl

Based on a novel of the same title by Lloyd C. Douglas, this dramatic tale, an unpleasant young wastrel's drunken actions have caused the death of a distinguished brain specialist and also the loss of sight of the doctor's beautiful wife. Sobred and penitent after this second tragedy, the young man decides to become a minister himself and to live by a mystic philosophy of giving secretly and permitting no re-payment. Years later, distinguished as the world's greatest eye specialist, he operates on the blind woman and enables her to regain her sight.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." — N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

"A: Notable; Y: Mature; C: Beyond them." — Christian Century p185 Ja 22 '36

"In short, a picture one must not miss. Family."

— Congregational

"Excellent. The essence of Douglas' fine book has been preserved in the very fine adaptation. Mature." — D.A.R

"Adults and young people." — E Coast Preview Committee

"Family." — Nat Bd of R

"'Magnificent Obsession' [is] one of the most beautiful and significant pictures of the year." — Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Robert Taylor is to be commended for his excellent work. Family." — So Calif Council of Pnt Church Women

"1935 bows itself out with one more significant and beautiful and unusual picture." — Mrs T. G. Winter

"The story is well staged so that many individuals seen, stand out in memory for pictorial qualities as well as notable direction. Adults.

— Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

"Exceptional; Good; Fair, Mediocre; Poor; Exceptionally Poor.

"A rarely significant and appealing drama of human emotions in which the application of a Christian philosophy overcomes destructive forces. Carefully produced, this picture with its large and able cast is understandingly and sympathetically directed by John M. Stahl.
MAGNIFICENT OBSESSION—Continued

Irene Dunne's characterization of Helen Hudson is one of beauty and sincerity while Robert Taylor's interpretation of the once irresponsible young man is notably fine. Adults. +

+ Good of Women's Clubs (W Coast) D '30

Motion Pict & Family p2 Ja 15 '36

"Family,"

Nat Bd of R M Ja '36

"Unobjectionable for adults."

+ Region of Decency Mr '36

"A: Poignant human drama; Y: Mature; C: Beyond them."

Par M p55 Mr '36

Wky Guide Ja '36 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The formidable task of transferring a copious but concentrated series of dramatic incidents has been accomplished with a maximum of deliberation and a minimum of imagination. Once again, there is the demonstration of the limitations of the cinematic medium when the characterization and description so essential to a novel are telescoped and condensed to the comparatively narrow confines of a scenario for the screen. We seem to have an equal proportion of the work and the director's cutaways, and the director is hardly equal to its demands." R. S.

Boston Transcript p4 Ja 11 '36

"If the movie version softens a bit the spirit of the novel, this too, focuses on the dramatic in the story, it has not been to its disadvantage as a picture. On the whole, the movie version has been admirably conceived, and will undoubtedly stand as one of the month's undoubted successes."

Laura Ekston

+ Canadian M p37 F '36

Christian Science Monitor p15 Ja 4 '36

"The work of the principals, Irene Dunne and Robert Taylor, is sheer artistry, finely developing the concept and focusing on the dramatic in the story, it has not been to its disadvantage as a picture. On the whole, the movie version has been admirably conceived, and will undoubtedly stand as one of the month's undoubted successes."

+ Commonweal p390 Ja 17 '36

"The Magnificent Obsession was a magnificently conceived and it is done magnificently, but it is a story which I am afraid will not have wide popular appeal. It needs at least two hours to tell a story which failed to evoke from me much sympathy. The producer must give a motion picture before it can return dividends in the way of satisfactory entertainment. Failing to hold my interest because of the lack of sympathy, each scene seemed to prolong it unnecessarily. All of which does not mean you will not enjoy it. Other reviewers are loud in its praise."

Hollywood Spec p12 Ja 18 '36

"Of all the tarnished, torturing pictures I've seen, 'Magnificent Obsession' takes the potassium cyanide sundae. I know that it will probably be passed over by my veto by a large veto, but I hereby send it back to Hollywood with my venomous disapproval. It is one of those stories full of people who have things happen to them to 'change the entire course of their lives.'"

Don Herald

— Life p28 Mr '36

"If you care for pseudo-spiritual drama, 'The Magnificent Obsession' may be your dish, as we say around the literary clubs. The acting, I fear, isn't terribly impressive, although Miss Dunne plays the pretty while with customary sincerity and quiet charm. Mr. Taylor is too cute for my taste, but that will have to happen to them to 'change the entire course of their lives.'"

Richard Watts, Jr.

+ — N Y Herald Tribune p9 D '31

"[I]t has a certain spiritual quality, less emphasized, not so much the slick, sophisticated best-seller. Three scenarists and a writer of 'added dialogue' have done much shifting about of Mr. Douglas's script that the screen picture have done nicely without that added dialogue. There is more talk, unnecessary pointless talk about matters unimportant to them. The entire picture is better than in any other production of the past year or more. The story rambles on for a good two hours, the result of it quite as good as it should have been. Some ruthless editing, the cutting out of at least half an hour of loosely woven sequences would have sharpened the drama and lighted the characters. 'Magnificent Obsession' is not obsessed with realism, as a rate. [This does not seem to be distressing the 'Magnificent Obsession' admirers. Their interest seems to be in the philosophy as such rather than realism.]

Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
"Aside from the fact that in the closing sequence, Deborah Kerr and Robert Taylor, the hero, is supposed to have saved a famous surgeon within six years—more prominent than anything that has happened in the story, the story is highly interesting and grips one's attention. There are situations that will tear at one's heartstrings. Suited for all. [Family]."

+ Harrison's Reports Ja 11 '36

"In this tender story of faith and hope and charity, the old assertion that the greatest of these is love, is repeated in more delicate shadings of emphasis, with accelerating and retarding tempo, and with an emotion-stirring restraint that imparts a sympathy with which we may identify ourselves from a folksong. The 'magnificent obsession' is the theory that a man who lives a life of service achieves an exalted happiness for himself and renews the lives of those whom he serves. ... Magnificent is too violent an adjective to describe the work of the actors. But it is sheer artistry. Taylor is gay and irresponsible in the earlier scenes, dignified and tender as the story proceeds. Kerr has a vivid speaking voice. ... It's one of the important pictures of the year, beautifully presented and directed by a master director, John M. Stahl."

+ Motion Pict Daily p12 D 31 '35

"This production strikes a responsive chord by the fineness of its portrayals and the humanness of its drama."

+ Motion Pict Herald p32 Ja 11 '36

"Though not exclusively so, this is emphatically a woman's picture, told with charm, done handsomely. ... Estimate: word-of-mouth builder for at least a week..."

+ N Y Exhibitor p13 Ja 25 '36

"[It] is another in a recent crop of artistic film successes which is a credit to the industry in every way. If its 110 minutes running time makes it appear a bit sluggish, the sensitive and intelligent development and motivation of the characters makes the initial lethargic progression appear acceptable. This is not the case, for the psychological atmosphere of godliness and faith likewise seems to enter the exhibition arena at a psychologically appropriate period. Whether construed in relation to present-day world turmoil, or to a very limited sphere within the average auditor's immediate contacts, the spiritual background of 'Magnificent' is magnificent. ... Cast, cameraman and the librettists, along with Miss Dunne, may well be coming their way for the combined good results of their total efforts."

+ New Theatre p12 S 1 '36

"Magnificent Obsession' presents a spiritual theme with delicacy, beauty and power in terms of human, moving drama along lines of the biblical faith. It is an intelligently approached and impressively produced and should register solidly. ... Care, time, pains and intelligent forethought put into the offering by Stahl and E. M. Asher, as associate producer, are fully justified by result in giving Carl Laemmle a winner, both from the prestige and financial angle. In addition, contributions from every department are topnotch. Miss Dunne is never off key. Her scenes while blind are magnificent, and final episode in hospital is one of most powerful emotional moments of the year. The performances of trained players. His performance and personality will do much to support the picture's special appeal to women." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 31 '35

MAKING OF A KING. D 9 '35 82min Deka

Players: Emil Jannings, Leopoldine Konstantin. Werner Hinz. Claus Clausen

Director: Hans Steinhoff

The German film Der Alte und der Junge König makes the story of how Frederick the First of Prussia, played by Jannings, forced his eldest son, who was to be consecrated to the Church, to put aside his youthful occupation with military things and school himself in kingship. The Crown Prince so hated the idea that he ran away and escaped from Prussia and go to his mother's native England; to this plan his friend, Lieut. Katte, was privy. When King Frederick met him, he ordered that Katte be put to death and that the Crown Prince witness the execution to learn what bravery to a nation means. This estranged son and father, but made the son at least a student of state-craft, which is recognized today as he is to succeed on his deathbed. (N Y Sun)

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Emil Jannings is as good as we thought he was. He is still, in round numbers, the greatest of all screen actors. ... His power is all the more appreciated when you find yourself held spellbound in a picture in the German language, even when you understand only a little German, as I do. The English subtitles give you the drift, and Jannings sweeps you. He is tender, humorous, sweet, then stern as iron, devastingly florid. I think you will not miss 'The Making of a King.'" Don Herald

+ Life p20 F 3 '36

"Germany has sent us an official cinematic embodiment of fascist tenets—nationalist philosophy and ideals. ... [It] furnishes a complete category of fascist tenets—hatred of other nations, male-supremacy and glorification of war and the sacrifices of individual rights, a total minimization of human life and an insane glorification of the military hero."

+ New Theatre p22 Ja '36

"Though rather clumsy in its manner and lumbering in its story telling, it possesses an undeniable interest as a historical chronicle but as a statement of the official Nazi attitude toward the philosophy and ethics of history. I might add that all of this is presented with earnestness and admiration. ... I think I have exaggerated, go and see for yourself. I must say, though that I found the whole thing just a trifles chilling.

+ N Y Herald Tribune p17 D 10 '35

"'The Making of a King' is heralded here as a hit in Europe. ... Jannings dominates the film, and Werner Hinz, as the Crown Prince, would hold his own even if another player, so well does he take his part.

There is no doubt but that he is intended as propaganda for the present German Government, with its glorification of country above self, and its scheme of destroying all speech that is against the Government. The speeches, in fact, are said to have been cut out of the film as Nazi propaganda when it was showing in Austria. But it remains good entertainment." D. C. A.

+ N Y Sun p31 D 10 '35

"A prefatory note declares that [the film] has been careful to observe strict historical accuracy, and this is entirely possible. It simply happens that the picture has been condensed into the past thirty years of the nation. Judged strictly on its dramatic merits, it emerges as quite the best film that has come out of Nazi Germany, as it has. ... Emil Jannings in one of his most brilliant characterizations. ... At the same time, you cannot resist the dramatic skill that has gone into the drama, and the genuine emotional vigor with which it tells of the conflict between two iron tempers." Andred Minard

+ N Y Times p31 D 10 '35

"Although it is as grim and brutal a portrait of a ruthless man as the screen has ever produced it is also a splendid characterization. ... Mr. Jannings' performance as the incredible Wilhelm is at once unbearable and fascinating. ... His performance that blends brutality, meanness, cheapness and a

+++ Exceptionally Good; ++ Good; + - Fair; ++ Mediocre; - Poor; +++ Exceptionally Poor
MAKING OF A KING—Continued
blind heroic quality in an altogether brilliant manner."—William Boehnel
+ N Y World-Telegram p23 D 10 '35

"I shouldn't call this one of the major Jannings portraits, but it's a good, sound, sensible picture of the old bully, somewhat on the more than usually sympathetic side. . . . [It] follows pretty much the usual outlines in the history books of young Frederick's early life. . . . The film is a Jannings picture, and the hero of the piece is the old man, not the youngster, and I don't think the story slumps or just becomes Nazi propaganda, as some insist it is, because Jannings gives the elder Frederick's side of the story too."—John Mosher
+ New Yorker p89 D 21 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"[An] impressive German dialogue film with Eng. subtitles—masterly characterization."—Film Daily p13 D 10 '35

"Once again the sly German cinema makes faces at the world in this feature. It isn't obvious, but it's dramatic. It doesn't even call itself propaganda; it poses, instead, as historical narrative. But propaganda it is, nevertheless. [The] picture has a set of English titles which don't quite make sense but which manages to translate all the import of the whole thing. The holiness of state, and the necessity to submerge all personal impulses for the general good."—Variety p19 D 11 '35

MAN HUNTED. F 1 '36 65min Warner
Players: Marguerite Churchill, William Gargan, Ricardo Cortez, Charles (Chic) Sale
Director: William Clemens
A small town school teacher in love with a newspaper reporter admires the stories of the bad men of history which an old gunfighter relates. When a notorious gangster breaks jail and is pursued by a trainload of G-men and star reporter, they hide in the teacher's home. How she and the young man capture the criminal and outwit the pursuers makes up the story.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Adults: fair; 11-18: fair; 8-14: no."—Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Mature. Good."—DAR

"Adult."—Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Family."—Nat Soc of New England Women

"Drinking and too much shooting make it unsuitable for children. Mature."—S Calif Council of Fed Church Women
+ — Fox W Coast Bul Ja 25 '36

"Family. Mature."—Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ja 11 '36

"While the story is thin, the natural characterization of Chic Sale as the sheriff and the interesting picture of small town life will entertain many. Family. Mature."—Jt Estimates Ja 15 '36

"The direction in this picture is slow moving and undramatic though smooth but the story is handled well and the做事 is set of Eng. subtitles and masterly characteriza-

[The] attempt at humor falls very flat. . . . Newspaper reporters are portrayed in an unnecessary and unpleasant manner. . . ."—Nat Council of Jewish Women Ja 15 '36

"Unobjectionable for adults."—Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

"A and Y: Amusing satire; C: Entertaining."—Par M p55 Mr '36

Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Audiences which seek their screen entertainment only in the big, first run theatres, miss a lot of excellent little pictures which are turned out for the neighborhood houses and small-town exhibitors who cannot pay the fancy prices for such first run stars. And because these class "B" offerings must be made economically, they have, as a rule, simple than the bigger stories which provide for much outdoor shooting against backgrounds provided without cost by nature. . . . I found 'Man Hunt' thoroughly enjoyable. . . . This class B picture has been given a class A cast. . . ."—Hollywood Spec pl3 Ja 18 '36

Reviewed by Beverly Hills Daily News p29 F 16 '36

"While 'Man Hunt' fails to follow the ex-class B pictures—'Little Caesar' or 'The Public Enemy,' for example—is rather an amusing little film yarn, aided by a cast of competent and experienced players. The absurdity of its plotly doings give it an unintentional comic touch and once the Sale, Civil War deputy, out to capture single-handed the desperado who so grimly walks through the picture, is a unique characterization. Whether the picture could have been better, with the ingredients supplied by the script writer, is debatable. As it stands, it results in just another 'movie.'"—Marguerite Tazelaar.

+ — N Y Herald Tribune pl3 Ja 30 '36

"It works up quite a bit of excitement itself in the telling and more than its share of good-natured humor."—Eileen Creelman

+ — N Y Sun pl6 Ja 29 '36

"Periodically, some major film company, after having warmed over certain outstandingly lucrative successes of the immediate past, will put them all together—as a thrifty housewife mixes a hash from the leftovers of former banquets—in the hope that they will prove edible, if not exactly appetizing. Such a picture is 'Man Hunt.'"—E. R. C.
+ — N Y Times pl4 Ja 30 '36

"There is a new film called 'Man Hunt.' But don't be deceived by that. It is in no way like either of those two-fisted, sharply-spoken, fast-moving melodramas of the underworld like 'G-Men' and of this ilk. It has been veiled into it at all? For it is just an inconspicuously poor film,"—William Boehnel

+ — N Y World-Telegram p19 Ja 31 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Simple down-to-earth story, expertly developed to intrigue and satisfy family patronage."—Box Office p29 Ja 25 '36

"Lots of excitement with Chic Sale, the ex-sheriff being on the job."—S. Niemeyer

+ Canadian Moving Pict Digest p10 F 29 '36

"Here is a picture that surely ought to keep any class of audience with them square on the screen. It rates high for this sort of entertainment. . . ."—Film Curb pl5 Ja 11 '36

"Amusing comedy drama with good amount of action and laughs plus romance."—Film Daily p8 Ja 29 '36

A fair program comedy-melodrama. . . . Suitable for all. [Family]. . . ."—Harmon's Reports F 8 '36

"A comedy, this satirizes G-Men and big shot newspaper reporters, and evidently was produced for the small town, giving that patronage opportunity to laugh at the 'wise' city folks.
MAN OF IRON. D 21 '35 60min First national

Plot: First, Barton MacLane; Mary Astor; John Eldredge; Dorothy Peterson

Director: William McGann

Based on the novel, Country Boy, by Dawn Powell. The story of a steel mill worker who rises from foreman to an executive position. His success goes to his head and he nearly loses everything, but comes down to earth when he realizes how nearly he has lost his best friends. (Wkly Guide)

Audio Suitability Ratings

- Good.
- Endorsed Motion Pict D '35
- Adults and 14-18; fair; 8-14; mature." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers
- Mediocre. Mature; 14-18." DAR

"There is material here for a strong picture, but something went wrong with the adapta

- tion—the result is a picture that is illogical in its development, confused in its ideas, and false in its psychology. Disappointing. Adults." New York Daily News of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

- "A gripping melodrama, well acted and in

- parts very dramatic and exciting. Family." Nat Soc of New England Women

"This picture does not have any exceptional entertainment value. The movement is slow and the dialogue is stiffed. It is not a true portrayal of the American working classes, and unfortunate that it should be shown at this time when class distinction should not be\n
- stressed. It will be received with resentment by adults." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

- "Rather a slow moving, ponderous picture with a good lesson. Adults and family." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

- Fox W Coast Bul N 23 '35

- "The humorous possibilities are rather over

- worked in a production which moves slowly and unconvincingly through a series of situa

- tions whose entertainment value is materially weakened by too much emphasis and exaggera

- tion. Adults and young people. E Coast Pre-

- view Committee

- "Suitable for church halls, schools or family night programs." Internat Fed of Cath Alumnae

- "It is fairly entertaining in its development. Family." Mrs M. Winter Fox W Coast Bul D 21 '35

- + + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; + Mediocre; - Poor; -- Exceptionally Poor

"A human interest story ... satisfactorily cast and capably directed, with a niche intermingling of comedy and drama. Family"

- Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) N 11 '35

- "A dull hackneyed story and slow moving, stagey direction prevent a capable cast making other than a tiresome uninteresting picture. Adults, if any."

- Nat Council of Jewish Women N 1 '35

- "A and Y; Fair; C: Little interest."

- Par M p55 Mr '36

"Family."

Wkly Guide N 22 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p17 D 6 '35

Christian Science Monitor p13 D 7 '35

- "A Warner Brothers film that even exceeds "Black Fury's" insults to the American working class."

- Back Bay

- - New Theatre p11 Ja '36

- "Although Mr. MacLane, a really fine actor, as he has demonstrated on numerous previous occasions, is not himself handiest in the leading role of Chris Bennett, the odds are against him. As a result his real debut as a star must be deferred until he is given material more suitable to his talents. But neither [the supporting cast] nor the star is able to overcome the obstacles the story imposes upon them, and so 'Ilian of Iron' must be set down as another of the current cinema's weaklings."

- William Bochnel

- N Y World-Telegram p27 D 11 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

- Box Office p27 N 23 '35

- Film Curb p6 N 15 '35

- "[This is] basically a man's picture."

- + + Film Daily p7 D 7 '35

- Motion Pict Daily p12 N 4 '35

- "A man's story, the picture nevertheless is

- hardly of the caliber to serve as anything but an average attraction."

- + Motion Pict Herald p64 N 16 '35

- "Family melodrama."

- N Y Exhibitor p36 N 25 '35

- "[Story] fits MacLane well, but it won't fit the fans. An action programmer, it will just get by on double bills. . . Written entirely according to formula and with some disregard for (or perhaps to enhance) the story principally at fault. As in many stories of its kind, the rise of MacLane from the shop to the vice-

- presidency, although he can't dictate a letter, is a bit sudden."

- Variety p19 D 11 '35

MAN WHO BROKE THE BANK AT MONTE CARLO. N 29 '35 66min 20th century-Fox

Players: Joan Bennett. Colin Clive. Ronald Colman

Director: Stephen Roberts

From the play of same title by Iila Surgut-

- toff and Frederick Albert Swan. A Russian

- refugee prince reduced to driving a taxi in Paris is sent by his friends, who have

- pooled their resources, to break the bank at Monte Carlo. But the system they have worked out. He does that and falls into the hands of unsuspicious persons who arrange for him to lose the money.

Audio Suitability Ratings

- "Class A. Approved for adult audiences."

- N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

- Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

- "Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; + Mediocre; - Poor; -- Exceptionally Poor

- Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; + Mediocre; - Poor; -- Exceptionally Poor MAN WHO BROKE THE BANK AT MONTE CARLO—Continued
"A and Y: Entertaining; C: No interest."
Christian Century p62 Ja 8 '36

"Good." + Endorsed Motion Pict D '35

"Pleasant entertainment, with smooth action and attractive settings. Adults and 14-18: good; 8-14: uninteresting." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Mature; 14-18." DAR

"The Monte Carlo settings are very elaborate and the Alpine mountain scenes add a note of majestic beauty. Good. Family." Internat Fed of Cath Alumnae

"Ronald Colman gives his usual clear cut interpretation of the mysterious adventurer, but Joan Bennett is ineffective as the adventureess. The direction is uneven in that the director shows promise of something outstanding and never quite fulfills that promise. Disappointing. Adults." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Colorful and beautifully staged, the picture will interest adults." Nat Soc of New Eng Women

"Well directed and cast. Adults." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Authentic backgrounds of the Casino, romance, skulduggery and comedy, spun into a glamorous fairy tale. Adults." Mrs T. G. Winter

"There is nothing morally subversive, and a lesson is appended to the effect that gambling never pays. The dialogue is good but not outstanding. Perhaps one could wish that Ronald Colman had a little more dash in some of the scenes, but on the whole the mood is well sustained. 12-16: good; 8-12: mature." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles + Fox W Coast But N 23 '35

"Adults." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) N 12 '35

"Pleasant entertainment, with smooth action and attractive settings. Adults." + Jt Estimates N 1 '35

"Good; family, mature." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"A and Y: Diverting; C: Mature." Par M p65 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p17 D 6 '35

"Ronald Colman's slightly artificial style is given an excellent setting in a pattern story that is managed with intelligence and taste." + Christian Science Monitor p13 N 20 '35

"Mr. Colman lends dignity and effervescence and dress to the whole trivial affair, and makes of it a nice, fluffy, enjoyable picture. Miss Bennett has never electrified this phlegmatic critic, but if Mr. Colman thinks she is worth all that enthusiasm, then she is temporarily all right with me." Don Herold + — Life p21 Ja '36

"Mr. Colman plays the gambling emigre in his engagingly ironic manner, and when he is in his best form, he is one of the most likable of the screen's light comedians." Richard Wos, + N Y Herald Tribune p18 N 15 '35

Reviewed by Eileen Creelman
N Y Sun p32 N 15 '35
N Y Times p5 N 17 '35

"What makes [the film] so entertaining is not the story of the film but the actors' friendly attitude toward the characters they are portraying and the glib manner in which they speak the piece's pleasant dialogue." William Boehnel + N Y World-Telegram p27 N 15 '35

"It's all very Continental, but with the clear skies of Hollywood always above." John Mosher + New Yorker p66 N 23 '35

Spring'd Republican p6 N 21 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p31 N 22 '35

"The light comedy is an ideal vehicle for the star and he gives a finished, polished performance." + Film Daily p4 O 28 '35

"With gaiety that sparkles and bubbles as its outstanding trait, this comedy of adventuring in gambling, romance and intrigue is a feature that should prove as popularly alluring as is the significance of its title in sense and locale." + Motion Pict Herald p65 N 16 '35

"Family comedy, drama." N Y Exhibitor p31 N 10 '35

"Colman, looking a bit old, plays a little too seriously in most scenes and never gives his action the flair which would possibly have pulled him to the top. Miss Bennett chiefly looks pretty and plays without verve or hisorical distinction." — Variety p16 N 20 '35

MARIA NUZIALE. (Italian title) See Wedding March

MARIA CHAPDELAIN. S 29 '35 80min France-film

Players: Madeleine Renaud, Suzanne Despreis, Andre Bacque. Daniel Mandella

Director: Julien Duvivier

"From the novel of same title by Louis Hemon. "Film of rural life in French Canada, simple in plot—just the ordinary life of the people—but abounding in rich characterizations and the atmosphere of the countryside in its varying seasons." (Wkly Guide)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Beneath the simple beauty of its scenes, the countryside and its inhabitants (so sympathetically acted by an excellent cast of players) is a moral beauty, unobtrusive but all pervading and deeply moving." J. S. H, + Nat Bd of R M N 35

"Unobjectionable for general patronage," of the same descript. Nat Bd of R M 12 '36

"Recommended for church use, and for schools and libraries. Family." + Wkly Guide S 28 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p8 O 30 '35

"The film has power and is free from sentimentality. It was photographed partly in Canada and received an important cinema award in France for its quality." + Christian Science Monitor p13 O 26 '35

"Compared to the simplicity of the episode in the novel, the presentation in the film may seem over-elaborated. The quality of the acting is uniformly high." Robert Giroux + Nation p447 O 16 '36

N Y Times p53 N 3 '35

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; — + Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
MARY BURNS, FUGITIVE. N 15 '35 $4min Paramount

A young girl, owner of a mountain tea shop, unwittingly falls in love with a notorious gangster and is sentenced to prison for circumstantial evidence. How she escapes, finds a job and is menaced by her gangster sweetheart forms the plot of this melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences."

N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Case News p21 Ja 25 '36

"A: Good of kind; Y: Not the best; C: No."

Christian Century p1606 D 11 '35

"Good."

Endorsed Motion Pict D '35

"The convincing acting of Sylvia Sidney and some beautiful outdoor settings make up, in a sort of minor category, Fair entertain ment for adults. Possibly familiar."

Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"The plot moves to a strong climax and the acting is competent. Particularly noteworthy is the photography of the grim prison scenes with their symbolic lights and shadows. Adults and young people." E Coast Preview Committee

Fox W Coast Bul N 22 '35

"An intensely interesting picture due to fast tempo, realistic characterization and skillful direction. Adults and young people." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) N 18 '35

"Sylvia Sidney gives a logical, sympathetic portrayal and is supported by a competent cast. The direction is smooth and efficient and the suspense well timed. Adults."

Jt Estimates N 15 '35

Mo Film Bul p197 D '35

"Very good. Adults & young adults."

Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"Adults."

Nat Council of Jewish Women N 1 '35

"A and Y: Fast-moving public enemy drama; C: Too imaginative."

Par M p55 Mr '36

"Family."

Wkly Guido O 16 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p13 N 23 '33

"It threatens to be just another prison persecution picture, but pretty soon the story swings into new territory and is as gripping as is good for you. Sylvia Sidney, who was pitably miscast and inadequate as the secretary in 'Accent on Youth,' is in clover in the role of Mary, where she can suffer and suffer and suffer."

Don Herold

Life p21 Ja '36

"An exceptionally good cinema melodrama, shrewdly conceived, sagely produced and expertly acted."

Richard Watts, Jr.

+ + N Y Herald Tribune p6 N 16 '35

"This is exciting, swiftly paced entertainment. There is plenty of action, straightforward narration, and direction which wastes no time on details and exposition. It hasn't much time for comedy relief either, relying upon pace and suspense to carry the entertainment."

Eileen Creelman

+ + N Y Sun p8 N 16 '35

Reviewed by Andre Sennwald

N Y Times p19 N 16 '35

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; + - Mediocre; - Poor; - + Exceptionally Poor

"An exciting and entertaining melodrama played with unerring skill by its entire cast. It is a crime-thriller, fast-moving, exciting and altogether satisfying piece of work."

William Boehnel

+ + N Y World-Telegram p24 N 16 '35

"Sometimes I thought that 'Mary Burns, Fugitive' was also intended as an outline of a mental case, but then I realized I was just facing the trial processes of our usual heroine." John Mosher

- New Yorker p96 N 23 '35

Springf'd Republican p6c N 24 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p34 N 23 '35

"A fast moving, exciting G-Men-Gangster melodrama that is somewhat different from the usual run. Grade A melodramatic entertainment suitable for any type theatre or audience."

+ Film Curb p9 N 15 '35

"This is just the type of picture that fits Sylvia Sidney perfectly and she scores hand somely in a suspenseful yarn with plenty of action, punch and emotional love interest."

+ Film Daily p7 N 9 '35

"Grin in all but its romantic phases, the action, dialogue and situations are skilfully blended to create and maintain interest."

+ Motion Pict Daily p13 N 8 '35

"As a gangster production the picture is sensa tional. It presents a better than average combination of stars, supporting cast and story values, and offers a real drive to stimulate feminine interest."

+ Motion Pict Herald p63 N 16 '35

"Family melodrama."

N Y Exhibitor p37 N 25 '35

"In retrospective analysis the picture is replete with phoney touches and short-of-con vincing acting. William Howard has made it move with a deceptive tempo that hides basic flaws. The picture was not well thought out in advance but it was ably worked out in the shooting."

- Variety p16 N 20 '35

LA. MATERNELLE. O 14 '36 85min Studios Photosonar

Players: Madeleine Renaud, Paulette Elambert, Mady Berri, Henri Debain

Directors: Jean Benoit-Levy, Marie Epstein

Based on Prix Goncourt novel of same name by Leon Frapin. "Marie, sensitive, nine year old daughter of a prostitute, attends a day nursery in an impoverished quarter of Paris. From Rose, an educated girl who due to economic circumstances has become the nursery's maid of all work, she receives the only affection and understanding [she has] ever known. When she sees Rose in the arms of Dr. Libois, who cares for the health of the nursery children, she becomes thoroughly distrustful and attempts suicide. She is rescued and finally reconciled to the marriage of Rose and the doctor."

(Springf'd Republican)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences."

N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"No other film since 'The Road to Life' has had the same quality of children being natural among themselves." E.E. Mosher

- Nat Bd of R M S '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The acting—if it could be called that—in the characters that count, is completely unforced. Paulette Elambert gives so amazing a performance as the problem child, a mixture of shyness, stubbornness and affection, that it seems a completely natural expression of herself. It is the children and the problems that make the picture something out of the ordinary. It may not be altogether pleasant. But neither is the life from which these children are taken." E. F. M.
LA MATERNELLE—Continued

Christian Science Monitor p13 D 28 '35

"The restrained and rather tranchelike acting of Madeleine Renaud as Rose did not balance the positive force of all the nameless juveniles among whom she moved like an angel," Mark Van Doren

National p348 N 6 '35

"M. Benoît-Levy who made the film, deserves immense credit not only for the selection of types and the perfection of the performances, but for the straightforwardness and high effectiveness of the drama. In fact, he has directed so well that his grown-up actors are almost as good as his histrionic children." Richard Watts, Jr.

NY Herald Tribune p19 O 15 '35

"It ranks among the most brilliant screen works of the year, but its excellence resides in the passionate honesty of its approach and the magnificent manipulation of its subject matter, rather than in any superb camera qualities," Andre Sennwald

+ NY Times p5 O 20 '35

"A superior and honest sketch of the children of Montmartre—the real Montmartre, not the tourists."

+ New Yorker p4 N 16 '35

"It is a straightforward presentation of the psychological reaction to her environment of a child, Marie." *

Springfield Republican p7c O 13 '35

Time O 28 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Motion Pict Herald p64 N 16 '35

NY Exhibitor p37 N 25 '35

(†)MAYFLOWER, D 27 '35 Tmin Educational Directors: Frank Moser, Paul Terry

"The Paul Terry cartoon character comes over on the Mayflower and helps to enliven the voyage of our Happy Families. Landed on Plymouth Rock (which consists of a small boulder with a Plymouth hen hatching her brood), the cartoon hero and his blunderbuss and dog soon run afoot of the Indians." Film Daily

Trade Paper Reviews

"This is a snappy and for the most part somewhat original cartoon subject."

+ Box Office p18 Ja 18 '36

Film Daily p11 Ja 7 '36

"In this cartoon there is some good invention which will carry it over. A good one in the cartoon line."

+ Motion Pict Daily p9 Ja 9 '36

"Clever, funny, Good."

+ NY Exhibitor p37a Ja 10 '36

MELODY LINGERS ON, N 9 '35 84min United artists-Reliance

Players: Josephine Hutchinson, George Houston, John Halliday, Mona Barrie

Director: David Burton

From a novel of same title by Lowell Brennan. A young piano student falls in love with a dashing opera singer who has joined the army. He is killed and she is forced to leave her baby at a convent. Later she becomes a famous pianist, sees her son brought up to manhood by adopted parents and induces them to let him develop his inherited musical talent.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." NY Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A moving tale, slow in spots but generally forthright which should appeal to adults."

+ Endorsed Motion Pict D '35

"Unconvincing. Adults." DAR

"A somewhat complicated and lengthy plot is balanced by the splendid voice of George Houston and the expert acting of Josephine Hutchinson out, and has too much of the scent of cast. Adults and young people." East Coast Review Committee

"Mature audience; 18 years up." Nat Bd of R

+ Fox W. Coast Bull N 20 '35

Mo Film Bul p198 D '35

"Family."

Nat Council of Jewish Women J '6 1 '36

"A: War drama; Y: Mature; C: Unsuitable." Par M p55 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p63 N 9 '35

"Josephine Hutchinson is a good actress, not one of the by-grace-of-Max-Factor girls—but she's squandered in this interminable heart-yaiker."

Don Herold

Life p34 Ja 36

"For all its pictorial beauty, and the sometimes touching performance by Miss Hutchinson, [the film] is, we fear, too labored and drawn out, and has too much of the scent of lavender and old lace in its flowery folds." Marguerite Tazelaar

+ NY Herald Tribune p19 N 7 '35

"The drama is complicated, prolonged, and highly sentimental." Eileen Creelman

N Y Sun p23 N 7 '35

"The film falls lamentably short of perfection."

— NY Times p27 N 7 '35

"Old-fashioned and stereotyped in narrative and treatment." William Boehnel

— NY World-Telegram p19 N 7 '35

"In a straightforward manner made all the more dramatic through its simplicity, the story of the brief romance of an American girl pianist and an Italian singer unfolds against the background of war-torn Italy. One of the most strikingly moving scenes the screen has ever presented is the one in which Ann Prescott, who has gained entrance to the convent nursery through trickery a year after her separation from her infant son, steals from crib to crib to find that she cannot recognize her own child."

+ Springfield Republican p8 D 13 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p51 N 16 '35

"[The] cast and director have struggled with a threadbare plot and it is to their credit that they have made the film fair entertainment." Film Daily p10 N 15 '35

"A generally absorbing and sympathetic story even though its basic theme is of familiar pattern."

+ Film Daily p11 N 7 '35

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
MELODY TRAIL. O 14 ’35 50min Republic
Director: Joseph Kane
A Western melodrama.

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p55 N 23 ’35
"This is a crackerjack Western with plenty of thrills and it also has catchy musical numbers."
+ Film Curb p17 O 1 ’35
"Once again Western master Nat Levine has turned out an open air picture that can’t help clicking. ‘Family Western’"
+ N Y Exhibitor p36 O 10 ’35
"Average dual fare. . . Gene Autry, who has been on radio, is featured here. All proceedings at outset are built about his singing, a welcome change, if nothing else."
— Variety p34 D 11 ’35

MESSAGE TO GARCIA. A p10 ’35 85min 26th century-Fox
Director: George Marshall
Based on the novel of the same title by Lieutenant Andrew S. Rowan and the essay of the same title by Elbert Hubbard. This story tells of the historical delivery of Lieutenant Rowan of the famous message from President McKinley to General Garcia in Cuba. Beset by a spy and a Marine deserter who is paid by both friend and foe, Lieutenant Rowan accompanied by a Cuban martyr’s daughter is finally successful.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Adult and young people."
Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) Mr 1 ’36
"In spite of its popular cast and the stirring historical incident on which it is based, the picture misses its mark and is lacking in vitality and verve. . . Poor taste is shown in the numerous scenes of torture and pain. Adults: young people."
Nat Council of Jewish Women Mr 4 ’36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"Peculiarly thrilling for American hearts."
Canadian M p13 Mr ’36
"All the basic story material [the writers] had could have been written on a postage stamp. Memory fails to capture another instance of intelligent padding comparable with this one, for ‘A Message to Garcia’ is interesting for every foot of every reel. It is a splendid picture, a notable contribution to what is proving to be a season of notable productions."
+ Hollywood Spec p7 Mr 14 ’36

Trade Paper Reviews
"Picture is a slow starter, but gathers momentum and builds suspense as it unwinds."
— Box Office p18 Mr 14 ’36
"This is a slow moving melodrama. . . Incidentally, there are an over-abundance of horror stuff [which] most audiences will not particularly care for. It cannot hope to do much in the big spots where it may get put in smaller theatres. . . A scene where Boles and Stanwyck are tortured is just a little too much and one which lies Women certainly will not like."
+ Film Curb p17 Mr 7 ’36
"The message of this robust adventure picture . . . is one of profits and more profits at the little glass case. Darryl Zanuck has struck twelve for exhibitors again. For this is as high-tension a discharge of entertainment voltage as anyone could desire. This is a grand job of picture-making throughout and there are a host of credits earned."
+ Motion Pict Daily p3 Mr 2 ’36
"Tactfully produced to avoid the possibility of injuring Spanish sensibilities, this is a thrill action, sometimes horror-tinged popularization of Lieutenant Rowan’s famous true story. . . . George Marshall’s direction assures that where melodramatic adventure and romance are concerned, the film is sufficiently robustious. The historical background plus the name strength provide ample opportunity for unique and timely showmanship."
+ Motion Pict Herald p56 Mr 14 ’36
"Carrying the message to Garcia, an adventure in personal bravery and patriotic duty preceding the Spanish-American war which became an inspirational classic to young Americans of a generation ago, must actually have been more dramatic in dramatic episode, if this screening pretends to follow Lieutenant Rowan’s true experiences. The picture, largely because of thin story, emerges as mediocre melodrama, with a marked lack of punch and no high sense of the heroic. On merit it will command only fair returns, and will require heavy campaigning to make the grade."
+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 2 ’36

METROPOLITAN. N 8 ’35 79min 20th century-Fox
Players: Lawrence Tibbett. Virginia Bruce. Alice Brady
Director: Richard Boleslawski
A temperamental prima donna refuses a role at the Metropolitan and forms her own opera company, taking with her a young singer from the chorus to be her leading man. She takes charge of the new company when she becomes too temperamental, obtains funds from a wealthy and helps raise the curtain on Pagliacci.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"A: Fair; Y: Fairly good; C: Harmless."
Christian Century pl064 D 25 ’35
"Family."
Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) O 30 ’35
"Delightful entertainment for the entire family."
+ Jt Estimates N 1 ’35

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + – Fair; – + Mediocre; – Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

METROPOLITAN—Continued

Mo Film Bu173 N '35

"A. Y and C: Operatic comedy."

Par M p55 Mr '36

"Superb rendition by Mr. Tibbett of several favorite semi-classical and operatic selections woven into a light and amusing story. . . Thoroughly satisfactory entertainment of the highest order and suitable for suggested for musical programs. Recommended to the Committee on Exceptional Photoplays. Family."

+ + Wkly Guide N 2 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The British Film Institute [critics] who are good judges, had said of 'Metropolitan': 'The quiet, unexpected ending of the film, after the prologue to 'Pagliacci,' besides being extremely effective in itself, is typical of the restraint and economy of the film as a whole. It is as full of genuine drama and natural humour, and as instinct with good taste, and appreciation of the worth of music, as it is free from any sentimentalism or redundant action. That was all true, every word of it.'" D. W. Buchanan

+ + Canadia Forum p11 Mr '36

Christian Science Monitor p15 O 19 '35

Reviewed by Beverly Hills Liberty p16 N 30 '35

"A lot of movies are merely better than bridge or fishing or poker, but a film like 'Metropolitan' is an experience. . . It manages, incidentally, to have a lot more of a sense of humor than most movies about musical critics." Don Herold

+ + Life p27 O '35

"Mr. Tibbett lacks some of the pictorial attributes of the Hollywood romantic hero, a lack that somewhat hindered him in his earlier adventures with camera and sound track, but in his current vehicle his magnificent voice is so wisely utilized and the variations on the plot theme so playfully handled that 'Metropolitan' becomes easily the best example of its school since Miss Grace Moore's first screen triumph, 'Richard Watts, Jr.'"

+ + N Y Herald Tribune p19 O 15 '35

"Superbly stirring in its choice and execution of the musical numbers, it is also a gay and spirited offering on the social opera management. . . 'Metropolitan' is very, likely the best musical film of the season. . . ." Andre Senwald

+ + N Y Times p27 O 18 '35

Springfield Republican p6c D 15 '35

Time p54 O 28 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p55 N 16 '35

Film Curb p17 N 1 '35

"Lawrence Tibbett, using his voice generously in this backstage opera story. . . The picture should be favorably received by Tibbett admirers."

+ + Motion Pict Daily p11 O 17 '35

N Y Exhibitor p31 N 10 '35

MIDNIGHT PHANTOM. N 21 '35 63min Reliable

Players: Reginald Denny, Claudia Dell, Lloyd Hughes

Director: B. B. Ray

A murder mystery with police headquarters as setting. A dozen policemen are cast as possible murderers but eventually the problem is solved by one of them.

Trade Paper Reviews

Film Curb p15 D 1 '35

"The cast is a competent one, and except for a couple of spots in which cutting would speed up the action, the direction is of the finest type."

+ + Film Daily p9 N 21 '35

"This is something of a mystery film which rates as only ordinary fare. . . For a murder mystery too much time is permitted to elapse before the murder is committed and too little in uncovering the real culprit."

+ + Motion Pict Daily p15 N 27 '35

"Family mystery drama."

N Y Exhibitor p56 D 10 '35

MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM. O 9 '35 132min Warner

Players: Dick Powell, James Cagney, Anita Louise, Mickey Rooney, Joe E. Brown, Jean Muir

Directors: Max Reinhardt, William Dieterle

Music: Felix Mendelssohn. Arranged by Erich Wolfgang Korngold

Based on the play by William Shakespeare.

"Shakespearean fantasy of lovers fooled by the fairies in the Athenian woods on midsummer's night." (Wkly Guide)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Max Reinhardt's production stands supreme among all screen presentations, as a lavish and magnificent fantasy. It is so exquisite in its beauty, charm, feeling, and mood, so enchantingly and artistically presented, one feels transported to the realm of fairyland. Family." + + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) S 22 '35

Motion Pict & Family O 15 '35

"This particular translation of Shakespeare into cinema . . . throws into clear relief the utter unsuitability of much of the play to the demands of the screen. It fails most noticeably, partly because of the basic silliness of the plot, and partly because of a generation which is accustomed to seeing the same thing done much more amusingly in a Noel Coward play."

J. A. T. — Nat Bd of R M N '35

"Sounds, settings, rhythmic movement, lights, and shadows, blended with the majesty of Mendelssohn's music, are as dramatically effective as any line in the play or any portion of the plot. Fairies and ghosts come to life before one's eyes. Natural and supernatural are imperceptibly and harmoniously interwoven. [The picture] emerges as Shakespeare might have envisioned it. The cast is an impressive one, carefully chosen and fitting in their roles. . . All who love the beautiful and have any imagination will in the exquisite artistry of this lovely 'Dream'. Family." + + Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A. Y and C: Entertaining."

Par M p55 Mr '36

"Recommended to the Committee on Exceptional Photoplays. Family."

+ + Wkly Guide O 5 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p8 O 16 '35

"Mendelssohn's music, ingeniously arranged by Erich Wolfgang Korngold, and given acceptable orchestral interpretation, adds a continual charm to the magnificent photography."

"Give me Shakespeare and actors (who maybe mumble half the words) and I'm bored. This goes about as anybody you every heard trying it. . . . Eventually, however, you get sleepy. And I blame Shakespeare for this. Richard the Third and Warners talky comedy is not right for a wide-awake evening in the modern cinema. . . . But anybody who can take you through a Dream-a-half hours of luscious photography, thoroughly intelligent direction, and gorgeous production of Shakespeare will have a good time." Don Harold

Life p22 D '35

"Shakespeare is for the ear, not the eye; to hear his fairies talk is to believe them, but merely to see them maneuver in white rayon is to know that they are studio flesh and blood." Mark Van Doren

Nation p41 0 23 '35

Reviewed by John Marks

New Statesman & Nation p557 0 19 '35

"One of England's foremost Shakespearean authorities cheerfully describes the film as a historical event. . . . It is a superb choice for a spectacular production to introduce Shakespeare seriously to the movie public." Eileen Cremin

+ N Y Sun p31 0 8 '35

"The elaborate ballet is a tedious humbug and the dancing business on the double-exposure moonbeams is street-corner magic after you have read of these wondrous matters at their source. This is most distressing and there is no knowing what the cinema could possibly have done about it. . . . I am afraid that we shall have to give . . . Midsummer Night's Dream back to the naked boards that cushioned it. . . . But if the magic is pale, the fun has what we like to believe is the true Elizabethan flavor." Andre Senwald

+ N Y Times p5 0 18 '35

"Herr Reinhardt, lavish and fanciful rather than imaginative, is uncertain of his new medium. Although in his treatment of the Athenian woodland, the silver birches, thick moss, deep woods and pools, there are sequences of great beauty, there are others of almost incredible banality. . . . The acting is fresh for the stage, but for the very reason that it lacks what Mr. Carroll calls 'proper Shakespearean diction and bearing.'" Graham Green

+ Spec p665 0 18 '35

"The film actually has the illusion of a dream. Certainly Will Shakespeare himself could have had no greater ambitions for his play." Spring'ael Republic p5c S 22 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"It proves the motion picture is an art, [it is] a credit to all concerned in its making." + + + p15 0 15 '35

+ N Y Exhibitor p35 O 25 '35

MILKY WAY. F 7 '36 83min Paramount

Players: Harold Lloyd, Adolphe Menjou, Wallace Beudy, Helen Mack, William Gargan

Director: Leo McCarey

Based on the play of the same title by Lynn Root and Harry Corbett, "Harold Lloyd" has a timid, inoffensive and slightly daffy delivery of bottled milk who, by an ingenious string of encounters, gains his national reputation as a fighting man; is jockeyed into a series of shtick encounters, and finally into a battle for the middle-weight championship of the world, which he wins because his opponent is given sleeping medicine by mistake." (Hol-lywood Reporter)

Audience Suitability Ratings

A: Good of kind; Y: Amusing; C: Good.

Christian Century p446 Mr 18 '36

"Family and Junior matinees." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Excellent. Mature. Continual laughter marked two playgoer appreciation of Harold Lloyd's gag-and-situation comedy." DAR

"Family. Juniors." Nat Bd of R

"Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"An exceptionally amusing farce with hilarious situations, good dialogue and role direction. Family." Nat Soc of New England Women

+ Fov W Coast Bul F 15 '36

"Family and junior matinees." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) F 8 '36

"Students of motion picture dramaturgy will do well to examine the use of dialogue in many of the scenes as to whether or not less speech might not improve the technique. . . . Students will profit by noting the "build-up" and the delivery of laugh-provoking lines and situations." Motion Pict & Family p8 F 15 '36

"Adolescents, 12-16: excellent; children, 8-12: excellent." Motion Pict R Mr '36

"Wholesome entertainment for the family and junior matinees." + + + Cong of Jewish Women F 5 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Wholesome entertainment for the family and junior matinee." + + + Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Harold Lloyd may be the 'starred' attraction in 'The Milky Way' but he should be prepared to share the glory of its inevitable popula- larity. He is the principal member of his supporting cast and with the scenarists and di- rector who helped so substantially in its crea- tion. For this picture is a gilt-edged cinematic comic with a guaranteed income." R. S. + Boston Transcript p3 F 1 '36

"Promises a little more than the usual amount of plot in a typical Lloyd comedy." Canadian M p13 Mr '36

"'Milky Way' writes a new leaf as the contrib- utor of a thousand laughs, inspired by a comic essence of Indian laugh that is so cleverly set down in action, dialog and gag situations that it leaves one limp." J. P. Cun- ningham + "Commonweal p414 F 7 '36

"Even though the noise it makes will leave you somewhat wiloed by the time the fade-out comes out, 'The Milky Way' good fun. It is a comedy of situations, some of which are mirth-provoking, and at least one of which would not true a wooden Indian laugh. When you see the picture, you will spot the situation I mean the one in which Harold Lloyd shares a table with a lot. . . . A silly old comedy which asks your intellect to go off shift and allow the rest of you to have a whale of a time. It is not a fruitful subject for an ana-lyrical pen except for the extraneous thoughts it suggests.
MILKY WAY—Continued

Hollywood Spec p14 F 1 '36

"Harold Lloyd has turned out more than his share of good comedies, but none, that we can remember, any funnier than 'The Milky Way.' [It] is rather familiar stuff... But it has been crammed with so many grand gags by the zany chap, and so swiftly directed by Leo McCarey that you'll be laughing too much to notice the plot... 'Milky Way' is sturdy enough to stand up under the altogether hilarious." (3½ stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p23 Mr 7 '36

"Unlike Chaplin’s one-man show, the new Harold Lloyd comedy is up-to-the-minute in construction, the work of many hands, all laid on expertly. By and large it is very near the top for screen comedy." Otis Ferguson New Repub p75 F 26 '36

"Harold Lloyd might have waited much longer than two years for an acceptable script if Broadway had not provided that brisk, caustic, film-like, no-strings, 'The Milky Way.' As it is, he has the perfect vehicle for his gifts as a farceur... His talents for reducing the subjects of the ridiculous have never been more efficacious..."

Stage p9 Mr '36

"It is an entirely unsophisticated and up-to-the-minute farce. However, unlike Chaplin's 'Modern Times' which would have been nonexistent without Chaplin, and his 'Milky Way' might have been an even more funny if Producer Lloyd had cast someone other than himself in the leading role..."

Time p53 F 24 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"There’s no top milk in ‘The Milky Way.’ It is pure cream of the comedy crop, traveling at a fast pace through a series of hilarious situations. Family comedy is up-to-the-minute in construction, the work of many hands, all laid on expertly. By and large it is very near the top for screen comedy." Otis Ferguson

Bux Office p23 F 1 '36

"Packed to overflowing with legitimate laugh sequences this is decidedly one of the best Lloyd has ever made. There isn’t a dull moment in the entire feature..."

Film Curb p11 F 1 '36

"The laughs are so fast and furious in this Harold Lloyd fun riot that one is rendered thankful for the few calm moments in which to recuperate. At the box-office, it should hit big money everywhere. In a comedy made-to-order to his talents, Lloyd should panic his army of old fans, and should add a host of new ones who know him as a name but haven’t seen him..."

Film Daily p8 Ja 28 '36

"An excellent comedy. It is fast-moving and comical, with hardly a dull moment... Suitable for all. [Family]"

Harrison’s Reports F 8 '36

"It registers a laugh-count of about two a minute for its entire length and that is something else, for even Lloyd. So there should be nothing but smiles at the box office wherever it goes... The star is, of course, very much an act and unabashed self, always likeable and always effortlessly funny. Sharing his laugh-making is the impec- cably Adolphe Menjou, now a gum-chewing and vociferous fight promoter, full of wild activity and surprising bits of facial comical- ity..."

Hollywood Reporter p2 Ja 25 '36

"With uproarious comedy and to the tune of a thousand laughs, Harold Lloyd returns to the screen screen screen comedy with two and a half hours of great fun. With a [thrill] in every sequence, the film is a credit to everyone connected with it and should prove one of the season’s ace attractions. An indication of what to expect is the reaction of the preview audience, which giggled, guffawed and roared at the nonsensical action and clever dialogue. The entire cast does a fine comedy job, their performances leaving the audience limp..."

Motion Pict Daily p10 Ja 27 '36

"Here is gold-plated amusement which at the preview provoked more laughs than it’s possible for anyone to clock. It’s nonsensical farce hokum foolishness, cleverly and cleanly set down in action, dialogue and situations... The fun starts at the beginning, gets funnier as the picture progresses, finds every moment funny, every laugh a burst of ridiculous foolishness, relevant and irrelevant to the theme, that just chopping it off is an act of kindness. Lloyd’s "Million..."

Motion Pict Herald p46 F 1 '36

"This starts off slowly, builds up rapidly till there are so many momentous laughs that the laughter is physical and the audience, a short and punchy comedy, will say..."

N Y Exhibitor p34 F 25 '36

"The picture emerges on the screen as one of the funniest comedies since the advent of talkies. It is an entirely unsophisticated and up-to-the-minute farce. However, unlike Chaplin’s ‘Modern Times’ which would have been nonexistent without Chaplin, and his ‘Milky Way’ might have been a duller comedy if Producer Lloyd had cast someone other than himself in the leading role..."

Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 29 '36

MILLIONS IN THE AIR. D 13 '35 70min Paramount

Players: John Howard, Wendy Barrie, Willie Howard, Benny Baker

Director: Ray McCarey

"Millions in the Air" tells the tale of the soap king’s daughter who hides her identity to go on her father’s amateur hour with a young ice cream salesman. When the young man learns who she is he walks out, but the dear public insists on a return engagement, and there they are..." N Y Times

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Arch- diocese Motion Pict Q 25 '36

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Good..."

Endorsed Motion Pict Ja 36

"Family and junior matinee." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Excellently directed, the film furnishes an hour of delightful entertainment. Family." E Coast Preview Committee

"Romance and comedy well blended. Family." Nat Bd of R

"Uneven, fair direction, a good cast and some vulgarities. Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Several very clever specialty acts add much to the entertainment value." Nat Fed of Busi- ness & Professional Women’s Clubs

"A lively story sympathetically told and embellished with some particularly delightful incidental humor of a radio broadcast room. Family." Nat Soc of New England Women

"No entertainment value. Mature." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"It is amiable and wholesome entertainment for an unexpecting public. Adults: suitable. Children: suitable." Women’s Univ Club, Los Angeles

Fox W Coast Bul D 14 '35

+ + + Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; + + Medio; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
"This 'comic' comedy amusingly presented, well cast, with clever use of stunts and dance, provides light entertainment with especial appeal to radio audiences. Family."

"Fair. Family." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"Family and junior matinees." Jt Estimates D 15 '35

"Fun. Family." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"It's a light and amusing story [with] romance and comedy well blended." Wkly Guide D 7 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p7 D 29 '35

"Even the professionals in this picture (including those with their act assembled) go well. The production, which has been assayed, is the work of a writer-actor, with considerable success." Christian Science Monitor p13 N 7 '35

"It was about time for somebody to do something about amateur radio. Well, Paramount has done it. Its new picture kids the amateur hour at 8 P.M. on Sunday nights, even though the plot is pulled into a routine at the end. Before these punches are pulled, to give us a routine romantic ending, there is some delicious slapstick comedy about the theatre-of-the-air as presided over by Major Edwards with his gong and his sweet, patronizing voice." M. J. — N Y Herald Tribune p23 D 12 '35

"L'Italiano iceman who is determined to sing ‘Rigoletto' over the ether even if he has to pose as a Scotchman and a French scientist to do it. Mr. Howard is a continuous source of delight. A sly and skillful comedian, his slapstick highjinks are responsible for most of the entertainment's pleasantness. Amusing as he is however, his are qualities that would show to even greater advantage in a film of somewhat quicker pace, of more compelling situation. Like most slapstick comedians, he requires a background of stress and turmoil. ‘Millions in the Air' is an easy-going and meandering film which never bothers to quicken its plot and which provides Mr. Howard with a minimum of situations." William Boehn — N Y World-Telegram p33 D 12 '35

Reviewed by John Mosner

New Yorker p90 D 21 '35

Springfield Republican ptc Ja 5 '36

Time p86 D 23 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p35 D 7 '35

"Wholesome, entertaining." + + Canadian Moving Pict Digest p10 D 21 '35

"Plenty of real laughs in this one and some good musical numbers. This one should please any audience that appreciates amusing entertainment and is suitable for any occasion. Good direction, nice production and well cast." + Film Curb p20 D 15 '35

"[This is] first-rate entertainment with a variety of radio specialties plus romantic interest." + Film Daily p4 D 12 '35

"Just first-rate program entertainment. The plot is a familiar one, and the background, that of an amateur broadcasting radio station, has been used in too many other pictures to be novel. Suitable for all [Family]." + — Harrison's Reports D 21 '35

Motion Pict Daily p15 N 22 '35

Motion Pict Herald p58 N 30 '35

"Though the story is inconsequential, entertainment value is strong." + + N Y Exhibitor p54 D 10 '35

"If nothing else, ‘Millions' does provide a first picture break for Howard. It's unfortunate that the ace stage comedian's lens debut should be in a poor film."

— Variety p12 D 18 '35

MIMI O 8 '35 58min First division

Players: Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. Gertrude Lawrence

Director: Paul Stein

Adapted from Murger's La Vie de Bohème and produced in England, Murger's wistful romance is transferred to old friends of the Latin Quarter alternately rollicking and starving in garrets and studios of Paris. This is a version of the story used in the French La Bohème with interpolations of Puccini's music. A masked ball scene has the Barcarolle from Tales of Hoffmann for setting.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory. Not recommended because of subject matter or treatment." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '35

"Objectionable in part." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

Wkly Guide O 12 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Miss Lawrence sings only one song and the camera is unkied to her delicate beauty. Mr. Fairbanks suffers and triumphs with unremitting intensity." M. P. — Christian Science Monitor p16 N 16 '35

"Exceptionally Good; Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
MIM—Continued.

"Puccini's music has been blended effectively with the action to heighten the dramatic atmosphere in certain sequences... The film is fortunate in its choice of players. Gertrude Lawrence's portrayal of Mimi is sensitive and sympathetic, while Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., absent from the screen of late, is a handsome and virile Rodolphe."

T. M. F.

“Slapstick comedy.”

Film Daily p7 D 7 '35

“Warnery's stock comedians struggle valiantly with a light story and turn in a routine comedy.”

— Motion Pict Daily p8 N 20 '35

Motion Pict Herald p64 N 30 '35

“This is strong on laughs. Family comedy.”

+ N Y Exhibitor p55 D 10 '35

“A farce comedy isn't expected to have much sense but it should have some laughs. That way, this picture barely qualifies—it has some laughs; but that's about all. Raymond Enright's direction gets in a few fairly hilarious scenes at a good pace.”

+ Variety p19 D 11 '35

MR. COHEN TAKES A WALK. F 12 '36 80min Warner

Director: William Beaudine

Based on the short story of the same title by Mary Roberts Rinehart. This film was made in England. "The tale turns on the fortunes and family troubles of Jake Cohen, who has risen from peddler to head of a great London department store. Seeking surcease, he tramps in the country for a week or so and finds solutions for his own and his children's problems." (N Y Times)

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“(It) has some amusing sections—principally those wherein Mr. Cohen, who has worked himself up in the dry goods business to the ownership of London’s biggest emporium is shown soliciting customers from the front of the store." [Newspaper]

“Were it not for the expert performance of Paul Graetz (Mr. Cohen) the piece would be just so much hokum. As it is, this central figure’s full and complete characterization results in a warm, human and emotionally stirring story. As our own George M. Cohen casts a spell upon his audience, Mr. Graetz, while altogether a different type of actor, captures attention by the mellowness, the finish and the feeling of his performance.” Marquerte Tazelaar

+ N Y Herald Tribune p12 F 14 '36

“It is an engaging tale, with Paul Graetz, genial and droll, in the central role. In spite of American directorship, however, the pace is slow and deliberate; and the picture shares that defect of most English films, a real climax. Here the final situation revolves about a strike in the department store, a problem solved so quickly and simply by Mr. Cohen that it seems hardly a problem at all... The comedy is quietly amusing. Mr. Graetz has made Mr. Cohen a human, pathetic and pleasantly humorous study of character. It is as drama that the picture seriously lacks force.” Eileen Creelman

+ — N Y Sun F 14 '36

“The simple but sure-fire device of injecting a sunny-haired Irish lass into a situation complicated by parental matchmaking in another direction is bound to produce diverting entertainment. Mr. Graetz' “Aileen” about the best rating we can give it is just ordinary program stuff.”

J. T. M.

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + + Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p33 D 7 '35

“Good cast strive to put this one over but somehow or other it just misses out. Original story [is] better than picture. There are several laugh sequences but about the best rating we can give it is just ordinary program stuff.”

+ Film Curb D 1 '35

“Miss Pacific Fleet. D 14 '35 65min Warner

Director: Raymond Enright

Based on a short story of the same title by Frederick Hazlitt Brennan. "Romantic comedy is the theme as a couple of stranded show girls get mixed up with a bunch of sailors and marines. For mechanical motivation, it rings in a beauty contest which causes more excitement within the fleet than a war would." (Motion Pict Herald)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide p24 Ja 25 '36

“A: Silly; Y: Poor; C: No,” Christian Century p158 Ja 22 '36

“Good.” + Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36

“Vulgareities. Adults.” DAR

“A very mediocre picture. Adults, if they care for such.” E Coast Preview Committee

— Fox East Coast D 21 '35

“Fair. Adults, if any,” Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

“Unobjectionable for general patronage.” Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

“A: Slapstick comedy; Y: Trifling; C: Doubtful.”

Par M p56 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p13 D 7 '35

N Y Herald Tribune p10 D 7 '35

"'Miss Pacific Fleet' is an utterly foolish, unimportant little picture turned out by Warner Brothers, apparently in a moment when they just didn't care." M. J.

N Y Sun p34 D 9 '35

N Y Times p7 D 15 '35

“Although [it] features four of the most reliable and talented comedians on the Warner Brothers lot, their efforts are completely wasted in a generally feeble and unimportant offering.” William Boehnel

— N Y World-Telegram p15 D 9 '35

“A hilarious comedy.” + Spring'fd Republican p6 D 13 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p33 D 7 '35

“Good cast strive to put this one over but somehow or other it just misses out. Original story [is] better than picture. There are several laugh sequences but about the best rating we can give it is just ordinary program stuff.”

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + + Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
“Paul Graetz, a non-Aryan German in exile in England, gives an extraordinarily fine performance. An eloquently rich characterization, it is one of the finest performances of the season. In case you are addicted to many movies, you will find little anecdotes that are pure of heart and that are more charming than drama. Mr. Cohen takes a walk and entertains you. For others it will be like moving in movement and pedestrian in speech, a painfully sweet toothless, and more than well enough to be remembered. Very performances for the men of the world."—William Boehnel

Trade Paper Reviews

“Having the nostalgic quality in its basic structure of the ‘Abie’s Irish Rose’ pattern, delightful English backgrounds and ingratiating performances by Paul Graetz and the entire cast, the picture offers much that is refreshing. Family.”

+ Box Office p37 Mr 7 ’36

“It is not adapted to the big spots but will very likely get by and please in the smaller towns and neighborhoods. Has considerable human interest and appeal and has been rather well produced. Of course there are no ‘names’ for the marquee and it will be tough to put over as a single feature.”

Film Curb p15 F 22 ’36

“Pleasing little tale from British studio has strong human appeal for family trade.”

+ Film Daily p13 F 13 ’36

“A moderately pleasant program comedy, with human interest; it should appeal mostly to mature people. . . Suitable for all. (Family.)”

+ Harrison’s Reports F 22 ’36

“[It] offers simple but enjoyable entertainment. Although the names of the players will be unfamiliar to American audiences, the performances are good, that of Paul Graetz in the leading role, as Jake Cohen, being especially outstanding. It is a thoroughly human story and one which should be found generally appealing, and often amusing.”

— Motion Pic Daily p11 F 13 ’36

“Short on names, with emotional angles some neighborhoods might enjoy, ‘Mr. Cohen Takes a Walk’ ought to be seen before dating. Estimate for certain spots or small towns. N Y Exhibitor p59 Mr 10 ’36

“With no names other than the director’s for the marquee and with an uninviting title of even story of Mary Roberts Rinehart, ‘Cohen’ is going to have a rocky road for his walking unless it is sold intensively. There is a story there to sell, but it does not look well on the front of the house to the shoppers.” The story has been developed too slowly. There is too much time spent in developing the character of the lovable old man. . . There is a tug at the sight of the merchant prince delighting in playing store, but the punch which a picture requires is largely lacking. It is a story of charm but not of vigor.”

+ Variety p12 F 19 ’36

MISTER HOB0. N 22 ’35 80min Gaumont British

Players: George Arliss, Gene Gerrard

Director: Milton Rosner

Made in England and known there as The Guv’nor. In this film, George Arliss plays a genial known for his smile but not his sentimental, sly and unkept old gentleman with a fund of stale homilies about nature and human frailties. She gets to be the merchant prince and gets to be the merchant prince and gets to be the merchant prince. He phones a famous banker and tells him that his name is Francois Rothschild and asks for help. The banker, also a bearer of that famous name, tries to stave off a crash by making him a figurehead president, but "Spike" foils the plot, puts his trap on again and takes the road to the south.

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Class A. General approval.” N Y Arch-
dioce Motion Pic Guide

“Class B. May be watched by children. Ja 25 ’36

“A: Very good; Y: Excellent; C: Good.” Christian Century p207 Ja 29 ’36

“George Arliss is presented in an entertaining interlude quite different from the important historical roles with which he has be-

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“Neither the producers nor the director succeded in lifting the production above the pale of a busman’s holiday, which may have been deemed a lark by Mr. Arliss but which, in reality, is an unnecessary exposure of his other-

Other reviews:

“Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor”

Class A. General approval.” N Y Arch-
dioce Motion Pic Guide

“Class B. May be watched by children. Ja 25 ’36

“A: Very good; Y: Excellent; C: Good.” Christian Century p207 Ja 29 ’36

“George Arliss is presented in an entertaining interlude quite different from the important historical roles with which he has be-

“Another fine A. Performances of the director are well known, and this one is no different from the rest. Family.”

“Of the pictures produced in England, there are very few better than this one. It is a pleasant picture and should be enjoyed by all ages. Family.”

“Another fine A. Performances of the director are well known, and this one is no different from the rest. Family.”

“Of the pictures produced in England, there are very few better than this one. It is a pleasant picture and should be enjoyed by all ages. Family.”

“Another fine A. Performances of the director are well known, and this one is no different from the rest. Family.”

“Of the pictures produced in England, there are very few better than this one. It is a pleasant picture and should be enjoyed by all ages. Family.”

“Another fine A. Performances of the director are well known, and this one is no different from the rest. Family.”
MISTER HOBO—Continued

"The story is poor stuff for one of Arliss' ability, and even that ability seems to suffer. This is poor fooling, not even up to the mark of his one or two undistinguished offerings." — Laura Eleton

— Canadian M p33 F '36

Christian Science Monitor p13 O 26 '35

"Mr. Arliss, like the Pied Piper, still will beckon his admirers of long standing in his latest picture, made abroad, for the familiar artistry of his performance, the fine shading of his characterization and the graceful old-school acting. For the younger, more impatient generation he may seem a bit fossilish, and his whimsy, it must be confessed, is almost imperceptible, yet 'Mister Hobo' is genuinely entertaining, for the most part. — Marguerite Talcupin

— NY Herald Tribune p7 F 8 '36

"He contributes, as usual, most of the picture's drama, such as it is, and all its humor. The other players, partly because their roles are almost imperceptible in size, are hardly noticeable. . . . Whenever Mr. Arliss gets hold of a good line or situation it brightens into comedy. His lines don't hold up, but he has good lines in 'Mister Hobo' unfortunately. This is, of all his films, probably the easiest to forget. — Eileen Creelman

— NY Sun p8 F 8 '36

"Nothing startling, as you can see, but a welcome substitute for yet another of Mr. Arliss' usual self-portrayals. Mr. Arliss plays the hobo with obvious relish, if not with complete conviction. Even in patches, he suggests either Hoffman or Dreyfus possibly at a masque. But that may be because the burden of tradition is all around an Arliss tramp. The cast, otherwise, is British and minor." — F. S. Nugent

+ — NY Times p19 F 8 '36

"Although the character Mr. Arliss portrays in 'Mister Hobo' is different from his in any of the part of the same he has been giving in all his recent pictures. For the only variation in Mr. Arliss' letter-perfect and satisfactory but familiar acting of late has been the name of the character. Whether playing a Wellington or a Richelieu or a hobo as he is now, his bag of tricks is the same in each instance. The result, since Mr. Arliss is an accomplished actor, is letter-perfect and technically efficient, but standardized and dull piece of work." — William Boehnel

— NY World-Telegram p21 F 8 '36

"Mr. George Arliss, who has dressed up as Disraeli, Voltaire, Richelieu, Wellington, Rothschild, now dresses up as a French tramp, and I suppose you who like Mr. Arliss will like his latest film. . . . He belongs, of course, to the 'bird-song at morning, star-shine at night' school, and his admirers need not fear that he has lost any of his usual refinement or sentiment, his cultured English accent, the Universal certificate. I am not an admirer of Mr. Arliss, but I found this film rather more tolerable than his recent appearances as the family Wellington, the family Voltaire." — Graham Greene

+ — Spec p14 Ja 3 '36

"Not a very ambitious picture, though its gentle pleasantness enables Mr. Arliss to give a nice piece of characterization rather outside his usual range." — Republican p7c Ja 12 '36

"It is a joy to see Mr. Arliss as a hobo. It was all he needed to show him as one of the finest comedians we have. You must not 'Mister Hobo' seriously for one moment, except to check where he is playing." — Stage p11 Ja '36

Time p39 D 2 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"Made in England, but with a French locale, its assets are excellent photography, amusing philosophic dialogue and a capable supporting cast, although no one matters except Arliss, whose portrayal of the lovable hobo is one of the most natural and human of his career. — Family.

+ Box Office p25 F 29 '36

"Arliss in the role of a vagabond hardly seems possible but the star puts it over in fine style and registers strongly. . . . Made in England, it is above the average British production." — Film Curb p4 Ja 4 '36

"This is the type of role that fits George Arliss perfectly, and gives him more opportunity to be his genial, lovable self than of those more serious parts that he has played as historical celebrities." — Film Daily p3 F 8 '36

"This is a pleasant British-made comedy, suitable for American audiences, especially in a region where George Arliss is a favorite. . . Suitable for all. — Family"

+ — Harrison's Reports Ja 18 '36

"English-made, this has a human, appealing story. Returns will probably show best where Arliss is liked. — Family comedy drama." + — Variety p16 F 12 '36

"'Mister Hobo' is a fair picture. Its eighty minutes, coupled with a placid and not too punchy story, account for a noticeable lethargy. The proceedings of 'Mister Hobo' are indubitably slow, and it is hard to reconcile a tramp, no matter how venerable and merry, with the world of finance. It's to Arliss' histrionic credit that he makes what he does stand up well. — Variety p38 F 24 '32

MODERN TIMES. F 12 '36 90min United artists

Director: Charles Chaplin

Chaplin portrays a worker in a factory who does a routine task at an excelsior conveyor belt. After a time the deadly monotony of the job causes a nervous breakdown. When he is cured, he cannot find a job, in an innocent attempt to return a red flag which has fallen from a truck, he finds himself leading a gang of radicals in parade. Naturally the police arrest him as the red leader. He is happy in jail where food and a bed are provided until he meets a gamín whom he is anxious to befriend. Then he wants to stay out of jail but due to circumstances is arrested. Finally he is freed, they both obtain work and the closeup finds them hand in hand walking down the roadway into the dawn.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A, Y, and C: Excellent." — Christian Century p383 Mr 4 '36

"Family and Junior matinee." — Calif Cong of Par

& Teachers

"Excellont. Mature." — DAR

"Adults & young people." — Gen Fed of

Women's Clubs (W. Coast)

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor

MLODY LAS (Polish title). See Young forest
"Family and junior matinee." Nat Bd of R
"Family." Nat Soc of New England Women
"Family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women
Fox W Coast Bul F 22 '36

"Family—Most entertaining."
+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) F 10 '36

"Family."
Jt Estimates F 1 '36

"With every laugh at the indomitable little hero, we feel that paner for whom laughter at him not with him. The comedy grows out of frustration, out of his constant attempt to make good and his inability to adjust himself to the world about him. The picture affords a rare opportunity for study of pantomime expression, of dramatic structure and of theme treatment."

+ Motion Pict & Family p4 F 15 '36

"It is the kind of picture which, if it amuses you while you are watching it, will give you an enormous amount of pleasure in recollection. Adolescents, 12-16: very good; children, 8-12: good fun.

+ Motion Pict R Mr '36

"Family and junior matinees."
Nat Council of Jewish Women F 15 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage.",
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Family."
Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

"Recommended to Committee on Exceptional Photoplays, Family, Junior."
+Wkly Guide F § '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Though for the most part it clings to the technique that he used in 'City Lights,' five years ago, it has an epoch-making quality... The rest of the film is in the established Chaplin tradition decorated with new arabesques. In these later days of movie speech, it is no small tribute to the comedian's genius that he can make a picture of feature length, practically, that is both best vastly funny and that even in its less inspired moments, can hold the attention of an audience." E. M. L.

+ Boston Transcript p1 F 15 '36

"There is only one Charlie Chaplin; there is only one actor who could leave five years between pictures...He arrives with eager anticipation for his return... The story mainly in pantomime rivals the best that Charlie Chaplin has done, and there is no better." Laura Elston

+ + Canadian M p41 Mr '36

"The picture is strictly Chaplinesque in that it uses methods and incidents that have always characterized his work as a comedian for whom got his effects through pantomime and who rose to top rank because he took time enough to melt down and remain, until they shone like new coins, the jokes that mankind has always laughed at. Should there be a little tramp persists in the new film, symbol of all that is ineffectual in the spectator. Is it not at our own misfortunes that we laugh when we observe the failures of this well-meaning incompetent? The fun arises out of his latest uses of that popularity of the greatest comedians. It is to the triumphs of hearty motion picture roundness. For the antiquarians, it offers a brilliant example of the great spectacle of the screen which the glorified tramp comic and the missile thrower, brought up to date, with the greatest comic and most the most entertaining comedy. For the philosopher, it provides amid its frantic physical insanity, a sardonic contemplation of current events, with a surprising, direct, if intermittent, leftist viewpoint. There are many scenes in 'Modern Times' that impose magnificently. The preceding review might be so confused that there is no climax or episode that quite belongs in the first flight of the Chaplin tramp."

+ N Y Herald Tribune p12 F 6 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; - - Fair; - + Mediocre; - Poor; - - - Exceptionally Poor

"Modern Times' arrives at last, after three years of premeditation, two years of preparation and production, and an outlay of $2,000,000 of Chaplin's own funds. There is no prospect of Chaplin's method of using money. But what is peculiar to Mr. Chaplin's method of doing things. With no particular place to go after the first two quarter-century of screen frivilities, Mr. Chaplin takes his time... Not that 'Modern Times' can be dismissed lightly entertained. But the press-agent heraldry which preceded the first public showing would be read one to expect more." J. P. Cunningham

"We should thank our gods that we still have left one artist brave enough to stick to the medium which made him great. There are moments in the picture which show Charlie ever since, the stiff competition of his own appearance in previous pictures, I cannot see anything on the screen—not even scenes in other Chaplin pictures—which, for pure cinematic brilliancy, will stand comparison with his pantomimic accomplishment to the song he sings in a cafe sequence in 'Modern Times.'"

+ + Hollywood Spec p3 F 15 '36

Uneven, but with great moments, the film easily overcomes its old-fashioned story, and staging... The comedy is set on a story as starkly grim as any ever sent out from Hollywood. Indeed, for there was anything but a laughing matter, it would be too strong for popular consumption. Yet, for all its enormous face, the picture really is a delicate thing, with a quality too elusive to be set down on paper. Whether or not Chaplin is the genius by many believe, he has created a figure that stands a good chance of immortality—a laughable and sharp caricature with an alluring appeal in both the personal and whose humor is timeless." Beverly Hills Liberty p25 Mr 21 '36

"Charles Chaplin was not disappointing. He was exactly as good as he had ever been before, and all of him was there, which is a way of saying that 'Modern Times' is one of the most interesting spectacles to be seen in America today. There is nothing that is not funny for him, or that cannot be made so. His line is laudable. And I for one am glad that he has kept to it." Mark Van Doren

+ + Nation p232 F 19 '36

Reviewed by Otis Ferguson
New Repub p18 F 19 '36

"It was slow in the making, late to appear, and now, dear me, it's ten years behind the times. It's got a name, and is a feature on Chaplin's obstinate and sentimental journey back into silence than we were with 'City Lights': indeed, not so far. It's much less funny." John Marks

New Statesman & Nation p226 F 15 '36

"The cinema's First Immortal returns to us after an absence of almost five years in a comedy for fun-lovers, antiquarians and philosophers. For the fun-lovers, it presents the great Chaplin in a piece of slapstick hilarity, which, if it is not quite a worthy successor to 'City Lights,' the Flierer and in which is set a remarkable achievement in the triumph of hearty motion picture roundness. For the antiquarians, it offers a brilliant example of the greatest spectacles to be seen in history, that of the glorified tramp comic and the missile thrower, brought up to date, with the greatest comic and most entertaining comedy. For the philosopher, it provides amid its frantic physical insanity, a sardonic contemplation of current events, with a surprising, direct, if intermittent, leftist viewpoint. There are many scenes in 'Modern Times' that impose magnificently. The preceding review might be so confused that there is no climax or episode that quite belongs in the first flight of the Chaplin tramp."

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; - - Fair; - + Mediocre; - Poor; - - - Exceptionally Poor
MODERN TIMES—Continued

"This, in spite of its title, is a silent film, somewhat old-fashioned in tone, but honest in its promotion and slapstick. The comedy is regullation Chaplin, broad, sentimental and, at its best, very funny. 'Modern Times,' of course, is no exception to that. The absence of dialogue, along with frequent, unnecessary and decidedly dull sequences, often makes the film seem something out of the Museum of Modern Art's Film Library. The picture opens with 'humanity, crossways, in pursuit of happiness,' a description which doesn't seem to have much to do with the rest of the production. Then Chaplin himself, in one of the picture's brightest moments, even sings in an unknown language, acting out the story and dancing a bit. If he had had the courage to try dialogue throughout the film,
'Modern Times' would probably have been a good deal more hilarious. In direction as in sound technic it is behind the times. The star has been occasionally careless in letting his spectacles see the mechanics behind his gags, especially in his scenes as a distraught waiter. And the Hays organization, reported to have cut out six sequences because of vulgarity, might well have taken out too, that scene with the minister's 'Modern Times.'—SUN
N. Y. Sun p27 F '36

"Humor said that 'Modern Times' was preoccupied with social themes, that Chaplin—being something of a liberal himself—had decided to make the class comedy, that no less an authority than Shumitatsky, head of the Soviet film industry, had counseled him about the ends. It seems that Chaplin, to quote that advice, had made significant changes...
... We prefer to think of a 'Modern Times' as a story of the little clown, temporarily caught up in the cogs of an industry geared to mass production, who runs away with a phrenetic circus and out into a world as remote from industrial and class problems as a comedy can make it.
And much less frequently, than with Charlie keeping faith with his old public by bringing back the tricks he used so well when the clown was very young, and by extending his following among the moderns by employing devices new to the clown dynasty.
This morning there is good news: Chaplin is back again..."— F. S. Nugent
+' N Y Times p23 F 6 '36

"I prefer to think of Chaplin as the most ingratiating and brilliant clown that the screen or the stage has produced, who combines superb inventive humor with pathos in an extraorordinary manner. There is not a shred in you of what hidden momentous comments on the current social scene 'Modern Times' poss-sesses. But think of it... and that he is still the most inventive and comical actor in the world, as well as one of the greatest pantomimists... Put down then this 'Modern Times' as a grand film, one that will melt your heart as well as tickle your funny bone..."—
William Pichtel
+' N Y World-Telegram p27 F 6 '36

"In spite of all this talk about the Chaplin significance and the comment his new film may mean in conditions today, I found 'Modern Times' a movie of the old school... In all, it's a rambling sketch, a little at least because the cartoon is not played so straight in effect and now and then secure in its rich, old-fashioned funniness."—John Mosher
+ New Yorker p65 F 15 '36

Reviewed by Graham Greene
\[Spec.\] 11/1/36

"Your manifestations of mirth, such as rolling in laughter, splitting of sides, and laughing until you cry, are in for a glorious workout. He is very funny, this Mr. Chaplin..."
+ +

"It is a gay, impudent and sentimental pantomimic comedy, in which even the anachronisms are often as becoming as Charlie Chaplin's cane."—Times p44 F 17 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"What the average showman wants to know is—\[Is it box-office?\] Gentleman, it is our guess that it will be a run for the record. And that will be something. Family..."
+ Box Office p27 F 15 '36

"Perhaps not quite as good as his previous pictures, but Chaplin's laugh fest is so fun that is kept moving at a fast pace and there is hardly a dull moment in the entire picture. It will give entire pleasure to Chaplin's all followers of the celebrated star will find it decidedly to their liking..."
+ Variety p53 F 1+ '36

"Excellent! Five years absence from the screen has not diminished Chaplin's art. In his usual fashion, he can provoke laughs or tears, and keep the audience absorbed in whatever he is doing. Good for all. [Family.]..."
+ + Harrison's Reports F 15 '36

"Modern Times' is brilliantly executed, and is a crack in the light-out proc. The picture is a two-hour almost continuous gale of laughter with side-splitting gags generously distributed throughout, with all the various threads of the story together but Chaplin enviously felt his story more true to the life of a talkie and a comic than to the con-tained theme in the usual manner of screen story... development..."
+ + Motion Pict Daily p6 F 6 '36

"Modern Times' is constructed as all Chaplins have been, is a succession of gags and jokes of funny business, headed along the gossamer thread of a plot as slight as a Shubert operetta. The picture wins its title and the best and newest of its business from the addition of a theme that may be referred to as
'man vs. machine, wherein Mr. Chaplin is presented as the most conspicuous victim of the assembly line speed-up method of today's industry'—in short, it is Chaplin's life story. It is a gem of comedy invention played super bly..."
+ + Motion Pict Herald p3 F 8 '36

"If proof were needed that Chaplin is great, here it is... Estimate: on the gold standard anywhere..."
+ + N Y Exhibitor p37 F 25 '36

"Modern Times' is as 100% a one-man picture as probably is possible to produce. Produced, starring, and composed of one man, directed by Chaplin, the pantomimist stands or falls by his two years' work at it unreels.
Not only does he not falter but Chaplin perhaps scales new heights in maintaining a barrage of gags that is the more remarkable considering the advanced comedy efforts that have hit the screen since the advent of sound.

... One of the titles is extraneous, and the new school of film fans may even be startled, along with their elders, at this seeming novelty after being plugged in dialog so long.

+ Variety p16 F 12 '35

"It isn't up to previous Chaplin efforts, like 'City Lights' or 'Gold Rush.' Comedian follows his customary formula of downtrodden character, and has gone back to his first technique, but he seems to have tried to merge this old time manner with 1935 speed. Picture is episodic and quite spotty. There are a few brief flashes of the old Chaplin artistry, but these have been generally undeveloped in desire to keep picture moving. Much touted radical inclination of picture seems to be mostly talk. If Chaplin intended to be propagandist then he has been the best in America since 'Easy Street.' It's all just a part of the Chaplin formula. It is a fact, however, that left wingers will go big for 'Modern Times' because they can read anything they want into film. Certain of the sequences are not easy to turn into satire on modern economic conditions brought noticeably the biggest reaction from Saturday night preview crowd...."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 30 '35

(1) MOOLY MOO COW AND THE INDIANS. N 15 '35 8min RKO

Director: Amedee J. Van Beuren

A Rainbow Parade cartoon. "Molly and her two duck friends are on their way to Oregon when they meet up with Indians. Molly does a very funny Tarzan act through the trees to save her pals." (Wkly Guide)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Good."

+ Endorsed Motion Pict N '35

"Family."

Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35

"Junior matinee."

Wkly Guide O 26 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"Color is excellent in this subject, which is splendidly animated and has lots of novelty and humor. The complications are very diverting."

+ Film Daily p11 N 7 '35

"A bright color cartoon with a pioneer background, this makes for general, appealing entertainment."

+ Motion Pict Daily p9 N 7 '35

(2) MOONLIGHT AND MELODY. D 11 '35 21min Educational

Players: Lucille Page, Buster West, Tom Patricola

Director: Al Christie

"The plot concerns the efforts of Buster West to marry Lucille, who is trying to win a bet that he can take Lucille out after the show." Film Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Some pretty good dancing which atones for a very familiar plot. Family." + + Wkly Guide O 16 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"A very [fine] musical comedy in tabloid form, with one of the finest line of beauties in the chorus, they being the girls from the current Broadway hit, 'The Sketch Book.' These girls alone make the short stand out, but there is plenty more besides."

+ Film Daily p6 O 29 '35

"A musical comedy short subject, which has considerable in the way of entertainment."

+ Motion Pict Daily p15 N '35

Motion Pict Herald p64 N 9 '35

"[It has] some names that will mean something as well as some good dancing, comedy and singing. Very good."

+ N Y Exhibitor p32 O 25 '35

MOONLIGHT ON THE PRAIRIE. N 2 '35 60min Warner

Players: Dick Foran, Sheila Manners

Director: D. Ross Lederman

"A cowboy clears himself of a murder charge and aids a young widow in gaining possession of the ranch from the predatory hands of rustlers... Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Good."

+ Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36

"Fine horsemanship, beautiful outdoor scenery, [and] pleasing cowboy songs add to the entertainment value of this well directed Western. Family and Junior matinées"

+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) O 1 '35

Mo Film Bul p18 D '35

"Very good. Family."

Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"This Western melodrama is better than average with its beautiful photography and fine horses. The cast is a good one with villainous villains and heroic hero. Family and Junior matinées"

+ Gen Council of Jewish Women O 1 '35

"A and Y; Western melodrama; C: Thrilling."

Par M p56 Mr '36

"A well worthwhile production. Family."

+ Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p69 N 16 '35

Film Curb p18 N 1 '35

"Lacking any particular distinction because of the stereotyped nature of its plot material, this outdoor action [story] is just a fair picture of its kind."

+ + Film Daily p1 N 11 '35

"Family Western."

N Y Exhibitor p31 N 10 '35

 MORALS OF MARCUS. N 15 '35 73min Gau- mont British Players: Lupe Velez, Ian Hunter, Adrianne Allen. Noel Madison

Director: Miles Mander

Based on a play of same title by W. J. Locke and filmed in England. A middle-aged titled archaeologist rescues a young hoydenish Turkish girl whose father is about to make her marry an ugly, rich old man. The girl..."
MORALS OF MARCUS—Continued falls in love with her rescuer but he doesn’t return her affections until she has run away with a caddish young man.

Audience Suitability Ratings
“A: Fairly good; Y: Better not; C: No.”
Christian Century p1658 D 18 ’35
“A: Fair; Y and C: Unsuitable.”
Par M p56 Mr ’36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
“[It will do] nothing to help along the cause of English-made pictures, Had Gaumont-British been as shrewd as it often seems to be, the company might well have brought back the rights to ‘Morals of Marcus.’ That studio has not made pictures like this for a long time. . . . The heavy-handed treatment of a venerable plot leaves it decidedly lacking as drama.”
E ven Croesman
— N Y Sun p16 Ja 13 ’36

“Despite its moments of exhilarating comedy, the new film manages to be aggressively dull when Lupe Velez is not busy exercising her fiery temper or being unconsciously amusing in her attempts to scale the proverbial dramatic heights.”
T. M. P.
— N Y Times p14 Ja 13 ’36

“As entertainment ‘The Morals of Marcus’ is considerably less than satisfactory.”
William Bonshaw
— N Y World-Telegram p23 Ja 14 ’36

Trade Paper Reviews
“Due chiefly to the vivacious work of Lupe Velez, this adaptation of the old play by W. J. Locke makes moderately satisfying fare that should hold a good deal of the box office.”
— Film Daily p7 Ja 14 ’36

“Family drama.”
N Y Exhibitor p29 N 10 ’35

“Lupe Velez is substantially responsible for making ‘Morals of Marcus’ palatable program entertainment. The American star has a part that is rich in possibilities for her and she makes the most of it . . . It is a bit implaus-ible. Its most fanciful element is the willingness of a titled English scientist to take into his home in London the girl who stowed away in his cabin on the voyage from Syria back to England. But without this premise the script should be no story and no picture.”
— Variety p19 Ja 15 ’36

MOSCOW NIGHTS. N 6 ’35 76min Denham
United Artists

Players: Harry Baur, Laurence Olivier, Fenolep Dudley Ward

Director: Anthony Asquith

Based on the French play, Nuits de Muscovie, by Pierre Benoît. The film was made in England. “The story is . . . about a hand- some young officer who loses at baccarat money which he has not got, and who is then court-martialled for treachery which he has not committed.” (New Statesman & Nation)

Audience Suitability Ratings
Mo Film Bul p174 N ’35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
“This is the most enjoyable and distinguished British film which we have seen. . . . Mr. An-thony Asquith, with a story far weaker than that of ‘The Man who Knew Too Much,’ has made a much more interesting film. He is now a master of his medium; this film shows his gift for getting the best out of his actors; in fact, his proved abilities entitle him to be regarded as the most effective and accom-plished director which this country has pro-duced.”
— New Statesman & Nation p735 N 16 ’35

“There is some very excellent photography, and the cutting is crisp and clear; there are also plenty of touches of humour, and the effort to catch the atmosphere has not proved entirely beyond the director’s compass. With all these good facets the diamond should be flawless, but somehow or another it isn’t.”
Mark Forrest
— Sat R p450 N 16 ’35

“Mr. Anthony Asquith’s new film, is com-pletely bogus. Momentarily forgetting ‘The Dark Angel’ I wondered, as I came out from the assembly of peewees and minor royalty and the high shriek of friend recognising friend into the blue glare of searchlights, whether this was the worst, as well as the most ballyhooed, film of the year. Mr. Asquith was once a promising director, though he was always more trickky than imaginative. Now his bag of tricks seems empty.”
Graham Greens
— Spec p814 N 15 ’35

Trade Paper Reviews
“The outstanding features are Baur’s very realistic picture of the moujik-millionaire and Olivier’s debonair soldier. . . . There is good pictorial treatment and plenty of Russian songs and Russian dancing.”
— Motion Pict Daily p15 N 22 ’35

“A colorful transcription of a French original which has had a big success in Paris. Advantages enjoyed by the English language film include production by Alexis Granowsky and the appearance in a dominating role of Harry Baur, the French character star, who has a personality as distinct and in its way as powerful, as that of Jannings.”
— Motion Pict Herald p23 N 30 ’35

“This is a triumph for Anthony Asquith, director, in that you are actually transported to Russia in 1916, and no book could give you a more vivid spectacle of things as they ex-isted at that time. . . . The success of this development of plot is no accidental touch, but the result of skilful cutting. Its technique differs somewhat from anything seen before, and, as such, is most arresting.”
— Variety p39 N 20 ’35

MURDER AT GLEN ATHOL. N 1 ’35 59min Invincible

Players: John Miljan, Irene Ware

Director: Frank Strayer

Based on the novel of same title by Norman Lappincott. [A] detective story writer is thrust into a triple murder mystery, solves it, bows out nicely with a last minute twist.”
(N Y Exhibitor)

Audience Suitability Ratings
“A: Mediocre; Y: No value; C: No.”
Christian Century p1471 N 13 ’35

“A: Moderately entertaining; Y: Demoraliz-ing; C: No.”
Par M p56 Mr ’36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
“So thoroughly unpleasant it will please only mystery play addicts.”
— Christian Science Monitor p13 D 7 ’35

“Murder at Glen Athol’ is familiar stuff most of the way.”
T. M. P.
— N Y Times p11 F 29 ’36
Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p30 N 22 '35

"A smart murder mystery melodrama that holds the attention. Capable direction keeps the spectator in doubt as to the guilty party until the final fade-out."

+ Film Curb p12 D 15 '35

"With a Clue Club novel, a story that should intrigue, 'Murder at Glen Athol' is popular murder mystery [material] that shouldn't fail to entertain. Family mystery drama."

+ N Y Exhibitor p29 N 10 '35

---

MURDER OF DR. HARRIGAN. Ja 18 '36 67min First national

Players: Kay Linaker, Ricardo Cortez, Mary Astor, John Eldredge

Director: Frank McDonald

Based on the novel, From This Dark Stairway, by Mignon G. Edgerly. "A murder is committed in an effort to gain possession of a new anaesthesia formula." (Gen Fed of Women's Clubs)

---

Audience Suitability Ratings

Mo Film Bul p174 N '35

"A fairly interesting murder mystery, with a capable cast, suspense maintained throughout and a satisfactory solution. The part of the dipsomaniac is unnecessarily vivid. Adults."

+ Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"A: Interesting; Y and C: Not recommended."

Par M p56 Mr '36

Wkly Guide Ja 18 '36

---

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p13 Ja 25 '36

"While its setting is a hospital, the general impression one gets from the behavior of the characters is that the action takes place in a madhouse. . . The plot is unraveled with as little suspense as possible, and one might add, with as little acting as possible. The picture apparently was made as quickly and inexpensively as possible. If it ever had a logical, sensible story, there is little trace of it on the screen, while the comic relief only adds to the onlooker's melancholy." Marguerite Tascilar

- N Y Herald Tribune p15 Ja 23 '36

"The Murder of Dr. Harrigan,' as the new picture insists, occurs in a self-service elevator of one of the larger metropolitan hospitals. It is well to bear that in mind; otherwise you will be bound to suspect that it took place in a lunatic asylum fitted with manic depressives pretending to be doctors and nurses. Some second-hand knowledge of hospital routine compels us to confess that we do not believe there ever was such an institution as Dr. Harrigan's. The mere suggestion that there might be, upset us so thoroughly that we never were able to concentrate on the Harrigan of . . . It reached some sort of conclusion on the screen, but it is an unsolved mystery so far as we are concerned." F. S. Nukent

- N Y Times p27 21 '36

"[It] is pretty good fun in spite of its defects. Since no one expects much plausibility from a murder mystery, it is easy to forgive some of the goings-on in the Melrose Memorial Hospital in the interests of suspense and excitement. And in this respect, 'The Murder of Dr. Harrigan' has its fair share."

The film limps occasionally and at times verges on the preposterous, but it has its moments of interest." William Boehnel

- + N Y World-Telegram p13 Ja 20 '36

---

Trade Paper Reviews

"Possibly a bit slow in starting but once the murders are done the pinning of the crimes on guilty party is well worked out."

+ Film Daily p12 N 19 '36

"As murder mysteries go, this rates above average and should give full satisfaction to lovers of this type of fare."

+ Film Daily p38 Ja 21 '36

"A fairly good murder mystery melodrama . . . All the action takes place in a hospital, and moves at a fast pace. But there is a bit too much pathos, and the characters are shown walking to and fro too much. The closing scenes, where the murderer is trapped, held one in suspense, but not suitable for children, adolescents, or Sundays. Adult entertainment."

+ - Harrison's Reports Ja 18 '36

"Family mystery drama."

N Y Exhibitor p39 N 10 '35

"A murder mystery that's too routine to inspire more than casual audience interest. It's along formula lines from the threat of murder down to solution of the murder, plus another death. No names in the cast for marquee attention and doubtful if results will be any better than lukewarm."

- + Variety p15 Ja 22 '36

---

MUSIC GOES 'ROUND. F 21 '36 65min Columbia

Players: Harry Richman, Rochelle Hudson, Walter Connolly, Michael Bartlett, Edward Parley, Michael Blyte, Lionel Stander

Director: Victor Schertzinger

This film was previously known as Rolling Along. "It retells the story about the musical comedy star who takes a vacation and finds a showboat troupe whose players are so bad that he decides to become, without their knowledge, the comedy hit of his new revue." (N Y Times)

---

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Mediocre; Y: Perhaps; C: Little interest."

Christian Century p16 Mr 18 '36

"Excellent. Mature. Family." DAR

"Family." Nat Bd of R

"Family and junior matinees." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Highly entertaining for family." Nat Soc of New England Women

+ Fox W Coast Bul F 29 '36

"Family." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) F 24 '36

"Family and junior matinees." Nat Council of Jewish Women F 19 '36

Unobjectionable for general patronage.

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"[This is] another fast moving film of careful casting and handsome mounting. The characterization are well defined, with the melodramatic scenes deftly sketched." S. M. Mullen

+ Scholastic p30 Mr 7 '36

"Highly entertaining for family."

+ Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

"A gay and clever story. Family."

+ Wkly Guide F 22 '36

---

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Once you are advised that the work is called 'The Music Goes 'Round' you know that you are in for a nummernable treat. This original hit music and song hit that makes pessimists about America's destiny so merry... The chief pleasure of the film lies in the presence of that endlessly delightful and sought-after singer. Ween current-runner-up to W. C. Fields and Donald Duck as the most delightful of the post-Chaplin clown-cum-musicians. Richard Richman... and should have been given more to do." Richard Watts, Jr.
MUSICAL GOES 'ROUND—Continued

N Y World-Telegram p21 F 22 '36

"The Farley and Riley song doesn't, until the last reel really crash full strength into the picture named after it... Well frayed as that melody is, it is still a part of the picture, with Michael Bartlett's operatic rendition the freshest bit of comedy as well as the only indication in the film... the musical, at any rate, is intended for fervent admirers of Richard Richman, and for those who can take his entertainment or leave it alone." Eileen Creedman

N Y Sun p6 F 22 '36

"Just when we were beginning to hope that we had heard the end of it, Columbia has had to go out of its way to stir up the who-ha-ho-ing of 'The Music Goes 'Round.' Not satisfied merely to use it as the title for the cracking antique, the producers went to the trouble of rounding up Mike Riley and Ed Farley to the picture, and we are glad to be nasty about it, we could say that this Farley-Riley sequence is the best thing in the new picture before its formula story been used that it requires something more than a Richard Richman and a Rochele Hudson to look they face of you. F. S. Nugent

N Y Times p12 F 22 '36

"If you like Richard Richman and can still stand 'The Music Goes 'Round and Around,' you will find a certain amount of entertainment in this stereotyped and shambling musical. If you don't join in and sing and swing away with it, it comes to 'The music goes 'round and around.' John Mosher

New Yorker p35 F 22 '36

"'The Music Goes 'Round' had been completed under its original title, 'Rolling Along,' when the insane little song called 'The Music Goes 'Round and Around' had been thrown in by the Manhattan night club entertainers, became an overnight sensation... Unfortunately, by last week 'The Music Goes 'Round and Around' had definitely ceased to be a hit... In other respects it has little novelty to recommend it beyond the presence of the cast of Richard Richman, whose Times Square baritone and face of a dissolve mustaff have not been on display for cinemadicts since 'Putting on the Ritz' in 1936'..

Time p35 Mr 2 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"While this one has its moments, it only rates as average entertainment, and seems destined to click best outside Metropolitan centers. It is slow in tempo, particularly in the show's voice, which is merely colorable unless it is overdone, but he screens as almost anything except a romantic juvenile. Family.

+ Box Office p57 Mr 7 '36

"The song from which the title is taken has had more popularity than any such number in years. This will all help to get 'em in. It's a very资产的 song, and is sure to be well taken, if correctly handled, in any situation... Grade A entertainment." + Film Curb p3 F 29 '36

"While the 'Music Goes 'Round and Around' song was an afterthought and played just an incidental part in this production, it supplies the highlight of the picture as no action will serve its purpose both as entertainment and as a box-office stimulant'..

Film Daily p8 F 29 '36

"Just a fair musical comedy. If spectators can overlook the triteness of the plot, they may find a few features to amuse them... Suitable for family evening."

Harrison's Reports F 29 '36

"It shapes up as a highly diverting and fast-paced musical, ranking well up with the current and offering a strong breezy picture that will hold its own up and down the line." + Hollywood Reporter p8 Ja 24 '36

"Relaying principally on that infectious, tantalizing and ubiquitous tune, 'The Music Goes 'Round and Around,' Victor Schertzinger has bundled all the action into the last few reels of this musical. Up to the time Harry Richman introduces the zippy number in an extravaganza in which he is interested vitally, the picture unfortunately is slower than the earlier songs... as the first strains of the popular melody are heard, the picture takes on life... Lavishly produced, it must be said that it has great possibilities for exploitation possibilities. Everyone knows about the song and they are always telling the paying public that the song is a highlight of Richman's picture...

+ Motion Pict Daily p8 F 22 '36

"The picture, as a whole, isn't a pretentious one and its box-office values are excellent... Victor Schertzinger directed, and his earlier sequences appear to be better than the earlier ones, for during the early reels the action continually slips back and seems always to be under stress. With the arrival of Farley and Riley, and their song, things immediately pick up and move to a climax. The film could do well to remember when preparing their campaigns that Harry Richman is well known on Broadway and in many comical circles, but that in many a town he will be a newcomer..."

+ Motion Pict Herald p44 F 25 '36

"Estimate: entertaining musical; needs hot handling."

N Y Exhibitor p54 Mr 10 '36

"Some tall hurdles will have to be done to bring this one into the money. With the week unprecedented in inspired stunts, the drumming and retelling decidedly on the way out, it might be too. The exhibitor's advantage to side-track the Mike Farley-Ed Riley act, which put the full pressure of ballyhoo behind the story and the musical score which发扬ed the original production. In any event the picture doesn't present a bright outlook for the major spots and in many comical circles. It should be a winner [as] family entertainment..."

Variety p15 F 26 '36

"With the popularity of the song taking a fast drop in the past 10 days, advantage of the title is doubtful. However, there's no doubt as to the top notch entertainment value of the picture. It is amarly produced by Max Violets excellently directed and ably written and cast. The picture can go on its own anywhere in the neighborhood houses. It should be a winner [as] family entertainment...

Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 20 '36

MUSIC HATH CHARMES. D 1 '35 65min Associated

Players: Henry Hall, Carol Goodner. Lorna Hubbard, Billy Milton

Director: Thomas Bentley

Made in England. "The basic idea is to trace the careers of some of the millions who listen to it. Typical are a couple tricked by mischievous elders into a breach of promise dispute, a couple of white explorers in danger from savages, the wife of one of the explorers, who almost lets a flirtation go too far. In each case the music, carried over the action, brings about a happy ending." (Motion Pict Daily)

---

MUSK 'EM UP. F 14 '36 79min RKO Players: Preston Foster, Margaret Callahan, Alan Mowbray. Guinn (Big Boy) Williams, Calla Boy.

Director: Charles Vidor
Based on the novel, Green Shadow, by James Edward Grant. A rough and tumbled detective specializing in solving mysterious kidnappings and kidnap threats is called in to unravel a mysterious kidnapping and two murders. This he does to everyone's satisfaction.

---

Audience Suitability Ratings

Mo Film Bul p148 D '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"A vehicle for the personality and famous dance band of Henry Hall, celebrity of the British Broadcasting Corp. The episodic character of the film is no drawback; what is, is that some of the episodes are very good and some very, very crude. Under the former head is an extremely funny travesty of a trial in court and a series of episodes of traffic policemen and others carrying on the rhythm of the theme tune. There are real laughs also in scenes picturing Hall and his band entertaining waifs and strays."

---

MUSIC IS MAGIC. N 1 '35 66min 20th Century-Fox
Director: George Marshall
Based on the play, Private Beach, by Gladys Unger and Jesse Lasky. Jr. "Three boys and a girl go broke in vaudeville and come to [the] film colony where they haunt executives, wreck cafes and run riot generally. When a star becomes temperamental, the girl gets her chance to replace her and make good." (Box Office)

---

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdioceas Motion Pic Guide.
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '35

"A: Fair of kind; Y and C: Probably entertaining." Christian Century p62 Ja 8 '36
Mo Film Bul p198 D '35

"Fair. Family." Motion Pic Guide Mr '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A. Y and C: Entertaining." Par M 56 Mr '36

---

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"In spite of some boisterous comedy contributed by Frank Mitchell and Jack Durant in a half-hearted effort to relieve the ennui, the picture fails to overcome the handicap of a ponderous scenario." R. S.

---

Hollywood Spec p14 F 1 '36
++ Exceptionally Good; ++ Good; + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

---

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Hopelessly complex mixture of mystery, comedy, romance and poor taste, that leaves audiences wondering what it is all about. Overshoots its mark badly... A: Only fair; Y and C: No."

Christian Century p338 Mr 4 '36

"Poor characterization and loose ends which fall to tie mark this mystery melodrama... The semi-solution of the whole is hastened by Detective Tip O'Neil plus the rough and ready methods of the local cops in dealing with an unpleasant a group of gangsters as ever flickered on a screen sheet for adults; children: no." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Mediocre. Adults." DAR

"A baffling mystery story—with plot so involved that the audience remains baffled for days!! It is quite unethical and perhaps adds to the public's contempt for law enforcement officers when they are portrayed as being stupidly brutal and dishonest for no real purpose as in this picture. A good cast wasted! Adults." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Well cast but lacking in continuity. Adults." Nat Soc of New England Women

"A poor story well acted and directed. Mature." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

---

Fox W Coast Bul F 1 '36
"A mystery melodrama with a fairly interesting plot, but unconvincingly presented. Adults and young people.?"

---

Jt Estimates Ja 15 '36
"The name of the picture is a warning which should be heeded, for plot, characters and motives are so roughly mixed up in this mystery melodrama that one loses interest in the characters and in the outcome. Adolescents, 12-16: no. Local ethical standards: children, 8-12: no indeed." Motion Pict R F '36

---

"This is a slow-moving, confused detective story which proves mediocre entertainment. Adults." Nat Council of Jewish Women Ja 22 '36

"Good. Adults." Nat Legion of Decency F '36

---

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"When its title was flashed on the screen I assumed its wording had reference to the characters in the story, but as the unreeling progressed I discovered it referred to the audience. 'Muddle' would have been a better word, but 'muss' gives you an idea of the impression the picture will make on the mind of an audience... Other confusions keep the plot muddled up and the audience bewildered. You may judge the quality of the story material from the fact that even Alan Mowbray gives a poor performance. Foster's detective is a caricature and Williams' comedy deplorable. No reason is apparent for Paul Forcas's presence in the cast which least gives the whole thing consistency, as there is no apparent reason why it should have been made."

---

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p30 N 30 '35
Film Curb p18 O 1 '35

"Flimsy story and lack of originality in treatment are apparent from outset." Variety p16 N 29 '35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
MUTINY ON THE BOUNTY

Players: Charles Laughton. Clark Gable.

Director: Frank Lloyd

Adapted from the trilogy, Mutiny on the Bounty, Men Against the Sea and Pitcairn's Island by Charles E. Nordhoff and James Norman Hall. The barbarous discipline imposed by Captain Bligh of the "Bounty" on his men during a two-year voyage to the South Seas eventually led to the most famous mutiny in British history. Bligh and eighteen loyal seamen were set adrift in the ship's launch and sailed to the Dutch East Indies where the mutineers returned to Tahiti and later to the inaccessible Pitcairn's Island where they burned the "Bounty."

A Guide to the study of the screenplay of Mutiny on the Bounty, prepared by Frederick Houk Law, is obtainable from Educational and Recreational Guides, Inc., 12S Lincoln Avenue, Newark, New Jersey at fifteen cents per copy. The Guide covers historical facts, dramatic values, character portrayals and suggestions for further reading.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

"Catholic."

"Excellent."

"Endorsed Motion Pict D '35"

"Pictorially and dramatically, 'Mutiny on the Bounty' rates as one of the outstanding productions of film history. Adults and 14-18: excellent; 5-14: too much brutality for nervous children and sensitive adults." Call Congress of Par & Teachers

"Mature; 14-15." DAR

"This outstanding picture is a notable contribution to the art of the cinema in a season that has already produced an unusual number of fine pictures. Adults and young people. E Coast Preview Committee

"Excellent. Family." Internat Fed of Cath Alumnae

"Recommended to the Committee on Exceptional Photoplays. Family audience; 12 years up." Nat Bd of R

"To all who love the salt tang of the sea and tales of courageous adventure, this film is heartily recommended." Nat Soc of New England Women

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; + - Mediocre; - Poor; - - Exceptionally Poor
"The whole production is outstanding and congratulations are due to all who have had a part in it. Rather narro...4a744d4b80d0f4bbef2c15085822a6a7

"Family, except that the cruelty of some of the scenes will prove too sensitive to adults or children." Mrs. T. G. Winter

"Adults. Too harrowing for children." Women's Univ. Club, Los Angeles

"The sharp and terrible reality of the cruelty from which was born the new maritime code of today is so vividly presented that the pictures are a part of the records of the great productions of the family, too tense for the very young or sensitive." + + New Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) N 14 '35

"Here at last is the picture for which the film industry should have saved their favorite adjectives, colossal, a 'superb,' mature family. (Strong fare for sensitive adults or children)." + + N Y Times N 1 '35

The Motion Picture Review Digest

Newpaper and Magazine Reviews

"A film that must be labeled for adults only because of violence yet one that adds a chapter to the history of the abolition of injustice toward the defenseless weaker." Christian Science Monitor p63 N 9 '35

"Mutiny on the Bounty is the cinema at its best, and it does a job which the legitimate stage, lacking sweep and scope and sky and sea, could never hope to achieve. The only reservation I wish to make is that those two Tahitian sweethearts seemed snatched out of the Vassar daisy chain." Don Harold + Life p21 J '36

"Charles Laughton, whose performance as Captain Bligh in 'The Mutiny on the Bounty' fixes itself so indelibly in my mind at any rate as by far the best of living actors. I had thought him that a current picture leaves me room for doubt. Frank Lloyd's direction has amplitude and clarity, and the film has many other merits. It has one chief one—its making perfect use of such an artist. It is Mr. Laughton, however, whom we watch; and I cannot believe that this is to be accounted for on any other theory than that he has resources beyond the power of even the most brilliant direction to conceive. No man could be told to do what he does. He would have to know how—to know, for instance, how to do Captain Bligh, and how to be him in such fullness that no inconsistency appeared between the tyrant of the Bounty and the hero of the open boat on that impossible voyage to Timor."

Mark Van Doren + Nation p658 J a 1 '36

"The zest and careful research of Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall are re...4a744d4b80d0f4bbef2c15085822a6a7

"It can stand handsomely on the qualitative analysis. It has excitement and beauty and power as a true masterpiece. The motion picture spectacle as it should be conceived. The film is... remarkably faithful to the letter and spirit of the Nordhoff-Hall novel. Pictorially the film is superb. The cast... is excellent." Richard Watts, Jr. + + N Y Herald Tribune p57 N 7 '35

"A good show, a smashing, blood-curdling melodrama of the sea and the men who sailed upon it." Eileen Creelman + + Week-End Mag p 2 '35

"The magnificent adventure culled from the trilogy by Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall, is this department's favorite picture of the month. Here is one of the great motion picture ode...s and Charles Laughton's performance as Captain Bligh is, to my mind, the distinguishing of the year." Andre Sennwald + + N Y Times p6x D 8 '35

"The film is brilliantly acted. Everyone connected with the production deserves to be congratulated for turning out a really superb film." William Boehnel + + World-Telegram p22 N 9 '35

"Frank Lloyd has handled the whole shipload well, except in Tahiti. Tahiti always gets Hollywood a little unnerved, and, as the picture is in color, those Tahiti scenes, Tahiti fela, and so on, might have been cut quite a bit. You've seen that kind of thing a lot. You have seen anything quite as good as this sort of its, I suspect, as the rest of the film." John Mosher + + N Y Post p20 N 16 '35

"'Mutiny on the Bounty' is a superb piece of work which contains the three essentials for a first-rate film—a good story with a minimum of decor, plenty of movement and a large canvas. The story was ready to hand and the only difficulty which could have prevented it from becoming a masterpiece is that this difficult material has not been quite overdone for the film is overlong and cuts could be made in the sequence which follows the arrival of the Bounty in Tahiti." Mark Forrest + + Sat R p32 Ja 4 '36

"Spring'd Republican p2 N 15 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"A superb production viewed from any angle. Call it a zwischen brutal—crude—yet it retains a motion picture production, as was produced, magnificently directed, portrayed with conviction the whole."

+ + Box Office p27 N 23 '35

"[This] dramatic tale of the sea can be chalke...4a744d4b80d0f4bbef2c15085822a6a7

"This is one of the most important productions since the inception of talking pictures. It is grim, gripping, and pictorially perfect."

+ + Film Daily p7 N 1 '35

"Famed in fact and fiction [its] dramatic appeal is deep and primal, sometimes sadistic, thrilling and always interesting... Production values and the achievement of perfection with on...4a744d4b80d0f4bbef2c15085822a6a7

"This is a rich contribution to the screen's process."

+ + Motion Pict Daily p5 O 29 '35

"Expensively produced, not one single detail necessary to emphasize the motivating story in all its vividness being ignored, the show is a remarkable demonstration of complete picture making technique."

+ + Motion Pict Herald p57 N 9 '35

"Family melodrama."

Y Exorhibitor p36 N 25 '35

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
MY MARRIAGE. Ja 10 '36 73min 20th Century-Fox
Players: Claire Trevor, Kent Taylor, Pauline Frederick. Paul Kelly
Director: George Archainbaud
“The scion of a socially prominent family marries the daughter of a racketeer, thereby incurring the disapproval of his fashionable mother. This snobbish individual makes life miserable for the young couple until it is discovered that the girl’s father, who has been mysteriously killed, was shot by the socialite’s other son.” Int Fed of Cath Alumnae

Audience Suitability Ratings
“Class A. General approval.” N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36
“A: Fairly good; Y: Perhaps; C: No.” Christian Century p46 Mr 18 '36
“Good.” Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36

The outstanding action and admirably spoken lines of Pauline Frederick, as a conniving mother-in-law, lend plausibility to a melodrama involving a family of social registries and the by-the-hand-the-bride bride of one of its members. Adults: good; 14-18: fair; 8-14: uninteresting.” Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

“Adults.” DAR

“This picture is well acted, highly entertaining, with all ethical values satisfactorily presented. Adults and young people.” Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast)

“Good acting by Claire Trevor and Pauline Frederick. Good. Family.” Int Fed of Cath Alumnae

“An excellent cast and fine direction add much to this tense melodrama.” Nat Council of Jewish Women

“Good cast, weak story poorly directed. Fair. Adults.” Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women’s Clubs

“A very dramatic story, well constructed, convincingly acted and nicely staged.” Nat Fed of New England Women

“A picture with a deeply involved plot which is subordinate to the characters. . . . The picture though rather negative in its ethical value, is above the average, particularly when the higher social element is depicted. Mature.” S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

“This is first class melodrama with a high entertainment value for those who enjoy the nervous excitement induced by rapid-fire action. It is mechanically plotted and uses hackneyed situations and typical characters, but is saved from banality by the sincerity of the acting and the stressing of nobility of human motivation as opposed to false and vulgar pride. The plot is oversentimentalized but despite this it maintains a level of dignity and proportion. Adults.” Women’s Univ Club, Los Angeles

“Fox W West Coast Bul N 30 '35

“Unobjectionable for general patronage.” Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

“A and V: Entertaining; C: Mature.” Par M p56 Mr '36

“A production notable for the smart gowns of the feminine members of its cast. Adults.” Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor pl3 N 13 '35

Although the cast assembled by Twentieth Century-Fox strives nobly, it is unable to animate a formulated screen play which never rises above being mildly interesting. The material for sound melodrama is there—three fatal shootings and an unsavory domestic crisis—but it just doesn’t hold.” T. M. P.

— + N Y Times p12 F 22 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“This one opens with great promise, but fails to deliver fully in long drawn-out fades and slow action.” + Box Office p25 N 30 '35

“[This is] one of these all too familiar mother-in-law stories that have been done to death. This one is just ordinary program stuff with nothing to pull it out of the ‘just average’ class.”

Film Curb p13 D 1 '35

“Because of the fact that it is well handled, ‘My Marriage’ should do all right as a program number. However, the story of the mother-in-law, who is always menacing the happiness of the newly married couple is familiar. George Archainbaud’s direction keeps things moving along and he gets some nice performances from the players, all of which helps to maintain interest.” Film Daily p8 N 19 '35

“Fair program entertainment. Although the plot is routine, one’s attention is held because of the sympathy that Claire Trevor, the heroine, awakens by displaying a noble character. Suitable for all. Family.” — Harrison’s Reports Ja 25 '36

Motion Pict Daily p10 N 18 '35

“Treating of swanky, sophisticated people, the story is told in an unsophisticated way, as it aims its appeal at average audiences. . . . The action is such that it recommends itself to general adult audiences. Its theme being too deep for juvenile understanding or appreciation, a campaign calculated to arouse the interest of persons more mature should be adopted.”

+ Motion Pict Herald p70 N 23 '35

“Family melodrama.” N Y Exhibitor p55 D 10 '35

“Fairly well plotted and pretty capably produced as well as played, ‘My Marriage’ manages to hold its own for the neighborhood trade, and in some spots ought to be able to protect the box office without a companion picture.” — Variety p37 F 26 '36

MYSTERIOUS AVENGER. Ja 17 '36 56min Columbia
Players: Charles Starrett, Joan Perry
Director: David Selman
A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Unobjectionable for general patronage.” Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

“It has nothing new or arresting to recommend it. Family.”

— Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“Estimate; good Western anywhere.” + N Y Exhibitor p20 F 10 '36

MYSTERY OF THE MARIE CELESTE. N 14 '36 80min Hammer
Director: Denison Clift
The film was made in England. “The story is laid in 1872, when crews were shanghaied. Sailing ship Mary Celeste is floating in the vicinity of Gibraltar with not a soul on board. Captain Morehead, of another vessel, boards her, towing her into port, and claims salvage. [The] picture opens with Morehead's suit before the Admiralty court for salvage money, then switches to the events preceding the legal action, and finishing with a return to the court." (Variety)

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor

Audience Suitability Ratings

Mo Film Bul p174 N '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"[An] outstanding role is played by Bela Lugosi as a seaman who had sailed in the boat six years previously and been thrashed until he is a mental and physical wreck... Illusion of the vessel at sea is excellent, barring the cabin scenes. Despite terrific storms, the cabin does not sway one bit. [There is] good direction throughout, but [a] morbid and unsatisfactory story. Very strong for those who like tragic entertainment." + — Variety p21 D 4 '35

NAVY WIFE. N 29 '35 58min 20th-century-Fox
Director: Allan Dwan
Based on the novel, Beauty's Daughter, by Kathleen Norris, "A triangular romance about a Navy nurse who marries a Navy widower and then struggles painfully to supplant his affection for his dead wife." (Boston Transcript)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide Cath News p24 Ja 15 '35

"This picture with its interesting background of navy stations, while notable in its production is well cast, adequately directed, has humor and at times rises to dramatic heights. An entertaining picture. Adults and young people." + — Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) S 25 '35

"Good. Adults & young adults." Motion Pict Guide Mr 36 '35

"This is a social drama with a slow moving, entertaining story, well directed and capably acted. Adults." + — Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '35

"A: Fair; Y and C: No value." Par M p56 Mr '36

"This adaptation of Kathleen Norris' novel, 'Beauty's Daughter,' will not find favor with those who enjoyed the book. However, clever dialogue, interesting scenes in a Navy-base hospital and vigorous comedy of sailors on 'shore-leave' contribute much to the entertainment value of the picture. Adults." + — Sel Motion Pict N 1 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p4 N 22 '35

Christian Science Monitor p13 N 22 '35

"The very saccharinity of the story, which beats even an angel-faced little cripple with long curls and a brave smile, may have its usual effect upon Miss Norris' army of constant readers. It is just a time-killer and... can be recommended only to inveterates of Miss Norris' magazine satirals of domestic turmoils." Eileen Creelman + — N Y Sun p26 Ja 6 '36

"Only a few short paragraphs need be devoted to 'Navy Wife' which contains nearly all the nickel-weekly cliches about misunderstood love, strung together in a flimsy and generally profligate manner." William Boehnel — N Y World-Telegram p23 Ja 6 '36

Springfield Republican p6 D 13 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p30 N 30 '35

Film Curb p18 O 1 '35

Motion Pict Herald p35 Ja 25 '36

"Family drama." N Y Exhibitor p34 O 10 '35

"So much extraneous matter has been permitted to creep into early sequences that the director obviously had to skin the surface of the more moving scenes when the plot actually hit its pace." Variety p12 Ja 8 '36

NEVADA. N 29 '33 60min Paramount
Players: Larry (Buster) Crabbe. Kathleen Burke. Monte Blue
Director: Charles Barton
Story from the novel of same title by Zane Grey. Two jail-breaking outlaws decide to go straight and prevent a gambler from swindling a man out of his ranch. They take over the ranch when he dies, fight rustlers and settle down.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Mediocre; Y and C: Fair." Christian Century p158 Ja 22 '36

"Good." + — Endorsed Motion Pict D '35

"Family." Nat Ed of R Fox W Coast Bul D 14 '35

"Fair. Family." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A and Y: Fair Western melodrama; C: Thrilling." Par M p56 Mr '36

Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35

"Good scenery and minor characterizations, and generally true atmosphere. Family." + — Wkly Guide N 23 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p34 N 23 '35

"[A] typical Western that will satisfy where pictures of this type are liked." + — Film Curb p9 N 15 '35

"A pretty good Western... Suitable for all, and for Sundays where Westerns are shown. [Family]." — Harrison's Reports D 21 '35

"An outdoor action drama, this fast moving feature is filled with all the dramatic, comedy, menace, wild riding and conflict essentials that are appealing to Western fans and juveniles." + — Motion Pict Daily p8 N 7 '35

[+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; — + Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor]
NEVADA—Continued
“Not a pretentious attraction, but withal one that is intelligently produced, acted and directed, the show has all the showmanship elements necessary to stir the enthusiasm of outdoor action fans.”
+ Motion Pict Herald p64 N 16 '35

“Family Western.”
N Y Exhibitor p37 N 25 '35

NEVER TOO LATE. N 27 '35 57min Reliable Players: Richard Talmadge, Thelma
White. Robert Frazier. Mildred Harris
Director: Franklin Shamroy

“Richard Talmadge plays the part of a detective pursuing a gang of blackmailers who have stolen a necklace from the police commissioner's wife. He poses as a second story man to gain the gang's confidence, rounds them up and returns the necklace in time for her commissioner's wedding anniversary.”
Film Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings
“A and Y: Undistinguished crook drama;
C: Doubtful.”
Par M p56 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“The acrobatic Richard Talmadge jumps, tumbles and fights his way through this one in a manner which will please the patrons who like his sort of stuff. The story doesn't amount to much but is framework enough to tie in the automobile chase scenes, flat fights and across-the-roofs acrobatics
the Talmadge fans expect.”
— Motion Pict Daily p7 N 27 '35

“With no distinguishing features, either of player, or performance, or situation, it may prove fair on a dual program. A full quota of police-bandit automobile pursuits is included, which makes for action, at least. Even opportunity seems to have been hunted to permit
Talmadge to play the acrobat in his battles with the crooks, from which he always emerges the victor, often at great stretch of the imagination.”
+ — Motion Pict Daily p15 N 27 '35

“Once more athletic Dick Talmadge scores in a rapid-fire action story... Talmadge fans will be more than satisfied with this one.
Family action drama dramas could ask for and
+ N Y Exhibitor p10 D 25 '35

NEW FRONTIER. O 24 '35 60min Republic
Players: John Wayne. Muriel Evans
Director: Carl Pierson

“Story of the opening up of homestead lands in the old Cherokee Strip.” Wyky Guide

Audience Suitability Ratings
“Family audience; 12 years up.” Nat Bd of R
Fox W Coast Bui N 16 '35

“A. Y and C: Good Western.”
Par M p56 Mr '36
“Family.”
Wyky Guide O 5 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p55 N 16 '35

“Contains all the snappy action that lovers of outdoor action dramas could ask for and is a high grade Western in every respect.”
+ Film Curb p17 O 1 '35

“Family Western.”
N Y Exhibitor p36 O 10 '35
Variety p13 D 18 '35

NEW GULLIVER. N 1 '35 76min Moscow film studios
Players: V. Konstantinov
Director: A. Ptushko
Puppeteer: F. Kranay

Based on Gulliver's Travels by Jonathan Swift.
“The narrative depicts the adventures of a young lad lost in the Lilliput kingdom where the royalists at first cater to him in an effort to employ him for their ends, but later direct warfare against the giant, who takes up the cause of the oppressed workers and aids them in achieving victory.” (Film Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings
“Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory. Not recomended because of subject matter.”
N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

“Objectionable in part.”
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36
“A and Y: Amusing; C: Entertaining.”
Par M p56 Mr '36

An unusual film from Russia in which, except in the prelude, all the characters but one are represented by puppets. These puppets are extraordinary in expressiveness, unlike anything the movies have produced before.
The film is propaganda, but for young people that would be unnoticed in its general entertainment value. Recommended to the Committee on Exceptional Photoplays. Family, junior matinee’s.”
+ + Wyky Guide N 30 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p16 N 16 '35
Lit Digest p25 N 2 '35
Reviewed by Mark Van Doren
Nation p604 N 20 '35

“The English titles add to the effect of the picture and are amusingly rather than clumsily, written. Overall, New Gulliver is a striking and original cinema experiment.” Richard Watts, Jr.
+ N Y Herald Tribune p16 N 4 '35

“The Russians animate a puppet world with a technical brilliance and a richness of comic imagination that rivals Walt Disney's pen-and-ink masterpieces... The film's satirical thrusts make for magnificent humor.” Andre Sennwald
+ N Y Times p24 N 4 '35

“A thoroughly engaging and comically imaginative satire. The whole thing is so charmingly managed and with such technical finesse and genuine wit that one is hardly aware of the sledgehammer propaganda that it is driving home... Fresh in form and unhackneyed in treatment.” William Boechel
New York World-Telegram p15 N 5 '35

“Crisp, graceful, and witty.” John Mosher
+ New Yorker p97 N 16 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

“Excellent for juveniles, although much poitical propaganda has been introduced. This last will be overlooked by the children while watching this pleasantly handled and never overpowered by thousands of marionettes.”
+ Box Office p33 D 28 '35

“Clever and fascinating adventure novelty. Humor and satire are well sprinkled amidst the dramatic excitement, and the production is

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

137 helped considerably by a good musical background."

"Film Daily p6 O 29 '35"

"This Russian effort, in its particular field, is one of the most remarkable films... in almost two decades. The manipulation of the puppet-like little girl's gestures and postures, the extreme accuracy in scale and the economical cleverness with which the inhabited world of Lilliput are handled combine into a sum total of enterprise, ingenuity and charm which are constantly intriguing and arresting."

"Motion Pict Daily p8 O 29 '35"

"Adult drama..."

N Y Exhibitor p37 N 25 '35

NEXT TIME WE LOVE. Ja 27 '36 83min Universal

Players: Margaret Sullavan, James Stewart

Director: Edward H. Griffith

Based on a novel called, Next Time We Live and also, Say Goodbye Again by Ursula Parrott. "[It] is a quiet, sensitive and intelligent cinema study of love and careers. Its hero is a young writer or man who wants to be a foreign correspondent. Its heroine is a romantic girl who is all mixed up between her desire to be a successful writer and her mother and her interest in a stage career. They are constantly being driven apart by their confused longings and the sad situation in which they find themselves, and in the end death and their ambitions, not the departure of their love, bring an end to their wasteful, rather wide-eyed confusion." (N Y Herald Tribune)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Excellent. Mature." DAR

"Mature." Nat Ed of R

"Adults. Excellent." Nat Soc of New England Women

"A poignant, somewhat tear-drenched drama which will perhaps appeal most strongly to women. Mature." Mrs T. Q. Winter

Fox W Coast Bul F 15 '36

"Mature." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"The production is a superior type of problem cinema, greatly aided by convincing characterizations and intelligent direction, always interesting... Above all, it is emotionally touching. Adults and young people." E Coast Preview Committee

"Family, Mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Although a little mature for children there is nothing harmful in this delightful picture. Family." Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"It is a picture which will be remembered... Adolescents: yes; children, too mature." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

Fox W Coast Bul F 22 '36

"It will have wide audience appeal. Adults and young people..."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) F 8 '36

"A distinguished cast develops this theme convincingly with realistic acting and a humor which is close to tears. Excellent photography. Adults."

+ Jt Estimates F 1 '36

"Good. Adults and young adults..."

Nat Council of Jewish Women F 4 '36

"A dull and ponderous tale which is overly romantic together with direction which is heavy and unoriginal causes Margaret Sullavan to appear to extremely poor advantage. Family."

"Unobjectionable for adults."

The Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Adults."

Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

"Mature."

Wkly Guide F 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"A picture for those who enjoy sniffling for an hour or two and wiping out damp handkerchiefs. In contrast, to the prevailing marshmallow atmosphere, is the roughage supplied by Robert McWade as a dyspeptic managing editor." M. E. F.

Boston Transcript p3 F 21 '36

"The story is just old stuff, the usual Ursula Parrott love formula, but Griffith tells it so brilliantly, so smoothly, so sincerely, your sympathy goes out to the people it concerns, and never for a moment during the unreeing will your attention wander from the screen. Quite often after seeing a picture I have enjoyed thoroughly, I find reviewers declare it to possess great appeal to women. I do not know if I am a sissy, or what else may be the matter with me, but I make it a point, through any picture my confreres classify as entertainment principally for women; but I suppose this one is another of those works of beautiful and story which should stir the romantic impulses of women of all ages, but, and I don't care who knows it, I keep my emotions stirred up dussing its entire showing: I thought it tender, sweet and human, and I smoke a pipe, play poker and move on."

+ Hollywood Spec p5 F 15 '36

"So finely wrought is this suavely sentimental tale, so nicely balanced is its values, and so surely is it played that it becomes quite the best thing of its uncommon sort the talkies have yet offered. It is a great credit to all concerned with this decidedly artistic film that its simple, told without frills, attains the emotional height it certainly does. It is, rather, a hand-sold, unpretentious merger of good writing and sympathetic playing. And it comes as a somehow gay and sad offering to delight and move the lonely, that you might like to get some ashes on your first." (5 1/2 stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p35 Mr 14 '36

In 'Next Time We Love' (the leading character's name is not even given) exceptionality and there are times when the general adult quality of the work falls just a trifle short, but in the way of visual topography, far from being exciting, never fails to be believable and to make sense. If [It] fails to be stirring and heartbreakingly emotional drama, it is chiefly because the producers have refused to employ sentimental fireworks in their dramatization. The very absence of the customary hard-working heart throbs results in a certain understatement that is likely to keep those who might have been easy victims of a more shameless treatment of the subject in a state of lethargy and tearlessness. I think that if its treatment is frequently too subtle a key for true effectiveness." Richard Watts, Jr.

— N Y Herald Tribune p11 Ja 31 '36

"'Next Time We Love" is the kind of film known to the trade as a matinee picture, a grand fare for women who generally enjoy themselves... [It] is also one of those pictures that doesn't bear too much thinking about afterward. Without any exception analysis can undo all Edward H. Griffith's excellent direction, can spoil even the sensitive performance of Margaret Sullavan, and the cheerful tearful mood of the whole production. That mood is built up, so carefully, that if in one concerned, is the film's chief asset. A harsh word of reality could so easily shatter it; and it is built by so pleasant a mood to shatter unnecessarily." Eileen Creelman

N Y Sun p18 Ja 31 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
NEXT TIME WE LOVE—Continued

"It is probably ungracious, and unexpected, to reproach a producer for having turned out too faithful a version of a novel. But, while there are some which are perfect screen material—"To Have and Have Not," for example—there are others which require something more than a literal translation if they are to become photo-stories. And with the right hands, the dialogue. 'Next Time We Live' was one of those and, in transferring it bodily to the screen, Universal has done something short of the miraculous. The film is Harrison's first law—motion. Its investigation of the problem of marriage vs. career consumes something short of eighty-five minutes and demands for your patience with Cicely Tyler." F. S. Nugent

"What this story of a foreign correspondent and his actress wife, who, though they love each other dearly, prefer to remain parted so that they will not interfere with each other's career, would be like in less competent hands is something this department would rather not contemplate. However, since everyone concerned with the project felt that a first-rate job is easy to think well of 'Next Time We Live.'" — William Boone

"The chronicle seemed merely monotonous and uninspired, nor did I feel that the performers, Margaret Sullivan and James Stewart, particularly contributed to a wider sense of the tragic moment whenever they met, the gasp of the tragic nuance." — John Mosher

"A confused adaptation of the story of an actress and her foreign correspondent husband." Stage p8 Mr '36

"In her novel, of which the title, 'Next Time We Live,' was changed in Hollywood lest cine-ma-dicts suspect that it dealt with the Hereafter, Author Ursula Parrott [gives us] a maudlin discussion of the pangs of young lovers thwarted by circumstance. The chief merit of the picture is the skill with which the dramatic opportunities for doing likewise, it maintains an intellectual level which, while not exalted, is higher than that of its original. Margaret Sullivan's curious voice, which betokens depth of emotional reserve or a defect in her breathing apparatus, is well adapted for expressing the ambiguities of Author Parrott's heroine. However, the chief significance of 'Next Time We Live' in the process of the cinema industry is likely to reside in the presence in its cast of James Stewart. A 1932 product of the Princeton University Club who has appeared on the Hollywood from Broadway, where he appeared in 'Yellow Jack,' 'Divided by Three' and 'Page Miss Glory,' has started a new established cinema convention for such roles, ably introduced to Hollywood the character of a newspaper man who is not merely drunkard, lecher nor buffoon."

"Poignantly dramatic and pathetically tragic, this story of a great love will impress all who see it with the natural quality of its dialogue and the superb performance of its leading players." — Variety

"Maintaining a high pitch emotionally throughout, the picture is chieftly geared to feminine taste, but it has plenty of general appeal." — Film Daily p5 Ja '36

"A pretty good romantic drama, with an appeal to women. . . . The story lacks action, but this is made up for by its human quality."

"A poignantly real and moving love story of young America that comes so close to home as to enlist the sympathetic response of every-"
“Mad clowning, clever dancing, pleasing vocal and instrumental music are entertaining features of this picture which will please the Masses. Marian Marsh, as Kitty Carlisle and Allan Jones, both presumably opera stars, are done up very smartly and sure they had better stay. We can only hope that some day we may see more of their gloriously satiric unimpeded by the supposed requirements of the film market.”

Robert Stebbins

New Theatre p.23 Ja. 36

“Hereafter, Liberty means going each of in amusing features…”

“The pleasant singing of lovely Kitty Carlisle and Allan Jones, the unusual and amusing piano playing of Chico Marx and the high-class, high-minded story of the highlights of this entertaining picture. Family.”

Sel Motion Pict D 1 ‘35

Wkly Guide O 16 ‘35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“A Night at the Opera” may not be the funniest picture, though they are in the estimation of some critics, but it is a melange of crazy antics, smart dialogue and up-to-the-minute that the young Marx boys should burlesque, in their generous travesty, this all absorbing subject [of opera].”

Baltimore Sun p.10 D 4 ‘36

“Canadian M p36 F ‘36

“A boisterous, rowdy, and thoroughly delightful piece, ‘A Night at the Opera’ hits a swift pace from the opening and never slackens under the barrage of puns, songs, dancing, and insane antics that come tumbling on top of each other. Following the same general lines of their earlier hits, the Marx Brothers’ new film is imbued with an undeniable freshness and enthusiasm that sweeps crazily, but none the less triumphantly, through the whole affair.”

Beverly Hills Courier p.16 N 30 ‘35

“The chief appeal of the Marx Bros. is their total lack of inhibitions; In fact, a Marx show is a vicarious dry drunk for everybody; it makes a better person of you for half an hour; you walk crazy and cut capers on the way home, and your family will think you are going to town for the first time after all.”

Don Herold Life p20 F ‘36

“It is absurd to be serious about the Marx Brothers, as I intend to be. But it would be more absurd to try being funny about them. At their best they are absolute, and this means that ‘A Night at the Opera’ is funny beyond the power of words to be funny. I think I have never seen an audience laugh so long and so hard. But it was not at words—not even at the words which George Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind have written for Groucho and Chico to say, and I do not forget that some of the puns were the best in years. It was at the three mad brother schemadixies of Groucho and Chico and Harpo; at them and at the curious, cockeyed power with which they suddenly endowed all. An energy was there at which one could do nothing but laugh.”

Mark Van Doren

+ + + Nation p28 Ja 1 ‘36

“In a sense the film marks the highest point of the Marx Brothers’ work. From the very beginning of their film career the thing has made the magazine cartoonist memorable and kept it from descending to pure nonsense; however delightful, was the complete rip-off they have for the stifftish stooges of higher society… Unfor-

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + -- Fair; + + + Mediocre; -- Poor; + + + Exceptionally Poor

 Fortunately, the devastating devices of the brothers are placed at the service of the inane juveniles of the current season. Miss

Exceptionally Poor

New York World-Telegram p21 D 7 ‘35

‘Il Trovatore’ is singled out for the honor of Marxist treatment, and never did I see that anyone was more red than the Marx Brothers. And it is not just the very cockney notion that nothing would be funnier than to let the Marxes loose during a performance of ‘Il Trovatore’. You can see that any time you are going to see for yourself, because this reporter cannot even begin to recount in cold print the zany goings-on that take place when Chico, Harpo and Groucho interrupt the gala opening of that opera. Sequence after sequence is filled with such explosive, rapid fire action and with such gleeful nonsense that when the picture is over your jaws ache from laughing.”

Harry FLACZ

N Y World-Telegram p21 D 7 ‘35

“Hereafter, when a musical film is threatening to put us to sleep, we shall have the courage to shout ‘Louder and funnier.’”

George S. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind wrote the book at the insistence of the Marx Brothers that they, themselves, would be willing to do. All the drollery and absurdity that you had expected from the Marx Brothers in their slapstick, and laughter for their music... By slugging the tenor, ridiculing the impresario and slipping ‘Take Me Out to the Ball Game’ into the orchestral score, they have made the perfect opera picture... ‘A Night at the Opera’ is certainly the prize roughhouse comedy of the season. Verdi, whatever the music de-

George S. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind wrote the book at the insistence of the Marx Brothers that they, themselves, would be willing to do. All the drollery and absurdity that you had expected from the Marx Brothers in their slapstick, and laughter for their music... By slugging the tenor, ridiculing the impresario and slipping ‘Take Me Out to the Ball Game’ into the orchestral score, they have made the perfect opera picture... ‘A Night at the Opera’ is certainly the prize roughhouse comedy of the season. Verdi, whatever the music de-

George S. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind wrote the book at the insistence of the Marx Brothers that they, themselves, would be willing to do. All the drollery and absurdity that you had expected from the Marx Brothers in their slapstick, and laughter for their music... By slugging the tenor, ridiculing the impresario and slipping ‘Take Me Out to the Ball Game’ into the orchestral score, they have made the perfect opera picture... ‘A Night at the Opera’ is certainly the prize roughhouse comedy of the season. Verdi, whatever the music de-

George S. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind wrote the book at the insistence of the Marx Brothers that they, themselves, would be willing to do. All the drollery and absurdity that you had expected from the Marx Brothers in their slapstick, and laughter for their music... By slugging the tenor, ridiculing the impresario and slipping ‘Take Me Out to the Ball Game’ into the orchestral score, they have made the perfect opera picture... ‘A Night at the Opera’ is certainly the prize roughhouse comedy of the season. Verdi, whatever the music de-

George S. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind wrote the book at the insistence of the Marx Brothers that they, themselves, would be willing to do. All the drollery and absurdity that you had expected from the Marx Brothers in their slapstick, and laughter for their music... By slugging the tenor, ridiculing the impresario and slipping ‘Take Me Out to the Ball Game’ into the orchestral score, they have made the perfect opera picture... ‘A Night at the Opera’ is certainly the prize roughhouse comedy of the season. Verdi, whatever the music de-

George S. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind wrote the book at the insistence of the Marx Brothers that they, themselves, would be willing to do. All the drollery and absurdity that you had expected from the Marx Brothers in their slapstick, and laughter for their music... By slugging the tenor, ridiculing the impresario and slipping ‘Take Me Out to the Ball Game’ into the orchestral score, they have made the perfect opera picture... ‘A Night at the Opera’ is certainly the prize roughhouse comedy of the season. Verdi, whatever the music de-

George S. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind wrote the book at the insistence of the Marx Brothers that they, themselves, would be willing to do. All the drow
NIGHT AT THE OPERA—Continued

the reason that the majority of people can't understand a word of what Groucho is saying and, if by any chance they do make any sense out of it, they are at a loss to know why he troubled to speak at all. There is still a lot of superb drivel from Groucho, and Harpo's face and antics remain as vacant and full of disgusting glee as ever. Also, by way of compensation for loading them with a plot, both Chico and Harpo are allowed to play their instruments again; they have lost none of their skill." Mark Forrest

Sat R p309 Mr 7 '36

"The Marx Brothers spent two years of preparation for 'A Night at the Opera.' It is said to rate as one of the best things these comedians have ever done for the screen."

+ Spring'd Republican p6c D 1 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p56 N 16 '35

"[This] probably will go down in history as the best the brothers have contributed to the screen.

+ Film Curb p14 N 1 '35

"Family fares."

N Y Exhibitor p30 N 10 '35

"The punch of the Marx lads' latest, as with their previous pictures, is an ability to belt the customers with solid laughs on a high frequency basis for an hour and a half. That gags fall on top of each other makes no difference. The total score can't help but be uncommonly high. The comedy material is always good and sometimes brilliant. There are two or three comedy situations which give card and spades to most of the present day picture comedy written."

+ Variety p19 D 11 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"This tropical melodrama cannot hope for anything much better than the smaller spots and the duals. It tells a familiar story with the usual native woman and for good measure a murder has been added."

- Film Curb p15 Ja 11 '36

"Covering more or less familiar ground, this melodramatic yarn with a tropical setting makes moderately entertaining fare for the not too discriminating popular stands."

- Film Daily p11 Ja 7 '36

"The show has a title that might prove interesting but otherwise has little to make it stand out."

+ N Y Exhibitor p37 O 10 '35

NO MAN'S RANGE. O 18 '35 60min Supreme Players: Bob Steele. Roberta Gale Director: Robert N. Bradbury

"[A] Western about a cowboy who walks into a lot of trouble when he visits the stepfather he has never seen." Wkly Guide

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; - Poor; — Exceptionally Poor.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Entertaining Western. Family. Junior matinee." Nat En d of K

+ Fox W Coast Bul N 16 '35

"A and Y: Western melodrama; C: Thrilling."

Par M p56 Mr '36

"Family. Junior."

Wkly Guide O 19 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"Well photographed, well paced with shooting, fights, [and] a slight romantic touch. Family Waterloo."

N Y Exhibitor p32 N 10 '35

NO MORE YESTERDAYS. See Lady of secrets

OLD CURIOSITY SHOP. D 21 '35 90min British international

Players: Don Webster, Elaine Benson, Hay Petrie. Beatrix Thomson. Polly Ward

Director: Thomas Bentley

Based on the novel of same title by Charles Dickens. Nell, a plaintive child, ... endured most of the miseries Dickens delighted in describing. She didn't have the luck to meet his more comic characters. Here was the fate of being pursued, some seven roles by that misshapen dwarf Quilt, a most odious creature, and not a very funny one. Worn out by fleeing through the English countryside with her doddering grandfather, the child finally dies of exposure and starvation. The old man, his mind quite undone by this last catastrophe, tries desperately to reawaken her cold little body as the story sadly ends."

(N Y Sun)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A and Y: Authentically worthwhile; C: Sad."

Par M p56 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"A successful conveyance of sentiment and caricature that will be best liked by those familiar with the book."

+ Christian Science Monitor p13 D 25 '35

"The picture is an interesting, humorous and melodramatic study of the Dickens story, set in the proper period and against authentic London. And the result is a much finer portrait of the lives and times bound up in the novel than might otherwise have come through. The director shows skill and dexterity in his use of the grotesque, of contrast, and of effective light and shadow in his camera work ... For the picture-goer who enjoys an atmospheric study and perfection in performance 'The Old Curiosity Shop' is a holiday gift." Marguerite Tasca

+ N Y Herald Tribune p5 D 24 '35

"This manages to be faithful, picturesque and dull all at the same time. [H] is not a merry tale, as you may have gathered. It follows closely the novel, perhaps the most consistently sentimental of all Dickens's long novels. Not too good for the world, and his tiresome grandparent are somewhat trying in these realistic days of 1935. [The film] in spite of its careful production, is apt to appeal mostly to those who particularly admire the original, one of Dickens's less popular novels." Eileen Crevan

"It is said of 'The Old Curiosity Shop' that it conquered America for Dickens. Unhappily it is not so good. It is written with grace and skill, and is a fine piece of writing, but it is not really a novel. It is a series of sketches of life in London, and it is only by the power of its author that it is able to hold the reader's attention. The dialogue is often clever, but it is also often tedious. The book is a long one, and it would be better if it were shorter. Despite its faults, 'The Old Curiosity Shop' is a valuable addition to our literature, and it is a book that will be read with interest for generations to come."

E. W. Housman

"Keaton is a master of the silent film, and his performances are always a delight to watch. He is a perfect acrobat, and his movements are so graceful that they seem to be choreographed. His sense of humor is unerring, and he always manages to make the audience laugh. In 'The General,' he plays a Yiddish man who is hurled into an ocean of mud, and he emerges from the struggle unscathed. In 'Sherlock Junior,' he plays a Sherlock Holmes who is a failure at being a detective, but he is a fine comic actor, and his performance is a delight."

E. W. Housman

"It is a pity that 'The General' is not more successful. It is a fine film, and it should have been a commercial success, but it was not. 'The General' is a film that is full of humor, and it is a film that is full of pathos. It is a film that is full of energy, and it is a film that is full of spirit. It is a film that is full of life, and it is a film that is full of warmth. It is a film that is full of love, and it is a film that is full of hope."

E. W. Housman

"Despite poor performances by the principal players, with the exception of Buster Keaton, and a creaky story, this British production provides some laughs and is okay for the popular houses.

"Estimate: for neighbors: twin bills." N Y Exhibitor p81 F 10 '36

"(ON ICE. N 6 '35 10min. United artists

Director: Walt Disney

[AN] adventure on the ice, with Minnie learning to skate and Mickey as her instructor. Film Daily"

"Audience Suitability Ratings

"Trade Paper Reviews

Film Daily p14 O 31 '35

"Excellent." + N Y Exhibitor p27 N 10 '35"

$3000 A MINUTE. N 7 '35 72min Republic

Players: Roger Pryor, Leila Hyams

Director: Aubrey H. Scott

Based on a story of same title by Everett Freeman printed in The Saturday Evening Post. A continuously hilarious comedy about a penniless newspaper reporter who finds that his agreement with two millionaires to spend a large amount of their money in twelve hours is much more difficult than it sounds." (Wkly Guide)

"Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Arch-
diose Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 J a 25 '36

"A: Mediocre; Y: Better not; C: No." Christian Century p159 Ja 22 '36

"Good." + Endorsed Motion Pict D '35

"Not constructive. Adults." DAR

"Some amusing incidents occur in the frantic efforts of the young man to dispose of his wealth but there is a doubtful value in a farce-comedy of this sort, for the throwing away of money is never an edifying spectacle. Adults and young people." E Coast Preview Committee

"Family; 12 years up," Nat Bd of R Post, A Fox W Coast Bul N 23 '35

"A and Y: Entertaining; C: Possible." Par M p57 Mr '36

"Family." Wkly Guide N 2 '35

"Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"A passable melodramatic farce of its meaningless sort." + Christian Science Monitor p13 N 13 '35

"It may be enough to say here that, in its modest way, the film proves to be passable minor entertainment of the take-it-or-leave-it along varieties. Its hero and heroin, Roger Pryor and Miss Leila Hyams, are not exactly stunning in their work, but many of the far-carooners in the tale have been sufficiently devised and the work wisely adheres to a lively and vigorous pace." Richard Watts, Jr.
+ N Y Herald Tribune p8 D 21 '35

Exceptionally Good; Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; --- Exceptionally Poor
$1000 A MINUTE—Continued

"The film is highly fortunate in its minor comedians and it is to them rather than to the principals that $1,000 a Minute owes its effectiveness." Andre Prvnwald

+ N Y Times p11 D 21 '35

Reviewed by Louise Mace
Springfield Republican p2 Ja 2 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p33 N 30 '35

"[The] story moves along at a fast pace and comedy and dramatic situations are especially well graded. A picture that will appeal to all classes and one that has been given a class A production." + Film Curb p16 N 1 '35

"[The picture has] an interesting none-too-obvious plot that is different from the usual thing." + Film Daily p8 O 22 '35

"The direction never allows the action to slacken its pace one bit once the story starts moving, and every ounce of humor is drained from every scene." + Motion Pict Herald p61 N 9 '35

"An ace comedy that will have no trouble at all making customers shout its praises. Family comedy." + N Y Exhibitor p30 N 10 '35

Variety p15 D 25 '35

ONE-WAY TICKET. N 25 '35 66min Columbia
Players: Lloyd Nolan. Peggy Conkln. Walter Connolly
Director: Herbert Biberman
From novel of same title by Ethel Turner. "Prison officer's daughter marries a convict whom she has helped to escape. They are caught and pay the penalty, but look forward to a happy future." (Box Office)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '35

"A: Perhaps; Y: Doubtful; C: No." Christian Century p62 Ja 8 '36

"Good." + Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36

No Film Bul p199 D '35

"Unobjectionable for adults." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A: Trilling; Y: Confused ethics; C: No." Par M p66 Mr '36

"Family." Wky Guide D 7 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p13 D 28 '35

"Not for children." Life p30 Mr '36

"The picture is fair routine entertainment. There is a certain amount of colorful incident which gives it a human quality, a dexterity in the telling which gives it pace and suspense, and a performance which is animated and professional." Marguerite Tazelaar + — N Y Herald Tribune p9 D 31 '35

"One Way Ticket' is a soft-hearted piece, sometimes a little soft-minded too. Its attitude is sentimental, and its leading characters are two of the most unintelligent young people that the screen has presented recently. That old reliable, Walter Connolly, kept it out of the silly class." + — N Y Sun pl1 D 30 '35

"It is difficult to write with any degree of persuasiveness about the film, because even the most delicate references to its plot are likely to stiffen your sales resistance. Yet 'One Way Ticket' possesses a really skilful physical production, has freshness and individual style, and emerges as a considerably more likable play than you might suspect from a brief digest of its story." Andre Prvnwald + — N Y Times p35 Ja 1 '36

"Against much that is irredeemably childish some scenes stand out for effect and so the general result is lively and moderately satisfying. The acting possesses the great virtue of sincerity. Lovely and talented Peggy Conklin is excellent as Ronnie and there are fine performances by Lloyd Nolan and Walter Connolly, as the convict and the captain of the prison guards, respectively." William Boehnel + — N Y World-Telegram p11 D 30 '35

Reviewed by Louise Mace
Springfield Republican p21 Ja 9 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p29 D 17 '35
Film Curb p11 N 15 '35

"Fair prison drama handicapped by implausible story although cast does good work." + — Film Daily p6 D 21 '35

"Departing radically from formula in theme and locale, this improbable dramatic romance is unique in its concept of screen entertainment. The initial action is set in a penitentiary." — Motion Pict Daily p13 N 1 '35

"Family Drama." N Y Exhibitor p36 N 25 '35

"It possesses a good deal of action and where patronage is not critical the plot may seem different. However, it is the plot that makes the picture a weak sister. It is 'different' at the cost of credibility." — Variety p12 Ja 8 '35

OREGON TRAIL. Ja 6 '36 58min Republic
Players: John Wayne. Ann Rutherford
Director: Scott Pembroke
A Western melodrama.

Trade Paper Reviews

"Educational value should have appeal for youngsters, while the older folks will enjoy it as an opportunity to revive their younger days." + — Box Office p29 Ja 25 '36

"Not up to the usual standard of Wayne Westerns. + — Film Curb p14 Ja 18 '36

"An outdoor action adventure picture, tinged with a light romance and told against pioneer history background, this satisfies as average entertainment. The picture makes good use of exceptional location shots." + — Motion Pict Daily p11 Ja 7 '36

"Here's a good example of stupid production as practiced by independent producers. There's no reason for the haphazard production methods displayed by this picture. 'Oregon Trail' has everything necessary to make excellent Western fare. Properly handled it would have been an outstanding picture for this type market. Some of the glaring faults, and indicative of the independents' habit of cheating, is a battle scene where three spectacular shots of men falling off cliffs and a number of other stunts repeated twice. So apparent were these repetitions that the audience laughed.

— Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 6 '36

O'SHAUGHNESSY'S BOY. S 27 '35 88min MGM
Players: Wallace Beery. Jackie Cooper. Sara Haden
Director: Richard Boleslawski

"This human dramatic picture with its circus background, co-starring Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper, as father and son, tells the story of O'Shaughnessy, the animal trainer who casts aside his career to search for his beloved little son, taken from him by his wife, and of his rehabilitation when he finally recovers the child and wins his love." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Gath News p44 Ja 25 '36

"A: Fine of kind; Y: Very good; C: If not too strong."
Christian Century O 8 '35

"The direction is expert and forceful, the handling of these scenes, especially the training of wild animals, most thrilling and spectacular. The entire cast gives very fine characterizations. This picture will have great audience appeal. Family; tense for young children."

+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) S 18 '35

Mo Film Bul p145 D '35

"The tumult, noise and ferocity of wild beasts make this too exciting for small children, but it is just for the family."

+ Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"A and Y: Good circus drama; Thrilling, but tense."
Par M p56 Mr '36

"Excellent acting and glamorous glimpses of circus life. Family."

+ Wkly Guide S 28 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"So long as it stays in the circus, [it] is a first-rate mingling of sentiment and melodrama. But when it begins to devote its attention to a sordid examination of frustrated parental affection it is far too tearful for comfort."
E. F. Mvelin

The Daily News '35

"Gallons of tears in a mildly effective circus story that follows the formula of 'The Champ."
Andre Sennwald

+ N Y Times p5 O 12 '35

Springfd Republican p6c N 24 '35

"'O'Shaughnessy's Boy' is a wholesome and heartless orgy of tears. It is not our duty to recommend a picture of this kind. We resent, mentally and emotionally, such straining at our heart-stringa."

— Stage p10 N '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p57 N 16 '35
Film Curb p16 O 1 '35

"Family drama."

N Y Exhibitor p35 O 10 '35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; +— Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

OUTLAW DEPUTY. D 3 '35 53min Puritan
Director: Otto Brower

Western melodrama based on the short story, King of Cactusville, by Johnston McCulley.

Trade Paper Reviews

"This one will hold its own with the run of the mill Westerns, supplying an ample quota of the approved action stuff."

+— Film Daily p8 D 3 '35

"Adults should be pleased with this one. [There are] no strained situations or awkward acting. Everything runs smoothly. Even the desperados decorating the scenery fit... [The] scenic shots are particularly fine. [The] playing of entire cast and direction merit commendation."

+ Variety p21 D 4 '35

PACE THAT KILLS. Ja 4 '36 64min Willis Kent
Director: William O'Connor

"The story revolves around a couple of [youngsters], a brother and a sister, fresh from the country, who inadvertently get in with a gang which takes them to the big city where they become addicted to drugs. From here on [the story] runs the gamut, with Chinese joints, cocaine and opium addicts, and other underworld activities forming the background of the plot which ultimately stretches its tentacles into society."

Motion Pict Daily

Trade Paper Reviews

"This picture will undoubtedly do its best at the down-town houses where they cater to those who like the lurid... [It has] no outstanding names and will have to depend on its appeal to the sensation lover."

Film Curb p15 Ja 4 '36

"The film shows one of the most gruesome sides of debased existence and is likely to keep customers away with the exception of those spots where sensational exploitation will drag in a certain clientele as has been done before."

— Motion Pict Daily p7 D 27 '35

"The way of the transgressor is hard. One way to make it harder would be to make him sit through this picture. At that he will be one of the few who'll see it for fans will stay away from it in millions... Acting, direction, photography and sound are all new lows."

— Variety (Hollywood) p5 D 19 '35

PADDY O' DAY. Ja 17 '36 73min 20th century-Fox
Director: Lewis Selzer

"Paddy O'Day, a little Irish immigrant girl, escapes from Ellis Island in a milk can and persuades a sly and eccentric young ornithologist to hide her until a kind Russian family give her a home."

MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST 143

Joe Brower

"Hagen tells the story of O'Shaughnessy, the animal trainer who casts aside his career to search for his beloved little son, taken from him by his wife, and of his rehabilitation when he finally recovers the child and wins his love."
PADDY O' DAY—Continued
sonality brings them love and good fortune.”
Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women’s Clubs

Audience Suitability Ratings
“Class A. General approval.” N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 ’36

“Good.”
+ Endorsed Motion Pict D ’35
“A good story, well staged and directed.
A: very good; S-18: excellent; family and junior matinees.”
Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

“Sentimental comedy. Family.” DAR

“Another personal triumph for little Jane Withers. Good. Family.” Internat Fed of Cath Alumnae

“Fine entertainment, cast of exceptional merit, with delightful humor cleverly mingled with pathos and tenderness. Family.” Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women’s Clubs

“Good, wholesome and entertaining for the family.” So Calif Council of Fed Church Wom.

“Jane Withers charmingly displays her varied talents for singing, dancing and acting, but is particularly charming when she forgets to use an Irish brogue. S-18: excellent.
Women’s Univ Club, Los Angeles
+ Fox W Coast Bul N 16 ’35

“This smoothly directed picture, replete with humor and pathos, has much to offer in the talent of little Jane Withers; the pleasing work of a well chosen cast; clever singing and dancing; and will delight all audiences. Family and Junior matinees.”
+ Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast)
N 4 ’35

“Excellent for the family and Junior matinees.”
+ Nat Council of Jewish Women N 1 ’35

“Unobjectionable for general patronage.”
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 ’36

“A: Entertaining; Y and C: Excellent.”
Par M p56 Mr ’36

“Sympathetically told with a tear and a laugh, the film will appeal strongly to family audiences.”
+ Sel Motion Pict D 1 ’35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p13 N 13 ’35

Trade Paper Reviews

“A delightful comedy which should win more fans for little Jane Withers and thoroughly entertain the entire family.”
+ Box Office p27 N 23 ’35

Canadian Moving Pict Digest p10 D 21 ’35

Film Curb p17 N 1 ’35

“Ace entertainment for all classes in story with plenty of laughs plus human interest and romance. A grand piece of comedy-entertainment that should please all types of audiences.”
Film Daily p6 O 29 ’35

“Very good family fare. . . Suitable for all.
[Family]
+ Harrison’s Reports Ja 11 ’36

Motion Pict Daily p9 O 28 ’35

“Family comedy drama.”
N Y Exhibitor p87 N 25 ’35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

PASSING OF THE THIRD FLOOR BACK. D ’36 80min Gaumont British Players: Conrad Veidt. Renee Ray
Director: Berthold Viertel

Adapted from the play of same title by Jerome and Jerome. A Christ-like Stranger whose fine ability to understand the problems of those about him sets at rest the petty antagonisms, evil purposes, false illusions obtaining among the inhabitants in a London ‘fashionable boarding house.” (N Y Exhibitor)

Audience Suitability Ratings
“Class A. Approved for adult audiences.”
N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 ’36

“Unobjectionable for adults.”
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 ’36

“A and Y: Symbolic drama; C: Mature, but
good.”
Par M p56 Mr ’36

Wkly Guide D 25 ’35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“The pious note has been toned down, the milk of human kindness in the original play has been agreeably watered, and the types in the small London ‘private hotel’ are observed with malicious realism.” Graham Greene
+ — Spec p178 N 1 ’35

Trade Paper Reviews

“Restricted to adults of the reflecting type, appreciating author’s more subtle references and meanings, adults who can and will look further than superficial narrative.”
+ N Y Exhibitor p29 N 23 ’35

PASTEUR. Ja 30 ’36 63min Lenauer
Director: Sacha Guitry

This film was made in France and has Eng. lish sub-titles. “Beginning at the time of the Franco-Prussian War, when the fame of Pasteur was not yet firmly established, the action covers a period of slightly more than a score of years, ending with the remarkable worldwide celebration of Pasteur’s seventieth birthday on December 27, 1892. The high spot of the picture is the first inoculation of a human being, a nine-year-old Alsatian boy, Joseph Meister, against rables in 1885.” (N Y Times)

Audience Suitability Ratings
“Unobjectionable for general patronage.”
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 ’36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“From the point of view of performance, it is an excellent show; but in direction and story it is not so good. For most of the time it appears to be simply an animated photograph of M. Guitry appearing and disappearing. How then is the performance so satisfactory? Because the gentleman, if goes without saying, knows how he acts even in a static state; his makeup certainly resembles that of the great scientist, and his lofty, dignified behavior is impressive.
But a moving-picture needs to move, and of this, apparently, M. Guitry and his associates never thought; and it needs, even so slightly, a lot.” Marqueterie Tazelaar
+ — N Y Herald Tribune p11 Ja 31 ’36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
An actor should make up his mind just what he wants to do most—star, write or direct. He might be able to combine two of them successfully. When Charlie Chaplin gets away with all three; and he hasn’t always kept up to his early standards, Sacha Guitry, before starting out, should have called in a competent director, some one to warn him tactfully, even the finest French diction and fervor couldn’t make those long monologues interesting. . . M. Guitry’s admiration of Louis Pasteur is apparent. So is his inability to write a movie scenario. He loses even the terrific drama of that first treatment for hydrophobia.

N Y Sun p27 Ja 30 ’36

"Viewed from the narrow standpoint of cinema entertainment, the picture lacks drama. Nevertheless, the Paris importation is well worth seeing. There are a few well-placed titles in English to help persons ignorant of French." H. P. S.

Trade Paper Reviews

"The film lacks strength in dramatic and production values."

— Film Daily p5 Ja 31 ’36

"The characterization of Pasteur is ably portrayed by Sacha Guitry, with a good supporting cast, but since the film is almost wholly composed of lengthy speeches by Pasteur and comparatively little action or dramatic movement, other than that inherent in the man’s fight for recognition, it is likely that only those with a knowledge of French will find the picture especially appealing. There are, however, sufficient English subtitle translations to make for ready understanding of the story, and the film is interesting."

— Motion Pict Daily p2 Ja 30 ’36

"While supplied with English titles which enable one to understand the action, real enjoyment will come only to the French-speaking, for often, delicate nuances of gesture and speech constitute the real entertainment. . . Estimate: restricted."

N Y Exhibitor p59 Mr 19 ’36

"It’s tiresome and loquacious. Guitry emerges as a good actor but a poor director and writer. It’s the first film he ever made. He is in the camera’s eyes at all times and mostly talking rather than having anything take place. Guitry at least saw to it that his opportunities to perform in the major portion of the footage were not curtailed. In fact, he forgot everything else."

— Variety p31 F 12 ’36

PAY-OFF. N 9 ’35 64min Warner
Players: James Dunn, Claire Dodd, Patricia Ellis
Director: Robert Florey

"A newspaper story in which the inherent decency of a ‘Sports’ reporter finally redeems him from the sordid dealings into which his love for a vain, shallow selfish wife had forced him." Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory. Not recommended because of subject matter or treatment." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide Reviews p24 Ja 25 ’36

"A: Hardly; Y: No; C: Maybe; C: Christian Century p106 D 11 ’35

"Human and appealing. Mature." DAR

"A swiftly moving story, well acted and certainly plausible in the telling. A family film which will hardly appeal to young children." Nat Soc of New England Women

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Entertaining and fast moving. The handling of the crime situation points to a good moral. Family." So Calif Council of Fed Church paper

+ Fox W Coast Bul S 13 ’35

"The production is ably portrayed by a well-selected cast, the direction is fast moving and understanding and the photography very good. Adults and young people."

+ Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) S 9 ’35

Mo Film Bul p175 N ’35

"Good consistent characterization. Mature."

+ Nat Bd of R M N ’35

"An able cast and fast moving direction with a bit of a glimpse into sports reporting. Family."

— Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 ’35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p8 O 30 ’35

"The Pay-off is one of the decidedly lesser works from the studios of the Warner Brothers." Richard Watts, Jr.

— N Y Herald Tribune p15 N 13 ’35

Reviewed by Andre Sennwald

N Y Times p25 N 13 ’35

"A decided disappointment." William Boehnel

N Y World-Telegram p25 N 12 ’35

Springfield Republican p6 N 21 ’35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p54 N 16 ’35

Film Curb p10 O 1 ’35

"Highly satisfying, entertainment for the regular run of fans."

— Film Daily p7 N 12 ’35

"It is not a pretentious picture by any means, but it is one that does afford entertainment to audiences not too discriminating."

— Motion Pict Herald p63 N 30 ’35

"Family action drama. . . Good program [picture]."

— N Y Exhibitor p35 O 19 ’35

PEASANTS. Ag 28 ’35 105min Lenfilm
Players: E. Younger, B. Poslavsky, A. Petrov
Director: F. Ermoler

In Russian with English subtitles. The setting is a collective pig farm in Soviet Russia. "The story is the tragedy of a man whose character and traditions made him impossible to assimilate into the new social order, the son of a rich farmer in whom the ideas and feelings of his family and class persisted so strongly that he could not fit into the co-operative scheme of things." (Nat Bd of R M)

Audience Suitability Ratings

Christian Century p1326 O 16 ’35

"Rich, earthy background, people with rather bewildered children of the soil, and pictured with warm humor and understanding."

— J. S. H.

+ Nat Bd of R M N ’35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p8 O 16 ’35

Christian Science Monitor p15 O 19 ’35

"Full of vitality, humor, and poignancy, and engages one’s emotional interest by that sort PEASANTS—Continued
of full-bodied characterization one finds in the best of the Russian novels." Robert Giroux
+ Nation p332 O 2 '35
"The picture is simple, unaffected and full of natural juices, flavors, smells. ... The makers of a film like this manage to pervade the whole production with one dominant characteristic—the compassion and tolerance and fierce love, the absolute tenderness they have for these people. ... In terms of the humanities there is something here, a tendency and broad feeling, that will surely be released some day into a work second to nothing whatever." Otis Ferguson
+ New Repub p168 S 18 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
"One of the better Russian importations in many months, this is good picture making, considering the technical end. That it contains propaganda can't be doubted. ... Technically, it is a triumph." + N Exhibitor p38 O 19 '35

PEG OF OLD DRURY, S 28 '35 75min British & Dominions
Players: Anna Neagle, Sir Cedric Hard- ilken, Jack Hawkins
Director: Herbert Wilcox
Made in England. "A rough country girl, with thick Irish accent follows her worthless lover to London, tricks the manager into letting her walk on at Drury Lane theater, attracts the attention of the great Garrick, and soon has all London at her feet. She dances, sings, acts Shakespeare, fights a duel, is loving, saucy, angry and pathetic, and finally dies at the conclusion of a performance of 'As You Like It.'" (Springfield Republican)

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"Herbert Wilcox, film director, has learned the obvious lesson of 'The Night of Love,' and in 'Peg of Old Drury' he has done for Shakespeare what Miss Grace Moore's picture did for opera. The settings are invariably pleasning and gay. [The film] is one of the best things that has ever come out of a British studio." Harold Hobson
+ Christian Science Monitor p8 S 21 '35
"The film is as slick and swift-moving as a Hollywood revue, and has music and dance and song. It wears its period dress lightly and to the manner born and never for one moment becomes dull or heavy," Joan Littlefield
+ Springfield Republican p56 S 22 '35

PERFECT GENTLEMAN, N 22 '35 70min MGM
Players: Frank Morgan, Cicely Courtneidge, Heather Angel
Director: Tim Whelan
Based on a play of same title by Edward Childs Carpenter, which in turn was based upon a short story, The Prodigal Father, by Cosmo Hamilton. "The story is of the manner in which James Morgan, a eager-to-please, and ever-bringing father of a young, ambitious English country vicar, after causing much mental strengths, sacrifices his own happiness for the boy, and of course wins out in the end." (Motion Pict Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

"A light comedy marred by a vulgar rumba.
Good." + Endorsed Motion Pict D '35
"Good photography, accurate settings, clever dialogue with finished diction, and a pleasing musical score. Adults and S-18: good." Cali-Congress of Par & Teachers
"Audience liked the low-brow comedy. Mediocre. Rating: D" D AR
"Clever dialogue and excellent acting. Family." Nat Bd of R
"Clean humor and an entertaining story. Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women +A dull little comedy done in the English manner. Fair. Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs
"A genial comedy, nicely produced with a pleasant atmosphere of genuineness and sweet-
"While not an outstanding picture, it is highy amusing, and the portrayal of much kindness and thoughtfulness, creates a wholesome atmosphere. Family." So Cali Council of Fed Church Women
"This is strictly English comedy of the kind which delights the hearts of music hall audi-cences and is very good in its way. ... Adolescents: saved; children: possible." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles + Fox W Coast Bul D 7 '35

Family
Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) N 25 '35
Mo Film Bul p186 D '35
"Good, Family." + Motion Pict Guide Mr '36
"Unobjectionable for adults." + Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36
"A and Y: Amusing; C: No interest." Par M p56 Mr '36

Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35
"A light and highly amusing story. ... Clever dialogue and excellent acting on the part of

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
Boston Transcript p7 D 20 '35
"If you have seen Cicely Courtneidge ploughing her way through heavy-footed English faces and broad comedies, you will be amazed at her momentum in her latest Hollywood production. Of course it is Frank Morgan's superb clowning that puts the thing across, but [she] does a nice job too." Laura Elston +
Canadian M p38 F '36

Christian Science Monitor p13 D 21 '35
"While on the subject of the military we ought to mention a dainty bit of poison-ple,
'The Perfect Gentleman,' which M-G-M has concocted. It reminds us that no nation has a monopoly on jingoism. ... [It is] a flaccid melange of ancient gags that merely offers us the thousand-thousandth over-familiar Mr. Frank Morgen." + New Theatre p23 Ja '36
"Much to every one's surprise, [this] unheralded new picture wins hardly awaited amid ecstasies of anticipation, turns out to be an engaging and modestly heart-warming little satire on comedy. The new work manages to be a surprisingly entertaining photoplay, despite its thinness of story and its occasional lapses into shambling sentimentality." Richard Watts, Jr. +
+ + N Y Herald Tribune p18 D 19 '35
"This is] a little hands-across-the-sea picture that has must have been intended for English audiences rather than American. 'The Perfect Gentleman’ will probably be popular abroad. It has that broad, obvious humor so much appreciated by music-hall audiences in London, and it is flatly received here. Always on the verge of slapstick, sometimes it tumbles over the edge. It is not very funny even then.”

Eileen Caughey
—— + NY Sun p33 D 19 '35

“The Perfect Gentleman” is not a bad picture, it certainly isn’t a very good one. . . The film has a mildly, somewhat undertoned look and the narrative seems blurred as though from inexpert cutting, and its forays into sentiment are boredly unconvincing.”

André Senwald
—— + NY Times p33 D 19 '35

“[The] film is fair and has some pretty good moments in it . . . As a sort of modern Baron Munchausen, Mr. Morgan is with all delight. His performance in this film, which is hardly worthy of his talents, definitely stamps him as one of the truly cleverest comedians now appearing on the screen. No less satisfactory, and also wasted on a mediocre part, Cicely Courtneidge, a talented comedienne of the British stage and screen who makes her debut in an American film . . . Along with Mr. Morgan she manages to keep ‘The Perfect Gentleman’ nearly always interesting and sometimes hilariously funny.”

William Bohnehl
—— + NY World-Telegram p35 D 19 '35

“I warn you not to keep away from The Perfect Gentleman just because of its title. You will find [it] very pleasant and easy-going.”

John Mosher
+ New Yorker p57 D 28 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p33 N 23 '35

“Although this is an English story it has that sterling actor, Frank Morgan, in the title role and a role that is most suited to him. He takes full advantage of it and registers a very fine performance. . . Perhaps because of the English locale and accents the general run of fans may not like it so much but it is good entertainment nevertheless.”

+ Film Curb p8 Ja 4 '35

“This production appears to have been designed primarily to suit the tastes of British audiences . . . Class and adult audiences over here will find the picture quite amusing, for the general run of movie fans the picture’s appeal may suffer somewhat.”

Film Daily p4 D 19 '35

“The able performances of Frank Morgan and Cicely Courtneidge are the outstanding features of this picture. Miss Courtneidge, one of the best known musical comedy stars in England, is not well known to American screen audiences, but her performance in this film should greatly please her fans.”

+ Motion Pict Daily p10 N 26 '35

Motion Pict Herald p65 D 28 '35

N Y Exhibitor p38 D 25 '35

“Miss Courtneidge is given every opportunity with an admirable supporting cast and a well written, if somewhat thin, story. However, film is too thin to suit British audiences, and it will be realized that he has done an almost perfect job. He doesn’t seem to be acting. He is the type well known in England, and it is to be questioned whether he has ever done better work. Miss Courtneidge is brilliant. She is poised, quiet to sense her comedy values and make the most of them, and in her few serious moments she does not flounder.”

+ Variety p15 D 25 '35

PETER IBBETSON. N 8 '35 88min Paramount

Director: Henry Hathaway

Adapted from the novel by George du Maurier and from the play by John N. Diamond. In the tale of childhood playmates, long separated, who find each other too

MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

147

PERSONAL MAID’S SECRET. O 28 '35 53min Warner

Director: Arthur G. Collins

Based on the short story, Living Up to Lizzie, by Lillian Day. “[A] maid’s efficient aid is responsible for raising a struggling young couple to a position of some importance in addition, to saving her own daughter from scandal.” Box Office

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Class A. General approval.”

N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

“Cath News” p24 Ja 25 '36

“A most entertaining picture.”

+ Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) O 1 '35

Mo Film Bul p19 D '35

“Good Family.”

Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

“Refreshing comedy. Family.”

National Council of Women O 1 '35

“A and Y: Amusing; C: Little interest.”

Par M p56 Mr '36

“A gay little story with a serious note at the end . . . Attractively staged and delicately photographed, this picture offers many laughs and introduces a lovely little boy actor. Family.”

+ Sel Motion Pict N 1 '35

+ Wdy Guide O 19 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p8 O 16 '35

Christian Science Monitor p15 O 19 '35

“‘Personal Maid’s Secret’ [is] a modest little screen treatise which combines a success story motif with a mother-love theme . . . [It] is another one of those peculiarly irritating little films which have some pretty good and some pretty awful stuff in them and which might, if someone had taken the trouble, been converted from a botch into a tolerable hour’s entertainment.”

William Bohnehl
—— + N Y World-Telegram p25 D 16 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p60 N 16 '35

Film Curb p12 O 15 '35

“Here is a production which, while not pretentious by any means, appears to have the ingredients of a pleasing surprise for exhibitors, exceeding expectations of showmen and producers. It contains excellent material for exploitation.”

+ Motion Pict Herald p33 D 21 '35

N Y Exhibitor p36 O 10 '35

“Miss Donnelly walks away with ‘Personal Maid’s Secret’ . . . Although three others co-featured do handsomely in their respective assignments . . . [She] brings to this character a warmth and realism that easily tops the excellent efforts of the others.”

+ Variety p19 D 11 '35

PETER IBBETSON. N 8 '35 88min Paramount

Director: Henry Hathaway

Adapted from the novel by George du Maurier and from the play by John N. Diamond. In the tale of childhood playmates, long separated, who find each other too late. Mary is married to the jealous Duke of Towers. Peter, to avoid his murdering Mary, kills the Duke. He escapes from the grim Dartmoor Prison in his dreams each night, joining his Mary in a strange fantastic world of 'Smilin'. Even death, when it comes to them in old age, cannot separate them long.” (N Y Sun)
PETE IBBETSON—Continued

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." N Y American Picture Pictorial p24 Ja 25 '36
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Young people as well as adults will be captured by the charm of this film. The philosophy, however, of the later scenes is rather too mature for children. Excellent." + Endorsed Motion Pict D '35

"The picture drags but the photography is excellent. Family audience; 12 years up." Nat Ed of R

"The delicate spiritual phantasy of Du Maurier filmed with beauty, with distinguished acting, with fine significance. . . . The beauty of pictureization has never been excelled. The dramatization is of rare distinction. Adults.
Not understandable by children." Mrs T. G.
Winter + Fox W Coast Bul N 16 '35

"Beautiful photography, magnificent settings, deft and understanding direction, excellent work by fine cast, with the characterization of Ann Harding and Gary Cooper notably outstanding. An exquisite production, Adults." + Sen Pict of Women's Clubs (W Coast)
N 12 '35

"The direction is masterly, making the spiritual life of the two tortured souls seem almost mystical. The photography is outstanding, the supporting cast most capable. Adults." + Jt Estimates N 15 '35
Mo Film Bul p199 D '35

"Very good. Adults & young adults." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"A rare treat for those who enjoy the beautiful and fine. Adults." + Sei Motion Pict D 1 '35

"The picture drags but the photography is excellent. Family." + Wkly Guide N 9 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The meeting of the lovers in their dream-world is done with a disarming honesty that is not so much dependent on trick photography as on the spirit in which they are treated.
It is delicate stuff to handle, but Mr. Hathaway and his players manage it without a slip." E. F. M + Boston Transcript p4 N 23 '35

Christian Science Monitor p13 N 23 '35

"Eventually, the film goes completely mystic and haywire. As for me, Peter Ibbetson becomes just a lot of Peter Rabbit. Both Mr.
Cooper and Miss Harding are better than usual.
Miss Harding is kept within reasonable bounds by intelligent direction, and Mr. Cooper photographs well, as usual, but I still feel that he injects iron rods into any characterization that he attempts." Don Herald + Life p20 Ja 36

"A tasteful and gossamerly photographed screen version . . . captures something of the graceful, nostalgic charm which some of our ancient sentimentalists recall as belonging to the celebrated Barnum & Bailey's stage production of an earlier decade . . . Here is the picture drama in its most thoroughgoing but, my fear is that its flight from reality and its profound conviction about the soul-satisfaction of a dream romance make it just a trifle too precious for this embattled age." Edward Watta, + N Y Herald Tribune p15 N 8 '35

"The literary staff has done a competent if not an inspired job. . . . Ernst Toch's musical background score is decidedly helpful in building up the picture's atmosphere, one that tries at least for the cheerful tears of 'Smilin'
Through.' It doesn't quite succeed." Eileen Crediman + N Y Sun p32 N 8 '35

"Carefully avoiding the temptation to bathe the screen in misty photography and heavily reminiding audiences that this is a spirit world, [the director] abandons conventional screen devices and boldly insists on the reality of the dreams. This is a shrewd modern touch and it goes far to make duMaurier's celebrated love story dramatically effective." Andre Sennwald + N Y Times p18 N 8 '35

"Although it is emotional in the extreme, this version of 'Peter Ibbetson' is almost entirely departed of those historico-pyrotechnies that are ordinarily associated with emotional drama." William Boehne + N Y World-Telegram p29 N 8 '35

"The picture is sure of itself only in the early factual moments, and otherwise rather sterile." John Mosher + New Yorker p100 N 16 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p34 N 23 '35
Film Curb p20 D 15 '35

"The picture is hardly entertainment for the masses and though an artistic success it is dull and slow." + Film Daily p14 O 31 '35

Motion Pict Daily p2 O 26 '35

"Courageously departing from formula, eschewing anything that condescends to theatrical artificiality in order to bring it within the realm of so-called popular screen material, it depends solely upon its story worth and accomplished acting performances by the two leading players and the featured support, in bidding for public favor." + Motion Pict Herald p60 N 9 '35

N Y Exhibitor p37 N 25 '35

PETRIFIED FOREST. F 8 '35 72min Warner
Players: Leslie Howard. Bette Davis. Humphrey Bogart
Director: Archie L. Mayo
Based on the play of the same title by Robert Emmet Sherwood. A poetic frustrated writer in search of some meaning to life and a hunted outlaw killer sensing his doom are brought together for one dramatic hour in a little Arizona gas station-restaurant with an assortment of other people and wait under tense emotional strain for fate to close in.
A strange moving love grows within the hour between the wanderer and the girl at the gas station-restaurant deserted by her French war bride mother, yearns to be an artist. To make this dream possible, the wayfarer makes over his life insurance policy to her and then taunts the outlaw into killing him before the posse arrives.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A beautiful, satisfying film so far as its production and acting go and everything else for which the production can be held responsible . . . Disguised as romance and 'brooked' with such cleverly turned formulas as Robert Sherwood knows so well how to write—the
++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; — Exceptionally Poor result was a beautiful stage play and now is a magnificent moving picture. But then, Leslie Howard, playing the part of a tax collector would be winning and altogether lovely."

"Bks & Films F '36"

"WARNERS deserve great praise for not cheapening the spirituality of this fine, thought-provoking and engrossing play. Mature. Excellent." -- DAR

"Leslie Howard and Bette Davis give unper- formable performances, while the lighting effects and stage sets are most unusual, the direction masterful and the photography remarkably fine. Adults." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"This picture will intrigue students of psych- ology, but will hold interest for those seeking light entertainment, Adults." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Audiences over 14 years." Nat Soc of New England Women

+ + Fox W Coast Bul F 1 '36

"Because of the limitations of its settings and because it is almost entirely dialogue, it may be criticized as not being ideal screen material. But this fact makes it a more startling achievement. . . . The philosophy of the plot and its treatment to date is virtually un- hold no interest or understanding for any but the intellectually mature. The ending fortunately has not been softened in deference to what is supposed to be the preference of movie audiences. Adolescents, 12-16: no; children, 8-11: + + Motion Pict R Ja '36

"Unobjectionable for adults." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A: Absorbing character drama; Y: Mature; C: No." Par M p56 Mr '36

"Excellent. Mature." + + Sel Motion Picture F 1 '36

"The picture is exciting, often humorous, with more substance to it than most movies. Mature." + + Wdly Guide Ja 25 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"That the producers confined themselves to the scenic restrictions of the stage play may have been a matter of necessity, but it deprives the screen play of a great deal of its impact. The thought and imagination that have contributed to this picture may have been necessary, but it deprives the screen play of adequate justification for the hero's complete inaction. The hero and heroine, following the suggestion of the book, are almost completely independent and correspondingly seldom in each other's company, yet they do love each other. But, in a sense, they do not love each other enough to act. The Warners, who knew the material, should have given the actors a screen play that was as strong as the book. They have not."

Richard Watts, Jr.

+ + + N Y Herald Tribune p10 F 7 '36

"The Warners continue to display their skill at transcribing plays into film. With their excellent version of "Cellini," they have now brought "The Petrified Forest." Robert Sherwood has given Miss Davis the role that is necessary for her to attain the same poise that Miss Davis gives the role. She is a fine actress in this picture."

F. S. Nugent

+ + + N Y Times p14 F 7 '36

"Mr. Howard is wally sensitive and Miss Davis is noble and modest and tender for all her particular talent." John Mosher

New Yorker p45 F 15 '36

"'The Petrified Forest' reaches the screen virtually unchanged from the original play by Robert E. Sherwood. It has been shortened and is a magnificent moving picture. "-- Bks & Films F '36

"'The Petrified Forest,' more than any other picture I have seen, demonstrates that the screen is a more powerful medium for the presentation of a stage play than is the stage itself. . . . Thanks to the League of Decency, it is free from the very dangerous attempts to captivate the attention of the theatre audience from the theme of the drama. For the rowdiness in the play, many inhibitors have had to be used in thought and expression to give the film version wider appeal than was allowed the stage play. . . . Howard, Bette Davis and Humphrey Bogart give magnificent performances. No lines ever were spoken with greater refinement than beautifully by Howard who expands his philosophy of life. And for Bette Davis it is another perfect step in her march which seems to be leading to her ultimate recognition as the greatest actress on the screen.""
PETRIFIED FOREST—Continued

Petrified Forest—Continued

some and the leading woman’s, M. L. Romanoff’s, of necessity, has been omitted. It also has the same tragic ending. Warners wanted to change it, but Leslie Howard, who was in the play, argued so convincingly that an added scene showing him recovering from his gunshot wound was not used.

Springfield Republican p8 c Ja 26 '36

"An excellent adaptation of a Broadway hit."

+ + Stage p8 Mr '36

"Like the play, of which Screenwriters Charles Kenyon and Delmer Daves and Director Archie Mayo have done an admirable job in making the film an almost literal transcription, the picture is an enormously skillful romantic melodrama, so skillfully written and so shrewdly directed that even the pseudo-philosophy uttered by Leslie Howard seems worth listening to.

+ + Time p16 F 17 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Petrified Forest... comes to the screen as a tense, compelling drama. It will entertain and hold interest of any audience from fade-in to fade-out. Family."

+ Box Office p33 Ja 18 '36

"The Petrified Forest is one of the most striking and unusual pictures it has been your reviewer’s privilege to witness. It will thrill you, chill you and amuse you all at once, and that you will have to admit, is a mighty tall order."

Canadian Moving Pict Digest p6 Mr 7 '36

"This is an exceptional picture and most assuredly will make a name for itself and do well at the box office. Leslie Howard plays the role in the stage play and gives a sterling performance. He is ably supported by Bette Davis and Humphrey Bogart, both playing their stage roles, helps enormously to make this an outstanding picture. This is decidedly one of the best pictures to come out of Hollywood in some time."

+ + Film Curb p17 Ja 18 '36

"Leslie Howard is magnificent. Bette Davis does about the finest and most appealing work of her career. The direction is skillful, and Archie Mayo has extracted every ounce of dramatic and emotional value. In fact the entire production is something to talk about."

+ Film Daily p8 Ja 21 '36

"Although both Leslie Howard and Bette Davis give fine performances, and the play from which it was adapted scored a hit on Broadway, it is doubtful if it will get far in picture theatres. The masses will not find it to their taste, for it is not cheerful entertainment, and its message is 'defeatism.' Not for children or adolescents. Adult entertainment."

+ + Harrison’s Reports F 15 '36

"This picture has power, prestige and strong entertainment value. The action takes place entirely within the confines of a gas station in the Arizona desert and at times reaches points of pronounced suspense. The unusual locale in which the picture is set forms a perfect background on which is displayed the psychological portraits of the characters."

+ Pict Daily p3 Ja 8 '36

"Here is a class picture with an infinite mass appeal. Stepping completely out of any rutted path, its striking power to stir the emotion of every audience is established as an attraction worthy of the attention of all."

+ Motion Pict Herald p16 Ja 18 '36

"[It] should be able to account for itself best in the horror sectors, but is melodrama of a type that can be sold all the way down the line."

Arms & Y Exhibitor p26 F 10 '36

"Out of Robert Sherwood’s play Archie Mayo and a uniformly adroit cast have evolved a production that’s certain to draw critical ravies for its all-around quality, its fine adherence to mood and its deft blending of haunting melodrama with philosophic discourse. But it is doubtful whether the box-office reaction will parallel its artistic success. The Petrified Forest’s frequent allusions to the head of the average filmgoer in both dialog, nuances and spiritual content, which makes it look as though the film will have to depend largely on the upper cultural brackets.

+ Variety p16 F 12 '36

"Petrified Forest as a stage play contained in proper proportion about all the entertainment elements that an audience would expect from an art филь."

Petunia p8 Mr '36

"The film version, directed and produced by Archie Mayo, is a story of the Arizona desert where a group of interlopers involving a mobster, a gambler, a murderer, and a couple of gypsies who were forced to take part in the crime. The story is told in a melodrama style and is well acted by a cast that includes Leslie Howard, Bonita Granville, Bette Davis and Humphrey Bogart. The setting is rugged and the acting is good."

+ + Daily News p14 Ja 18 '36

PETTICOAT FEVER. Mr 13 '36 80min MGM

Players: Robert Montgomery, Myrna Loy. Reginald Owen. Winifred Shotter

Directed by George Fitzmaurice

Based on the play of the same title by Mark Reed. "An airplane wreck forces an English lord and his fiancée to become the guests of a wireless operator in the frozen north. He hasn’t seen a white woman for two years and he finds his feminine guest fascinating. The wireless operator, who has married a red head, is ready to abandon her. Then his former fiancée who had deserted him arrives." (Hollywood Reporter)

Trade Paper Reviews

"This one will have no trouble pleasing audiences. It is full of laughs and the comedy is of a refreshing nature. The roles are ideal for Robert Montgomery, Myrna Loy and Reginald Owen. It is staged and produced for them for a heavy score of laughs."

+ Film Daily p7 Mr 14 '36

"A grand little laugh picture from beginning to end, Petticoat Fever" is something of a high comedy in the near sophisticated school. Box-office is assured by the personal drawing power of Robert Montgomery and Myrna Loy, made doubly sure by happy casting in a popular success. If anything, the screen version of Mark Reed’s stage play is an improvement upon the original."

+ Hollywood Reporter p3 Mr 11 '36

"[It is] a smart comedy that should mean good returns. With the Montgomery-Loy names for the top draw, picture has good marquee value. Smartly written, directed, and produced, it has audience appeal both in the first runs and subsequent houses."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 11 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; + Poor; + Exceptionally Poor

("PIRATE PARTY ON CATALINA ISLAND. N 2 '36 70min MGM

Directed by Lewis Lewy

"Very effectively filmed in Technicolor, it takes the form of a pirate masquerade party on beautiful Catalina Island, where scores of film stars happen to be, and it turns the film a big-time cast and big fan interest." Film Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family."
Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)
F 8 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Cooking good entertainment that's bound to please the majority of mass audiences, for there's never a dull moment."
- Box Office p51 F 8 '36

"There is more attractive flash, sparkling action and general entertainment in this two-reeler than in some features Hollywood does up occasionally."
- Film Daily p8 Ja 23 '36

"Time and money were lavished on this outdoor short in Technicolor with results that are eye and ear-filling... It's a grand short."
- Motion Pict Daily p8 Ja 23 '36

"It should fit in on most any program."
- Motion Pict Herald p49 F 1 '36

"Packed with names and stars this can be billed on the marquee to good advantage. Excellent."
+ N Y Exhibitor p39 Ja 25 '36

"On the Technicolor palette alone the short probably qualifies as adding color to film bills. Results are not uniformly favorable. In this instance Chester Morris makes himself look asinine dressed up as a pirate master of ceremonies and handed lines to read that sent him as sub-adolescent mentally. Slapstick comedy is certainly not his forte."
- Variety p12 F 5 '36

POWDERSMOKE RANGE.
S 27 '35 72min RKO
Director: Wallace Fox
Based on the novel of the same title by William Colt MacDonald. A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Though the picture is fairly well directed and acted, and has beautiful scenery and fine horsemanship, it is not up to the best standard for Westerns. Family."
+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)
F 15 '35

"The acting is capable and the scenery lovely; the dialogue trite but as this is undoubtedly meant for junior audiences they will not be too exacting. Family. (University Woman object to its brutality.)"
+ Jt Estimates S 15 '35

"Fair. Adults & young adults."
- Motion Pict Guide Mr 36

"Adolescent boys will love it and so will their fathers, but [it is] too exciting for small children."
+ Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"A. Y and C: Thrilling Western."
- Par M p56 Mr 36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Powdersmoke Range," is regulation outdoor drama, with most of Hollywood's current Western stars appearing in it at one moment or another. This is a quaint piece, almost as old-fashioned as Mr. Chaplin's 'Modern Times'; unintentionally, it is sometimes nearly as funny. ... Like most Westerns, [it is] wholesome, good fare for children, and occasionally refreshing in its simplicity." Eileen Creelman

+ N Y Sun p14 Mr 9 '36

"Make no mistake about it, pardner, 'Powdersmoke Range' is a blood-and-thunder Western of the old school. Like its once popular predecessors it rests no claim that its fare comes precious little in the way of a story."
- T. M. P.
+ N Y Times p20 Mr 9 '36

"With so many expert gun-toters and horsemen in the cast it is reasonable to expect plenty of quick and straight shooting and furious riding, and that is exactly what 'Powdersmoke Range' gives you. The film moves along competently, it has dialogue with a tang that is well suited to melodrama of the West and it has plenty of action. If you like this sort of stuff—and don't pretend you don't—you'll get a kick out of these rough doings of the wild boys out on the range."
- William Boehnel
+ N Y World-Telegram p21 Mr 10 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"You can hardly go wrong with this one and how they'll eat it up where outdoor action favours are the favorites!"
+ Film Curb p18 O 1 '35

"RKO has a bangup Western release in 'Powdersmoke Range,' [containing] a topnotch cast, and, judging from Hollywood's recent horse opera output, an exceptionally good story. Will do moderately well on its own in some spots and have strength to count for something in the duels."
+ Variety p15 Mr 11 '36

PREVIEW MURDER MYSTERY.
F 23 '36 65min Paramount
Players: Reginald Denny, Frances Drake.
Gail Patrick. Rod La Rocque. George Barbier
Director: Robert Florey
"Film star Rod La Rocque, who has been warned that he will never live to see the picture he is making, is killed at the theatre preview. Publicity director Reginald Denny, assisted by Frances Drake, takes charge of the case, and the scene moves into the studio itself as the sinister activities of the murderer continue."
Motion Pict Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Adults and young people."
Am Legion Auxiliary
"Adults: entertaining; 14-18: fair; 8-14: doubtful."
Calif Cong of Par & Teachers
"Good. Mature."
DAR
"Family."
Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)
"Family."
Nat Bd of R
"Family."
Nat Council of Jewish Women
"Interesting for adult audiences."
Nat Soc of New England Women
"Mature."
S Calif Council of Fed Church Women
+ Fox W Coast Bul F 29 '36
"Mature."
Jt Estimates F 15 '36

"An average mystery tale doubles its effectiveness because the plot is laid in a studio interior where talking pictures are made. Adolescents: yes; children; too exciting."
Motion Pict R Mr 36

"Family."
Nat Council of Jewish Women F 19 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Mature."
Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; —— Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
PREVIEW MURDER MYSTERY—Continued

"Family."
Wky Guide F 22 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"This picture is one of the best murder mysteries we have had in a long time and one of the few good pictures Paramount has given us in some months. "The Preview Murder Mystery" may be a little wearing for you like that sort of screen entertainment. Students of the screen should view it. Its depiction of what goes on in a motion picture studio will interest them."
+ Hollywood Spec p6 F 15 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Thrilling murder-mystery with studio background. . . . It moves at a rapid and thrilling pace, is packed with tense situations, hair-raising suspense and should prove a money-maker in all situations. . . ."
+ Box Office p25 F 29 '36

"Unusually entertaining murder mystery melodrama. . . . Florey has done a mighty fine job of directing and taken all-in-all this picture should please in most any theatre."
+ Film Curb p14 F 15 '36

"A good murder mystery melodrama. The plot is replete with success to all the old 'gags' to create the eerie atmosphere—mysterious openings of doors and windows, shadows, screams, and sudden deaths. Not for children or Sundays. Good for adults."
+ Harrison's Reports Mr 7 '36

"This high-tension mystery yarn is different. It is not merely bigger and better but it is a highly diverting, baffling, baffling and truly thrilling. There are three murders, and all the excitement that follows take place on a motion picture lot, easily recognizable as the Paramount studio and with the blood tingling with the unflagging suspense of the story, the audience is on a close-up personally-conducting tour of the whole works."
+ Hollywood Reporter p3 F 6 '36

"There is much in this that is refreshingly new in the way of a murder mystery, plus many inside revelations of the art of picture making which should provide unique entertainment for audiences and give the exhibitor a wealth of angles on which to base intriguing exploitation."
+ Motion Pic Daily p6 F 7 '36
Motion Pic Herald p42 F 15 '36

"Estimate: saleable programmer."
+ N Exhibitor p55 '36

"This mystery opera, obviously a B picture, stands chances of getting important money through several exploitation angles. Cast contains a flock of names recognizable by the fans. Some of these are old timers, but they still mean something in numbers as they have been cast here. Picture is based on a murder, several of them in fact, within a studio. It's about the best inside stuff on studio workings seen. Fans who want to get a look-see on picture making should be satisfied with the atmosphere."
+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 6 '36

PRISONER OF SHARK ISLAND. F 28 '36
30min 20th century-Fox
Players: Warner Baxter, Gloria Stuart, Pat O'Malley, May Gellingerwater
Director: John Ford

Based on the biography, Dr. Samuel Mudd, by Nellie Mudd Monroe. "Dr. Mudd was the Maryland physician who set John Wilkes Booth's fractured leg after Booth had killed Lincoln. He was arrested later . . . and tried before a military court. Despite his avowals of innocence, his protestations that he knew nothing of the assassination or of Booth's part in it and that his duty as a physician impelled him to treat the injured man, he was found guilty and sentenced to life imprisonment on Dry Tortugas, otherwise known as Shark Island." (N Y Times)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Adults: excellent; 14-18: powerful; 8-14: no."
Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good. Suspenseful; well-produced. Mature."
DAR

"A gripping story of mob hysteria, human heartbreak and tragedy following the assassination of President Lincoln. Based on the true story. Mature."
Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women

"One of the great pictures of the year. Mature."
Nat Soc of New England Women

"This picture is well worth seeing for its historic value but is far too emotional for young children. Mature."
S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

+ W Coast Bul F 22 '36

"Adults and young people.
+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) F 19 '36

"Outstanding. This is a poignant melodrama of man's inhumanity to man, convincingly staged and stirringly acted. Details of the Civil War period are carefully observed and the film is deeply moving. Mature."
+ + Jt Estimates F 18 '36

"Superb work on the part of all the actors including the colored guards, gives the picture a dignity that makes its brutal scenes bearable and revealing. For the true story of the rise of the Negro, this is a complete and gripping adventure. . . ."
+ + Wc Salt Lake Trib F 2 '36

"The entire supporting cast is most able, the photography is outstandingly fine while the musical scoring adds greatly to the dramatic highlights. Mature."
+ Nat Council of Jewish Women F 15 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."
+ + N Legion of Decency Mr 25 '36

"Mature."
+ Sel Motion Pic F 1 '36

"Recommended to Exceptional Photoplays Committee, Family."
+ + Wky Guide F 22 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"John Ford directed this picture with the same gripping power he displayed in 'The Informer.' Its reality is almost unbearable at times, stressing as it does the amount of ignominy and pain the human frame and spirit can endure. Not only the direction, but the acting and photography are masterly. Warner Baxter, as the unfortunate Dr. Samuel Mudd, does the finest acting of his career, both during the incredible trial, which is historically accurate, and in the succeeding scenes of the ghastly years on the island prison."
M. E. P.
+ + Boston Transcript p4 F 29 '36

"A rousing melodrama for men chiefly, its general reception indicates."
+ + Christian Science Monitor p13 F 29 '36

"As you view the picture your attention is held by the pictorial effectiveness of the scenes, the superb photography, outstanding direction and skillful performances but a retrospect you find the production gains its impressiveness solely from its bulk and not from a sustained artistic quality comparable with that which makes the Pasteur film outstanding, and which all pictures must possess if they are to be wholly successful. John Ford has no master in the art of making members of his cast give good performances. Warner Baxter never be-Ford have done at least full justice to their subject." Eileen Creelman

"[The story is] retold with commendable directness in [the] film. For that directness and for the integrity with which John Ford, its director, and Nunnally Johnson, who wrote the story to be recognized, too, of Warner Baxter's entirely convincing portrayal of Dr. Mudd... All these are commendable, but in its ultimate plot manoeuvres, in the felicitous accident of the yellow jack epidemic which rescues Dr. Mudd from his underground dungeon, the film loses its way.

The Prisoner of Shark Island' becomes disconcertingly familiar... The verdict must be that, for sequential and biographical accuracy, the new photoplay is scarcely more than a well-fabricated edition of the Dreyfus-Devil's Island series which has become part of the screen's tradition. If it is history, it has repeated itself too often." S. Nugent

"The miscarriage of justice is bound to be immediately, automatically dramatic, stirring and powerful material for a novel, drama or film, and so it is here told must command attention and wring your heart. When, then, it is done with such radiance, compassion and vitality as here, the unparalled in justice becomes all the more devastating, unbearable and heartrending." William Boehm

"The surprise and embarrassment of this far from pretty little event in our past, one of our skeletons, as well as good handling of the scene in Ford's The Informer, or the valuable assets of 'The Prisoner of Shark Island.' Much more in the conventional pattern of the many prison pictures we have seen are the later sequences. Beginning with high promise, the film fades off... I am afraid Warner Baxter, knowing his actors and 'inevitable' actor, fails to give his difficult role the force it needs. Student of American history may well reflect, however, on the earlier episodes."

"From the story of the court martial and imprisonment of a victim of hysterical Civil War frenzy comes one of the most powerful photoplays of recent months... An obscure historical document becomes an important screen story." + - New Yorker p77 F 22 '36

"[The picture is a] splendid example of biographical melodrama which should appeal its audience. It is produced in Hollywood that United States history, no less than that of France, Mexico and Britain, contains rich material for the screen and which deserve to be mined by able writers." + - Time p57 F 24 '36

Trade-Paper Reviews

"This absorbing story of 'The Prisoner of Shark Island' will hold patrons prisoners through its sweeping dramatic power to the final fade-out.評" '36

"Despite its somber theme, this is a forceful melodrama; it grips the spectator, and holds his attention throughout... Aside from the fact that it may be too strong for children, it is suitable for all other audiences which deserves to be mined by able writers." + - Harrison's Reports F 22 '36

"Twentieth Century-Fox smashes through with a magnificent picture. It is that rare combination, an artistic triumph and a great money maker." + + Hollywood Reporter p2 F 12 '36

"[This is an] excellent melodrama, with Warner Baxter cast exactly right in the part... With a wealth of fact to draw upon, Scenarist Nunnally Johnson and Director John
PRIVATE LIFE OF LOUIS XIV. Ja 8 '36

Players: Renate Müller, Dorothea Wieck, Michael Bohnen, Eugen Klößper

Director: Carl Froelich

The film was made in Germany under the title, Franz Ferdinand von Österreich, in the historical reworking of an old theme, Liselotte, a young princess of the unpretentious court of the Palatinate. Lisl is married to Philip, the younger brother of Louis XIV of France in order to further her father's futile and extending sincere claims. She quickly captures the favor of the king by her delightful combination of naiveté and wisdom but she is snubbed by her husband. Finally she saves her homeland from destruction and wins her husband.

Audience Suitability Ratings

- Class A. Approved for adults.

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Although the picture is by no means another 'Private Life of Henry the 8th,' Louis XIV, King of France and husband of Liselotte, in the seventeenth century, here comes through Herr Froelich's screen an animated figure, suave and agreeable, but lacking the bicentennial genius of Mr. Laughton's royalist. The performance is smooth, with an able cast giving possible view to the story which is an entertaining piece to be understood. If there is a faintly Teutonic quality to the story that gives it a heavy rather than spectacular surface, this direction is deft enough to attract attention and, of course, logical and general characteristics of the German mind to the representation of the dashing French court with its careful interpretation." Marguerite Tazlauar

N Y Herald Tribune p15 Ja 10 '36

"[It] proves the German studios have not lost their appeal to the American public. The photography is still not up to Hollywood standards; but the picture is a good, well-directed historical drama. In contrast with the French films, this one has an unusually elaborate production. The costumes and backgrounds are splendid, and the settings are large and imposing. They have not been permitted to smother the story. ... Michael Bohnen manages to be impressive as well as occasionally and purposely ridiculous in the role of the Sun King, flirtatious, vain and arrogant. Dorothea Wieck is the quietly shrewed de Maintenon. The acting is excellent, the story entertaining, and the English subtitles clear and frequent. Setting and characters, as well as the point of view, are distinctly Continental, describing problems and a period remote to American experience. Perhaps for that very reason— one that might prevent widespread popularity— this new German talkie is good.Well entertaining and interested in historical tales of Europe in the seventeenth century." Eileen Creelman

N Y Times p23 Ja 9 '36

"What counts is the excellent work of what really may be called an 'all-star cast,' linked with a fine display of many highly interesting scenes in the court and taverns of France. It follows the highways and at the home of Liselotte, all done with a lavish hand and correctly dated. Dorothea Wieck is right in her element as Mme. de Maintenon, the mistress with a religious bent whom the king finally married in 1644, afterpursuing her youth. Michael Bohnen, the former Metropolitan opera singer, who appeared in Danton's Death, has managed the films, makes a gracious and not too superior Louis. About the only technical fault is the rather free use of 'close-ups,' coupled with occasional coarseness in the screen texture. The Nazi propaganda in the picture is apparent but not obtrusive." H. T. S.

N Y Times p26 Ja 9 '36

"The film is rather long and at times ponderous, but in spite of these flaws it manages to be an entertaining, if somewhat undramatic picture of a decidedly superior quality." William Boehnel

N Y World-Telegram p23 Ja 4 '36

Reviewed by John Mosher

New York p61 Ja 18 '36

"Unusually interesting German dialogue film, expertly directed and acted, holds general appeal." Film Daily p4 Ja 9 '36

"The film has been well executed and the performances are good. Numerous sub-titles in English make for easy understanding of the story by those unfamiliar with the German language of the picture. ... Miss Müller and Miss Wieck are probably known in this country, and the film should have a strong appeal to those communities where there are German people. There is, of course, the obvious underlining interest in the German production, to paint the activity of the French king and his war minister in the light of unspeakable ravages of the then separate German states. As a dramatic film, however, it offers a genuine asset.

Motion Pict Daily p9 Ja 9 '36

"More Nazi propaganda, but not too thick and not especially annoying. Well made technically and fairly amusing from a general entertainment standpoint. Nevertheless, will find itself restricted to Teutonic audiences." Variety p10 Ja 15 '36
PROFESSIONAL SOLDIER. Ja. 24 '36 75min.

20th century-Fox

Players: Victor McLaglen, Freddie Bartholomew, Gloria Stuart, Constance Collier

Director: Tay Garnett

Based on a short story, Gentlemen, the King, by Damon Runyon. The locale of the story is a mythical kingdom where an adventurous professional soldier is hired to kidnap the monarch as part of a revolutionary plot. When he finds the king to be a delicate, imaginative boy he decides to leave anything to do with the plot, but the young king goes along with him. Captured by revolutionists, they are sentenced to six months in a ten-man squad. The soldier escapes, captures a machine gun and wipes out most of the revolutionary forces in a single-handed encounter. He then returns the young king to his throne, pushes a few medals aside to make room for a new one and marches gaily off to further adventures.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N. Y. Archdiocese Motion Pict gov't.

Cath News p54 Ja. 25 '36

"A: Depends on taste; Y: Doubtful; C: No."

Christian Century p311 F 19 '36

"Expert casting and action, plus sympathetic direction, lend plausibility to a far-fetched tale. Idusa: good; Ja. 15-18: very good; 8-14: exciting. Family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

The story, though inconsistent, is well told, has humor, pathos and suspense. [It] is especially well produced, ably cast and directed with Victor McLaglen and little Freddie Bar-tholomew giving notably realistic presentations. In all, most satisfying entertainment. Family." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Too exciting for very young children." Nat Fed of Prof批判ial Women's Clubs.

"Romantic drama with humor and pathos nicely blended which will please family audiences." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Family." Mrs. T. G. Winter

Fox W Coast Bul Ja. 4 '36

"Family." Jt Estimates Ja. 1 '36

"Adolescents, 12-16: delightful; children, 8-12: excellent." Motion Pict R Ja. '36

"Freddie Bartholomew, as the little King Peter, who has always been surrounded by pomp and dignity, but who craves the pleasures of an average American boy, is most appealing, while Victor McLaglen in an entirely new role of Soldier of Fortune who becomes the faithful slave and protector of the helpless, trusting little king portrays it with dignity and delightful humor. Fine for the family and junior matinees."

Nat Council of Jewish Women Ja. 1 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr. 12 '36

"A and Y: Entertaining fare; C: Excellent."

Par. M p95 Mr. '36

"Family." Wky Guide Ja 11 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p4 F 1 '36

"O.K. if you happen to be romantically minded." — Canadian M p48 Mr. '36

" 'Professional Soldier' is a delightful picture, one of the few providing entertainment for the whole family. Children will flock to see it. By all means see [the picture.] It will thrill you as you always used to be thrilled when mother herself reviewed 'Once Upon a Time.'"

Hollywood Spec p16 Ja. 4 '36

" McLaglen furnishes a thoroughly offensive portrait of an American spoiling for a fight. When you watch a film like this you realize how much is raised because a member of the Guards was ridiculed in Paramount's 'The Devil is a Woman,' A performance like this on the part of Victor McLaglen's misrepresentation is hard to understand. We can't be that disgusting."

New York Era p24 Ja. '36

The photoplay is brisk enough and it has its amiable moments, but as a good, hearty amalgamation of the gangster saga and the mythical kingdom romance, it is not nearly as entertaining as it should be." — Richard Watts, Jr.

++ — N Y Herald Tribune p13 Ja. 30 '36

"Mr. Runyon's ideas are usually original in both plot and viewpoint. 'Professional Soldier' has a grand comedy-melodrama idea, never quite fulfilled by either scenarios or directors. His colleagues let Mr. Runyon down pretty badly this time. . . . 'Professional Soldier,' although disappointing in many ways, is the most of a fresh idea, does still have that fresh idea and a good average quota of amusemenent value, but the acting thus far isn't too good, and it is rapidly growing up. His diction is still. In spite of two years in Hollywood, the most perfect on the screen." — Edwin Creelman

++ — N Y Sun p27 Ja. 30 '36

"Victor McLaglen struts through 'Professional Soldier' with such obvious delight in his role that it is almost disarming. Crue to pretend to enjoy it as much as he does. . . . There is something communicable in watching the simple pleasures of a forthright soul. Before 'Professional Soldier' has progressed very far, you find yourself relishing the picture less for the entertainment it is giving you than for the joy it is affording its chief player. This is a silly state of affairs, we must admit, but that's the way it is." — F. S. Nugent

++ — N Y Times p14 Ja. 30 '36

"By writing about Zelda and Graustark in a tongue-in-cheek manner Damon Runyon has succeeded in turning out an extraordinarily entertaining mixture of romance and satire in 'Professional Soldier.' . . . Under Mr. Garnett's direction it was one of the first films that 'Professional Soldier' becomes first-rate fun," — William Boehnel

++ — N Y World-Telegram p19 Ja. 30 '36

"The light touch is very much needed in 'Professional Soldier.' That is even the initial idea, perhaps a good one, doesn't help enough. . . . In the first place, my heart sank when I discovered that 'Professional Soldier' had to do with one of those fanciful kingdoms in the Balkans. And there was little in the film to pull the poor old heart up again where it belonged." — John Mosher

++ — New Yorker p63 F 8 '36

"Master Bartholomew snare the acting honors; Victor McLaglen's role is even less demanding than the old 'See you, see me parts.'" — Stage p8 F '36

"With this central idea derived from a Damon Runyon story, 'Professional Soldier' might have been either a good parody of Graustarkian romance or a good example of it. Adaptors Gene Fowler and Howard Ellis Smith and Director Tay Garnett tried to make it both, with the result that it is neither. In the mildly entertaining hodgepodge which emerged, few scenes stand out. Most of the elements are odd enough, those in which 'Professional Soldier' takes itself most seriously. Admirers of Mr. Runyon's work, who substitute for an impersonation in this picture."

++ — Time p26 F 10 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; +— Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
PROFESSIONAL SOLDIER—Continued

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p59 Ja 11 '36

"Mythical kingdom yarn presents a fair story. . . Suitable for most any class of audience and especially for fair weather. Will no doubt set the world on fire but offers satisfactory program entertainment."

Harrison's Reports F 8 '36

"From the title, one might expect something heavy, but the picture itself is a very enjoyable comedy with some very clever dialogue. Especially Freddie Bartholomew's English interpretation of American slang expressions. . . Children especially will get a big kick out of the exploits of the young soldier and they will enjoy the boy King who wants to have some fun. . . The story itself is a very thin affair, but the dialogue in Gene Fowler's and Howard Ellis Smith's screenplay, plus what talk there was in Runyon's original, make the picture the enjoyable piece of fun that it is. The tale does go quite melodramatic toward the end but it makes for a strong finish."

+ Film Daily p3 D 27 '35

"A mixture of adventure, comedy, and romance; it should go over strongly with young people, and fairly well for all. [Family.]

Harrison's Reports F 8 '36

"This is a 1935 fairy tale, its technique combining the best Sennett fun-making theory with that of a Lubitsch production [seems] to be audience entertainment that will have audiences, particularly children, voluntarily demonstrating their appreciation."

+ Motion Pic Daily p6 D 24 '35

"Pure fun, moving in a way that vividly suggests that McLaglen, Bartholomew and all the rest had a lot of fun while making it. It should prove a tasty tidbit for those who like to laugh and don't care how the laughter is provoked. It should have the children standing up cheering and those more mature who are supposed to be a little dignified undoubtedly will have more than a little difficulty restraining their mirth."

+ Motion Pic Herald p48 Ja 4 '36

"Estimate: fair for de luxe rers; best for neighborhood houses."

— N Y Exhibitor p42 Ja 25 '36

"'Professional Soldier' is in-between entertainment. Some of its sequences are amusing; some of the action is very good but fundamentally the story is not believable. Production is too meagre for the revolutionary sequences. Director Tay Garnett struggled with much shrewdness and partial success to make a handful of extras look like the Graustarkian army. Scantness of production values gives the story a telltale studio quality that badly handicaps the development of acceptable believability."

— Variety p12 F 5 '36

"'Professional Soldier' is comedy drama, with accent on whimsical comedy, and is not as swashbuckling as title might suggest. On the surface it is a production it has faults, but none serious enough to detract from its sum-total as excellent audience entertainment. Story is a romantic, beguiling kind of fantasy which never quite descends to sheer realism. . . McLaglen's fine impersonation compares favorably with his better screen exhibits, although not on the inspired plane of 'The Informer.' Frenzied battle does much to overcome some of the physically slow spots in middle of the picture and to accelerate pace for smash finish . . . [The] pace is somewhat irksome slow through earlier part of picture. Screen play's fine highlights have to overcome long delayed physical clash after expectancy of conflict had been set up, with story suspenseful as a result. Picture also needed more active menace opposition in middle portion. These, and mediocre dialog throughout first part, are shortcomings of the offering."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 25 '35

PUBLIC MENACE. S 30 '35 63min Columbia

Players: Jean Arthur, George Murphy. Douglas Dumbrille, George McKay

Director: Erle C. Kenton

"Two adventurous young people, one a man-curious aboard an ocean liner and the other a live wire young reporter, a confirmed woman hater who has a habit of following false leads, together track down a notorious public enemy and incidentally develop their own romance." Jt Estimates

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences."

N Y Archdiocese Motion Pic Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"This well directed picture, fast moving and exciting, is treated in a light farcical manner, making it most enjoyable. The work of Jean Arthur and George Murphy is very good. Adults and young people."

+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) S 15 '35

"Diverting for mature audiences. Adults."

+ Jt Estimates S 15 '35

Mo Film Bul p149 D '35

Bd R M O '35

"Only one objectionable scene makes this lively comedy questionable for the entire family."

— Nat Council of Jewish Women p4 S 1 '35

"A and Y: Passable farce; C: No."

Par M p58 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Springf'd Republic p6c O 20 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"Combination newspaper and gangster story which rates as only moderate entertainment in the program class."

+ Box Office p17 D 14 '35

Film Curb p5 O 1 '35

N Y Exhibitor p34 O 10 '35

R

RACING LUCK. O 28 '35 59min Republic

Players: Bill Boyd, Barbara Worth, George Ernest, Esther Muir.

Director: Sum Newfield

A race track owner finds himself ruled off the course because his winning horse has been found doped. He suspects an unscrupulous rival and after many complications succeeds in clearing his own name.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval."

N Y Archdiocese Motion Pic Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Good."

+ Endorsed Motion Pic D '35
"A, Y and C: Good action drama."
Par M p56 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"It abounds in typical situations aroused by keen rivalry and this element will undoubtedly please the younger patrons."
+
Box Office p25 N 30 '35
Film Curb p12 D 1 '35
Film Daily p9 N 19 '35

"It contains the usual amount of suspense, love interest and under-cover tricks which constitute horse racing."
+
Motion Pict Daily p6 N 19 '35
Motion Pict Herald p88 D 7 '35

"Family action drama."
N Y Exhibitor p30 N 10 '35

RAINMAKERS. O 25 '35 78min RKO
Players: Dorothy Lee, Robert Woolsey, Bert Wheeler, Berton Churchill
Director: Fred Guiol

"In a drought stricken region, two young men demonstrate the efficiency of their rain producer, despite strenuous efforts of a wily rival to disqualify them." Jt Estimates

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Some suspense and amusing in spots.
Family."
—Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) O 12 '35

"Absurd farce, quite innocuous and carelessly put together. Family and jr. matinee."
—Jt Estimates O 15 '35

"Family and junior matinee."
Nat Council of Jewish Women O 1 '35

"A: Matter of taste; Y and C: Good fun."
Par M p56 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"A poor example of slapstick melodrama."
—Christian Science Monitor p65 N 9 '35

"An obvious bid for the juvenile trade, the new Wheeler and Woolsey comedy merits no more than a note for the record. This would be that their current film is considerably less than hilarious and must be listed as another victim of the faddity that runaway locomotives, laden with dynamite, are screamingly funny."
—N Y Times p13 N 2 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p51 N 16 '35
Film Curb p9 O 15 '35

"Juvenile entertainment tastes will probably enjoy the picture most."
+
Motion Pict Daily p4 N 2 '35

"Family farce."
N Y Exhibitor p54 O 25 '35

RED SALUTE. S 15 '35 75min Reliance
Players: Barbara Stanwyck, Robert Young, Hardie Albright
Director: Sidney Lanfield

Known also as Arms and the Girl. "The effort of a foreign student Communist to destroy the ideals and principles of American youth is thwarted by the clever psychology of a young American soldier." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Mediocre; Y: Hardly good; C: Little interest."
Christian Century p1326 O 16 '35

"Unconvincing and so farcically treated that it loses its force and purpose and is also unwisely titled."
—Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) S 3 '35

"Treats a serious theme—the red agitator on the campus—too flippantly."
—Jt Estimates S 1 '35

Mo Film Bul p107 N '35

"Good. Adults."
Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"This picture fails to prove convincing because of a seeming lack of sincerity. Adults."
—Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"A and Y: Trivial; C: Little interest."
Par M p56 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The picture is muddled to the point of hopelessness and is obviously designed for the stupid." Robert Giroux
—Nation p47 O 16 '35

"A dim carbon copy of the mood of the celebrated 'It Happened One Night.'" Richard Watts, Jr.
—N Y Herald Tribune p10 S 30 '35

"One of the best comedies of the screen since 'It Happened One Night.'" Graham Greene
+ Spec p902 N 22 '32

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p59 N 16 '35

"Family comedy drama."
N Y Exhibitor p36 O 10 '35

(*) REG'LER KIDS. O 19 '36 20min Vitaphone
Director: Ralph Staub

In color, featuring the Meglin Kiddies. "Two wealthy little boys produce a play, of which the proceeds are to be given to the children of the orphanage." (Endorsed Motion Pict)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Good."
+
Endorsed Motion Pict D '35

"Its entertainment value is a matter of taste as the exploitation of very young children is distasteful to many. Family."
Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) O 1 '35

"Entertaining skit, especially for children. Family. Junior matinee."
+
Wkly Guide O 26 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"This technicolor subject has much to commend it... Family audiences will like this best, but it should have universal appeal. Good."
+
N Y Exhibitor p27 N 10 '35

REKA (Czechoslovakian title). See Young love

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; —— Mediocre; —— Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

REMEMBER LAST NIGHT. N 4 '35 76min Universal Players: Edward Arnold, Constance Cummings, Sally Eilers. Robert Young
Director: James Whale
Based on the novel Hangover Murders written under the pseudonym of Adam Hobbouse.
"Following an all night of drinking on a Long Island estate in celebration of a wedding anniversary a member of the party is found dead. So the call in a famous 'detective' and the investigation gets under way, with the customary suspects, eccentric characters, additional murders, and general piling up of complications until the situation finally is cleared up." (Film Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory. Not recommended because of subject matter or treatment." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pic. Guide Cath News p24 Ja 25 '35
"A smart set murder mystery. Adults." DAR
"The picture carries a false, strident tone throughout, its artistry is nil and its moral tone is low. Incessant drinking and its attendant let-down of decencies constitute the humor, marital infidelities are laughed at and murder is treated with cheap and ribald comments. The spectator is given in detail a most unpleasant description of an electrocution. The entire production is an offense to all the decencies and cannot be recommended for any audience." E Coast Preview Committee
— Fox W Coast Bul N 16 '35
"Spoiled by excessive drinking and a total disregard of ethical values. Sophisticated adults." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) N 25 '35
"A fine cast, smart and sophisticated dialogue, fast moving direction and lavish, though somewhat gaudy, stage settings cannot redeem a picture so offensive to good taste. Adults." Jt Estimates N 15 '35
Mo Film Bul p199 D '35
"Unworthy." Motion Pic. Guide Mr '35
"Objectionable in part." Legion of Decency Mr 12 '35
"A, Y and C: Not recommended." Par M p56 Mr '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
Christian Science Monitor p63 N 9 '35
"James Whale's direction forces bad acting out of all the capable players and succeeds only in accenting the ludicrous phoniness of the whole garbled affair." Beverly Hills
— Liberty p30 N 23 '35
"Its central characters, save a detective or two, belong to the aristocratic alcoholic set, and, between murders, they are so busy being antic and whimsical and debonair over their cocktails and high-balls that they not only become definitely offensive people, but manage to bring into the whole institution of drinking into disrepute. Amid their handsome bars and expensive modernistic furniture, they mix homiletics with their badinage to an extent that is likable. To add to their number of crimes they receive the ranks of the W. C. T. U. and allied groups." Richard Watts, Jr.
— N Y Herald Tribune p10 N 21 '35
"Mildly entertaining comedy melodrama." + N Y Times p5 N 24 '35

"It is a lively but far from expert amalgamation of comedy and murder in the traditional 'The Whirl of London' vein. At best it is only fair entertainment." William Boehnel + N Y World-Telegram p23 N 21 '35
Springfield Republican p4 Ja 5 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p60 N 16 '35
"Moves along at a fast pace, maintains the suspense until the end and provides very good entertainment. Cast, direction and production okay. A picture that should satisfy most any audience." + Film Curb p14 D 1 '35
"Because of unusual amount of comedy injected, plus a fine cast and spirited direction by James Whale, this murder melodrama emerges as a much more enjoyable affair than the ordinary run of such mysteries. While the suspense angle is well maintained, it is the laughs and the number of interesting individual performances that give the picture much of its entertainment value." + Film Daily p9 N 21 '35
N Y Exhibitor p31 N 10 '35
"It is bewildering in plot incident and characters so that the basic story can scarcely be followed while the superficial gloss of phoney sophistication is hardly responsible in which four murders and two suicides are recorded nor carries conviction of itself. Not a good picture." — Variety p14 N 27 '35

RENDEZVOUS. O 25 '35 91min MGM
Director: William K. Howard
Adapted from Major Herbert O. Yardley's book American Black Chamber. "The story narrates the activities of the German spy ring in America, Its interception and its deciphering of the American code and the steps, centering around Powell as codist, to prepare a new one to confound the Teutonic espionage system and thereby keep U-boat torpedos from their way to the front. ... The unfolding is always interesting and often gripping what with the match of wits between American and German intelligence, laboratory experimentation on invisible links and the like." (Motion Pic. Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Tops in film fare. A: excellent; 14-18: very good; 8-14: mature." Calif. Congr. of Par & Teachers
"Splendid. Family—mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs
"Excellent film for family audiences." Nat Soc of New England Women
"Some of the repartee is in questionable taste." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women + Fox W Coast Bul N 16 '35
"A highly entertaining picture. Adults and family." + Jt Estimates N 1 '35
"Family." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) N 12 '35
"Family." + Nat Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) N 12 '35

"A and Y: Good spy drama; C: Mature." Par M p56 Mr '35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; +— Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
"Class A' entertainment. It has all the gay brilliance of 'The Thin Man,' with a clever and intricate plot. Family." + Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35

Highly entertaining comedy drama. Brisk, amusing, and in the kind of role that suits William Powell so well. Family." + Wkly Guide O 26 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Mr. Powell gives an expert performance. He always does in that kind of part. But Miss Russell almost beats him at his own game. She has a difficult assignment—to appear just a little silly without losing her charm—and she doesn't miss a stroke in either direction. It is all first-rate light entertainment." E. F. M.

+ Boston Transcript D 13 '35

Reviewed by Mark Van Doren

- Nation p204 N 29 '35

Y N Sun p34 O 25 '35

"With Mr. Powell at his debonair best, 'Tenderness' emerges as a lively and amusing melodrama." Andre Sennwald

+ Y N Times p12 O 26 '35

"One of the most mystifying pictures ever released by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer." + Spring't Republic p6 C 27 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"An exciting and fast-moving spy melodrama that will delight and intrigue every member of the family." + Box Office p51 N 16 '35

Film Curb p14 N 1 '35

"Holds suspense and is well acted and directed." + Film Daily p4 O 28 '35

"M-Q-M has retained much of the original as background, has woven it into romance and spies with results highly entertaining, engrossing and exciting." + Motion Pict Daily p3 O 26 '35

"Background of the film is unquestionably authentic." + Motion Pict Herald p64 N 9 '35

N Y Exhibitor p30 N 10 '35

REST CURE. (Release date not determined)

70mm Regal

Players: Reginald Denny, Esther Ralston, Claire Trevor, Robert Barron

Director: Crane Wilbur

This is filmed in color. "Saia is based on exploits of two gangster pals played by Reginald Denny and Vince Barnett, who, following re-lease, are forced out of the racket of rum running and flee to France to get away from gunning mobsters of Chicago who are on their trail. They find shortly after their arrival that the gang leader arrives on the scene and to evade him they join up with Foreign Legion." (Variety [Hollywood])

Trade Paper Reviews

Film Curb p18 F 15 '36

"This is the first independent feature in color and, because it is something of an experiment both artistically and from a box office standpoint, its career will be watched with interest. In the field where Westerns and outdoor dramas are standard fare this one should go along by reason of the added exploitation value of its color and its different locale." + Hollywood Reporter p3 F 4 '36

"Not only is color intelligently applied, but the story has an action adventure quality which, dominated by comedy and amplified by romance and drama, packs an entertainment punch and greatly creates and holds interest. . . Selling both the novelty of color in an outdoor format and the worth of the story and the quality of the performances by all players should be sufficient to arouse patron attention." + Motion Pict Daily p6 F 7 '36

"Done in color, this feature not only makes available the publicizing of that departure as a means of stimulating public interest, but also provides a substantial, well developed comedy to talk about." + Motion Pict Herald p18 F 15 '36

"Estimate: good independent; saleable anywhere." + N Y Exhibitor p37 F 25 '36

"Producer used judgment to good advantage in not playing up to colors but taking advantage of the natural compositions as in real life. Story sags in a few spots, but as whole is highly entertaining. Pack ed full of comedy, action and thrills, should please all classes of audience." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 4 '36

RETURN OF JIMMY VALENTINE. F 14 '36

60min Republic

Players: Roger Pryor, Charlotte Henry, Robert Warwick

Director: Lewis D. Collins

"A newspaperman sets out to find the original Jimmy Valentine whose exploits have by then become fictional. This formula allows for a story within a story. The reporter finds his man, now a respectable small-town banker. From the police station on the scene he is complicated by a gangster threat against Valentine and his daughter's search for the man she does not know is her own father." Hollywood Reporter

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Good of kind; Y: Good; C: Exciting." + Christian Century p446 Mr 18 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." + Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Adults and young people." + Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Although the idea to revive Jimmy Valentine may have seemed like a good one, the results, as pictured in 'The Return of Jimmy Valentine' are unsuccessful, and so the film must be added to the long list of recent screen disappointments . . . Parts of it are by no means uninteresting, yet the film manages, because of its conformist, unimaginative dialogue, to be generally unexciting." William Boehne - + N Y World-Telegram p25 Mr 4 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Action and mystery fans will find that this fast-moving, suspense-filled comedy furnishes fine entertainment. Family." + Film Daily p35 F 29 '36

"Fairly pleasing light drama generally well handled in all departments." + Film Daily p7 F 1 '36

"A pretty good melodrama, with human appeal. The story is interesting and holds one in fair suspense throughout; but it would have been much more exciting had some of the comedy been omitted . . . Suitable for all. [Family.]" + Harrison's Reports F 15 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor.
RETURN OF JIMMY VALENTINE—Continued

"The Return of Jimmy Valentine" has a ready-made audience awaiting it. With the early Valentine stories, countless performances on the stage and a few on the screen and the more recent popular radio series, the character is sure to draw on title alone. It is, however, essentially a neighborhood fare but obviously the producers believed the 'greater audiences were in the smaller communities. It is upon conventional mystery lines but boasting so many new twists and a good build-up to climax. The many writers concerned with the original and screen play have however, allowed much ill- advised attempt at comedy to clutter the continuity of the tale. Even if it were funnier, the alleged humor would tend to slow tempo to a walk."

+ Hollywood Reporter p2 Ja 28 '36

"This is a worthy sequel to the original Jimmy Valentine story, well produced as average entertainment...[H] should please in all family and neighborhood houses."

+ Motion Pict Daily p8 Ja 29 '36

Motion Pict Herald p4 F 15 '36

"Estimate: saleable for de luxers, okay for neighborhood houses."

+ N Y Exhibitor p35 F 25 '36

"Absence of strong name players is only the fault, if there is one, of the neighborhood and dual spots. Film is filled with popular ingredients and intriguing crick story that has attention throughout. Cast and director have done crafty work job in projecting a too highly improbable plot."

+ Variety p4 Mr 4 '36

"Return of Jimmy Valentine" is earmarked for good business in the family houses... With perhaps a little cutting here and there complete can be made exemplary."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 28 '36

RETURN OF PETER GRIMM. S 13 '35 82min RH

Players: Lionel Barrymore. Helen Mack. Edward Ellis. George Breakston

Director: George Nicholls, Jr.

Based on the play of the same title by David Belasco. "Although he dominated his household before his death, Peter Grimm returns from the Beyond and is, at first, unable to strangle out the tangled affairs of those he loved." (Box Office)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Fair; Y: Fairly good; C: Beyond them."

Christian Century p139 O 30 '35

Mo Film Bul p76 N '35

"A and Y: Interesting and not gruesome; C: Too mature."

Par M p66 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Peter Grimm alive is one of the most meandering characters to inch about the screen and returning from the great beyond, he picks up his pace very little. The picture, from the familiar turn-of-the-century play, is a curious mixture of leisureliness and fatalism." M. E. P. + Boston Transcript p17 D 6 '35

Christian Science Monitor p13 D 7 '35

Reviewed by Andre Senwad. N Y Times p3 O 13 '35

Reviewed by Louise Mace

Springfield Republican p2 Ja 9 '36

"One of the most talked of plays of a decade ago has been adapted to the screen with the faithfulness of old Tower. It will not, in spite of a few fonder hopes be all the most talked of picture of this decade. But it will be seen by a great many people and enjoyed by those who will be able to sit through the many peculiar offerings of the current output. It is fireside, homey, family stuff, with a lot of talk about books and flowers, and a minimum of story."

+ Stage p16 N '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p34 N 23 '35

RHODES, THE DIAMOND MASTER. F 20 '36 Ynna Gaumont British

Director: Berthold Viertel

This picture was filmed in South Africa by a British company and is based on The Life of Rhodes, by Sarah Gertrude Millin. It was formerly a Rhodes, and also, Rhodes, The Empire Builder. Painted on the broad canvas which was South Africa in the 1860's, this picture provides some highlights in the life of one man, Cecil Rhodes. He died before the Boer War, and the eventual complete fruition of his ambitions dream, a united South Africa under the English flag." (Motion Pict Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Adults and young people."

Sel Motion Pict F '36

"Excellently done, with the accent rather subtly against imperialism. Suggested for schools and libraries. Recommended to the Committee on Exceptional Photoplays."

+ Wkly Guide F '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is a triumph for Walter Huston as Rhodes, one of the greatest epic type comic operas of durance and business acumen, and in the great sweep of the story visualizes some of the bitterest and some of the most triumphant days of an Empire story." Laura Elston + Canadian M p11 Mr '36

"Walter Huston, summoned from America to play the role of one of the Empire's great men (a fact that shocked not a few English actors), makes a stunning Rhodes. The authenticity of the film chronicle is what upset Leo Mishkin, in the New York Morning Telegraph. 'It is this authenticity, indeed,' he writes, 'that constitutes the play's chief deficiency.'"

Lit Digest p21 Mr 7 '36

"Viewed quite generally 'Rhodes' is an inferior motion picture. It moves slowly when it moves at all. But such separate homes is allowed to die before the next one is born, so that we miss the magic of elision, the sense of having stepped from one scene into another without knowing that our feet had left the ground; and the South African settings (veritable, I believe) too seldom appear to be taking part in the action, with the result that such figures as Rhodes (Walter Huston) and Jameson (Basil Sydney) are likely to loom up with the effect of accident... The direction had not believed in Rhodes and empire. It had not believed that it was genuinely telling."

Mark Van Doren + Nation p360 Mr 18 '36

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
The new English photoplay obviously is intended as a cinematic Picture of British imperialism in action and an admiring tribute to the great Rhodes, the Empire Builder. A fine dramatic conception, some have said, or other into 'Rhodes' and, although Walter Huston and the producers obviously sympathize withso great a man, a curtain falls upon the dramatic act of Britain's manifest destiny, the film turns out to be a curiously eloquent edification of unmitigated hypocrisy and greed that lie behind the seizure of a continent on behalf of 'civilization.' Mr. Huston is excellent as the ruthless Empire Builder, but it is the Dutch actor, Oscar Homolka, as the president of the Boers, who provides the most effective performances in the picture. In fact, I think that Mr. Homolka's portrayal of the grim and heroic old Dutchman is the finest of the 'historical.\'

"Perhaps the man who organized the Kimberley diamond mines, and the colonies of South Africa is, too recent, or too awesome a figure (in view of the scholarships) for the British to treat him with that fine disdain for history which has enabled Hollywood to make some very distinguished historical photoplay. Kruger himself (Oscar Homolka) is little better than a caricature, played with overdone exaggeration and timing, the actor, apparently, a result of faulty direction. It is a sad duty to have to report that in this, the most famous of the South African movies, there is hardly even a faint glow."

"Although I am willing to honor and respect its good intentions, I cannot overlook its obvious reasons for suspecting that it is potentially an effective film—I shall, also straightway have to add that it does not work out well. It is like parts of it heartily, but there are not enough of these parts to save it. The excitement comes too spasmodically to keep the film vitally alive. As I watched it I kept wishing for more frequent bursts of inspired writing, flaming incidents. But the supply are not there and so 'Rhodes', the Diamond Master,' remains an undramatic, monotonously over-aged man in a famous piece of history. No matter how good the acting is it remains an interesting might-have-been."

"'Rhodes' is one of the better English-made pictures. It cost more than most to turn out and while it may not work up to the potentialities as a money-getter on this side appear pretty good. Although it does not make it in the stars cloths it is a very good adaptation of 'Rhodes' and the production given it deliver what the average film fan is looking for. It is a considerably starved production, it is historically interesting, the performances of the cast are excellent, and technically much is to be found that impresses."

"It is a very fine "picture, that gets over the feeling of a giant personality altogether human. A classic characterization that will stand with the finest in screen history. Oscar Homolka, as Rhodes, provides the class of an historical biography into the class of a great entertainment on sheer historic tag."
RIDDLE RANCH. (Release date not determined) 55min Beavmont Players: David Worth, June Marlow, Julian Rivero Director: Charles Hutchinson A Western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A and Y: Uninteresting; C: Possible."
Par M p56 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Typical Saturday afternoon picture for the youngsters with interest centering on a horse. Simple plot. Unconvincing story. Cannot hope to interest other than juvenile patronage. Title tells the story, as the whole thing is more or less of a riddle."
— Box Office p23 D 21 '35

"It is nicely produced and should serve as good entertainment in those houses that play pictures of this classification. There is a lot of action, the cast handle their roles well, the photography is clear and clean-cut, the fights are realistic and the horse is especially outstanding."
+ Film Daily p8 D 3 '35

"Estimate: fair Western."
+ — N Y Exhibitor p24 Ja 10 '36

RIFFRAFF. Ja 3 '36 89min MGM Players: Una Merkel, Spencer Tracy. Jean Harlow. Joseph Calleia Director: J. Walter Ruben

"The leader of a waterfront gang gets himself in plenty of jams with the fisherman’s union. Marrying the most beautiful girl along the docks starts more trouble, but after some hair-raising experiences he re-establishes himself and heads for a more peaceful life."
Box Office

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences."
N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

"Only slightly entertaining. Adults: fair; 14-18: no; 8-14: no. Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Jean Harlow’s most sincerely played role."
DAR

"Adults and young people." Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast)

"Adults." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"There are some excellent bits of characterization in this picture with Spencer Tracy giving an outstanding performance. Adults." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women’s Clubs

"Well acted but perhaps a bit too real to be enjoyable. Adults." Nat Soc of New England Women

"This picture is more exciting than entertaining. . . . The general atmosphere is not wholesome as the situations necessary to develop the plot are not admirable. Mature." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Sordid melodramatic story. Adults." Women’s Unity Club, Los Angeles
+ — Fox W Coast Bul Ja 4 '36

"Fair. Adults." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"A and Y: Drama with comedy; C: Mature." Par M p55 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Not for the squeamish."
Christian Science Monitor p15 Ja 4 '36

"The characters in ‘Riffraff’ howl at one another in scenes that would be more convincing if the dialogue were spoken softly. It is the intonation of voices, not their volume of sound, that makes them impressive. . . . I do not intend to convey the impression that ‘Riffraff’ is entirely without merit. I would recommend it to you as screen entertainment you should see. Its fishing industry background is virile, picturesque relief from drawing rooms and boudoirs, and if you happen to be less susceptible to noise that I am, you may find the story more interesting than the wheeling vehicle."
— Hollywood Spec p17 Ja 4 '36

"Spencer Tracy, always able, is misspent in another of those conventional movie characterizations of the conceited blowhard who finally suffers enough humiliation to break his ego, but not until he has thoroughly lost the respect of the audience for his asinine conceit and obstinacy. ‘Riffraff’ is just one more cat-and-dog movie written out of other movies, not out of life."
— Don Hurd
— Life p28 Mr '36

"Misa Harlow currently looks even lovlier than ever. As to the picture I cannot be so enthusiastic as some seems to be that Mr. ‘Tracy’, one of the finest actors on the screen, is cruelly treated by the scenario writers." Richard Watts, Jr. N Y Herald Tribune p8 Ja 13 '36

"‘Riffraff’ has a synthetic story, one very evidently written to order. Taken as a whole, it is one of the triflings and individual scenes are better than that."
Edine Credelman
+ — N Y Sun p8 Ja 11 '36

"When it is intent on being a realistic comedy of bad manners ‘Riffraff’ is a preposterous vehicle for the amusing talents of the illustrious Jean Harlow. . . But Miss Harlow the comedi- enne is one person, Miss Harlow the tragedi- enne is another. And when the new photoplay chooses to accent the less convincing personality and to cast a somber eye upon such weighty matters as labor in revolt, the Red menace, motherhood and life in a woman’s prison, a biondrous plot skids down the slopes of melodramatic routine. . . Miss Harlow’s surprise at finding herself in such a picture must be echoed by her audiences. It hardly seems fair to subject one of the screen’s best comedians to the rigors of mother love and a life spent with an acute social consciousness."
F. S. Nugent
+ — N Y Times p14 Ja 13 '36

"[It is] a childishly preposterous offering."
William Eoechnel
— N Y World-Telegram p19 Ja 15 '36

"It is certainly very much to Jean Harlow’s credit that she manages to give so much life to ‘Riffraff’. Never, I should say . . . did a lady have a more thankless task. . . . In general, I’d say of the picture that there is too much tuna fish and not enough Harlow.”
— John Mosher
+ — New Yorker p60 Ja 18 '36

Springfield Republican p14 Ja 19 '36

"Maidliness is the keynote of ‘Riffraff’. Its situations come out of a can that was stale long before the first tuna was canned. And it makes no efforts to turn to account the genuine picturesqueness of the San Pedro, California docks, where most of ‘Riffraff’ was shot."
Time p58 Ja 20 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p25 Ja 4 '36

"A swell picture and no mistake. Right up to the high standard of M-G-M’s attractions."
— Film Curb p8 Ja 4 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; +— Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
"This is a lusty picture, full of action and comedy. Its moments of pathos are realistic. Director J. Walter Ruben has provided a fast tempo and has done an excellent job."

Film Daily p7 D 24 '35

"This is a good comedy-melodrama, which, because of its rough and somewhat vulgar nature, should prove more satisfying to men. It is a little too vulgar for children or Sunday showing. Good for adults."

Harrison's Reports Ja 18 '36

"With a lusty comedy beginning it opens with as much hectic excitement as a bunch of exploding fireworks. It slows down in the middle, when turning tensely dramatic and winds up with real human interest. The action is vivid; dialogue, sharp and pointed. Both qualities are exactly what would be expected from hard boiled waterfront fisher folk, the characters with which 'Riffla' deals."

Motion Pict Daily p10 D 20 '35

"Here's the kind of modern geared picture the like of which has not been seen on the screen for some time. In a way it's a daring adventure; never has its moral value should be subject to question by any but the most straightforward, but nevertheless it has a definite vestige of certain more ribaldness than anything else, with which to set off unusual popular enthusiasm for the show. Any possibility of moral objection should be eliminated by telling audiences that the story, its situations, action and dialogue are handled with realism, sincerity, and truth."

Motion Pict Herald p64 D 23 '35

"Family comedy drama."

N Y Exhibitor p32 Ja 10 '36

"The villainy of Joseph Calleia is more likable than not. As a Greek dialectician [he] obtains a generous share of laughs, and it's this factor that relieves the otherwise intense melodrama and sets the picture apart."

Variety p18 Ja 15 '36

"[The] picture lacks impressiveness, flounders considerably through story unevenness, forced situations, and spotted performances."

Variety (Hollywood) p9 D 19 '35

RING AROUND THE MOON. Ja 1 '36 68min

Chesterfield

Players: Donald Cook, Erin O'Brien-Moore

Director: Charles Lamont

Based on a novel of the same title by Vere Hobart, the story is a reporter who elopes with the boss's daughter and thereby starts a series of unlooked situations which in the end are vanquished.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences."

N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p21 Ja 25 '36

"Unobjectionable for adults."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A and Y: Fair; C: Little appeal."

Par M p56 Mr '36

Sel Motion Pict Ja 1 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p27 Ja 4 '36

"Can be classed as above the average program [material]."

Film Curb p9 Ja 11 '36

"Suitable for all. [Family.]"

Harrison's Reports Ja 4 '36

"'Ring Around the Moon' is a better than usual independent picture, set amidst a newspaper background. . . Because the settings and direction are a bit above Chesterfield average, because the cast has some capable players, this deserves more than passing attention. Family comedy drama."

N Y Exhibitor p30 D 25 '35

ROAD GANG. F 15 '36 61min Warner

Players: Donald Woods, Kay Linaker, Carlye Moore, Jr. Joseph King

Director: Louis King

"A stark, vivid expose of life in a road camp and passenger train. Beautifully written and incisive, this pert filmwriter incurrs the enmity of the political would-be dictator of his State and is railroaded to an unspeakable road camp for five years at hard labor."

Sel Motion Pict

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Entertainment values fade in a series of brutally horrible incidents in which are sounded the depths of human depravity. Adults: distasteful; children: no. Calif Cong of Par & Teachers"

"Details of prison life are presented which are so brutal and harrowing that only a morbid mentality could enjoy them. Horrors are piled upon horrors and the film has little excuse for its existence."

Nat Soc of New England Women

"A revolutionary and depressing picturization of the conditions that could exist in a prison controlled by ruthless politicians. Not suitable for children nor for sensitive adults. Mature."

S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

— Fox W Coast Bul Ja 25 '36

"Despite the cruelty and harrowing suspense, a well chosen cast and expert direction make this a rather convincing picture. Adults and young people."

Gen Office of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ja 11 '36

"This film goes to such length in brutal reality that to most people it will be both horrifying and revolting. Adolescents, 12-16: by no means: children, 8-12: horrible."

Motion Pict R 'F' 3 '36

"Based partly on imagination and in a measure on real conditions this sadistic orgy showing the cruelty in a Southern penal road gang to which a fearless young reporter is railroaded by his political enemies is not entertainment, but has some significance as an expose, and some social value as a warning against Dictatorships. This melodrama has virile power to shock, but it incurs the sensibilities and is an eye-opener and thought-provoker. Adults."

Nat Council of Jewish Women Ja 15 '36

"Unobjectionable for adults."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"This picture has power and sincerity, but it is sickeningly brutal. As an appeal for justice it deserves credit. Adults."

Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"This is red meat, and only for those whose nerves are strong."

Laurie Elston

Canadian M p12 Mr '36

"A front-page social subject that is so compromised by presentation in a claptrap story that the cruel incidents come more than excuses for film sensationalism."

Christian Science Monitor p13 F 29 '36

"It is too unpleasant to experience popularity as diverse as I feel. But perhaps I feel, viewing it can fail to leave the theatre unimpressed by the stupid, brutal prison regulations and syphilized, organically. The courage of the production reveals." Allan Hersholt

Hollywood Spec p12 F 29 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
ROAD GANG—Continued

"Although it lacks the expertness, the vitality and the honesty of ['I Am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang'] it still succeeds in being an effective imitation of the sentimental theory that convicts should be tortured for their own good. Perhaps the work is somewhat hindered by the fact that it is inclined to grow diffuse in its attacks... But it seldom fails to be striking... Even when some of its plot devices are slightly lessened for the purposes of the truth, the narrative seldom entirely loses its force." —Richard Watts, N Y Herald Tribune, p8 F 24 '36

"It is one of the winter's more distasteful pictures. 'Road Gang' is an illustrated essay on sadism, with little or no excuse for exist- ence except as a shocker. Constant repetition dulls even the brutality of the beatings and fights. Even as a shocker the film is dull. Newspaper advertisements have described the characters as 'torture-strikers.' This reviewer might right now be described as a striker against any more torture pictures." —N Y Sun p16 F 24 '36

"Possessing neither the crucifying strength of 'I Am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang' nor the melodramatic vigor of Paul Muni's bitter performance, the new photoplay is a minor melodrama in all departments." —Mr. Woods, p10 N Y World-Telegram, p10 F 24 '36

"In spite of its prison brutalities and its hint of municipal fraudulence, it's scary and un- real. It's full of the tricks, but you never believe them." —John Mosher, New Yorker, p76 Mr 7 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Morbid melodrama of prison road gangs in the West, sadistic thrills impair its enter- tainment value. Adults." —Box Office, p25 F 29 '36

"There is no let up in the stark realism and harsh brutality that galvanizes even the most hard-boiled man picture. Doubtful if the women will like it." —Film Curb, p10 F 22 '36

"In concocting this drama, effort appears to have been made to emphasize the tortures of a southern prison camp to the sensational degree, and while the story is thereby given something of a hush-punch, it also results in giving audiences an uncomfortable feeling that they are glad to shake off and this is not so good either from an entertainment or a box-office standpoint." —Film Daily, p9 F 25 '36

"It should appeal to men who enjoy virile, "meaty" entertainment; women will find it too brutal and depressing. Since most of the action takes place in the prison camps, showing the squalid surroundings, as well as the brutality of the guards is not pleasant or elevating. Too strong for children. Adult entertainment." —Harrison's Reports, F 29 '36

"This picture emerges as active, occasionally exciting, melodrama, with, however, a bit too much of prison farm brutality for the young- ers... For the whole the picture is lively en- tertainment." —Motion Pic't Daily, p10 Jn 29 '36

"Exceptional exploitation is called for in showmen's handling of this picture, for it is sheer drama, of the type that borders on brutality in spots. The action naturally is in the direction of the male element of audiences, so that campaign concentration necessarily is toward the men-folk." —Motion Pic't Herald, p40 F 25 '36

"With interest hot these days over attempted dictatorialships, exploiters can shoot the works, but should be sure in mind that too much exploitation might react. Estimate: results will depend on exploitation." —N Y Exhibitor, p54 Mr 10 '36

"How the picture will be taken in the south is a matter that southern exhibitors and film bookers will need to answer for themselves. It looks as if the southern newspaper editor hopping into an aeroplane and spending an afternoon putting a southern state's politics on a civilized plane is not precisely flattering. A Southern accent, however, is present. The footage is lean. Opening footage of the picture is distinctly awkward in direction and dialog. There is no savor in delineating Villains im- mediately are marked as such." —Variety, p15 F 26 '36

"This is grim, sad, and human; a thin, commonplace plot. Because of its barbaric treatment of human lives it will be hard for anyone to believe such one-sided fiction. Added to this exaggeration, the some fifty or more minutes of morbid delineation of prison life will displease the thought of the average adult. Added to this exaggeration, the some fifty or more minutes of morbid delineation of prison life will displease the thought of the average adult." —Variety (Hollywood), p3 F 15 '36

ROBIN HOOD OF EL DORADO. Ap 10 '36 88min MGM

Based on biography of same title by Walter Noble. "Herein is recounted the almost legendary story of Joaquin Murrieta, a Mexican peon of the California of the golden days of 1849 when Americans swarmed into the territory, and the Mexicans virtually were swept out. [Warner Baxter] in the title role portrays the farmer who turned bandit and sought an entirely justified revenge for wrongs done him and his family." (Motion Pic't Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Adults. (Racial hatred might incite children.) Legion Auxiliary." —Variety

"Wholesale slaughter might prohibit this film to sensitive audiences, though it has dash and color. Family." —Cult Cong of Par & Teachers

"Excellent. Mature." —DAR

"Adults and young people." —Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Of necessity there is much brutality and shedding of blood. Adults." —Nat Council of Jewish Women

"There is superb horsemanship projected against a background of finely photographed scenery, Mature." —Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Photography is exceptional and the life of the early days is vividly reproduced. Mature." —Nat Soc of New England Women

"This picture is anything but complimentary to the spirit of the old settlers of early Califor- nia as it shows only two men out of the large group (who struck out for gold in the Northern Region) with any sign of humanity. Mature." —S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

+ Fox W Coast Bul Mr 7 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"We are, the screen tells us sensitively, not the people without sin who should cast the first stone. It is a valuable lesson, even though it is presented in terms that are not so powerful as they should have been... Much of the narrative is vivid, moving and exciting, but unfortunately the settings, the characters, the dialogue, the episodes, the whole plan of the production, lack the incisiveness and the savage power of 'Viva Villa.'”

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; + - Mediocre; - Poor; — Exceptionally Poor

Richard Watts, Jr.

+ — New York Tribune p8 Mr 14 '36

“This is an elaborate production, and a dull one, mixing blatant sentimentality with brutality of the shocker variety. The fist fights, the hangings, the fightings, the separations even the separate killings of three beautiful girls, seem no more important and no more convincing than the tears the Joaquin Musa and Orestes Junco shed. The direction is confused, the story pointless. This type of blood-and-thunder drama used to be turned out by the dozen in the old days of silent movies. Children loved them; children will probably enjoy this one.”

Eileen Creelman

+ — N Y Daily News p10 Mr 11 '36

“Although 'The Robin Hood of El Dorado' is superficially a romantic and colorful saga of the famous Mexican outlaw, Joaquin Murrieta, it also happens to be a brutally frank indictment of American injustice, greed and cowardice in the years of the California gold rush... Perhaps the most satisfying aspect of the picture is the realization we bring from it that America, for all its charged suppression of free speech and expression eager to accept even so camouflaged a reflection on its morals as this. In a sense it is ironic, too, that Hollywood, in its films of 'It', 'The Thin Man', 'Paths of Glory' or the 'Forty Days of Musa Dagh' through fear of treading on foreign sensitibilities is able to restrain its honesty and its desire to point an accusing finger at certain unpalatable episodes in our national history. It would seem that the only toea we safely may tread upon are our own.”

F. S. Nelso

+ — N Y Times p10 Mr 14 '36

“It is a frequently vivid, exciting, colorful and thoroughly entertaining film—one of the few good prestige plays that have come to Broadway in the last few weeks. Telling sympathetically and sincerely, but with no great drama and without the treatment to which Mexicans living in California were subjected by Americans after the Mexican War, 'Robin Hood of El Dorado' is more than just a hard-riding, quick-sharing melodrama, because it is deeper than a mere show... It must be put down as a good but slightly pompous and overwrought show.”

William Boehnle

+ — N Y World-Telegram p15 Mr 16 '36

"Result is the goriest picture of the year, well photographed but pitifully prevented from being a second 'Viva Villa' by its sententious moralizing, its frequent digression into the light operetta..."

— Time p49 Mr 23 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"We believe this picture will appeal strongly to all classes of film fans and that they will stamp it as most satisfactory entertainment..."

+ — Film Cur p5 Mr 14 '36

"This is a super-Western... At times the story of the injustice done to a harmless Mexican peon and his efforts to avenge the murder of his wife and brother is intensely dramatic and in other moments, goes sluggish when atmospheric shots are piled on..."

+ — Film Daily p6 Mr 15 '36

"Although well produced, this action melodrama is too brutal for most picture-goers; its appeal will be directed mainly to men... The only too accurate portrayal of entertain- ment purposes, Unsuitable for children, adolescents, or Sundays. "

— Variety p49 Mr 23 '36

"Exhibitors will have little trouble in selling 'Robin Hood of El Dorado'.... Baxter has a large established following in such roles, and if the serial as a whole fails to do satisfactory business, the foreign market is assured. Neither in direction nor in screen play does this tale of early California capture the color of its time. The material was there, but remains unrealized. Only in a few instances, and too few, does the camera become a fluid story teller. This lack is made all the more apparent by a preponderance of subtitles which break the flow of the action..."

— Hollywood Reporter p8 Mr 12 '36

"There is much in the picture to stir the sympathies of audiences, and much to stir their pulses in the rapid-fire action of a lawless era and hard-living area..."

— Motion Pic Daily p10 Mr 9 '36

[An] uncommonly exciting, colorful and well-balanced job has been done in transcribing this tale... Essentially 'Robin Hood of El Dorado' stacks up as far which bids to be a little too strong for the softer sensibilities. Men should go for it in a big way, while with children it will rate as a Western of extra-ordinarily high-powered dimensions. 'Robin Hood' can't escape from being compared with 'Viva Villa'. This is that gave 'Villa' a sweeping dramatic canvas is missing in 'Robin Hood'; and that was 'Villa's love for his fellow beings which rooked with patriotic zeal..."

+ — Variety p17 Mr 18 '36

"Warner Baxter in the title role is a marquee name to count on. His picture is placed within a favored phase of popular reading and picture theme, and merit of the film itself should give the picture a large and favorable window. Material help for business will be tieup of picture with story serialization, offering good exploitation... This picture has impressive magnitude, sweeping action and paeany of mass riding and fighting against well-established atmosphere of gold diggings and bandit rendezvous..."

+ — Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 12 '36

ROLLING ALONG. See Music Goes 'Round

ROSE MARIE. Ja 31 '36 110min MGM
Directors: W. S. Van Dyke
Music: Rudolf Friml. Herbert Stothart
Based on the operetta by Otto Harbach and Oscar Hammerstein II. "Story has Miss Mac- donald, an excessively subject matter falls within a favored phase of popular reading and picture theme, and merit of the film itself should give the picture a large and favorable window. Material help for business will be tieup of picture with story serialization, offering good exploitation..."

The picture has impressive magnitude, sweeping action and paeany of mass riding and fighting against well-established atmosphere of gold diggings and bandit rendezvous...

— Variety (Hollywood)

Audience Suitability Ratings

Excellent. Mature. Family." DAR
+ + — Fox W Coast Bul Ja 25 '36

"Family and juvenile matinee. Calif Cong of Film & Teachers"

"Highly recommended as one of the excep- tional musical films. Family." E Coast Preview Committee

“The entire production is one of extreme beauty and charm, sheer delight to eye and ear, [and will satisfy] even the most exacting in their demand for fine entertainment. Adults, Families and juvenile matinee." Gen Fed of Women's Club Hospitals

“Family.” Nat Council of Jewish Women

“Family.” Nat Fed of Business & Profes- sional Women's Clubs

“A picture not to be missed.” Nat Soc of New England Women
ROSE MARIE—Continued

“A distinctly entertaining and constructive picture, which will prove a great joy to all belles-lettres. ‘Family.” S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

“All age.” Mrs. T. G. Winter

“Adults. Family and junior matinees. Outstanding.” + + Jt Estimates F 1 ’36

“Adolescents, 12-16: excellent; children, 8-12: good.” Motion Pict F ’36

“Unobjectionable for general patronage.” “A Y and C: Outstanding musical comedy.” Par M p56 Mr ’36

“Adults, family and junior matinee.” Sel Motion Pict F ’36

“Family.” Wkly Guide F ’36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“Most musical shows when transferred to the screen retain the plot but change all the songs. ‘Rose Marie’ is the order and turns out to be one of the most diverting in some time. . . One of the most entertaining scenes occurs in a cafe where Rose Marie, whose money has been stolen, tries vainly to recoup by singing to the motley array of characters worked up in their high-hearted conversation or quarreling, only considering when the manager puts a local entertainer whose song he likes, ready to singing and a wriggling enchants the company, Gilda Gray, too long absent from the screen, is excellent as the ‘Wop Hitter.’” M. Exchitter + Boston Transcript p4 F 8 ’36

“Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy as opera star and Mountie, give a completely satisfactory答卷 of themselves and there are enough of the old melodies to en- gender a gently nostalgic delight, there is enough of the new and spirited to make this wholly delightful entertainment.” Laura Elston + Canadian M p40 Mr ’36

“Arthur Hammerstein's colorful operetta in its new form, slightly altered from the original to give it the proper measure of charm. But production of merit in every respect.” J. P. Cunningham + Commonweal p386 Ja 31 ’36

“[It is] one of the most delightful bits of screen refinement the picture is going to find on this year’s program. . . Neither Jeanette nor Eddy ever has appeared to better advantage. Their rich and appealing voices fairly revel in the opportunities the music pro- vides, and their acting has ease and natural- ness that make them an ideal couple to share a romance. . . The photography of William Daniels is outstanding. I am a strong be- liever in the part the camera can play in enhancing the box-office value of a motion picture. . . Daniels demonstrates here the extent to which visual appeal can strengthen the entertainment value of a screen offering. He has shots of water and clouds which are of surpassing beauty.” + Hollywood Spec p9 Ja 18 ’36

“If examined too closely, ‘Rose Marie’ is easily disclosed as an overtheatric, somewhat pretentious display of what goes on beneath the surface. In the woods, but taken broadly the film has its appealing mo- ments—a great many of them. . . But even if ‘Rose Marie’ as a tale, never becomes the heart-rending thing it sets out to be, it re- mains first-flowing entertainment. Crisply di- rected by W. S. Van Dyke and given majestically natural settings, the film lets Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald sing almost continuously. And that, it would seem, is quite enough for any picture.” Beverly Hills + + Liberty p31 F 22 ’36

“Too long by at least a half hour. One might easily forgo the incredibly tasteless In- dian Dance and a good deal of the ‘When I hear you calling, yoo-hoo.’” New Theatre p24 Mr ’36

“Usually when the filmed operetta goes out- doors it grows uncomfortable and shows un- happy signs of embarrassment. But ‘Rose Marie’ turns freely about the lakes and mountains of the Canadian Northwest and never loses its poise and its sense of wide space. It is difficult to me that it is a trifle long-winded upon occa- sion, but it is invariably an exceptionally suc- cessful example of its difficult job. . . Not being an opera lover, I could have wished that Miss MacDonald had devoted less of her time in the film to singing choice airs from ‘Romeo et Juliet’ and ‘La Tosca,’ but I know that she manages them with characteristic expertness. . . Mr. Eddy, although his role is less difficult, is perhaps even more successful. He sings splendidly, and even rather thrillingly, and he handles his romantic role with engaging straightforwardness. Always he manages to seem a genuine human being, which, I suspect, is something of an achievement for a singing actor with pretensions to vocal ex- cellence.” Richard Watts, Jr. + + N Y Herald Tribune p4 F 1 ’36

“A successor to ‘Naughty Marietta’ was long enough in coming along, but it was worth the waiting. The glorious singing team of Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald will be heard again in a picture at least as good as their first one. In fact, since the story was less typical an operetta lovers, I would prefer ‘Rose Marie’ rather more than the Victor Herbert film. . . ‘Rose Marie’ is certainly the most charming of the film operettas, sufficiently dramatic, and always melodious.” Eileen Creelman + + Y Sun p8 F 1 ’36

“The result is another screen operetta which has both charm and vigor and which is as pleasant as this form of cinema entertainment is ever likely to be. Handsome, lavishly staged, imaginative, ‘Rose Marie’ is a gayly romantic and rhapsodically tuneful piece of work. Containing one of the most melodious of all the scores that Rudolf Friml has ever written, the film has the further advantage of being sung to utter perfection by Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy and to have a pace and vitality seldom found in screen operettas because of Mr. Van Dyke’s skillful direction.” William Boehnlein + + N Y World-Telegram p21 F 1 ’36

“As you can learn in your history books, a musical comedy called ‘Rose Marie’ ran for some two years in New York, perhaps a decade ago. That, you know, though not phenomenal is still a respectable record. Now up pops the movie of this masterpiece, the worthy old tale repolished and serving as a framework for a series of duets from that notable couple, Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy, where there are some tuneful items of the popular variety, a snare or two from grand opera (‘Romeo and Juliet’ and ‘La Tosca’), one or two from the musings of Indian love calls, or mating calls, and a tendency to humor; a quality I am inclined to look for in musicals, since that is so seldom find . . . The freak predication of a prima donna in a wilderness is comedy, and done well, as in ‘Rose Marie,’ Madame MacDonald appears not averse to humor. Mr. Eddy, I should say, is not so interested in the comic aspects of the situation.” J. C. Ringer + New Yorker p68 F 8 ’36

“Goodness knows, there are flaws. It follows, rather shamelessly, the scheme of situa- tion that the ‘Beulah’ series has been so popular lately.” Aside from a slight awkwardness in the out-of-door sequences, and a preposterous Indian (‘Beulah’ is a bit too prancing extras), the acting is merry and frolic- some, the scenery exhilarating, and the lines fetchingly humorous. [Miss MacDonald and Nelson Eddy's] lines, although a bit sophistical and conventional, are still quite satisfactory reading, and their singing (you know this already) is delightful. What I most enjoy is that it's all so much fun!"

Stage p9 Mr '36

"Acting with considerable charm, and bursting frequently into song in the midst of Candian scenes, Miss MacDonald and Mr. Eddy should provoke an even greater box-office triumph than by their first effort, Naughty Marietta."

Time p26 F 10 '36

"Trade Paper Reviews"

"Rose Marie" is truly a magnificent production from every angle and a worthy successor to Naughty Marietta. It will make the popular team of Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald more popular than ever. Will be a transcendent success and establish new box-office records everywhere. [Family]."

Box Office p33 Ja 18 '36

"This screen version of the stage musical success spells box-office and has been superbly done. ... It is high grade entertainment in every way with an appeal to all classed and doubt that it will draw well and please wherever shown. ... One of those pictures that all exhibitors look for."

Ja 15 '36

"The Indian Love Call" is still the outstanding number and is used in some well contrived situations. It is gloriously sung individually and in duet. Other songs in the original stage production are "Rose Marie" and the 'Tome Pol' number. ... Hunt Stromberg has given this everything that should make it a showman's delight."

Film Daily p10 Ja 15 '36

"An outstanding production, for the masses as well as the cultured picture-goers. ... Suitable for all. [Family]."

Harrison's Reports F 8 '36

"The story is ideally suited to the talents of Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald and unfolds on the screen as a gripping romance with the musical interludes spotted for their maximum effectiveness. ... The With definite appeal for all, the picture should draw even those who are not confirmed moviegoers."

Motion Pict Daily p16 Ja 10 '36

"Opportunity to present this picture may actually be considered a privilege. Patrons may be expected to consider it showing an event of importance, an occasion of unusual interest and satisfaction, as indicated by the spirited reaction on the part of the paying preview audience. ... Salvo's of applause, which greeted the title and several times interrupted the preview, may be accepted as the basis for these remarks."

Motion Pict Herald p4 Ja 18 '36

"Theatres which grossed well with 'Naughty Marietta' should expect equally as much or more from this. ... Estimate: good box office everywhere."

NY Exhibitor p26 F 10 '36

"Strong impression left by the Jeanette Macdonald-Nelson Eddy team in 'Naughty Marietta' is surpassed in 'Rose Marie.' Metro's operatic Western. Like the Northwest Mounted Police film, it displays the MacDonald and Eddy charm and is a delight. The 'Rose Marie' music under cinematic presentation takes on additional values through the enhancement of the orchestration and the breathtaking Technicolor. The classic 'Indian Love Call' as it resonates through the Canadian woodlands (actual location at Lake Tahoe on the Pahoe border, and very beautiful) means more than it does as a conventional operetta."

Variety p12 F 5 '36

"Following considerably with this picture, should be definitely established as the screen's top together with the vocal team. ... Picture is about 90% exteriors, all made in the Lake Tahoe country which is perfect. Scenery is eye-filling and Van Dyke photographs every scene with the grand country."

Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 9 '36

ROSE OF THE RANCHO

Ja 8 '36 55min Paramount

Players: Gladys Swarthout, John Boles,
Charles Bickford, H. B. Warner, Willie
Howard, Herb Williams

Director: Marion Gering

Based on the play of the same title by Richard Walton Tully and David Belasco.
The story is set in the days after the Mexican War when the Spanish landholders were victims of American adventurers, who were stealing their lands because the proud Spaniards refused to register them.' (Motion Pict Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Picture Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Fair; Y: Fairly good. C: Little interest."

Christian Century p95 Ja 15 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A. Y and C: Good musical romance."

Par M p58 Mr '36

Sel Motion Pict Ja 1 '36

Wkly Guide D 21 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is fortunate for 'Rose of the Rancho' that Gladys Swarthout is such an attractive young woman and such a capable singer. For the story of the film is a pretty leisurely and conventional affair even for opera-lovers... Through the recording apparatus is not too kind to Miss Swarthout's high notes, it is clear that she has an admirable voice.
The film is all largely an excuse to bring Miss Swarthout before the camera. It is a well meant effort and the Holiness should do better by her than this." E. F. M. "Boston Transcript p4 Ja 11 '36"

"Miss Swarthout is undeniably lovely, and her voice records superbly, so 'Rose of the Rancho' is undoubtedly stand-out entertainment." Laura Elston

Canadian M p35 F '36

Christian Science Monitor p15 Ja 11 '36

"[It] is a sad introduction to the movi-

"[It] is a sad introduction to the move-

Stage p9 Mr '36

"Exceptionally Good; Good; Fair; Mediocre; Poor; Exceptionally Poor"
ROSE OF THE RANCHO—Continued

"Miss Swarthout is so active, graceful and charming a figure, which her voice develops in war, that it seems a perfect shame to report that her vehicle is a clumsy and feebie singing drama, with songs often labored and clunky. Willie Howard and Herb Williams, raising their heads above the debris ... Anyway, during the musical and laborious events that accompany the romance between Miss Swarthout and Mr. Boles ... we can find time to study the interpretation of Messrs. Howard and Williams and pray that Miss Swarthout will some time be given a vehicle with her attractions. Production, story and romance may go wrong, but somehow these complexities do not interfere with Miss Swarthout's success. She is endowed with one of the Metropolitan Opera ranks. Her voice is fresh and vital; and the composer, Ralph Rainger, has given her a generous and handsome score that must have seemed more plausible in the studio conference than in the press-room. Paramount has converted David Belasco's ancient hack-piece into an elaborate musical horse opera. It is the misfortune of the film, instead of combining the most fascinating qualities of operetta and the six-shooter drama, it merely has the weaknesses of both forms in one handsome blur. Fortunately, the process of setting 'Rose of the Rancho' to music has been an enough an excellent low comedy, and that saves part of the evening ... On the whole, the enterprise is an impressive one. Gladys Swarthout is a young actress who has been debuting in the Metropolitan Opera, and she has the appropriate skills to make a first-rate musical personality in the cinema. Mr. Boles doesn't get very far away from that prettiness which made some of us regret President Lincoln's decision to save him from the firing squad in 'The Littlest Rebel.'"

'Verna Sennwald

— Y N Times p25 Ja 9 '36

"It is pretty unsatisfactory entertainment. The adjective, however, is entirely against the star. Lovely to look at, thrilling to hear and a capable actress to boot. Miss Swarthout has already much too much of the star firmament in the air. The story of 'Rose of the Rancho' continues the tradition recently established by other members of the Metropolitan Opera. Swarthout who has been debuting in front of the camera, of achieving personal successes even if their material wasn't all that it should have been."

N Y World-Telegram p29 Ja 9 '36

"The musical people will, of course, be concerned about the fate of Miss Gladys Swarthout in the 'Rancho' series. The story of the Ranchero probably isn't much of a test for the prima donna. Without any claim to the slightest degree of dramatic ability, if somehow feel very sure of my impression that the songs given her by the composers have been masterfully knocked out."

John Mosher

New Yorker p25 Feb 4 '36

Springf'd Republican p4 Ja 26 '36

"It's my story ... belongs to the sorry tradition of pre-War operetta libretts. . . By singing Contra in 'Rancho' makes it clear that, in the current operatic sweepsheets, she will not be outdistanced by the Hollywood fields. She is more than Columbr's blonde Grace Moore, but she has more chic."

Time p25 Ja 13 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p34 N 22 '35

"It is indeed unfortunate that Miss Swarthout is out introduced to film audiences in this vehicle, it seems a delightful screen personality but this picture is poor entertainment. It is nothing like the Belasco play and it might be summed up as a glorified Western."

— Film Curb p11 Ja 11 '36

"Back in 1914 when Paramount made this for the silent screen, David Belasco's melodramatic romance of the Golden West was quite a treat for the cash customers. But to revive it twenty-two years later as a modern talkie-singe doesn't help much. The original stage play was an out and out melodrama with theatrical romantic atmosphere, and served its purpose quite fairly. Trying to embed a singing vehicle for Swarthout and Boles and still preserve the atmosphere of a melodrama produced a hybrid that you cannot classify. It is certainly an unfortunate selection as the screen vehicle for her, but her charming personality and beautiful voice. And asking her to play the daughter of an American Indian is not the most suitable."

N Y Daily p8 Ja 4 '36

"Paramount 'muffed' this picture. Although it has produced it on a lavish scale, it is nothing but a glorified Western with many defects. Good interpolations of Westerns is in poor taste and glaringly out of place in a picture of this type. Gladys Swarthout, the Metropolitan Opera singer, makes a good impression in her first screen appearance, but her singing, particularly in the high notes, is spoiled by poor recording. . . Suitable for all. [Family."

— Harrison's Reports Ja 11 '36

"Rose of the Rancho' is unique—it is the first Western to be made with music and the first one to have thrilling outlaws of the Gold Rush days stop their raiding long enough to sing a song. The suspense is a thing of wonder with the beer spigots opened in time to the music, the glasses raised with flourishes and the gunmen waiting for the glockenspiel to play their six-shooters. . . It is a strong assemblage of talent—strong enough, in fact, to support a good story if there were one."

Motion Piclet Daily p4 Ja 4 '36

"The production suffers in being loosely knit. The sequences skip from action to comedy and reverse without, seemingly, a great deal of credulity. In tune with the theme the production is lavishly produced and the photographic treatment of the picture."

— Motion Piclet Herald p52 Ja 11 '36

"Probably spotty at the box office 'Rose of the Rancho' is generally pleasant. Music seems to be woven into the whole. Gladys Swarthout personality, her swell voice, Herb Williams and Willie Howard's comedy, may draw."

— Y N Exhibitor p43 Ja 25 '36

"It's an unsuspicious debut vehicle for Gladys Swarthout. . . Despite the incidental, high-spirited, comic, background flashes of the unusual, the plot structure is too much against 'Rancho'."

— Variety p18 Ja 15 '36

"This one shouldn't count. Picture is a glorified Western with none of the thrills that usually come with that type opera. Story, dialog and direction are all off key. . . Whole thing looks as if no one knew just what was happening. Might have been a great help had a director who understood Western technique been given the assignment. Direction of the outdoor stuff, particularly the chases, is very bad.” — Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“Visiting an unfrequented Mayan city in Guatemala, James A. FitzPatrick obtained an unusually fine subject in Technicolor.” + Film Daily p8 Ja 23 '36

“The photography in Technicolor is gorgeous.” + Motion Pict Daily p8 Ja 23 '36

“As a travelogue, particularly with the off-screen dialogue of James A. FitzPatrick describing everything, this should please.” + Motion Pict Herald p15 F 1 '36

“It will please anywhere. Very good.” + N Y Exhibitor p40 Ja25 '35

SAGEBRUSH TROUBADOUR. N 25 '35 68m Republic

Players: Barbara Pepper. Smiley Burnette. Gene Autry

Director: Joseph Kane

A Western mystery melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Class A. General approval.” N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

“Junior matinee.” Nat Bd of R. Fox W Coast But D 14 '35

“A, Y and C Western melodrama.”

Par M p56 Mr '36

“Junior matinee.”

Wkly Guide N 30 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Film Curb p12 D 1 '35

“First-rate Western with plenty of action and some pleasing musical numbers.” + Film Daily p8 N 19 '35

“They seem to be putting everything into Gene Autry Westerns as time goes on. Not satisfied with songs between all of the chases, Autry turns detective and solves a murder mystery in the newest of his movies.” + Motion Pict Daily p4 N 19 '35

“Family Western.”

N Y Exhibitor p54 D 10 '35

SCANDALS OF PARIS. D 14 '35 63min Regal

Directors: John Stoffard. W. Victor Hanbury

The film was made in England. In this romantic musical comedy a rich soap manufacturer’s daughter accidentally becomes an artist’s model and keeps her identity a secret. When her father’s company buys the picture for an advertisement of his soap, the way is smoothed for a happy ending to the young couple’s romance.

Trade Paper Reviews

“At any rate it provides excellent material for a dual bill. Has been well produced and recorded and given a nice production.” + Film Curb p35 Ja 11 '35

“Entertaining British-made production combining some musical numbers with romantic comedy... Miss Barrie is a very likeable heroine.” + Film Daily p6 D 31 '35

“Here’s a surprise attraction that ought to create favor... With a gay spirit, lilting music that runs throughout, some good numbers by Zelma O’Neal, this is worth more than passing interest. Family comedy with music.” + N Y Exhibitor p40 D 25 '35

SCRACOGE. D 20 '35 75m Paramount-Twickenham

Players: Seymour Hicks. Donald Calthrop. Barbara Everest. Philip Frost

Director: Henry Edwards

Based on a Christmas Carol, by Charles Dickens. The film was made in England. “The dreary, cruel tale of a miser contrasted with the joy and peace of true Christians, on a snow-covered Christmas Eve.” (Endorsed Motion Pict)

A guide to the study of Scrooge, the screen version of Charles Dickens’ A Christmas Carol, prepared by William P. Bauer, is obtainable from Educational and Recreational Guides, Inc. 125 Lincoln Avenue, Newark, New Jersey at $2.50 a copy. In his Guide, Mr. Bauer has considered the book, play, acting, photography and music.

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Class A. General approval.” N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

“A faithful reproduction of a delicate fantasy —splendid characterization. Very good.” + Endorsed Motion Pict D '35

“Charles Dickens’ Christmas classic is brought to the screen in a superb manner. Fidelity to the original story, to the costumes and appearance of the characters as he painted them, together with the faithful reproduction of the scenery, costumes and manners of the period add to the general delightful effect. The whole production merits the highest praise. Family.” E Coast Preview Committee “Primarily a picture for the Christmas holidays. Suggested for schools and libraries. Family.” Nat Bd of R

“Fox W Coast But D 14 '35

“This production of ‘A Christmas Carol’ comes to the screen with a distinctly Dickensian flavor due in large measure to excellent casting and interesting photographic ef-
SCROOGE—Continued

ffects... Holiday audiences will revel in this particularization of the familiar story. Adults & 14-18: very good; S-14: good. Family." Calif Congress of Professional Teachers

"Unusual and artistic photography, interesting lighting effects, a fine maintenance of atmosphere and an appropriate musical background add much to the entire production.
Notable are the characterizations of Sir Seymour Hicks as Scrooge and Donald Calthrop as Cratchit Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Unusual settings, quaint costumes and manners lend interest to this emotional Christmas picture, Adult." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"An inspiring interpretation of Dickens' 'Christmas Carol,' beautifully acted and photographed. A particularly attractive film for holiday audiences." Nat Soc of New England
Women

"This English production with its artistry of settings, fine camera work, exceptional portrayal of the characters, understanding direction, is one that will give delight to all audiences.
Family and junior matinee."

+ Green Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)
D 16 '35

"The direction has not made this picture a ghost story thriller but, with fine restraint, has kept the supernatural elements within the realms of fantasy. Family. Outstanding social drama."

+ Jt Estimates D 15 '35

Mo Film Bul p176 N '35

"Fidelity to the original story, to the costumes and appearance of the characters as he painted them, together with the faithful reproduction of the scenery, customs and manners of the period add to the general deli-ful effect. The whole production merits the highest praise. Family."

+ Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35

"A well produced and interesting picture for those who like Dickens. . . Suggested for schools and libraries. Family."

+ Wkly Guide N 30 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The appealing early Victorian costumes are worn with easy grace by all concerned, and the settings are delightful, particularly the grandiose homes. Scrooge occupies a splendid Tudor bed with linenfold paneling that would make a collector moan with envy. . . The famous Christmas dinner is exactly as described on the printed page, with the goose and pudding, looking too small for such a large family, just as they should be, but eaten so zestfully and with such pleasure." M. E. L.

- Boston Transcript p7 D 20 '35

"A notable cast of all-English players has captured with fine artistry Dickens' rejuvenation of the squeezing, wrenching, grasping, scrapping, clutching, covetous old sinner. The performers and merry ol' England herself in the background give it that Dickensonian touch of P. Cunningham +

- Commonweal p272 Ja 3 '36

Manchester Guardian p13 D 21 '35

"A faithful, tender and mellow edition of Dickens's 'A Christmas Carol.' A splendid adaption of the story... Granting it is less than perfect technically—it suffers from underlighting and occasional recording lapses, still deserves one's affectionate regard. It is superbly played, its lines are plucked straight from the source book, and, thanks to understanding adaptation and direction, it carries on at a pace which preserves the Dickensian flavor without denial of modern insistence upon more rapid story development. The danger of adapting so widely read an author as Dickens is usually present, but there has been that the mortals chosen to fill the roles will prove so much less human than the characters he created one might well describe his genius. Happily, there is no such disappointment here. . . Sir Seymour's portrayal of Scrooge is one of the finest ever conceived for the photoplay. . . Mr. Calthrop's Bob Cratchit could not be bettered." F. S. N.

+ N Y Times p11 D 11 '35

"Beautifully acted and faithful to the letter and spirit of the original story, it is a film that merits the highest praise. . . Although it is not lacking in invention and originality, this little ghost story which has warmed and uplifted millions by its message, must have been particularly difficult to screen. It has been directed in such an intelligent manner that it comes over with freshness and charm. The pease, the plot—right—what slows or fast—the costumes and the characters are as Dickens painted them, and the customs, manners and scenery of the period are faithfully followed so that the entire production has a warming glow about it. . . It is, in short, a performance that deserves Scrooge's phrase Screened as Dickens imagined him." William
Boehnel

+ N Y World-Telegram p29 D 17 '35

Springfield Republican p6 D 22 '35

"Projected with tenderness but without sentimental overtones is the rousing Christmas of the Cratchit family."

+ Time p36 D 23 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Film Curb p20 D 15 '35

"Catching the Dickens spirit with fine effect, this British production makes an excellent special offering for the Christmas season as such its entertainment values are not confined to that time of the year alone. Though the dialogue is a bit British-accented, the human interest nature of the story makes it easily assimilated and will evoke response from audiences generally."

+ Film Daily p4 N 30 '35

"Some of the poignant suffering of Scrooge in a dream sequence leading up to his reform is drawn out to a climax that may prove depressing to holiday audiences, but the picture as a whole is extremely well done. . . It can be sold as a family picture and its appeal is aimed at adults as well as children. Women's groups and high school and college English classes and all those who love the so-called 'better things' will take to it, too."

+ Motion Pict Daily p15 N 27 '35

"All the charm of the Dickens story has been transferred from the printed page to the mobile screen and the characters are sketched with such artistry as to provide abundance of the elements for a favorable audience reaction to the production as a whole." +

- Motion Pict Herald p53 D 21 '35

N Y Exhibitor p39 D 25 '35

"Whoever selected the supporting cast possesses an uncanny knack for picking types to fit the story which, of course, is laid in England around 1840. They wear the clothes of the period as if accustomed to doing so. Photography is unique in that most of it is shadowy, and suggests a lot more than it reveals. With close effect of the massive settings, interiors and exteriors provide an atmosphere that grants the impression one is seeing the genuine locations, an only criticism to be made is the amount of footage. With only one situation—a simple one—there is too much repetition of incidents leading up to the change of heart of the old miser who sees the error of his misspent life and reforms on Christmas Day." +

- Variety p64 D 11 '35

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
SECOND BUREAU. F 16 '35 100min Le Pelletier
Players: Jean Murat. Vera Korene. Jeanne Crispin
Director: Pierre Billon
Based on the novel of the same title by Charles Buchanan, the film was made in France and has English sub-titles. Also known as Le Deuxième Bureau, Bertha
Plied&rarr;off as the Canadian agent of the German Intelligence Service, is called into action to find out how the second bureau of its French counterpart has learned the secret behind German gas. Against her is matched the handsome Benoit, sent from Paris to the town where the gas is being manufactured to get more details.”
(N Y Times)

Audience Suitability Ratings

“An efficiently-handled melodrama of espio-age in peace-time... The continuity at the beginning, however, is distinctly confused, and for a short while there is even some difficulty in determining which of the characters is which, particularly as we know that at any given moment they may be endeavouring to disguise their identities. In addition, although the performances are restrained, with a authenticity, it is sometimes hard to know where particular sequences are located—whether in France, Germany, or the neutral country between.”
Suitability: adults.”
X — Mo Film Bul Ja '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“Le Deuxième Bureau” has the speed of action of American films and the fertility of unending shots. The picture, you are halted abruptly, hung up as it were, by the sheer imagination of certain episodes... The opening scene... is a beautiful example of a restrained approach to terror. The heroine, by the way, is an actress... Perhaps this is but another example of the unexpected which, while it would not be tolerated in American films, is common enough in any French picture that arises above trash.” — W. V.
Buchanan + Canadian Forum p15 Ja '36

“Second Bureau” makes no pretensions to being anything more than a fastest way out, however, a good melodrama. The director has kept his characters plausible and his events realistic, and has made skilful use of many opportunities for excitement in spy-films.”
X Manchester Guardian p17 Ja '36

“The dialogue is in French, with English subtitles, and to this reviewer, the confusion of the piece was heightened by the fact that so many of the male characters look alike, or at least, give the impression of being to the same bureau. The picture has been badly edited and cut, apparently, or else it is confusingly and amateurishly directed.” — M. T.
X — N Y Herald Tribune p10 F 17 '36

“Second Bureau” is a drama of espionage, and a livelier and more amusing tale than we are accustomed to find in continental studios...
The cast is a good-looking one, with both Vera Korene and Jeanne Crispin up to Hollywood standards...剪辑, one too, keeping the highly conventional plot up to a quick pace.” — Eileen Creelman +
N Y Sun p16 F 17 '36

“Followers of espionage films will not have trouble in anticipating the ending of Second Bureau... This picture is excellently photographed and contains many highly interesting scenes. The English titles are well made and are numerous.” — H. T. S.
+ N Y Times p21 F 17 '36

“When the various French and German spies stop tripping over each other in Second Bureau,” and the debris is cleared up, you find that the film is just another spy story with very little in it to recommend, in spite of the fact that according to reports, it was selected as one of the ten best French films of the last year by a well-informed capacity judge at the Aubert Palace in Paris... Confused, stumbling, ponderous and pedestrian, “Second Bureau”, has none of the shrewdness and slyness one expects from a spy film, even one that takes itself seriously. There is a nice display between the sneaky French methods and casual manner in which the French go about their spy work and some of the acting, especially by Jean Murat as Benoit and Vera Korene as Erna, is good, but on the whole the film is pretty feeble and unsatisfactory entertainment.” — William Boehnel
— N Y World-Telegram pl3 F 17 '36

“‘Second Bureau’ is a rather dull film... It is a great pity, for what an amusing film of the secret service could be made if the intention was satiric and not romantic, the treatment realistic and not violent.” — Graham
Green + + Spec p91 Ja 17 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“While the story lingers along on heavily emphasized sequences, it offers no imagination capable of the climax, this account of the activities of the French military intelligence bureau registers as another compromise spy drama.”
+ + Motion Pict Daily p6 F 20 '36

” ‘Newly’ estimated: for restricted audiences.”
+ — N Y Exhibitor p59 Mr 10 '36

“Despite its one hundred minutes’ length.
‘Second Bureau’ is one of the most interesting entertaining films to come across the Atlantic in some time. Credit should be split up between adapter, director and uniformly excellent cast. (It) looks like a sure bet for art films, however, not accustomed to viewing superimposed titles. Otherwise it will have to obtain its grosses from foreign-language houses of which there is a limited number in the United States.”
— Variety p12 F 19 '36

(‘) SEEING NELLIE HOME. D 20 '35 111min
Educational
Players: Carol Deis. Charles Henderson
Director: William Watson
“The skit gives opportunity for the harmoning of a choir of children and male voices on some of the old sentimental rural melodies, topping of course with ‘I Was Seeing Nellie Home.’” Film Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Very good singing of old songs. Family.”
+ Wkly Guide D 25 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“Charles Henderson and His Master Singers put this one over nicely in the rustic at mosphe of an old-time barn festivity in winter time, featured by a basket auction... It has the old rustic flavor that makes it a timely number for winter showing with the snow atmosphere outside. Good singing and plenty of youthful enthusiasm.”
+ + Film Daily p11 Ja 7 '36

“Plowed in a homey, rustic setting with some old fashioned choir singing by the Henderson Master Singers. This effort should be average short entertainment... The singing is good.”
+ + Motion Pict Daily p4 Ja 8 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE. D 6 '35 80min RKO

Players: Gene Raymond, Margaret Cullahan, Eric Blore. Grant Mitchell

Directors: William Hamilton. Edward Killy

Based on a play of same title by George M. Cohan, which in turn was based upon a novel of same title by Earl Derr Biggers. "Author goes to abandoned inn to write, thinking he has the only key. Six other people also have keys with plenty of mystery and complications resulting." (Box Office)

A Photoplay Study Guide, prepared by Thomas R. Cook, is obtainable from Educational and Recreational Guides, Inc. 125 Lincoln Avenue, Newark, New Jersey, at fifteen cents per copy. The Guide stresses theatrical and dramatic procedures and techniques.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

"Good." + Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36

"Easy performances are given by every member of a well chosen cast. Audults and children: 8-15." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Mature." DAR

"A competent cast takes full advantage of the complicated situations and cleverly subordinates the acting to the plot. Adults and young people." E Coast Preview Committee

"Very amusing. Family." Nat Bd of R

"Scene suspense and mystery are maintained by a well chosen cast and good direction, which has with it lightness and humor. Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"The picture is well cast and moves rapidly with good dialogue and many dramatic scenes. However, suspense in the picture seems carried too long, whereas in the play it did not seem so, and the dialogue is carried forward so rapidly that confusion results towards the climax. This is no doubt due to a theme overworked through the years, as it by this time has lost some of its freshness and vividness. It is nevertheless very good entertainment. Family and junior matinee." Women's Unly Club, Los Angeles

"Fox W Coast But D 14 '35"

"The picturization of Earl Derr Biggers' mystery story provides light, amusing entertainment. . . Settings, music and lighting effects worthy of special mention. Family maturity." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) D '35

"Family." Jt Estimates D 15 '35

"Good. Family." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"Very amusing. Family." + Nat Bd of R M Ja '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Association of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A, Y and C: Mystery without horror." Par M p56 Mr '36

Sel Motion Pict Ja 1 '36

"Very amusing, Family." + Wkyt Guide D 7 '35

exceptionally Good; Good; - Fair; - Mediocre; Poor; - Exceptionally Poor

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"While it contains more action than you normally will find in a dozen pictures, the film's chief handicap is that it ambles along at too leisurely a pace. Otherwise there should be no complaints." T. M. P.

+ - N Y Times p11 D 14 '35

Springfield Republican p6 Ja 16 '36

Time p44 D 16 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"Good offering for the family audience, packed with thrills, laughs and melodrama, without horror." + Box Office p17 F 22 '36

"Seven Keys to Baldpate is an entertaining and exciting picture." + Canadian Moving Pict Digest p10 D 21 '35

"Raymond does nicely in lead role, Blore handles part of detective remarkably, balance of cast are excellent. Nice production and good direction. Above average program entertainment." + Film Curb p21 D 15 '35

"This mystery comedy makes good entertainment program fare. Everyone connected with the production has caught the spirit of the piece, and the result is enjoyable material." + Film Daily p4 N 30 '35

"This seemingly perpetual favorite holds its own on the screen with a pleasant intermingling of mild mystery and comedy." + Motion Pict Daily p12 N 27 '35

"The picture, following the spirit of the story, moves fast and is well acted. It doesn't make any bones about acknowledging that audiences will not know what it is all about. Consequently it is strictly closely to the original plot. Characterizations are convincing. Those that are supposed to be dramatic are dramatic in the vein of the story; so are those who are supposed to be comic and funny. The suspense that threaded the original still functions." + Motion Pict Herald p68 D T '35

"Most moviegoers around will probably think they have seen somewhere sometimes. Family comedy drama." N Y Exhibitor p39 D 25 '35

"Too much conversation and too little action makes this a weak comedy, old stage success, only fairly amusing. Good enough as secondary program material."

+ - Variety p12 D 18 '35

SHADOWS OF THE ORIENT. (Release date not determined) 65min Empire

Players: Regis Toomey, J. Farrell MacDonald, Esther Ralston, Oscar Apfel

Director: Burt Lynwood

"It is a story of Chinese smuggling. It tells of the activities of a new kind of G-man, a young immigration inspector, an in-the-rut veteran who was just smart enough to be on the job at the right moment, a suave behind-the-scenes racketeer and a girl who had a penchant for bringing herself in all kinds of romantic and dramatic trouble." Motion Pict Daily

Trade Paper Reviews

"Good action-thriller loaded with suspense and Oriental intrigue." + Box Office p17 F 22 '36

"It provides good entertainment of its kind with many thrilling sequences and should do well in movie market." + Film Curb p18 F 15 '36
"Providing the maximum amount of thrill action, embellished by romance, drama, melodrama and comedy, this is geared to appease the appetite of the amusement-adventure fans as well as those who like a little freshness in their entertainment fare."

+ Motion Picture Herald p44 F 15 '36

"With such a title, with a yarn packed with action, 'Shadows of the Orient' looks like a swell melodrama for popular, blood and thunder houses."

+ N Y Exhibitor p37 F 25 '36

"All hands connected in the making of 'Shadows of the Orient,' dealing with smuggling of Chinese, from Mexico, were generous in marshalling surefire elements of entertainment for market at which it is directed."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 5 '36

SHE COULDN'T TAKE IT. O 20 '35 86min Columbia

Players: George Raft, Joan Bennett. Walter Connelly. Billie Burke

Director: Tay Garnett

An ex-gangster takes over the management of a pampered millionaire's family when the millionaire dies in prison where he shared a cell with the gangster.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

"Adults and young people."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) N 4 '35

"Fair. Adults."

Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

Nat Bd of R M N '35

"Light amusing entertainment with its humorous situations, bright dialogue and good acting. Family." + Nat Council of Jewish Women N 1 '35

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A and Y: New version of gangster film; C: Unsuitable." Par M p56 Mr '38

"Under the handicap of such a plot, the well known actors of course add little to their laurels and there is little profit for any audience in their efforts." — Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35

"Family." Wkly Guide O 19 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p33 N 9 '35

"The sleek George Raft is given a role for which he is eminently suited." + Liberty p22 N 16 '35

"It gives the lovely Miss Bennett her chance to play what is coming to be the most popular current type of film heroine, the gently nitwit ingenue." Richard Watts, Jr. N Y Herald Tribune p19 N 7 '35

"The story, which had tried laboriously for a madcap atmosphere, slides slowly into sentimentality."

+ N Y Sun p23 N 7 '35

"It is commonplace both as humor and as melodrama."

Andre Sennwald + N Y Times p27 N 7 '35

"First-rate entertainment, even if it is terrifying to find out that death and kidnapping can be made so diverting." William Boehnel + N Y World-Telegram p13 N 7 '35

"There are occasional surprises and a fair amount of excitement." John Mosher + — New Yorker p100 N 16 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"George Raft gets an ingratiating portrayal of a reformed racketeer in a fast-moving comedy which is fair enough to make one wish it had been a great deal better." + — Box Office p25 N 30 '35

"It has been well handled and while plot is somewhat old they have managed to insert some new angles that make it satisfactory film entertainment." + — Film Curb p8 O 1 '35

"It is timeworn material that has been presented on the screen again and again." — Motion Picture Herald p64 N 16 '35

N Y Exhibitor p34 O 10 '35

SHE MARRIED HER BOSS. S 19 '35 92min Columbia

Players: Claudette Colbert, Melvyn Douglas, Michael Bartlett, Edith Fellows

Director: Gregory LaCava

"A bride craving affection gives impetus to Claudette Colbert's newest film. After her marriage to her employer, the battle rages. The secretary's disappointment when she discovers the woman she dreamed of was merely a dream, and how she eventually makes it a reality, is the gist of the plot." Springf'd Republican

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A and Y: Clever farce; C: Mature." Par M p56 Mr '38

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p16 N 16 '35

"The lines are fresh enough to make you forget the rather familiar framework." Don Hove

+ — Life p26 D '35

Springf'd Republican ptc S 22 '35

"Routine drama is brought to a finish without a general walkout by a series of polite antics at which Miss Colbert is expert." + — Time p29 S 30 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p33 N 16 '35

SHE SHALL HAVE MUSIC. N 28 '35 75min Twickenham-British Players: June Clyde, Marjorie Brooks, Griffiths, Desper, Jack Haydon

Director: Leslie Hiscott

The film is made in England. "Essentially it is a series of good musical and comedy numbers with a thin but sufficient story link in the fact that Hylton's Band, broadcasting as a stunt from a yacht in the South Seas, is up against the myrmidons of a rival shipping line who want to kill the broadcast. Ingeniously used here is the idea that a wrist-
SHE SHALL HAVE MUSIC—Continued
watch television set enables the disabled yacht to get into visible and audible touch with home, so that the stranded musicians get back in time for a theatre opening, while the yacht owner is enabled to give instructions defeating a market raid on his shares." (Motion Pict Herald)

Audience Suitability Ratings
Mo Film Bul p200 D '35
"A, Y and C: Bright musical comedy."
+ Par M p56 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"It's a case of stringing a series of acts and musical numbers on a radio or stage celebrity and the thinnest thread of story and giving the public the variety it may be pinning for, per film. Here the key attraction is Jack Hylton and his band, probably the best of its type in England. It isn't staged like an American musical, but it is definitely bright entertainment."
+ Motion Pict Daily p10 D 9 '35
"'She Shall Have Music' is a production which should please in any community where a variety-starved public will welcome the same type of material by day of the week."
+ Motion Pict Herald p53 D 21 '35
"There are no dull moments. The film even has a plot—a melodramatic one, not at all bad, and well brought out. There are snatches of the work of artists who are only given a couple of minutes and who could hold attention for much more. There are so many of these that it becomes a trifle bewildering."
+ Variety p12 D 18 '35

SHIP CAFE. N 1 '35 68min Paramount
Players: Carl Brisson, Arline Judge. Mady Christians, William Frawley
Director: Robert Florey
A ship's stoker is given a chance to sing in the ship's cafe where a countess admires him. She lures him away from his partner with whom he is in love. In the end he returns to the ship and his partner.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory. Not recommended because of subject matter or treatment."
NY Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36
"Good."
+ Endorsed Motion Pict D '35
"Several pleasant musical interludes fail to redeem the unattractive personal and disagreeable locale of this picture. Adults: fair; 8-18: doubtful." Calf Congress of Far & Teachers
"Mediocre music. Cheap environment. Adults." DAR
"When one sees a cast of characters which is notable, it is very disappointing to find its members so exploited as in this inane, stupid picture which is poorly directed and with a story so hackneyed and uninteresting. The entire production is a waste of time on the part of the producers, actors, director and audience."
Nat Council of Jewish Women
"The picture has a rather unwelcome atmosphere—somewhat relieved by the delightful music and singing of Carl Brisson. Matter of taste, adults." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs
+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; —Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

"Mediocre production which is hardly worthy of any one's time." Nat Soc of New England Women

"A sophisticated unconvincing picture. Mature." Calif Council of Fed Church Women
"Depicting a somewhat tawdry life, with its jealousies and loyalties, it maintains a low-pitched tempo which is only briefly lifted to other levels in moments of song and comedy. Adults." Mrs T. G. Winter
"The story of 'Ship Cafe' is neither novel nor well-told. . . Acting and direction are only fair. Even the love story and club scenes are devoid of any real gaiety or amusement. The film is lifted from utter banality by the bright dialogue and rapid-fire comments which are admirably suited to the situations. 8-12: objectionable; 12-16: poor." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles
Fox W Coast Bul D 7 '35
"Carl Brisson has a pleasing voice and persomeness, and gives a convincing characterization of the Danish lad, as does Arline Judge of the cabaret dancer, but a cheap atmosphere pervades the picture, and it is intensified by an offensive dance sequence. Adults."
+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) N 25 '35
Mo Film Bul p59 D '35
"Fair. Adults."
Motion Pict Guide Mr '36
"A: Mildly entertaining; Y: Poor; C: Objectionable." Par M p56 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
Boston Transcript p8 O 30 '35
Springfield Republican p6c D 1 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p58 N 16 '35
Film Curb pl4 N 1 '35
"Brisson's role gives him a somewhat better chance than in his previous appearances, and he makes the most of it."
+ Film Daily p7 N 9 '35
"Family comedy drama."
+ Exhibitor p36 N 10 '35
"'Ship Cafe' provides suitable but weak starring material for Carl Brisson. . . While a lot of stale and lifeless dialog is to be found in the adaptation, there is some good comedy to compensate for the lack of punch the story otherwise delivers."
+ Variety pl4 N 27 '35

SHIPMATES FOREVER. O 12 '35 109min War-er
Players: Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler. Lewis Stons, Ross Alexander
Director: Frank Borzage
Music and lyrics: Harry Warren. Al Dubin
"Four years at Annapolis, a girl and innate heroism make a loyal man out of a cynical crooner."
Wkly Guide

Audience Suitability Ratings
"A: Fine of kind; Y: Excellent; C: Strong but good." Christian Century O 30 '35
"A delightfully entertaining picture. . . There is a charming love story and the picture is further enhanced by stirring scenes and beautiful photography. The well chosen cast give
Most satisfying performances. ... Family and junior matinees.

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) O 1 '35

Mo Film Bul p150 D '35

"Family and junior matinees."

Nat Council of Jewish Women O 1 '35

"A: Tuned comb. X" and C: Excellent."

Par M p66 Mr '36

"Splendidly photographed record of life at the Naval Academy, and many moving and amusing incidents, though the plot is familiar."

— Wkly Guide O 5 '35

---

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p13 O 26 '35

"The latest story of Annapolis, underscores all the traditions and by now faintly hackneyed symbols associated with the midshipman's progress in the cloistered beauty of the Academy's halls. The discipline is noted through several incidents; mess hall jollity is noted in one or two. Here, the Ring Dance is noted, and then, of course, is the usual funeral rite, with bugles blowing, wet-eyed formations of midshipmen at attention, and the lowering of the flag. . . . The music and lyrics by Harry Warren and Al Dubin are catty and the authenticity of the settings is satisfactory. As a picture showing certain of the customs at Annapolis, 'Shipmates' is to be applauded; as a story, it is not fresh."

Marguerite Tazelaar

— N Y Herald Tribune p19 O 18 '35

"Although its story is routine, its humorous moments are many, its romantic interest not too obtrusive and it manages to be entertaining most of the way. . . . It is the best of the recent war cycle. It moves rapidly despite its long running time." F. S. N.

— N Y Times p29 O 17 '35

"One ceremony, that is not only impressive, but beautifully staged, takes place at the naval academy. But it involves the cadets, principally the members of the new second year class. This is the famous Ring Dance, that celebrates the entrance into the second class."

— Springfiled Republican p6c O 13 '35

Stage p10 N '35

---

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p54 N 16 '33

Film Curb p20 O 1 '35

"Not overly different in plot. Family."

— N Y Exhibitor p35 O 10 '35

---

SHOW THEM NO MERCY. D 6 '35 75min 20th-century-Fox

Director: George Marshall

"An innocent young couple, en route to California with their baby and a lovable terrier, are forced to find shelter in an abandoned house when their car becomes mired during a storm. Their predicament assumes proportions of a brutal and deadly drama when they find that their refuge is the hideout of a quartet of kidnappers whose capture is sought by an outraged nation."

— Wkly Guide O 10 '35

---

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences."

N Y Archdiocese Motion Pic Guide

Cath News p24 Jt 25 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; —— Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

---

"Good."

— Endorsed Motion Pic D '35

"Shows crime does not pay. Good cast." DAR

"Members of the cast give splendid performances—its general appeal is doubtful, however, as many of the audiences of this will resent the manner in which the gangster uses the churches to pass the 'hot money.' Novel, possibly, but certainly a breach of taste that is hardly understandable. Splendid acting, Grin theme."

Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs O 1 '35

"Many will find its stark realism and brutality so trying that its entertainment values are quite overshadowed. Adults." Nat Soc of New England Women

---

"Skillful direction is responsible for the naturalness of the characters. Cleverly interspersed comedy touches somewhat relieve the emotional tension which is sustained to the final scenes. 12-16: too much killing; 8-12: no, too exciting and brutal."

Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles, Calif.

— Wkly Guide O 9 '35

"This picture expertly directed and realistically acted is particularly interesting because of its sharp delineation of a prevalent of the times attitudes and young people."

— Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) N 4 '35

"Adults.

— Estimates N 1 '35

"Very good. Adults."

Motion Pic Guide Mr '36

Nat Bd of R M Ja '36

"A and Y: Well done melodrama; C: No."

— Par M p66 Mr '36

"While not recommended as family entertainment, the law-abiding citizens will do well to consider this picture as a crushing indictment against crime in general and the kidnapper in particular. Adults."

See Motion Pic D 1 '35

"Mature.

— Wkly Guide D 7 '35

---

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is all pretty grim, and it involves a terrific amount of shooting. But it is tremendously exciting."

B. L.

— Boston Transcript p4 N 22 '35

Christian Science Monitor p13 N 23 '35

"The G-Men make 'go-out-there-and-die' speeches, stick pins in maps, race their motorcycles, and behave otherwise very G-Manly in 'Show Them No Mercy.' . . . But the pattern of this picture is in many ways fresh and it will give you a good idea of goose flesh unless your skin is a lot tougher than this guinea pig's." Don Herold

— Life p21 F '36

Reviewed by Otis Ferguson

New Repub p185 D 25 '35

"There is suspense, but the picture does seem dragged out a little too much. . . . 'Show Them No Mercy' is a man picture differing from the rest, and for that reason, if for no other, is worth seeing."

M.

— N Y Sun p34 D 9 '33

"Originally the work was entitled 'Snatched,' which summed up the raw and ugly violence that informs this arresting topical melodrama, inspired by the Waverhauser kidnapping case. It turns the spotlight on four gunmen who have just completed a successful 'snatch,' and tells how they manage to get away because of their private jealousies and the relentless man-hunt staged by the Department of Justice. As a modern morality tale, it breaks out of cold brutality and macabre humor, it presents the screen in its..."
SHOW THEM NO MERCY—Continued

rarest journalistic vein. Despite the witless change of title, [it] provides a frightening experience in the cinema." Andre Sennwald

N Y Times p23 D 9 '35

"To surpass, or even equal at this late date, some of the previous compactly written, sharply spoken, savage and snarling films dealing with the exploits of the government agents in their war on organized crime would seem at almost impossible, so vigorous and vital have most of them been. But Show Them No Mercy does just that. . . . It is a taut, straightforward and murderous melodrama, which in addition to being excellent and nerve-wracking entertainment, is virtually a case history of the manner in which the Department of Justice agents cracked a recent famous Western kidnaping case. What makes this screen melodrama worthy of your attention in addition to its blazing and gripping story, is its fine display of superb acting." William Boehnel

+ N Y World-Telegram p18 D 9 '35

Reviewed by John Mosher

New Yorker p117 D 14 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p30 N 30 '35

"This one is not anywhere near as good as many that have preceded it. It strives to show that kidnapping does not pay but not in a very convincing way."

+ Film Curb p22 D 15 '35

"Fans who like tense drama will get a good stretch of it in this kidnapping yarn. It carries suspense from start to finish. The kidnapping part of the story is not elaborated upon in the least, but merely sets the opening groundwork for the campaign of the government men in tracking down the bad men." + Film Daily p7 D 7 '35

Motion Pict Daily p2 O 26 '35

"Family melodrama." + N Y Exhibitor p37 N 25 '35

"Probably had the Hays office permitted this to go out under its original title of 'Snatched' this would have gotten over to bigger business than it will do under the clumsier title which supplanted it. Putting a moral slant into the title will not disguise the fact that it's a kidnap story... The casting is uniformly good. Well-staged and directed with unusually good taste, the feature gives full satisfaction." + Variety p19 D 11 '35

SILLY BILLIES. Mr 20 '36 65min RKO

Players: Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey Dorothy Lee, Harry Woods

Director: Fred Guiol

A western comedy of covered wagon days.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A witless comedy. Family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Family." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Very well photographed, the film offers some good laughs, interspersed with few vulgarities of dialogue than usual and will please the average family audience." Nat Soc of New England Women

"A typical Wheeler and Woolsey farce with plenty of slap-stick comedy and impossible situations. Very good although a drinking scene had to be introduced to add a few more ridiculous situations. Family." S Calif Council of Methodist Women

Fox W Coast Bul Mr 7 '36

"If you are a Wheeler and Woolsey addict, this is just what the doctor ordered, a madder, merrier, sillier picture than their last. Adolescents, 12-16: good; children, 8-12: excellent." + Motion Pict R Mr 8 '36

"This pair of comics clown their way through a mediocre and uninteresting vehicle in a vain attempt to be funny [and] their success is doubtful. Matter of taste for the family." — Nat Council of Jewish Women F 25 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Silly Billies," as I saw it, was slow in many places, a weakness that often is eliminated after a preview: consequently I presume it will move with more briskness when you see it. However, this picture never could be re-edited enough to receive a complimentary review from me. While the general reaction of the preview audience seemed favorable, I personally was not at all entertained by the film, due to my inability to find enjoyment in Wheeler and Woolsey. . . [Their] fans will like the movie much as ever. They always bore me frightfully." Allan Hersholt

— Hollywood Spec p11 Mr 14 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"A Wheeler and Woolsey whimsy which won't get above the lower-bracket spots. There it will serve as a none-too-vigorous support number, though it will do less to make money as fast as its predecessors. . . The lads work hard but the laughs are none too frequent."

— Hollywood Rep F 22 '36

"The bright idea of putting Wheeler and Woolsey in a Western fails to work out according to hopes, resulting in the least funny offering of the comedies to date, and giving exhibitors little to promise except the usual antics of the buffoons against a new background." + Motion Pict Daily p11 F 25 '36

"Understood and marketed as a nonsensical, idiotic fun feature which burlesques the straight formula Western entertainment idea, it has ingredients to satisfy the Wheeler and Woolsey following and those who like to see standard patterns given a lot of changing around and alteration." + Motion Pict Herald p46 Mr 7 '36

"Wheeler and Woolsey fans may go for their favorite comics in this one but the general reaction will be doubtful. Main trouble is a mediocere script containing few laughs. Production is okay but evidently lacked supervision. Direction, too, is off balance. Starring team work hard but the gags for the most part are meaningless, carried too far. . . Picture will do average Wheeler and Woolsey business but comics should get a better break in material." + Variety (Hollywood) p8 F 22 '36

SILVER SPURS. F 10 '36 60min Universal

Players: Buck Jones. Muriel Evans, Bruce Lane

Director: Ray Taylor

A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family and Junior matinee." Nat Bd of R Fox W Coast Bul F 8 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Estimate: good." + N Y Exhibitor p27 F 25 '36
SINGING KID. Ap 11 '36 85min Warner
Director: William Keighley
"Jolson plays himself, a big-hearted musical cornballer who owes his singing and showbusiness to a wealthy dweller and who loves to swing and give away money. But he is cleaned out by a crooked lawyer, his sweetheart walks out on him, and he loses his voice. A songless interlude in the country brings him a new and tender love affair and he returns to town to new triumph." — Hollywood Reporter

Trade Paper Reviews
"A typical Jolson songfest to which has been added the swellest kind of comedy and romance... Nothing more could be asked for from entertainment of this kind." + Film Curb p36 Mr 14 '36

"This is one of the best shows Al Jolson has ever done. It should hit at the box-office to some sweet returns. And it isn't all Al, there are the Yacht Club Boys who are terrific, Cab Calloway, and Sybil Jason, Allen Jenkins, and Beverly Roberts. The latter is new to the public, and she shows herself clearly. The moment the picture opens with Al singing songs from his Broadway shows and pictures to the very end, the picture rolls. The Singing Kid has a fast moving show loaded with swell musical entertainment." + Film Daily p6 Mr 18 '36

"An Al Jolson vehicle that ranks with his best for songs, pep and production values. The slight story is a harmless variant of the backstage formula and the only lack is a due allowance of real comedy. It's a good show, on the whole, with plenty to sell the Jolson following and it is in for big takes at the wicket all over the place." + Hollywood Reporter p3 Mr 10 '36

"A gay combination of gags, musical comedy, drama and romance, flavored with a girldecorated backstage theatre spectacle, it has those qualities which will surely please exhibitors and audiences... Jolson is the traditional Al Jolson that people like to see and hear. The comedy provided by the Yacht Club Boys, Hawaii, and Sybil Jason is full of gay fun." + Motion Pic Daily p18 Mr 11 '36

"Good entertainment reflecting credit in all departments, 'The Singing Kid' should be a substantial musical, and if it works hard, finishes stronger than he has done in his past two pictures. Of the three numbers in the picture, he is in grand fashion by the Yacht Club Boys without whom the picture would have a tough struggle." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 10 '36

SINGING VAGABOND. D 16 '36 57min Republic
Director: Carl Pierson
In the far west in frontier days a girl and other members of a theatrical troupe, who are traveling with a California by overland trail, are rescued by a plainsman from a group of bandits and horse thieves. An enemy of the plainsman pins a treasonous charge on him and he is convicted and sentenced to face a firing squad. He escapes and after a thrilling flight with Indians, turns up the real culprit.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pic Guide

SKULL AND CROWN. D 12 '35 58min Reliable
Players: Regis Toomey. Jack Mulhall. Molly O'Day
Director: Elmer Clifton
A border patrolman swears vengeance on an outlaw who killed his sister and tried to help his young friend. With the dog's help he is able to track down and arrest the outlaw who is the leader of a smuggling gang.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pic Guide

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A. Y and C: Harmless but mediocre Western." Par M p56 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"Below the Western standard; crudely produced, with its chief appeal directed to the habitual Western fans." — Box Office p23 D 21 '35

"Another more than satisfactory Autry Western. The star sings nicely as usual and there is plenty of top-notch action. That lovers of this sort of film crave. Up to standard of the series." + Film Curb p21 D 15 '35

"Although the story is familiar material, the players handle their roles well and Carl Pierson's direction gives this number plenty of action." + Film Daily p4 D 11 '35

"A musical Western, this is an interesting entertainment. Although modernized in dialogue and made a bit different by the inclusion of Gene Autry's singing, its action and technique are a clever capitalization of the old silent excitement thriller. Sophisticates may not appreciate the outdoor adventure loving fans and the youngsters should indicate their reactions with much whooping and shooting. Autry and his famous plainsman ditties in solo and with Miss Rutherford is novel and effective." + Motion Pic Daily p7 D 11 '35

"Basically the feature is a musical Western. Actually, with the production technique that made Westerns so popular in the silent days expertly regenerated, it's the U. S. cavalry to the rescue. The well contrived situations move with speedy continuity... The intent of the picture graphically is geared to arouse mass enthusiasm and to appeal strongly to the younger audience contingents." + Motion Pic Herald p52 D 14 '35

"Family Western," N Y Exhibitor p40 D 25 '35

"This vehicle is crammed full of the action stuff that made hoos oppy's popular during the early periods of the cinema. It further serves to give Autry the opportunity to sing several old-fashioned songs of the plains, with excellent choral and musical accompaniment... Story is trite, Oliver Drake having thrown in a mixture of pretty much everything that has gone before in Westerns, with the result. It's a bush two. Third is handled in grand fashion by the Yacht Club Boys without whom the picture would have a tough struggle." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 7 '35

CATHOLIC DIGEST. p24 Ja 25 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pic Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A. Y and C: Action melodrama." Par M p56 Mr '36

"Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor"
SKULL AND CROWN—Continued

Trade Paper Reviews

"Family." Box Office p33 D 25 '35
Film Curb p15 Ja 4 '36

"With Rin-Tin-Tin, Jr., doing some of the finest dog work yet seen, this picture should be bang up entertainment for dog lovers and action fans. The events follow one another well and one's interest is held throughout. The fights between the men are well handled, but those between the dogs and the outlaws are great."
+ Film Daily p17 D 17 '35
"Estimate: good." + N Y Exhibitor p34 Ja 10 '36

"The intelligent dog, Rin-Tin-Tin, Junior, alone offers a remarkable performance, both in relationship to story and in behavior under direction. He fights with furious, savage earnestness when required to battle villainy, and manages with canny understanding to simulate affection and loyalty for delight of all who will see him." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 12 '35

SKYBOUND. S 25 '35 55min Puritan
Players: Lloyd Hughes, Lona Andre, Eddie Nugent, Grant Withers
Director: Raymond K. Johnson

A melodramatic Western of the government border air patrol.

Trade Paper Reviews

"With its principal strength resting in its aerial scenes, while romantic interest plays only a minor part, this drama revolving around the border patrol is fair entertainment. Scattered along the action is a good amount of fighting and aerial thrills, with the latter being enhanced by excellent camera work." + Film Daily p7 N 12 '35

"Action lovers who like to see good flying, spectacular photography, and fights, will be pleased. Family action drama." N Y Exhibitor p38 O 10 '35

SNOWED UNDER. (Release date not determined) 63min Warner Players: George Brent, Genevieve Tobin, Glenda Farrell, Patricia Ellis, Frank McHugh
Director: Raymond Enright

Based on the novel of the same title by Lawrence Saunders. "Seeking solitude in his mountain cabin, a twice married playwright manages to finish his play satisfactorily despite complications caused by the unexpected arrival of his ex-wives, an infatuated young girl and a blizzard." (Gen Fed of Women's Clubs)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Adults." Am Legion Auxiliary
"Possibly for family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Though it is an artificial little comedy, treading on delicate ground at times, it is well done. Nature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Light comedy with amusing situations very cleverly handled. Audiences over 14." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Trashy and boring. Waste of time. Mature." S Cali Council of Red Church Women
+ Fox W Coast Bul Mr 7 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; ++ Mediocre; -- Poor; --- Exceptionally Poor

"Adults and young people."
Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) F 24 '36

"Adolescents, 12-16; no; children, 8-12; no."
Motion Pic R Mr 35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Warner's Hollywood was filled to capacity when 'Snowed Under' was previewed. There were few quiet moments during the showing, the current of laughter being almost continuous. The picture, being a comedy made only to provoke laughs, achieves its purpose. I concede it was built on fundamental comedy situations, that it is well cast, well produced, and shot from a competently written screen play. But I did not enjoy it. Motion pictures are offered as entertainment. I cannot understand how a director expects an audience to be entertained by a group of players who howl at one another." — Hollywood Spec p9 Mr 14 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"They'll get many a laugh out of this one. ' . . Second best over in most any theatre."
+ Film Curb p15 F 22 '36

"The fans who enjoy a lot of good laughs will like this number. The plot becomes somewhat involved, but it all ironizes itself out and the audiences that are not overly discriminating will be very well pleased."
+ - Film Daily p6 Mr 13 '36

"A forced and rather strident farcical comedy of social relations concocted for uncritical laughter. The original story, currently serialized, provides a battery of diverting lines. Neverthe- less a Hollywood preview audience laughed and laughed till it drowned out the dialogue, and unsophisticated audiences everywhere will doubtless do the same. The box office will be aided also by a quartette of names—George Brent, Genevieve Tobin, Glenda Farrell and Patricia Ellis—an all-girl cast that lends verve to this rather racy affair."
+ - Hollywood Reporter p3 Mr 9 '36

"The picture has a nonsensical quality that should appeal to mass patronage. . . The production is expertly directed by Raymond Enright, and played in the same key by the entire company in a manner which keeps the laughs coming fast and furious without regard to rhyme or reason. For those who like their fun in broad and copious quantities this should be a mighty hit."
Motion Pic Daily p6 Mr 10 '36

"Estimate: pleasant programmer."
N Y Exhibitor p34 Mr 10 '36

"This is bang-up comedy packed with laughs that should click with all classes of audiences. It is rapid fire farce with a background of a stage producer's office and a playwright's country home in Connecticut."
+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 12 '36

SO RED THE ROSE. N 22 '35 82min Paramount
Players: Margaret Sullivan, Walter Con- nolly, Randolph Scott, Janet Beecher
Director: King Vidor

Based on novel of same title by Stark Young. "Randolph Scott, a pacifist, joins the Southern Army when his uncle and cousin are killed. The man heodata, daughter and son are left to handle the plantation. The slaves revolt, the house is destroyed, everything seems to go against the tide but the mother does not despair. With the end of the war, [Scott] returns to the girl who has been waiting." (Film Daily)
Audience Suitability Ratings

- "Class A. General approval," N Y Archdiocese Motion Pic Guide
- "A and Y: Fine of kind; C: Doubtful." Christian Century p1665 D 25 '35
- "Not as powerful as the book. Very good." + Endorsed Motion Pic D '35
- "Adults: very good; 14-18: good; 8-14: mature. Possible for family." Calif Congress of Parents Nov.
- "Despite changes, the essence of S. Young's enthralling novel of Confederate life and War's havoc has been retained in this moving tragic romance." Mature; 14-18.' + DAR
- "Family." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)
- "Simply told, without undue elaboration of plot, the film attains a dignified and haunting beauty through restrained action and a skilled director's unerring sense of human values. An unforgettable production. Family." Nat Soc of New England
- "Fox W Coast Bul N 30 '35
- "Mo Film Bul p200 D '35
- "Very good. Family." Motion Pic Guide Mr '36
- "A and Y: Splendid romance of Civil War; C: If interested on Par M p56 Mr '36'
- "Excellent for the family." + + Sel Motion Pic D 1 '35
- "The story becomes over sentimentalized in parts. Family." + - WKly Guide O 16 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

- Christian Science Monitor p10 D 5 '35
- N Y Herald Tribune p21 N 28 '35
- "The picture has something of the grace of Mr. Young's best-selling novel and its romanticism. It has much of its charm. From the wealth of characters Mr. Young depicted, King Vidor and his scenarists picked only a few. You may miss some of the McGehees, the Bedfords, and the Ruffins. You won't find any of the four Colies. Surely there could have been one big family party with Vallette singing and the McGehees discussing Jefferson Davis behind their backs. But this is simplification. 'So Red the Rose' has kept the atmosphere of contentment, good will and luxury that ran through the novel." Eileen Creelman
- N Y Sun p8 N 27 '35
- "All during 'So Red the Rose,' one-half of my mind was being flooded with the sentimentality of this nostalgic drama of the Old South, while the other half was sorrowing to see a man like King Vidor titter away his time on such glamorous taffy. Although this is a neat and often touching reworking of Stark Young's novel, it is as far from the screen drama of the civil war. Parts of it are humorous and picturesque and tender. But I must balk a bit about the picture that scene and the way the excitement seeps out of it. In spite of everything, I should say that it is better than苍白 Entertainment..." Eileen Creelman
- N Y Times p7X D 8 '35
- "Although it is beautifully photographed and well acted and directed, I must admit to mixed feelings about this masterpiece of the civil war. Parts of it are humorous and picturesque and tender. But I must balk a bit about this thing that scene and the way the excitement seeps out of it. In spite of everything, I should say that it is better than苍白 Entertainment..." Eileen Creelman

Trade Paper Reviews

- "Beautifully produced, with each important role portrayed with sympathy and conviction, inciting sincerity in this heart-moving narrative of the Confederacy. Outstanding is the fine work of Margaret Sullivan, who veritably lives the part of the petite Southern belle whose heart is stirred by the harrowing experiences which the war between the states brings home to her. Not unusual in theme, the story wins distinction because of its underlying tenderness and understanding treatment." + Box Office p25 N 30 '35
- "You cry, and laugh, and are deeply touched by the beautiful romance of the south, very timely indeed when there is a war and there is a war. It proves what happens to a family—anybody's family—in wartime. This [is] an outstanding credit to the producer." + Canadian Moving Pic Digest p10 D 21 '35
- "Above average entertainment." + Film Curb p8 N 15 '35
- "The screenplay contains comedy, sentiment and a sequence of events that are always interesting." + Film Daily p7 N 9 '35
- "The drama is poignant to the point of being tragic. Romantic and natural comedy conflicts are of a character that stir sympathetic heart interest. The impersonations, accomplished acting and direction, plus inspiring background effects give the picture a powerful human character." + Motion Pic Daily p6 N 5 '35
- "The picture has the entertainment values for appeal to any type of audience." + Motion Pic Herald p53 N 16 '35
- "Taking a dramatic romantic novel of the Old South during Civil War days, Paramount has created a production that should be a box office success from current fast-moving everyday fare. Family entertainment." + N Y Exhibitor p57 N 25 '35
- "'So Red the Rose,' is frequently a fine and distinctive cinematic transmutation, and almost as often dray and uncertain." + Variety p15 D 4 '35

SOAK THE RICH. Ja 17 '36 88min Paramount
- Players: Walter Connolly, Mary Taylor, John Howard, Lionel Stander
- Directors: Ben Hecht, Charles MacArthur
- "The impractical millionaire who complains of the carping attitude toward million-

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; + + - Mediocre; - Poor; + + - Exceptionally Poor
SOAK THE RICH—Continued
aires and especially the 'Soak the rich' taxation and then finds that his daughter, a student in a college which he has built, has fallen in love with a radical college leader who is head of a factoir sounding the call for the oppressed and poor. Eventually she turns against the young man and he finds that romance wins above all principles. By the end in true farce comedy manner, this satire ends with the erstwhile radical group enjoying the millionairess's champagne and singing his praises.

Audience Suitability Ratings
“A well developed plot, filled with humor and pathos, clever dialogue and very well acted throughout. Adults and young people.” E Coast Preview Committee
+ Fox W Coast Bul F 8 '36

“Adults: amusing; 14-18: good; 8-14: uninteresting.” Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

“Good. Mature.” DAR

“Adults.” Nat Council of Jewish Women

“Mature.” S Calif Council of Fed Church Women
Fox W Coast Bul F 22 '36

“Family.” Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) F 10 '36

“A diverting comedy, with a pleasant romance, sincerely satiric and critical, cleverly developed, and a practical lesson in common sense, for alarmists who worry over student activities. Audiences over fourteen.”
+ Jt Estimates F 1 '36

“Good. Adults and young adults.” Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

“This is a film untainted with propaganda, although the title used is a popular political slogan. . . Adolescents, 12-16: yes; children, 8-12: too mature to interest.” Motion Pict R Mr '36

“Adults.” Nat Council of Jewish Women F 15 '36

“Objectionable in part.” Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

“The fine acting of Walter Connolly highlights a story of the conflicts between a rich man, his scatter-brained family and a group of young college students . . . Adults and young people.” + Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“There is some excellent satire and much amusing dialogue, with Walter Connolly at his best; and something is going to happen that is going to make it look at least as good as anything else.” Laura Elston
+ Canadian M p12 Mr '36

“Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur are regular devils, cut-ups, mentally wild men of Broadway, whose caperings are convulsing. They admit all this. Therefore we must accept with appreciation anything they deign to give us in the way of motion picture entertainment. If it fails to entertain us, it is because we are of low mentality, because we lack a sense of humor. I think it is one of the worst motion pictures I ever saw, but that, of course, is ridiculous because Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur made it, and they are clever fellows who’ll just make you die laughin’ at their jokes.” — Hollywood Spec p8 F 15 '36

“All of this might conceivably have been good fun were not for the unhappy act that, after the first few minutes of the photoplay, the Hecht-MacArthur wit, humor and dexterity collapsed with the weighting completeness. The first five minutes, it should be reported, are brilliant and hilarious with Walter Connolly, and the creative brilliance of the fable, devoting some of the wittiest lines of the season—the authors of ‘First Lady’ should envy them—sardonically satirizing the complexities of the New Deal. Soon, though, the epigrams cease to flow and the story gets down to business, which consists of a routine satirical story of the romance between the boy radical and the rich girl who would like to play with radicalism to prove her devotion to him.” Richard Watts, Jr
+ — N Y Herald Tribune p11 F 5 '36

“The Messrs. Hecht and MacArthur prove again, in the so-called ‘Soak the Rich,’ that their gift for writing dialogue and situation is perhaps the most brilliant of all the movie scenarists. They prove it not in this picture, that they have little talent for directing or producing. Both in their choice of cast and in their handling of it they destroyed the work. . . ‘Soak the Rich’ is still witty; but its authors would have been wise to have hired a reliable director and casting director, so the acting can spoil the best of lines.” Eileen Creelman
+ — N Y Sun p27 F 6 '36

“Collegiate radicals come in for a rather cruel lampooning at the hands of those old die-hards, Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, in the anti-war ‘Soak the Rich’.”

“Poor. This film is the best of the year. It contains the most laughter of any picture made this year. It is a satire that is so mean and bitter as to be disliked by all except persons of low mentality.” — N Y Times p14 F 5 '36

“If Charles MacArthur and Ben Hecht were not the authors and producers of ‘Soak the Rich,’ this story of social mediocrity would have very little news value. But since the Messrs. Hecht and MacArthur recently demonstrated with “The Scoundrel” how expertly they can produce films when they put their mind to their work, their latest offering cannot be dismissed so blantly. Although ‘Soak the Rich’ has an excellent idea for a social satire, it is pretty badly bungled, and except for its first minute is an awkward, amateur and tedious exhibit.” William Boehnlein
 + — N Y World-Telegram p55 F 5 '36

“‘Soak the Rich’ is perhaps the drollest of the lot, but it somehow doesn’t quite come off as the outrageous comedy it should have been.” J. J. Blisher
 + — New Yorker p65 F 15 '36

“The worst of the Hecht-MacArthur pictures, illuminated by the single mad moment when Lionel Stander enters the scene as a one-man radical movement.” — Stage p8 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“General suitability of this Hecht-MacArthur original depends on how many audiences like satire of the ultra-modern school.”

Box Office p17 F 22 '36

“It is our duty to report that this latest Hecht-MacArthur effort at screen entertainment is poor stuff. There are very few laughs and the attempt to work up the comedy situations falls down badly. . . The action drags and it would seem as if the best this one can hope for is a fair ~ bill. Without comedy it is mighty difficult to make something of the picture but even a good actor can't work with dull material.

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

— Film Curb p11 F 8 '36

"Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, who did triple duty as producers, authors and directors of this picture, have again turned out high-brow hokum that is 'different,' but despite much flashing wit and even broad comedy it is neither acceptable for drawing-room nor artistic sense nor as entertaining from a general standpoint as some of their previous efforts."

— Film Daily p9 F 8 '36

"Just a moderately entertaining comedy. It lacks action, giving the spectator the feeling as if a stage play had been transplanted to the screen. . . Not for children or adolescents. Adult entertainment."

— Harrison's Reports F 1 '36

"As comedy, it has some mildly amusing moments, but, as in the case of other of the pair's pictures, it is pointed, but perhaps not very accurately, for the sophisticated screen audience, offensively so, only more of a stage play lifted bodily to the screen, and it is open to question whether the average film playgoer can be entertained. It is, on the whole, a typical Hecht-MacArthur concoction, not, however, nearly so promising as certain of their earlier efforts. Some of their horse-play in this is not very funny and much of it is questionable in taste and judgment."

— Motion Picture Daily p7 Ja 20 '36

"The first sequence and several others could be presented independently as very short shorts acceptable for drawing-room or little theatre purposes. Strung together, they unfold an undergraduate romance that would rate as routine if the precocious adolescents performing it were not crammed full of Hecht-MacArthur wisecracks and sophistry. As it is, the plain cash customer is quite likely to consider it a highly artificial and probably not at all necessary business.

— Motion Picture Herald p48 F 15 '36

"Whether Hecht and MacArthur can make box office pictures is still a question. 'Soak the Rich' proves the pair can produce a different type of picture, but the box office may not particularly benefit."

— N Y Exhibitor p39 D 25 '35

"In their present offering [Hecht and MacArthur] have offered a good idea, but fail to come through with it. They have tried for comedy this time and the result is interesting but unamusing. To be questioned whether the picture can stand alone in any location. Not going to be of any particular help in a show. And there's only Walter Connolly to play up on the marquee. . . The photography is good, the direction keeps the actors moving around, even though they do not advance the story, and the settings are impeccable. But it all adds up to inadequate entertainment."

— Variety p18 F 12 '36

"In 'Soak the Rich' Hecht and MacArthur have produced a nine-piece of satire, but satire is hard to sell to picture fans."

— Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 6 '36

SOCIETY FEVER. O 1 '35 67min Invincible

Players: Lois Wilson, Lloyd Hughes, Hedda Hopper

Director: Frank Strayer

"This domestic comedy deals with the trials and tribulations of a large family experiencing new poverty after the death of a wealthy father. Expensive tastes and lack of business experience bring the family to the verge of eviction after nearly all the furniture has been sold from the mansion. The situation is complicated by the necessity for a formal dinner to [rich friends]." Motion Pict Daily

— Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences."

N Y Audiences Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p25 Ja 25 '36

"Unobjectionable for adults."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A. Y and C: Fair."

Par M p57 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p13 N 13 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p54 N 16 '35

Film Curb p13 N 1 '35

"This plot has had so many treatments already that the present [result] comes as a routine affair best suited for the not too discriminating."

— Film Daily p10 O 20 '35

Motion Pict Daily p9 O 28 '35

"Family comedy."

— N Exhibitor p34 O 10 '35

"[A] creditable story is marred by stilted and weak performances, with part of responsibility falling on director. . . Several mawkish scenes result when actors are permitted to stand around in dialogues at each other."

— Variety p30 N 27 '35

SONG AND DANCE MAN. Mr 13 '36 70min 20th Century-Fox

Players: Claire Trevor, Paul Kelly, Michael Whalen. Ruth Donnelly

Director: Allan Dwan

Based on the play of the same title by George M. Cohan. The plot concerns a team of vaudeville 'artists,' perpetually between egress. The man marries a ten-twenty-thirty loofer who fondly believes himself better than Astaire. The girl remains faithful to the partnership because of loyalty to the man who taught her all she knows. Then comes the girl's break through the interest of a wealthy playboy."

(Hollywood Reporter)

— Audience Suitability Ratings

"A slow-moving, cheaply constructed comedy-drama in which the principals are afforded small opportunity to utilize such talents as they may possess. Mature." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Mature. Mediocre." DAR

"Family." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Considerable drinking throughout, having little bearing on the plot, makes this picture of no particular value; just light entertainment, easily forgotten. Mature." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

— Fox W Coast Bui F 1 '36

"Family."

Great Fed of Women's Club (W Coast) Ja 22 '36

"Adolescents, 12-16: yes; children, 8-12: possible."

Motion Pict R F 6 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
SONG AND DANCE MAN—Continued

"With its flavor of backstage, this dramatic film interpretation of a successful stage play is slow-moving but interesting. FAMILY." + — Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"When George Cohan's 'Song and Dance Man' first was offered on Broadway, its theme may have been unfamiliar. Today, stage and screen speculators know it. The man who wrote this Twentieth Century-Fox presentation of it will be provided with genuine entertainment.
Their acquaintance with it will be of great interest. I have been able to find no fault with the picture. From every angle, its treatment is terrible." + Hollywood Spec p13 F 15 '36

"While the picture is slow in starting, once it begins to pick up it proves to be a colorful store of an emotional appeal as poignant as ever. Due, perhaps, to the excellent performance of Mr. Kelly, which, oddly enough, recalls that hauntings eloquent one of the late Mr.
Hal Skelly in 'Burlesque,' the piece is lifted above its rather commonplace film mold, offering entertainment that, especially in the sequences, pulls at the heartstrings... The picture, while not record-shattering in any sense, is colorful and interesting." Marguerite Tazlaar + N Y Herald Tribune p11 Mr 12 '36

"Nothing about the tale seems new, nor does much seem like the one in the 'Song and Dance Man' except of course, its Broadway sentimentality. It isn't a bad little picture, just a weak one. The chaotic script and direction, is amiable and unimpressive. This is the kind of picture which makes neither friends nor enemies." — Eileen Creelman
+ — N Y Sun p20 Mr 12 '36

"Instead of frankly consigning this story of an older Broadway to the period department (other films have done it), he has given it screen adapters have packed up its ancient properties and settings, including even a perfectly preserved vaudeville rooming house, and have set them down bodily in the present decade... Wherever dey have been keeping Mr. Cohan's play all these years, it seems to have been improperly campified and the mohos of time have [gotten] into its trunks and backdrops." B. R. C.
— N Y Times p18 Mr 12 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Good programmer based on the George M.
Cohan play. It should please in the smaller situations." + Box Office p17 F 22 '36

"Unsatisfactory screen version of the well known stage play. It is a backstage story and the general idea has been done many times.
There are a few musical numbers which are not such-a-much." — Film Curb p17 F 15 '36

"Taking its title from the George M. Cohan stage vehicle, but adapted in somewhat different form due to the absence of the central character, this is generally pleasing picture of backstage life, not much different from other yarns of the type." + Film Daily p18 Mr 12 '36

"Song and Dance Man' is solid entertainment, due for healthy grosses wherever it plays.
It tells an unpretentious, but familiar backstage story. But, in remaining true to its themes, it retains a fine sincerity that will send its audiences away completely satisfied." + Hollywood Reporter p3 F 8 '36

"This modernized version of George M.
Cohan's stage vehicle should please, although it lacks the fire of the original. + Motion Pict Daily p6 F 10 '36

"Well acted and directed, the picture, making no pretensions other than being straightaway entertainment, moves speedily as it sticks continually to its basic plot. It is family type entertainment that provides many showmanship angles that can be easily adapted to arouse patron interest." + Motion Pict Herald p62 F 22 '36

"Satisfactory programmer of the back stage type which should fit in nicely on any double bill. Picture has a chance to stand by itself in less important spots." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 8 '36

SONG OF THE DAMNED. See Escape from Devil's Island

SONG OF THE SADDLE. F 22 '36 63min First national

Players: Charles Middleton, George Ernest.
Esotna Granville, Alma Lloyd. Dick Foran
Director: Louis King

"A cowboy Robin Hood returns to the frontier village where he was raised and the death of his father, killed years before by the cruel and merciless boss of the town." Jt Estimates

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Stirring horsemanship, lifting tunes of the open spaces and stage-coach hold-ups lend reality to the homestaging days of the '50's.
Possible for family." Call Congress of Par & Teachers

"Good direction, a well chosen cast, lovely scenery, fine photography and beautiful horses are combined to make this 'Western' melodrama good entertainment. Good for the family and junior matinees.
Nat Council of Jewish Women

"A very beautifully photographed Western, filled with action and good singing. The fact that the hero takes the law into his own hands, even if it is with great provocation, will make this film doubtful for juvenile

"This picture of the good old pioneer days has all the elements of a good Western, and is capably acted and directed. FAMILY." + Gen Fed of Women's Club (W Coast)
D 16 '35

"There is a real plot, a romance, and better than usual acting in this Western, and, while ethically it is unwise and unlawful to take the law in one's own hands, the time and plot make such transgressions understandable.
Interesting [example] of its type. Family, (University Women and New England Women consider it questionable for children.)" + Jt Estimates p15 '35

"Objectionable in part." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

*A Y and C: Good Western." Par M p57 Mr 36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Couple of songs add to enjoyment of picture. Story is a bit better than the usual Western. Direction is well handled and it is a well done production." + Film Curb p6 Ja 4 '35

"Here is a Western to delight the fans who like villains thoroughly bad, heroes triumphantly good and plenty of thrilling riding.
For good measure, there are two catchy meloidies for Dick Foran." + Motion Pict Daily p7 D 24 '35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; —+ Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
"Better than his first Western, new hero Dick Foran indicates in 'Song of the Saddle' that he must be considered soon in the front outdoor ranks. Estimate: good Western."

"Direction by Louis King is ably adapted to material. He romps the picture along with swift action, never relaxes suspense and [gives it] as fine an assortment of riding, chases, battles, hand-to-hand encounters, simple comedy and heroics as the Simon-pure Western fan could demand. All these elements are lavishly provided and neatly assembled in William Jacobs' story, handled for average audience entertainment without ever becoming too heavy."

Variety (Hollywood) p8 D 20 '35

SPANISH CAPE MYSTERY. O 25 '35 73min Republic
Players: Donald Cook, Helen Twelvetrees
Director: Lewis D. Collins
Based on the novel of same title by Ellery Queen. It "shows up the stupidity of the local investigators in solving the strange murders that were perpetrated at Spanish Cape." (Wkly Guide)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p21 Ja 25 '35

"A: Mediocre; Y: Perhaps; C: No."
Christian Century p155 Ja 15 '36

"Good. Suitable for mature audiences." Internat Fed of Cath Alumnae

"Ellery Queen, famous detective of fiction is here depicted as a smart-aleck of the most offensive type. 12-16: passable; 8-12: little interest." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

"— Fox W Coast Bul N 16 '35

"Fair. Adults."
Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A and Y: Good; C: Doubtful."
Par M p57 Mr '36

"Family."
Wkly Guide O 12 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"Mystery with flippancy appears to be the favorite movie formula of the season. 'The Spanish Cape Mystery' seems determined to apply the methods of knockabout farce to a succession of grisly homicides, but succeeds in being neither scary nor diverting."
M. E. P. — Boston Transcript p4 N 25 '35

Christian Science Monitor p13 N 23 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p50 N 16 '35

"Holds the attention from start to finish and has been given a high grade production."
Film Curb p8 O 15 '35

"Competent acting by competent cast, story which holds interest till very end, dialogue which sparkles with urban wit are features. Family mystery drama."
N Y Exhibitor p34 O 25 '35

"Fairly intriguing detective mystery."
Variety p39 N 20 '35

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor

SPECIAL AGENT. S 11 '35 75min Warner
Players: Bette Davis, George Brent, Ricardo Cortez, Jack LaRue
Director: William Keighley

"Federal conviction of a powerful public enemy is presented from a new angle in a series of thrilling episodes. High moral standards and a hearty respect for Government methods are maintained throughout." Jt Estimates

Audience Suitability Ratings
"A: Good of kind; Y: Unwholesome; C: No."
Christian Century p155 O 22 '35

"A competent cast supports the fine acting of the principals. Mature." Jt Estimates S 1 '35

Mo Film Bul p156 D '35

Nat Bd of R M S '35

"Family."
Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"A: Tense G-man film; Y: Unsuitable; C: No."
Par M p57 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"Well acted and vigorously produced. It belongs to the short tradition of its school and it should have proved to be an entertaining, a passably good melodramatic fun, but it might have been something more than that had it not run into a curious ethical handicap." Richard Watts, Jr.
N Y Herald Tribune p6 O 21 '35

"A fast, well-made story of another mobster biting the dust... Special Agent' although no 'G-Man,' is an exciting gangster tale." Eileen Creelman

— N Y Sun p22 S 19 '35
Springfield Republican p6c O 20 '35

"A workmanlike, journalistic melodrama, made by specialists in this type of entertainment."
Time p29 S 30 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p60 N 16 '35

SPLENDOR. N 23 '35 77min Goldwyn-United artists Players: Miriam Hopkins, Joel McCrea, Helen Westley, Katharine Alexander, Paul Cavanaugh
Director: Elliott Nugent

A proud but penniless old New York family hopes that the son will lift them out of poverty by marrying an heiress. When he brings home a poor little Miss Nobody, the family contrive for her to exert her charms on a wealthy cousin who helps her husband. People talk and the girl leaves. Eventually her husband finds a job and goes back to her.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory. Not recommended because of subject matter or treatment." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p21 Ja 25 '36

"A: Depends on taste; Y: Unsuitable; C: No."
Christian Century p63 Ja 8 '36

"Miss Crothers' witty dialogue and the exceptionally fine acting by the whole cast add..."
Trade Paper Reviews

"Outstanding is the fine performance of Miriam Hopkins who is at all times convincing in a difficult role."
+ Box Office p25 N 30 '35

"It is smart and sophisticated, and presented with all the attention to lavish production values that the Broadway play gives. These assets may make up for the fact that all the drama is motivated by the selfish conspiracies of a group of rich people, not troubles at all from the point of view of the average moviegoer."
+ Motion Pict Daily p01 N 19 '35

"Adult, melodrama."
N Y Exhibitor p55 D 10 '35

"The production will be a delight to those who can appreciate a perfect ensemble in a well written vehicle."
+ Variety p16 N 27 '35

SPY 77. Ja 15 '36 76min First division

Players: Greta Nissen, Don Alvarado, Carl Diehl. Lester Matthews. Esne Percy

Director: Arthur Woods

This film was made in England. "The romance of an Italian woman spy and an Austrian officer ends in tragedy, as the Austrian officer does his duty for his country."
(Motion Pict Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Unobjectionable for adults."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Esne Percy contributes an excellently drawn characterization in the comparatively minor role of Bluentz, a very mysterious person indeed. Short and stocky, with a large moonlike face and amazingly expressive eyes and lips, he repeatedly steals scenes from the principals. But even Mr. Percy cannot compensate entirely for the familiarity of the story and its rather dull treatment." T. M. F.
+ + N Y Times p15 F 10 '36

"To come right out and say so, it isn't bad entertainment of its kind. But then, neither is it good. It is just enough of it to warrant a fairly fine performance by Carl Diehl in the role of an Austrian officer who is unjustly accused of selling war secrets to the Italians, and who, instead of committing suicide according to army traditions, becomes a spy to exonerate himself. 'Spy 77' would pass completely unobserved. . . All of which is the testimony of one who found parts of 'Spy 77' exciting but not exciting enough to recommend the film wholeheartedly." William Boehnel
+ + N Y World-Telegram p33 F 11 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p23 Ja 4 '36

"A bit above the average English-made film."
+ + Film Curb p12 F 15 '35

"Fairly entertaining spy drama with familiar plot only for the popular stars."
+ Film Daily p7 F 11 '36

"This film has an occasional note of suspense, and a fair portion of action, against a background of secret service intrigue during the World War."
+ Motion Pict Daily p5 F 12 '36

"The plot is stereotyped in its handling of World War espionage and differs from the usual only in its ending. . . The action is slow for the most part, with occasional sequences of activity. The acting is good but the cast is comparatively unknown and presents a selling problem."

"Humor is strikingly missing from picture. While not overly dramatic, the business-like workings of the intelligence departments of two nations at war and the grimmer side of a big conflict are kept constantly in the foreground. As a moving tale of warfare, Arthur Woods, who concocted the story and also directed, has succeeded. In addition to a cohesive story that dovetails even on finer details, Director Woods has handled megaphone masterfully. Element of suspense is held from middle of story clear through to ultimate capture of Spv 77. Few obvious film heroics have been employed."

Variety p18 F 12 '35

STARS OVER BROADWAY. N 23 '35 89min Warner
Director: William Keighley
Music and lyrics: Harry Warren. Al Dubin
Dances: Busby Berkeley. Bobby Connolly

From a novelty, Thin Air, by Mildred Cram. It depicts the rise to operatic fame of an ex-busboy named Harry. His career includes a period of singing in a night club and over the radio before he is finally successful.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Very good."
Endorsed Motion Pict D '35

"Smooth direction, fast moving action, three destined-to-be-popular songs, and two stunning feminine personalities lend quality to this story. Adults and 8-18; very good. Possible for family and junior matinees." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Mature: 14-18." D AR

"Family audiences." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Constructive and wholesome. Family." So Calif Council of Church Women

"Family." Mrs T G Winter

"The whole thing is geared to a fast pace and should please anyone looking for a light entertainment. It provides a good deal of beautiful music but evidently Melton's singing and the rendition of classical arias are not supposed to be the chief attraction. 12-16; entertaining; 8-15: amusing but mature."
Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

Fox W Coast Bul N 16 '35

"Family."
Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) N 12 '35

"Though the story is treated in a serious manner, delightful music, romance, and light comedy sequences make it entertaining for the average audience. James Melton's voice dominates the picture. Very good for mature family."
Pt Estimates N 1 '35

Mo Film Bul p200 D '35

"Good. Family."
Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"A and Y: Entertaining; C: Mature but amusing."
Par M p57 Mr '36

Exceptionally Good; Good; Fair; Mediocre; Poor; Exceptionally Poor

Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35
"Family."
Wkly Guide O 16 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
Boston Transcript p4 D 14 '35
Christian Science Monitor p13 D 7 '35
Reviewed by Marquardt Tazelaar
N Y Herald Tribune p18 N 15 '35
Reviewed by Eileen Creelman
N Y Sun p19 N 14 '35

"This is Mr. Melton's first picture and there is no reason to feel it will be his last. Brought into the film fold chiefly because of his possession of a mellow tenor and a pleasant smile, he proves within the limited opportunities of his role that he can handle a comic scene and roll a romantic eye fully as well as he sings 'Celeste Aida' or 'Carry Me Back to the Lone Prairie.'" F S N

N Y Times p17 N 14 '35
Spring'd Republican p6 Ja 16 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p27 N 23 '35

"If the picture did nothing more than bring James Melton to film audiences it would have accomplished its purpose."

Film Curb p15 N 15 '35
"Good musical entertainment."

Film Daily p7 N 5 '35

"The range of musical numbers, including 'Celeste Aida' and 'Ave Maria,' as well as popular tunes, should make the picture satisfactory to most audiences."

Motion Pict Daily p5 O 29 '35
Motion Pict Herald p61 N 3 '35

"Family musical."
N Y Exhibitor p36 N 25 '35

Variety p18 N 20 '35

STEAMBOAT ROUND THE BEND. S 6 '35 80min 20th century-Fox
Director: John Ford

Adapted from the novel of same title by Ben Lucien Burman. "As captain of the 'Clarence,' a ramshackle old tub, Will Rogers is involved in a romance in which Anne Shirley and John McGuire are the principals. Their happiness is threatened when McGuire kills a man in the girl's defense, gives himself up on Rogers' advice and is condemned. The spectacular event of the story shows a steamboat race down the Mississippi river." (Spring'd Republican)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

Mo Film Bul p150 D '35

"A, Y and C: Excellent."
Par M p57 Mr '38

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"In the rich comic tradition of Mark Twain and those great days on the Mississippi." Andre Semnwald

N Y Times p17 S 20 '35
STEAMBOAT ROUND THE BEND—Continued
"Some of the excitement and some of the comedy of life along the Mississippi in the old days.
+ New Yorker p4 O 12 '35
+ Springf'd Republican p6c O 20 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p55 N 16 '35

(4) STEEL AND STONE. Ja 25 '36 11min Vitaphone
Players: Milton J. Cross
Director: E. M. Newman
"This number of the 'Our Own United States' series covers the construction of bridges and tunnels. . . There are excellent views of the Key West spans, the Pulaski Skyway, the Huey Long bridge in New Orleans and others." Motion Pict Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Family."
Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36
"Excellent educational short. Suggested for schools. Family Pict Guide"
+ Wkly Guide Ja 18 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"The idea is a novel one for the screen and should find general acceptance."
+ Box Office p26 F 1 '36

"Skillfully narrated by Milton J. Cross, this will find favor in all sections of the nation, for there is no territory that is not represented with some famous example of a bridge, tunnel or highway."
+ Film Daily p7 Ja 24 '36

"Aside from its educational angle the film is both interesting and entertaining. Should be well received."
+ Motion Pict Daily p10 Ja 27 '36

"This subject should please, if only on the merits of its geographical and historical values."
— + Motion Pict Herald p8 Ja 28 '36

"Good."
+ N Y Exhibitor p41 Ja 25 '36

STORM OVER THE ANDES. S 16 '35 84min Universal Players: Jack Holt, Mona Barrie, Antonio Moreno
Director: Christy Cabanne
"A soldier of fortune, an intrepid flyer, joins the Bolivian forces to defeat the ace flyer of the opposition. At a chance Fiesta meeting, he falls in love with the wife of his commanding officer. His mistake is rectified when, in a thrilling aerial encounter, he saves the officer's life, narrowly escaping with his own." JT Estimates

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. General approval."
N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36
"A: Elementary; Y: Doubtful; C: No." Christian Century p538 O 23 '35

"Interesting photography. Adults."
+ JT Estimates S 15 '35
Mo Film Bul p151 D '35

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

"Fair. Adults & young adults."
Motion Pict Guide Mr 36
"Family."
Nat Bd of R M S '35

"A good cast prove insufficient to surmount the mediocrity of this rambling tale of aerial conflict and a triangle love affair. Family."
— + Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"There is a good deal of color and adventurous bravery to the story. . . . "Storm Over the Andes" is really very satisfying."
+ Springf'd Republican p6 D 13 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p60 N 16 '35
Film Curb p10 O 15 '35

STORMY. N 11 '35 68min Universal
Players: Noah Beery, Jr. Jean Rogers. J. Farrell MacDonald
Director: Louis Friedlander
From a novel of same title by Cherry Wilson. The "story of the struggle of a young homeless boy to keep and raise a wild colt, that he feels belongs to him." (Gen Fed of Women's Clubs)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. General approval."
N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36
"A: Good of kind; Y: Good; C: Exciting but good."
Christian Century p583 D 18 '35

"While there is bitter conflict and gun play as in all Westerns the fine understanding direction, the natural and realistic acting of the leads, and the intelligent work of the beautiful horse, Rex, makes this a delightful and entertaining picture for all ages. Family and junior matinee."
+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)
O 5 '35
Mo Film Bul p176 N '35

"Very good. Family."
Motion Pict Guide Mr '36
"Family and junior matinees."
Nat Council of Jewish Women O 1 '35

"A, Y and C: Splendid Western."
Par M p57 Mr '36

"With a background of the Great Painted Desert of Arizona, attention is focused upon Rex, the wild horse, who usurps the lion's share of the action. Good photography and direction."
Sel Motion Pict N 1 '32

"A delightful and unusual picture, filmed in the beautiful Painted Desert. Family. Junior matinee."
+ Wkly Guide O 5 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"The elusive qualities that make 'Stormy' the distinctive little picture it is cannot be recreated on paper. Full of photographic gems and set in a country that lends itself beautifully to the camera, the picture is best remembered for those bits that have nothing to do with the plot. The wild stampede scene alone makes 'Stormy' a worth-while risk."
+ Liberty p22 N 16 '35
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p60 N 16 '35

"Family Western."

N Y Editor p35 O 25 '35

"Except for an effective stampede of horses in the final reel, 'Stormy' has nothing to disinguish it from run-of-the-mill, sagebrush sagas of minor importance." + Variety p19 D 11 '35

STORY OF LOUIS PASTEUR. F 22 '36 55mmin Warner

Players: Paul Muni, Josephine Hutchinson. Anita Louise, Donald Woods

Director: William Dieterle

"The story is of Louis Pasteur, French chemist, whose researches revolutionized theory and practice of medicine and medical science. Moving in an aura of deep human interest, it merely tells of a man's ambitions and accomplishments, disappointments, fear of failure, the motion toward a purpose and the triumph that is his when the heretofore bitterly opposed world of science recognizes him and his works." Motion Pict Herald

Audience Suitability Ratings

"While this reviewer is not sufficiently acquainted with the life of Pasteur to pass judgment upon the historical accuracy of the picture, it is safe to say that the producers would not be at all likely to take advantage even of dramatic license in a picture of this kind. Paul Muni gives a highly satisfactory rendering of the title role." + Bks & Films F '36

"Class of General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 23 '36

"Beautifully presented, this film contributes a new and significant phase of scenario development. In its conclusive evidence that the lives of great figures of the past can prove as gloriously thrilling film material as any concocted in the Hollywood fiction mills. . . . Excellently directed and expertly photographed. Adults; 5-13: excellent." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Abundant with charm, romantic appeal and the thrill of adventure this glimpse into the life of a great scientist makes outstanding and valuable entertainment. Perfection on detail, costumes of the day and clever, beautiful stage settings give this story a careful research." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Paul Muni does not act the part of Pasteur—he IS Pasteur;—no higher tribute can be paid an actor. The sympathy and understanding that he injects into this picture stimulate the others in the cast and the audience will feel that they are a part of the loyal household watching jealously the hero as he comes to the beloved chemist rather than doubt and humiliating. This is the cost outstanding production of the year because of its biographical and historical values, the careful research made that he is authentically, the careful choice of actors, the beauty of the photography, and the definiteness of the direction by William Dieterle. Family—mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Careful settings and photography enhance this rarely satisfying film which is notable for its human appeal and definite dramatic structure. Family." Nat Soc of New England Women

"This picture should be seen so that the present generation can realize that the now common protective measures have only been attained by courage, hard work and a determination to benefit and relieve mankind. Family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — + Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

"This film has beauty, significance and nobleness, and at the same time is absorbing in its story and in its atmosphere. In fact, the story is one that should not be missed—one that glorifies the finer qualities in human life—as well as captures the imagination. Many boys and girls will find it understandable by children."

Mrs T. G. Winter

"Paul Muni's interpretation of Pasteur is very genuine; the scientist seems to live again. The story is convincing, as is the case, and the direction shows unusual understanding and subtlety. It is a story which challenges the imagination of the child, and endeavor for youth of today who may carry on his high standards in the name of humanity. Adorable performances splendid; children: good but mature." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

+ + Fox W Coast Bul D 11 '35

"The story, sets, direction and acting are of the highest order, while the seemingly difficult theme engrossing and full of dramatic situations. Paul Muni gives another of his marvelous performances and is given strong support by each member of the cast. The whole production is very thoughtfully, artistically and sympathetically presented with especially beautiful and interesting photography. Family—mature." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) D 4 '36

"A valuable chronicle of the indefatigable pioneer. The romance between Pasteur's lovely daughter and his young assistant lends color. Excellently directed and expertly photographed. Family—mature." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A: Extraordinarily fine film depicting drama of scientist's fight against disease and ignorance; Y: Thrilling and educational; C: Mature but educational." Par M p57 Mr '36

Sel Motion Pict Jc 1 '36

"Intensely human and a genuinely uplifting picture. Recommended for school, library and church use. Worth being kept permanently available. Recommended to the Committee on Exceptional Films by the Family-junior." + + Vwky Guide Ja 15 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The acting, not only of Mr. Muni as Pas- teur, but the rest of the cast holds to a high standard. . . . The merit of the story lies in Pasteur himself, his work and his struggles; and the most significant of the acting, quite properly is that of Mr. Muni." E. F. M. + Boston Transcript p1 F 15 '36

"Paul Muni throughout this picture, actually seems to embody the spirit as well as the physical likeness of Louis Pasteur; he contributes what must be acclaimed as an unforgettable screen portrayal. . . . No dry history or routine character sketch this—It is vivid romance and genuine drama." Laura Elston H. C. M p16 F '36

"The motion picture enters still another new field, and Catholics the world over will rejoice at the selection of Pasteur as the subject of the first biographical film depicting the life of a great man of science. . . . From the viewpoint of entertainment, 'The Story of Louis Pasteur' is substantially a gripping picture from the outset and holding attention by its human- ness." J. P. Cunningham + Chicago Sun p565 Ja 24 '36

"It is to be included among the honor films of the new year." + + Lit Digest p20 F 1 '36

"A series of triumphs is doubtless less dramatic than a single big one toward which everything has tended, but that is merely..."
STORY OF LOUIS PASTEUR—Continued
another way of saying that "The Story of Louis Pasteur" is not quite so sustained a success as "The Prisoner of Shark Island."  "Mark Van Doren
NATION p233 Mr 4 '36

"The first criticism is that the story is un-dramatic; that Pasteur's conflict is either against an intangible enemy, as the Yeomen's beards of the academy, or against a group of characteristics that are too overdrawn, dull and fatuous for a good bit of entertainment.  Pasteur's character is of drawing in general: Pasteur is too good and meek, his wife is too patient and gentle-souled, his scenes are invariable as to be tiresome.  Most of the fault, that is, seems to lie in the story and dialogue, plus the way story and dialogue were in several instances invested in weak screen characters, plus the way William Dieterle as director did little to repair this."  Otis Ferguson
— + New Repub p363 F 5 '36

"A dignified and at times thrilling biographical film.  It may not be Muni's best, but it is his best performance to date.  The film has its faults—its structure is occasionally not unlike the antiseptics used in surgical operations.  Still vastly superior to the usual output."
+ New Theatre p24 Mr '36

"The Story of Louis Pasteur," written and directed by Louis N. Collings and Eileen Creelman, has a quality of heroism and nobility that actually makes you proud of the petty, hapless and bewildered human race.  If by any unfortunate chance the idea should get about that "The Story of Louis Pasteur," because it deals with adventure and romance, rather than in romantic homicide, was a pedantic and laborious work that deserved merely a polite attention, it would be a mistake.  Pasteur, as it was a fine educational thing for the children to see, then a great error will be made by criticism and publicity.  For the truth of the matter is that the picture is far more exciting and heart-warming than the run of films celebrating presumably less cerebral topics."
— Richart Watts, Jr.  + + N Y Herald Tribune p8 F 10 '36

"[It] is of course a picture that should be seen by everyone from pre-school children up to children eager for adventure.  "The Story of Louis Pasteur," a dramatic show as well as a noble human melodrama, is decidedy on the must list."  Eileen Creelman
+ + N Y Sun p24 F 10 '36

"The Story of Louis Pasteur" is an excellent story about a great scientist as it is a fine play, dignified in subject, dramatic in treatment and brilliantly played by Paul Muni, Fritz Leiber, Josephine Hutchinson and many other members of the cast.  Pasteur's life is warm and vital, of itself.  It has lost none of that warmth through Mr. Muni's sensitive characterization, through the gifted direction of William Dieterle and the talents of the perfect cast.  It may not be an adventure picture and probably it was not the primary motive—of a Hollywood studio to create a film which is, at the same time, the biography of a man, but "The Story of Louis Pasteur" is truly that."
— F. S. Nugent
+ + New York Times p15 F 10 '36

"Not only is 'The Story of Louis Pasteur' a gallant film adventure, it is also as exciting and thrilling in its own way as 'G-Men,' and I have had a hard time explaining it as such.  "[It] illustrates conscientiously and is one of the world's greatest benefactors with great dignity and respectability."
+ William Boehm new York World-Telegram p6 F 10 '36

"High among the very great of history whom I should rank as the least likely subjects for screen material would be Louis Pasteur.  It would not have occurred to me that a life dedicated to chemical research would supply those incidents one thinks essential to drama.  Warner Brothers have apparently had no such hesitation, alleging from "The Story of Louis Pasteur" the first in this new category to be given, I can well imagine that they can unearth and dramatize the existence of any saint or scholar that ever lived.  . . . Paul Muni gives a plausible picture of the great French scientist but it is in characterization than that recently shown on the screen by Sacha Guitry, in a negative French dissertation.  "So John Mosher
+ New Yorker p77 F 22 '36

"To date, the best Paul Muni has done on the screen.  This film will undoubtedly start a trend toward straightforward biographical stories, as indeed it should."
+ Stage p9 F 36

"So well has Paul Muni caught the spirit which immunized the great French scientist against despair that even cinemagoers who know they are fanatic will not cavil at the introduction of a villain, Dr. Charbonnet (Fritz Leiber); at the 18-year postponement of Pasteur's paralytic attack; at other slight tinkerings with the facts.  Josephine Hutchinson as Pasteur's unsensible and understanding wife is likewise without flaw, helps to make Muni's interpretation of the man complete."
+ Time p4 F 17 '36

Trade-Paper Reviews

"A sincere offering, done with a fine touch of effect, acting and photography.  . . . Paul Muni is superb in the title role."
+ Boxoffice p29 D 7 '35

"Undoubtedly one of the prize productions of the year.  . . . Pasteur's story is given with masterly production, which is destined for something finer and grander than just box-office appeal.  It will have that, of course, but it is a picture.  It is such an impressive reminder of conditions, as they existed in 1860, in regard to human, animal and vegetable diseases, and there is so much more to it than just a picture.  It is a story that grips from the start."
+ Film Daily p8 N 23 '35

"Excellent entertainment!  Without resorting to the usual chaparron, they have produced a picture which, because of its simplicity, should be understood, appreciated, and enjoyed by everybody.  Outstanding for all, especially for all families."
+ + Harrison's Reports F 15 '36

"So absorbing is this theme that the film is sure to win terrific word-of-mouth endorsement.
. . . Paul Muni lends intensity to the role of a man whose fight against careless doctors and over-hastily used instruments brought first laughter, then tears, and finally the highest gratitude from orthodox medicals. The story and science are by Sheldon Ewbank and Pierre Collings rearranges the events of Pasteur's life for dramatic emphasis, but gives a faithful portrayal of the man and the main events."
+ + Motion Picture Daily p6 N 21 '35

"In this picture the screen makes a great departure from prosaic formula.  The story is simple—the philosopher Paul Muni is not a single trace of theatrical artificiality.  What is seen is drama, expertly acted, directed with feeling, unfolding and spreading its power to create and hold interest immediately griped the preview audience and kept it in hushed silence all the way through. Enthusiastic, ap dpreciative applause broke out at the conclu dion. Here is a picture the worth of which is almost certain to impress both class and mass alike.

- Motion Pict Herald p58 N 30 '35

- "Here is a production that will not only stand as a monumental achievement from Warner Brothers, but which will be added to that outstanding list which includes shows known throughout the picture world. In a season where good pictures have been many, this stands out with the best. Everyone—studio, performer, writer, director—have cooperated to produce, an A-1 show from every angle. Family drama.

- N Y Exhibitor p53 D 10 '35

- "Here is another splendid film, carefully and intelligently produced and a credit all around. Whether or not it will repay the energy and coin expended on its making by way of box office is a moot question. Chances are that it will be no record-breaker by way of grosses, but it should do a fair amount of business and will get good breaks from critics plus word of mouth to balance. Certainty of Europe

- Variety p16 F 12 '36

---

STREAMLINE EXPRESS. O 29 '35 Timin Mascot

Players: Evelyn Venable, Victor Jory

Director: Leonard Fields

"The scene is laid on a new streamline train during its record transcontinental run and the plot concerns a young, runaway, her fiancée, a crook and several others." Nat Bd of R M

---

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p32 N 23 '35

Film Curb p6 O 15 '35

---

STRIKE ME PINK. Ja 17 '36 99min United artists

Players: Eddie Cantor, Ethel Merman, Sally Eilers, William Frawley, Brian Donlevy

Director: Norman Taurog

Based on the novel, Dreamland, by Clarence Budington Kelland. "Cantor is cast as a meek campus tailor who acquires courage from a correspondence school course and goes on to manage an amusement park. Complications are provided by the efforts of Brian Donlevy as head of a gambling ring, to install slot machines in the story thread is used mostly to motivate an exciting chase which climaxes and ends the picture." (Motion Pict Daily)

---

Audience Suitability Ratings

Class A. Approved for adult audiences. N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide p71 Ja 29 '36

"Unobjectionable for adults." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"This is a well-written farce, developed according to tried and true formulae, such as the 'chase' and the 'custard-pie throwing' of old silent films. The dance ensembles, beautifully staged, especially in the black and white chorus number, are subjects for unusual photographic effects. Characters are sympathetic but Cantor fans will enjoy his farcical fun." S. M. Mullen

- Scenic Guide p30 Mr 7 '36

- Wkly Guide Ja 25 '36

---

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

- "It all depends upon whether one is a rabid Cantor fan, or whether he is interested in this particular picture of his will appeal. Calculated to draw audiences who want this easy-to-watch-without-straightforward intelligence. Ethel Merman can not, of course, be the kind of singing I prefer. . . . Another defect in my screen inclinations is that I demand some suggestion of real emotion in even the roughest comedy. Here we have a gang of extremely villainous villains parading through the picture without even being given reason why the au

- "For instance, if you enjoyed the pictures Harold Lloyd made ten years or so ago and wish to repeat the thrill his 'Safety Last' gave you, by all means see 'Strike Me Pink' for it does all the Lloyd stuff over again, with just enough change in the mechanics involved to give it a new touch of novelty. Ethel Merman could not get where she is with her singing if there were no demand for it. I concede that, in the way of singing, Cantor fans will be the kind of singing I prefer. . . . Another defect in my screen inclinations is that I demand some suggestion of real emotion in even the roughest comedy. Here we have a gang of extremely villainous villains parading through the picture without even being given reason why the authorities should not be appealed to. . . . Another weakness in my equipment as a critic is my inability to appreciate pictures that present values for its whole audience and not for that part of it that is recruited on Broadway. Strike Me Pink is a picture of that kind, not for Main Street, where the bulk of its support should be expected from." Hollywood Expo p18 Ja 15 '36

- "Mr. Cantor depends on action for his best pranks and in 'Strike Me Pink' there is no complaint because of inaction. He is never still and, therefore, the picture is the best he ever made, and the funniest." Lit Digest p19 Ja 25 '36

- "'Strike Me Pink' is at its best when it reaches its climax and goes in heroically and unashamedly for a splendid finale in the best tradition of the immortal Keystone comedies. There is Cantor's theme and the police dogs jump into the air before starting off, but the glorious tradition of the chase, which is the finest farce, everything from the Okla

- "Eddie Cantor deliberates upon an important question. "The Mouse?"" Ja 17 '36

"and, by the end of 'Strike Me Pink,' is able to answer joyfully that he is a man. This pleasant and funny is filled with the laughter of a Goldwyn musical and the excitement of a melodrama. Directed by Norman Taurog as slapstick it is for the most part, mad and merry comedy. It takes a good while get

- "Once it's really started, however, 'Strike Me Pink' goes into a whirlwind finish, a wild, gigantically funny, crazily exciting chase sequence, with the diminutive Eddie pursued by cops, other police, men and acting like Keystone cops, through a lunatic amusement park. The comedy is not for the dainty Mr. Mullen's taste, but his merriest, but the dialogue writers were not always inspired. The gags as well as the wise cracks are sometimes both forced and obvious. Only the speed of the film and the skill of Mr. Cantor keep the film going smoothly through these sequences. Mr. 'Strike Me Pink' is grand fun, one of Mr. Cantor’s best." Eileen Creelman
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

STRIKE ME PINK—Continued

— N Y Sun p19 Ja 17 '36

"[It has] considerably less hilarity than we have come to expect of the annual Goldwyn-Cantor shows. ‘Strike Me Pink,’ the latest shift from the Ziegfeld of the Pudgie, appears to lack some of his customary expansiveness and much of the comic invention that has made him America’s father of five one of the screen’s most likable funny men. Perhaps this is an ungrateful way of summing up a lavish cinema enterprise which does, after all, present several extended moments of low comedy, some handsomely executed dance spectacles and the always enjoyable singing of Ethel Merman and of Mr. Cantor himself." F. S. Nugent

— N Y Times p15 Ja 17 '36

"[It begins] in a leisurely fashion, picks up in its middle portions and ends in a riot of laughs. The houseful of guffaws is produced by one of the most successful of all cinema devices—the chase. ... Here is a somewhat inventive situation and probably hilariously for an otherwise amusing, unimportant but luxuriously produced and sometimes funny musical comedy. Perhaps Mr. Cantor had not done better with more amusing material in some of his previous films this column would not be so lukewarm in its praise of ‘Strike Me Pink,’ which, after all, is as good as most musicals and better than some of them." William Koenen

— N Y World-Telegram p21 Ja 17 '36

"I must say at once, lest I misguide the world, that ‘Strike Me Pink’ is by no means as funny as [A Night at the Opera.] [With its acrobatics, whether actual Cantor contortions or tricky camera stunts, and general activity this is a superlative film. The wild and crazy comedy of the old school. Old school with new machinery. Science having advanced, so has the scope of the Sennett technique. The classic Sennett chase is here developed, one would think, to its final heights. It’s on the grand scale, if anything ever was." John Mosher

— New Yorker p63 Ja 25 '36

"What makes ‘Strike Me Pink’ slightly superior to Cantor’s more recent predecessors in the series of pictures made by Cantor and Goldwyn is not so much the elaborate production numbers, in which real unmodified vaudeville acts are used as function as decoratively as usual, but the activities of an animated young woman named Ethel Merman." Time p47 Ja 27 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p33 Ja 18 '36

"It has everything that a high class musical should have. If it isn’t the best picture Eddie Cantor has ever made we’d like to see the one that was better. The star in perfect form registers every moment he is on the screen and he’s in evidence most of the time." — N Y Sun p16 Ja 15 '36

"This is one of the best Eddie Cantor pictures. It has plenty of comedy, action, dance numbers and some catchy songs." — Exhibitor 17 Ja 14 '36

"Good! Eddie Cantor romps through the picture in his usual comic fashion. ... Suitable for all. [Family.]" — Variety 17 Ja 14 '36

"Eddie Cantor’s latest effort ... provides smash entertainment. The musical numbers are well spotted and photographed with unusual pizazz making the dance routines seem new, Miss Merman’s first number, ‘High and Low,’ is made particularly effective by unusual camera angles. . . . The screen play . . . occasionally crossed the border of strict good taste in dialogue and situation, but is a capable job for its part." + Motion Pict Daily p4 Ja 11 '36

"There are lots of things to amuse and sell in this picture. . . . There are instances in dialogue and action, particularly a torrid dance number and one trick chorus sequence, that may require delicate handling in spots. The mildly extended speed of the first half of the picture is more than equalized by the dizzy pace it takes in the concluding phases." + Motion Pict Herald p35 Ja 25 '36

"Many and varied gags, majority of which land, combine with a set of good songs and individual performances to make Eddie Cantor’s latest good entertainment, Cantor is aces all the way. In some instances he’s actually cuter, but he isn’t singing so much in ‘Strike Me Pink,’ having only two numbers." + Variety p14 Ja 22 '36

"‘Strike Me Pink’ comes near topping Eddie Cantor’s previous picture efforts, due mainly to an excellent screen play and Norman Taurog’s direction. . . . Samuel Goldwyn has given Mr. Cantor ‘Pink’ and some Nothing to make it entertainment. Special work done on the finish, a chase sequence on a rollercoaster, packed with thrills, looks like a heavy investment but was worth whatever it cost." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 19 '36

SUICIDE SQUAD. D 25 '35 60min Puritan
Players: Norman Foster. Joyce Compton
Director: Raymond K. Johnson

"An exciting story of the firemen who daily face death." Wkly Guide

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Worthless; Y: Poor; C: No." — Christian Century p207 Ja 29 '36

Nat Bd of R M Ja. '36

"A, Y and C: Revealing drama." — Par M p57 Mr '36

Wkly Guide Ja 4 '36

UN Sentinel

Players: Buck Jones. Dorothy Dix. Charles Middleton
Director: Ray Taylor

"Buck Jones saves the granddaughter of a rancher from an unwilling marriage by exposing her dance as a rustler." Endorsed Motion Pict.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Good." — Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36

"Expert rough riding, beautiful scenery and a well-knit plot combine to make particularly good entertainment. Family." — E Coast Preview Committee p57 Ja 18 '36

+ Fox W Coast Bul Ja 4 '36

"A story of the old lawless cow country, interesting, with many good types. Family." — Film Daily Ja 14 '36

"A, Y and C: Western melodrama." — Par M p57 Mr '36

Sel Motion Pict Ja 1 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Family Western. Good." + N Y Exhibitor p34 Ja 10 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
SUPERSPEED. S 1 '35 57min Columbia.
Players: Norman Foster, Florence Rice, Mary Carlisle, Arthur Hohl
Director: Lambert Hillyer
A gang of crooks convice against a young college football hero who is the inventor of a superspeed device. They damage the test car which he is to drive. Two girls, one the daughter of a motor car company owner and the other a tom-boy motorboat enthusiast provide romantic interest.

_Audience Suitability Ratings_
Mo Film Bul p176 N '35

_Trade Paper Reviews_
"Just a fair program picture with main weakness being in story idea. With a story that is very much of routine construction, this production never rises to much of a grade as entertainment.

+ — Film Daily p10 D 2 '35
"Entertaining. Please despite acting and casting flaws. Excellent supporting cast goes far in making something of run-of-mill story."
+ — Variety p15 D 4 '35

_SWEET SURRENDER. N 25 '35 77min Universal_ Players: Frank Parker, Tamara
Director: Monte Brice
"Getting mixed up with blackmailers and suave crooks on [the] S. S. Normandie leads a noted tenor and famous dancer to well-paid engagements in Europe and also a wedding.
Box Office

_Audience Suitability Ratings_
"Class A. Approved for adult audiences."
N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
_Cath News_ p21 Ja 25 '35
"A: Waste of time; Y: Poor; C: No."
Christian Century p150 Ja 22 '36
"The plot is ordinary and lacks cohesion and for no good reason some propaganda is inserted.

— Endorsed Motion Pict D '35
"Waste of time; very poor."
DAR
— Fox W Coast Bul D 28 '35
Mo Film Bul p201 D '35
"A: Fair; Y: Doubtful; C: Unsuitable."
Par M p57 Mr '36

"Supposedly a music show but with little music. Frank Parker is good when he sings and Tamara dances beautifully but not enough. Most of the action takes place aboard the Normandie. Family."
— Wdry Guide O 16 '35

_Trade Paper Reviews_
"Mediocre story with plenty of everything dragged in by the neck and choked to death before it amounts to anything."
— Box Office p29 D 7 '35

"A likeable story, specially interesting because of a new dancer, Tamara whose solo dance is second to none."
Canadian Moving Pict Digest p10 D 9 '35

Filmy Curb p23 D 15 '35

"[A] weak musical handicapped all the way from unconvincing story to poor casting."
— Film Daily pl D 14 '35

"The story falters in spots and there is a sequence of war shots designed to build up an emotional effect for a peace song by Parker that falls to jell, but on the whole the picture is eye-filling and tuneful."
+ — Motion Pict Daily p8 D 17 '35

"[The] story is inconsequential. Family musical."
— N Y Exhibitor p53 D 10 '35
Variety p12 D 18 '35

_SWIFTY. D 15 '35 59min First division_
Players: Hoot Gibson, June Gale
Director: Alan James
Based on the novel, Tracks, by Stephen Payne. A western melodrama.

_Audience Suitability Ratings_
"Fair. Suitable for Church halls, Catholic schools, or family night programs. Cary Grant, Brian Aherne, Edmund Gwenn, Natalie Paley

Director: George Cukor
Based on the novel of the same title by Compton Mackenzie. A ne'er-do-well and his daughter try various illegal schemes to make a living. They join forces with a larceny-smuggler. The daughter falls in love with a traveling artist who joins them but she finds a rival for his affections. After she reforms and induces the group to mend their ways, they tour the English countryside as a traveling minstrel show. When the rival runs away with the larceny smuggler, the way is clear for the young girl's romance with the artist.

_Audience Suitability Ratings_
"Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory and recommended because of subject matter or treatment."
N Y Archdiocese Motion Picture Guide
_Cath News_ p21 Ja 25 '35
"A: Notable; Y: Good; C: Little interest."
Christian Century p63 Jan 8 '36

"A fantastically rambling scenario makes 'Sylvia Scarlett' a picture unworthy of the talents of Hepburn and Grant. Family: entertaining; 14-18: doubtful; 8-14: interesting."
Calif Congress of Par & Teachers
"Mature." DAR
"Mature." Nat Bd of R
"Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; — + Exceptionally Poor
SYLVIA SCARLETT—Continued

"Very beautiful and picturesque settings offset some of the really comedy, adults." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"A far-fetched story very realistically told, with

"Swift moving, dramatic and somewhat unexpected in development, this continental drama with its farcical moments, is directed with skill. The acting of Katharine Hepburn is notably fine, with Cary Grant, and Brian Aherne, making worthy contribution."

+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

D 16 '35

"Good. Adults." Motion Pic Guide Mr 36

"Objectionable in part."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A: Amusing farce; Y: Confused ethics; C: Maturity." Par M p57 Mr '36

"Hepburn's effective playing of a double part of boy and girl contributes far more than the story." Wky Guide D 21 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"In spite of a high admiration for Katharine

Hepburn and an equal amount of good natured toward men—including Hollywood—it is impossible to be very enthusiastic about 'Sylvia Scarlett.' The best explanation is that the picture has been worked over and over so many times that it has lost its original identity without even finding a new one. There are moments when it is entertaining." E. F. M.

+ Boston Transcript p10 D 26 '35

"The movie goers who have exalted Katharine Hepburn into a little niche of her own will probably like this picture, for Miss Hepburn makes a personal triumph of what is rather obviously only a very average picture. The story is crammed with incidents of a rather confused and unaccepted type and only Miss Hepburn's performance saves the picture from actual boredom this story of a vagabond Odyssey." Laura E. Eston

+ Canadian M p37 F '36

Christian Science Monitor p18 D 28 '35

"'Sylvia Scarlett' [is] an amateur movie as embarrassing as the ideas induced in by Uncle

Charlie when he dons Aunt Martha's hat at Aunt Ida's birthday party. I finally had to walk out on 'Sylvia Scarlett' for a breath of Sixth Avenue monoxide. . . . The whole picture is a case of bad judgment on the part of everybody concerned, a bad job of kithenish whimsey which doesn't begin to come off."

Don't Harold

+ Life p29 Mr '36

"I am forced to say that her vehicle is a sprawling and ineffective essay in dramatic chaos and situations enmeshed in vague obscurities, but for Miss Hepburn's performance I have only admiration. The whole thing is a rather futile oddity, but the eerie suggestion of oddness that goes with the star's characteristic type of impersonation, is far more successful with this sort of tale than it ever did when she assumed to be a small-town wall-flower in 'Alice Adams.' Care

'Sylvia Scarlett' a bit, but I do think that Miss Hepburn would better of it than she was as the Booth Tarkington heroine." Richard Watts, Jr.

+ Y Herald Tribune p15 Ja 10 '36

"Katharine Hepburn, whose last talkie, 'Alice

Adams' was also her best, is once again in a new film 'Sylvia Scarlett,' which is, by a wide margin, her worst. . . . It seems difficult to imagine just why Mr. Berman selected such a rambling, unbelievable story in the first place, nor why, in the second, Miss Hepburn consented to play so graceless and trivial a part. Mr. Cukor is theatrical direction and the star's artificial performance are among other unpleasant problems of the day." Eileen Clemens

— N Y Sun p29 Ja 10 '36

"Probably it is unkind to say of 'Sylvia

Scarlett' that it begins at 12 sharp and ends at 1:46; but that is the truth. The whole effect. . . . As the awkward, imaginative, tremulously frustrated heroine of the tale,
Miss Hepburn, is on her home grounds, and she plays the part with a richness of understanding that compares favorably with her performance in 'Alice Adams.' Individual scenes of laughter and heart-break come through cleanly, but the story and its people seem purposeless and possess the blurred outlines of shapes that are being projected through a veil." Andre Sommervell

— + N Y Times p16 Ja 10 '36

"Except for the excellent people in it, and,
even the beautiful and talented Katharine Hepburn, who animates the title role with a vibrant performance, the story is a total failure. There is very little to recommend in the [film]." William B. Aldrich

+ + N Y World-Telegram p23 Ja 10 '36

"'Sylvia Scarlett,' taken from Compton

Mackenzie's novel of 1918, is a story of a set of people whom the main stream of life has pushed a little to one side, sharpening and coloring them unforgettable in the process.
It is made memorable by a role that almost steals the picture from the star of the romantic and comic scenario, Carry Grant's superlative depiction of the cocky . . ."

Time p42 Ja 13 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p36 D 7 '35

Film Curb p12 Ja 4 '36

"Although the cast is a good one, the picture is not. It is a pitifully small, sharpening and coloring them unforgettable in the process.
It is made memorable by a role that almost steals the picture from the star of the romantic
and comic scenario, Carry Grant's superlative depiction of the cocky . . ."

Film Daily p4 D 12 '35

N Y Exhibitor p33 Ja 10 '36

TALE OF TWO CITIES, D 27 '35 120min MGM

Players: Ronald Colman, Elizabeth Allan,
Donald Woods, Blanche Yurka, Basil
Rathbone, Henry B, Walthall

Director: Jack Conway

Based on the novel of same title by Charles Dickens. Set against the horror of the fall of the Bastille in the last days of the French Revolution, this familiar tale tells of the imprisoned Dr Manette, his daughter Lucie, her condemned husband, and Dr Manette's act of sacrifice made by Sidney Carton who takes Darney's place on the guillotine so that Lucie whom he loves may find happiness with his husband.

Dr. Marion C. Sheridan has prepared a

Photographic and Guide to Recreational and Educational and Recreational Guides, Inc, 125 Lincoln Avenue, Newark, New Jersey at fifteen cents per copy.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p21 Ja 25 '36

"Not for small children. Excellent." + + Endorsed Motion Pict Jan 15 '36

"Charles Dickens' immortal story of sacrifice comes to the screen in with faithfulness to spirit and letter which could but delight its author. [It] is beautifully photographed, with delightfully finished characterizations. The scenes of bloodshed, Revolution and La Guillotine are not depicted with breath-taking verity. The final dramatic scene when Carton speaks the unforgettable 'It is a far, far better thing that I do than I have ever done.' is given a new depth, a new color, through its transmission to the screen. Blanche Yurka, whose interpretation of Ibsen roles has maintained the highest standards of the theatre, depicts the role of Madame De Farge with fire and power. Ronald Colman, as Sydney Carton, plays the latter scenes with an effective fatalism, a quiet joy, in sharp contrast to the devil-may-care, bilious barrister of earlier sequence. ... The research, feeling, and artistry which have gone into this production has resulted in a sequence of scenes which will take its place with 'David Copperfield', with 'Mutiny On The Bounty.' Adults & 14-15: excellent; younger and oldsters confused; children. Possible for family." Calif Congress of Pat & Teachers

"Colorful; skillfully enacted and produced. Schools should see this fine historical classic." DAR

"The musical and sound accompaniments are excellent and give the true feeling of the period buttressing. Family. Farm. Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs Country Woman p51 Ja 20 '36

"No list of superlatives can do justice to this tremendous panorama of humanity swayed by the emotional extremes of France during the Terror. This distinguished, exceptionally intelligent direction provides a vivid and stirring picture of one of the most dramatic periods of history. Family, exclusive of young children." Nat Soc of New England Women + + Fox W Coast Bul D 7 '35

"A noteworthy production which will have wide appeal. Farm. Family, too tense for young children." + Ken Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) N 25 '35

"Once again Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has transmitted to the screen a Dickens' classic retaining, with authenticity, the story and maintaining throughout the beauty and interest of the original. ... There is every evidence of deep research in the planning for the stage settings of early Paris and London as one is transported into the unhappy days of the French Revolution, with its starving people, cruel executions and savage revenge. Finished, expert, realistic direction, very fine photography, sustained suspense add all to the interest. Excellent for the family, but not for small children." + Jt Estimates N 15 '35

"Technically it is nearly flawless. It is mounted on big lines and is lavishly and carefully considered for realistic and dramatic effects." ... Ronald Colman makes the smiling, sardonic character of Cinna the Great characters of the screen, whose nature is revealed more through his face upon others than in his own speech and action, until his final sacrifice. + + Motion Pict & Family p1 Ja 15 '36

"Excellent. Adults & young adults." Motion Pict Guide Mr 30 '35
Nat Bd of R M Ja '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." + + + Exceptional Decent of Decen Chrsn Pict of Yr 1935

"A and Y: Superbly produced classic drama; C: Tense." Far M p57 Mr '35

"Once again Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has transmitted to the screen a Dickens classic retaining, with authenticity, the story and maintaining throughout the beauty and interest of the original. A notable and capable cast sets the period back in to the life of Ronald Colman's unforgettable portrayal of Sydney Carton." + Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35

"Suggested for schools and libraries. Recommended to the Committee on Exceptional Photoplays." + + Wkly Guide D 21 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Hollywood to its great joy has found that its particular gift - the artistic profits well from the immortal Charles Dickens. 'David Copperfield' in spite of excellences and deficiencies, was by and large worthy of its popular success. Now comes a photoplay version of a story which, as such, is not only among the better knitted and sustained of all the full-blooded company of Dickens' novels, but is probably most widely remembered by adults and schoolboys. 'A Tale of Two Cities' is this version. It is too much. Full-blooded, magnificent episodes packed with incredible generosity and realism between the covers of a single volume, offers to all ages a fresh and deeper understanding of life. All advance information on the latest excursus into the field of Dickensian caricature and naturalism prompts to a commendable assist." + + + + Boston Transcript p3 D 21 '35

Christian Science Monitor p15 Ja 4 '36

"The story has been used before for films, notably in the silent days, but this M-G-M successor to its 'David Copperfield' is a stirring, faithful adaptation calculated to make as well up among the best films of the year."

+ + Lit Digest p21 D 11 '35

"The tragic tale of Sydney Carton... has been brought to the screen brilliantly in the unusually faithful version of 'A Tale of Two Cities.'" Richard Watts, Jr.
+ + N Y Herald Tribune p9 D 26 '35

"'A Tale of Two Cities' is a picture that makes you feel like shouting. ... The producer and director have combined their art to create qualities, good taste. With showmanship added, and a generous hand in supplying background for the troubles, the result is a Christmas present that should keep audiences happy for several weeks. ... Real justice demands impartial consideration of course, but it is connected with the picture from photographer and costume designer to the script-writers who kept all the humor as well as the drama of the Dickens novel." Eileen Creelman

+ + + + N Y Sun p30 D 27 '35

"'A Tale of Two Cities'... for more than two hours crowds the screen with beauty and excitement, sparing nothing in its recital of the Englishmen who were caught up in the blood and terror of the French Revolution and of Sydney Carton, who gave his life for his friends. The drama achieves a crisis of extraordinary effectiveness at the Guillotine, leaving the audience quivering under its emotional sledgehammer blows. ... Produced in the studio's best through and through and a good broad film err, if at all, on the side of plenty. It impresses me as rather too long for comfortable cinéma-viewing. ..." Andre Sennwald

+ + + + New York Times p21 D 26 '35

"The most ambitious bundle of the lot, and probably the most disappointing, is 'A Tale of Two Cities.'" John Mosher

- - - - New Yorker p57 D 28 '35

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; - - Mediocre; - Poor; - - Exceptionally Poor
TALE OF TWO CITIES—Continued

"Tale of Two Cities" is among the best pictures of this waning year, a document in which both drama and comedy are awesomely blended."—Louise Mace

+ + Springfield Republican p2 D 26 '35

"The whole picture constitutes a record of one of history's most melodramatic moments told in an idiom equal to its subject, from a skeleton designed by a novelist of genius. Like all realizations of the general and particular, it achieves the difficult feat of relating the particular with an emotional intensity that never lets down from the first shot of cough whee being pulled through the mud of an English road to the last shot, in which the camera swings up from the dying Courtesan with the words, 'The French. "

+ Time p16 D 30 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"Embracing both art and entertainment, this is one of the perfect pictures to reach the screen in many months... The offering moves forward with absorbing interest, gathering momentous momentum to the opening of the Bastille, and the sacrifice of aristocratic heads to the hungry blade of the guillotine. The startling, or rather revengence never once destroys the impressional... personal sacrifice, making the entire offering one of winning power and tragic beauty."

+ Box Office p17 D 14 '35

Film Curb p18 D 15 '35

"Fine performances and excellent direction make this one of the outstanding pictures of the year."

+ Film Daily p4 N 30 '35

"Excellent. It is an outstanding picture... The scenes that show the gathering of the murder of the Revolution. Something that people will not soon forget... so thrilling are they... Suitable for all. [Family.]"

+ Harrison's Reports D 25 '35

"With the great effort expended in its production reflected on the screen, this picture will long be recalled as an outstanding contribution to the entertainment. Dickens enthusiasts will have no quarrel with Producer David Selznick or Adaptors W. P. Lipscomb and for the first time playing the book, even at times using subtitles to keep the audience posted on transitions and background... It should rate as a credit to the industry."

+ Motion Pict Daily p12 N 27 '35

"'A Tale of Two Cities' is one of those films in which every single element mingles to make a coherent whole. Audiences should be impressed with the fact that this film is of such exceptional historical interest and entertainment value that it must not be missed."

+ Motion Pict Herald p66 D 7 '35

N Y Exhibitor p33 D 25 '35

"Metro achieves in 'A Tale of Two Cities' a screen presentation which for sheer dramatic force excels in thrilling the variables to terror... and from which the country has profitably absorbed. This being so, there seems to be little reason why the terrific grip of this tragic story of renunciation should not fare very well. Technically it is about as flawless as is possible." + Variety p44 Ja 1 '36

TANGO. Ja 1 '36 66min Invincible

Players: Marian Nixon, Chick Chandler.

Director: Phil Rosen

Based on novel of same title by Vida Hurst. A model in an advertising agency falls in love with her employer's brother. When the employer learns of their marriage he tries to break it up because of her father's social standing. In the end after she has had to support herself and baby, she is reconciled to her husband.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Unobjectionable for adults."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"This tale of an advertising agency model offers good entertainment and it will be liked in the neighborhoods. This should go its way doing fairly well although it will, of course, never break any records."

+ Film Curb p16 Ja 18 '36

"A pretty entertaining human interest drama. It has been given a good production. But there is one situation that is in bad taste; it is where George Meeker, seeking means to bring about a separation between his young brother and the young man's wife, convinces his brother that she has been intimate with him... Because of this situation it may prove unsuitable for children, adolescents, or for Sunday showing. But it is harmless for adults."

+ Harrison's Reports Ja 11 '36

"Estimate: good for subsequent, twin bills."

+ + N Y Exhibitor p12 Ja 25 '35

TEMPO MASSIMO. Mr 12 '36 78min World

Director: Mario Nattoli

Based on a novel of same title by Mario Nattoli. Italian dialogue film made in Rome but does not contain English sub-titles. "The story tells of the modernization of a young man, who has been raised by his wealthy aunt in a strictly old-fashioned manner. When he accidentally meets an attractive girl, and falls in love with her, he completely revolutionizes his mode of living in order to win her." (Motion Pict Daily)

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"None of [it] is particularly new, nor is the direction brisk enough for farce. Vittorio de Sica and his leading woman, known only as Milly, are at their best in the looking team who do well enough by their parts. The plot, because of its familiarity, is easy enough to follow; but the picture can be recommended only to those who really want to see and hear the Italian talkie."

Eileen Creelman N Y Sun p30 Mr 15 '36

"As last a fast-moving, merry, romantic comedy has reached here from Rome. 'Tempo Massimo' (Full Speed), is well named. It is filled with action. There are some lovely views of rural Northern Italy."—H. T. S.

+ N Y Times p27 Mr 13 '36

"The one and only lively moment you're likely to get is when the day is won... The product of this Italian film is at the very end, when the shy Harold Lloyd-like hero suddenly as- serts himself and the players are attractive and capable, even if the story and the direction aren't anything to write home about. Yesterday after- noon's audience, which was nearly all Italian, liked it. This reporter thought it was nothing to pant about."

William Joyce

+ N Y World-Telegram p31 Mr 18 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"This Italian-produced picture probably will be found reasonably entertaining by those understanding the Italian language, and of little consequence to those lacking a knowledge of it... It appears obvious that the film will mean nothing to the average American audience, and that it may be sold most effectively in those theaters, probably in large metropoli centers, which can rely upon an audience predominantly Italian.

MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

THANKS A MILLION. N 15 '35 87min 20th century-Fox

Players: Dick Powell, Ann Dvorak, Fred
Allen, Patay Kelly. Paul Whiteman
Director: Roy Del Ruth

"Fred Allen heads a troupe stranded in a small town, decides to ballyhoo for a gubernator candidate who likes to drink. When the candidate overdoes it, Sinker Powell is substituted, wins the election after complications." N Y Exhibitor

---

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Arch
diocese Motion Picture Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Depends on taste; Y and C: Amusing, but effect and value doubtful." Christian Century p1744 D 4 '35

"Very good." + Endorsed Motion Pict D '35

"An amusing satire... with unusually good songs and snappy dialogue. Family, but mature for children." DAR

"Fred Allen's witty lines and Paul Whiteman's orchestra add much to the entertainment. Very good. Family," Internat Fed of Cath Alumni

"Because of many drinking sequences, it is unsuited to young audiences. Very good.
Adults." Nat Fed of Business and Professional
Women's Clubs

"This tuneful farce is filled with a spirit of youthful gaiety, and offers many sly digs at politics and politicians which will bring appreciative chuckles. Good fun for family audiences although of no interest to children.
" Nat Soc of New England Women

"A rather untimely picture when thought should be toward building respect for the Government. Adults realizing this is farce, will not take it seriously, while children might have an idea that such situations could exist.
"Motion Picture So Calif Council of Fed Church
Women

"One of the best of its kind. Family." Mrs T.
G. Winter

"The picture has a delightful tongue-in-the-cheek attitude towards officia land. 12-16: good; 8-12: yes." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

+ Fox W Coast Bul N 16 '35

"Refreshing music, romantic interest and cheerful comedy are the high-lights of this hilariously amusing satire... Interesting and pleasing is the introduction of Rubinoff and his violin. Paul Whiteman and his band, Fred Allen, radio comedian, the riotous singing of the Yacht Club Boys and Dick Powell with his catchy songs especially Thanks A Million.
" Family." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Family audiences, although of no interest to children." Jt Estimates N 1 '35

Mo Film Bul p177 N 35

"Good. Family." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"A and Y: Entertaining tuneful comedy; C:
All right." Par M p57 Mr '36

"This tuneful farce is filled with a spirit of youthful gayety and offers many sly digs at politics and politicians which will bring appreciative chuckles. Good for family audiences, although of no interest to children.
" + Film Pict D 1 '35

---

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Fred Allen in his first feature film role, is probably the production's biggest asset.
Although his brand of humor will inevitably be compared to that of Ned Sparks, it is still sufficiently individual to command a wider variety of celluloid characterizations and of film followers. It is understood that Mr. Allen contributed a good many of the film's gags. And they're excellent gags no matter which player is assigned to them, but particularly when Mr.
Allen himself draws them in his inutterably flat accents." B. L.

+ Boston Transcript p17 D 6 '35

Christian Science Monitor p13 D 7 '35

"The work is gay, tuneful and entertaining, but it is the idea of sneering at two popular species rather than any brilliance in the treatment of the theme that makes Thanks A Millon such vigorous entertainment. The mercy quips and expert vaudeville that have been added to the story make it an expert and likely entertainment... [It] is at its best when it forgets both its romantic interludes and its hints of satire and goes in for the sheer fun of its high spirits, its antic hilarity and its expert showmanship." Richard Watts, Jr.

+ N Y Herald Tribune p13 N 14 '35

"This is a merry picture, a tuneful one, and,
although neither distinguished nor outstanding,
a pleasant piece of entertainment." Eileen Crelleman

+ N Y Sun p18 N 14 '35

"The photoplay is particularly successful in its use of the songs, which pop into the story with gay irrelevance. Even with the difficulties imposed on it by the conventional amorous dificulties of the stars, it is superior fun." Andre Sennwald

+ N Y Times p17 N 14 '35

"Fred Allen is a blessed relief in "Thanks A Million," and some very quick, nimble lyrics." John Mosher

+ New Yorker p86 N 23 '35

""Thanks A Million" is a very amusing musical short," Granville Green

+ Speck p1025 D 20 '35

---

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p27 N 23 '35

Film Curb p17 N 1 '35

"It has popular songs, comedy and satire and should please all types of audiences."

+ Film Daily p10 O 25 '35

N Y Exhibitor p31 N 10 '35

Variety p16 N 20 '35

---

THESE THREE. Mr 6 '36 93min United artists-Goldwyn

Players: Miriam Hopkins, Merle Oberon.
Joel McCrea, Bonita Granville, Marcia
Mae Jones

Director: William Wyler

Based on the play, Children's Hour, by Lillian Hellman. "The story concerns two college art graduates who remodel an old farmhouse as a school for young girls. A docor in the village lends a helping hand and a close friendship grows between these three.

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + + Fair; + + Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

THese THREE—Continued

Hollywood trio wins. Beloved by both ladies, he proposes to one. Her answer: the room of the other by a calculating student." (Hollywood Reporter)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"It is not a happy theme, but it is a dynamic one. The story is all done that the screen will care to miss it. . . . Adolescents, 12-16: mature; but carrying its tragic lesson; children, 8-12: no; too emotional."
Motion Picut R Mr' 36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Memory falls to bring to my mental screen another Sam Goldwyn picture which for sheer brilliancy of production matches 'These Three.' To those interested in the screen as a medium, 'These Three' will appeal primarily by virtue of its excellence as an example of screen craftsmanship. On the basis of motion picture appreciation will find it a profitable subject for study. It is a talkie, of course, but it leaves heavily on the screen as a story-telling aid. The dialogue is business-like; it confines itself to telling the story in the fewest possible words and is pure and telling without the distracting element of stage declamation." Allan Hesholt

"The most difficult screen-adaptation job of the year has been accomplished superbly. . . . Mr. Miss Hellman not a satiric thing. He engaged Miss Hellman to do the screen version, believing that if anyone would be precisely aware of the desires potential for a motion picture, the original author would. She was. And the result is 'These Three,' a stalwart, deeply affecting, and stunningly told motion-picture."
+ Lit Digest p22 Mr' 14 '36

"Out of the difficult cinema material of her brilliant stage play, 'The Children's Hour,' Miss Lillian Hellman has wrought a stirring, mature and powerful motion picture that is in every way worthy of its celebrated original, and perhaps, in one or two ways, surpasses it. . . . In addition, the change in the ending, which does away with the suicide of one of its heroines, does not soften the film or any of it. It appear the result of a cowardly refusal to face tragedy. In fact, it is a more reasonable, if not a more palatable ending and it serves to bring the picture to a close a genuinely distinguished photograph that is a vast tribute to all concerned in its production."
Michael Watts
+N Y Herald Tribune p16 Mr' 19 '36

"From a magnificent play Samuel Goldwyn has produced, as he sometimes does, a magnificent picture. . . . The screen play is not so harrowing as the play. Perhaps in that sense, it is not so strong. Its punch, in spite of this quite logical happy ending, is still double that of any film since 'The Informer,' which it resembles not in the slightest. 'These Three,' although a play to bring bitter tears to your eyes, has its share of real gayety. It's not likely any one will miss this." Eileen Creelman

+ + N Y Sun p30 Mr' 19 '36

"Miss Hellman's job of literary carpentry is little short of brilliant. Upon the framework of her stage success she has constructed an absorbing, tautly written and dramatically vital screen play. To it, in turn, a gifted cast has contributed lavishly of its talents, aided by superb direction and exceptionally fine photography. In its totality the picture emerges as one of the most distinguished for many years. . . . You can be reasonably certain that it will find its way into the ranks of the year's best ten."
+ + N Y Times p22 Mr' 19 '36

" 'These Three' is an honest, sensitive, beautifully acted film that deserves the admiration of all moviegoers. . . . [It] is, in many ways, finer than the play that suggests it. . . . See 'These Three,' and in doing so see a film of real distinction." William Boehle

Trade Paper Reviews

"Grand entertainment for mass and class, destined to create a word-of-mouth campaign that will fill seats everywhere."
+ + Film Office p55 Mr' 36

"In this screen version of 'The Children's Hour' all objectionable material has been eliminated. It is an excellent drama that should have good box result and will do well in both the big cities and small towns. . . . As a matter of record it may be said that there have been but few better dramas that have found their way to the screen. This should be a box-office clean up."
+ + Motion Curb p19 F 29 '36

"S severe, dramatic, this is one of the most powerful pictures that has come to the talking screen. . . . It will create much word-of-mouth comment, which will mean excellent business at the box-office."
+ Film Daily p9 F 25 '36

"While four adults are directly concerned as the objectives of the plot, it is created, carried on and brought to completion by two children. In those roles excellent performances are contributed by Bonita Granville, who played the part, and Mari Blanchard, whose performance is not a children's attraction. . . . Previewed in Pantages Theatre at Hollywood. The picture, in which the story is told holds the audience in tense suspense."
+ + Hollywood Picut p3 F 22 '36

"Achievement of adapting substance of Lillian Hellman's stage play, 'The Children's Hour' to avoid taboo angles and at same time to preserve screen version. The whole world is another conventional, and even innocuous social drama, has been remarkably done in Samuel Goldwyn's hands. This picture is an extraordinary offering for women especially. In the key spots it will do smash business, and in many of the subsequent as well, while from dramatic and artistic standpoint it will compare favorably with the best of the conventional. The picture is for adults, but has been done with discretion and restraint which will not offend older children."
+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 22 '36

THINGS TO COME. Mr' 13 '36 110min London films-United artists

Players: Margaretta Scott, Raymond Massey, Guy Standing, Richardson

Director: William C. Menzies

Based on the novel, The Shape of Things to Come, by H. G. Wells. The film was made in England. ['The story outlines the collapse of civilization after another Great War, initiated without notice by thousands of planes bombing without direction. The whole world is impoverished, machines rust and collapse and cannot be replaced; a primitive society evolves in which men live in the ruins of once splendid towns and petty dictators exercise tribal authority. Plague stalks the earth. Order is restored by a boy who, in giant planes, bomb the dictators into submission by a 'gas of peace' which causes unconsciousness and no worse. Peace is established on the basis of world rule and mankind sets out on an age of progress founded on science." (Motion Pict Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"The magnitude of the theme and the vast compass of the story are apparent even in a brief outline; and it is perhaps inevitable that such a film should be vulnerable on scores of details; 'Things to Come' could not but require examination from a scientific, political, or sociological point of view... The potentialities of the moving picture as a medium for the presentation of such problems are recognised and demonstrated. It is for this reason all the more unfortunate that 'Things to Come' should possess a number of faults which might have been avoided: at times the film is slow;... the speeches... are pompous and poorly constructed. The characterisation is romantic and the acting, as a whole, is only competent; none of the cast, with the exception of Raymond Massey, are able to make real men and women out of the parts they are given... Adults & adolescents 15-21.

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

There is no dispute that the picture is a photographic masterpiece, technically a supreme achievement of the cinema. No author or producer could ask for more than the grace of wonder with which its magnificence is created. The sequence of spectacular and technical imaginative resources, hitherto unparalleled by anything the cinema has produced, but isograpically speaking, it represents a gigantic milestone in the history of the moving picture. It will be remembered and talk for years as one of the most unforgettable films ever made and whether he has succeeded in getting it over... New Statesman & Nation p293 F 20 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"The picturisation of H. G. Wells' vision of the future, is so complete, so masterful, so technically a supreme achievement of the cinema, that it is not just a film, but an event. The sequence of spectacular stage and technical imaginative resources, hitherto unparalleled by anything the cinema has produced, but isograpically speaking, it represents a gigantic milestone in the history of the moving picture. It will be remembered and talk for years as one of the most unforgettable films ever made and whether he has succeeded in getting it over..."

Donnison Thorntom p + + Canadian Moving Pict Digest p9 Mr 7 '36

"It renders forever obsolete the hollowed phrase 'Up to Hollywood standard' as the highest tribute to British production. Decisively, and by a wide margin, it sets new standards of technique far exceeding the most striking of past achievements, from America or from anywhere... It is not just a film, but an event..."

Motion Picture Daily p4 Mr 4 '36

"When America sees this film it probably will regard it as the most important ever to come out of its studios. From such a dispassionate viewpoint a critic might say that America may claim, it seems that America will be right... Previewed at Leicester Square Theatre, London. The audience found the glimpses of the future breath-taking and applause was prolonged for individual sets and effects. Women and some men criticised the lack of 'story'. Objection to the arid Wellsian world was common; but its picturisation was thought 'marvellous'.

Variety p26 Mr 4 '36

THIRTY-NINE STEPS. As 1 '35 35mm G. L. Biritsh-20th century-FOX

Director: Alfred Hitchcock

From the novel of same title by John Buchan. "An exciting well told mystery story wherein the quick thinking and acting of a young man, not only outwits his pursuers but presents an international spy ring from selling information valuable to the British Government." (Gen Fed of Women's Clubs)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Arch-diocese Motion Pict Guide Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A picture of unusual merit, surpassingly well acted, expertly directed with clever dialogue, tense dramatic action and beautiful outdoor Scottish scenery. Family." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Oct 3 '35

"The use of appropriate music and moments of absolute silence are most effective while the photography is of the best. Family." + Nat Council of Jewish Women O 1 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"A brilliantly stylised spy melodrama, in the vein of the earlier Hitchcock film..."

+ N Y Times p55 N 16 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p55 N 16 '35

This is the Life. O 15 '35 35mm 20th century-FOX

Players: Jane Withers, John McGuire. Sally Blane. Sidney Toler

Director: Marshall Neilan

A wounded fugitive, escaping pursuing police, enters the increasing room of a child actress. She runs off with him because she has...
THIS IS THE LIFE—Continued
been exploited and mistreated by her foster-parents. Her protector is declared innocent, marries and offers a home to the little orphan.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Perhaps; Y: Good; C: Probably good." Christian Century p143 N 6 '35

"A delightful, wholesome picture. Family." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) S 18 '35

"A well-blended mixture of pathos and comedy." + Jt Estimates S 15 '35

MOTION

Recent Reviews

Film Bulletin p291 D '35

Fair. Family." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"A light, entertaining comedy. Family and junior matinees." Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"A, Y and C: Delightful." Par M p57 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p15 O 19 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p55 N 16 '35

Film Curb p10 O 15 '35

THREE GODFATHERS. Mr 6 '36 88min MGM

Players: Chester Morris. Lewis Stone. Walter Brennan

Director: Richard Boleslawski

Made previously in several silent versions. Based on the novel of the same title by Peter B. Kyne. A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Adults: good; 14-18: heavy; 8-14: no." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good. Mature." DAR

"Adults & young people." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Skillfully and carefully directed, clear-cut portrayals by the three leading characters, and fine photography characterize this somewhat unusual film. The director has been careful not to sentimentalize the desperadoes... Family-mature." Nat Council of Jewish Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Despite excellent acting and good comedy relief, the film is far too long and for the average audience, very harrowing. Mature." Nat Soc of Church Women

"The picture has no ethical value and nothing to recommend it but the acting of the principals. Mature." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bul F 29 '36

"Adults." Jt Estimates F 15 '36

"It is a somber but well-sustained theme with good acting especially on the part of Lewis Stone, who gives a sincere, finished performance as the bad man who has once known a life of culture and ease... Adolescents, 12-16: possible: children, 8-12: no." Motion Pict R Mr '36

"Basically a psychological study this picture will prove thoughtful entertainment for adults." Nat Council of Jewish Women F 19 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Adults. Slow Motion Pict F 1 '36

"Little of the usual hullabaloo and fast action, which makes it slower than customary, but interesting for unusual qualities. Family." + Wkly Guide F 7 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is all quite edifying and, upon occasions, the drama which seems lost when water in the desert is effectively portrayed, but on the whole the sentiment is laid on too thick for comfort.

The atmosphere of 'Three Godfathers' is effective and believable, but unfortunately that is more than can be said for the reform wave." Richard Watts, Jr.

+ — N Y Herald Tribune p6 Mr 7 '36

"By its disregard of that modern cinema imperative, the happy ending, 'The Three Godfathers', has retained horse-opera success in catching the spirit of the Westerns of two decades back, when bad men could be heroes too." — N Y Times p20 Mr 9 '36

"Sentiment is drawn out to the point of pain in 'Three Godfathers' the new Western, thereby destroying whatever effect some of its more rugged and believable moments may have. It must be said, however, that Chester Morris, Lewis Stone and Walter Brennan play the roles of the three bad men so well that at times you forget to laugh at the film's lachrymose situations." — Hollywood Reporter p45 Mr 7 '36

"Three Godfathers' is good family fare. It will make a neat profit in the hinterlands, where they will eat up the story of the regeneration of the three bandits by the naive girl they find on the desert. On the whole, 'Three Godfathers' will please the less critical and will look everywhere. It proves the familiar adage that direction and scripting by men from the Class A ranks make even a Class B picture look like money." + Hollywood Reporter p23 F 12 '36

"This tale of three outlaws develops as an interesting character study motivated by a heart-gripping theme after starting as an average action feature." + Motion Pict Daily p10 F 13 '36

"The picture has an impressive quality not ordinarily associated with outdoor Western entertainment... Brought to the attention of patrons as something entirely new and different, it is legitimate to anticipate that it will prove a popular attraction with just as much, if not more, interest for women than men." + Motion Pict Herald p26 F 22 '36

"Programmer that will probably not get more than that attention, 'Three Godfathers' is, nevertheless, the type material that neighborhood audiences like." N Y Exhibitor p41 Mr 10 '36

"Despite minor flaws in direction and story adaptation of Peter B. Kyne outdoor yarn, 'Three Godfathers' seems destined to get its share of the grosses in neighborhood houses. It constitutes a strong film for double billing but should prove big enough to stand alone if only because of the presence of Lewis Stone and Chester Morris. This is a case of the cast surmounting uneven direction and meandering plot development.

+ Variety p15 Mr 11 '36

"There's plenty of entertainment value in this production, running overlength at preview. It seems jerky and disjointed in spots but Richard Boleslawski evidently had a difficult time in preventing a repetition of former [versions] of the yarn."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 12 '36

THREE KIDS AND A QUEEN. O 28 '35 90min Universal

Players: May Robson, Henry Armetta, Charlotte Henry, Frankie Darro

Director: Edward Ludwig

"The outlook on life of an eccentric, wealthy elderly spinster is entirely changed for the better when she is, by accident, thrown into the home of a poor Italian family with three little sons. Through the ministrations of these kindly people, she finds true happiness, much to the chagrin of relatives who are using every means to control her vast wealth." Jt Estimates

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

"Humor, pathos, excitement and near tragedy combine to make this picture highly entertaining. Family."

+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) O 12 '35

"A sequence with gangsters, guns and gangmen is unnecessarily prolonged. Family."

+ Jt Estimates O 15 '35

Mo Film Bul p177 N '35

"Good. Adults & young adults." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"Family."

Nat Bd of R M N '35

"Wholesome, uplifting entertainment for the family with some fine comedy."

+ Nat Council of Jewish Women O 1 '35

"A: Diverting; Y and C: Entertaining."

Par M p57 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p8 O 30 '35

Reviewed by Beverly Hills

"Rubbert p29 N 23 '35"

"It belongs with 'Anne of Green Gables' and 'Way Down East' in its homespun appeal and emotional quality, but is raised a bit above the level by the excellence of Miss Robson's performance and Mr. Armetta's character-acting." Marguerite Tatzelnar

N Y Herald Tribune p6 N 7 '35

"A simple, homely, sentimental comedy-drama made just for this kind of audience, the parents-and-children genre." Eileen Creelman

+ N Y Sun p13 N 11 '35

"It is patterned along familiar lines and contains all the popular ingredients of sentimental farce-melodrama, but these materials are so well managed by the authors, director and players that, in spite of its obviousness and deliberate appeal to the heart-strings, the film has grand fun." William Boeheim

+ N Y World-Telegram p11 N 11 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p60 N 16 '35

Film Curb p17 N 1 '35

"Ideal family picture."

+ N Y Exhibitor p31 N 10 '35

THREE LIVE GHOSTS. Ja 10 '36 70min MGM

Players: Richard Arlen, Beryl Mercer, Claude Allister, Charles McNaughton, Cecilia Parker, Dudley Digges

Director: H. Bruce Humberstone

Based on a play of the same title by Frederic S. Brannan and Max Webster. "The picture is located in London, timed to the Armistice. Jones, Spooky and Gubbins arrive home to find they are listed as dead. Though Mrs. Gubbins welcomes her son Jimmy Gubbins home, her happiness is tinged with tragedy as the money-mad old lady realizes that his insurance payments will be cut off. Her grief is further tempered when she recognizes in Jones an American whom an investigator has told her is a wanted man for whom there is a big reward posted. She makes good for the loss of Jimmy's insurance money by turning him in." (Motion Pict Herald)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

"An interesting story, whimsically treated, in which effective direction and excellent characterizations by all members of the cast, provide light, refreshing entertainment for the family."

+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ja 6 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." N Y Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A, Y and C: Lively comedy."

Par M p57 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p15 Ja 11 '36

"The Isham play pays its third visit to the screen... Those who remember the values developed in previous film story when it reached the screen before, will find the new version much less satisfactory. On its first screen visit it sparkled buoyantly and was very funny... [A] member of the cast who scores a success in the part she formerly made outstanding, is Beryl Mercer. Again she is addicted to gin drinking with greater frequency than seems necessary. I do not agree with directors who feel there is comedies value in constant imbuling, I like my characters to be normal in their reaction to situations. When they are inspired by the contents of a gin bottle they lack impressiveness and suggest the assumption that if they were sober they would behave differently."

+ Hollywood Spec p15 Ja 18 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Picture starts slow, but gathers momentum and should prove entertaining." Box Office p57 Ja 11 '36

"Very entertaining comedy-drama considerably above average program grade. The sort of picture that will satisfy most any audience."

+ Film Curb p1 Ja 11 '36

"'Three Live Ghosts' is a very enjoyable comedy-drama that should make good program entertainment. It will discuss problems situations bring forth a lot of laughs. The drama is of the lighter type and there is enough story to make things interesting. The piece is well pro-
THREE LIVE GHOSTS—Continued

It is of Humberstone. He handed it to Walter Abel as d’Artagnan. Mr. Abel is an able and intelligent stage person, but lacks the swish and swash and Cellophane for a picture-book chore like this.

Dom Herald

‘The Three Musketeers’ are definitely above the cinema average in production and interest.”

— N Y Herald Tribune p18 N 1 ’35

30. Mr. Abel does some fine work of her characterization, but is far from the usually sweet mother parts handed to Miss Mercer, and she plays it stoutly, in some spots brilliantly, especially the impressive comedy scene where she is caught with jewels given her by the irresponsible ‘Spoofy.’"

 Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 27 ’35

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Class A. General approval.” N Y Archdiocese Motion Picture Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 ’36

“A and Y: Excellent; C: Mature but good.” Christian Century p1374 D 4 ’35

“An artistic and lavishly spectacular production. It is directed and acted with rare understanding and skill, and beautifully costumed. In all, a most stimulating and entertaining picture. Family.”

 Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) O 5 ’35

Mo Film Bul p201 D ’35

“Very good. Family.” Motion Picture Guide Mr ’36

“This spectacular drama, with its fine musical background, lovely photography and beautiful costumes is most admirably directed and expertly cast. Family and junior matinees.”

Nat Council of Jewish Women O 1 ’35

“Unobjectionable for general patronage.” Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 ’36

“A, Y and C: Excellent costume adventure drama.” Par M p07 Mr ’36

“Suggested for schools and libraries. Family. Junior matinee.”

Wkly Guide O 12 ’35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“Only sporadic in the display of liveliness and verve that one would naturally expect from the ever popular story.”

— LIBERTY p23 N 16 ’35

“Being a hokum, romantic picture, it needs more of a romantic actor, more of a ham, if you will, than Walter Abel as d’Artagnan. Mr. Abel is an able and intelligent stage person, but lacks the swish and swash and Cellophane for a picture-book chore like this.”

Dom Herald

From the novel of same title by Alexandre Dumas. “Amid tumult and flame and saber stroke d’Artagnan again saves the honor of the Queen of France by defeating the conspirators of the traitor Richelieu, the sly Rochefort and that most fascinating of all villainesses, the fatal Milady de Winter, while French Athos and Aramis cheer him on to victory.” (N Y Herald Tribune)

30. Mr. Abel does some fine work of her characterization, but is far from the usually sweet mother parts handed to Miss Mercer, and she plays it stoutly, in some spots brilliantly, especially the impressive comedy scene where she is caught with jewels given her by the irresponsible ‘Spoofy.’"

 Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 27 ’35

THREE MUSKETEERS. N 1 ’35 93min RKO

Director: Rowland V. Lee

From the novel of same title by Alexandre Dumas. “Amid tumult and flame and saber stroke d’Artagnan again saves the honor of the Queen of France by defeating the conspirators of the traitor Richelieu, the sly Rochefort and that most fascinating of all villainesses, the fatal Milady de Winter, while French Athos and Aramis cheer him on to victory.” (N Y Herald Tribune)

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p59 N 16 ’35

Film Curb p8 O 15 ’35

N Y Exhibitor p34 O 25 ’35

(+)THREE ORPHAN KITTENS. N 21 ’35 10min United artists

Director: Walt Disney

A Silly Symphony cartoon. “(Three little kittens) are lost on a snowy night and left out in the cold, till they find their way into a corner of a fine house and sneak upstairs . . . When the colored mammy discovers them and is about to throw them out in the cold again, the little miss of the mansion adopts them.” (Film Daily)

Trade Paper Reviews

“It[1] looks as if Walt Disney has hit something as entertaining as his three little pigs in these three little kittens.”

 Film Daily p14 O 31 ’35

“Excellent color and appealing characterization.”

N Y Exhibitor p27 N 10 ’35
THREE WOMEN. F 11 '36 Aminko
Players: Yanina Zheimo, Z. Fedorova, I. Zharova, Boris Babochkin, Boris Poslavsky, Boris Chirkov
Director: L. Arnshtam
Dialogue film in Russian with English subtitles. It was made during the war during its Russian showing. "The film dramatizes the friendship of three women from their childhood days in the Soviet Union to their death during the early days of the Revolution until one of them is killed by a White soldier." (N Y World-Telegram)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Unobjectionable for adults."

Newpaper and Magazine Reviews

"It will be worth your while to view it. You will see one of the largest collections of superlative performances ever assembled in one production. Nothing seems too small for a Russian director to do perfectly. We see the three women first as children and later as members of the famed Battalion of Death. One of the three, an actress of superlative ability, is seen as both child and woman, succeeding without make-up in looking like each in turn. Her performance alone is worth making the trip downtown to see."

New Theatre p24 Mr '36

"As a study of those hectic years in that vast empire, the piece is interesting. It strikes a deep and passionate note in its emotional appeal, but annoys one by its sketchy, incomplete, even juvenile, representation at times. Accompanied by a beautiful and often stirring musical score, the film probably seems much smoother to persons understanding the Russian dialogue, because the numerous, shimmering sub-titles interfere with the flow of the story. The story is far more dramatized and theatrical than earlier Soviet productions and proves how genuinely talented Russians are as actors..."

Three Women: Hollywood Spec p8 Mr '36

"Film should be seen as an interesting development in Soviet film making. Not a completely successful attempt to evolve a popular style."

New Theatre p24 Mr '36

"Displaying that rich gift of characterization and that superlative sense of humanity which identify the best of the Soviet films and which by comparison frequently make our own Hollywood product seem anemic. Three Women possess such genuine dramatic and artistic distinction that they definitely belong in the tradition of 'Chapayev,' 'Peasants' and 'The Youth of Maxim.' 'Three Women' is a powerful, sincere and distinguished cinema drama." William Boehnel

N Y Times p25 F 12 '36

"The Soviets have another hit. With Shostakovich's 'Lady Macbeth,' 'Three Women' even has its moments of charm..."

N Y World-Telegram p13 F 12 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"The result is occasionally moving drama, but on the whole the film offers comparatively little to the average American patron, having its greatest appeal to those in sympathy with the Russian situation... For the followers of Russian films the name of Boris Babochkin and Boris Chirkov, who played in 'Chapayev' and 'Maxim,' respectively, may be of selling value for those metropolitan houses which may have an audience receptive to the picture by reason of its origin... The performances are uniformly good."

Motion Pict Daily p6 F 20 '36

"With fighting scenes, good photography, and music that is worth mention, this presents an interesting technical job... Estimate: for art houses."

N Y Exhibitor p30 Mr 10 '36

Throwback. S 16 '35 60 min Universal

Players: Buck Jones, Muriel Evans

Director: Ray Taylor

Western melodrama.

Trade Paper Reviews

"The usual heroic performance by Buck Jones, with Muriel Evans doing nicely as the love interest, and a generous amount of fighting, riding and chasing, as well as rodeo performance that is of interest in itself, combine for the entertainment values."

Film Daily p7 O 25 '36

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A: General approval."

Newpaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p13 D 7 '35

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A: Approved for adult audiences."

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p60 N 16 '35

"The usual heroic performance by Buck Jones, with Muriel Evans doing nicely as the love interest, and a generous amount of fighting, riding and chasing, as well as rodeo performance that is of interest in itself, combine for the entertainment values."

Film Daily p7 O 25 '36

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A: Approved for adult audiences."

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A detective of Budapest trying to solve a murder mystery and protect friends who, for excellent reasons, insist on confessing. In the end the hero is shown more astute than his superior officer who wished to humiliate the detective and convict his friends." Spring of the Republic

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A not-too-cleverly constructed murder mystery."

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A baffling mystery. Mature."

DAR

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + + Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
Thunder in the Night—Continued

"Capable direction, vivid acting and well sustained suspense in an excellent film for mature audiences." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Just a touch of intrigue and much suspense makes this gay and swift moving picture excellent entertainment for the family." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Rather inconsequential piece of detective-murder mystery. Adults and young people." Mrs T. G. Winter

+ — Fox W Coast Bul S 13 '35

"A rather slow moving mystery drama. . Well directed and acted. Family." + — Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) S 3 '35

Mo Film Bul p151 D '35

Nat Bd of R M S '35

"This thrilling murder mystery with its very capable cast is directed with efficiency and finesse; suspense is maintained until the final denouement. Adults." + — Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"A and Y: Thrilling mystery; C: Little interest." Par M p57 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Spring'fd Republican p6c O 12 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p55 N 16 '35

Thunder Mountain. O 1 '35 64min 20th century-Fox

Players: George O'Brien. Barbara Fritchie

Director: David Howard

A western melodrama based on the novel of the same title by Zane Grey.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A: General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pic Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Mediocre; Y: Passable; C: Better not." Christian Century p1326 O 16 '35

"Fair. Family." Motion Pic Guide Mr '36

"A, Y and C: Passable." Par M p57 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Reviewed by Louise Mace

Spring'fd Republican p2 D 26 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"Wherever Westerns are appreciated they'll class this as one of the best. [There is] plenty of hard-riding, gun-play and thrills." + — Film Curb p19 O 1 '35

"With the Zane Grey story, with O'Brien at his best, the picture will please. Family Western." + — N Y Exhibitor p34 O 10 '35

Timber War. N 20 '35 55min Ambassador

Players: Kermit Maynard. Lucille Lund. Lawrence Gray

Director: Sam Newfield

Based on the novel of the same title by James Oliver Curwood. A western melodrama.

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
"The book from which this picture was made is not one of Miss Wiggins' most popular novels probably because too much adult philosophy is ascribed to the child characters. The picture, however, presents many aspects that will please to children. Adolphe, 12-16: excellent; children 8-12: excellent."

Motion Pict R F '36

"The chivalry of the little boy, the setting amiable, probably because too much adult philosophy is ascribed to the child characters. The picture, however, presents many aspects that will please to children. Adolphe, 12-16: excellent; children 8-12: excellent."

Nat Council of Jewish Women Ja 29

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."

Boston P F 21 '36

"A well directed, charming story that is made deeply touching but without pathos. Family and juvenile matinee."

+ Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"'Timothy's Quest' is really a charming little film thanks to excellent acting by a well chosen cast and to restrained directing by Charles Barton. Mr. Barton has directed for 'Timothy's Quest' are kept beautifully in the spirit of the production of Mrs. Wiggins' Juvenile classic." B. L.

+ Boston Transcript p3 F 21 '36

"A cast of unknowns can contribute a wealth of entertainment. - Hardly known, too, is Elise Bass, a well known Bette Davis blend of real drama, comedy and contrasting bad interest that further accentuates the competent work of the players making up the cast. The story that holds the imagination is considerably truer than many more extravagant screen exploitation."

J. P. Cunningham

+ Commonweal p440 F 14 '36

"There is not enough lipstick and rouge on this one to give it a place on a Broadway screen; it has no 'comedy relief,' no dancing girls and no big names in its cast. So unless you keep your eye peeled for the appearance of 'Timothy's Quest' at your neighborhood house, you are going to miss one of the nicest, sweetest, most human motion pictures to come from a Hollywood studio in many moons."

+ Hollywood Spec p11 F 1 '36

"Kate Douglas Wiggins' rustic [novel] comes to the screen as a well-fashioned and sometimes comic bit of home-spun charm. It is a cred- it to the writers and players that the picture is selected material and people dead bent on going to a movie could do much worse than see this one." Beverly Hills

+ Liberty p50 F 29 '36

"Credit Master Dickie Moore, Mistress Sally Martin, Elizabeth Patterson and Mrs. Kerri- with excellent performances." T. M. P.

+ N Y Times p11 F 29 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Excellent screen version of the Kate Douglas Wiggins story that brings out the full quota of tears and laughter."

Film" p37 F 1 '36

"This adaptation of the well known novel has been well done and it offers good enter- tainment. Best fitted perhaps for the neighbor- hoods as the story is of the wholesome type. Unfortunately there are no big names but the cast is a good one right down the line."

+ Film p12 Ja 25 '36

"A wholesome and ingratiating comedy-drama, with good human values and ably handled in all departments despite absence of important major names, this production ought to have no trouble pleasing the family trade."

+ Film Daily p8 F 28 '36

"Fair program entertainment, suitable for the family trade. - Suitable for all."

+ in Harrison's Reports F 7 '36

"What this production lacks in the way of big names is more than compensated for in a wealth of heart-warming entertainment. The rural locale plus an ample amount of clean, wholesome drama and romance embellished by natural human comedy give the show an unusual appeal for small town and family aud-iences." +

+ Motion Pict Daily p4 Ja 18 '36

"Here is one of those shows that provides a good story, well acted, directed and pro-duced, yet one handicapped at first glance by lack of [star] cast names."

+ Motion Pict Herald p5 Ja 25 '36

"Probably best for small towns, hinterlands. 'Timothy's Quest' will probably find itself relegated, in big cities, to double features, dish nights, Saturday matinees by exhibitors who refuse to get behind such attractions."

N Y Exhibitor p27 F 10 '36

"This will have to depend on personal appeal of Dickie Moore to draw. It looks as though a weak job of transferring the Kate Douglas Wiggins story to the screen plus the wavering skill of Mr. Barton will probably result in the double-program [theatres] and some [neighbor- hoods houses]. Title will be no help either."

+ Variety p27 M 4 '35

"There's a lot of entertainment in this B feature which should make its mark mainly in the [neighborhood houses] but can hold its own in many a first run situation. With each succeeding picture Barton's direction improves. He has handled this picture expertly, given the picture an authentic feeling. Art direction and period of the 90's is very good, as is the photography."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p5 Ja 17 '36

TO BEAT THE BAND. N S '35 65min RKO

Players: Hugh Herbert. Helen Broderick

Director: Benjamin Stoloff

"Complications arise when a middle-aged man, engaged to a very young girl, learns that he will lose a fifty-nine million dollar inheritance unless he marries a widow within three days."

Nat Council of Jewish Women

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval."

N Y Arch- diocese Motion Pict Guide

The News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Good of kind; Y: Amusing; C: If it in- terests."

Christian Century p471 N 13 '35

"Family and junior matinee."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) O 12 '36

"This mildly entertaining musical farce with its lavish sets and excellent photography falls in its effort to be really amusing because, despite a good cast the direction is uneven and does not maintain the lively tempo necessary for this type of picture, family."

+ Nat Council of Jewish Women O 1 '36

"A: Dverting farce; Y: Pussable; C: If in- teresting."

Par M p57 Mr '36

"Light entertainment with some good dance and amusing dialogue."

Sel Motion Pict p 1 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The music and good dancing help to put over a silly story and the extravagant antics of the children."

+ Christian Science Monitor p16 N 16 '36

"+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; - Poor; — Exceptionally Poor."
TO BEAT THE BAND—Continued
“The film, as you may judge by the casting, is utter nonsense, and much of it is very funny nonsense.” — Beverly Hills + — Liberty p17 N 30 ’35

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p33 N 30 ’35
Film Curb p16 N 1 ’35

“This production had a basic comedy idea with possibilities that were not fully realized, apparently because too many side issues were injected into the story.” + — Film Daily p8 N 23 ’35

“Family fare.” — N Y Exhibitor p30 N 10 ’35

“What principally makes ‘To Beat the Band’ enjoyable entertainment is its book and the able handling of comedy material and situations. In the direction Ben Stoloff was careful not to overdo situations and comedy bits.” + Variety p14 N 27 ’35

TOLL OF THE DESERT. N 1 ’35 57min Com- modore
Players: Fred Kohler, Jr. Betty Mack. Roger Williams
Director: Lester Williams
A western melodrama.

Trade Paper Reviews

“Estimate: program Western.”
— Variety p15 Ja 15 ’36

“Considerably below standard is this latest sagebrush melodrama. ‘Toll of the Desert’ handicapped further by absence of name draw and flaws galore, will have hard time pleasing even juvenile Saturday matinee matrons. Nearly all the fundamental mistakes of old-time Westerns are incorporated in this prairie wildflower. Story rambles aimlessly most of time, actors stand around listlessly as if waiting for their cue, dialog is largely confined to one-syllable words and with few exceptions mangled by cast.” — Variety p15 Ja 15 ’36

TOO MANY PARENTS. Mr 20 ’36 71min Para- mount
Players: Frances Farmer, Lester Matthews. Porter Hall. George Ernest
Director: Robert F. McGowan

“It is the story of George Ernest, eleven, motherless son of a traveling father too busy to write him letters. In defense of his adored dad he writes the letters himself to himself and is punished in military fashion for the lie. He tries to commit suicide and his rescue by the suddenly awakened parent is the climax.” — Hollywood Reporter

Trade Paper Reviews

“This picture is a swell piece of entertainment and should be a natural at most any box-office. The family, trade, and the women and [children] especially, should go for it in a big way. It may not be a special, and word-of-mouth advertising may have to put it over, but whoever sees it will certainly be a ticket seller.” + Film Daily p8 Mr 10 ’36

“Here’s a boy story about real boys and all-too-real more that nearly anyone of the mawkish and artificial and comes in with a full cargo of good entertainment for all ages. It can be labeled ‘Family’ with a large F, but it won’t stop there. What it may lack in name appeal it will make up by word-of-mouth in all sorts of neighborhoods and it will build up to substantial earnings all round.” + Hollywood Reporter p3 Mr 7 ’36

“Played principally by children, this comedy drama has a different appeal as family entertainment. The citizens of buried red patheal are offered to indicate good, general audience reception.” + Motion Pict Daily p10 Mr 9 ’36

TOO TOUGH TO KILL. N 23 ’35 58min Columbia

Players: Victor Jory. Sally O’Neil
Director: D. Ross Lederman

“[An] engineer is forced to combat unknown forces hampering his tunnel project. Aided by a girl reporter, he captures the culprits who were working for a rival company.” — Box Office

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Class A. General approval.” — N Y Arch- diocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 ’36

Endorsed Motion Pict Ja ’36

“A rather commonplace picture with only good photography, a few tense moments and the good work of Victor Jory to recommend it. Adults and young people.” — E Coast Pre- view Committee
— Fox W Coast Bul D 14 ’35
Mo Film Bul p202 D ’35

“Fair. Adults & young adults.” — Motion Pict Guide Mr ’36

“A and Y: Fair; C: No. Tense.” — Par M p57 Mr ’36

“Adults and young people.” — Sel Motion Pict D 1 ’35

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p29 N 23 ’35

“Plot built around the construction of a tunnel offers many possibilities and author and director have taken advantage of this fact. While the picture is not above program class it will very likely please in most spots.” + — Film Curb p12 D 15 ’35

“A story that is pretty much of the make-shift variety . . . this production is relegated to the lesser spots.” + — Film Daily p7 D 20 ’35

“This is an action love drama built around the construction of a great aqueduct from Parker Dam on the Colorado to Los Angeles and other coast cities. . . There is perhaps sufficient suspense to intrigue the general run of audiences, although the love interest is meager.” + — Motion Pict Daily p2 D 5 ’35

“Family melodrama.” — N Y Exhibitor p38 D 25 ’35

“Highly fictional film material molded along lines that are all too familiar.” — Variety p15 D 25 ’35

TOP HAT. S 6 ’35 99min RKO
Director: Mark Sandrich
Music: Irving Berlin
Based on the play The Girl Who Dared, by Alexander Farago and Aladar Laszlo. “Dale Tremont, an American girl who wears and advertises clothes designed by an Italian couturer, falls in love with Jerry Travers, an American musical-comedy star, but believes him to be Horace Hardwick, producer of the show and husband of her friend, Madge. The mistaken identity theme runs through the film as the scene is shifted from modernistic apartment interiors in London to the carnival Lido in pursuit of love and explanations." (Lit Digest)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family and junior matinee."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Very good. Family."

Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"A, Y and C; Fine musical comedy; Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire."

Par M p57 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Dance-interludes of excellent song and score are furnished by Irving Berlin. ... It is a finished, expertly acted musical." + Lit Digest p30 S 7 '35

"Spring'f'd Republican pIC S 22 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p39 N 16 '35

"Probably the best of the Astaire-Rogers musicals."

Film Curb p18 O 1 '35

TOUGH GUY. Ja 24 '36 72min MGM

Players: Joseph Calleia. Jackie Cooper. Harvey Stephens.

Director: Chester Franklin.

"A desperate gangster hiding out in the mountains succumbs to the charm of a runaway boy and his dog. An offer of a large reward for the return of the boy tempts the other members of the mob and they 'highjack' the boy. The gangster rescues the boy and thus in a small measure repays his debt to society." + Jt Estimates

Audience Suitability Ratings

"An interesting psychological study which will provide food for speculation to the thoughtful, while entertaining value for all."

The Jewish Ledger Mr '36

"Adult." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"While the film could serve as a warning to rebellious children, it nevertheless develops sympathy for criminals and pictures many brutal details. Mature." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Thrilling and well acted melodrama with a story here so cleverly muddled in position that a boy's devotion for his dog could soften the heart of a desperate gangster. Adults." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

Fox W Coast Bul F 1 '36

"While the picture is replete with acts of violence there is a human quality due to sympathetic direction and the logical development of the story that lifts it far above the sordidness of ordinary gangster pictures, giving force to the presentation of the adult and young people." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ja 22 '36

"Very good. ... While the picture is absorbing on account of the natural acting of talented Jackie Cooper, dramatic characterization of Joseph Calleia, beautiful photographic views of California scenery, and above all the amazing performance of Rin Tin Tin, Jr., it is regrettable that it seems to sentimentalize the gangster. Mature." + Jt Estimates Ja 15 '36

"A film which will delight the young and unsophisticated. ... The treatment is naive and sentimental but the action is fast; the acting is competent and the film will undoubtedly please the majority of audiences. Although it has an adult certificate it seems actually intended for a young audience for those under sixteen, for it will remind them of many of their own favourite stories where the boy wins through after desperate adventures. Suitability: adults, adolescents and children." + Mo Film Bul p30 Ja 27 '36

"Family." *Nat Council of Jewish Women Ja 22 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." *Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Exciting, with plenty of violent action, and some good photographic treatments. Family." + Wkly Guide Ja 25 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"While something of the fine dash and swift, lyrical movement that characterized those silent Westerns is missing in the current, the dialogue variety, there is good human interest in [the] picture, and it works up to a frenzied climax. You are asked, of course, to make certain reservations in the matter of credibility on various occasions, but the lusty male audience yesterday that gave the same stamp of approval, and when Calleia dies in spite of Rin Tin Tin Jr.'s brave attempt to save his life, snifflies were audible throughout."

Tazreen Ja 22 '36

"Even without the excellent Joseph Calleia, probably our favorite public enemy, 'Tough Guy' would have pleased this reviewer mightily, because he [can assume] success for any story about a boy and a dog." J. T. M.

N Y Times p10 Mr 14 '36

"You will find ['Tough Guy'] is a thoroughly warming film in which you can safely invest all your sympathy. ... Although it is another variation on the tough kid's regeneration theme, it is set forth so honestly and realistically that there is no semblance of hokum to it. This manner of approach to the problem, and the method of treatment, that the story is free from sloppy sentiment, that it is told briskly and straightforwardly and that it is profoundly well acted." William Boehner

N Y World-Telegram p15 Mr 16 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p30 Ja 4 '36

"Here is a picture that is sure-fire for the popular appeal and it will be sincerely relished by the youngsters. It is the story of a dog, a boy and an outlaw and while it is not the most plausible tale ever written there is no denying that it has much human interest and offers dramatic entertainment." + Est Magazine p10 F 10 '36

"Having no women in the cast and therefore being without a romantic angle, this production looks best for the male trade. But its story is strong and interesting enough to click with a lot of [women] as well." + Film Daily p57 Mr 14 '36

"A fast-moving and at times thrilling program melodrama. Mr. M. W. Apple: This picture could play to male audiences and to youngsters. There are no women in the cast; therefore it lacks romance. An added plus is that it is a picture fairly for children, exhibitors will have to use their own judgment about showing it to them be- cause a gangster is glorified. Suitable for adults...
TOUGH GUY—Continued

+ Harrison's Reports F 8 '36

"This one is a flakelike of the famous Warner group of Rin Tin Tin pictures, but done in a different manner from a story, although not unbelievable at any time, is nevertheless en- tertaing because of the production, direction and acting. It's a super 16 mm picture and one that will send the [children] into hysterics at every performance and please quite a few of the grownups whose desires run to this type of show...

+ Hollywood Reporter p3 Ja 25 '36

"Designed for general audiences, this picture will fit nicely on most programs. The lack of love interest should not prove a handicap and the picture should be well received as good action entertainment."

+ Motion Pict Daily p10 Ja 27 '36

"Essentially this is a boy's picture... The way in which it is written, directed and played, it concentrates exclusively on what modern boys, just before the teen age, apparently like to think. It's exciting from a [child's] point of view, and naturally has an atmosphere of theatrical [heroism] that more mature spectators are likely to consider rather hokey."

Motion Pict Herald p58 F 8 '36

"Tough Guy" has developed into rather ex- citing entertainment... It has a trio of compeling interest which with the ten rays of action pushes the picture into a classification that looks like money. It won't get the women as much as the men, and won't do a land-office business but everything points to over-average breaks.

+ Variety p29 Mr 18 '36

TRAIL OF THE LONESOME PINE. Mr 13 '36
102 min Paramount

Director: Henry Hathaway

Based on the novel of the same title by John Fox, Jr. This is the third version of the novel as a film. Made in color. It's the story of Feudal Blue Mountain and the resis- tance they put up when efforts are made to build a railroad through their property. The conflict is led by Fred MacMurray, who gets romantically involved with a schoolgirl, Sylvia Sidney, who in turn is loved by Henry Fonda, a mountain boy."

(Film Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

A and Y: Interesting novelty; C: Too strong.

Christian Century p447 Mr 18 '36

"Lovers of color will rejoice in this first out- door, all color feature... The question is whether the story is as good as the technique that has been applied to the screen, although the characterization is consistently good throughout."

Motion Pict & Family p5 Mr 15 '36

"Adolescents, 12-16; good; children, 8-12: very emotional for many."

Motion Pict R Mr 3 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Adults and young people."

See Motion Pict & Family p27 '36

"Recommended to the Exceptional Photoplays Committee."

+ Wky Guide F 22 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Holding in mind the mistake of the al- colored 'Becky Sharp' of last year when the drama was lifted up by the pigmentation rather than inversely, the producers astutely planned and effectively executed pictorial color for the film, using it as an embellishment. The result is soothing and pleasant; neither color nor scenery dist- ract from the present chief point in the picture; it's in the color in the form in which it now is presented comes pretty close to long-sought perfection, making this picture something like a picture that it would be without the exquisite shadings of the blues and greens and golden browns as the setting for these majestic mountain forests and lakes in the hills. As entertainment the production is satisfying drama."

J. F. Cuningham

+ Commonweal p524 Mr 6 '36

"The 'Lonesome Pine' story possesses ele- ments to hold the attention of an audience and a background which would lend itself to beauti- ful treatment in black and white photography... I found the picture rather dull, which I attribute mainly to the story... I am sure it was color photography which spoiled for me the performance of Sylvia Sidney. She has the love interest on the screen... If you are one of those who take an intelligent interest in the progress of a color picture you must see this picture. In it color was put on trial." Allan Hershot

+ Hollywood Spec p6 F 29 '36

"Though this picture would have been out- standingly an entertainment without the color, for it is exceptionally moving and excellently played, to the smallest part—it is even better in color. But the distinctive flavor of this grand picture does not readily lend itself to reproduction on paper. You must see it." The Trail of the Lonesome Pine for yourself." (4 stars) Beverly Hills

Liberty p28 Mr 7 '36

"The color is magnificent, if one likes color. 'Becky Sharp' and its jewel-like predecessor. 'La Cucaracha' have won scores to approval of natural color in films. It is reason- able to think that the color in 'The Trail of the Lonesome Pine' will go still further toward erasing resentment toward tints on the screen. Fred Stone is superb in the earthy rôle of Jud Toller, the feuding mountainman. It is Spanky McFarland, as tragic little Buddy Toller, who is most attractive on the screen, and generally released, as a new child-actor idol."

+ Lit Digest p20 F 29 '36

"Unfortunately I cannot help retaining the suspicion that although the villages and the people of the new film look very pretty, the advantages of the color process cannot be demonstrated to any great effect when the accompanying story is so un- exhilarating. It may be true that, so far as the cinema goes, color is progress, but I hardly think that a modern technical process is shown to its best advantage when used to tell an outmoded story... I was rather disappointed in Miss Sidney, as I was in the photoplay. It seemed to me that her hysteri- cal screaming were the sort of tricksy color outbursts that pass for good acting only among the legions of juvenile stars. Mr. MacMurray is, no doubt, just what the scriptwriters had in mind for, and Mr. Fonda actually makes an attempt to characterize one of the shootings of the Tollivers."

+ N Y Herald Tribune p20 F 20 '36

"Maybe something could be done about that series of unobjectionable melodramas and protracted flat-fight scenes which ruined yesterday's noontime spectators to loud giggles. The 'Trail of the Lonesome Pine' could have used the vigor of the out-and-out action drama... The color, although still too often rather like a tinted postcard, is an improvement; as pretty possibly as 'Becky Sharp.' This time they have been wise enough to use somber hues whenever possible in believing the usual strain color photography on the eyes. Technicolor not yet perfect. This picture proves that it can be done with a proper production. The box is never objective here nor insistent. It doesn't do anything to bolster up an ordinary picture of ny. Suitable ny. But Variety. Paramount'. As Pine', been to which casting field anywhere. rugged any-color. "The gifted little screen has performances that most perfect, exploded Technicolor Creelman

rugged

Trowel +

ute

story. Buddy Fox

Hillbillies

sharp

story, the

Lonesome Pine' is just an twenty-year-old film, made partly bearable by some

Gifted players and some compensating Techni-

William Bochnel

N Y World-Telegram p25 F 20 '36

The film won't help the Technicolor cause any-

Pine' again. With John Mosher

New Yorker p39 F 29 '36

In the first full-length Technicolor feature, 'Becky

Sharp', the method of color director Robert

Edmond Jones was to compose the chromatic values of each sequence as if it were a museum piece rather than an episode in a story. In 'The Trail of the Lonesome Pine', Producer

Walter Wanger and Director

Hathaway treat the medium with no such self-conscious awe. It can be viewed not merely as a milestone in the employment of Technicolor in the cinema but also as satisfactory entertainment. It may have been even more satisfactory entertainment if Producer-Writer-Director had in his embarkment of his sane notions about color produc-on, some vehicle more appropriate to the latest wrinkle in Hollywood ingenuity than

John Fox Jr.'s antiquated sermon about Kenucky hillbillies and their childish squabbles."

+ - Time p25 Mr 2 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Walter Wanger's all color production of this rugged drama is excellent entertainment. It should be utilized by the box office for new records. It is an outstanding triumph in the field of natural color. "

N Y Sun p23 F 20 '36

"If you think an artistic picture can't be box office take a look at this one. An impressive, beautiful piece of entertainment that has universal appeal and will be appreciated anywhere. It has everything and then some. A grand story, perfect direction and fine acting."

Film Curb p8 F 29 '36

"With or without color, this production has been so effectively done from screenplay and casting to direction and editing that it can't miss. As for the new Technicolor process in which the entire film is photographed, perhaps the best compliment that can be paid is to say it's so natural and unobtrusive that the audience is able to forget about the color and tell story and on the story. By completing the groundwork for several kinds of conflict, action, suspense and heart interest, all dove-tails together and carried to a point of strong finish that will send the fans home with wet handkerchiefs but a satisfied feeling."

Harrison's Reports p23 F 20 '36

"As it is the first outdoor color picture made, it should draw many curious patrons to the box-office. The photography in the outdoor scenes is satisfying. At times it takes one's breath away. But the color is detrimental to the actors rather than helpful;

occasionally, it makes it difficult to identify them; at other times they look either extremely flushed or peculiarly pale."

Motion Pict Herald p45 F 25 '36

"This is gorgeous in spots. It will have audience craving for Technicolor, a great piece of entertainment for all classes and a box office smash, by every sign. It is the best screen production of this year. It has the sight of the tint era by a great technical stride, demonstrating what scope color photography has to offer. It is a film of drama, and how it may be utilized to enhance pictorial delight without detracting from powerful drama and emotional concentration."

Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 19 '36

TRAILS OF THE WILD. N 27 '35 61 min Am-

Head: Kermit Maynard, Monte Blue,

Billee Seward, Fuzzy Knight

Director: Sam Newfield

Based on short story, Caryl of the Mountains, by James Oliver Curwood. "Royal Northwest Mounted policeman sent after kidnappers, also aims to find his pal's murderer. Before it is all over, he has the satisfaction of doing a dual job but he has also won the kidnapped man's daughter." (N Y Exhibitor)

Trade Paper Reviews

"Efficiently produced, with a capable cast and nicely paced direction, this story of the Northwest Mounted Police will fill its purpose in entertaining the followers of outdoor melodrama."

Film Daily p13 N 29 '35

"'Trails of the Wild' will satisfy action lovers."

N Y Exhibitor p37 O 10 '35

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; -- Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

TRAITS OF THE WILD—Continued

"Weak picture because of failure to realize story possibilities." Director has failed to weave story together and there are numerous druggy episodes.

— Variety p15 D 4 '35

TRANSATLANTIC TUNNEL. O 27 '35 94min Gaumont-British Players: Richard Dix, Madge Evans, Leslie Banks, George Arliss

Director: Maurice Elvey

Based on the novel The Tunnel, by Bernhard Kellerman. "Story of an engineer's efforts to build a tunnel between England and America as a safe-guard to world peace." (Wkly Guide)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Catholic News p41 Ja 25 '35

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) O 26 '35

"Good. Family. Mature." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"Mastery direction, unusual, excellent photography and magnificent stage settings add to its reality. Sombre and fascinating entertainment for the family." + Nat Council of Jewish Women O 1 '35

"A and Y: Interesting; C: Thrilling, mature." Parade Mr '35

"It is a splendid picture of the play of human emotions, of individual anguish against the dramatic background of a great achievement, and glorifies and makes credible supreme courage in the face of almost insuperable difficulty. Family. (Very exciting)!" + Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35

"The action is slow. Suggested for church use. Family." + Wkly Guide O 19 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is too carelessly put together to be first-class entertainment." E. F. M.

— + Boston Transcript p4 N 15 '35

"A strong and picturesque entertainment with a Julio Verne tinge, larded with the amorous intrigue to be expected in this revival of Drury Lane spectacle in a new medium." + Christian Science Monitor p16 N 15 '35

"The trouble with this picture is not, of course, its pacifism, though that's as hollow as the tunnel itself, but just that it's nearly all tantrums and not enough tunnel. Scenarists, like cooks, women and children... The story — New Statesman & Nation p772 N 23 '35

"Is extremely well managed in its spectacle scenes and pretty dull in its more personal drama." Richard Watts, Jr.

— + N Y Herald Tribune p8 O 28 '35

N Y Sun p41 O 25 '35

Reviewed by Andre SENWALD

N Y Times p16 O 25 '35

"I was quite unable to sit this film through, though by leaving I missed the 'courtesy appearance' of Mr. George Arliss as the Prime Minister of Britain, an actor from whose Athenaeum manner I sometimes derive a rather horrible pleasure." Graham Greene

— Spec p963 N 22 '35

TRADE PAPER REVIEWS

Box Office p55 N 16 '35

Film Curb p3 N 1 '35

"Impressive spectacular production combines great dramatic punch with emotional human drama. (The) effect of realism has seldom been approached in any spectacular production we can recall, and certainly in no other imaginative conception." + Film Daily p8 O 29 '35

N Y Exhibitor p29 N 10 '35

TREACHERY RIDES THE RANGE. (Release date not determined) 55min Warner

Players: Paula Stone, Monte Blue

Director: Frank McDonald

A western melodrama.

Trade Paper Reviews

"Camera has caught some fine backgrounds and all this is a praiseworthy Western." + Film Curb p19 Mr 7 '35

"It's the buffalo range this time, and this peppy Western quickie goes back sixty years for a kernel of history around which to build a routine saddle and six-shooter opus... The production is lavish for a Western..." + Hollywood Reporter p3 F 28 '36

"Offering a happy combination of good story, capable acting, excellent photography and skillful direction, this production ranks high among the current picture offerings. Dick Foran, as scout, with a cavalry regiment, gives a pleasing performance which should increase his following. His personality has definite appeal for men, women, and children... The story angle of the abuse visited upon the Indians by the white man should, gain favor with parent-teacher associations..." + Motion Pict Daily p6 Mr 2 '36

"While there is only a little bit of love interest, that quality is so logically inserted that in addition to billing the attraction as an action adventure film, it also can be publicized as a western romance... Previewed in Warner's Forum Thursday evening, second-run neighborhood house. The audience showed its approval of the picture's well handled thrill and action by doing plenty of whistling and cheering..." + Motion Pict Herald p50 Mr 7 '36

"Good action entertainment where Westerns are standard amusement. Will take care of its end of bill. Story has freshness of subject matter, and incident has been neatly shaped to hold suspense and keep physical action galloping toward clashing finish... Shortcomings, none serious from entertainment standpoint, are in atmosphere of period suggested, and in some annoying technical inconsistencies which, however, Western addicts will generally overlook..." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 28 '36

TRIGGER TOM. (Release date not determined) 61min Reliable

Players: Tom Tyler, Bernadine Hayes, William Gould

Director: Henri Semels

A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A Western with a different plot, and superb photography. Family; 12 yrs. up."

Nat Bd of R

Fox W Coast Bul N 23 '35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
"A. Y and C: Western."
Par M p57 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Up to the high Tyler standard, good stuff for the Western lovers, this has a little different plot, will satisfy. Family Western."
+ N Y Exhibitor p40 D 25 '35

TUMBLING TUMBLEWEEDS. S 9 '35 57min
Republic
Players: Gene Autry. Smiley Burnette. Lucile Browne
Director: Joseph Kane
A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings
Mo Film Bul p177 N '35
"Fair. Family."
+ = Motion Pict Guide Mr '36
"A, Y and C: Entertaining Western."
Par M p57 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"It's fitting supporting program material. . .
Action is swift and sometimes alarmingly confusing, as in the furious and persistent shooting frays of the film when it's not always clear whether the lads are firing away at themelves or rivals."
+ = Variety p33 F 5 '36

TWO FACES. See Another face

TWO FISTED. O 4 '35 65min Paramount
Players: Lee Tracy. Gail Patrick. Roscoe Karns
Director: James Cruze
From play Is Zat So? by James Gleason and Richard Taber. "Amusing comedy of a lazy prizefighter and his trainer and the part they [take] in helping a young mother keep her small boy." (Wkly Guide)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"A: Cheap: Y: No value; C: No."
Christian Century p1574 D 4 '35
"Fair. Adults & young adults."
Motion Pict Guide Mr '36
"A and Y: Amusing; C: Possible."
Par M p57 Mr '36
"Family."
Wkly Guide O 15 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p63 N 9 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p58 N 16 '35

"Stage play, 'Is Zat So,' retains all of its buxom humor on the screen and certainly will keep any audience in rare good spirits."
+ Film Curb p17 O 1 '35

"A laugh show that is slightly short on names, longer on entertainment."
+ N Y Exhibitor p30 O 10 '35

TWO FOR TONIGHT. S 18 '35 61min Par-mount
Players: Bing Crosby. Joan Bennett. Mary
Boland. Thelma Todd
Director: Frank Tuttle
From unproduced play of same title by J.
O., and Max Lieb. "In this light comedy a weak plot is held together by Bing Crosby's singing and some clever characterizations.
It is the story of a young song composer who is forced by necessity to write a play. The first act easily written, his efforts to have 'life' furnish the material for the second and third acts brings to him many complications and finally romance." (Gen Fed of Women's Clubs)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. General approval." N Y Arch-
diocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Feeble; Y: Probably good; C: If it interests."
Christian Century p1633 D 18 '35

"A good start ends in inconsistent slapstick.
Mature." DAR

"A slight, somewhat confused and indefiinite plot development, with amusing improb-abilities that are strung together and held by Bing Crosby's voice and personality and Mary Boland's delightful comedy of which there is too little. Family." E Coast Preview Committee

"Adolescents: possibly entertaining; children:
no interest." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

+ = Fox W Coast Bul S 13 '35

"Family and junior matinee."
Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)
S 25 '35

"Fair. Family."
Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"Family."
Nat Council of Jewish Women S 1 '35

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A and Y: Comedy with Bing Crosby; C: If interested."
Par M p57 Mr '36

"[It is] an amusing but inconsequential film. Family."" Sel Motion Pict N 1 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is a very amusing and well-written entertainment." Graham Greene
+ Spec p62 S 27 '35
Springfield Republican p6c S 22 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p58 N 16 '35

TWO HEARTS IN HARMONY. N 1 '35 55min
Associated British Players: Bernice Claire. George Curzon.
Enid Stamp-Taylor. Paul Hartley
Director: William Beaudins singer who, more or less accidentally, becomes governess to a peer's son. Her double life is discovered by her employer, a widower, and the attempted mischief-making of his bold-digging fiancée insures that the wedding bells do not ring until after much amusing and tuneful incident." (Motion Pict Daily)

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
TWO HEARTS IN HARMONY—Continued

Audience Suitability Ratings
Mo Film Bul p178 N ’35

Trade Paper Reviews

"A neat blend of sentiment, humor and popular music with just the right light touch." + Motion Pict Daily p6 N 21 ’35

"This is an excellent example of a type of film which British producers could make regularly with a very good chance of achieving a regular acceptance in the U. S. market, even if their entries were on the second feature basis. Most of the investment has been in brains, the production being modest in scope as well as in length, but bright story values, variety of incident and deft direction have produced really good light entertainment, with a dash of American characterization and a number of attractive song numbers as additional merits." + Motion Pict Herald p64 N 30 ’35

"No attempt has been made to turn out an expensive production, but instead an intelligently-expended bankroll has resulted in the making of a film which will probably please here and neatly fit a niche in any American program." + Variety p39 N 20 ’35

TWO IN REVOLT. (Release date not determined) 60min RKO Players: John Arledge. Louise Latimer. Moroni Olsen
Director: Glenn Tryon
"The story deals with the Colt of fine racers, and a dog who grow up together, then are split apart, the dog roaming with wolves and the horse free on the desert, after escaping from horse-thieves. Their love for their young master brings them back from the desert [and the horse] wins a big race." Hollywood Reporter

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"From the moment it began, straight to the finish fade-out, my interest was fastened to the screen. . . [It is] deserving, in my estimation, of a place among the year’s notable films." Allan Hersholt + + Hollywood Spec p11 Mr 14 ’36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Will go over big with all lovers of animal stories." + Canadian Moving Pict Digest p8 Mr 14 ’36

"One of the best 'animal' pictures ever made. It’s a really delightful bit of entertainment that will be especially relished by the family trade. . . This one is novel, interesting and well worth seeing." + Film Curb p8 Mr 14 ’36

"This is class entertainment for sixty happy minutes. It is minus marquee names, but is one of those few class B productions that every once in a while steps out to grab the upper rung of dual bills. The [neighborhood houses] should appreciate it particularly and ask for more like it." + Hollywood Reporter p4 Mr 7 ’36

"It is an unusually interesting and appealing human element, with its romance and complication, is a necessary but not too prominent adjunct to the story. The beautiful scenic effects against which the film has been photographed add much to the effectiveness." + Motion Pict Daily p11 Mr 9 ’36

"Patterned somewhat after ‘Sequoia’ insofar as animal life is concerned, this offering should be a natural box office attraction for those who love nature films. While picture lacks box office names it will require smart showmanship to take advantage of the many exploitation possibilities afforded in this opus to draw customers in." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 7 ’36

TWO IN THE DARK. Ja 10 ’36 65min RKO
Director: Ben Stoloff
Based on the novel, Two O’Clock Courage, by Gelett Burgess. "[The] story involves effort of a man to establish his true identity and his connection with the murder of a theatrical producer after [he] is picked up as an amnesia sufferer in a park by an unemployed actress." (Variety [Hollywood])

Audience Suitability Ratings

Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
With Reviews p24 Ja 25 ’36

"Well acted, directed and photographed. Family mature." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Good. Mature." DAR
"[This is] a clever, entertaining mystery drama, Family." Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast)

"A mystery story that is really mysterious, with many unexpected and sometimes amusing twists and a surprising outcome. Family." Nat Bd of R

"The suspense is so well maintained that one does not suspect the solution of this very interesting murder mystery until the very end. Adults." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"This cleverly contrived murder-mystery with its capable cast makes very acceptable entertainment. Family—mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women’s Clubs

"Suspense is exceptionally well maintained and the entire production is in good taste. Audiences over 14." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Entertaining for those who like a good detective story. Mature." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Here is a sprightly mystery story which is far from the stereotyped variety. Family." Women’s Univ Club. Los Angeles

"A. Fox W Coast Bul Ja 12 ’36

"The palm must go to the director for his expert handling of material. An interesting story, wise use of suspense, pantomime, unexpected bits of comedy, all resulting in a vividly interesting picture. Family." + Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast)

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 ’36

"A and Y: Grim, gripping mystery; C: Tense." Par M p57 Mr ’36

"A mystery story that is really mysterious, with many unexpected and sometimes amusing twists and a surprising outcome. Well written and directed." + Wkly Guide Ja 4 ’36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"If your taste matches mine, you may put 'Two in the Dark' on your list of things to see. Despite the colorless performance of Walter Abel, who plays the lead, it will hold your interest throughout. Abel is an agreeable young man, recently recruited from the stage and given preference over scores of other agreeable young men who have had long training in screen acting, the lack of such training being obvious in all of Abel's scenes."

Trade Paper Reviews

"Exceptionally fine mystery thriller, packed with surprising situations and suspense. Direction has been handled with a deft hand gauging plot development through a series of tense situations."

Box Office p59 Ja 11 '36

Film Curb p12 Ja 4 '36

"The clever unravelling of the mystery holds you tense to the final scene. The honors go to the author for a very unusual plot, ably seconded by smart direction and a very competent cast throughout."

Daily p1 Ja 18 '36

"A fairly good thriller melodrama... Because of the murder it is unsuitable for children or Sundays. Good for adults."

+ — Harrison's Reports Ja 11 '36

Motion Pict Daily p3 D 14 '35

"Deep, dyed-in-the-wool mystery drama uniquely contrived, involving a brand new situation and running through a whole series of expertly concealed crime incidents, the production provides enough action, suspense and thrill to puzzle and satisfy any kind of audience. Its mystery character, expertly and undeniably woven to be highly complicated, should tax the sleuthing proclivities of the most astute amateur criminologists. Similarly it should give the professionals plenty of opportunity to exercise their imaginations."

+ Motion Pict Herald p52 D 21 '35

"Programmer that is decidedly better than many star pictures now current but which is handicapped because the cast hasn't star excellence. Family mystery drama."

+ N Y Exhibitor p33 Ja 10 '36

"[The] picture is more genuinely puzzling than the run of mysteries, compelling closest sustained attention to prevent audience confusion and may therefore lose something for popular entertainment. Production's general merit, however, keeps it always on the interesting side, with competent playing and intelligent direction holding it up as satisfactorily produced complement."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 13 '35

TWO SINNERS. O 10 '35 72min Republic

Players: Otto Kruger, Martha Sleeper. Minna Gombell. Cora Sue Collins

Director: Arthur Lubin

Based on the novel, Two Black Sheep, by Warwick Deeping. "[A] released prisoner, keeping his past a secret, falls in love with a shy young spinster. The girl turns from him when she learns his record but he comes to her aid after she is wrongfully arrested."

(BOX OFFICE)

Audience Suitability Ratings

Mo Film Bul p178 N '35

"Rather heavy but relieved by an imp of a child and Martha Sleeper's splendid acting. Family."

+ — Nat Bd of R M S '35

"A and Y: Excellent; C: Mature."

Par M p57 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Miss Gombell, while having an unpleasant part, does fine work, portraying an unprincipled woman with unusual insight."

Springfield Republican p2 N 15 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p59 N 16 '35

V

VALLEY OF WANTED MEN. O 20 '35 63min Conn

Players: Frankie Darro. Roy Mason. Drue Leyton

Director: Alan James

Based on the story, All for Love, by Peter B. Kyne. "The hero, wrongly convicted, escapes with two other convicts, eventually gets the real criminal, clears his name, wins the girl." (N Y Exhibitor)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archbishop Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Good."

+ Endorsed Motion Pict Ja 36

"A, Y and C: Good action drama."

Par M p57 Mr '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Somewhat different from usual run of this type and seems certain to click with those fans who like the smashing, fighting, exciting outdoor tales."

+ Film Curb p19 N 1 '35

"Good action entertainment with fast-moving story and excellent cast."

+ Film Daily p8 O 22 '35

N Y Exhibitor p32 N 10 '35

VIRGINIA JUDGE. S 27 '35 50min Paramount

Players: Walter Kelly, Stepin Fetchit. Marsha Hunt

Director: Edward Sedgwick

"The kindly old judge has everything he wants in life except the love of his stepson and the story tells his efforts to gain that."

(WLHY GUIDE)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Adults: very good; 14-18 and 8-14: good; possible for family." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"There are some very excellent bits of Negro characterization interpolated into the story, which fans a more or less hackneyed idea and is made believable by the sincerity of the acting of the entire cast. Disappointing. Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Family, exclusive of young children." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Entertaining and demonstrates the good results obtained from the wise handling of youth. Family." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

+ Fox W Coast Bul N 23 '35

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
VOICE OF BUGLE ANN. F 7 '36 70min MGM
Players: Lionel Barrymore, Maureen O'Sullivan, Eric Linden, Dudley Digges
Director: Richard Thorpe

Based on the novel of the same title by Mackinley Kantor. In this folk tale of the Ozark Mountains of Missouri, Barrymore plays a mountaineer who calls one of his beloved fox hunting hounds Bugle Ann because of the beauty of her voice. A dog-hating neighbor, played by Dudley Digges threatens to shoot any dog found on his property. When Bugle Ann disappears, Barrymore, disconsolate, kills Digges and is sentenced to prison. Digges's daughter who is in love with Barrymore's son arranges for a parole for the old man.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family," Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"The plot becomes a bit confused, but the simplicity of the people with their backwoods philosophy, the scenic beauty of the Ozark Mountains and the fine work of Lionel Barrymore and his members of the cast make it a picture well worth seeing. Family. Mature," Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Family," Nat Soc of New England Women

"Excellent. Family," S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Family," Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) F '36

"Because of the ethics of the backwoods, the casual acceptance of murder makes the picture unacceptable for children. Mature," Nat Est Council of Jewish Women F '36

"Very good. General patronage." Nat Legion of Decency F '36

"Mature." Sel Motion Pict F '1 '36

"Recommended to the Committee on Exceptional Photoplays—junior." + + Wkly Guide F '8 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Commonwealth p497 F 28 '36

"Let us hope picture starts another of those 'cycles' in which the industry so weirdly believes. It is a picture for dog-lovers, a beautifully made picture, tender, sweet, appealing, and as dog-lovers outnumber by one hundred to one the non-lovers, it will be a great box-office success and the brilliantly captured picture padrones will spread the word that the public suddenly has become conscious of the existence of dogs, and we will have another cycle."

+ Hollywood Spec p5 F 15 '36

"The Voice of Bugle Ann," Mackinley Kantor's first novel story, provides the films with a highly interesting bit of Americana. The beautifully photographed bit of folklore is given a mythic treatment. There are, in fact, such consistently fitting performances that the picture is given an air of authenticity and those tired of forms of movie entertaining should give this one a try." (3 stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p29 Mr 21 '36

"The Voice of Bugle Ann" borrows several actors, including Lionel Barrymore, from "Ah Wilderness" without making the best use of them, managing, strangely enough, to be at the same time pretentious and sentimental. The fox hounds of Missouri." Mark Van Doren Nation p360 Mr 18 '36

"My suspicion is that even if you have a reasonably well-behaved, admirable favorite animal, you may find a great part of "The Voice of Bugle Ann" just a trifle cloying. Success happen to be one of those casual followers who can take dogs or leave them alone then I fear you will discover that the villainous fellow who didn't like Man's Most Faithful Friend and planned to take a potshot at him may have had a slight touch of justice on his side. The complete canine admirer should find the work more exhilarating." Richard Watts, Jr. N Y Herald Tribune F 27 '36

"The new film, like most stories and dramas revolving about a dog, jumps way overboard in the matter of sentiment. The dog sentimentalization is on. When Barrymore plays "Ah Wilderness"'s beloved animal, people who are dog-lovers, the picture's biggest appeal. This is easier to accept in print than in drama. Spoken aloud, this excess of emotion is almost embarrassing, no matter how memorably effective it may be in a book." Eileen Creelman N Y Sun p31 F 27 '36

"Metro has adapted this story into the tender, sentimental and richly human play. Far removed from the usual grist from the Hollywood mills, the picture shines with a clear and beautiful simplicity and rings—if so gentle a piece can ring—with conviction." F S. Nugent + + N Y Times p23 F 27 '36

"I have been wondering ever since I saw it how this tender, gently pathetic, curiously entertaining film drama of a man's great love for his dog will ever make itself heard above the uproar of some of the more strident cinema entertainments along Broadway. How, in short, will word ever get about that here is a deeply touching little film—one that will give even the most sophisticated and thick-skinned grownup several right and true emotional stabs... Frankly I don't know what the film's fortunes will be at the box office, but I don't care. It may succeed, as I certainly hope it will, or it may fail, as I sincerely hope it will not. But in any event the producers will have the satisfaction of knowing that they have made a film worth a strong return and well worth seeing. The Voice of Bugle Ann' is [not very] exciting. The murderer gets twenty years for his crime, but, thanks to his mysterious force of personality, he's welcomed back home, an honored and beloved citizen, after only five years in jail. Actually he shouldn't have suffered even that, as his crime was thoroughly justified. That is made clear. His victim had killed, he thought to have killed. His house. You can gather the general approach to things, I imagine." John Mosher

"Director Richard Thorpe has kept a newsreel vitality in his telling of the tale, much of which was made in Missouri, almost the whole of it on the road-instead of doors. It is Lionel Barrymore's best performance in years and a valuable contribution to current cinema."

Time p36 F 21 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Homespun story of man's love for a dog that should play upon the heartstrings of audiences everywhere. Family trade."

Film Curb p11 F 8 '36

"You will want to see it again."

Canadian Moving Pic Digest p10 F 22 '36

"Way above average film fare that has been made to order for the family trade."

Film Curb p11 F 8 '36

"For the family trade, and especially dog lovers, this should be tops. The good of which is much in sending it over. Lionel Barrymore gives a fine characterization as the dog's master. His work is filled with sentiment, and he's good to the Judge when he is on trial for murder which brings a tear."

Film Daily p9 F 6 '36

"It will hold little appeal for the average picture-goer because of the subdued romantic interest and of the fact that the story is concentrated on Lionel Barrymore's love for a dog. Exhibitors will have to use their own judgment about showing it to children because of the murder of an adult."

Harrison's Reports F 15 '36

"A simple, heart-warming tale of folks and hound-dogs in the Ozarks of Missouri, sincere in all its parts and filled with reality and true dramatic values, this is a swell offering for any audience. The direction of this folk-tale by Richard Thorpe is exceedingly good. He has captured the atmosphere of place and people and emphasized the heart-beats without sentimentality, balancing elements with a skill that puts him well into the limelight."

Hollywood Reporter p3 F 1 '36

"This film is exceptional in many ways, not the least of which is the opportunity to bring to the theatre the large number who seldom patronize films, by playing up the remarkable shots of hunting dogs. The company has a number of thin spots, but is none the less interesting in its character drawing. The photography has made Haller's exception."

Motion Pic Daily p5 F 3 '36

"Quite a bit different from usual entertainment material, this picture evidences definite possibilities for reaching audiences in popularity. At the same time it makes available an unusual brand of potentially effective selling showing material. Not only is there much in the picture of more than ordinary interest to dog lovers, but for that segment of audience that thrills to the worth of a well told dramatic story there is plenty to hold attention."

Motion Pict Herald p42 F 15 '36

"The Voice of Bugle Ann' may not prove a strong grosser in all spots, but it deserves to. Should be on this order usually have to fight for returns, but they should be given every type backing. The Metro color treatment is superb. Exhibitors should get behind it. Estimate: depends on selling; best for neighborhood houses, small towns."

N Y Exhibitor p34 F 25 '36

"'Bugle Ann' will be appreciated chiefly by dog lovers, although it's not likely that even the most rabid pooch fancier would condone the murder of a man over a dog which is something attempted in this picture. It appeals to the sentimental, as far as the juvenile trade is concerned. Until the action gets under way, and for a considerable period, it's mostly a technical pictorial on the Missouri farmers' favorite sport. Fox hunt sequences are well done and interesting, but it's the type that needs more and better material than has been provided. In this story the novel material fails to make a satisfactory feature. Without it, the chase stuff might have made a good short subject. . . Everybody, including Richard Thorpe, patronized the photographic possibilities."

Variety Hollywood p3 F 1 '36

WALKING DEAD. Mr 21 '36 60min Warner

Players: Doris Kellogg, Ricardo Cortez, Edmund Gwenn, Marguerite Churchill

Director: Michael Curtiz

"When John Hallman, 'framed' by crooked politicians, is unjustly convicted of murder and electrocuted, he not only succeeds in restoring him briefly to life hoping to gain new evidence about the murder and some in formation about the person who framed him, but as Ellman is now free he pours his luck and Ellman still persists long enough to confound his enemies who have plotted against him." Nat Soc of New England Women

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Adults: good of its type; 14-18: doubtful; 8-14: no." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Adults. Good." DAR

"Though one's interest is held, the picture is heavy and morbid. Adults." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Adults." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Adults." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Club

"Mature." Nat Soc of New England Women

"This is a mature picture as the tension of the situations, too many deaths and scientific experiments are not suitable for children. Adults." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bull F 22 '36

"Adults." Jt Estimates F 15 '36

"It is technically a good job, but granting that there is a public which demands this sort of film, we still wonder why anyone should WALKING DEAD—Continued
choose to see it... Adolescents, 12-16: wholesome, children 8-12: digitally not. A Motion Pic R Mr '36

"Objectionable in part." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Adults." Sel Motion Pic F 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is impossible for me to conceive of this production failing to intrigue a spectator, no matter how hardened, and the terror may be of the real horror kind, or the illusion, as in the case of 'The Walking Dead.' The movie picture exhibitor who seeks to obtain and entertain his patrons. Allan Hersholt

+ Hollywood Spec p10 Mr 14 '36

"As an actor, in our opinion, Karloff is not very good; as a technician he is excellent, for he has created a figure like the Wizard of Oz, without flesh or bones, never as convincing as Lon Chaney was, but who, by his uncanny make-up and bizarre deportment, gives an illusion of acting. The story here is desperately tailored to fit the Karloff formula... The picture, instead of being a ghastly and some very objectionable attempt at horror is so obvious and so strained that it defeats its own purpose, which seems to be to terrorize the audience up and down the audience's back. Not a chill was observed at the Strand the afternoon this writer attended, nor was one impressed. Maurore Tazelaar

+ N Y Herald Tribute p10 Mr 2 '36

"The good Dr. Beaumont's experiments in reviving the dead might not impress a medical society. They are, however, sufficiently well presented to convince an easygoing movie audience for a brief hour. Because its theme falls in the category of the possible, it is not probable. 'The Walking Dead' is rather more successful than the run of horror dramas. The picture, instead of being a ghastly and some very objectionable attempt at horror is so obvious and so strained that it defeats its own purpose, which seems to be to terrorize the audience up and down the audience's back. Not a chill was observed at the Strand the afternoon this writer attended, nor was one impressed. Maurore Tazelaar

+ N Y Herald Tribune p10 Mr 2 '36

"Karloff is something to haunt your sleep at nights... Horror pictures are a staple commodity, and this one was taken from one of the better shelves." F. S. Nugent

+ N Y Times p13 Mr 2 '36

"In it there are some rather silly, pseudo-scientific high jinks." William Boechel

+ N Y World-Telegram p13 Mr 2 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Fair programmer that will please the average thrill fan. The title promises more than the picture delivers, but it will hold its own if properly programmed, Family." + Box Office p35 Mr 7 '36

"It is all very well done and will certainly satisfy anyone who goes in for the supernatural. The suspense is well maintained and the thrills and chills are plentiful." + Variety p35 p19 F 29 '36

"Melodrama [off] thrill and horror category has plenty to please [its] clientele." + Film Daily p6 Mr 2 '36

"Just a moderately engrossing horror melodrama. Its quality is not as horrifying as its title indicates, nor is it up to the standard of thrillers that audiences expect to see Karloff in. Unsuitable for children. Adolescents, 12 to 16: passable for children, Sundays. Adult entertainment." + Harrison's Reports Mr 7 '36

"Here's excellent spookery for those who can take their time and are interested in the supernatural. It is a well-made picture; avoids the stock props of the chiller formula, and steers away from a fresh and less gross manner. In consequence it will top double bills to good draw all the way up to some key city stands. Although Karloff is impressive as the strangely-possessed one, his distinctive acting and those eyes helping to build an unfairly portrait of that man to forget." + Hollywood Reporter p3 F 24 '36

"Karloff here delivers an interesting and sinister characterization though the weak story merely holds that picture to fair entertainment classification." + Motion Pict Daily p10 F 25 '36

"This, the latest effort of Boris Karloff in the field of the supernatural, is a new departure. Despite the exploitation possibilities, exhibitionists might do well to see the picture for themselves before handling it, the better to understand the treatment necessary for the best results, but it can be said that although the picture is up to previous Karloff efforts, its desired result is obtained without outright shocking." Motion Pict Herald p51 Mr 7 '36

"Those with a yen for shockers will get limited satisfaction from the story that has been wrapped around Boris Karloff's initial attempt in the Warner Bros. banner. The director and the supporting cast had to give some semblance of credibility to the trite and pseudo-scientific vapors of the writers. It is at best an effort which is something that moves swiftly enough but contains little of sustained interest. Karloff will have to do more on past performances. 'The Walking Dead' lets him down badly on opportunities." + Variety p26 Mr 4 '36

"'The Walking Dead' is a weakling which will show small signs of life at the box office and will find its natural level in the program support position. Trouble is that it lacks excitement, suspense the macabre thrill to justify its title, and that, while normally a horror-fan should be satisfied in establishing true horror in the entertainment sense, the Karloff name, almost exclusively identified with pictorial dreadfulness and an such having value with the grisly picture addicts, will help considerably in the initial pull to the wicket, but will not be enough to overcome essential story and directorial mediocrity." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 24 '36

WANDERER OF THE WASTELAND. S 20 '35 60min Paramount

Players: Dean Jagger, Gall Patrick, Ed- wiell Ed-Ner, Betty Cutts

Director: Oho Lovering

From novel of same title by Zane Grey. "This western tells of the flight of Death Valley of a fugitive who believes himself guilty of his brother's death. He endures many hardships but overcomes all obstacles, returns home and learns of his exoneration." (Gen Fed of Women's Clubs)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Hardly; Y: Probably good; C: Too strong." Christian Century p1358 O 23 '35

"Mature." DAR

"Family:" E Coast Preview Committee

"Rating: good; Classification: family." Internat Fed of Cath Alumnae

"Edward Ellis gives the picture some degree of verisimilitude. Otherwise it is feeble and unconvincing. Adolescents, 12 to 16: passable for children, 8 to 12: poor; too much violence." Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

+ Fox W Coast Bul 6 '35

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + -- Fair; + -- Mediocre; -- Poor; + -- Exceptionally Poor
"The scenery is beautiful but the picture is not up to the best standard of Westerns. Adults and young people."

- + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) O 5 '35

Mo Film Bul p178 N '35

"Fair. Family."

Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"A good cast and direction which was slow-moving and a story which was interesting but obvious. Family and junior matinees."

+ - Nat Council of Jewish Women O 1 '35

"A and Y; Typical Western; C: Strong."

Par Mr '36

"The scenery is beautiful, but the picture is not up to the best standard of Westerns and is marred by excessive brutality and drinking. Mature."

Sel Motion Pict N 1 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p58 N 16 '35

"This is an above the average Western and will most certainly please followers of the outdoor drama. Incidentally it boasts a cast with several well known." + Film Curb p20 D 15 '35

"Following the familiar pattern with the beautifully photographed Death Valley scenery featured, the picture deals with elements that have an understood entertainment value. It is a substantial fare for juvenile audiences and the picture also holds interest for adult Western fans."

+ Motion Pict Daily p2 D 5 '35

Motion Pict Herald p66 N 16 '35

"Family Western."

N Y Exhibitor p35 O 10 '35

WATERFRONT LADY. O 5 '35 68min Mascot Players: Ann Rutherford, J. Farrell MacDonald, Frank Albertson. Barbara Pepper Director: Joseph Santley

[4A] gambling-ship employee, blamed for a murder committed by his boss, takes refuge in a waterfront village. There he meets a girl who shows him the pleasures of a simple life and when his boss confesses, young love triumphs." Box Office

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class B. Pictures in this classification are adjudged to be unsatisfactory. Not recommended because of subject matter or treatment." N Y Archdiocess Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Poor; Y: No value; C: No."

Christian Century p1356 O 23 '35

Mo Film Bul p179 N '35

"A: Fair; Y and C: No value."

Par M p97 Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Spring'd Republican p6c O 13 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

Box Office p56 N 16 '35

"Unusually satisfactory film fare."

+ Film Curb p16 O 1 '35

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; + - Mediocre; - Poor; - + Exceptionally Poor

"Not too important except as an initial picture for starlet Rutherford, it is suitable program melodrama, holds interest all the way. Family melodrama."

+ - N Y Exhibitor p36 O 10 '35

WAY DOWN EAST. O 25 '35 50min 20th cent-Fox

Players: Rochelle Hudson, Henry Fonda. George J. (Slim) Summerville, Edward Trevor

Director: Henry King

From the old play of same title by Lottie Blair Parker. "Melodrama of the wronged girl and the Puritanic squire, humanized and made remarkably appealing with lovely New England scenery and unusually good period atmosphere." (Wkly Guide)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." N Y Archdiocess Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Fine of Kind; Y: Good; C: Mature."

Christian Century p1459 N 6 '35

"Excellent action, direction, and photography. Outstanding are the performances of Russell Simpson, as Squire Bartlett, and Henry Fonda, as David. Family." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Beautiful photography of New England farm life enhances this well known melodrama wherein mercy tempers the Puritanical justice of an austere squire. Adult." DAR

"Beautifully transcribed. The photography is very fine particularly of the change of seasons and the breaking ice-flows. Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Life-like portraiture and atmosphere depicting standards of an earlier day. Well handled and universally appealing. Family." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Admirable direction, and beautifully told. Family." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

+ - Fox W Coast Bul S 13 '35

"An able cast gives a most realistic performance in this old time melodrama with its glamor, thrills and tense ness, and it appeals to one in just the same old heart-touching manner of yore. Family." + - Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

S 3 '35

"Very good. Family." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"Unobjectionable for adults." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A and Y: Good; C: Mature but possible." Par M p87 Mr '36

"Family." Wkly Guide O 19 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Christian Science Monitor p13 O 26 '35

Reviewed by Mark Van Doren

Nation p604 N 20 '35

"It doesn't emerge as stalwart drama and it never manages to be quite hilarious in its burlesque." Richard Watts, Jr.

+ - N Y Herald Tribune p11 O 31 '35

Reviewed by Eileen Creelman

N Y Sun p32 O 31 '35

"The drama turns out to be surprisingly good fun. . . . An effectively staged, carefully produced and pleasantly acted version of the old road-show classic. . . . The film possesses WAY DOWN EAST—Continued
genuine charm in its earlier pastoral scenes on the New England farm. Andre Sennwald
+ N Y Times p16 O 21 '35
Reviewed by John Mosher
New Yorker p98 N 16 '35
Springf'd Republican p6 D 22 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p55 N 16 '35
Film Daily p14 O 31 '35

WEDDING MARCH. F 27 '36 93min Franco-Italian Players: Tullio Carminati, Cesare Bettarini, Kiki Palmer
Director: Mario Bonnard
Based on the play La Marcia Nuziale by Henry Bataille, an Italian dialogue film with English sub-titles, also known as La Marcia Nuziale. "Claudio Morilbot, a poor young music teacher marries a rich girl named Pasquale. Two years later, they move to Paris, where he tries to win recognition for his compositions. Failing, his wife secures him a position as bookkeeper through the kindness of a classmate, whose husband owns a flourishing business. The husband is attracted to the young woman and a flirtation ensues, which just escapes serious consequences." (N Y Herald Tribune)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Adults." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"The picture is heavy and stumbling in its treatment, marred by the exception of Carminati, rather clumsy and unskilled. The musical accompaniment is the best thing about the film." Marguerite Tazelaar.
— N Y Herald Tribune p12 F 22 '36
"The Wedding March" is one of the few Italian films to be shown here. It is certainly the best of the lot, pointless though its final sequence may be. Technically, of course, the production is far below Hollywood standards. . . . The picture, however, has a pleasant sense of humor, some nice bits of comedy to brighten up the heavy drama.
This should not be compared with local product. As an Italian film, with the beautiful liquid voices a happy contrast to the flatness of so many Southern California accents, it is fair." Eileen Creelman.
— N Y Sun p31 F 27 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"Henry Bataille's drama about a self-sacrificing woman gets such involved and lengthy presentation in this production that the edge is lost in all the incidents when they are occurring. . . . Though the direction, lighting and cutting compete for maladroitness, the stoicness of the proceedings is occasioned relieved by the interpolation of good outdoor scenic shots. The film is exceptionally well scored." — Variety p77 Mr 4 '36

WE'RE ONLY HUMAN. D 20 '35 88min RKO-Kaufman Players: Jane Wyatt, Preston Foster, James Gleason
Director: James Flood
Based on the short story, Husk, by Thomas Walsh. "A] detective loses his job when he lets a bandit, whom he had captured single-handed, escape. With the aid of a girl reporter he pulls himself together and is reinstated as a detective." (Box Office)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
+ Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36
"Good." + Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36
"An excellent cast gives full value to a carefully prepared script. Adults: very good; 14-18: double check; over 18: too exciting." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers
"Mature. Good." DAR
"Adults and young people." E Coast Preview Committee
"[A] very interesting, but different story. Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women
"A gangster plot with much shooting and drinking provides an average program filler for adults." Nat Soc of New England Women
Fox W Coast Bul D 28 '35
"Well staged, capably acted and directed this picture provides exciting entertainment of its kind. Adults." + Gen Féd of Women's Clubs (W Coast) D 28 '35
"In addition to having ideas, this picture has speed, suspense, humor and pathos, and a romance. Adults." + Jt Estimates D 15 '35
"Unobjectionable for adults." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36
"A and Y: Action melodrama; C: Excitings." Par M p57 Mr '36
Sel Motion Pict Ja 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"Although it belongs to that division of cinematic fiction dedicated to maximum excitement and minimum plausibility, 'We're Only Human,' has been endowed by RKO radio with a better-than-average physical production and with several interesting players." T. M. P.
— N Y Times p57 Ja 18 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p36 D 7 '35
"It is a high grade program fare and can be depended upon to give satisfaction. It's a melodrama of the kind that moves along swiftly, tells an exciting story and has plenty of thrilling episodes." + Film Curb p28 D 15 '35
"Action drama of police-crook war with incidental romance makes good general entertainment." + Film Daily p7 Ja 18 '36
"A good action melodrama. . . Since the activities of the gangsters are not stressed it is suitable for all. [Family.] + Harrison's Reports D 21 '35
"Fights between cops and robbers sprinkled liberally throughout this pleasing love story provide plenty of excitement in a nicely directed picture. The screen play moves with plenty of action, nice dialogue and a few inconsistencies which do not offend." + Film Pict Daily p30 D 7 '35
"More than usual entertainment and showmanship significance is attached to this drama.
. . . Sticking closely, at all times, to dramatic and romantic elements that have a definite screen value, it never succumbs to the temptation of being melodramatic. When it does give patrons something else of the kind that moves along swiftly, tells an exciting story and has plenty of thrilling episodes." + Film Curb p28 D 15 '35

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + + Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
so through the force of illusion and example rather than by advancing scientific or medical theories."

+ Motion Pict Herald p59 D 14 '35

"Family melodrama. Fast moving, well cast, this is gun stuff that ought to please even if its de luxe appeal is handicapped by cast star weakness. Playing up emotional values, the direction has concentrated on human interest, with a good programmer resulting."

+ N Y Exhibitor p39 D 25 '35

"Picture just barely manages to maintain some suspense and keep its head far enough above the crook and cop nature. Seasoning of genuine comedy is well sprinkled amongst thrills."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 D 11 '35

WESTERN COURAGE. N 15 '35 58min Columbia
Director: Spencer G. Bennett

"[The] final scene with Foster where the later scolds him to cover emotion as he's dying is superb in phathcs. . . . James Flood turns in excellent direction, keeping the character play intensely interesting, the pace fast and suspense high, and elevating the quality of the piece well above usual offering of the crook and cop nature."

+ Box Office

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"Good."

+ Endorsed Motion Pict D '35

"Beautiful scenic effects, a splendidly trained horse, the determination of a man from a burning building by the horse, add to the enjoyment of a picture which would otherwise have to be classified as 'just another Western.' Fam-lily." E Coast Previe Committee

"Family. Junior matinee." Nat Bd of R
+ Fox W Coast Bull D 14 '35

"Fair. Family."

+ Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

"A, Y and C: Western melodrama." Par M p57 Mr '36
Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
Box Office p27 N 30 '35

"Family Western." N Y Exhibitor p54 D 10 '35

WHISP AW. D 6 '35 82min MGM
Players: Myrna Loy. Spencer Tracy
Director: Sam Wood
When two gangs of international jewel thieves engage in a battle of wits, a G-man posing as a professor from just as good one of the gangs and falls in love with a member who serves as a foil. How he reforms the girl and breaks up the gang concludes the story.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Fine of kind; Y: Fine thriller; C: Not for them." Christian Century p95 Ja 15 '36

"Very good."

+ Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36

"Adults: very good; 14-18: good; 8-14: no interest." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Adults." DAR

"A capable cast, good story, clever direction, sustained suspense, clever human touches, and pleasant humor are the highlights of this different type 'cowp' picture . . . Intelligent good direction, good photography. Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + -- Fair; -- Mediocre; -- Poor; -- Exceptionally Poor
WHIPSAW—Continued

"Myrna Loy gives just the right tone to the picture—a bit of refinement amongst 'mugs', while Spencer Tracy with his combination of spot dramatic and straight character gives it naturalness. Adults." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"The story is well told by a carefully chosen cast with good continuity and dramatic effect." Nat Soc of New England Women

Fox W Coast Bul D 21 '35

"The action is carried forward with a minimum of dialogue. The work of the cast is commendable and the direction is most effective. Adults." Nat Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) D 16 '35

"Very good. Adults."

Motion Pict Guide F' 35

"On reflection the false standards become more apparent. The feminine assistant of jewel thieves is beautiful and charming and gets precisely what she wants in the end after a life of crime, and the brave detective manages to achieve glory and keep the girl for himself instead of reinquishing her to the law. The amount of action is taken in the scenes in which they travel constantly together under fairly intimate circumstances, this being a great deal better than the handle-and-more successfully in previous pictures. Adolescents, 12-16: ethically poor; children, 8-12: no." Motion Pict R Jr Ja 36

"A and Y: Light comedy; C: If interested." Sel Motion Pict Ja 1 '36

An interesting tale . . . given values above the mere story by good acting and direction. Mature.

+ Wky Guide D 14 '35

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The whole affair is concocted and completed with consummate deference and regard for the pat formula, which now gives Broadway nightly laughs—Boy meets girl, boy and girl quarrel, and boy marries girl. It's all there. No less than your ticket money."

Boston Transcript p7 D 20 '35

Christian Science Monitor p15 Ja 11 '36

"A fairly glossy combination of 'Glass Key,' 'It Happened One Night' and 'The Thin Man,' which serves to restore Myrna Loy to her ad. marks. I should think I'd count myself."

New Theatre p24 Mr '36

"The fascinating Miss Loy, who has been away from her enthusiasts far too long, returns to us in a pretty fair melodrama about jewel thieves, beautiful lady bandits and dashing G-men. Her vehicle, which bears the slightly enigmatic title of 'Whipsaw,' is certainly no wonderwork of the drama, but it is a good, sound, pulp-magazine story of the cops-and-robbers variety, and although it sets no new records, it results in acceptable minor entertainment."

Richard Watts, Jr. + — N Y Herald Tribune p6 Ja 25 '36

"For the most part, it is pretty well done. After a slow start, the picture finally ends up with a typical movie combination of sentimentalism and hard-nosed plot of crime. It is fairly obvious, with most of the surprises pointed out a minute or two before they happen, no masterful play of suspense. It is pleasant rather than exciting . . . It is when the melodrama gives way to comedy that 'Whipsaw' is at its best. The well-worked and cleverly plotted work of every one concerned then contrives to make it sparkle briefly. As for the title, that seems to be based on the thought in Holly- wood. It needn't worry you."

Eileen Creelman

+ — N Y Sun p8 Ja 25 '36

"You probably have heard the one about the detective who falls in love with the beautiful jewel thief he is supposed to bring to justice. That would be the briefest, and the most unkind way to synopsize the new picture, and it would be wrong. There is a real work of narration—the manner of the telling. 'Whipsaw' is well told. Sam Wood has directed it at a brisk pace and with a rare knack of making the expected happen in the most unexpected way . . . Under less capable direction and with less gifted performers, 'Whipsaw' probably would have been just another picture. Thanks to Mr. Wood, Miss Loy, Mr. Tracy and John Qualen—a performance and advantages—it's quite a bit more."

F. S. Nugent

— N Y Times p18 Ja 25 '36

"Although 'Whipsaw,' is not 'The Thin Man' or even Star of Midnight, it moderately entertains in its mildly melodramatic way. Chiefly, however, it is interesting because in it Miss Loy demonstrates once more her less than complete ability to carry the audience in her picture only when she is being a completely delightful comedienne but also a really superb dramatic actress and that if she ever finds the right role again—like the one she had in 'The Thin Man' or 'Broadway Bill' she will be able to act it to perfection."

William Boehnel

— N Y World-Telegram p22 Ja 25 '36

"Dialog wavers back and forth between flip- pant, Grade A exchanges between Miss Loy and Tracy and Corny Comedies, and the crooks make remarks like, 'We're hip to the whole layout . . . Myrna Loy's charm and Tracy's natural ability and daring are assets that no picture can have and be bad.'"

— Time p36 D 23 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"It has suspense, action, thrills, diverting dialogue, and intriguing story, and is seasoned with just enough romance to make it an 'all-purpose' picture."

+ Box Office p49 F' 8 '36

"Here is a picture with universal appeal, and a romance that is delightful. The exciting efforts of two rival gangs to steal some highly valuable pearls make it more interesting. It has just about everything that it takes to make a decidedly entertaining film. There is suspense, love interest, a layout and then and plenty of thrill stuff. Seems certain to do well in practically any situation."

+ Film Curb p18 D 15 '35

"A fairly good melodrama."

+ — Harrison's Reports D 23 '35

"This makes good, average entertainment. . . . Sam Wood's direction keeps the story moving along one step ahead of the audience, furnishing new twists just as the old become plain."

+ Motion Pict Daily p9 D 4 '35

"While there are several incidents in it that carry a very large yield of thrill, these, in relation to the whole show, should not be the cause of any worry as to moral worth... There is a continuous air of thrill and action."

+ Motion Pict Herald p59 D 14 '35

"Family melodrama."

N Y Exhibitor p38 D 25 '35

"'Whipsaw' is good entertainment. It should count for better than average takings. And it should keep up the pace. Its two leads, Myrna Loy and Spencer Tracy. Both have been nicely treated by the story and the production, and it richly repays the compliment by turning in strong performances."

+ Variety p16 Ja 29 '36

WHISPERING SMITH SPEAKS. D 20 '35

70min 20th century-Fox

Players: George O'Brien. Irene Ware. Ken- Quinn. Constance Bennett

Director: David Howard

"The story is familiar, that of the railroad-president's son who wants to make good on his own and goes to a small town, falls in love with the girl who is running the one-train
Motion Picture Review Digest 219

railroad manages to get a good deal for the girl through besting her father who wants to buy the Jerkwater railroad. (Variety (Hollywood))

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pic Guide 22 Cfa News p34 5/18 36

"Family. E Coast Preview Committee

"Suitable for church halls, Catholic schools, or family." Internat Fed of Cath Alumnae

"A rather obvious plot, with some new angles, and a pleasant romance. Family." Nat Ed of R Fox W Coast Bul Ja 12 36

"Good Family." Motion Pic Guide Mr 20 36

"A and Y: Light comedy; C: Little interest." Par M p67 Mr 36

Wkly Guide D 21 36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Exceptional scenic background and production value and some excellent comedy situations. It moves at a fast pace and should entertain in any spot." + Box Office p53 D 25 35

"A run-of-the-mill program railroad comedy drama. There's almost too much action and the comedy is only fair. Frank Spearman is a past master at writing railroad stories but these producers didn't do him justice in this one."

+ Film Curb p13 Ja 4 36

"This time George O'Brien in an interesting and amusing railroad story. It has a lot of action, and played on the comedy drama lines, should prove good entertainment. There is plenty of railroad footage and some nice outdoor scenery. The story has suspense and holds one's attention throughout." + Film Daily p10 D 17 35

"Although the plot is not particularly novel, it moves at a fast pace, holding one's attention well throughout." + — Harrison's Reports Ja 4 36

"Whether George O'Brien rides trains or horses he shows equal proficiency. In this one he rides trains and the film is sprinkled with smoothly blended, homely humor, romance and action which will please O'Brien followers." + Motion Pic Daily p3 D 14 35

"As O'Brien discards his bucking broncho for a thrill chase stimulator, he mounts the careening cabin of a locomotive and the incident contributes to the excitement of the anticlimax. Moving in a tempo that makes for easy understanding, the show is presented in a distinctive light comedy vein." + Motion Pic Herald p52 D 21 35

"Estimate: good family stuff." + N Exhibitor p64 Ja 10 36

"The story, which is telegraphed to the audience during the first few feet of the picture, takes on a refreshing atmosphere. George O'Brien does the whole thing in a comedy vein. Away from the usual hard riding assignment, he does credit to the [part]."

— Variety (Hollywood) D 13 35

WIDOW FROM MONTE CARLO. F 1 '36 63min War. BW

Director: Arthur G. Collins

Based on play, A Present from Margate, by Ian Hay and A. E. W. Mason. A lonely and romantically starved young widow on vacation in Monte Carlo meets a dashing young English army officer on leave. Following a fantastical masquerade party she promises to marry him and he leaves her alone from a conventional prosaic diplomat to whom she is engaged.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. Approved for adult audiences." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pic Guide 22 Cfa News p34 5/18 36

"A: Tiresome; Y: Stupid; C: No interest." Christian Century p147 Mr 18 36

"Attractive settings, excellently photographed, with capable acting by a well-groomed cast. Adults: 14-18: fair; 8-14: uninteresting." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"Trite story. Mature." DAR

"A fairly entertaining, light, farcical comedy, ably cast with pleasing settings, music, photography and some clever dialogue, Family—mature." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Here we have a concrete example of the result of "Wasting Money Big Billing" in which is an insult to the ability of a very fine cast and the intelligence of the audience who sees it. It is told by a master, unfortunately, but the slow-moving direction does not give the actors the slightest possibility of making anything of the production other than mediocrity entertainment." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Slapstick comedy... obviously used to cover up deficiencies in dialogue and ideas. The picture gives one the impression of being hastily and carelessly put together with exaggerated characters and unconvincing situations. Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Light entertainment with clever dialogue and attractive photography. Family." Nat Soc of News Women (W)

"Develops many amusing incidents. Mature." So Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Intended as a farce, it is interpreted as such by the cast with the exception of the leading actors, who play their parts straight. This conflicting sense of dramatic values leaves it a bumbling study in inanity. To the actor's credit let it be said that they did try to make it amusing—they tried so hard that one became conscious of the drive without seeing it. Addendum: waste of time; children: too mature." Women's Univ Clubs, Los Angeles

— + W Coast Bul D 7 '35

"Unobjectionable for adults." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 36

"A and Y: Inconsequential farce; C: Mature." Nat Soc of News Women (W)

Par M p67 Mr 36

Sel Motion Pic Ja 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"In 'The Widow from Monte Carlo' [the director] moves the audience into the scenes, but he holds it, there and assaults its ears by pouring into them at close quarters the rasping voice of Warren Hymer addressing characters standing within a foot of him, in tones loud enough to be heard by them if they were a hundred yards away. . . . The picture has sufficient amateurish quality to make it worthwhile as entertainment. It is a light, well dressed comedy, dealing mainly with smart situations and conducted thereon smartly."

+ Hollywood Spect p44 Ja 4 '36

"Miss Del Rio, the alluring Aztec, has never looked more beautiful and has never been more cleverly gowned down in any film story than she is in [this] new film. . . . I think it is safe to say that she deserves better

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; +— Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
“The commonplace story by Faith Baldwin is the source of a cheaply artificial and expensive-ly produced comedy. The trivial plot skirts the sensibilities and even its well known, competent, but clearly miscast stars are unable to give it any semblance of verisimilitude or sincerity. Adults and young people.”

Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

“Mature... Handsome production, some-times too long and talky.”

Wky Guide F 27 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“What amusing dialogue and adroit, light-handed direction by Clarence Brown (this instance) can do for a plot as old as Egypt, is evidenced by this film which speeds along from one familiar situation to another, gaining diverting momentum all the time. The story... succeeds in being sprightly and honest.”

M. E. P.

“Everyone connected with the production has caught the light spirit of the piece and it is played throughout in that vein. It is nice entertainment of its type, it moves quickly, the lines are clever, as are the situations.”

Motion Pict Daily p25 Ja 23 '36

“Everyone connected with the production has caught the light spirit of the piece and it is played throughout in that vein. It is nice entertainment of its type, it moves quickly, the lines are clever, as are the situations.”

Motion Pict Daily p8 D 17 '35

“A fine dash of romantic comedy enlivens the drama, and a fine cast interprets the tale.”

Laura Elam

“Pictures are cleverly contrived, intimate at times, yet in good taste, and move to the pace of bright dialog.”

J. P. Cunningham

Commonweal p552 Mr 18 '36

“The triangle theme has been worn thin as story material for the screen; there is not a gripping scene, not a tense moment in the picture; and when the story shows the film stresses a point to arrest the attention of the audience, yet Life Versus Secretary is one of the most completely satisfying pictures one could wish for, an achievement vastly to the credit of its director.”

Herald Pictorial

Hollywood Spec p8 D 29 '36

“The picture is no more of a disappointment than it is a surprise. It is, in fact, exactly what you might expect. ... ‘Life Versus Secretary’ is one of the best good dialog pictures that interest never lags.” (3 stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p32 Mr 28 '36

“‘Life Versus Secretary’ will unquestionably make a staggering amount of money for its sponsors... Yet I cannot help remembering that if, heaven forbid, I had been a producer and had the opportunity to make a film that couldn’t be examined too closely for plausibility, but that allowed itself to be glib enough to allow pleasant moments, without the seriousness of a moderately skilful script, I would have prepared and produced it... I know that I would have made such a film as ‘Life Versus Secretary’.”

Richard Watts, Jr.

Motion Herald p10 F 29 '36

“The new picture is one of those shiny, luxurious, empty and blantly expensive productions which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer turns out occasionally, to the accompaniment of ohs and ahs from the spectators and a merry jingling of coin at the box office. ... The picture, treated with the lightest of touches, is constantly diverting. It is never stimulating, nor are even the trio of skilled adapters able to sustain any suspense. ‘Wife Versus Secretary,’ on which the director of ‘Ah Wilderness’ has chosen to waste some months of endeavor, is a lighthearted, well produced bit of trash, a shopgirl’s delight.”

Eileen Creelman

N Y Sun p8 F 29 '36

“While you may rail, critically, at the glossy stereotypes, you may muse how Miss Baldwin of growing dullei and dullei in her treatment of her pot plot, but you will realize—with a sense of the futility—that Faith Baldwin ‘Wife Versus Secretary’ picture, with Gable, Harlow and Loy, is predestined for success. It will be commercially unquestioned, and it is a box-office wow... Like most of these”
Metro super-specials, the film has been richly produced. It is set competently by Clarence Brown and is well played—within the handicaps of their roles—by Miss Harlow, Miss Loy and by Mr. Whiting, who should be told, however, that being coy is not one of his strong points.

F. S. Newman, March 8, 1936

"Wife Vs Secretary" is not very good. A formulized and somewhat shabby product of Faith Baldwin's shallow, but high-priced magazine, directed upon the old, clearly everlasting feud that goes on between a man's wife and his secretary for his love, it comes under the heading of hard work rather than pleasure in the cinema. . . . Some really competent pictures, including Jean Harlow, Myrna Loy, and Clark Gable, strive earnestly as the principal characters involved in this giddy plot. They say their lines and do through their situations efficiently. But in spite of their industrious endeavors, all that they can make of "Wife Vs Secretary" are second-rater of little importance to the cinema except at the box-office. And that, I suppose, is all that matters." — William Boehnel

+ N Y World-Telegram p9 F 29 '36

"It appears to be one of the darling convictions of American life that doctors always cure the patients and that women remain dizzy with desire for stenographers. The films love the idea. They played with it competently, most successfully in "Wife Vs Secretary" and they have no intention of letting it drop for a long time. It is tuned up again in "Wife Versus Secretary", but in such a generally tepid style that I can't expect it will disturb the reflections of many helpmates and severest critics." — John V. Lewis

New Yorker p75 Mr 7 '36

"Good rollicking entertainment, with spanking dialogue and a cast of favorites. . . . A typical Faith Baldwin story, nimbly rewritten and luxuriously mounted." + News-Wk p32 Mr 7 '36

"'Wife Versus Secretary' is a grimly stereotypical story in which, without due panache of the banal situation indicated by its title, it is patently destined to be, for its producers, if not for their more civilized customers, one of the most profitable pictures of the year." + Time p17 Mr 9 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Smart entertainment with a load of box-office names that should bring out the SRO signs. Famly." + Box Office p25 F 29 '36

Canadian Moving Pict Digest p10 F 22 '36

"With Clark Gable, Jean Harlow, [and] Myrna Loy in a story, which should appeal to the millions of office and shop girls who picture themselves as the Harlows and the wives who imagine themselves to be the Loy's, this picture should hit at the box-office in a big way." + Film Daily p14 F 19 '36

"An excellent box-office attraction. The three stars are probably enough to bring patrons to the theatre. Good for the most part it will please spectators, particularly people who speculate on its romantic quality, its air of gaiety, and the lavish production given to it. . . . There is nothing immoral in the plot, but it is rather sophisticated for children. More suitable for adults." + Harrison's Reports Mr 7 '36

"Sure-fire box-office from every angle, 'Wife Versus Secretary' is headed for tremendous grosses. Indeed everything—a trio of top-line stars in Clark Gable, Jean Harlow, Myrna Loy; a title that will draw women in droves and a story that will thoroughly satisfy both women and men in the audience. . . . Unquestionably the picture will mark a brand new career for Jean Harlow. With her darker hair, she proves beyond doubt that acting rather than typing is now her métier. Playing with repression and great charm, her secretary is to be numbered among the finest things she has ever done." + Hollywood Reporter p3 F 14 '36

"Tastefully produced and directed, with considerable to stimulate the imagination, the picture is characterized throughout by an atmosphere of romantic intimacy, although there is nothing in the slightest way objectionable." + Motion Pict Daily p5 F 15 '36

Motion Pict Herald p64 F 22 '36

"'Wife Versus Secretary' again demonstrates that when a show can be packed with stars, scripted well, directed by a man who knows not only his business but his box office, produced at a studio where they know how to do things, it is bound to be in the heavy money. Estimate: money show anywhere." + N Y Exhibitor p54 Mr 10 '36

"With a triple threat for the marquees, a smartly fashioned story and outstanding production, this picture seems to have what it takes to get them in. . . . In spots where there has been a reaction against the triangle of the wronged wife, the cheating husband and the gulping stenographer, the fact cannot be stressed how cheaply they've been advertising that this is not that sort of story at all. If this is done they'll come in and love it." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 14 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Films Curb p15 N 1 '35

"Bolstered by plenty of the approved plot material, this western drama ought to prove generally satisfying to the outdoor action fans." + Film Daily p8 O 22 '35

"In his new series, western hero Harry Carey, illustrates that he can still rank with the best of open air stars. Family Western." + N Y Exhibitor p32 N 10 '35

(s)WILD WINGS. Ja 11 '36 111min Vitaphone Players: Gayne Whitman. "Takes the fair, the lovely, the celebrated, the unattainable, and makes it all real. Take the far-off village of Layonan, in the Pacific Ocean; a bird sanctuary; it presents marvellous shots of thousands of birds in close-up, among them certain species that have never been seen before," Film Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; – Poor; – Exceptionally Poor
TRADE PICTURE REVIEWS DIGEST

WILD WINGS—Continued

Trade Paper Reviews

"Distinguished by exceptional photography and a splendid descriptive talk by Gayne Whitman, this is about the tops for anything on the screen depicting wild bird life... The birds in flight are simply beautiful in their graceful movements, and will arouse enthusiasm from all lovers of bird life."

Film Daily p12 Ja 24 '36

"Exceptional shots reveal mating habits and others in slow motion show the poetry of their effortless flight. Should please."

Motion Pict Daily p10 Ja 27 '36

"Some of the scenes are truly remarkable."

Motion Pict Herald p62 F 8 '36

"Fair."

— N Y Exhibitor p40 Ja 25 '36

WINGS OVER ETHIOPIA. O 25 '35 52min Swiss-Praesens Films-Paramount

Players: Natives

Director: L. Wechter

"As timely as today's headlines it shows the people of Ethiopia and their customs and takes one into the heart of that wild, savage country. It demonstrates something of what the Italians are up against in trying to conquer that land, what with dangerous mountain regions, the climate and other natural forces to repel invasion." N Y Sun

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide

Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A and Y: Good of kind; C: Perhaps." Christian Century p1890 O 30 '35

"A: Excellent; Y and C: Instructive."

Par M p27 Mr 2 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Reviewed by Marguerite Tazelaar N Y Herald Tribune p9 O 12 '35

"It is well worth seeing." M. J.

N Y Sun p9 O 12 '35

Springfield Republican p60 O 20 '35

Trade Pict Reviews

Box Office p58 N 16 '35

"Family travelogue. Vastly interesting while the headlines last."

— N Y Exhibitor p33 O 25 '35

("WINTER MAGIC. D 27 '35 9min 20th Century-Fox

Players: Edward Thorgersen

Director: Truman Talley

"With winter as its theme, this short in the Magic Carpet series takes the audience on a tour of places where winter cloaks the country to the camera's advantage." Motion Pict Daily

Trade Pict Reviews

"The vignette-like qualities of some of the shots in this panorama of snow scenes will open up a new world of beauty to the sit-at-homes and cause nature lovers to rejoice... In every respect, it is a superior short."

Box Office p48 Ja 15 '36

"This is a masterpiece of photography in Winter Scenery in our own country... Some of the scenes are as gorgeous as paintings, and it is a feast of beauty for the nature lovers and the art-minded. A perfect winter number."

Film Daily p11 Ja 7 '36

"There is at times some excellent photography and the mood is well handled."

Motion Pict Daily p9 Ja 9 '36

"Interesting."

N Y Exhibitor p31 Ja 10 '36

WOLVES OF THE UNDERWORLD. D 8 '35 57min Regal

Players: Godfrey Tearle, Isla Bezan, Fred Groves, Michael Hogan

Director: George A. Cooper

The film was made in England. "A group of gangsters set out to 'get' a supposedly respectable doctor. The tables are turned and the doctor kills the gunman, planting his body beside an accidentally handy train wreck. At the same time the leader of another, related gang of counterfeiters from Dartmoor, witnesses the murder and forces the doctor to hide him. At the expected right moment, the police, breaking in and capture the gang."

(Motion Pict Daily)

Trade Pict Reviews

"The cast, though British stamped, put their lines across in a readily understood manner, while the direction keeps things moving at a nice gait all along the line."

Film Daily p15 D 10 '35

"This adaptation of a stage play combines murder, a touch of romance, and the not too subtle deductions of a detective story writer and amateur crime sleuth. The result is a fairly lively yarn."

— Motion Pict Daily p9 D 10 '35

"This holds interest all the way once it gets going. Family melodrama."

— N Y Exhibitor p37 N 25 '35

WOMAN TRAP. F 14 '36 60min Paramount

Players: Gertrude Michael, George Murphy, Roscoe Arbuckle, Akim Tamiroff

Director: Harold Young

"Dealing with a formula plot of the kidnapping of a senator's daughter by a band of jewel thieves, who need quick money for a getaway, the film accentuates the most delightful Mexican bandit character since the memorable 'Bad Man.'" Hollywood Reporter

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Possible for family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good. Mature." DAR

"Adults and young people." E Coast Preview Committee

"Family." Nat Bd of R

"Adults." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Some good photography in a melodrama fairly entertaining for adults." Nat Soc of New England Women

"On account of the crime angle, this picture is not suitable for children. Mature." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bul F 22 '36

"Adults and young people."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) F 8 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; +— Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
"Adults and young people."

Jt Estimates F 1 '36

"There are three items on the debit side to begin with; poor name, a cold-blooded gangster melodrama, and a kick to the underside. 12-16: not recommended; children, 8-12: no."

Motion Pict R Mr 7 '36

"This is a rather amusing story, but alas! It has great faults both in continuity and credulity. Family."

+ — Nat Council of Jewish Women F 15 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Adults and young people."

Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

"Family."

Wkly Guide F 8 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Boston Transcript p2 F 21 '36

"'Woman Trap' [is] to give [it the] trade designation, Class B. With that in mind, then, put down 'Woman Trap' as tolerable melodrama. Competently directed. For the juvenile type, it is a technically proficient film that suffers chiefly in its story department."

T. M. P.

— N Y Times p11 Mr 7 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Entertaining"

+ — Box 26 '36

"A pretty good program action melodrama. There are a few exciting melodramatic situations in the second half, where the two different gangster types, one with each other for supremacy in a kidnap plot. Because of the murder and kidnapping it is unsuitable for children under twelve. Good for adults."

+ — Harrison's Reports F 29 '36

"Were all program pictures as neat jobs as this little piece of entertainment, theater men would be happier. It will set no worlds on fire at the box offices. Neither will it send patrons home dissatisfied. 'Woman Trap' only proves again that class D releases can be made with intelligence and finesse. . . . It runs an hour and it is an hour filled with solid entertainment for the family trade for which it was made."

+ — Hollywood Reporter p3 Ja 25 '36

"An average attraction, this holds amusement for average audiences. The story, consolidated by a surprise climax, is pretty much of a hodge-podge of jewel thieves, gangsters, a stranded girl flyer and a newspaper reporter through which runs a mysteriously sinister character, highly reminiscent, of Holbrook Blinn's 'Bad Man.'"

+ — Motion Pict Daily p8 Ja 29 '36

"This is one of those pleasing minor pictures that audiences are quite apt to enjoy much more than they do some of the more pretentious features. Essentially the show is a comedy romance drama and not anything more than this. The plot suffers a bit, but not enough to warrant a negative rating."

+ — Motion Pict Herald p15 F 8 '36

"Estimate: best for neighborhoods, twin bills."

N Y Exhibitor p35 F 25 '36

"Nice little program picture that should garner plenty of dual bill business. Deserves consideration for solo bills, particularly if plugged as the latest variety of G-man yarn. A little more care in writing, better direction and addition of strong name player probably would have made this a real grosser. Studio seemingly rated it at a secondary entry and as such its utmost possibilities were overlooked."

+ — Variety p15 Mr 11 '36

"Good program picture that should hold its own on any double bill. Due to lack of names it has little chance as a solo. Well produced by Harold Hurley, picture has sufficient twists to satisfy any audience. . . Harold Young's direction is in evidence, somewhat slow in spots. Generally he has handled the picture nicely."

+ — Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 28 '36

Yellow Dust. F 22 '36 62min RKO

Players: Richard Dix, Leila Hyams, Andy Clyde, Oneslow Stevens, Moroni Olsen, Jessie Ralph

Director: Wallace Fox

Based on the play, Mother Lode, by George O'Neil and Dan Totheroh. The film was previously known as Mother Lode. "Two prospectors, Old Solitaire and Culpepper, strike a rich vein of gold, but before they are able to file their claim they are 'railroaded' to jail. A beautiful girl gives the 'thieves' the address and there is the usual happy ending." (Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family."

E Coast Preview Committee

"Family."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Family and junior matinee."

Nat Council of Jewish Women

"The bar and the beers are featured a little too prominently. Family."

Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Mature."

Nat Soc of New England Women

"The drinking and gun play is a necessary part of the story, and has been treated with as much restraint as possible. A Western drama suitable for the family."

S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"It is only mildly entertaining because in spite of violent action, one never doubts the outcome. Family."

Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

Fox W Coast Bul F 22 '36

"Family."

+ — Jt Estimates F 1 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"A Western which will find favor with younger audiences. Family."

+ — Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"'Yellow Dust' the hoss-and-buggy opera bears not the slightest resemblance to its alleged parent, 'Mother Lode,' the romance of old San Francisco with which Mr. Totheroh and George O'Neil achieved some success on the Broadway stage in 1934. . . In fairness to the directing staff, it must be said that no apparent effort was made to produce anything other than 'a hoss-and-buggy,' or 'a one-hander' who breaks a precedent of 'night unto thirty year' when he accepts our hero as a partner."

J. T. M.

N Y Times p11 F 24 '36

"Frankly, I'm still not certain whether it is intended to be bona fide Western stuff or a burlesque on the prospecting period, but in either case it is pretty feeble entertain-
YELLOW DUST—Continued

"Satisfactory program fare . . . in so-so vehicle."

"Just a moderately entertaining Western. It goes in for too much story detail and romantic interest for a picture of this type and for that reason the action lags. Suitable for all. Family."

"This minor effort stacks up as just ordinary dual feature fare and will get by so long as it is kept in the smaller spots. . . This is one of the few feature productions turned out by a major which eliminates a variety of exterior location shots and practically relies on one interior set to carry all the action. Whether this puts 'Yellow Dust' into the classification of a quickie or whether most of what is lacking is left on the cutting table is hard to conjecture. In any event, the film does not bring the studio or Dix any acclaim."

Harrison's Reports F 29 '36

"Any Western that can stir up scattered applause from a Times Square audience when the hero escapes from hanging has achieved something. 'Yellow Dust' did this at the opening show at the Rialto."

"Fair programmer, with some names, fair comedy to help, the plot follows such grooves as to make fun and will get by so long as the story is kept in the smaller spots. . . This is one of the few feature productions turned out by a major which eliminates a variety of exterior location shots and practically relies on one interior set to carry all the action. Whether this puts 'Yellow Dust' into the classification of a quickie or whether most of what is lacking is left on the cutting table is hard to conjecture. In any event, the film does not bring the studio or Dix any acclaim."

Motion Pict Daily p12 F 24 '36

"Story value, while novel in some ways, differs but little from standard formula, which necessarily puts the selling job up to the value of names and that certain audience interest that accrues to outdoor, romance and comedy contrasted, action entertainment.

Motion Pict Herald p50 N 16 '36

"Fair programmer, with some names, fair comedy to help, the plot follows such grooves as to make fun, but is kept in the smaller spots. . . This is one of the few feature productions turned out by a major which eliminates a variety of exterior location shots and practically relies on one interior set to carry all the action. Whether this puts 'Yellow Dust' into the classification of a quickie or whether most of what is lacking is left on the cutting table is hard to conjecture. In any event, the film does not bring the studio or Dix any acclaim."

Variety p15 F 26 '36

"Deficiencies in this Western are somewhat alleviated by the Richard Dix [name.] It simply do not make a very complicated story seem complicated because of the flimsiness of plot and dialog."

Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 6 '36

YOU MAY BE NEXT. F 6 '36 65min Columbia

Players: Ann Sothern, Lloyd Nolan, Doughlas Dumbrille, John Arledge

Director: Albert S. Rogell

"A new angle to racketeering is attempted in this picture by the showing of the gangster method of terrorizing the radio industry. G-men successfully combat this hitherto unknown device and the young radio mechanic who is dedicated in the successful campaign is given the free world in criminal prosecution."

Sel Motion Pict

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Unobjectionable for general patronage.

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Adults and young people."

Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

"Family.

Wkly Guide F 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"This high-tension melodrama may give you the chills if you don't like 'em."

Christian Science Monitor p13 F 29 '36

"The cinema introduces a new and ingenious form of racketeering in 'You May Be Next,' which makes for exciting entertainment." T. M. P.

"Although at first glance the idea of 'You May Be Next' seems fresh and novel, it soon becomes evident that the treatment and development are uninspired—and so it results in just another commonplace racketeer film. . . The cast tries hard enough but in spite of their industrious endeavors 'You May Be Next' must be set down as just another item in a long list of disappointments."

William Boehnel

N Y World-Telegram p15 F 25 '36

YOUNG FOREST. Ja 1 '36 90min Libbok-film

Players: Marja Bogda, Adam Brodzisz

Director: Josef Lejtes

Distributed in Poland under title Mody Las. The film distributed here has English subtitles.

"This importation from Warsaw is a [picturization] of the Anti-Russian agitation among the students, and even the school children, in the Polish capital at the time when the Russo-Japanese War and the revolutionary uprising of 1905 awakened hopes of throwing off the yoke of Russia."

(N Y Times)
nation against the Czarist régime in spectators of almost any kind." H. T. S. — + N Y World-Telegram p27 Mr 11 '35

"Although 'Young Forest' is much too long and ambling to be as effective as it should be, it has moments of genuine interest... The film and the photography, which we devote a lot of footage to scenes that could be cut. If it were keyed up to a higher pitch and had a few vigorous scenes in it 'Young Forest' would be a better than average foreign film. The stuff is there but... the manner in which it has been assembled is amateurish." William Boehnel
— + N Y World-Telegram p33 D 4 '35

Trade Paper Reviews
Film Daily p8 D 3 '35

"While the dialogue is in Polish there are sufficient superimposed English titles to make the production readily understandable. The pictures has an excellent cast... Said to be produced on the exact locale of the 1905 revolution, its authenticity is of value. It is also good entertainment."
— Motion Picture Herald p62 D 14 '35

"Tendid style of story development, as well as tendency to stress the unimportant, cramp its effectiveness... In addition to several pieces of rather unusual direction by suggestion rather than flamboyant... Albert Wywerka has collaborated with some striking camera work." — Variety p15 D 4 '35

YOUNG LOVE, Mr 9 '36 75min Elekta-films
Players: Vasa Jalovec, Jarmla Bernakova, Jar Vojta, Vojtova Mayerova
Director: Josef Rovensky
Dialogue film in Czechoslovakian with English subtitles. It was first released and reviewed under title Ecstasy of Young Love. This is not the much-publicized Czechoslovakian film, Ecstasy. "(It is) the study of a boy and a girl, the products of a small Bohemian village, and their innocent attachment for each other—a sympathetic study of these two pathetically poor youngsters and of the boy's consuming ambition to make enough money to buy the girl a pair of shoes." (N Y World-Telegram)

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Ecstasy of Young Love... may entertain you, even if it failed to intrigue this observer... The piece carries simplicity too far, presenting its characters more often as nitwits than convincing peasants, and unwinding a plot reminiscent of our own early Westerns... Bad editing and poor cutting may be partly responsible for the slow pace and the jerky... the director often seems as amateurish as his cast, even though the photography of the lovely country is commendable, and the camera work is excellent." Marquelle Tazelar
— + N Y Herald Tribune p14 Mr 11 '36

"A slight little screen play, one which would not stand up against reading in any American studio, the picture still does capture a certain mood, a beauty of countryside and youth moves at its own... that, although both musical score and photography are excellent," Eileen Creelman
— N Y Sun Mr 10 '36

"A wholesome little picture possessing a great deal of the natural charm that distinguished 'Man of Aran' and 'The Blue Light' has arrived from Ireland. The players are among the very embodiment of millions of similar couples the world over. It is averred that they never acted professionally before making 'Ecstasy of Young Love.' Perhaps that is why they are so good. The work of the rest of the cast is on a par with that of the principals." H. T. S. — + N Y Times p27 Mr 30 '35

"There are some lonely, mistreated moments of beauty in the fumbling little drama of adolescent youth from the Czechoslovakian called 'Ecstasy of Young Love'—moments that are full of warming satisfaction in their deep, tender charm. But there are others—all too many others—which jerk it out of reality and turn it into a sort of muddled psychological study. It is a long way of saying that this film, which won the Czechoslovakian State Gold Medal for the best film of the year; was awarded the Venice World Congress Gold Cup; and tied 'Man of Aran' for first place at the same congress, proves more or less a disappointment." William Boehnel
— + N Y World-Telegram p25 Mr 11 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
Film Daily p8 Mr 10 '36

"This Czechoslovakian-produced film... may be considered one of the more interesting importations. While this rough conception is slightly unsophisticated in every sense, the producers have told their story in terms of the people of which the picture treats." — Motion Picture Daily p10 Mr 12 '36

YOUR UNCLE DUDLEY, D 13 '35 60min 20th century-Fox
Players: Edward Everett Horton, Lois Wilson, John McGuire
Director: Eugene Forde
From play of same title by Howard Lindsay and Bertrand Robinson. Stylye satirizing the Babbit theme, this film is the tale of a timid lamb, who when brow-beaten by his relatives, and victimized by business and civic interests, suddenly becomes a lion and turns the tables on his business rivals, rids himself of troublesome relatives and finds love.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Class A. General approval." N Y Archdiocese Motion Pict Guide
Cath News p24 Ja 25 '36

"A: Good of kind; Y: Amusing; C: Fairly amusing."
— The Christian Century p63 Ja 8 '36

"Good." + Endorsed Motion Pict Ja '36

"A rambling scenario makes the most of several funny situations and provides wholesome family entertainment. Adults: fair; 14-15: good; 8-14: fair." Calif Congress of Par & Teachers

"A trite story. Family, but mature for children." DAR

"Good, Family." Internat Fed of Cath Alumnae

"Good, simple, Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Wholesome and entertaining for the family." So Calif Catholic Women's Club
— + Fox W Coast Bull N 30 '35

"Fair, Family." Motion Pict Guide Mr '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
YOUR UNCLE DUDLEY—Continued

"Unobjectionable for general patronage."
\[Nat Bd of R M Ja '36\]

"A and Y: Diverting comedy; C: Harmless."
\[Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36\]

"A pleasant comedy. Family."
\[Sel Motion Pict D 1 '35\]

"A meager and unassuming little comedy of small-town life. We cinema reviewers, when films as unobtrusively dull as 'Your Uncle Dudley' happen along, make a miner virtue of anemia by applying such kindly adjectives as amiable to them. Although 'Your Uncle Dudley' is unpretentious, it is also aggressively commonplace. It seems to have been manufactured for the tail end of double bills and it barely possesses the laughs for a competent two-reeler. Consequently it scarcely impresses this column as an amiable motion picture... The chances are that, like Cole Porter's first sniff of cocaine, it will bore you terrifically, too."
- Andre Sennwald
\[N Y Times p33 D 12 '35\]

"The humor of Rotary Club life and domestic difficulties in a small town provide some moments for the exploitation of Edward Everett Horton, but 'Your Uncle Dudley' is hardly enough, I feel, to keep one all worked up. Just a gentle little laugh now and then. I suppose that's all some of us can stand."
- John Mosher
\[New Yorker p90 D 21 '35\]

Reviewed by Louise Mace
\[Springf'd Republican p2 Ja 2 '36\]

"A domestic comedy drama of the familiar type. Not strong enough to stand on its own in the big spots."
- Film Curb p22 D 15 '35

"This Edward Everett Horton vehicle makes very pleasing domestic comedy-drama entertainment. Should do best with the family trade. Horton plays the timid soul who finally works himself up to the point of asserting himself, and in that type of role he has no peer."
- Film Daily p12 N 14 '35

"Fast moving, full of fun in action, dialogue and situations, even when these factors are supposed to be semi-dramatic, it concentrates on things which millions of people are familiar with, either because they have actually experienced them or know about them happening."
- Motion Pict Herald p72 N 23 '35

"Family comedy."
\[N Y Exhibitor p55 D 10 '35\]

"Exceptionally Good; + Good; + = Fair; + = Mediocre; - = Poor;—— Exceptionally Poor" INDEX

Under the names of the leading actors and actresses will be found the productions listed in this number in which they have taken part.

Under the director's name will be found a list of the films in this number which he directed.

Under the headings Books, Plays and Short Stories (Adapted) will be found the author, title of published work and the title of the film. When the title of the film differs from the title of the book, the film's title is given in parenthesis, thus: Eberhart, M. G.

From this dark stairway (Murder of Dr Harrigan)

ACTORS & ACTRESSES

Abel, Walter
Lady consents
Three musketeers
Two in the dark
Abrikosof, A.
Addison, George
Acut, Eddie
Boulder dam
Ahern, Brian
I live my life
Sylvia Scarlett
Alberson, Frank
East of Java
Waterfront lady
Ambright, Hardie
Red salute
Alexander, Katharine
Scandal
Alexander, Ross
Boulder dam
Brides are like that
Captain Blood
Shipmates forever
Allen, Elizabeth
Tale of two cities
Allen, Adrienne
Morals of Marcus
Allen, Fred
Thanks a million
Allen, Grade
Big broadcast of 1936
Here comes Cookie
Allen, Judith
Burning gold
Allen, Robert
Guard that girl
Allister, Claude
Three live ghosts
Alpar, Gita
I give my heart
Alvarado, Don
Spy 77
Andre, Lona
Skybound
Angel, Heather
Perfect gentleman
Three musketeers
Apolo, Oscar
Fire trap
Ardleigh, John
Two in revolt
You may be next
Arlen, Richard
Calling of Dan Matthews
Three live ghosts
Arless, George
Transatlantic tunnel
Armetta, Henry
Three kids and a queen
Armstrong, Robert
Dangerous waters
Arnold, Edward
Crime and punishment
Diamond Jim
Remember last night
Arthur, Jean
Diamond Jim
If you could only cook
Public menace
Ashcroft, Peggy
Rhodes, the diamond master
Astaire, Fred
Follow the fleet
Top hat
Astor, Mary
Man of Iron
Mediterranean
Murder of Dr Harrigan
Atwill, Lionel
Captain Blood
Lady of secrets
Aumont, Jean-Pierre
Lac Aux Dames
Autry, Gene
Melody trail
Sagebrush troubadour
Singing vagabond
Tumbling tumbleweeds
Avyes, Lew
Leathernecks have landed

Babochkin, Boris
Three women
Bacon, Irving
Drift fence
Bacque, Andre
Maria Chapdelaine
Baker, Benny
Drift fence
Balfour, Betty
Millions in the air
Barnes, Jane
Frontier Justice
Barnett, Vince
Dancing feet
Rest cure
Barrat, Robert
Dr Socrates
Barrett, Mary Jane
Ladies love hats
Barrie, Mona
Here comes trouble
Melody lingers on
Storm over the Andes
Barrie, Wendy
Love on a bet
Millions in the air
Scandals of Paris
Barrymore, Dolores
Costello
Little Lord Fauntleroy
Barrymore, Lionel
Ah, wilderness
Return of Peter Grimm
Voice of Bugle Ann
Bartholomew, Freddie
Anna Karenina
Little Lord Fauntleroy
Professional soldier

Bartlett, Michael
Music goes 'round
She married her boss
Barton, James
His family tree
Baur, Harry
Crime et châtiment
Moscow nights
Baxter, Alan
Mary Burns, fugitive
Baxter, Warner
King of burlesque
Prisoner of Shark Island
Rabin Hood of El Dorado
Beck, Thomas
Every Saturday night
Beecher, Janet
Love before breakfast
So red the rose
Beery, Noah
King of the damned
Beery, Noah, Jr.
Stormy
Beery, Wallace
Ah, wilderness
Message to Garcia
O'Shaughnnessy's boy
Bellamy, Ralph
Dangerous intrigue
Hands across the table
Navy wife
Bennett, Joan
Man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo
She couldn't take it
Two for tonight
Benny, Jack
Broadway melody of 1936
It's in the air
Benson, Elaine
Old curiosity shop
Berkman, Jarmila
Young love
Bernard, Nerio
Tempo massimo
Berri, Mady
La Maternelle
Berriau, Simone
Itto
Bettarini, Cesare
Wedding march
Bezan, Isla
Wolves of the underworld
Bickford, Charles
East of Java
Rose of the Rancho
Birell, Talia
Crime and punishment
Blackmer, Sidney
False pretenses
Fire trap
Forced landing
Blakene, Olive
Come out of the pantry
Blanchard, Pierre
Crime et châtiment
Blane, Sally
This is the life
Blondell, Joan
Colleen
Miss Pacific Fleet
ACTORS & ACTRESSES

—Continued

Baxter, Eric
Diamond Jim

Bore, Bradley
Boland, Jack
Bolten, Borden
Bogda, Stephen

Bridge, Brent
Brick, Bill
Brice, Finley
Bollman, Frederick

Brent, Hans
Frisquita

Bond, Ford
Hunters' paradise

Bond, Ward
Cattle thief

Bosworth, Hobart
Dark hour

Bouchier, Chili
Mr. Cohen takes a walk

Boyd, William
Bar 20 rides again

Burning gold
Call of the prairie

Eagle's nest

Racing luck

Boyer, Charles
Le Bonheur

Bradley, Grace
Dangerous waters

F-man

Brady, Alice Metropolitan

Braunfels, Mickee
Mr. Cohen takes a walk

Breakston, George
Retirement of Peter Grimm

Brennan, Walter
Three godfathers

Brent, George
In person

Showed under

Special agent

Bride, Fanny
Great Ziegfeld

Brock, Ben
Brick

Itto

Bridge, Al
Fast bullets

Brisson, Carla
Ship cafe

Broderick, Helen
Love on a bet

To beat the band

Brodzian, Adam
Young forest

Brooks, Marjorie
She shall have music

Brooks, Phyllis
Another face

Brophy, Edward
Show them no mercy

Brown, Joe E.
Midsummer night's dream

Brown, Johnny Mack
Between men

Courageous avenger

Brown, Tom
Annapolis farewell

Freckles

Gentle Julia

Bowen, Lucile
Tumbling tuleweeds

Bruce, Virginia
Garden murder case

Great Ziegfeld

Here comes the band

Metropolitan

Pirate party on Catalina Island

Buchanan, Jack
Come out of the pantry

When knights were bold

Buck, Frank

Fang and claw

Burrell, Betty
Coronado

Burke, Billie
Feather in her hat

She couldn't take it

Burke, James
Leathernecks have landed

Burke, Kathleen
Last outpost

Nevada

Burnette, Smiley
Melody trail

Sagebrush troubadour

Singing vagabond

Tumbling tuleweeds

Burns, George
Big broadcast of 1936

Here comes Cookie

Burton, Frederick
Calling of Dan Matthews

Busch, Mae
Bohemian girl

Butterworth, Charles
Magnificent obsession

Byington, Calling of

Every Saturday night

Cabot, Bruce
Don't gamble with love

Robin Hood of El Dorado

Show them no mercy

Cagney, James
Calling zero

Frisco Kid

Midsummer night's dream

Callahan, Margaret
His family tree

Mass 'em up

Seven keys to Baltope

Caliea, Joseph
Exclusive story

Riffraff

Tough guy

Calhoun, Donald
Scrooge

Cantor, Eddie
Strike me pink

Carew, James
Come out of the pantry

Carey, Harry
Last of the Clonts

Powdermoke range

Wild mustang

Carlsile, Kitty
Night at the opera

Carlsile, Mary
Superspeed

Carrillo, Leo

If you could only cook

It had to happen

Carminati, Tullio
Wedding march

Carroll, John

Hi, Garocho

Carroll, Madeleine

Thirty-nine steps

Cassidy, Ed
Courageous avenger

Catlett, Walter
Affair of Susan

Cavanaugh, Paul

Splendor

Thunder in the night

Cawthorn, Joseph
Brides are like that

Freshman love

Harmony lane

Chandler, Chick

Tantrum

Chaplin, Charles
Modern times

Chase, Ilka
Lady consents

Chatterton, Ruth
Lady of secrets

Christians, Mady
Ship cafe

Churchill, Berton
Dark hour

Churchill, Marjorie

Man hunt

Walking dead

Clayton, Betty
Two hearts in harmony

Clarke, Mae
Hitch hike lady

House of a thousand candles

Clausen, Clus
Making of a king

Clifford, Jack
Gallant defender

Cline, Collin
Man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo

Maid from Monte Carlo

Clyde, Andy
Hot Fudge Pie

Yellow dust

Clyde, June
Dance band

She shall have music

Cobb, Irvin S
Everybody's old man

Steamboat round the bend

Cody, Bill
Blazing justice

Lawless border

Colbert, Claudette
Eride comes home

She married her boss

Collin, Constance
Professional soldier

Collins, Cora Sue
Two sinners

Colman, Ronald
Man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo

Tale of two cities

Compton, Joyce
Suicide squad

Conklin, Chester
Call of the prairie

Modern times

Conklin, Peggy
Her master's voice

Sail on, sailor

Connolly, Walter
Music goes round

One-way ticket

She couldn't take it

So red the rose

Sail on, sailor

Consonino, Rita
Paddy O'Day

Cook, Donald
Confidential

Leavenworth case

Ring around the moon

Spanish Cape mystery

Cooper, Gary
Desire

Peter Ibbetson

Cooper, Jack

O'Shaunessy's boy

Tough guy

Cortez, Ricardo
Frisco Kid

Man hunt

Mural of Dr. Harrigan

Special agent

Walking dead

Courtneidge, Cicely
Perfect gentleman

Crabbe, Larry (Buster)
Desert gold

Drift fence

Crawford, Joan
I live my life

Crispin, Jeanne
Second borough

Cromwell, Richard
Annapolis farewell

Crosby, Bing
Anything goes

Two for tonight

Crossman, Hettie
Charlie Chan's secret

Hitch hike to heaven

Cross, Milton J
Steel and stones
Cummings, Constance
Remember last night

Cummings, Robert
Desert gold

Curzon, George
Two hearts in harmony

Cutler, Kate
When knights were bold

Dale, Esther
Farmer in the dell

Da Rita, Lili
Fracco kid

Daniels, Bebe
Magic is magic

Darro, Frank
Three kids and a queen

Davies, June
Navy wife

Davy, Marion
Pirate party on Catalina Island

Davis, Batte
Dangerous

DeBain, Henry
La Maternelle

De Cordoba, Pedro
Condemned to live

Dee, Frances
Gay deception

De Havilland, Olivia
Captain Blood

Deis, Carol
See ing Nellie home

Dell, Claudia
Midnight phantom

Del Rio, Dolores
I live for love

Dempsey, John
Whistle stop

Denny, Reginald
Lady in scarlet

De Mille, Katherine
Hollywood

De Muro, Carl
Spy 27

DeRico, Marlene
Desire

Digges, Dudley
Three live ghosts

Voice of Bugle Ann

Dinehart, Alan
"It had to happen"

Dix, Dorothy
Sunset of power

Dix, Richard
Transatlantic tunnel

Yellow dust

Dodd, Claire
Pay-Off

Donat, Robert
Ghost goes west

Donlevy, Brian Another face

Strike me pink

Donnelly, Ruth
Personal maid's secret

Song and dance man

Douglass, Melvyn
Lone wolf returns

Mary Burns, fugitive

She married her boss

Downs, Johnny
Coronado

Everybody's old man

Doyle, Maxine
Condemned to live

Drake, Frances
Invisible ray

El Hombre

Draper, Paul
Colleen

Duchin, Eddie
Coronado

Dumbreille, Douglass
Public menace

You may be next

Dunia, Steffy

I conquer the sea

Dunbar, Dixie
King of burlesque

Dunn, James
Bad boy

Don't get personal

Pay-Off

Dunne, Irene

Significant obsession

Durant, Jack
Music is magic

Dvorak, Ann

Dr. Socrates

Thanks a million

Ehren, Buddy
Captain January

Ebune, Maude
Doughnuts and society

Happiness C.O.D.

Leavenworth case

Eddy, Nelson
Rose Marie

Edwards, Alan

If you could only cook

Eggerth, Marga

Divine spark

Ellers, Sally

Don't get personal

Remember last night

Strike me pink

Elambe, Paulette
La Maternelle

Eldridge, John
Man of iron

Muder of Dr. Harrigan

Elliot, Tony
Bulldog courage

Ellis, Edward
Chatterbox

Lady consents

Return of Peter Grimm

In the case of the wasteland

Ellis, Patricia

Boulder dam

Case of the lucky legs

Freshman love

Pay-Off

Snowed under

Ellison, Jimmy
Bar 20 rides again

Called of the prairie

Eagle's brood

Hitch hike lady

Leathernecks have landed

Engels, Wera

Great impersonation

Hong Kong nights

Erickson, Glenn

Drift fence

Erickson, Helen

Courageous avenger

Ernest, George

Racing luck

Song of the saddle

Too many parents

Errol, Leon

Coronado

Erwin, Stuart

Ceiling zero

Exclusive story

Esmont, Carl

Invitation to the waltz

Evans, Maggie

Exclusive story

Transatlantic tunnel

Evans, Muriel

Call of the prairie

New Frontier

Silver Spurs

Throwback

Everest, Barbara

Scrooge

Fairbanks, Douglas, Jr.
Amateur gentleman

Mimi

Farnell, Violet

Mr. Cohen takes a walk

Farley, Dot

Gasoloeskin

Farley, Edward

Music goes 'round

Farnum, Frances

Too many parents

Farnum, Franklyn

Frontier justice

Farnum, William

Between men

Farr, Patricia

Lady in scarlet

Farrar, Gwen

She shall have music

Farrell, Charles

Fighting youth

Forbidden heaven

Farrell, Glenda

Miss Pacific Fleet

Snowed under

Faye, Alice

King of burlesque

Music is magic

Fazenda, Louise

Bad boy

Colleen

Doughnuts and society

Widow from Monte Carlo

Fedorova, Z.

Three women

Fellowes, Edith

She married her boss

Feeney, Leila

Two in the dark

Fetchit, Stepin

Steamboat round the bend

Virginia judge

Flynn, Errol

Captain Blood

Fonda, Henry

I dream too much

Trail of the lonesome pine

Way Down East

Fors, Dick

Moonlight on the prairie

Song of the saddle

Trenchery rides the range

Forbes, Ralph

I'll name the murderer

Ford, Francis

Charlie Chan at the circus

Ford, Wallace
Another face

Forest, Franco

For love of you

Foote, Norman
Bishop misbehaves

Everybody's old man

Fire trap

Leavenworth case

Suicide squad

Super speed

Foster, Preston

Annie Oakley

Last days of Pompeii

Love before breakfast

Muam 'em up

We're only human

Francis, Kay

I found Stella Parish

Frawley, William Desire

F-Man

Harmony Lane

It's a great life

Ship of atonement

Frazier, Robert

Never too late

Evans, Adrienne

Mystery in Chicago

Exhibitionist

Experimental interior

Fay, Andy

Secret daughter

Fielding, Robert

Condemned to live

Finn, Florence

Her name's not Hester

Fleming, John

Mad about nothing

Fletcher, Robert

Mountain men

Florian, John

Miss Pacific Fleet

Snowed under

Flynn, Errol
Gable, Clark
Mutiny on the Bounty
Gale, June

Swifty

Gale, Roberta
No man's range

Gambrelli, Maria
Here's to romance

Garbo, Greta
Anna Karenina

Gardner, William
Man hunt

Gable, June

Gable, Rusty
Dance band

Garrard, Gene Mister Hobo

Gannings, Martin
Lawless border

Geray, Steve
Pirate party on Catalina Island

Gilliver, Claude
Prisoner of Shark Island

Gleason, James
We're only human

Glennon, Russell
Condemned to live

Godard, Paulette
Modern Times

Gombell, Minna
Miss Pacific Fleet

Goodner, Carol
Music hath charms

Gordon, Del
Last of the Clintons

Gould, William
Wild mustang

Gould, Desert guns

Gable, Betty College girl

Grabez, Paul
Mr. Cohen takes a walk

Graham, Margot
Three musketeers

Grant, Cary
Last outpost

Granville, Bonita
Song of the saddle

Gray, Gilda
Rose Marie

Gray, Lawrence
Timber war

Gray, Anne
Just my luck

Grev, Shirley
Mystery of the Marie Celeste

Griffith, Gordon
Blazing Justice

Groves, Fred
Wolves of the underworld

Grundgens, Gustaf
I wove my web

Guitry, Sacha
Pastor

Gwenn, Edmund
Bishop misbehaves

Sylvia Scarlett
Walking dead

Hadley, Sara
Magnificent obsession

O'Shaughnessy's boy

Hale, Henry
Music hath charms

Hall, Porter
Too many parents

Hall, Thurston
Case of the missing man

Hall, Warren
Lone wolf returns

Half moon

Hallday, John
Desire

Melody lingers on

Peter Ibbetson

Hansen, Jimmy
Born for glory

Hardee, Ann
Lady consolates

Peter Ibbetson

Hardwick, Sir Cedric
Peg of old Drury

Hardy, Oliver
Bohemian girl

Harker, Gordon
Amateur gentleman

Harlow, Jean
Riffraff

Wife versus secretary

Harrigan, William
His family tree

Harris, Mildred
Never too late

Harley, Paul
Two hearts in harmony

Hayvey, Lillian
Invitation to the waltz

Hawkings, Jack
Peg of old Drury

Hayes, Bernadine
Judgment book

Trigger Tom

Hayes, George
Call of the prairie

Hayward, Louis
Feather in her hat

Healy, Ted
It's in the air

Henderson, Charles
Seeing Nellie home

Henry, Charlotte
Forbidden heaven

Return of Jimmy Valentine

Three kids and a queen

Hepburn, Katharine
Sylvia Scarlett

Herbert, Hugh
Colleen

Miss Pacific Fleet

To beat the band

Herscholt, Jean
Country doctor

Hervey, Irene
Charlie Chan in Shanghai

His night out

Hicks, Seymour
Scrooge

Hard, Harriet
Follow the fleet

Hinz, Werner
Making of a king

Hobson, Valerie
Great impersonation

Hoorbiger, Paul
Lieberi

Hogan, Michael
Wolves of the underworld

Hohl, Arthur
Guard that girl

Lone wolf returns

Superspeed

Holmes, Phillips
Chatterbox

Divine spark

House of a thousand candles

Holt, Jack
Dangerous waters

Littlest rebel

Storm over the Andes

Homolka, Oscar
Rhodes, the diamond master

Hood, Daria
Bohemian girl

Hopkins, Miriam
Barbary Coast

Splendor

Hopper, Hedda
Doughnuts and society

Society fever

Horton, Russell
False pretenses

Horton, Edward Everett
Her master's voice

His night out

Singing kids

Top hat

Your Uncle Dudley

Houston, George
Melody lingers on

Houston, Norman
Hitch hike to heaven

Howard, John
Millions in the air

Soak the rich

Howard, Leslie
Petriified forest

Howard, Russell
Millions in the air

Rose of the Rancho

Hubbard, Lorna
Music hath charms

Huber, Harald
Knольdie Annie

Hudson, Rochelle
Everybody's old man

Music goes 'round

Show them no mercy

Wey Down East

Hughes, Lloyd
Midnight Shanty

Night cargo

Skybound

Society fever

Hull, Warren
Personal maid's secret

Hume, Benita
Garden murder case

Hunt, Eleanor
Rest cure

Hunt, Marsha
Desert gold

Gentle Julia

Virginia Judge

Hunter, Ian
I found Stella Parish

Morals of Marcus

Huston, Walter
Rhodes, the diamond master

Hutchinson, Josephine
Melody lingers on

Story of Louis Pasteur

Hyams, Leila
$1000 a minute

Yellow dust

Hyton, Jack
She shall have music

Hymer, Warren
Confidential

Hitch hike lady

Hong Kong nights

Leavenworth case

Show them no mercy

Tango

Widow from Monte Carlo
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Actors &amp; Actresses</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Maxwell, Edwin</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Happiness, C. O., D.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mayerova, Vojtova</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Young love</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maynard, Ken</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cattle thief</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Her to trouble</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lawless riders</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Western courage</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maynard, Kermit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>His fighting blood</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Timber war</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Trails of the wild</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mayo, Frank</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Burning gold</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Meek, Donald</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Happiness, C. O., D.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kind lady</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Meeker, George</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tango</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Meilto, James</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stars over Broadway</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mendall, Daniel</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maria Chapdelaine</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Monjou, Adolphe</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Milly way</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mercer, Beryl</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Three live ghosts</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Meriwale, Philip</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Give us this night</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Merkel, Una</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Broadway melody of 1936</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It's in the air</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Riffraff</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Merman, Ethel</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anything goes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Strike me pink</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Messinger, Gertrude</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blazing justice</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Michael, Gertrude</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Last outpost</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Woman trap</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Middleton, Charles</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Song of the saddle</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sunset of power</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miljan, John</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Murder at Glen Athol</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Milland, Ray</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Next time we love</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miller, Hugh</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I give my heart</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miller, Walter</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Night cargo</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mills, John</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Born for glory</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Milly</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tempo massimo</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Milton, Billy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Music hath charms</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mitchell, Frank</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Music is magic</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mitchell, Geneva</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cattle thief</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lawless riders</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Western courage</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mitchell, Grant</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Next time we love</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seven keys to Buidpate</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mong, William V.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dark hour</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Montgomery, Douglas</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Harmony lane</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Montgomery, Robert</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Petticoat fever</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moore, Carlyle, J r.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Road gang</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moore, Dickie</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Timothy's quest</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moreno, Antonio</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bohemian girl</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Storm over the Andes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moreno, Rosita</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>House of a thousand candles</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Morgan, Frank</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Great Ziegfeld</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I live my life</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Perfect gentleman</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Morgan, Ralph</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Condemned to live</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Morlay, Gaby</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Le Bonheur</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Morley, Karen</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little rebel</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thunder in the night</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Motion Picture Review Digest</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Morner, Stanley</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I conquer the sea</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Morris, Chester</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pirate party on Catalina Island</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Three godfathers</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Morris, Margaret</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Desert guns</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Morrison, Joe</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It's a great life</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mowbray, Alan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&quot;Mus' em&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Muir, Esther</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Racing luck</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Muir, Jean</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Midsummer night's dream</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stars over Broadway</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mulligan, Jack</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Skull and Crown</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Muller, Renate</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Private life of Louis XIV</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Muni, Paul</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Doctor Socrates</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Story of Louis Pasteur</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Murat, Jean</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Second bureau</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Murphy, George</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Public menace</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Murray, Charlie</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dangerous waters</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Actors &amp; Actresses</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Napier, Diana</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>For love of you</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nes, Owen</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I give my heart</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Narokof, N.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grain</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Neagle, Anna</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Linelight</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Peg of old Drury</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nearing, Margaret</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fast bullets</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nisen, Greta</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spy ??</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nixon, Marian</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tango</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nolan, Loyd</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>One-way ticket</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>You may be next</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Norris, Edward</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Show them no mercy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Novotya, Jarmila</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Frasquita</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nugent, Eddie</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dancing feet</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Doughnuts and society</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Just my luck</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Skybound</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Actors &amp; Actresses</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Oakie, Jack</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Big broadcast of 1936</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Colleen</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Colleague</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Collegiate</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>King of burlesque</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oberon, Merle</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dark angel</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>These three</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>O'Brien, George</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thunder mountain</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Whispering Smith speaks</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>O'Brien, Pat</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ceiling zero</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stars over Broadway</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>O'Brien-Moore, Erin</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leafyworth case</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ring around the moon</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Two in the dark</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>O'Connell, Hugh</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Affair of Susan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>O'Connor, Una</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thunder in the night</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>O'Day, Molly</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lawless border</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Skull and Crown</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Offerman, George, Jr.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chatterbox</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Outlaw deputy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oland, Warner</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Charlie Chan at the circus</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Charlie Chan in Shanghai</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Charlie Chan's secret</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Pitts, Zasu
Affair of Susan
Pons, Lily
I dream too much
Poslavsky, Boris
Peasants
Petel, Victor
Last of the Clintons
Powell, Dick
Colleen
Muromomer night's dream
Shipmate forever
Thanks a million
Powell, Eleanor
Broadway melody of 1936
Great Ziegfeld
Powell, William
Rendezvous
Pratt, Furlan
Dancing feet
Prouty, Jef
Every Saturday night
Pryor, Roger
Case of the missing man
Shoe of Jimmy Valentine
Quigley, Charles
Charlie Chan's secret
King of burlesque
Raf, George
It had to happen
Rainer, Luise
Great Ziegfeld
Rains, Claude
Last outpost
Ralph, Jessie
Yellow dust
Ralston, Esther
Forced landing
Rest cure
Shadows of the Orient
Rathbone, Basil
Anna, Karenina
Captain Blood
Feather in her hat
Kind lady
Last days of Pompeii
Pupil of two cities
Ratoff, Gregory
Here comes trouble
King of burlesque
Rawlinson, Herbert
Hitch hike to heaven
Ray, Charles
Just my luck
Raymond, Gene
Love on a bet
Seven keys to Baldpate
Reed, Anna
Wearing banquet
Regan, Phil
Broadway hostess
Laughing Irish eyes
Renaud, Madeleine
Maria Chapdelaine
La Maternelle
Revier, Dorothy
Eagle's brood
Lady in scarlet
Rice, Florence
Escape from Devil's Island
Guard that girl
Super-speed
Rice, Frank
Ivy-handy handled gun
Rice, Jack
Casoloons
Richardson, Ralph
Things to come
Richman, Harry
Music goes 'round
Richmond, Warner
Courageous avenger
Riley, Michael
Music goes 'round
Riscoe, Arthur
For love of you
Rivero, Julian
Riddle Ranch
Roberts, Beverly Singing kid
Robinson, Bill
In old Kentucky
Littlest rebel
Robinson, Edward G.
Le Barbar Coast
Robson, May
Three kids and a queen
Wife versus secretary
Rodon, Francos
Pasteur
Rogers, Buddy
Dance band
Pirate party on Catalina Island
Rogers, Ginger
Follow the fleet
In person
Top hat
Rogers, Jean
Stormy
Rogers, Will
In old Kentucky
Steamboat round the bend
Romero, Cesar
Love before breakfast
Show them no mercy
Rooney, Mickey
Midsummer night's dream
Rouvelo, Jean
Bar 20 rides again
Leavenworth case
Rushenham, Heinz
Frasquita
Ruggles, Charlie
Anything goes
Kumman, Siegfried
East of Java case
Russell, Harriet
Crime of Dr. Crespi
Russell, Rosalind
It had to happen
Rendezvous
Rutherford, Ann
Doughnuts and society
Lawless nineties
Melody trail
Oregon song
Singalong vagabond
Frontier lady
Salter, Charles (Chic)
It's a great life
Man hunt
Schmelting, Max
Knock-out
Schneider, Magda
Kiss me goodbye
Liebelei
Schnarrath, Hans
Knock-out
Schumann-Heink, Mme.
Ernestine
Here's to romance
Scott, Marsetta
Things to come
Scott, Randolph
Follow the fleet
So red the rose
Searl, Jackie
Gentle Julia
Sellon, Charles
In old Kentucky
Seward, Billie
Trails of the wild
Shagaida, S.
Frontier
Shaw, Winifred
Broadway hostess
Shira, Gloria
Dangerous intrigue
Sheridan, Ann
Fighting youth
Shilling, Marion
Gun play
Trinity will be murdered
Shirley, Anne
Chatterbox
Steamboat round the bend
Shkurat, S.
Frontier
ACTORS & ACTRESSES—Continued
Shutter, Winifred
Petticoat fever
Sidney, Sylvia
Mary Burns, fugitive
Trail of the lonesome pine
Simon, Michel
Lac Aur Dames
Le Bonheur
Simon, Simone
Lac Aur Dames
Skipworth, Allison
Dangerous
Hitch hike lady
Sleep, Martha
Two sinners
Smith, C. Aubrey
Little Lord Fauntleroy
Smith, Pete
Powdermoke
Southern, Ann
Don't gamble with love
Grand exit
Hell Ship Morgan
You may be next
Sparks, Ned
Collegiate
Squette, Olga Joseph
Pasteur
Squire, Ronald
Come out of the pantry
Stamp-Taylor, Enid
Two hearts in harmony
Standard, Lionel
If you could only cook
Music goes round
Soak the rich
Standing, Sir Guy
Annapolis farewell
Stannwyck, Barbara
Annie Oakley
Message to Garcia
Red salute
Starrett, Charles
Gallant defender
Mysterious avenger
Steele, Bob
No man's range
Powdermoke range
Stephens, Harvey
Tough guy
Stevens, Onslow
Forced landing
Yellow dust
Stewart, James
Next time we love
Rose Marie
Stockwell, Harry
Here comes the band
Stolaroff, S.
Frontier
Stone, Carol
Freckles
Stone, Fred
Farmer in the dell
Trail of the lonesome pine
Stone, Lewis
Shipmates forever
Three godfathers
Stonel, Paula
Treachery rides the range
Stuart, Gloria
Prisoner of Shark Island
Professional soldier
Stuart, John
Four masked men
Sullavan, Margaret
Next time we love
So red the rose
Summerville, George J.
(Slim)
Captain January
Country doctor
Way Down East
Swarthout, Gladys
Give us this night
Roses of the Rancho
Tamara
Sweet surrender
Tamiroff, Akim
Woman trap
Taylor, Kent
My marriage
Taylor, Mary
Soak the rich
Taylor, Robert
Broadway melody of 1938
Malignant obsession
Tchekiot, Boris
Three women
Tearle, Conway
Desert guns
Judgment book
Tearle, Godfrey
Thirty-nine steps
Wolves of the underworld
Tecumseh, Verree
Milky way
Temple, Shirley
Captain January
Littlet rebel
Tenin, Boris
Rail
Thompson, Beatrix
Old curiosity shop
Thompson, Kenneth
Whispering Smith speaks
Thorogreen, Edward
Game of Jal-alal
Winter magic Thunder cloud, Chief
Annie Oakley
Thibet, Lawrence
Metropolitan
Tobin, Genevieve
Broadway hostess
Case of the lucky legs
Here's to romance
Snowed under Todd, Thelma
Bohemian girl
Two for tonight
Toler, Sidney
This is the life
Tomlin, Pink
Don't get personal
King Solomon of Broadway
Paddy O'Day
Tone, Franchot
Dangerous
Exclusive story
Mutiny on the Bounty
Toomey, Regis
Shadows of the Orient
Skull and Crown
Torrence, David
Captain Blood
Tour, Lupita
Old Spanish custom
Toye, Wendy
Invitation to the waltz
Tracy, Arthur
Limelight
Tracy, Lee
Two fisted
Tracy, Spencer
Riffla
Whipsaw
Travis, June
Broadway playground
Ceiling zero
Treachery, Arthur
Hitch hike lady
Trevor, Claire
My marriage
Navy wife
Song and dance man
Trevor, Edward
Way Down East
Truem, Ernest
Ladies love hats
Tessasarskaya, Emma Grain
Twelve trees, Helen Frisco waterfront
Spanish Cape mystery
Tyler, Tom
Fast bullets
Powdermoke range
Trigger Tom
Ulrich, Luise
LIEBELEI
Veldt, Conrad
King of the damned
Velez, Lupe
Morals of Marcus
Venable, Evelyn
Harmony lane
Streamline express
Vinson, Helen
King of the damned
Vojta, Jar
Young love
Von Stroheim, Eric
Crime of Dr CRESPI
Waddington, Patrick
I give my heart
Walker, Kay
Cappy Ricks returns
Dark hour
Fighting coward
Music is magic
Walhall, Henry B.
Tale of two cities
Walton, Douglas
Garden murder case
I conquer the sea
Ward, Penelope Dudley
Moscov nights
Ward, Polly
Old curiosity shop
Ware, Irene
Dark hour
False pretenses
Happiness C. O. D.
Murder at Glen Athol
Whispering Smith speaks
Warner, H. E.
Rose of the Rancho
Warrender, Harold
Invitation to the waltz
Warwick, Robert
Return of Jimmy Valentine
Watson, Lucille
Bishop misbehaves
Wayne, John
Lawless nineties
Lawless range
New frontier
Oregon trail
Wayne, Nata
Kiss me goodbye
Webster, Ben
Old curiosity shop
Weidler, Virginia
Freckles
Timothy's quest
Wells, Jacqueline
Bohemian girl
Night cargo
West, Buster
Moonlight and melody
West, Mae
Klonikle Annie
Westley, Helen Splendor
Whalen, Michael
Country doctor
Song and dance man
Wheeler, Bert
Silly Billies
White, Thelma
Never too late
Whitefan, G. T.
Thanks a million
Whitman, Gayne
Wild wings
Whitney, Eleanor
Timothy's quest
Wheeler, Leon
Private life of Louis XIV
Wilcoxon, Henry
Crusades
Willard, Edmund
Mystery of the Marie
Celeste
William, Warren
Broadway playground
Case of the lucky legs
Widow from Monte Carlo
Youssef, Young, Withers, Barbary
Itto

Three Crusades

Gun
We're Calling
Silly
Road Bulldog
Skybound

Withers, Jane
Gentle Julia: Paddy O'Day

This is the life: Witherspoon, Cora
Ladies love hats
Woodbury, Joan
Bulldog courage
Fighting coward
Woods, Donald
Road gang

Story of Louis Pasteur
Tale of two cities

Woods, Harry
Gallant defender
Heir to trouble
Lawless nineties
Silly Billies
Woolsey, Robert
Silly Billies

Worth, Barbara
Racing luck
Worth, David
Riddle Ranch

Wray, Fay
Come out of the pantry

When knights were bold
Wyatt, Jane

We're only human
Winters, Charlotte
Calling of Dan Matthews

Yacanelli, Frank
Gun play

Young, Elizabeth
East of Java

Young, Loretta
Crusades

Young, Polly Ann
His fighting blood
Young, Robert
Bride comes home
Red salute
Remember last night
Younger, E.
Peasantry

Youssif, Mohand
Itto

Yurka, Blanche
Tale of two cities

Zarubina, I.

Three women

Shihono, Yania

Three women

BOOKS (Adapted)
Adams, S. H.
In person
Asbury, H.

Barbary Coast
Austin, F. B.

Drums (Last outpost)

Baldwin, F.
Spinster dinner (Love before breakfast)

Biggers, E. D.
Seven keys to Baldpate
Breton, A.
Melody lingers on
Brush, K.
Maid of honor (Lady of secrets)

Buchan, J.
Thirty-nine steps
Butler-Lytton, E. G. E. L.

Last days of Pompeii
Burton, G.
Two o'clock curse (Two in the dark)
Bunyan, B. L.
Steamboat round the bend
Burnett, F. H.

Little Lord Fauntleroy
Burnett, W. R.

Three mates
Burns, W. N.
Robin Hood of El Dorado
Cram, M.

Thin air (Stars over Broadway)
Curwood, J. O.
Timber war

Deeping, W.

Two black sheep (Two sinners)

Delmar, V.
Brooks, (Hands across the table)

Day never came (King of Burlesque)
Dickens, C.

A Christmas carol (Scrooge)
Old curiosity shop

Nightmare of two cities
Dostoevski, F. M.
Crime and punishment
Dostoevski, F. M.

Crime and punishment (Crime et châtiment)

Doulton, L. G.

Magnificent obsession

Dumas, A.

Two musketeers
Du Maurier, G.

Peter Ibbetson
Eberhart, M. G.

From this dark stairway (Murder of Dr Harrigan)

Eden, L. pseud.

Dancing feet

Farnol, J.

American gentleman

Forester, C. S.

Born for glory

Fraple, L.

La Maternelle

Gardner, E. S.

Case of the lucky legs
Grant, J. E.

Green shadow (Muss 'em Up)

Green, A. K.

Leave-nothing case

Grey, Z.

Desert gold

Drift fence

Nevada

Thunder mountain

Wanderer of the wasteland

Hemen, L.

Maria Chapdelaine

Hobart, V.

Ring around the moon

Hobhouse, A., pseud.

Hangover murders (Remember last night)

Hubbard, A.

Message to Garcia

Huches, R.

Canavan (It had to happen)

Hurst, V.

Tomas,

Jope-Slade, C.

Forbidden heaven

Kantor, M.

Voice of Bugle Ann

Kellow, C. B.

Dreamland (Strike me pink)

Kellerman, B.

The tunnel (Transatlantic tunnel)

Kyne, P. B.

Cappy Ricks returns

Three godfathers

Lamb, H.

Crusades

Lippincott, N.

Murder at Glen Athol

MacDonald, W. C.

Powdersmoke range

MacKenzie, C.

Sylvia Scarlett

Melville, H.

Typee (Last of the pagans)

Miller, A. D.

Come out of the pantry

Morris, G.

Tiger Island (East of Java)

Mulford, C.

Bar 20 rides again

Eagle's brood

Hop-a-long Cassidy's protection (Call of the prairie)

Muger, H.

La vie de Bohème (Mimi)

Natali, M.

Tempo massimo

Nordhoff, C. E., and Hall, J.

Men against the sea

(Mutiny on the Bounty)

Mutiny on the Bounty

Fiteaur's Island (Mutiny on the Bounty)

Norris, K.

Beauty's daughter (Navy wife)

Oppenheim, E. P.

Great impersonation

Payne, S.

Tracks (Swifty)

Parrott, U. M.

Next time we live, or Say goodbye again (Next time we love)

Porter, G. S.

Freckles

Powell, D.

Country boy (Man of Iron)

Queen, E., pseud.

Spanish Cape mystery

Reeves, T.

Glory hole (Dangerous waters)

Richards, L. E.

Captain January

Robert-Dumas, C.

Second bureau

Rowan, A. S.

Message to Garcia

Sarabini, R.

Captain Blood

Saunders, L. pseud.

Snowed under

Shuhov, I.

Enemies' paths (Grain)

Swift, J.

Gulliver's travels (New Gulliver)

Tarkington, B.

Gente Julia

Tolstoi, L. N.

Anna Karenina

Turner, E.

One-way ticket

Vance, L. J.

Lone wolf returns

Van Dine, S. S.

Garden murder case

Wells, H. G.

Shape of things to come (Things to come)

Wiggin, K. D.

Timothy's quest
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

BOOKS (Adapted)—Cont.
Way Down East
Wright, C.
Winter, G.
Stormy
Wright, H. B.
Calling of Dan Matthews
Wylie, I. A. R.
Feather in her hat
Yardley, H. O.
American black chamber (Recondite)
Young, S.
So red the rose

DIRECTORS
Allegret, M.
Lac Aux Dames
Archainbald, G.
My marriage
Arnštám, L.
Three women
Asquith, A.
Moscow nights
Atkins, T.
Hi Gaucho
Auer, J. H.
Crime of Dr Crespi
Bacon, L. S.
Frisco Kid
Barton, C.
Lassoing the Cow
Bentley, M.
Mr Cohen takes a walk
Bennett, S. G.
Cattle thief
Bien, to troubleshoot
Western courage
Benoît-Levy, J.
Native of the Maternelle
Bentley, T.
Mysterious charms
Old curiosity shop
Berkeley, B.
I live for love
Biherman, H.
One-way ticket
Billson, P.
Second bureau
Blake, H.
Ship of Fools
Blisstone, J.
Bad boy
Bogart, G.
Gentle Julia
Boleslawski, R.
Metropolitan
O'Shaughnessy's boy
Bord, A.
Lost in the forbidden
Bond, R.
Forbidden heaven
Bonnard, M.
Wedding March
Borzage, F.
Desire
Shipmates forever
Bradbury, R. N.
Between men
Courageous avenger
Lawsome range
No man's range
Bretton, H.
Bar 20 rides again
Call of the prairie
Eagle's brood
Leathernecks have landed
Brecht, M.
Sweet surrender
Brower, O.
Our man in Mexico
Brown, C.
Ah, wilderness
Anna Karenina
Wife versus secretary
Brown, M.
Forced landing
Brunel, A.
Old Spanish custom
Buck, F.
Fang and claw
Burton, D.
Melody lingers on
Butler, D.
Captain January
Little rebel
Cabanne, C.
Another face
Storm over the Andes
Cahn, E. L.
Confidential
Chaplin, C.
Modern times
Chaplin, F.
Crime et bourgeoisie
Christie, A.
Ladies love hats
Clarin, R.
Ghost goes west
Clemens, W.
Manhunt
Clift, D.
Mystery of the Marie Antoinette
Collins, E.
Skull and Crown
Cline, E. E.
F-man
It's a great life
Collins, A. G.
Personal maid's secret
Widow from Monte Carlo
Collins, L. D.
Doughnuts and society
Leaveout case
Return of Jimmy Valentine
Spanish Cape mystery
Conway, J.
Tale of two cities
Cooper, G. A.
Little Lord Fauntleroy
Crosland, A.
Great impersonation
King Solomon of Broadway
Cruze, J.
Twoisted
Cukor, G.
Sylvia Scarlett
Curtiz, M.
Captain Blood
Walking dead
De La Palais, Marquis H.
Legong
Del Ruth, R.
Broadway melody of 1936
It had to happen
Thanks a million
De Mille, C.
Crusades
Dieterle, W.
Dr. Socrates
Midsummer night's dream
Story of Louis Pasteur
Disney, W.
Broken toys
Cock o' the walk
On ice
Three orphan kittens
Devjenko, A.
Frontier
Dupont, E. A.
Bishop misbehaves
Duvivier, J.
Maria Chapdelaine
Dwan, A.
Navvy wife
Son of the dance man
Edwards, H.
Scrouge
Elvey, M.
Transatlantic tunnel
English, J. W.
His fighting blood
Enright, R.
Miss Pacific Fleet
Snowed under
Epstein, M.
Ito
La Maternelle
Ernler, F.
Peasants
Faralla, D.
Little America
Fields, L.
Streamline express
Fitzmaurice, G.
Petticoat fever
Forbes, J. A.
Sacred city of the Mayan
L. Borden, J. A.
Everybody's old man
We're only human
Florey, E.
Pay-Off
Preview murder mystery
Ship cafe
Ford, J.
Prisoner of Shark Island
Steamboat round the bend
Forde, E.
Your Uncle Dudley
Forde, W.
Born for glory
King of the damned
Fox, W.
Powdertone range
Yellow dust
Franklin, C.
Tough guy
Franklin, S.
Dark angel
Fraser, H.
Hair Trigger Casey
Last of the Clintons
Wild mustang
Fresland, T.
Amateur gentleman
Friedlander, L.
Stormy
Froelich, C.
Wolves of the underworld
Gallone, C.
Divine spark
For love of you
Kiss me goodbye
Garnett, T.
Professional soldier
She couldn't take it
Galsner, L.
Lone outposts
Gering, M.
Lady of secrets
Lorena
Gordon, S.
Lawless riders
Greene, A. E.
Colleen
Dangerous
Here's to romance
Griñaff, E. H.
Next time we love
Guil, E.
Silly Billies
Guilty, S.
Pasture
Hall, A.
Annapolis farewell
Give us this night
Halperin, V.
I conquer the sea
Hamilton, W.
Freckles
Seven keys to Baldpate
Hanbury, W. V.
Scandal of Paris
Hathaway, H.
Peter Ibbetston
Trail of the lonesome pine
Hawks, H. B.
Barberry Coast
Ceiling zero
Hecht, B.
Soak the rich
Heinz, R. R.
Just my luck
L'Herbier, M.
Le Bonheur
Herman, A.
Blazing justice
Gun play
PLAYS (Adapted)

Ade, G. College widow (Freshman love)
Balfe, M. W. Bohemian girl
Battaile, H. La Marcia nuziale (Wedding March)
Belasco, D. Return of Peter Grimm
Bennett, P. Nuits de Muscovie (Moscow Nights)
Bernstein, H. Le Bonheur
Bolton, G. Dark angel
Carb, D. Chatterbox
Carpenter, E. C. Perfect gentleman
Chancellor, J. King of the damned
Chodorov, E. Kind lady
Cohan, G. M. Home towners (Broadway playboy)
Seven keys to Baldpate
Song and dance man
Conners, B. Applesauce (Brides are like that)
Crowe, R., and Lindsay, H. Anything goes
Dailey, C. T. In old Kentucky
Farago, A., and Laszo, A. The girl who dared (Top hat)
Gleason, J., and Taber, R. Is zat so? (Two-fisted)
Hammerstein, O., and Harbach, O. Present from Margate (Widow from Monte Carlo)
Hellman, L. Children's hour (These three)
Isham, F. S., and Marcin, M. Three live ghosts
Jackson, F. Bishop 'misbehaves'
Jerome, J. K. Passing of the third floor back Kavanaugh, K. Every Saturday night
Knepler, P., and Wellenskii, J. M. DuBarry (I give my heart)
Kummer, C. Her master's voice
Lief, J. O., and Lief, M. Two for tonight
Lindsay, H., and Robinson, B. Your Uncle Dudley
Locke, W., J. Morals of Marcus
Marlowe, W. When knights were bold
Miller, A. D., and Milton, R. Charm school (Collegiate)
O'Neill, G., and TROTHERO, D. Mother lode (Yellow dust)

O'Neil, E. Ah, wilderness
Osborne, H. Shore leave (Follow the fleet)
Parker, L. B. Way Down East
Pepé, E. Little rebel
Raphael, J. N. Peter Ibbetson
Reed, M. Petticoat fever
Root, L., and Clark, H. Milky way
Schnitzler, A. Liebelei
Shakespeare, W. Midsummer night's dream
Sherwood, R. E. Petrified forest
Székely, H., and Stemmle, R. A. Jewel necklace (Desire)
THOMAS, A. E. Lord Richard in the pantry
Tolto, R. W., and Belasco, D. Rose of the Rancho Umger, G., and Lasky, J., Jr. Private beach (Music is magic) Wendy, F. Ceiling zero

PUPPETEERS

Kransy, F. New Gulliver

SHORT STORIES (Adapted)

Brennan, F. H. Miss Pacific Fleet
Curwood, J. O. Caryl of the mountains (Trails of the wild)
Day, L. Living up to Lizzie (Personal maid's secret)
Dodge, H. I. Skinner's dress suit (His night out)
Freeman, M. $100 a minute
Goodloe, A. C. Claustrophobia (I live my life)
Hamilton, C. The prodigal father (Perfect gentleman)
Holding, E. S. Bride comes home
Keown, Eric. Glorious castle (Ghost goes west)
Kyne, P. B. All for love (Valley of the wanted men)
Last assignment (Fighting coward)
McCordell, R. L. High hats (Ladies love hats)
McCulley, J. King of Cactusville (Outlaw deputy)
Poe, E. A. Premature burial (Crime of Dr Crespi)
Rinehart, M. R. Mr Cohen takes a walk
Runyon, D. Gentleman, the King (Professional soldier)
Walpole, H. Silver mask (Kind lady)
Walsh, T. Husk (We're only human)
Pictures Reviewed in This Issue
(Continued from inside front cover)

Page
Mutiny On the Bounty .......................... 132
My Marriage .................................. 134
Mysterious Avenger .......................... 134
Myth of the Marie Celeste .................... 134
Navy Wife .................................. 135
Nevada .......................................... 135
Never Too Late .................................. 136
New Frontier .................................. 136
New Gulliver .................................. 136
Next Time We Love ............................ 137
Night at the Opera ............................ 138
Night Cargo .................................. 140
No Man’s Range ................................. 140
Old Curiosity Shop ............................ 140
Old Spanish Custom ........................... 141
On Ice .......................................... 141
$1000 a Minute .................................. 141
One-Way Ticket ............................... 142
Oregon Trail .................................. 142
O’Shaughnessy’s Boy ........................... 143
Outlaw Deputy ................................. 143
Pace That Kills ................................. 143
Paddy O’Day .................................. 143
Passing of the Third Floor Back .............. 144
Pasteur .......................................... 144
Pay-Off ......................................... 145
Peasants ........................................ 145
Peg of Old Drury ............................... 146
Perfect Gentleman .............................. 146
Personal Maid’s Secret ......................... 147
Peter Ibbetson .................................. 147
Petrified Forest .................................. 148
Petticoat Fever .................................. 150
Pirate Party on Catalina Island ............... 150
Powdersmoke Range ............................. 151
Preview Murder Mystery ....................... 151
Prisoner of Shark Island ....................... 152
Private Life of Louis XIV ....................... 154
Professional Soldier ........................... 155
Public Menace .................................. 156
Racing Luck .................................... 156
Rainmakers ..................................... 157
Red Salute ..................................... 157
Reg’lar Kids .................................... 157
Remember Last Night ......................... 158
Rendezvous ..................................... 158
Rast Cure ....................................... 159
Return of Jimmy Valentine ..................... 159
Return of Peter Grimm .......................... 160
Rhodes, the Diamond Master .................... 160
Riddle Ranch .................................... 162
Riffraff ......................................... 162
Ring Around the Moon .......................... 163
Road Gang ...................................... 163
Page
Robin Hood of El Dorado ...................... 164
Rose Marie ...................................... 165
Rose of the Rancho ............................. 167
Sacred City of the Mayan Indians ............ 169
Sagebrush Troubadour .......................... 169
Scandals of Paris ................................ 169
Scrooge .......................................... 169
Second Bureau .................................. 171
Seeing Nellie Home ............................. 171
Seven Keys to Baldpate ......................... 172
Shadows of the Orient .......................... 172
She Couldn’t Take It ............................ 173
She Married Her Boss ........................... 173
She Shall Have Music ........................... 173
Ship Cafe ....................................... 174
Shipmates Forever ............................... 174
Show Them No Mercy ............................ 175
Silly Billies ..................................... 176
Silver Spurs ..................................... 176
Singing Kid ...................................... 177
Singing Yagabond ................................ 177
Skull and Crown ................................ 177
Skybound ....................................... 178
Snowed Under ................................... 178
So Red the Rose ................................ 178
Soak the Rich ................................... 179
Society Fever ................................... 181
Song and Dance Man ............................. 181
Song of the Saddle ............................... 182
Spanish Cape Mystery ........................... 183
Special Agent ................................... 183
Splendor ........................................ 183
Spy 77 ........................................... 184
Stars Over Broadway ............................. 185
Steamboat Round the Bend ...................... 185
Steel and Stone ................................ 186
Storm Over the Andes ............................ 186
Stormy .......................................... 186
Story of Louis Pasteur ............................ 187
Streamline Express ............................... 189
Strike Me Pink ................................... 189
Suicide Squad ................................... 190
Sunset of Power .................................. 190
Superspeed ....................................... 191
Sweet Surrender ................................ 191
Swifty ............................................ 191
Sylvia Scarlett ................................. 191
Tale of Two Cities ............................... 192
Tango ............................................. 194
Tempo Massimo ................................ 194
Thanks a Million ................................ 195
These Three ..................................... 195
Things to Come .................................. 196
Thirty-Nine Steps ............................... 197
Page
This Is the Life ................................ 197
Three Godfathers ................................ 198
Three Kids and a Queen ......................... 199
Three Live Ghosts ................................ 199
Three Musketeers ................................ 200
Three Orphan Kittens ............................ 200
Three Women ..................................... 201
Throwback ....................................... 201
Thunder in the Night ............................ 201
Thunder Mountain ................................ 202
Timber War ...................................... 202
Timothy’s Quest ................................ 202
To Beat the Band ................................ 203
Toll of the Desert ............................... 204
Too Many Parents ............................... 204
Too Tough to Kill ............................... 204
Top Hat ......................................... 204
Tough Guy ....................................... 205
Trail of the Lonesome Pine ....................... 206
Trails of the Wild ................................ 207
Transatlantic Tunnel ............................. 208
Treachery Rides the Range ....................... 208
Trigger Tom ..................................... 208
Tumbling Tumbleweeds ............................ 209
Two Fisted ....................................... 209
Two for Tonight .................................. 209
Two Hearts in Harmony .......................... 209
Two in Revolt ................................... 210
Two in the Dark .................................. 210
Two Sinners ..................................... 211
Valley of Wanted Men ............................ 211
Virginia Judge ................................... 211
Voice of Bugle Ann ............................. 212
Walking Dead .................................... 213
Wanderer of the Wasteland ....................... 214
Waterfront Lady .................................. 215
Way Down East .................................. 215
Wedding March .................................. 216
We’re Only Human ............................... 216
Western Courage ................................ 217
When Knights Were Bold ......................... 217
Whipsaw ....................................... 217
Whispering Smith Speaks ......................... 218
Widow From Monte Carlo ......................... 219
Wife Versus Secretary ............................ 220
Wild Mustang ..................................... 221
Wild Wings ...................................... 221
Wings Over Ethiopia ............................. 222
Winter Magic ................................... 222
Wolves of the Underworld ......................... 222
Woman Trap ..................................... 222
Yellow Dust ...................................... 223
You May Be Next ................................ 224
Young Forest ................................... 224
Young Love ...................................... 225
Your Uncle Dudley .............................. 225
How to Use the Motion Picture Review Digest

Sample Entry

NIGHT AT THE OPERA. N 15 '35 96min MGM Players: Groucho Marx, Chico Marx, Harpo Marx, Kitty Carlisle
Director: Sam Wood

"A musical slapstick farce in which the Marx Bros. succeed in placing their musical proteges in a Metropolitan Opera performance." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Mad clowning, clever dancing, pleasing vocal and instrumental music are entertaining features of this picture which will please the Marx Bros.' fans. Family and Junior matines." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) O 30 '35

"Very good for type. Family." + Jt Estimates N 1 '35

---

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"A boisterous, rowdy, and thoroughly delightful piece. A Night at the Opera hits a swift pace from the opening and never slackens under the barrage of puns, songs, dancing, and insane antics that come tumbling on top of each other. Following the same general lines of their earlier hits, the Marx Brothers' new film is imbued with an undeniable freshness and enthusiasm that sweeps crazily, but none the less triumphantly, through the whole affair." Beverly Hills

+ + Liberty p46 N 30 '35

Trade Paper Reviews

"[This] probably will go down in history as the best the brothers have contributed to the screen." + +Film Curb p14 N 1 '35

"Family farce." NY Exhibitor p30 N 10 '35

---

Starting at the beginning, the title of this picture is A Night at the Opera. It was released on November 15, 1935. It is 96 minutes in length. The producing company is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. (For key to abbreviations of producers and quoted sources, see first two pages.)

The list of principal players and the director will require no explanation.

Next comes a brief note describing the picture, its nature, and plot. Sometimes these notes are written by our staff. In other cases they are quoted from a published source. In such cases the source is given.

Following the descriptive note, the excerpts from reviews begin. Following each review the source is given, with date of issue and number of the page on which the review appears.

It will be noticed that plus and minus signs sometimes precede the sources. These indicate the degree of favor or disfavor of the review as a whole (not just of the quoted excerpt). The meaning of the various combinations of these signs is as follows:

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; — + Mediocre; — — Poor; — — — Exceptionally Poor

The signs are omitted when a review merely reports on a film without expressing a definite critical opinion.

In interpreting these signs, it will be well to remember that their precise significance will vary somewhat according to the source. In general there are three types of sources represented in the MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST: (1) audience suitability ratings by special reviewing organizations (women's clubs, religious groups, and the like); (2) general newspapers and magazines; and (3) trade papers. The purpose of the audience suitability ratings by the special reviewing organizations is chiefly to pass on questions of morality and propriety and to report on suitability for children of various ages. The purpose of the reviews in general magazines and newspapers is to inform the adult patron of artistic and entertainment qualities. The purpose of the trade paper reviews is to inform the exhibitor of probable commercial value.
This is a cumulated number. It includes all reviews published since No. 15. It supersedes Nos. 16-27. DISCARD Nos. 16-27.

MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

Vol. 1

June 29, 1936

No. 28

(Superseding Nos. 16-27)

Published by THE H. W. WILSON COMPANY, 950-972 University Avenue, New York City

Pictures Reviewed in This Issue

(arranged alphabetically)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Page</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>Abdul the Damned</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>Absolute Quiet</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>Alpine Love</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>Amateur Gentleman</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>And So They Were Married</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>And Sudden Death</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>Annette in Paradise</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>Anthony Adverse</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>August Week-End</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>Below the Deadline</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>Big Brown Eyes</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8</td>
<td>Big Noise</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9</td>
<td>Border Caballero</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9</td>
<td>Border Flight</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10</td>
<td>Born for Glory</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10</td>
<td>Born to Fight</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10</td>
<td>Bunker Dam</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11</td>
<td>Bridos Are Like That</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12</td>
<td>Bridge of Sighs</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13</td>
<td>Brilliant Marriage</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13</td>
<td>Broken Blossoms</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13</td>
<td>Bullets or Ballots</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15</td>
<td>Bunker Bean</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15</td>
<td>La Canzone del Sole</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>16</td>
<td>Captain Calamity</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>16</td>
<td>Captain January</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>18</td>
<td>Cardinal</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>18</td>
<td>Caryl of the Mountains</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>18</td>
<td>Case Against Mrs. Ames</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20</td>
<td>Case of the Velvet Claws</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20</td>
<td>Cattle Thief</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>21</td>
<td>Champagne Charlie</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>21</td>
<td>Charlie Chan at the Circus</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>22</td>
<td>Children of the Revolution</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>23</td>
<td>Cloistered</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>23</td>
<td>Colleen</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>24</td>
<td>Comin' 'Round the Mountain</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>24</td>
<td>Counterfeit</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25</td>
<td>Country Beyond</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25</td>
<td>Country Doctor</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>27</td>
<td>Cowboy and the Kid</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>27</td>
<td>Crime of Dr. Forbes</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>27</td>
<td>Crime Patrol</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>28</td>
<td>Criminal Within</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>28</td>
<td>Crimson Circle</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>28</td>
<td>Dancing Feet</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>28</td>
<td>Dancing Pirate</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>30</td>
<td>Desert Gold</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>30</td>
<td>Desert Justice</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>30</td>
<td>Desert Phantom</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>31</td>
<td>Desire</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>32</td>
<td>Devil's Squadron</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>33</td>
<td>Don Bosco</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>33</td>
<td>Don't Gamble With Love</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>33</td>
<td>Don't Get Personal</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>34</td>
<td>Doughnuts and Society</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>34</td>
<td>Dracula's Daughter</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>35</td>
<td>Dragmet</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>36</td>
<td>Dubrovsky</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>36</td>
<td>Early to Bed</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>37</td>
<td>Educating Father</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>37</td>
<td>Everybody's Old Man</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>39</td>
<td>Ex-Mrs. Bradford</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>40</td>
<td>Farmer in the Dell</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>41</td>
<td>Fatal Lady</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>42</td>
<td>Federal Agent</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>42</td>
<td>Feud of the West</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>42</td>
<td>First Baby</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>43</td>
<td>Florida Special</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>44</td>
<td>Follow the Fleet</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>45</td>
<td>For the Service</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>45</td>
<td>Forget Me Not</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>45</td>
<td>Forgotten Faces</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>45</td>
<td>Forgotten Women</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>47</td>
<td>Frankie and Johnnie</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>47</td>
<td>Frasquita</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>47</td>
<td>Fury</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>49</td>
<td>Gentle Julia</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>50</td>
<td>Girl from Mandalay</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>50</td>
<td>Girl of the Ozarks</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>51</td>
<td>Give Us This Night</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>52</td>
<td>Golden Arrow</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>53</td>
<td>Great Ziegfeld</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>56</td>
<td>Green Pastures</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>57</td>
<td>Half Angel</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>58</td>
<td>Hard Luck Dame</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(Continued on inside front cover)
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Harvester</td>
<td>58</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hearts Divided</td>
<td>59</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hearts in Bondage</td>
<td>60</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hell Ship Morgan</td>
<td>61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>L’Homme des Folies Bergère</td>
<td>62</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hot Money</td>
<td>61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>House of a Thousand Candles</td>
<td>62</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>How to Behave</td>
<td>62</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Human Cargo</td>
<td>63</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Married a Doctor</td>
<td>64</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Stand Condemmed</td>
<td>65</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It’s Bee Akin</td>
<td>65</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jack of All Trades</td>
<td>66</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jailbreak</td>
<td>67</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Just Speeding</td>
<td>68</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kelly the Second</td>
<td>68</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>King of the Damned</td>
<td>68</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>King of the Pecos</td>
<td>69</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>King Steps Out</td>
<td>69</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lady Jane Grey</td>
<td>70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Last Journey</td>
<td>71</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Last Outlaw</td>
<td>72</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Laughing Irish Eyes</td>
<td>73</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Law in Her Hands</td>
<td>73</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Leathernecks Have Landed</td>
<td>74</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Let’s Sing Again</td>
<td>75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lightning Bill Gerson</td>
<td>76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Lord Fauntleroy</td>
<td>77</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Miss Nobody</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Red Schoolhouse</td>
<td>79</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Stranger</td>
<td>79</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Living Dangerously</td>
<td>80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lorenzino de Medicci</td>
<td>80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Love Before Breakfast</td>
<td>81</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Love Begins at Twenty</td>
<td>81</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Luck of the Irish</td>
<td>82</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lucky Terror</td>
<td>82</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Message to Garcia</td>
<td>83</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Milliza Territoriale</td>
<td>84</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Milky Way</td>
<td>84</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Millionaire Kid</td>
<td>86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Man With the Iron Door</td>
<td>86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mr. Deeds Goes to Town</td>
<td>87</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moonlight Murder</td>
<td>89</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moon’s Our Home</td>
<td>90</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Moscow Moods</td>
<td>92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Murder by an Aristocrat</td>
<td>92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Murder on a Bride Path</td>
<td>92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mysteries Avenger</td>
<td>94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mystic Mountain</td>
<td>94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Navy Born</td>
<td>95</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Neighborhood House</td>
<td>95</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nobody’s Fool</td>
<td>96</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>O’Malley of the Mounted</td>
<td>97</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Once in a Million</td>
<td>97</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>One Rainy Afternoon</td>
<td>98</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ourselves Alone</td>
<td>99</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Outlaws of the Range</td>
<td>100</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Palm Springs</td>
<td>100</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Panic on the Air</td>
<td>101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Parole</td>
<td>101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Passing of the Third Floor Back</td>
<td>102</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Peg of Old Drury</td>
<td>103</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pernod Mimosa</td>
<td>103</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Petticoat Fever</td>
<td>104</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Poor Little Rich Girl</td>
<td>105</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Poppy</td>
<td>106</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Preview Murder Mystery</td>
<td>107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pride of the Marines</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Princess Comes Across</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Prisoner of Shark Island</td>
<td>109</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Private Number</td>
<td>110</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Raggen, Dot Aer Jeg Det</td>
<td>111</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>II Re Done</td>
<td>111</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Red Wagon</td>
<td>112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Revolt of the Zombies</td>
<td>112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rhodes, the Diamond Master</td>
<td>113</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rio Grande Romance</td>
<td>114</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Road to Glory</td>
<td>114</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Roamin’ Wild</td>
<td>114</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Roaming Lady</td>
<td>115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Robin Hood of El Dorado</td>
<td>115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rogue of the Range</td>
<td>116</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Royal Waltz</td>
<td>116</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scotland Yard Mystery</td>
<td>117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Secret Agent</td>
<td>117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Secret Patrol</td>
<td>118</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seven Brave Men</td>
<td>119</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Showboat</td>
<td>119</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Silly Billies</td>
<td>121</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Singing Cowboy</td>
<td>121</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Singing Kid</td>
<td>122</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sins of Man</td>
<td>123</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Skaggaards-Flirt</td>
<td>124</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sky Parade</td>
<td>125</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Small Town Girl</td>
<td>126</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Snowbird Under</td>
<td>127</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Song of China</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Song of the Sadle</td>
<td>129</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Song of the Trail</td>
<td>129</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sons O’ Guns</td>
<td>129</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Soviet News</td>
<td>131</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Special Investigator</td>
<td>131</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Speed</td>
<td>132</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Speed Reporter</td>
<td>133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sundown Saunders</td>
<td>133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sutter’s Gold</td>
<td>133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>These Three</td>
<td>135</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Things to Come</td>
<td>136</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thirteen Hours by Air</td>
<td>138</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Three Little Wolves</td>
<td>139</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Three of a Kind</td>
<td>140</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Three the Hawk Trail</td>
<td>141</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Three Wise Guys</td>
<td>141</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thrills With Daredovils</td>
<td>142</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Till We Meet Again</td>
<td>142</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Times Square Playboy</td>
<td>143</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Too Many Parents</td>
<td>144</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Too Much Beef</td>
<td>145</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Trail of the Lonesome Pine</td>
<td>146</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Treachery Rides the Range</td>
<td>146</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Trouble for Two</td>
<td>146</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Two Against the World</td>
<td>148</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Two in Revolt</td>
<td>148</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Under Two Flags</td>
<td>149</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unguarded Hour</td>
<td>151</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>We Are From Kronstadt</td>
<td>153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wellington Pike Goes West</td>
<td>154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>White Angel</td>
<td>154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wildcat Saunders</td>
<td>154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Winged Champions</td>
<td>155</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Witness Chair</td>
<td>155</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Women Alone</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Women Are Trouble</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Yellow Cargo</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Yellow Dust</td>
<td>157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>You May Be Next</td>
<td>157</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Publications from which Digests of Reviews are made

Motion Picture Digest

Vol. 1

JUNE 29, 1936

No. 28

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
THE H. W. WILSON COMPANY

950-972 University Avenue, New York City

Terms of Subscription and Advertising. Full information on request.

Motion Picture Review Digest

Auditon Evaluation Publications

Am Legion Auxiliary—American Legion Auxiliary. See Fox W Coast Bul

Endorsed Motion Pict—Endorsed Motion Pictures. Publication discontinued

Fox W Coast Bul—Fox West Coast Theatres Corporation Bulletin. 1587 S Vermont Av, Los Angeles

(T)his publication contains evaluations by the following organizations: American Legion Auxiliary; Calif Cong of Par & Teachers; DAR; E Coast Preview Committee; Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast); Int Fed of Cath Alumnae; Nat Bd of R; Nat Council of Jewish Women; Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs; Nat Soc of New England Women; S Calif Council of Fed Church Women; Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast); Int Fed of Cath Alumnae; International Federation of Catholic Alumnae

Fox W Coast Bul; Nat Legion of Decency

(M)otion Pict R—Motion Picture Reviews. $1, Motion Picture Reviews, Women's University Club, 513 S Hoover St, Los Angeles

Nat Bd of R—National Board of Review Magazine. $2, National Board of Review of Motion Pictures, 105 Fifth Av, New York

Nat Council of Jewish Women—Los Angeles Section, National Council of Jewish Women. Bulletin. 302 E 47th St, Indianapolis, IN

Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs—National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs (Los Angeles District)

See Fox W Coast Bul; Jt Estimates; Sel Motion Pict

See Fox W Coast Bul; Jt Estimates; Motion Pict Guide; Sel Motion Pict

NY Archdiocese Motion Picture Guide—New York Archdiocese Motion Picture Guide

See Fox W Coast Bul; Jt Estimates; Motion Pict Guide; Sel Motion Pict

Par M—Parent Magazine. See The Parents' Institute, Inc, 9 E 40th St, New York

Scholastic—Scholastic. $1.50, Scholastic, Chamber of Commerce Bldg, Pittsburgh, Pa

Sel Motion Pict—Selected Motion Pictures. West Coast. Motion Picture Producers & Distributors of America, Inc, Will H. Hays, Pres. 25 W 44th St, New York

(T)his publication contains evaluations by the following organizations: Calif Cong of Par & Teachers; DAR; Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast); Nat Council of Jewish Women; Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs; Nat Soc of New England Women; S Calif Council of Fed Church Women; Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles

S Calif Council of Fed Church Women—Southern California Council of Federated Church Women

See Fox W Coast Bul; Jt Estimates; Sel Motion Pict

Women's Univ Club, Los Angeles—Women's University Club, Los Angeles

See Fox W Coast Bul; Jt Estimates; Motion Pict Guide; Motion Pict R; Sel Motion Pict

Newspapers and Magazines

Boston Transcript—Boston Evening Transcript, $5.50, (Wednesday and Saturday). Boston Transcript Co, Inc, Pub, 321 Washington St, Boston

Canadian M—Canadian Magazine. $1.50, Hugh C. MacLean Pub, Ltd, 317 Adelaide St, W Toronto

Library—Library. §2. Liberty Publishing Corp, 1326 Broadway, Lincoln Sq, New York

Life—Life. §1.50. Life Magazine, Inc, 60 E 42d St, New York

Lit Digest—Literary Digest. §4. Funk and Wagnalls Co, 351-358 Fourth Av, New York

Nation—Nation. §5. Nation Fund Inc, 20 Vesey St, New York

New Statesman & Nation—New Statesman and Nation. §30s. New Statesman and Nation, 10 Great Turlnulle, London, W C 1

New Yorker—New Yorker. §5. F R Publishing Corp, 25 W 46th St, New York

News-Wk—News-Week. §4. Rockefeller Center, 20th Ave, N Y

Sat R—Saturday Review. 30s. Chawton Pub Co, Ltd, 18-20 York Bldgs, Adelphi, London

Sight & Sound—Sight and Sound. (Quarterly)

Spec—Spectator. §30s. The Spectator, Ltd, 99 Gower St, London, W C 4

Stage—Stage. §3. Stage Publishing Co, Inc, 50 E 124 St, New York

Time—Time. §5. Time, Inc, 350 E 22d St, Chicago

Trade Papers

Box Office—Box Office (Eastern sectional ed) §3. Associated Publications, Inc, 4704 E 9th St, Kansas City, Mo.

Canadian Moving Picture Digest—Canadian Moving Picture Digest. §5. Canadian Moving Picture Digest Co, Ltd, 259 Spadina Av, Toronto

Film Curb—Film Curb, Inc, 1270 6th Av, RKO Bldg, Radio City, Rockefeller Center, New York

Film Daily—Film Daily. §10. The Film Daily, 1659 Broadway, New York

Motion Pict Daily—Motion Picture Daily. §6. Motion Picture Daily, Inc, 1799 Broadway, New York

Explanations

After the title of the film, the date of release is given, next the running time in minutes and then the producer.

Under Players, only leading members of the cast are listed.

For system of evaluating favor or disfavor of the reviews, see note at bottom of pages. The evaluating symbols indicate the degree of favor or disfavor of each review as a whole, not just of the quoted excerpt. In the reference to the magazine, the number of the page is first given, followed by the month, day and year. An index will be found at the end of the quarterly cumulated numbers which includes actors, actresses and directors for the productions indexed; also books, plays and short stories from which movies have been adapted. Only those foreign films which are likely to be generally shown are listed.

In evaluating films, the women's organizations use "mature" or "adult" when films are unsuited for children; "family" when suitable for all the members of a family; "young people" when suitable for adolescents from 15 to 20 years of age; "children" for those under 15.

Abbreviations of producers' names and their addresses will be found in the Directory of Producers at the end of the number.

(e) This symbol denotes a short feature.

When the date of release is omitted, it has not been determined by the producer.

Key to Abbreviations

a adults  fed federal Ag August  gen general
Am American  inc incorporated
Ap April  inst institute, -on assn association  int international av average  jan January ba board  june June bd books  jul July bl bulletin  joint bul bulletin  lit Literary
C children (under 15)  ltd limited
Cath Catholic  m magazine co company  min minutes
com com  mon month
Cong Congress  mon month
Dec December  nat national ed edition  number ed NY New York
F February  O October federal  page general  parent -s incorporated  pict
inst  picture international  publisher -lication january  pub
june  s
July  sel joint  selected lit  soc limited  spec magazine  square minutes  st soc  street
spec  university univ  vol
uni  volume weekly  west
y  young people (15-20 years)

September, south

- ern

Saturday

Selected

Society

Spec-
ator

Square

Street

University

Volume

West

Weekly

Young people (15-20 years)
Motion Picture Review Digest
Devoted to the Valuation of Current Motion Pictures
June 29, 1936

ABDUL THE DAMNED. My 10 '36 79min Alliance-Capital
Director: Karl Grune
Filmed in England. "[It is the tale of] an historical character, the Turkish tyrant Abdul Hamid II who laid waste his land, tortured his subjects and bloodied Asia until his people, unable longer to withstand their suffering, revolted, ending his wretched reign in 1908." (N Y World-Telegram)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Adults & young people." E Coast Preview Committee
Nat Legion of Decency My 21 '36
"Adults." Nat Legion of Decency My 21 '36
"Too slowly paced, in an endeavor to show mental changes, the story is halting and somewhat tedious in its lavishing. ... Mr. Kortner's portrayal of the inhumanly cruel, fear-ridden monarch, justly called 'The Damned,' is an excellent piece of work. Adults & young people." + Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"A melodrama with cruel incidents that confine it to adult spectators who may or may not care for the silly romantic element that is worked into the story of the downfall of a Near East despot." E. C. S. Christian Science Monitor p15 Je 6 '36

"Where the scenarios have been ill-advised is in embellishing their tale of bloody despotism and smouldering revolt with a fantastic romance. ... The chief distinction of the work is the adroit and balanced performance of Fritz Kortner as the sultan who massacred the Armenians, suppressed all civil liberties, lived in constant fear of assassination and brought pre-war Turkey to the very verge of dismemberment and destruction. ... The scenes of actual insurrection and reaction have been managed with vigor. ... When the film lapes into its unfortunate interludes of love interest, however, it has more than a trace of the bombastic." Howard Barnes + — N Y Herald Tribune p16 My 12 '36

"Although the film achieves a few moments of dramatic interest—chiefly through the performance of the Continental Fritz Kortner—it is in the main a tedious and uninspired biography, scarred by hypodermic injections of stale melodrama. ... Having no dramatic honesty, the film moves with the ridiculous solemnity of a processional at which mischievous small boys are tossing firecrackers. Mr. Kortner is its only asset." F. S. Nugent + + N Y Times p16 My 11 '36

"It makes vivid in a fast plot, courageous treatment and capable artistry one of history's most sanguinary chapters. ... It is a curious film. Here is a story slapping incident upon incident. Yet one's interest is largely in the figures rather than in the yarn itself. It is an interesting and a worthy job." Douglas Gilbert + N Y World-Telegram p5 My 11 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"As a representation of Abdul Hamid, the 24's oppressive rule it is powerful. Where it falters is the film's inability to strike a note of popular appeal or an even keel as interest sustainer. It is hampered too by being lengthy, and looking more so because of ponderous pace. 'Abdul' may get a modest share of average grosses in houses where they crave excitement, executions, killings and heavy plantings. + + Variety p14 My 13 '36

ABSOLUTE QUIET. Ap 21 '36 65min MGM
Players: Lionel Atwill, Irene Hervey, Raymond Walburn, Stuart Erwin. Bernadine Hayes
Director: George B. Seitz
Based on a short story of the same title by George F. Worts. "The story brings a large miscellany of ill-assorted people to an isolated ranch house and there they work out their varied destinies to the accompaniment of several violent deaths." (Hollywood Reporter)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"The bandits' death scene perverts sympathy to the crooks, making this picture for adults only." Am Legion Auxiliary
"The result is [a] melodramatic hodge-podge. Mature." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers
"A cutting satire on small-time viciousness in crime and government. Adults. Good." DAR
"Family-mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs
"The film is cynical in tone, sentimentalizes criminals and offers nothing constructive. Adults—with strong nerves." Nat Soc of New England Women
Fox W Coast Bul Ap 25 '36
"Adults." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ap 15 '36
"Adults." Jt Estimates Ap 15 '36

+ = Exceptionally Good; + = Good; + = Fair; + = Mediocre; = Poor; — = Exceptionally Poor
ABSOLUTE QUIET—Continued

"The story moves to its logical conclusion, which is not evaded because of its unpleasantness. The acting is uniformly good, and the film is well directed especially in the matter of situations, which are well handled. The story provides a succession of exciting scenes accompanied by the inevitable pater of the underworld.

The melodrama suffers to a point of mediocrity, from bad cutting and poor continuity, beginning with fast tempo and clever repartee and falling very flat after its climax. Fair for family.

— Nat Council of Jewish Women Ap 15 36

"Unpleasant characters and remarks. Adults.

— Nat Legion of Decency My 7 36

"A cross-section of life not altogether convincing. Adults.

— Sel Motion Pic My 1 '36

"Mature.

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Absolute confusion is a more appropriate description of the results accruing from this mass of incoherences. The inability of the producers to determine whether they should [make] a crime mystery melodrama or a comedy evidently influenced them to attempt to effect a combination of both." J. P. Cunningham

— Commonweal p20 My 1 36

"For the fair amount of entertainment which 'Absolute Quiet' gave me, I thank George B. Seitz, director.

— Had George F. Worts' story ideas which have good points, been constructed well, this review would have been a good deal more complimentary. Allan Hersholt

"The picture moves along at a rapid pace to a dramatically as well as a scenically foggy conclusion. . . Bernardine Hayes, as the tough moll who dominates the weak gunman and is herself subtly dominated by the executive, Mr. Atwill, shows promise of becoming a good secondary investment for some player of underworld opera. We strongly recommend her." B. R. C.

— N Y Times p11 My 2 36

"Although nothing to boast about, the film has what one might call the flavor of some good action and manages to hold the interest of the observer from beginning to end." William Boehm

— Variety p24 My 3 36

"Unfortunately, the screen play and the cutting job are so confused as to confuse even Hinton, after a single nip of sherry and what might have been a titillating film isn't very much of anything. August Stern

— Script p10 My 16 36

"'Absolute Quiet' consists of half a dozen well-worn melodramas tossed together, given a title which makes the whole dish up for the hungry half of double bills." Time p28 My 4 36

Trade Paper Reviews

"An inconsistently boring story, which direction fails to bolster, definitely relegates this to the lower brackets. A capable cast strives valiantly but without success to overcome the many unacceptably grotesque situations with which the script abounds. Family.

— Variety p23 Ap 15 36

"There's plenty of excitement in the melodrama. . . Incidentally there are a good number of laughs. Unfortunately there is no real 'name' to draw but if you get them in they'll like it." Film Curb p9 Ap 11 36

"Even though this show is a Metro program number, it is mighty good entertainment for those who want something lively. For a Grand Hotel-like affair which is loaded with talk, it is surprising what a great amount of action and suspense has been injected." Film Daily p13 Ap 6 36

"A rather lunatic comedy-melodrama that carries the Grand Hotel format close to the point of absurdity. It seems to have been written more as a stunt than as a serious attempt at dramatic entertainment and, in spite of several individual character portrayals of a surprising interest, it will have hard sledding at the box office and cannot be counted on to give more than dual support.

— Hollywood Reporter p3 Ap 2 36

"It seems that the producers, not being able to decide whether to make this a murder melodrama or a comedy, tried to make it both, and succeeded in making it neither. The audience, however, is not quite a number of laughs." Film Daily p2 Ap 3 36

"This can be considered a crime mystery melodrama or a comedy. Both elements are mixed in such a manner that it seems that it's up to the man who plays it to determine how to use it. Essentially a program picture, the picture recedes. The general call for a kind of campaign.

— Motion Pic Herald p57 Ap 11 36

"Handicapped because the marquee won't have names to sell, 'Absolute Quiet' is a program that probably will be relegated to double features, etc. In its own division, it emerges as a nice job, but inasmuch as the program was only program that is probably all it will be.

— N Y Exhibitor p42 Ap 25 36

"Several drawbacks cumulatively sap 'Absolute Quiet' of a real display of strength and much of the punch of the social satire inherent in its situations, the picture moves along at a rapid pace to a dramatically as well as a scenically foggy conclusion. . . Bernardine Hayes, as the tough 'moll' who dominates the weak gunman and is herself subtly dominated by the executive, Mr. Atwill, shows promise of becoming a good secondary investment for some player of underworld opera. We strongly recommend her." B. R. C.

— Variety p19 My 9 36

"Class B picture that would have hit A rating had a couple of draw names been in the cast. 'Absolute Quiet' is entertainment for any man's theatre. . . Harry Clark has written a smart screen play with dialog that is packed with laughs. The George Worts original story is refreshing. Cast troupes the yarn to the limit without a weak performance in the line."

— Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 2 36

ALPINE LOVE. Je 7 36 92min Nuova Mondo-La Capitini

Players: Camillo Filotto, Nelly Corradi, Ennio Buscaglio, Isa Pola

Director: Marco Etter

Italian dialogue film with English sub-titles. Based on the war diary of Captain Paolo Monelli, the story tells the strategy and the strategic retreat of the Alpine troops after the enemy has broken through the lines at Caporette and their strenuous defense of Feltre and Valdiebba. As a result of their heroism the great body of Italian troops was later able to throw the enemy back, and the expert shots on the operations make it a picture worth seeing." - Marguerite Tazelaar

+ NY Herald Tribune p10 Je 8 '36

"Almost plotless, dealing with events rather than characters, the film is more interesting than stirring... The incidents are probably authentic; the setting is certainly real, and quite as certainly impressive." - Eileen Creelman
+ - NY Sun p28 Je 9 '36

"Unfortunately for 'Alpine Love'... it has been preceded by similar productions in English, German, French and Russian. Consequently, although the scenes of village life and desperate combat in the mountains that formed an important sector of the Austro-Italian front are excellently done, the spectator's interest is likely to lag long before the final triumph of the Italian forces." - H. T. S.
+ - NY Times p22 Je 8 '36

"The film has been admirably produced. To be sure, it is somewhat pedestrian in its movement... but the whole is so well acted and it has been managed so skillfully that even if the exploits of the hero and the Alpine troops are a bit uninteresting it must be put down as one of the best of the Italian films to be shown on Broadway." - William Tazelaar
+ NY World-Telegram p27 Je 10 '36

"The picture, decorative though it is, lacks an expected snap and sparkle because of the slow tempo of the rambling story and its long telling." - Sel Motion Pic Je 1 '36

"This British production is well paced combining action and a charming slowness, thus holding the interest and upholding the period of more than a century ago. Family." - WKly Guide Ap 18 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The Farnol story still lacks the sparkle, suspense and excitement it has between book-covers, and the performance, while vigorous, more than once set yesterday's audience at the Roxy tittering for reasons unintended by the cast... It was made in England and may prove successful there because of its elaborate period costuming, its excellent atmospheric quality, its lethargic tempo and because the dialogue will be understood." - Marguerite Tazelaar
+ - NY Herald Tribune p6 Ap 24 '36

"The result is a competent, if uninspired production, but one done with unblushing realism and boasting some magnificent settings. It is, as English films incline to be, somewhat too long; it needs a good job of editing... The picture is promising start for Mr. Fairbanks' new enterprise, and, on its own merits, a pleasant piece of romantic, old-fashioned adventure." - Eileen Creelman
+ - NY Sun p8 Ap 25 '36

"The department might as well confess its sentimental weakness for the unassuming romanticist Jeffery Farnol... So it is inevitable that any film edition of a Farnol novel which does not faithfully present the original is bound to prove disappointing... Still, there probably are millions of non-Farnol readers at large, unfortunate for this tale... The photoplay is decorative, though and, if it is a bit overlong in its telling, it is not too bad a beginning for Criterion Pictures." - F. Nugent
+ NY Times p19 Ap 27 '36

"The junior Douglas Fairbanks' debut as an independent screen actor-producer is dampened somewhat, occurring as it does in a tastefully produced but well acted period piece that wears a somber ontkn version of Jeffery Farnol's novel 'The Amateur Gentleman.' All of which is rather depressing to relate, since the film has more than several valid reasons for believing that it is a well-bred, agreeable and wholesome piece of work. Missing, however, is that sparkle which is needed to give a film vitality." - William Boehnel
+ - NY World-Telegram p4 Ap 25 '36

"'The Amateur Gentleman,' which is about Regency London [has] dialogue so very English, especially as it is the part of Mr. Fairbanks, does to be largely unintelligible to provincial Americans." - John Mosher
New Yorker p77 My 2 '36

"The Regency period pictured in Mr. Fair- nol's novel has been recaptured with imagina- tion and efficiency, and Mr. Fairbanks' screen behavior comes as the best costume drama tradi- tion... There are movement and humor and glamour in this revival of stage-coach melodrama." - Stage p10 My '36

"Hollywood producers who let Douglas Fair- banks Jr., go off to England to seek better roles and show what he knew about picture-making might find this to be a taster for the sample of his Ideas. 'The Amateur Gentleman' set records in several London theatres... [It

AMATEUR GENTLEMAN. Mr 20 '36 95min Criterion-United artists

Players: Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. Elissa Landi, Gordon Harker, Frank Pettingell

Director: Thornton Freeland

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family." Nat Bd of R M My '36

"Adults." Nat Legion of Decency Ap 30 '36

"A: pretty good action drama with several rarely lovely shots of English lanes and especially well photographed period and street scenes; Y: unetical situations; C: no." - Par M p42 Je '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; + - Mediocre; - Poor; - - Exceptionally Poor
Amateur Gentleman—Continued contains some] highly literate dramaturgy by Clemence Dane, some handsome snuff-taking by Fairbanks Jr., some capital period stuffs.

+ Time p32 Ap 15 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"Action there is a-plenty in this romantic tale of Old England, which has been adapted from Jeffery Parnell's novel, resulting in good entertainment for general audiences. Sets are lavish, costumes are authentic and colorful and the photography is excellent. Family."

+ Box Office p17 My 16 '36

"They just didn't seem to catch the spirit of the scenes; the rest of the scenes] were underwritten so the story. For other thing the pace is too slow. Not strong enough for big spots and unfortunately not the style of picture neighborhood audiences like. It's too bad the younger Fairbanks had to make his debut as a producer with this picture."

— Film Daily p5 Ap 27 '36

"Only the Fairbanks name gives it a chance for modern audiences at best. Picture digs down in all important elements, most essential of which are the screenplay, photography and direction. Direction is there, but the pace is entirely lacking. Instead, there's a slow ninety-five minutes of footage, and, in the few spots that the film might have held interest, mediocre photography nipped its opportunities. The photography, in fact, distorts nearly all players, Fairbanks and Elisa Landi especially."

— Variety p15 Ap 29 '36

And So They Were Married. My 10 '36
78min Columbia.
Players: Melvyn Douglas, Mary Astor.
Director: Elliott Nugent
Based on the short story, Bless Their Hearts, by Sarah Addington. "The story idea: A man-hating widow with a 10-year-old daughter, and a woman-fathered widow with a boy of 12,
come together at a mountain lodge during the Christmas holidays. The children are infected with their parents' sex antagonisms so there are violent quarrels from the start. When the parental ice begins to thaw, the [children] decide that for their own comfort the parents must be kept from marriage." (Hollywood Reporter)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"A: stupid; Y: hardly; C: no value."

Christian Century p387 Je 17 '36

"Capital entertainment for the family." S
Calif Council of Fed Church Women
+ Fox W Coast Bull My 30 '36

"Adults should thoroughly enjoy the compliations and the underlying thought. It is all very well done. Adolescents, 12-16: mature: children, 8-12: hardly.

Motion Pict R My '36

"Family-Junior."
Nat Bd of R M Je '36

"Family & Junior matinees."
Nat Council of Jewish Women My 20 '36

"General patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency My 28 '36

"Family."
Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

"[It is] an amusing comedy. Family."

— Wkly Guide My 23 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"A story with a unique angle and the popular treatment, light, humorous and dashing, in the current Frank Capra manner, has turned up at the Center Theater for the not too discriminating. A story treated seriously, with this sort of result, in an interesting psychological study not to be dismissed lightly.
This is simply a conventional comedy-drama, imitating in manner the vague so highly prized by producers at this time." Marguerite
Tazelaar

+ — N Y Herald Tribune p18 My 14 '36

"And So They Were Married" is a pleasant and unusual piece of very light entertainment." Eileen Creelman

+ — N Y Sun p29 My 15 '36

"[It is] an un distinguished but passably entertaining film." E. R. C.

+ — N Y Times p29 My 14 '36

"[It is] a celluloid trifle. The picture... is too important for comment." Douglas Gilbert

— N Y World-Telegram p4b My 16 '36

"There's nothing for us to say, except to express our sympathy with the conspicuous victim of [the] effort." John Mosher

— New Yorker p89 My 22 '36

"Part of the reason that 'And So They Were Married' is better-than-average entertainment is that its 10-year-olds are endowed with adult minds and motives, a situation producing an unusual potency in the pranks the children commit, such as making a major catastrophe of a hotel Christmas tree and the party going on around it."

+ Time p48 My 25 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"As good a domestic comedy as has ever reached the silver sheet. This is the type of entertainment that makes them say 'Gee, that's swell' when they walk out of the theatre. Family."

— Box Office p33 Ap 25 '36

"Given a swell story and a well rounded cast
Elliott Nugent seems to have accomplished a high grade piece of entertainment. It is very amusing and there are several highly dramatic scenes."

+ Film Curb p5 Ap 18 Mary Astor, the conspicuous victim of their combined efforts."

— Variety p15 Ap 23 '36

"There is so little real plot to this yarn that the burden of sustaining entertainment values rests chiefly on the shoulders of the cast. The production manages to supply fairly pleasing summer fare."

+ Film Daily p6 My 14 '36

"A farcical comedy of bad manners leading to matrimony. Starting with an amusing though artificial idea, it lacks the finesse to raise it above the neighborhood level. At times it descends to sheer rough-house and its several laughs are frequently on the same level of poor taste... it is all pretty wild and unbelievable and only a few standout performances from the cast save it from dullness and banality."

+ — Hollywood Reporter p2 Ap 10 '36

"Story character, plus the engaging performances of both parents, is the standout. Both Fairbanks and Jackie Moran, combine to evoke this show to the better than average entertainment classiification."

+ Motion Pict Daily p2 Ap 11 '36

"The entertainment worth of domestic comedy romance is approached in a different angle in this review. Premiered at California Theatre, Huntington Park, suburban Los Ange-seles.
Variety has "Screen Fair; remarkably and play on when which notchers. When it changes from every she have "Married' probably be the better for the neighborhoods than the ace de bakers because its name angles aren't strong."

Variety p32 My 20 '36

"[It] comes pretty close to being perfect entertainment. for the better program bracket, and with more marquee dress would have been a contender amongst the notochords. As it is, picture will do healthy business and may surprise beyond expectations on the bright side of the ledgers... Screen play has bright day... Idea is, understanding of adolescent hearts under the remarkably sustained humor, both in incident and character play, and is altogether a superb piece of film writing."

Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 19 '36

AND SUDDEN DEATH. Je 19 '36 67min Paramount

Players: Randolph Scott, Frances Drake, Tom Brown, Billie Lee

Director: Charles Barton

Based on an article by J. C. Furnas. "Frances Drake, the spoiled daughter of the rich, through habitual traffic violations is brought before Randolph Scott, the officer in charge of the city's traffic. During her attendance at traffic schools, she not only changes her viewpoint on driving, but also falls for Randolph. On leaving a party at which Scott is a guest, Frances insists that she drive her brother's car since he is drunk. When Tom, his friend with cigarettes, the brother, Tom Brown, demands that he not do she have been informed that their brakes were bad. Tom's insistence, Tom crashed into school bus, killing the son of a traffic officer."

Trade Paper Reviews

"It is stark, compelling drama that will make many sit up and take notice. While it may be a preaching and not entertainment it certainly will hold the interest of most any audience. Possibly it will be a bit too gruesome for some but it packs the punch."

Film Curb p7 Je 13 '36

"Automobile accidents, gruesome deaths and injuries hardly make enjoyable entertainment, and for that reason the picture may not attract every picturegoer. It is a picture every automobile driver should see and should be sponsored by every known safety group. Properly sold the picture might do better than expected. There are crashes and a scheme to convey the message, some of the shots are spectacular. The picture might have been more horrifying but there's enough as it is."

Film Daily p7 Je 6 '36

"Paramount jacked up a widely exploited title and ran under it a routine melodrama and a lot of novelties. The result is that the exhibitor will have enthusiastic support from traffic departments, pulpits, schools and the press, but he may have difficulty getting audiences in to see what is after all only a glorified lecture against careless driving. Exhibitors should hold to take advantage of the ready made tieups."

MOTION PICT Daily p8 Je 8 '36

"Basically this is a cooperation exploitation feature. There's nothing that lends itself readily to tie-ups with police departments, auto clubs, newspapers and insurance companies, units that can be expected to give it publicity support."

MOTION PICT Herald p4s Je 13 '36

"Estimate: fair program, more where sold."

Variety (Hollywood) p3 Je 3 '36

ANNETTE IN PARADISE. Mr 6 '36 75min AAFA

Players: Ursula Grabley, Hans Soehnker, Ida Wuest

Director: Max Obal

A German dialogue film without English subtitles, filmed in Germany. It is also called Annette Im Paradies. "[This is a comedy] about a rich girl who disguises herself and takes a job in her own store, where romance and many amusing complications develop."

FILM DAILY

Audience Suitability Ratings

"General patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 8 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The picture is nicely photographed, smoothly directed and flavored with a couple of pleasing musical bits."

H. T. S.

N Y Times p11 Mr 7 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"[A] pleasing romantic comedy."

Film Daily p8 Mr 10 '36

"This is a mediocre musical production, even by the standards foreign films are judged in America, with a second-rate book and a third-rate cast. None of the mediums match, with the fact that no English titles are used to [explain things at least partially] making it tougher to take by non-German speaking audiences on this score."

Variety p27 Mr 11 '36

ANTHONY ADVERSE. Ag 29 '36 136min Warner

Players: Fredric March, Olivia de Havilland, Anita Louise, Edmund Gwenn, Claude Rains. Gale Sondergaard, Billy Mauch

Director: Mervyn LeRoy

Based on the novel of the same name by Harvey Allen. "In four vivid chapters it tells the complete story. One is the tragedy of Anthony's and his child's struggle in a convent school. The second is his apprenticeship to Bonnyfeather, who knows the child is his daughter's son. [This scene] has for its dramatic contrast Anthony's great love for and marriage to Angela. Next is his life as a slave trader where the man of ambitions becomes a beast. The finale is his meeting with Angela and he tells her that he is Napoleon’s paramour and his happiness when he claims his child and goes to America to live a new life with the boy. (Motion Pict Daily).

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; - Mediocre; - Poor; - - Exceptionally Poor
ANTHONY ADVERSE—Continued

Audience Suitability Ratings

Although the theme is still clearly maintained, the final scenes lack conviction. It is not until these last ten minutes that the unusual length of the film becomes noticeable. The acting of a very large cast is on a uniformly high level. It is a pity that the characters who run right through the story do not age uniformly. Suitability: adults & adolescents.

+ Mo Film Bul p55 My ’36

‘A rare treat for adults.’

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

‘Anthony Adverse’ is one of the finest things the screen has done, an undertaking to which only superlatives can do justice. Sheridan Gibney has done the impossible in writing a screen play that will satisfy those who have read the book. Certainly, no picture ever has been given better direction. It is a triumph for Mervyn LeRoy. It was a monumental undertaking, even with Gibney’s worthy script, to keep the story moving forward with such precision and momentum as to hold the attention of the audience so long in incidents in the life of a purely fictitious individual. To Warner Brothers for the brilliant accomplishment of an enterprise so daring, salamis!’

+ Hollywood Spec p7 My 23 ’36

Trade Paper Reviews

‘A screen masterpiece if there ever was one. Decidedly one of the finest motion pictures ever made. Has universal appeal. Bound to be a box-office smash anywhere. The widely read novel has been brought to the screen as a perfect piece of film entertainment.’

+ Film Curb p13 My 19 ’36

‘[It is an] outstanding production on vast scale which should rank as one of leading talkies to date.’

+ Film Daily p12 My 12 ’36

‘New interest is given talking pictures with the presentation of ‘Anthony Adverse.’ It establishes a standard of dramatic tragedy that easily may stand as a shining beacon for future production. The finest picture ever turned out by this producing organization, it is a thrilling triumph to the courage, industry and perseverance that went into its making. Certain to be a box-office sensation, it is all audience entertainment as it is a showmanship feature that makes available limitless opportunities for commercial exploitation.’

+ Motion Pict Daily p12 My 11 ’36

‘In the recent several months many fine pictures have come from Hollywood. ‘Anthony Adverse’ is one of those pictures, one that offers regular theatre-goers desirable entertainment, one that legitimately justifies issuance of invitations to irregulars to come and see an attraction worthy of their time and their attention.’

+ Motion Pict Herald p41 My 23 ’36

‘Expectation that Warners would bring forth a tremendous production in ‘Anthony Adverse’ has been realized in every respect. ‘Anthony Adverse’, in its screen version, is a credit to the company, an achievement in every department, a box office hit at all theatres.’

+ Phila Exhibitor p25 Je 1 ’36

‘[It is] truly a great entertainment achievement, an astonishing feat of fine screen storytelling and craftsmanship and a picture of unquestionable smash box office calibre. On sheer artistic merit and money-making promise, [it will] stand well up in the hit division of the season’s picture output.’

Fredric March is the perfect selection for the mature Adverse. It is undoubtedly his best performance. He plays it with impressive simplicity and astonishing the theater.’

+ Variety (Hollywood) p5 My 9 ’36

AUGUST WEEK-END. Ap 25 ’36 64min Chesterfield
Players: Valerie Hobson. G. P. Huntley, Jr. Betty Compson
Director: Charles Lamont

‘Plot is built around the attempt of an older man to induce a young girl to run away with him despite the fact that he is married.’

Film Curb

Audience Suitability Ratings

‘Adults.’

Nat Legion of Decency Je 7 ’36

Trade Paper Reviews

‘It can only be classed as a bit below ordinary program fare and will just about do for the dual bills. . . Cast and director have done the best they could with material at hand which wasn’t strong enough.’

— Film Curb p5 My 9 ’36

‘While the players do well enough, the script, direction are against them. Estimate: for neighborhood houses, twin bills.’

+ N Y Exhibitor p22 My 10 ’36

BELOW THE DEADLINE. Je 8 ’36 64min Chesterfield-Grand national Players: Cecilia Parker, Russell Hopton. Theodore von Eltz
Director: Charles Lamont

When the protagonist is unfairly accused of engineering a spectacular diamond robbery, he escapes on a train which is wrecked. His identity is masked by a necessary plastic operation. Later he returns to capture the crooks responsible for the robbery.

Audience Suitability Ratings

‘General patronage.’

Nat Legion of Decency Je 11 ’36

Trade Paper Reviews

‘A below the average melodrama that cannot hope for anything better than the lower half of a dual bill. . . A good cast has been wasted on poor material.’

— Film Curb p4 Je 13 ’36

‘While there’s nothing particularly novel or ingenious in this yarn, it is the type of stuff that makes passable fare for the popular-priced grind.’

+ Film Daily p7 Je 6 ’36

‘Estimate: fair.’

+ Phila Exhibitor p21 Je 15 ’36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; + - Mediocre; Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

"Cops and robbers story is deficient on comedy but it has the necessary action and romance to satisfy the easy-going customers who don't take their acting seriously. Won't rate solo." — Variety p18 Je 10 '36

BIG BROWN EYES. Ap 3 '36 75min Wanger-Paramount

Players: Cary Grant, Joan Bennett, Walter Pidgeon

Director: Raoul Walsh

Based on the Liberty magazine stories, Hahsit, Babe, and Big Brown Eyes, by James Edward Grant. "The story concerns a wisecracking hotel barber shop manicurist, played by Joan Bennett, who has taken on the job of sob-sister reporter and who returns policeman Cary Grant's affectionate advances with satiric derision. The two are whirled into the repertorial vortex that results from a jewel robbery and a baby killing." (Motion Pict Daily)

---

Audience Suitability Ratings

*A: good of kind; Y: mostly good; C: not the best."

Christian Century p646 Ap 29 '36

"Adults: very good; 14-18: strong; 8-14: doubtful." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Amusing dialogue; exciting. Mature. Good." DAR

Too many characters and too many disjointed scenes mar the suspense and the ineffective acting does not carry conviction. The chief value of the production lies in its strong law enforcement. Adults & young people. E Coast Preview Committee

"Mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professioonal Women's Clubs

"Adults." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Hackneyed theme, spicy, conversation, good direction. Mature." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bul Ap 18 '36

"Family-mature." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ap 6 '36

"Adults." Jt Estimates Ap 15 '36

"There are one or two passages of ineffectual dialogue, but on the whole it is a happily-made film. Suitability: adults & adolescents.

+ Mo Film Bul p85 My '36

"Good. Adult & young adult." + Motion Pict Guide Je '36

"This is second rate entertainment, a comlicated jumble of criminal events which be-older rather than intrigue the audience. The lines of Joan Bennett and Cary Grant in the principal roles are artificial and devoid of real humor; the picture has no action and clance instead of logical, cumulative evidence. Adolescents, 12-16: poor; children, 8-12: no." — + Motion Pict R My '36

"Family." Nat Bd of R M Ap '36

"Adults." Nat Council of Jewish Women Ap 6 '36

"Sophisticated lines. Adults." N Legion of Decency Mr 29 '36

"A and Y: entertaining romance drama; C: if interested." Par M p42 Je '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"A wisecracking romance. Passable melodrama for adults. The gangster, brutal murders are certainly not for young eyes." + Christian Science Monitor p12 Ap 25 '36

"It seems incredible to me, and I say it with the utmost sincerity, that ostensibly mature minds can consistently force inane and irrelevant attempts at humor into the life blood of a smoothly-running story. ... The production as a whole just doesn't quite make the grade as a whole. It has everything but that one subtle, all-important quality: cohesive forward movement. If you are interested in cinematic study, see it. If you aren't unduly particular, and want an innocuous eve-

"The film scurries about in a chirper and pleasant fashion. ... For the most part, the picture skates drily along the thin edge of excitement. ... The picture becomes as racy as a roller-coaster ride. And just about as significant. (2½ stars) Liberty p45 My 25 '36

"The mystery of 'The Thin Man' is greater than its author, Dashiell Hammett, ever suspected. The movie producers are still looking for him. 'Big Brown Eyes' another false clue." Robert Stebbins — New Theatre p38 Je 1 '36

"In this brittle if slightly stereotyped effort [Walter Pidgeon] offers a fine, if you have not seen it too often before. The new starring team is competent, bright and easy to look at, but while the picture possesses a plot and its oiling gleams. The plot lines fall from the lips almost automatically while the situations march in orderly file to their final demise. ... [It] is a witty and unimportant little fable which will pass the time pleasant." Marguerite Tazacel

+ — N Y Herald Tribune p8 My 2 '36

"The story, familiar in situations as well as characterizations, whizzes past so fast that the film is over before its plot deficiencies are clearly apparent. ... 'Big Brown Eyes' doesn't always make sense; but it is lively, exciting and, occasionally, funny. None of it is very original." Eileen Creelman

+ — N Y Sun p8 My 2 '36

"With diligent employment of the simple declarative sentence and the primer of plot-bolting, 'Big Brown Eyes' stands forlornly as an elementary essay in melodrama which stumbles over its own footage and produced this observer, at least, an equally elementary pain in the neck. ... Miss Joan Bennett's portrayal of the Broadwaysian cutie-groom suggests that she has not been around the White Light district for years, and Mr. Grant, whose chief crime-detecting asset would seem to be his knowledge of ventriloquism, should be restored promptly to the rank of patrolman." F. S. N. — N Y Times p11 My 2 '36

"We'd say that 'Big Brown Eyes' is the swiftest and most exciting underworld melodrama that has come along in months. To be sure, the story is often confused and illogical and at times does tax the credulity of the observing public but it moves along at a fast clip, has plenty of suspense and excitement and some good wisecracks, too. ... In short, then, this underworld film is emphatically one of the good ones; sophisticated, intelligent, well-written, well-acted, interesting and really alive." Willa Behnkel

+ N Y WorldTelegram p4 My 2 '36
BIB BROWN EYES—Continued

"This is rather livelier than the average undercurrent film. Barbara Stanwyx occupies a good deal of the dialogue when there is no actual shooting. A baby killer, with a fondness for flowers adds a pretty touch, and other scamps behave with filmic slickness and perservativeness by John Mosher.

+ New Yorker p87 My 9 '36

"The picture is paced in a fashion that makes the sensational crook melodramas of last year seem as sedate as Whistler's Mother. Its talk is spine and cut so close that the characters will have a hard time remembering the good lines, even harder time picking out the bad ones."

-Time p32 Ap 13 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Smart dialogue and rapid action throughout combine to make this Walter Wanger production one which should cause the turnstiles to click merrily. It will prove particularly acceptable to sophisticated audiences. Family."

- Box Office p25 Ap 11 '36

"Fine entertainment. High grade production with universal appeal. It'll have to be a queer sort of audience that won't go for this one."

- Film Curb p10 Ap 11 '36

"Fans at large will get a nice period of entertainment out of this combination of crook activity and romance. A neatly devised story, interesting players and the right touches in direction by Raoul Walsh join to make the production a palatable affair throughout."

- Film Daily p8 My 2 '36

"(It) provides a rollicking comedy that is neither a society crook, detective nor newspaper yarn, but which has earned its place of esteem. It is a swell audience picture."

"Here is a show fashioned from the stuff that clicks with audiences everywhere. The Walsh direction plays the tricky situations for all they are worth and in a manner sure to please audiences appreciative of well-handled comedy, drama and mystery action."

- Motion Pict Daily p12 Ap 2 '36

"There's a lot in this picture to interest audiences. Likewise there is much to occupy the attention of showmen. Previewed in Los Angeles and a success. While enjoying picture's sputting love interest, audience also came under spell of show's suspense-pack drama. For a 'B' feature picture, it was the recipient of more applause than is ordinarily given more pretentious features."

- Motion Pict Herald p47 Ap 11 '36

"Audiences will find plentiful entertainment in the show; the dialogue is above average; the entire picture good. Although the title may convey little, it has exploitation possibilities."

- N Y Exhibitor p43 Ap 25 '36

"Extra strong programme, which should do nicely by itself on second runs, although it may have a bit of trouble running up any marks in the house. It's a case of an extra good cast in a neat yarn with exceptionally strong dialogue. Pace lets down a bit and the title will hurt some, but those are about all the faults mentioned."

- Variety p18 My 6 '36

"Smartly played and directed. strong in story interest, 'BIB BROWN EYES' offers excellent entertainment and will take ample care of itself as a program money-maker. A fast-moving, well-paced picture, nicely produced, exciting melodrama, well paced with wise-cracking and sardonic comedy. Entertainment elements are varied enough to appeal to all classes."

- Variety (Hollywood) p8 Ap 1 '36

"Guy Kibbee, who has been hunted out of control in a woolen mill by younger men, uses the enforced leisure by making himself the center of a cleaning business. Established in his new calling he finds that racketeers have muscled into the business and are exploiting the cleaners. After a bomb wrecks his shop he decides to fight. He tricks the rival mobs to this shop, where they obliges by shooting each other out of existence. Motion Pict Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good. Family-mature." DAR

"Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Dramatically constructed and well acted, this is a smartly entertaining picture."

- Ann Lg. Film Family.

- Nat Soc of New England Women

"High, tense moments, relieved by a vein of subtle humor and an interesting and slightly complicated direction, all combine to make this film an entertaining picture. Mature." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

- Fox W Coast Bul My 2 '36

"A most acceptable vehicle for the admirable work of Guy Kibbee. Family."

- Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ap 20 '36

"Family."

- Jt Estimates My 1 '36

"A hastily thrown together story which has little, except the name of the leading male actor, to recommend it. The story, bare of any touch of characterization which might have humanized the stereotyped incidents, will afford little entertainment to any type of audience. The shooting affray used as a climax, in which the cleaning establishment is strum with dying racketeers is too unreal and mechanically directed to shock the sensitivities of the modern spectator of any age. The best that can be said of the picture is that it affords harmless diversion for the uncritical and opportunity to snicker for the weary."

- Adolescents 12-16: worthwhile children, 8-12: no.

- Motion Pict R My '36

"Family."

- Nat Council of Jewish Women Ap 22 '36

"Family."

- Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Despite the familiarity of its plot and the illogical nature of some situations, this B-group offering manages to be a picture different. This is entirely believable."

Trade Paper Reviews

"Laugh insure dialogue and Guy Kibbee's usual adequate performance combine to raise this picture from mediocrity to the status of acceptable audience fare. Family."

- Box Office p33 Ap 25 '36

"This is a very amusing comedy that should be relished by most audiences that see it."

- Film Curb p19 Ap 25 '36

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
"The Big Noise" is one of those pictures (which isn't) so big, yet is very enjoyable and filled with entertainment. Plots much like this one have been shown before, but the handling always makes this light breezy number a pleasing affair.

Film Daily p8 Ap 20 '36

"This is that stock model comedy in which the retiring man refuses to stay retired and secretly takes on a small enterprise just to keep his hand in. . . It is fairly sprightly amusement of the B grade, but can only fill dual assignments and will not set any boxoffices on fire.

"There is genuine appeal in this comedy, especially to oldsters of the hard-working class who are now seeking leisure.

— Motion Pict Daily p7 Ap 17 '36

"Made up of familiar ingredients and having for its idea the theme that old folk are not so passe as youngsters sometimes like to think, this picture has more than a fair share of amusing entertainment.

— Motion Pict Herald p58 Ap 25 '36

"Program fare made for double feature bills, melo-dramatic enter-tain-ment "The Big Noise" has advantages in good casting, a not-too-serious tone.

— N Y Exhibitor p26 My 16 '36

"Guy Kibbee adds another to his gallery of interesting charac-ters and Warners offers one for the chuckle side of the program. Not pretentious, but well-made, and carrying particular appeal for elderly and gives element seldom considered in picture schedules. Will earn its share on modest budget basis.

— Variety (Hollywood) p2 Ap 18 '36

AUDIENCE SUITABILITY RATING

"Family," Nat Bd of R
Fox W Coast Bul Ap 11 '36

"A good plot with lots of action. General patronage;

— Nat Legion of Decency Mr 15 '36

"A, Y and C: rather good melodrama of the great open spaces."

Par M p12 Je 36

"It's not dull, the people and dialogue are natural, the whole thing pretty good of its kind. Family."

— Wkly Guide Mr 21 '36

TRADE PAPER REVIEWS

"The star puts his stuff over in good form and the balance of the cast lend able support. Direction is more than satisfactory.

— Film Curb p5 Je 6 '36

"This is a generally workmanlike job of Western entertainment that ought to give fair enough satisfaction to the perennial fans for this kind of stuff.

— Film Daily p6 My 26 '36

"Estimate: good."

— Phila Exhibitor p27 Je '36

"Audience Suitability Ratings"

"A: crude; Y and C: poor."

Christian Century p87 Je 17 '36

"Being especially interesting to boys of all ages, this makes suitable for family & juvenile matinees."

Am Legion Auxiliary

"Adults: fair; 14-18: fair; 8-14: exciting."

Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Family & Junior matinees."

Nat Bd of R

"Family."

Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"A stirring melodrama very well acted, dramatically constructed and filled with thrills which will appeal especially to air-minded men and boys. Family."

Nat Soc of New England Women

"Good entertainment [for] the family."

Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bul My 18 '36

"Family."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 9 '36

"Good photography, able direction and a stream of amusing dialogue save the film from mediocrity. Anti-social qualities are shown to a great disadvantage in contrast to the courage, high sportsmanship and devotion to duty of aviators in the coast guard service. Adolescents, 12-16: fair; children, 8-12: no."

— Motion Pict R Je 36

"Family.

— Nat Bd of R M Je '36

"Family."

Nat Council of Jewish Women My 6 '36

"General patronage.

— Nat Legion of Decency My 21 '36

"Family & juvenile matinee."

Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

"Family-junior."

Wkly Guide My 9 '36

TRADE PAPER REVIEWS

"Average entertainment for the action fan, this works itself into several interesting situations with a fast, well-photographed climax that comes at the wrong time. Family."

— Box Office p83 My 2 '36

"A weak-sister. Considerably below the standard of Paramount offering even in the 'B' class. Does no harm to the reputation and is most boring for the first half. Picks up a bit later but is destined for the smaller neighborhoods and the dual bill.

— Film Curb p13 Ap 25 '36

"This picture produced in the A. M. Botsford low-budget group lacks draw box-office names and has but a slim story. These deficiencies, however, are offset by air thrills and a battling climax which should give it honors in the double bill field for which it is aimed.

"A run of the mill attraction in every phase, this feature provides merely formula thrills-action entertainment."

— Motion Pict Daily p6 Ap 21 '36

"The production contains much to interest younger audiences as well as the contingent particularly those preferring plenty of excitement on the screen. As it pictures the work of the Service, the training methods and the dangers and adventures which confront its members, it provides ample opportunity for exploitation."

Motion Pict Herald p57 Ap 25 '36

"Obviously program, it never attains any other ranking. Conclusion: for neighborhood houses, twin bills."

— N Y Exhibitor p22 My 10 '36
BORDER FLIGHT—Continued

“To the average audience this picture will present a problem for holding interest through the first half. The picture is class B’ in every department, should be so regarded. Handicapped to start with, by lack of box-office names, production misses as fair programmer through careless direction,�� amateurish treatment and dialog. Working under these conditions it could fall to bottom without much success.”

— Variety (Hollywood) p8 Ap 18 '36

BORN FOR GLORY. S 15 '35 70min Gaumont-British Players: Betty Balfour, John Mills, Barry MacKay, Jimmy Hanley
Director: Walter Forde

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“Because it is British made and lacks a cast bristling with names familiar to American audience, ‘Born For Glory’ probably will be given short shrift by our exhibitors. If shown at all it will be presented as the unimportant half of a double bill for it is one of the most stirring bits of screen entertainment I have seen in a long time. It was produced on an ambitious scale in Gaumont-British and admirably directed by Walter Forde. It will not fail to hold the closest attention of the most discriminating audience that views it.”

Trade Paper Reviews

“It will miss with the women, generally, because of its tragic concern with the behavior of men forswearing self for duty and for its almost complete lack of sex romance, but it is an excellent man’s picture. Battle engagement between a German raider off the Chile coast with two successive British cruisers during beginning of the world war is as grimly authentic in feel and detail as if it were taken from the Admiralty film records.”

— Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 25 '36

BOURNE TO FIGHT. Ap 13 '36 69min Conn
Players: Frankie Darro, Kane Richmond. Jack LaRue, Frances Grant
Director: Charles Hutchinson

Based on the novel of the same title by Peter B. Kyne. A young prizefighter wins a few bouts and then decides to desert his manager. Later he discovers his folly, returns to his old boss and wins the championship fight.

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Family.”
Nat Bd of R M Je '36

“General patronage.”
Nat Legion of Decency My 21 '36

“A fairly sane attitude toward the fighting game and some pleasant human elements. Family.”

— Wkly Guide My 9 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“Comparably to pictures costing more than five times its negative appropriation, this independent production is packed with action throughout... The fight scenes are thrilling-

— Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

BOULDER DAM. Mr 14 '36 70min Warner
Players: Ross Alexander, Patricia Ellis. Lyle Talbot. Eddie Acuff
Director: Frank McDonald

Based on the novel of the same title by Dan M. Templin, “Boulder Dam is the background for this story of the regeneration of an erratic, wisecracking, selfish young man to one who realizes the true values of life... The picture portrays the attitude of the men who daily risk their lives, not for bread alone, but pride in their contribution to the World’s greatest engineering feat.” (Gen Fed of Women's Clubs)

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Family.” Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

“It is decidedly a man’s picture. Interesting and admirable is the loyalty of the workers on the Boulder Dam and their pride in this great construction project of their country. Family.” Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women’s Clubs

“Family.” Nat Soc of New England Women

“Highly recommended for the family and especially interesting to men and boys. Family.” S Club of Chicago Women

— Fox W Coast Bul F 22 '36
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

11

"Though the story is not particularly logical in the background of the dam, with shocking thrilling incident interesting:" + — Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) F 10 '36

"Family. Jt Estimates F 15 '36

"The theme is well handled and escapes the didactic priggishness into which it could so easily have fallen. Suitable family." + — Motion Bul p14 F 21 '36

"The background becomes an integral part of the plot in this lively melodrama. The tremendous engineering undertaking ... gives us a picture of all the limitless power. It is not a great picture, but vividly realistic." + Motion Pict & Family p15 Mr 15 '36

"The plot taxes one's credulity at times but is refreshing in its simplicity. Adolescents, 12-16: good; children, 8-12: good." + Motion Pict R Mr '36

"Family. Nat Bd of R M Mr '36

"Beautiful photography of interesting scenes in the building of Boulder Dam somewhat re- deemts this trite story." + — Nat Council of Jewish Women F 15 '36

"Of little interest to small children as it is a vehicle of words rather than actions. General patronage." + — Nat Legion of Decency Mr 22 '36

"Adults and young people." + Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The trouble with the cheepie-redempted-by-a-brave-deed plot is that you have to gaze for half an hour at the hero's offensive antics and they may bore rather than entrance you. There are thrilling views of the great dam under construction." + Christian Science Monitor p13 Ap 25 '36

"Unqualifiedly do I recommend this to every adult seeking an intensely diverting hour at the cinema, and I have seen no finer example of how talk and action must be combined to make a splendid motion picture. This story alone, it is a money production." Allan Heisburt + Hollywood Spec p13 F 29 '36

"For all its gusto, 'Boulder Dam' is weakened somewhat by the story, which is a strictly formula affair, and the dam itself that gives the film most of its interest and color." (2½ stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p6 Ap 11 '36

"It seems that Boulder Dam is not only a great engineering feat but also a fine moral force. It is all very edifying, but I fear that the film has the misfortune to be the dullest of the month." Richard Watta, Jr. + — N Y Herald Tribune p12 Mr 31 '36

"With a wealth of footage on the monster-project, a quite conclusive story, and a couple of young players who hadn't been used for a week or so, the Warner Stakahoffs con- trived to dash through the production so that the release would coincide roughly with the completion of the construction of the dam. The result is that Miss Patricia Ellis rushes through her duties ... and Ross Alex- ander is seen at his bit time. All, too, in spite of the fact that 'Boulder Dam' is his first starring vehicle." J. T. M. + — N Y Times p17 Mr 30 '36

"Perhaps there is a good drama behind the building of the Boulder Dam, but if there is the authors of the film of that name have failed to discover it. "Boulder Dam' may not be the worst film of the current season, but at the moment it is the bit difficult to recall one that has had more claims to the distinction." + — William Boehnel

— N Y World-Telegram p13 Mr 30 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Gripping, vital drama of a man's regeneration under the influence of a woman's love, laid against the biggest construction project in the United States. Family." + — Box Office p13 Mr 14 '36

"If you can get 'em in they'll enjoy this thrilling melodrama. Practically all of the action takes place about the dam location and there are any number of decided exciting sequences. It is not only exciting, but also interesting. There is a bit of comedy relief here and there that registers." + — Film Curb p19 F 29 '36

"'Boulder Dam' may only be a program picture, but it has the stuff that should put it across nicely with the average audience. Dealing with a subject concerning industrial workers, it should have wide appeal. The Boulder Dam construction used as far as that it is worth and should serve as a good selling feature. Moving." + — Film Daily p8 F 25 '36

"It has many worthwhile elements of appeal to mass patronage: will be on the 'recommended' list of some of the influential organizations, and will have a vigorous box-office pull in the neighborhood houses, especially where the population is industrial around the dam area and in everything. Its chief exploitation point is that it gives a vivid picture of one of the great construction projects of history, vigorously dramatizing the hazards of that enterprise." + — Hollywood Reporter p4 F 19 '36

"With the spectacular Boulder Dam project serving as picturesque background, this picture is far from what would be considered propaganda. Warners' have taken occasion to build this dramatic story around the dam in addition to making the big hole in the Nevada mountains play an important part in the romantic leanings of Ross Alexander and Patricia Ellis." + — Motion Pict Daily p8 F 19 '36

"Exhibitors are presented ample exploitation material both in the picture's backdrop and, although the picture is certainly not a pretentious one by any means, it does contain some useful items that make entertainment values which appeal to the masses." + — Motion Pict Herald p10 Ap 4 '36

"Loaded with spectacular thrills, but minus box-office names, this one will have to fight for money at the wicket. However, if sold properly through the title it should garner good money on dual bills." + — Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 10 '36

BRIDES ARE LIKE THAT. Ap 18 '36 66min Warner

Based on the play, Applesauce, by Barry Conners. "[It portrays] The amusing tribu- lations of a young bridial pair betwixt the harsh practicalities of a world represented by their elders and guardians." (Variety (Hollywood))

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: mediocre; B: fair; C: no interest." + — Christian Century p751 My 20 '36

"Family." + — Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

+ — Exceptionally Good; + — Good; — Fair; — — Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
BRIDES ARE LIKE THAT—Continued

"Mediocre. Mature. Family." DAR

"Family," Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"There is a delightful romance, sparkling humor, and convincing acting in this family picture." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs.

Fox W Coast Bul P 1 '36

"Good-family.”

Motion Pict Guide Je '36

"The cast is so amusing and the situations so full of human interest that one gladly swallows any slight improbability as to story, Adolescents, 12-16, good; children, 8-12: yes.”

Motion Pict R P 3 '36

"Good Family.

+ Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"An amusing trifle, well handled.”

+ Canadian M p61 My '36

"When we tell you that 'Brides Are Like That' is just about as good as it can be, it doesn’t mean you whatever you are doing and rush right out to see it. It’s a little piece that moves easily as if it peeks into the lives of a group of average citizens...

"For if 'Brides Are Like That' has any claim to success at all, it is that the picture assiduously dodges all novel and surprising twists. It could tell this story in its sleep.

"Nevertheless the one who doesn’t expect too much should find this an amusing portrait of what the studios like to think is typical American home life. Mabel and Kathleen Lockhart, exactly hilarious.” Richard Watts, Jr.

+ N Y Herald Tribune p24 Mr 23 '36

"[It] reaches some kind of a new high, or perhaps as far as the number and polishiness of its bickering scenes. 'Brides Are Like That' must be the most quarrelsome picture picture... The Warner family is an arid piece of earth, didn’t succeed in making this picture what they had hoped. Instead of a homely comedy of family life it is a frightful bore.” Eileen Creelman

+ N Y Sun p24 Mr 23 '36

"Although it is one of the Warners' lesser efforts, it is a Class D picture designed for the double-bill houses, it still is a pleasant little domestic farce and it has been played with proper exuberance by its cast. No little of the film's comedy stems from several scenes of domestic bickering played—and with suspicious glibness—by Gene and Kathleen Lockhart, who have been married these many years.” F. S. Nugent

+ N Y Times p22 Mr 23 '36

"'Brides Are Like That' is sometimes funny, but not. I must straightway add, funny enough. The play scatters its forces instead of gathering them, and it is given to the credit of all the players that they manage to remain amusing and entertaining.” William Boehl photo dramas

+ N Y Telegram p25 Mr 23 '36

"William McGaig's well-paced direction and the amiable acting of young Ross Alexander, whose mannerisms have not yet had time to crystallize as irritatingly, as Robert Montgomery's make 'Brides Are Like That' a satisfactory if not particularly exciting example of inexpensive program comedy.”

+ + Time p34 Mr 30 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Hilarious comedy. Family.”

+ Box Office p23 F 1 '36

"Unfortunately once again we find a picture with no big 'names' but the exhibitor that sells this to his patrons will find that they like it. The players all turn in first class performances and the direction is most workman-like.”

+ Film Curb p14 Ja 23 '36

"Homey comedy introduces the Lockharts in family trade comedy which should build them and 'big' outdoor plays. The result is the highest class of comedy.

+ Film Daily p8 Mr 24 '36

"It is played with intelligence and zest and affords pleasing average entertainment... The picture is good, wholesome family entertainment and should score well with general audiences.

+ Motion Pict Daily p8 Ja 17 '36

"The ingredients utilized have often proved their entertainment and commercial value. Just plain amusement, the show moves to a lively pace in action, dialogue and situations. It's the kind of show that can be offered to family audiences with confidence.”

+ Variety p15 Ja 25 '36

"Estimate: best for small towns, neighborhoods.

N Y Exhibitor p36 F 10 '36

"A family type of picture, with limited appeal and box office possibilities. [It will] probably miss majority of the single run houses, with its entertainment strength not enough to carry through dual-bill (theaters) will be its market...

"[It] is loud and tiresome at times despite its comparatively short running time of 66 minutes. Stretched into feature length, it has to eat up reams of celluloid that's just gab and not much more."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 16 '36

BRIDGE OF SIGHS.

Players: Onslow Stevens, Dorothy Tree, Mary Doran. Jack LaRue. Walter Byron.

Director: Phil Rosen

"The tale of a girl who saves her brother from the electric chair by turning up the guilty gangsters who have clashed in a gambling war.” Variety (Hollywood)

+ Variety p13 Mr 25 '36

"It comes as near perfection in sprightly, heart-warming comedy as the average diversion-seeker will find.”

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 16 '36

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Mediocre—adults.” Am Legion Auxiliary

+ Fox W Coast Bul My 9 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"An interest-holding story, aided by a capable cast and intelligent direction, results in a program picture of above-average merit.”

+ Box Office p34 My 25 '36

"Although direction and acting are hindered by inherent story weakness, this one gets away as fair program fare.”

+ Box Office p34 My 25 '36

"A serious-minded crime quickie that will do rather better than average duty on neighborhood double bills. A good job of photography is furnished by William A. Hall to the production, which calls for a number of quite pretentious sets, has been well dressed by Lon Young, who supervised."

Hollywood Reporter p3 Mr 18 '36

"For entertainment purposes this is a sober-toned crime drama carrying a formula love interest contrast. Commercially it provides the value of several better-than-ordinary names in the feature cast. The picture is acceptable as a second feature."

+ — Motion Pict Daily p1 Mr 23 '36

"Had the producers shown the same attention in titling this picture as a director Phil Rosen did in handling it, the net result would be more satisfactory at the box office. The show is a melodrama that rates with the best from Chesterfield this season. Estimate: for twin bills; neighborhood houses."

N Y Exhibitor p54 Mr 19 '36

"'Bridge of Sighs' is formula crime material, but it has enough suspense and action interest to pull through for the masses on double bills. . . Independently produced and palpably good cast, to transcend warmed-over story elements and lacking anything to lift it above lowbrow levels."

+ — Variety p18 My 6 '36

"This is for the less discriminating neighborhoods, mild in entertainment, unable despite good cast, to transcend warmed-over story elements and lacking anything to lift it above lowbrow levels."

— Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 18 '36

BRILLIANT MARRIAGE. Mr 25 '36 65min In-vincible

Director: Phil Rosen

"It is the story of a girl whose life is almost ruined when it becomes known that the couple [whom] she believes [to be] her parents, are not so." Film Curb

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A dramatic story spoiled by a weak cast and poor directing. Adults."

Nat Legion of Decency Ap 6 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Here is a most worthy independent production. It is good, entertaining drama that should be well liked in most spots."

+ Film Curb p12 Ap 25 '36

"With no name draw of a nature that neighborhood folk might find interesting, this falls into the usual program category."

+ — N Y Exhibitor p22 Ap 25 '36

"Fairish independent effort with sufficient recognizable names to be attractive for double bills. Picture is mounted better than the average independent of this class and smartly directed by Phil Rosen. Story, however, drags in many spots."

+ — Variety (Hollywood) p3 Je 10 '36

BROADWAY PLAYBOY. See Times Square playboy

BROKEN BLOSSOMS. $7min Twickenham

Players: Dolly Haas. Arthur Margeson. Emlyn Williams

Director: Hans Brahm

Based on the short story, The Chink and the Chink by Thomas Burke. This was previously made as a silent picture by D. W. Griffith. Filmed in England. This is the tragic tale of a Limehouse waif who is ill-treated by her drunken, brutal father. An idealistic young Chineese, entraneced by her beauty, gives her shelter and the reverence that a people's hero needs. When the father hears of this he takes the girl home and beats her to death. The protector kills the father and carries the girl back to his fluming house to await his death.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"This film will not appeal to those who dislike being harrowed. Suitability: adults."

Mo Film BuI p81 My 36

Trade Paper Reviews

"With a close general resemblance in form to the original as one of its virtues, undoubtedly it gains in dramatic force, and in pathos from the addition of dialogue. Well directed by Hans Brahm, as his first picture, it is also well cast and technical qualities are good. . . There is an atmosphere of sincerity throughout this film which makes it very appealing and intensely moving. It is tragedy without qualification."

+ — Motion Pict Daily p10 Je 2 '36

"The original film of this title, directed by D. W. Griffith, is a trade classic, and comparisons inevitably will be made. . . In regard to the three major features acting, direction and atmosphere, the British film does not suffer from one's recollection of the earlier masterpiece. It is very grim, a very moving, and a very unusual production, and its fate with audiences may be determined by the extent to which regard for artistry in these details outweighs the appetite for more conventional entertainment values."

+ — Herald-Examiner p60 Je 6 '36

"This one is all wrong. Even if it were perfectly made from every angle, the idea would still be old-fashioned. Maudlin bathos is not present-day entertainment for a full length film, especially when unrealified by a single bit of comedy. . . Makeup alone are not characterization. Emlyn Williams never once gives the feeling that he is actually a Chinaman. . . Dolly Haas. . . throughout is more contenstional in demeanor than Limehouse."

— Variety p18 Je 10 '36

BULLETS OR BALLOTS. Je 6 '36 65min Warner-First national

Players: Edward G. Robinson, Joan Blond-dell, Barton MacLane. Humphrey Bogart. Frank Morgan

Director: William Keighley

Edward G. Robinson portrays a tough little cop who lone-handed cleans up a new reign of gangsterism involving various 'rackets.' In the climax he sacrifices his life.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A and Y: excellent of kind; C: doubtful." Christian Century p555 Je 10 '36

"Mature." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Adults: good; 14-18: fair; 8-14: unsuitable." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good. Interesting melodrama, well produced. Mature audience, including 14-18 years. D. R.

"An intelligent and maturely developed version of the 'racketeer' theme makes this production an outstanding one of its type. . . The theme needs rating:PG, stark realism but if the picture has put the spot-light where it will do some good, it deserves an honor stripe. An excellent production, acting, direction, photography all contributed to the perfection of the picture. . . Mature," Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; —— Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
Bullets or Ballots—Continued

"This film is very real and convincing. Mature." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Courage of conviction is exemplified in a stormy canvass which however is unsuitable for the younger audience. Mature." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

+ Add Bu My 30 '36

"This forcefully directed picture, dynamic in its import and replete with action and suspense, affords gripping entertainment in addition to its stirring message. Adults & young people.

+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 18 '36

Motion Pict & Family Je 15 '36

"Although this is a gangster story, it is told from a racketeer's angle, exposing them in all their dishonesty, depravity, and utter brutality and proving that upright officials, supported by an aroused public opinion have the power to abate the forces of crime. . .

It is a slight shock to have bank rovers, who have come in for much condemnation during recent years, made the ringleaders of consolidated rackets. One doubts if they are responsible for all the evil. However, the trend of the picture is constructive and has definite social value. Adolescents, 12-16; yes; children, 8-12; not at all.

+ Motion Pict R Je '36

"Family-outstanding."

++ Nat Bd of R M Je '36

"Perfectly cast, expertly directed, and excellently photographed, this timely and modish gangster is a delight to those who enjoy melodramas. It is of excellent [entertainment] for adult audiences.

+ Nat Council of Jewish Women My 26 '36

"Adults."

Nat Legion of Decency Je 4 '36

"This forcefully directed picture, dynamic in its import and replete with action and suspense, constitutes a constructive angle, exposing racketeers in addition to its stirring message. Adults & young people. Outstanding.

* Selby Motion Pict Je 1 '36

"Family."

Wky Guide My 23 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

The fast-paced direction and a casual humorous touch give a fairly fresh aspect to familiar devices for entertaining adult crook play audiences.

++ Christian Science Monitor p15 Je 6 '36

"The drama is not breath-taking, although it is punchy, nor is the play an especially inspiring performance. Its real significance is the undisputed, bare-faced relation of vicious mobs and their hidden overlords to community life of to-day." J. P. Cuningham

+ Commonweal p190 Je 12 '36

"Bullets or Ballots" is invariably a dynamic motion picture, pictorially vivid, ingenious and properly exciting, always recognizing the importance of the camera and revealing thorough knowledge of its possibilities. It has the knack of knowing the screen to unfold a melodrama in which the mood of suspense was induced more adroitly by a combination of true cinematic technique which the picture possesses will provide all of those fortunate enough to view it with a treat, and in particular will delight those who enjoy screen art as a study. It is with much enthusiasm that I recommend the picture. Alliance Herald

++ Hollywood Spec p12 My 23 '36

"Its tale of corruption in high places and fabulous looting of a sucker public has been told before, but rarely with more convincing detail or more powerful dramatic suspense. . . . Set against arresting backgrounds of what First National calls a $5,000,000,000 annual stickup, it makes an excellent gun-play entertainment . . . For all its virtues as a straightforward account of crooked politics, "Bullets or Ballots" is far less educational than absorbingly diverting." Howard Barnes

+++ N Y Sun p18 My 27 '36

"This one is a thriller, a fast-paced talkie with all the suspense a melodrama can stand, some gangster murders judiciously spaced and a climax with all the excitement and sentimentality that any Hollywood star could demand in an exit speech. . . . It is an intelligent, experienced effort, and a working good melodrama, much too timely for comfort. Mr. Robinson's performance is one of the best." Elmer Creelman

++ N Y Sun p23 My 27 '36

"The Brothers Warner . . . have turned out another crackling underworld melodrama in 'Bullets or Ballots.' . . . If this sounds like the old formula—and it is—there is still no disputing the picture's claim upon your attention, its graphic depiction of the scope of modern organized crime, its fidelity to known criminal facts and methods and its suspenseful handling of the familiar melodramatic materials that have gone into it." C. S. Nugent

++ N Y Times p27 My 27 '36

"It packs a thrill in each footage of film and is quite the best of the cinema's sermons against crime. It is excellent propaganda, and I defy anyone of honest impulse to come away from its viewing without hate in his heart against these hoodlumized terrorists and a brass-knuckle determination to exterminate them." Douglas Gish

++ N Y World-Telegram p29 My 27 '36

"There is a little too much pouring of kerosene on the vegetables in the markets, familiar now to all moviegoers; and too much stress put on the negative aspects of the film, with another solid stand-by; and a general overworking of hackneyed stunts, but Mr. Robinson manages to make a pretty good showing, as also does Humphrey Bogart, who will probably never play an honest citizen again. . . . I am afraid that all these qualities, good and bad, give it an honest respectability and of only moderate value in the end." John Mosher

+++ New Yorker p70 My 27 '36

"Not a narrative about gangsters but the 'inside' on how they work. It's interesting. Robinson, certain of himself through every foot of celluloid, has conviction. His death scene is every bit as tense and legitimate as though he were playing it on the stage for the New York Theater Guild. Here's one actor who is never slipshod."

++ Script p11 My 30 '36

"What makes it a good picture, despite its solemn inflexibility and the obviousness, is that it brings out Edward G. Robinson (Little Caesar) back into the crime fold."

+++ Time p26 Je 1 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"A new twist to the formula crime expose yarn plus excellent and hard-boiled and convincing performance by Edward G. Robinson makes this a welcome and winning addition to the 'crime does not pay' expositions."

++ Box Office p31 My 22 '36

"If this isn't the best gangster picture to date we'd like to see the one that tops it. . . . In a typical Robinzon role the star puts over one of his finest performances."

++ Film Curb p11 My 22 '36

"This is easily one of the most important crime pictures which has been made. It has many authentic touches and is a credit to Martin Mooney, who has exposed many rackets, as well as to his authors." ++ Film Daily p10 My 18 '36

"It is about the best crime picture of the year and will make the grade for deluxe houses, garnishing solid returns at all wickets if, as seems likely, crime, on the screen, still pays. The picture has the added exploitation value of being an unsparing expose of the typical big city racketeer ring and it is also a forthright and vigorous propaganda appeal for municipal clean-ups by way of electing honest officials and giving them real support.

Hollywood Reporter p3 My 14 '36

"Something new in suspense-laden, melodramatic, racketeer-gangster cop entertainment is unfolded. Different, vivid and punchy, it holds much to engage attention while providing numerous fresh angles in personnel, story and production so as to avoid mere commercial exploitation. Worthy of a spot on any program, the picture has the added advantage of entertainment that places in the hands of exhibitors countless formula and novel exploitation leads with which to sell it far above average business."

Motion Pic Daily p10 My 15 '36

"Here's something vigorous and meaty that promises much worthy of audience and exhibitor attention. Previewed in Warner's Beverly Theatre. The audience watched the picture with undivided attention, creating the impression that they were familiar with all the topical material with which the picture deals and wondering what they were going to do about it."

Motion Pic Herald p44 My 23 '36

"Back in the type role that made him box office, Edward G. Robinson turns in a tip-top performance. ... And again proves that Warner Brothers hold the upper hand when gang melodramas are concerned."

Variety p15 '36

"The Warner Bros. Keighley-Robinson combination clicks again in a fast, smooth-working action picture which is earmarked for healthy box office returns. It's a gangster story, but one that doesn't irritate in the slightest despite following the formula."

Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 14 '36

"It is a smooth and convincing story which commands interest of the audience from opening scene to conclusion of 68 minutes of virile down-to-earth screen narrative... In building up to the climax, enough incidents are brought into play, with such defined clarity, that the film serves as a liberal education for any juvenile or adult."

BUNKER BEAN. Je 26 '36 65min RKO

Players: Owen Davis, Jr. Louise Latimer. Robert McWade. Jessie Ralph

Directors: William Hamilton. Edward Killy

Based on the novel of the same title by Harry Leon Wilson and a play of the same title by Lee Wilson Dodd. This is the third film version made. "It is a story of a youth suffering from [an] inferiority complex who seeks advice of a crystal gazer to find from whom he has been incarcated. The crystal gazer tells him he was Napoleon. The fun starts when Bean returns to the office where he is employed as a stenographer and sets about to claim himself with this Napoleonic complex." (Variety [Hollywood])

---

Trade Paper Reviews

"Here is a bang-up comedy from start to finish, Family."

Box Office p69 My 30 '36

"This one should do unusually well in the smaller spots and the neighborhoods."

Film Curb p15 My 30 '36

"This is a merry comedy, full of laughs, that will please all types of audiences. Although this is the third time the Harry Leon Wilson story has been picturized, it has been given fresh treatment and is full of entertainment."

Film Daily p25 My 26 '36

"The picture should please as a comedy offering."

Motion Pic Daily p6 My 22 '36

"As a programmer, it ought to promise double feature, neighborhood audiences. Elsewhere, it is handicapped. The cast is Studied with feature players, all of whom help contribute to the piece with nice characterizations. Net result however is fair."

Rival Exhibitor p23 Je 1 '36

"Despite lack of box office names, this should have no trouble in keeping right up in front with money making films. It is smart, sparkling, down-to-earth comedy that should elicit a continuous flow of laughter from any type of audience."

Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 21 '36

---

Audience Suitability Ratings

Family.

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

MY 6 '36

"It is light diversion, but good psychology. The acting, save that of the leading man, is somewhat overdone and the direction not notably correct. But the juvenile play is a good performance of its type. Adolescents, 12-16: entertaining; children, 8-12; little interest."

Motion Pic R Je 36

"Family."

Nat Council of Jewish Women Je 3 '36

"General patronage."

New York Times of Decency Je 11 '36

"There are many good comedy situations, although the production drags in spots. Owen Davis, Jr., gives an excellent performance; the rest of the cast is above average. Family."

Sel Motion Pic Je 1 '36

"Family."

Wkly Guide Je 13 '36

---

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Wilson's narrative is artificial trifle, its plot brittle and unsubstantial, yet not infrequently the possessor of coruscating qualities. Presented by Radio with dignity and intelligence, it affords satisfaction both as entertainment and from the standpoint of cinema, lacking, however, importance in both respects. Undeniably there are moments of dullness in the photo play, but on the whole it is arresting, best described, perhaps, as an enjoyable bit of triviality." Allan Hersholt

Hollywood Spec p12 Je 6 '36

---

LA CANZONE DEL SOLE. My 5 '36 85min Capitani

Players: Giacomo Lauri-Volpi. Vittorio de Sica. Liliane Dietz

Director: Mario Borelli

Based on an opera of the same title by Pietro Mascagni. Italian dialogue film with English subtitles. "It concerns itself with one Bardelli, who wants to become Lauri-Volpi's manager. A fiery little man, he gets into a row with the police and lands in jail for three weeks. A young musical friend, Frida, tries to take his place in the negotiations with the tenor. She mistakes his lawyer for Lauri-Volpi himself; and the usual romantic entanglements follow." (N Y Sun)
LA CANZONE DEL SOLE—Continued

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"[It] has some really grand singing by Lauri-Volpi. The tenor, so well known here by his performances at the Metropolitan Opera, is a perfect opera singer when they enter pictures... Signor Lauri-Volpi has only to play himself, to stroll occasionally across the screen to appear in two or three theatrical sequences... It is merely told, although the picture contains nothing particularly novel, the experienced msmovies-regular expects Hollywood technical standards of an imported film. This Italian film has the unpretentious charm of many European productions. It has also, to counterbalance this, some interesting views of the Italian countryside... " (Motion Pict Daily)

+ Film Curb p18 Ap 25 '36

"Here is a delightful romantic comedy, built around a former Metropolitan Opera tenor, but with a handsome look in the hero and the singer kept well in the background and not required to do anything outside his vocal métier. It is hardly a dull moment in this gay tale of mistaken identity." — H. T. S.

+ N Y Sun p32 My 6 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Entertaining comedy with music overcomes language restrictions. Acting, singing and photography of superior caliber..." — Motion Pict Daily p15 My 6 '36

"[It] offers something for lovers of good music everywhere since the singer is in fine voice in the several numbers he renders... For Italian audiences anywhere the film should be easily sold and thoroughly enjoyed. Outside of the music and the appearance of Lauri-Volpi, there is comparatively little in the story itself to draw the patronage of the average American lacking a knowledge of the language..."

+ Motion Pict Daily p15 My 6 '36

"This is a nicely made, though tedious operetta... Like most foreign titles, this is too slow for American consumption, though the Italian tenor is a gem in the audience, at this viewing it enjoyed it highly..."

+ Variety p14 My 13 '36

CAPTAIN CALAMITY. (Release date not determined) 65min Regal

Players: George Houston. Marian Nixon. Vince Barnett

Director: John Reinhardt

Photographed in color. "Houston, adventurous skipper of a South Sea schooner, creates the impression [that] he is the possessor of a secret as to where vast Spanish treasure is buried. A gag of bad men... plan to kill Houston and get his secret." (Motion Pict Daily)

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Though color heightens the reality and gives an added visual pleasure to a film, it can hardly be considered a sin to ask a single-handed picture to carry a picture... So lovely are the seascapes, the warm hues of the islands, and the nation... this pedestal item pays the price of being white and black..." (2½ stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p29 My 30 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Interesting melodrama produced in color with plenty of good dialogue and several amusing comedy sequences to help it along. Family." + Box Office p33 Ap 25 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor

"George Hirliman's new color process is used for the first time in this film. Let it be said that it is very effective and lends much to this independent feature." + Film Curb p18 Ap 25 '36

The second of George Hirliman's [independent productions] in color is a gaudy fare anyway you look at it. The Hirlaco color treatment is an improvement over the Magnacolor used in "The Best Cure," which was the first of the series, but the color is the chief merit of this one and it will take plenty of pushing to make it a box-office asset, even in the neighborhoods..."

"Most of the shots, particularly the land and seascapes and some in which personalities are featured are of creditable character. Second to color use as a novelty in a thrill action film is the idea of giving it a musical contrast by having the hero, George Houston, sing several songs. Selling the combined values of color and melodramatic thrill action seem to be the most acceptable way to excite popular attention." — Motion Pict Daily p8 Ap 20 '36

"Backed by color, 'Captain Calamity' should easily overcome handicap of little cast lustre [and become] a good entrant for the neighborhood trade..."

+ N Y Exhibitor p26 My 10 '36

"Initiative of the producer, first to turn out independent all-tinters—and doing a neat job of it—will probably be rewarded with good results from the neighborhood and outlying program zones for which it is intended... Color job generally will prove very attractive, even in the more outlying spots, where tint is still a novelty. From critical standpoint it may be regarded as being somewhat crude and chromescopic in some of its lurid contrasts. Seascapes are intense and cameras play for too much ocean expanse of most nonexistent blue..."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p8 Ap 14 '36

CAPTAIN JANUARY. Ap 17 '36 75min 20th century-Fox

Director: David Butler

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"As a filmed version of a popular and loved book the picture is not a success. While the plot of the story is followed more or less well and the deviations are in the interests of film requirements, the spirit of the beautiful story is lost in the filming... If producers do not aim to capture the spirit of a book in the film they make from it, why use the book?... There is one incident in the nursery scene that seemed to the writer inexpressibly vulgar..."

— Bks & Films My 36

"A: entertaining; Y: very good; C: excellent." Christian Century p646 Ap 29 '36

"Fine entertainment for the entire family." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Family & junior matinee." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Excellent. Family." DAR

"The story though unlike the original is well adapted to Shirley's versatile talents. Family & junior matinee." Nat Bd of R

"Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Family & junior matinee." Nat Soc of New England Women
“A refreshing worthwhile picture with an unusual plot line, “Codfish” and David Butler has given it splendid direction. Family.”
S Calif Council of Fed Church Women
Box 12018, Santa Monica 4, Calif. 11 '36

“Family & Junior matinee. Best of the month. Outstanding.”
+ + Jt Estimates Mr 1 '36

“This slight and rather naive story depends for its values almost entirely upon the personality of Shirley Temple. This extraordinary child gives an astonishing performance of light entertainment to all except those to whom a child actor is an anathema. Suitability; family; especially suitable to children under 12.”
Mo Film Bul p56 My '36

“This delightful story centers around Shirley Temple. One sees beneath the rough and rather unattractive exterior of the men who has adopted her after a shipwreck had cast her into their midst, a love and devotion which might not be expected.”
+ Motion Pict & Family p6 Ap 15 '36

“Very good-family & children.”
+ Motion Pict Guide Je '36

“Shirley Temple is never more adorable than when she is graciously sharing honors with the others of the cast, and in this picture she is unusually popular. The rough and ready associates with whom she [plays]. . . It is a human interest tale with many amusing and clever moments suffered by all ages. Adolescents, 12-16: excellent; children, 8-12: excellent.”
+ + Motion Pict R Ap '36

“Family-junior.”
Nat Bd of R M Ap '36

“General patronage.”
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 8 '36

“A. Y and C: delightful picturization.”
Par M p41 My '36

“The chief feature of entertainment is Shirley’s dancing, especially with Buddy Ebsen. ‘The Codfish Ball,’ describing in five languages the way of a sailor in every port, is clever, as is also the ‘Multiplication Table’ dance. Good comedy relief and believable situations keep the picture from becoming too sentimental.”
+ Scholastic p26 Ap 4 '36

“Family & Junior matinee. Best of the month.”
+ + Sel Motion Pict Ap '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“So far as quality goes, it is neither much better nor worse than its predecessors. There is no questioning the fact that Miss Shirley is a gifted child and that her throng of admirers she can do no wrong. But she is beginning to show signs of conscious striving for fame. It almost always happens with children who are showered with attention. It has not gone too far yet. . . But she is no longer the completely naive and natural youngster that she was in her first movie appearances.”
E. F. Melvin
+ Boston Transcript p4 Ap 4 '36

“Conventional Shirley Temple entertainment, abounding in far-a-day sentiment climaxing by a typical melodramatic happy ending that comes after customary Shirley Temple songs, dances, trills. It has a sparkling quality of romping merriment.”
J. P. Cunningham
+ Commonwealth p36 Ap 3 '36

“Whatver your interest in motion pictures, whether you seek them out as passing entertainment or view them as an interesting study, and you seek something that will prepare you for a career in them, take advantage of this opportunity to view ‘Codfish’ January. In it will you see the world’s greatest actress, the screen’s greatest player, in a performance surpassing any other I have unseen. This picture in no one gets too enthusiastic about Shirley Temple? Can any-one challenge the statement that she is the screen’s greatest actress. . . The picture is one you cannot afford to miss.”
+ + Hollywood Spec p6 Mr 25 '36

“The most consistently effective team in Hollywood—Director David Butler and his tiny star Shirley Temple—score another hit in their latest entry. No thought except passable entertainment is passed around, however, ‘Captain January’ is guided by Captain Temple alone. And she shoulders the task as effortlessly as the little girl who has made her the most popular actress in America (even child stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p43 My 2 '36

“Shirley Temple’s new picture should have all her fans in anticipatory excitement for this week. Shirley seldom lets a story equal her remarkable gift for expressing emotion. ‘Captain January’ is no exception. As a picture, [it] is slight entertainment; as a Shirley Temple vehicle it should please her juvenile audience and give her other admirers a new reason to wonder at her precociousness.”
Eileen Creelman
+ N Y Herald Tribune p6 Ap 21 '36

“Miss Temple’s new picture should have all her fans in anticipatory excitement for this week. Shirley seldom lets a story equal her remarkable gift for expressing emotion. ‘Captain January’ is no exception. As a picture, [it] is slight entertainment; as a Shirley Temple vehicle it should please her juvenile audience and give her other admirers a new reason to wonder at her precociousness.”
Eileen Creelman
+ N Y Herald Tribune p6 Ap 21 '36

“The novel was written, as you probably do not recall, forty-six years ago and, although it has been modernized ever so slightly by [the] trio of adapters, it still involves the melodramatic excesses of the Gay (but Sentimental) Nineties. . . Anyway, Miss Temple is as charming and talanted as ever and Guy Kibbee as the Cap’n and Slim Summervill as his cribbage-playing crony are invaluable in providing some comic relief.”
F. S. Nugent
+ N Y Times p21 Ap 25 '36

“[The story] is, frankly, almost unbearably archaic, with sweetness drawn out to the point of painfulness that is acted with such complete ease and simplicity by the screen’s Wonder Child. . . That its plot and deliberate lugubrious and heart-tugging quality have gotten and forgiven. . If it were acted with less enthusiasm and skill by its star and her excellent supporting cast the film might result in pretty mawkish entertainment of a kind that calls for snorts of contempt and scorn. As it is, it emerges as pleasant and amiable screen fare that should be a delight to the countless admirers of the extraordinarily versatile and talented Miss Temple.”
William Boechel
+ N Y World-Telegram p17 Ap 27 '36

“Like all of Shirley Temple’s previous films this story is dedicated to music, melody, song and dances, the young actress meeting all the requirements each demands.”
News Wk p28 My 2 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“First rate entertainment with little Shirley Temple surpassing her previous efforts. Family.”
+ Box Office p27 Mr 28 '36

“When Shirley Temple is featured, the picture’s entertainment appeal and exploitation value is increased. This is the third time the screen has sought, and found, Shirley Temple in a picture that will call anyone to desire. . . Previewed in Hollywood. Reviews all are enthusiastic. A laughing, smiling, sometimes sobbing audience.

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
CAPTAIN JANUARY—Continued

The enthusiastic favorable reaction is just a sample of what to expect wherever the picture is played. + + Motion Pict Herald p38 Mr 21 '36

"Okay film fare for the family trade and generally. Wholesome, Cinderella stuff fortified by the vivacious puppets, this Shirley Temple starrer ranks with her most potent box office entries. It runs the gamut of emotions with the usual song and dance trappings." + Variety p15 Ap 29 '36

CARDINAL. (Release date not determined)
70min Grosvenor
Players: Matheson Lang, Eric Portman, Robert Atkins, Jane Duprez
Director: Sinclair Hill

Based on a play of the same title by Louis N. Parker. This film was made in England. "Matheson Lang plays Cardinal Giovanni, obsessed with the building of St. Peter's General Belmonde, a prize bully, is his mortal enemy who wants all the available cash to be devoted to his profiting wars and is in love with the cardinal's ward." (Hollywood Reporter)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Suitability: adults & adolescents."
Mo Film Bul p61 Ap '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Neither the acting of Matheson Lang nor the direction of Sinclair Hill could save the story of the Louis N. Parker play from being a museum piece, best left on its dusty shelf. D. E. Wyndham Lewis adapted the play and has introduced a goodly sprinkling of modern slang, which ill contrasts with the clerical atmosphere of 14th century Rome." + + Hollywood Reporter p4 Ap 9 '36

"Most noticeable defect of this filmization of an old costume drama is the lack of atmosphere of the bulk of the players and the dialogue. Voices, expressions and actions hint too much of modernity ever to transport the audience to the lazy days of Rome in the 15th century. . . Lighting and direction barely possible, film being too erratic to be convincing. With the vogue for period subjects still flourishing, this one may get more than its due locally [London]." + + Variety p16 Ap 8 '36

CARYL OF THE MOUNTAINS. (Release date not determined) 65min Reliable Players: Francis X. Bushman, Jr. Lois Wilde. Joseph Swickart
Director: Bernard B. Ray

A melodrama of the Northwest Mounted Police.

Trade Paper Reviews

"The dig, Rin TIn TIn, Jr., does excellent work and it is only because of this that the picture is of any interest." + Film Curb p12 Ap 11 '36

"While Rin TIn TIn, Jr. is on the screen, the picture is interesting. Except for the finish, there isn't as much of the dog as there might have been, and on that score the picture drags. Too much time is spent with the humans, and what they do is not overly exciting." + Film Daily p10 Ap 9 '36

"The picture is graced by the presence of Rin TIn TIn, Jr., whose good looks and acumen never fail to please, and by several personable players and it will do its modest part in filling out dual bills of the under stratum."

Hollywood Reporter p3 Ap 6 '36

"Once again Rin-Tin-Tin, Jr., saves the day in an action drama that will prove interesting to neighborhood fans while the dog is on the screen."

N Y Exhibitor p56 My 10 '36

"Falling in line with cycle of animal pictures, this offering will lend little in sustaining or increasing their popularity. . . Story moves at a slow tempo in order to bring out the acting of the dog. Dog does well, lends much to carrying interest in exceedingly weak story and awkward treatment in direction and story narrative." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 6 '36

CASE AGAINST MRS. AMES. My 8 '36 85min Paramount
Players: Madeleine Carroll, George Brent, Arthur Treacher, Alan Baxter, Beulah Bondi
Director: William A. Seiter

Based on a novel of the same title by Arthur Somers Roche. "Unsuccessful in prosecuting Miss Carroll for the murder of her husband, the district attorney castigates the jury as moronic, sympathy-influenced sycophants. He is jalled for contempt of court. Miss Carroll, whose objective is to clear her name and regain the custody of her son from her hateful mother-in-law, obtains his release and engages him to investigate the case." (Motion Pict Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"A: good of kind; Y: unwholesome; C: no." Christian Century p223 Je 3 '36

"Adults." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Good. Mature audiences, including 14-18 years." DAR

"Adults; very good; 14-18; entertaining; 8-14; no." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Adults & young people." E Coast Preview Committee

"While sensational in theme and not wholly convincing, the picture is so cleverly done, the story so dramatically developed and the suspense so well sustained, that it cannot help but hold the interest . . . Drinking sequences could have been toned down. Mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Adults." Nat Soc of New England Women

"A good story made rather unconvincing by over-dramatization. . . An interesting hour's diversion, but not a vehicle for serious acting. Mature. S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bul My 30 '36

"Adults & young people." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 18 '36

"While the story of this murder trial and legal fight for the custody of a child is distinctly distasteful subject matter, it is acted and directed well enough to hold undivided attention throughout . . . Audience taste alone can dictate the success of such a picture. Adolescents, 12-18: by no means; children, 8-12: no." Motion Pict R My '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; - Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
"Deftly and expertly directed, capably acted, with fast moving repartee and a surprise denouement, we have a murder mystery which is gripping as well as very amusing. Family. + Nat Council of Jewish Women My 20 '36

"Adults." Nat Legion of Decency My 14 '36

"[It] sets a new high in scenario building. . . . It is a well-located-adult." + Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

"Mature." Wkly Guide My 9 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"As for 'The Case Against Mrs. Ames,' it might be termed admirable warm weather entertainment were it not for the story that itself into hopeless knots in the process of protecting Miss Carroll against the world. . . . Lukea perverted and limited, for the most part, a courtroom setting. Despite these handicaps, however, 'The Case Against Mrs. Ames' is a provocative and often moving piece of cinematic accidents which can't help happening every so often. The story contains everything to give the picture a strong emotional appeal, but it is presented in a manner to make it a cold, drab, unconvincing and unpleasant screen offering." + Hollywood Spec p11 My 9 '36

"An articulate, frequently absorbing courtroom drama, 'The Case Against Mrs. Ames' is built around an unusual and interesting situation. . Played for its emotional rather than vigorous aspects, the film is somewhat lacking in tension. The scene and ridiculous court procedure are of a piece with the trashy emotionalism." E. C. S. — Christian Science Monitor Je 6 '36

"Bad case of screen writing by Gene Towne and Graham Baker doomed this one to mediocrity from the outset. It has nothing to recommend it in any phase of cinematic accidents which can't help happening every so often. The story contains everything to make the picture a strong emotional appeal, but it is presented in a manner to make it a cold, drab, unconvincing and unpleasant screen offering." + — Honolulu Advertiser p13 My 9 '36

"The scenarios have adroitly worked in several aspects of the Vanderbilt-Whitney custody hearings, and at least the ground-work of one real case. . . . What the picture lacks, however, is the emotional appeal, but it is presented in a manner to make it a cold, drab, unconvincing and unpleasant screen offering." + — Hollywood Daily p9 My 5 '36

"As you may suspect, the story is not of vast importance nor is its plot always as clear as it might be. But the film has been turned out by Mr. Wanger much as a superior store turns out merchandise guaranteed to contain amusements and sophistication. And a pat package, it proved to be heavy, dull, and handsomely set." Marquerite Tazaal + — N Y Herald Tribune p18 My 28 '36

"The Case Against Mrs. Ames' tends occasionally to lapse into a rather wearisome, inhuman-like movie. The cast, the lovely Miss Carroll, the vigorous George Brent and the monosyllabic Trial Judge keep it unusually fresh and lively." Eileen Creelman + — N Y Sun p15 My 28 '36

"[It is a] thoroughly pleasing, if sometimes gossamer thin, offering. . . . Miss Madeleine Carroll and George Brent star in what appears to be a fairly dull film. . . . Far too infrequently on screens hereabout, is the entrancing, Jury-swaying Hope Ames. Just what rules of court procedure permit even such a defendant as Mrs. Ames to make a personal plea to a jury in a murder case are not revealed." + — J. T. M. + — N Y Times p19 My 28 '36

"It begins with a trial scene so frightful in its inept bungling that it gets the hoot from metropolitan audiences. . . . After all people do read the newspapers and we know that no witness is permitted to sum up her own case before a jury. If this doesn’t get you and doesn’t, what has the screen interest you, for in all justice to Paramount’s director William Seltzer it ought to be said that he re-leaves the drama to a trap with some swell burlesque court scenes." Douglas Gilbert + — N Y World-Telegram p25 My 28 '36

"I seem favorably disposed toward 'Mrs. Ames,' and perhaps because of a certain tartness and briskness of language than because of any startling novelty in plot or situation." John Mosher + — New Yorker p52 Je 6 '36

"[It is] well-plotted, well-paced entertainment. + — Time p62 My 18 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"A class background, amply relieved by fast action, a very vigorous and highly enjoyable picture, establishes this Walter Wanger production among the entertainment elite. Adults." + — Daily Variety p5 My 3 '36

"Carries universal appeal and can be played in any theatre anywhere. It is fine dramatic stuff with many delightful comedy sequences." + — Film Daily p9 My 5 '36

"Although at the outset it appears to be another of those grim, dramatic court-room affairs, this turns out to be a very enjoyable comedy-drama. At the outset it should meet with popular approval and good returns." + — Film Daily p5 My 3 '36

"Beginning where other court-room dramas usually end, 'The Case Against Mrs. Ames' is intelligent, absorbing entertainment highlighted by frequent interludes of uproarious comedy. It is a great audience picture for women—which does not preclude its strong interest for men. It is assured of making a lot of money for Walter Wanger, for Paramount and for every theater that plays it." + — Hollywood Reporter p3 My 3 '36

"This newest Walter Wanger production looms as absorbing entertainment for class and mass audiences. . . . Sold from the angle of a woman picture with the emphasis placed on the highest quality of the production and the work of Miss Carroll and Brent, the film should prove an audience attraction. + — Motion Pict Daily p8 My 2 '36

"Well produced and directed, the story soundly logical in all phases, the picture is a worthy vehicle to reintroduce a star Madeleine Carroll, to film followers. It also gives George Brent an opportunity to turn in one of the most accomplished performances of his screen career. . . . While realistic, the picture is not grim or solemn. The quantity and quality of comedy contrast provides plenty of laughs and its value is intensified by the intelligent manner in which it has been woven into the picture's dramatic sequences. + — Motion Pict Herald p2 My 9 '36

"Very spotty, with poor motivation, disjointed action, this, none the less, has sufficient comedy and mystery to make a good programmer." + — Phila Exhibitor p7 My 15 '36

"Mrs. Ames sets an all-time screen record for court house occupancy. And so does the picture. The audience ap-so of course for Bruno George Brent will have to hold up the drawing end, but the atmosphere won't make it too easy. Odds are against both Brent and the total returns." + — Variety p15 Je 3 '36

+ — Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
CASE AGAINST MRS. AMES—Continued

"Smart combination of comedy and dramatic tension, gauged for widest appeal, distinguishes this murder trial-mystery offering and heads it for healthy grosses from the ace houses all the way down the line."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 1 '36

CASE OF THE VELVET CLAWS. Ag 1 '36 62min Warner

Director: William Clemens

Based on the mystery story of the same title by Erie Stanley Gardner. Warren William, criminal lawyer, is dragged away from his honeymoon to unravel a murder mystery and is himself accused of the murder.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Adults." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Warren William as its star, is superior to a disjointed picture which will serve only as mediocre program fare. A murder mystery, wholesome and uninteresting. Adults: dull; 14-18: doubtful; 8-14: no." Calif Cong of Par & Fam

"An involved, unconvincing mystery. Mature." DAR

"There is the usual breezy dialogue, elaborate settings, and drinking sequences to make it a worthwhiliness that it lacks in coherence and substance. Mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"A melodramatic story which offers nothing constructive and deals with people who are in no sense worthwhile. The film is merely a 'filler' for a 'bank night' program. Adults." Nat Soc of New England Women

"A murder melodrama, well constructed but trite; interesting enough in treatment but without the virtue of being a 'thriller.' Irrelevant farce elements are introduced for their own sake; they get a laugh but are so incredible they add nothing to the picture. Family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"The plot is handled in a humorous manner and is mildly entertaining. A large cast, is fairly well directed. Adults & young people." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 9 '36

"If one is entertained by rapid action alone this mystery film may provide diversion. It is an incoherent jumble of events told in a would-be humorous manner. Even Warren William has a hard time living up to his reputation as an actor under the handicap of such a poor scenario. Adolescents, 12-16; no; children, 8-12; no."

— Motion Pict R Je '36

"[It is] a fairly interesting comedy... The story is an interesting one, the direction fast-moving and capable but the entire production lacked capricity. Adults." + — Nat Council of Jewish Women My 13 '36

"Adults."

Nat Legion of Decency Je 4 '36

"The plot is handled in a humorous manner and is mildly entertaining. Adults."

+ — Selective Motion Pict Je 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"There is nothing more pathetic than a gay nonchalance that is neither gay nor nonchalant. This is both farce melodrama and a summary of 'Case of the Velvet Claws.' A bright and comic detective story, frayed on the edges and considerably worn in the middle is preserved in form, but the substance is lacking... The 'Case of the Velvet Claws' presents a continuously entertaining example of how mystery pictures should not be made."

— Hollywood Spec p13 Je 6 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Although the plot doesn't carry the punch of previous Gardner stories that were filmed, good production saves it."

+ — Box Office p31 My 23 '36

"Nobody is going to rave about it but most who see it will be entertained."

+ — Film Curb p11 My 23 '36

"Although it sustains the debonair and irresponsible spirit of its four or five predecessors it makes pretty mild entertainment and cannot be counted on to add box office strength to the series."

+ — Hollywood Reporter p4 My 13 '36

"This latest in the Perry Mason series is weaker in story than its predecessors, relying on comedy to sustain the interest."

+ — Motion Pict Daily My 14 '36

"The show balances its suspense tightened drama with rare comedy... Popularity of the Perry Mason series, now approaching the number of Charles Chans, is being locked upon by the producers as a ready-made exploitation asset."

+ — Motion Pict Herald p45 Ap 18 '36

"Made for the program division, it holds to the general stock mystery average."

+ — Phila Exhibitor p26 Je 1 '36

"Contrived to provide an hour's amusement for the mild murder mystery addict. The Case of the Velvet Claws' fills the bill... Mystery narrative is shallow and sketchily developed, with little, at stake for William and Claire Dodd as newlyweds... Suspense is never built very high, nor is audience whipped up to much concern over what happens to characters because none elicits much sympathy."

+ — Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 13 '36

CATTLE THIEF. F 28 '36 58min Columbia

Director: Spencer Gordon Bennett

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"An average Western story... Ken Maynard does a clever bit of acting, the outdoor panorama effects and cloud photography are excellent and the horseback riding is superb. Family."

E Coast Preview Committee

Fox W Coast Bull Ap 4 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Above the average Western melodrama. Bound to please all lovers of outdoor drama."

+ — Film Curb p5 Je 6 '36

"Amid striking scenic settings, Ken Maynard and his white steed Tarzan provide nearly a solid hour of daredevil riding and galloping. Unlike most Westerns, this one has a strong, well-woven story to which the many essentials of good production have been added."

+ — Film Daily p6 My 25 '36

"A Western with enough novel twists to provide suitable diversion for outdoor fans. The plot limps along at times, but finishes coherently."

+ — Motion Pict Daily p16 My 26 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; — + Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
"More of Maynard and his nag are visible here than in his last few pictures. This time he's an undercover man for a cattle association who masquerades as an itinerant peddler by day and a 'masked rider' by night. It's a slant that should appeal to the juveniles. Rest of the film is stock stuff, Maynard handles his dual role with enough tricks to get by, and enough of the obvious to make confusion impossible for patrons from the kindergarten."

CHAMPAGNE CHARLIE. My 8 '36 58min 20th century-Fox
Players: Paul Cavanagh. Helen Wood
Director: James Tinling
"A present-day murder brings to the fore the story of a man who gambled with life as well as [with] money." Nat Legion of Decency

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Adults." Am Legion Auxiliary
"Social melodrama of small distinction. Adults fair, film rather uninteresting; 8-14; unsuitable." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers
"Excessive drinking. Adults. Unwholesome-mediocre." DAR
"Adults & young people." E Coast Preview Committee
"This conventional and hackneyed theme will find its place among the program fillers." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs
"A story of people with obviously low I. Q.'s, living worthless lives in a worthless manner, this film is sharply painted, well acted and entertaining, but aside from an hour's entertainment for mature audiences, has little uplift." Nat Soc of New England Women
"Mature." Calif Council of Fed Church Women
Fox W Coast Bul My 16 '36
"Though given interesting settings, this picture told in retrospective fashion, lacks distinction. A rather tawdry story and too much drinking. Adults." - Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 5 '36

"The members of the cast tried hard to inject a spark of plausibility into their parts— that they failed was due more to the story and dialogue than their acting. Herbert Mundin made his part stand out in spite of its absurdity. Mature." - Jt Estimates My 1 '36

"It is not a pleasant tale and it is not told with sufficient artistry nor drama to hold one's undivided attention. After it is over one feels the futility of the hour spent in its unfoldment. Adolescents, 12-16; no; children, 8-12; no." - Motion Pict R Je '36

"The direction is melodramatic and there is excessiveness in acting. Adults." Nat Council of Jewish Women My 6 '36

"Adults." Nat Legion of Decency My 7 '36

"Mature." Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"[It is] machine-made melodrama of gambling swells and marathon drinkers." Christian Science Monitor My 16 '36

"It is enthrall by death on the high seas, blackmail, some sinister knife-throwing and an exciting automobile chase and crash, but these are fragmentary interludes of power in a random and slipshod screen drama. . . It is slightly ridiculous and generally tedious in its unfolding when those should be moving. Howard Barnes
- + N Y Herald Tribune My 7 '36

"We never have been fond of grave-yard exploration and we must lament the exhuming of a story that Mr. Cavanagh and others, buried with full literary honors many years ago. . . Better served by its cast than the story warrants, the picture still is out of place in a first-run house and merely reminds us that the screen can be pretty infantile at times." F. S. Nugent
- + N Y Times p21 My 7 '36

"[It] is one of those flash-back things, but for all of its dated hokum the picture manages to supply seventy minutes of fairish entertainment. The action is fast, if not always pointed, and the build-ups of the featured players, Paul Cavanagh and Helen Wood, are not too phony but within the logic of the story. . . The yarn is a bit spotty and lacks the occasional comic touch that often livens up these potboilers." Douglas Gilbert
- + N Y World-Telegram p21 My 7 '36

"The American heiress (twenty millions at least) and a blackmailing beat are studied gravely in 'Champagne Charlie.' I can see that this may be a picture to divert heiresses, but for those interested it will seem mild melodrama." John Mosher
- + New Yorker p79 My 16 '36

"Badly directed and appallingly acted, it is a scrambled saga, told in flash backs." - Time p22 My 15 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"Just a picture that won't set anyone talking. A flash of drama here and there but not enough to keep a fan interested to any degree. Below ordinary program fare and will not be able to make the grade in any of the big spots." - + Film Curb My 2 '36

"[This] satisfying program drama has suspense, smooth playing, interesting locales." - + Film Daily My 7 '36

"There is entertainment of an unpretentious sort in this picture." - + Motion Pict Daily p6 Ap 28 '36

"Program, that's all." - + Phila Exhibitor p49 My 15 '36

"'Champagne Charlie' is not grade-A product, although it has been meritoriously acted, mounted, directed and sheared. Female maritime trade appears to be its best bet, and pairing on duals would seem to be in the cards, if for no other reason than the feature 'Champagne Charlie' will provide an hour's amusement." + Variety My 14 '36

"Injection of a bit of novelty through series of flashes in which dial speakers are mixed in one sequence is answered in another through expert splicing and the inclusion of some real action puts this 20th-Fox class B feature in ranks of diverting entertainment. Lack of draw names will undoubtedly be reflected at box offices, but once this begins to have been attracted, 'Champagne Charlie' will provide an hour's amusement." + Variety (Hollywood) p5 My 21 '36

CHARLIE CHAN AT THE CIRCUS. Mr 27 '36 70min 20th century-Fox
Director: Harry Lachman
See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film
CHARLIE CHAN AT THE CIRCUS—Cont.

Audio-Suitability Ratings

“A: good of kind; Y: good; C: perhaps.”

Christian Century p571 My 30 '36

“An exceptionally good Charlie Chan murder story. Family.” Am Legion Auxiliary

“The story is hackneyed, with little distinction of cast, direction or story. Adults: fair; 14-18: entertaining; 8-14: exciting.” Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

“Mature-family. Good.” DAR

“Mature.” Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast)

“This picture will interest the family.” S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

“Family.” W Cost Bul Mr 14 '36

“Family.” Jt Estimates Mr 1 '36

“Good adult & young adult.”

Motion Pict Guide Je '36

“Perhaps there are a few irrelevant situations and a few loose ends; it may not be as good as the best Chan films, but it is entertaining for all who like the Chinese detective-philosopher who has time for profound observations on life while his nimble mind follows the evasions-by-ways of crime. Adolescents, 12-16: good; children, 8-12: too tense.” Motion Pict R Ap '36

“Family.” Nat Bd of R M Ap '36

“General patronage.”

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 15 '36

“A and Y: three-ringed murder mystery within the ringed circus; C: bedroom scene in which snake visits Charlie makes the picture pretty tense.”

Par M p42 Je '36

“Family.”

Sel Motion Pict p7 Ap '36

“Better than the more recent Chan pictures, brighter and livelier, with a circus background to give it colorful variety.”

Wkly Guide Mr 21 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“As for Charlie Chan’s latest—yes and no. It depends upon your cinematic taste. In this picture, forty minutes of intricately tangled developments are unraveled and explained in an approximate two minutes of dialogue. I’m not sure yet about the answer. Charlie Chan at the Circus’ is family entertainment. The [children] will go for it.” Paul Jacobs

— Hollywood Spec p12 Mr 28 '36

“Although in its motivation the film does not play quite fair with the audience, it has enough suspense to hold the interest. ‘Charlie Chan at the Circus’ follows the set pattern of all his earlier pictures. Except for the genial Mr. Oland, there are no first-rate performances. Humble indeed would like to state to magnificently effective that ‘Charlie Chan at Circus’ only so-so.” (2 stars) Beverly Hills

Liberty p309 Ap 25 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“Plausible story of circus life and one of the top offerings of the Chan series that will appeal to all classes. Family.”

+ Box Office p27 Mr 21 '36

“No cause to worry over the take-in of this picture.” L. S. Niemeyer

+ Canadian Moving Pict Digest p7 Mr 28 '36

“The same old murder mystery stuff in a new setting. Fans who like these pictures will probably stamp this one as okay. To our way of thinking this series has run plenty long enough. . . Perhaps circus stuff will prove more interesting to some, especially the [children].”

Film Curb p14 Mr 21 '36

“Exploitation may include the whole range of vigorous and colorful stunts always on the cards for use with circus pictures, because the circus setting in which this story is placed should give the picture just the right ring and tent stuff to back up advertising of this kind. The script predicated on this phase of the attraction. Of course, all this circus stuff will prove G. W. the only motivation in the whole picture, which has become a screen standard, takes spot emphasis in all promotion.”

+ Motion Pict Herald p14 Mr 28 '36

“There have been better ‘Charlie Chan’ mysteries. And worse. This one may qualify as satisfactory companionship for another feature in need of a melodramatic running mate.”

Variety p15 Mr 25 '36

CHILDREN OF THE REVOLUTION. Ap 5 '36

7min Ukranfilm

Players: Guli Kornleva, Igor Romantsev, S. Khorosha, Vaslav Batobrina

Director: A. Maslyukof

A Russian dialogue film with English subtitles. It tells of the plight of young Stepan, who is snubbed by the other children of the village in which he lives because his father is suspected of being a horse thief. Although Stepan knows the truth about his father, he is so cowed by his parent that at first he is afraid to take any action against him. Eventually, after Wagner’s cruel parent scheme is finished by the animal, the father and the other children, all of whom are young pioneers.” (N Y World-Telegram)

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“Children of the Revolution’ is interesting because its Pioneers have not been over-directed—even, perhaps, because they have been at times so poorly directed. Their very awkwardness is stamped on their faces as, on another level the unconscious antics of infants necessarily are.” Mark Van Doren

+ Nation p866 Ap 29 '36

“We are at a loss to explain how so inart and unsuitable an export ever found its way to the screen.”

— New Theatre p25 My '36

‘Children of the Revolution’ will not require your attention unless you are fanatically addicted to the Russian product, for it is a carefree and unconvincing production, done without the artistry one has come to expect from the Soviet studios.” Markuerite Tazelaar

— N Y Herald Tribune p14 Ap 7 '36

“While ‘Children of the Revolution’ is not as well photographed as some other Russian films, it is notable for the excellent work of two of its child actors, and for the parts played by a fine police dog and a handsome white horse. Master Romantsev is practically perfect in the role of the 12-year-old son of the kulak, at first apparently as mean as his evil sire, but finally repentant and on his way to becoming a real Young Pioneer."  H. T. S.

"Nothing of vital importance to the welfare of the cinema has been accomplished by the showing of 'Children of the Revolution.' ... Although it possesses several superb characterizations—a virtue, incidentally, that is usually to be found in even the poorest of the Russian films—'มีปัญหาChildren of the Revolution' definitely belongs among the minor offerings that have come to us from the Soviet Union."  William Boehm

N Y World-Telegram p29 Ap 8 '36

CLOISTERED. My 19 '36 65min Pathe cinema
Players: Nuns in convent
Director: Robert Alexandre
Narrator: Rev Matthew Kelly

"Filmed in French with dialogue in English, 'Cloistered' purports to show for the first time intimate scenes of life in the convent of the Good Shepherd in Angers, France, for which permission was obtained from the ecclesiastical authorities." (N Y World-Telegram)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"With dignity and serenity the layman is shown for the first time in history the life of the cloistered nuns. Although 'Cloistered' perhaps does not appeal to Catholic audiences it will nevertheless answer a good many questions that continually arise among nuns-Catholic and non-Catholic alike."  Nat Bd of R M Je '36

"An unusual and beautifully made picture, particularly appealing to Roman Catholics but impressive and moving to any unprejudiced person. Suggested for school, library and church use. Worth being kept permanently available."  + + Wkly Guide My 23 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Both the subject-matter and the manner in which it is treated are reverent and Revealing, obviously intended to reveal the noteworthy aspects of the motion picture to contemporary interpretation. It is valuable not alone for its inspiring religious significance but because it visualizes in such stark sincerity the simple life of a hitherto hidden world. Schools, churches, libraries, study groups and such non-commercial institutions, among others, will find the production especially interesting, possibly deeming it advisable to make the document permanently available."  J. P. Cunningham

"It is entirely serious and terribly impressive: it is a melancholy portrait, because it fails to catch the ethereal religious fervor, which must dominate the decision of a young girl to the cloister's life. The picture will be of particular interest to Catholics. To others it will be enlightening because of the powerful link between the medieval past and the materialistic present. It is acted anonymously by a group of novices, nuns and priests, and is set in Italy, sunny Italy in February. As an educational document, it is well worth seeing; but it does not depend on the observer."  Marguerite Tazelaar

N Y Herald Tribune p16 My 20 '36

"A screen foreword insists that all scenes are authentically filmed during actual revolutions, and unchanged in any way. This authenticity makes 'Cloistered' an unusual document, a pictorial glimpse of a world unknown to millions outside its high walls. The cameraman has not overlooked the pictorial values of the full, impressive robes, the black walls and serene faces they half conceal."  Eileen Creelman

N Y Sun p33 My 20 '36

"Although it may safely be described as one of the most unusual pictures of the year, 'Cloistered' must—by the very nature of its material—have a limited appeal. Most of it, even to the casual spectator, is remarkably interesting, but 'Cloistered' is not meant for the run-of-the-mill filmgoer."  F. S. Nuzent

N Y Times p25 My 20 '36

"'Cloistered' is an unusual picture, reverent and revealing, but it is only fair to suggest that those not of the Catholic faith may find much of its footage dreary and repetitious... The producers have done a thorough job. Indeed, it is hard to believe that as it did to this observer, it is probably only because its director has brought a zealous and devoted approach to his work, as well as a high degree of technical skill."  Douglas Gilbert

N Y World-Telegram p27 My 20 '36

"'Cloistered' is unique, and is not intended for many people. Indeed, I should recommend it to only two groups, those interested in convent life for itself, and those especially gratified by excellent photography."  John Mosher

New Yorker p71 My 20 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"For academic purposes, the picture serves well... but its appeal is exclusively in the direction of small houses catering to the intelligentsia. In those instances where the nuns are shown at work, farming, printing, making shoes, and the like, a good amount of novelty arises for mass entertainment."  Film Daily p9 My 20 '36

"The value of the film from the standpoint of exhibition will be necessarily proportionate to the interest the Catholic audiences it should be of unquestioned interest, as well as for all enlightened and intelligent people, who have been given an opportunity to see behind the walls of a form of religious fervor and faith which seems hardly possible in the light of modern civilized activity. The general average theatre use of the film is still another question."  Motion Pict Daily p4 My 20 '36

"Reviewed at the Fifty-fifth Street Playhouse, where a matinee audience preponderantly feminine accorded the picture respectful, and manifestly appreciative attention."  Motion Pict Herald p40 My 30 '36

"For the average fan this is too parochial, dull; for the Catholic laity, clergy, this will be an inspiring, artistically photographed document of ceremonies."  Phila Exhibitor p27 Je 1 '36

"The religiously inclined, particularly women, will derive from the film not only a sense of direct spiritual success and faith, and it is upon this element that 'Cloistered' will solely hold the audience. To the cameraman has captured much outdoor beauty in his wandering about the cloister's grounds, but his film, unfortunately, is ruined by the almost constant parade of white, in glaring to the eyes. The sound pickups of the chantings are not good."  Variety p14 My 27 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — + Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

COLLEEN. Mr T '36 105min Warner
Players: Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler, Joan Blondell, Jack Oakie, Hugh Herbert, Louise Fazenda, Paul Draper
Director: Alfred E. Green

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family." Jt Estimates Mr 1 '36
"Suitability: adults & adolescents." Mô Film Blue pô4 Ap '36
"Family." Nat Bd of R M Ap '36
"Objectionable in part." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 8 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Paul Draper's dancing serves to prop up the routine story of 'Colleen'. . . Ruby Keeler is an adept partner. Unfortunately, they are teamed only at the beginning and the end of the picture, which has many sagging stretches between." M. E. P.

"Boston Transcript" p4 Mr 28 '36

"Worth seeing, if only for Hugh Herbert's magnificent drollery. Mr. Herbert's remarkable creation, the demented millionaire Cedric Ames, is an exemplification of comedy at its most consummate. The remainder of the film consists of the fatuous whimperings of Ruby Keeler and the inescapable Dick Powell. Still, I wouldn't stay away." Robert Stebbins

- New Theatre p34 Ap '36

COMIN' 'ROUND THE MOUNTAIN. Ap 13 '36 55min Republic Players: Gene Autry, Ann Rutherford, Smiley Burnette
Director: Mack Wright
A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family—juvenile." Nat Bd of R M My '36
"General patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Ap 6 '36
"A, Y, and C." Interesting Western that carries one to California in the days of the Pony Express. Par M p12 Je '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Some grand horses and hills in this film will give the patrons of Westerns something to be interested in while waiting, miles ahead, for the plot to come round the mountain." Christian Science Monitor p15 Ap 18 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Crammed full of fast-riding, bronco-busting, and with a story that holds interest, this impresses as being above-the-average Western in general appeal. Family." Box Office p25 Ap 18 '36

"This yarn of a pony express rider is good, average Western stuff. It will please the youngsters and fully satisfy where this brand of entertainment is popular." Film Curb p17 Ap 4 '36

"An abundance of hard riding scenes, fair-to-middling singing by Gene Autry and Smiley Burnette and an absence of superfluous fighting makes this one a Class-A outdoor production." Film Daily p7 Mr 31 '36

"Falling into the classification of routine Western material, this has Mr. Autry, who seems equally adept with horse and voice, and an exciting moment or two in a race, Western style, to make it satisfactory entertainment as the second half of a double bill program. Its best playing position is probably the week-end, when the youngsters will be looking for action." Motion Pict Daily p4 Mr 27 '36

"Harking back to the era of the Pony Express with California as a background, this outdoor romance production combines the requisite component parts for well balanced fare for the invertebrate as well as the casual Western audience. . . The plot is typically Western with nothing new to distinguish it from numerous others. But the play doesn't detract from the presentation. . . Exploitation might be best directed toward children, but the production has material that will interest adults and adult patronage." Motion Pict Herald p97 Ap 11 '36

"This is a pleasant Western. . . Included are pleasant songs against gorgeous outdoor scenes, some fine action shots of horse flesh." N Y Exhibitor p35 Ap 25 '36

"Comedy and music have been added to this Western but the extra trimmings fail to save an implausible story. Director and most of cast have not helped it over the air pockets either. Its most profitable feeding ground will be on dealers, and then secondary. Also lacks name draw.

- Variety p15 Ap 29 '36

COUNTERFEIT. Je 12 '36 72min Columbia
Players: Chester Morris, Margot Grahame, Marion Marsh, Lloyd Nolan
Director: Erle C. Kenton
A treasury department operative worms his way into a gang of counterfeiters in order to capture them. While doing so he falls in love with the sister of one of the gang members.

Trade Paper Reviews

"Here is an interesting drama with plenty of box-office appeal, a good marquee name and a timely plot. The dialogue and direction are excellent, as are the performances. Family." Box Office p33 Je 13 '36

"Seems as if it would go over nicely in most any spot although perhaps not exactly fitted to the bigger situations. A satisfactory program feature in every way." Film Curb p1 Je 13 '36

"This fast moving opus will have no trouble pleasing audiences. William Rankin's story and the screenplay he did with Bruce Manning, dealing with counterfeiters who try to outwit treasury department operators, are good pieces of writing. Interest is increased at the outset and held until the end." Film Daily p4 Je 5 '36

"Here is a neat piece of entertainment guaranteed with pleasure to the fans and will fill its spot anywhere as much-better-than-average B product." Hollywood Reporter p3 Je 2 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; --- Mediocre; --- Poor; --- Exceptionally Poor
"Tapping a subject which has had but little picture attention, this unrolls as an interweaving melodrama with authentic flavor. The story... is an education in the working of government departments and seems accurately drawn.

+ Motion Pict Daily p12 Je 4 '36

"Estimate: fair program."
— Phila Exhibitor p24 Je 15 '36

"Exciting, suspenseful, convincingly presented, 'Counterfeit Entertainers' certainly is entertaining and care of itself satisfactorily as dual program entry anywhere below more the exclusive sectors.

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 Je 2 '36

COUNTRY BEYOND. Ap 24 '36 73min 20th Century-Pox
Players: Rochelle Hudson, Paul Kelly, Robert Kent
Director: Eugene Forde
Based on the novel of the same title by Julian Oliver Curwood. A melodrama of the Northwest Mounted Police.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A and Y: fairly good; C: perhaps."

Canadian Century p18 My 13 '36

"An entertaining and gripping drama of the great North Woods. Family & junior matinee."

Am Legion Auxiliary

"Remarkable for beauty of photography—that of the snow-covered Canadian Northwest and for the sustained action which develops an interest-holding story. 'The Country Beyond' is a picture which justifies high praise indeed. Family & junior matinee."

Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Mediocre. Mature."

DAR

"James Oliver Curwood's story of the great north woods becomes better and entertaining because of clever direction and scenic beauty of the country."

Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Clever dog actors add greatly to this picture which will please family audiences. Exciting for young children and those who do not thrill at a good fight."

Nat Soc of New England Women

"Family."

S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bui Ap 11 '36

"Family & junior matinee."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Mr 29 '36

"Excellent for family & junior matinees."

+ Jt Estimates Ap 1 '36

"Suitability: family; especially suitable for children under 16."

Mo Film Bui p86 My 9 '36

"Very good-family."

+ Motion Pict Guide Je '36

"It is a pity this picture, with its excellent opening scenes and its superb photography, should not have had a stronger plot to develop. The running to cover of the band of fur smugglers which promised high suspense in the beginning was more or less submerged beneath the love-making of two very plainly trademarked Hollywood actors... Adolescents, 12-16; yes; children, 8-12; possible."

+ Motion Pict R My '36

"Family."

Nat Bd of R M My '36

"Excellent for family & junior matinees."

+ Nat Council of Jewish Women Ap 1 '36

"A well-trained St. Bernard dog steals the picture. General patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Ap 30 '36

"A, Y and C: good melodrama of the Northwest with splendid outdoor photography."

Par M p12 Je '36

"Excellent for family & junior matinees."

+ Sel Motion Pict My 1 '36

"It is well above the average of such tales. Family."

+ Wkly Guide Ap 18 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"[It is] a simple action film of the sort that used to hold audiences enthralled back in the cinema's early exploit days. ... quite really stalks off with acting honors."

E. L.

Boston Transcript p23 My 29 '36

"Entertainment in the grand old manner... The story embodies nothing that has not been done a thousand times in every studio. But Eugene Forde uses his material understandingly and the application of man-to-man appeal."

Paul Jacobs

"The surprising thing about 'The Country Beyond' is that it's such an entertaining little picture. Certainly there are no surprises tucked away in the plot or characterizations. Though not a bright child of several could predict every story development, 'The Country Beyond,' due to its strikingly beautiful background and competent performances, comes as satisfying outdoor film fare."

(2 stars)

Liberty p16 My 23 '36

"If you ask for a smattering of adult thought in your picture fare and a mature performance, possibly another choice will be better... Paul Kelly, a fine young actor, is wasted in the part of Sergeant Cassidy, and Rochelle Hudson, in this opinion, could be used to greater advantage. The production is careful, however, and the snow-covered scenery is appealing."

Marguerite Tazelaar

— N Y Herald Tribune p12 Ap 30 '36

"The 'Country Beyond' is a straight action melodrama which is simply and with no great attempt to modernize it. The characters after all are like the plot, uncomplicated and following fairly true to type. The effect is that of a Western in Canadian settings; of its kind, the picture is well enough. It is certainly restful, which may be just another word for dull."

N Y Sun p28 Ap 30 '36

"If our conclusions about the film have not been clear up to this point, they may be simply restated: It seems to be mush ado about nothing."

J. T. M.

— N Y Times p17 Ap 30 '36

"The film has its lively and exciting moments, but there is not enough of them to lift it out of the so-so class... The real hero of the occasion is a St. Bernard dog named Buck, who easily steals all the acting honors."

William Boehnel

— N Y World-Telegram p29 Ap 30 '36

Reviewed by John Mosher

New Yorker p37 My 9 '36

"There's snow in them thar hills and whiskers on this here plot. Just about the time I had aptly decided that 'The Country Beyond' was fodder for the sticks, the preview audience at the Uptown began to storm, stomp and otherwise voice its approval when Virtue soundly belaboured Vice and the Mountie got his man." H. S.

Script p11 Je 6 '36

Time p58 My 11 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Powerful for those who like good, strong, he-man, outdoor drama. Fast direction, plus a good story, plus startling photography against a swell action background make this the best screen rendition of a James Oliver Curwood story to date. Family."

+ Box Office p23 Ap 18 '36

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
COUNTRY BEYOND—Continued

"Just an ordinary, and familiar tale of the Northwest. It contains nothing that hasn't been done time and again... If you have to play it book it in for the [juvenile] show..."

- + Film Curb p13 Ap 11 '36

"[It] should make nice program entertainment... The lack of big names keeps it in the program, as the dog story is great, [Children], especially, should go for this show." + Film Daily p7 Ap 7 '36

"This extremely well-made story of the Mounties in the great north woods has... that it takes for virtually universal entertainment. Probably a greater proportion of the theatre audience would vote this a swell little movie, or words to that effect, than would vote a preference for any other type. Only lack of box-office name strength will keep it from going high and it will cash in on word-of-mouth wherever it is played."

+ Hollywood Reporter p3 Ap 4 '36

"More or less run-of-the-mill action material, this should be found entertaining for those who like their film fare in a lively vein and should be especially liked by the younger's who will go for in a big way." + Motion Pict Daily p2 Ap 3 '36

"It's a pretty much formula Northwest Mounted Police romance and drama stuff. Though the various players give vivid performance, two dogs—one a hero, the other a menace—are the real stars of the show. Mainly an action picture, although abounding with expected substantiating effects, the picture is one that will probably appeal more to specialized action lovers and youngsters than to any other class of audience." + Motion Pict Herald p56 Ap 11 '36

"The Country Beyond" will be relegated to the juvenile departments. It is one of the finest houses be- cause it lacks star lustre. Neither heroine Huz- don nor hero Kent are strong enough to attract the young people. The show is weak in the neighborhoods than de luxe, the show falls into program category."

- + N Y Exhibitor p43 Ap 25 '36

"Apparently this is an experiment to see how the 'Thin Man' formula works on a mountie story. Answer is that it doesn't. The heavy, over-laborious play for comedy serves no other purpose than that of slowing down the development of the story. There is very little touch of humor in the feature and the dialog is poorly written."

- + Variety p18 My 6 '36

"The Country Beyond," with little of the James O'Hanlon flavor left, a routine B class picture, obviously developed as ad- olescent melodrama, suitable for neighborhood halls and juvenile patronage. Performances are prefatory, with exception of Paul Kelly." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 4 '36

COUNTRY DOCTOR. Mr 6 '36 110min 20th Century-Fox

Director: Henry King

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"This film is not at all what many of us may have expected. There is not a sensa- tional thing in the picture. It is a beau- tiful, moving plea for better hospital service in small communities."

+ Bks & Films Ap '36

"A: good; Y: very good; C: doubtful."

Century Pict 11 Ap 1 '36

"Family-mature."

Jt Estimates Mr 1 '36

"The story, if not entirely convincing, is at least ingenious, and the climax, introducing the Dionne quintuplets, is cleverly worked out. Suitability: Adults & adolescents."

Mo Film Bul p64 Ap '36

"Very good. Family-mature."

Motion Pict Guide Ap '36

"Family entertaining."

+ Nat Bd of R M Ap '36

"A and Y: moving human drama; C: they'll love Yvonne, Cecile, Marie. Annette, Emilie."

Par M p4 My '36

"Family-mature. Best of the month."

+ Sel Motion Pict Ap '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Quite apart from the climactic introduction of the Dionne quintuplets, producer Darryl Zanuck's skill in writing and directing, is distinguished entertainment... Commercialization by the motion picture of a human event has rarely been done in such a way that reality, such sensitivity, such warming human spirit. But, then, all of the elements existed for the required inspiration." + Cunningham

+ Commonweal p669 Mr 27 '36

"[It is] destined to be one of the greatest commercial successes of all time... The Country Doctor fills the always capable Jean Hersholt giving the finest performance of his career. (4 stars) Beverly Hills

Liberty p45 Ap 11 '36

"I don't see anything funny in childhood and have always been sickened by barrow shop jests in regard to it. So I was given pretty deep nausea by the slapstick Keystone comedy which the manufacturers of 'The Country Doctor' put into the birth of the quintuplets. Who vomits, the quintuplets, for the uninitiated, and the quintuplets, and the quintuplets. This is a great deal of diphtheria and similar tragedy in the early footage of this story, a little too strong for your weep ones, in my opinion, that's why I [ask] you not to take, as you might naturally suppose you ought." Don Herald

Life p24 My '36

"Home spun humor and sentiment, well mounted and acted; and since the Dionne Quints, showing only in the last static two reels, are really stunning babies, you can take this part as a sort of news feature, walking out when necessary." Otis Ferguson

New Repub p222 Ap 1 '36

"We never suspected we would be recommending this film. By all accounts 'The Country Doctor' promised such a Walter of baths and deluge of platitude as would leave the theatres soggy for months afterward. We can only report a well-devised tale about a country company doctor." Robert Stenberg

+ New Theatre p83 Ap '36

"[It is] an ordinary picture. The story of the quintuplets' birth forms the basis of a picture which has few, if any merits, beyond their appearance." Mark F. Frost

- + Sat R p736 Je 6 '36

"Pin another medal on Mr. Zanuck, and hand out a few to the ingenious script writers who managed to keep the Dionne plot and the quintuplets, and the quintuplets, and the quintuplets."

- Stage p10 Ap '36

+ Exceptionally Good; Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
Trade Paper Reviews

"Unquestionably the first thing an exhibitor should do toward selling this picture to his public is to see it... Nothing quite like it has come from the camera in a decade, if ever, and possibly no subject in the annals of showmanship has not been abused such a wealth of plain, wholesome human appeal. All of the honest, homespun, powerful adjectives and adverbs are used to describe the movie as a generation of exploitation best described as high-powered may be taken down from the top shelf, dusted off and applied without reservation by as many means and media as are or can be made available.

+ Motion Pict Daily p34 Je 10 '36

"Picture of sound program merit and more than ordinary interest because of its mercy killing theme... Problem has been stated for gripping emotional entertainment in story, direction, playing and fine craftsmanship. Exploitation angles are many and tie in with one of the headline controversies frequently in the news, helping to compensate for comparative lack of names. Should take care of itself nicely in almost any company on its own worth."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 Je 9 '36

COWBOY AND THE KID. My 22 '36 58min Universal Players: Buck Jones. Billy Burrud. Dorothy Revier
Director: Ray Taylor
A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"General patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency My 14 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Comedy in the form of pranks played by Buck Jones and his cowboy friends provides the highlight of this outdoor yarn, which ought to have no trouble pleasing the Western fans, especially the juvenile element."

+ Film Daily p29 Je 2 '36

"Though Jones stays off the horse more than usual, though the story gets more dramatic than in the usual Western, this ought to please Western advocates."

+ Phila Exhibitor p26 Je 1 '36

CRIME OF DR. FORBES. Jl 17 '36 75min 20th century-Fox
Director: George Marshall
A young physician, befriended by an older specialist, falls in love with the specialist's young wife. When the older man is seriously injured and pleads for an overdose of opiates to end his misery, the young doctor and two other doctors refuse him. After his sudden death, the young man is accused of a mercy murder but is freed when it is shown that the physicians had left the opiates which the specialist himself had taken. A verdict of suicide is then rendered.

Trade Paper Reviews

"Based on mercy killings, but with an ending that comes as a great surprise, this picture should be well received by all audiences as first-rate program fare."

+ Film Daily p24 Jl 18 '36

"The pros and cons of mercy killing threshed out dramatically in a diverse but continuously entertaining narrative that becomes a real play about half-way through. It is a well-made picture and, despite a lack of marquee magnetism and its drammaturgic flaws, it can be exploited and played well, a good box-office drawing card on the strength of its much-discussed subject. Chiefly it is a neighborhood asset and there it will shine."

+ Hollywood Reporter p3 Je 8 '36

"A sound, logical story, combining romantic love interest, comedy, a topical news headline and thrill-drama, it is intelligently produced and acted with realistic conviction. Basically an exploitation feature, the story content opens new paths to novel, interest-quickening publicity which, when approached from a controversial angle, place in the showman's hands a mass of unique advertising material."

+ Motion Pict Daily p14 Je 10 '36

"Based of the much-discussed murders, this melodrama is an entirely new concept in entertainment, and is being played with a lot of fervor and modest success."

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
CRIMSON CIRCLE. (Release date not determined) 80min Universal Players: Hugh Wakefield, Alfred Drayton.
Noah Beery, June Duprez
Director: Reginald Denham
Based on a novel of the same title by Edgar Wallace. "The story . . . details the unraveling of the mysterious machinations of a criminal organization. The unmasking of the bandit chief forms the pivot of the story." (Hollywood Reporter)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Suitability: adults." Mo Film Ad p61 Ap '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"Rather a verbose picturization of the Edgar Wallace thriller that speeds up, however, to a good finish and qualifies for moderately good entertainment." + Hollywood Reporter p4 Ap 9 '36

DANCING FEET. F 5 '36 89min Republic
Players: Ben Lyon, Joan Marsh, Eddie Nugent, Purnell Pratt, Vince Barnett
Director: Joseph Santley
Based on the novel of the same title by Robert Eden. When her stern grandfather forbids her to marry a boy, a wilful girl goes to a dance hall where she meets a young dancing instructor. Together they work out a plan for teaching dancing by mail order. When it becomes successful they overcome the grandfather's objections and marry.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"The story is well put over. . . Joan Marsh and Eddie Nugent have pleasant personalities. Suitability: family." + Mo Film Ad p64 Ap '36

"Unobjectionable for adults." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"This lively little screen play has some very good situations and clever dialogue." + Scholastic p30 Mr 7 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"Generally speaking, 'Dancing Feet' leans toward the insipid, we fear, rather than dizzy intellectual heights. Which may be the reason a large audience at the theater yesterday afternoon appeared to enjoy it. . . Only the vivacity of some of the performances, particularly those of Miss Marsh and Miss Isabel Jewell, save the piece from complete boredom." Marguerite Taza lar + Los Angeles Times p8 Mr 25 '36

"Dancing Feet" is a film to raise neither great enthusiasm nor resentment. It is just a picture to amuse the family audiences attracted in such crowds by the Roxy Theatre. They seemed to like it yesterday. It would be interesting to know how much of it they could remember today." Elsie Creedman + — N Y Sun p10 Mr 28 '36

"Dancing Feet" owes whatever slight effectiveness it may possess to the fact that, with strictly nothing to say, it never stops shouting at the top of its collective non-microphonic voice. This method makes for louder but hardly funnier farce comedy, which is probably the classification into which 'Dancing Feet' must be dropped." B. R. C.

— N Y Times p11 Mr 28 '36

Among the least entertaining of the springtime cinema attractions is 'Dancing Feet,' a generally preposterous little romance about a tap dancer and an heiress, which is made all the more inoffensive by some rather nonchalant direction and less than satisfactory acting. . . Except for a good performance by Isabel Jewell as a wise-cracking dance hall hostess, the acting is about as bedraggled as the film." William Boehnel

— N Y World-Telegram pl7 Mr 31 '36

DANCING PIRATE. My 22 '36 86min RKO
Players: Charles Collins, Frank Morgan, Steffi Duna, Luis Alberni
Director: Lloyd Corrigan
Music: Richard Rodgers, Lorenz Hart
Filmed in color. Based on a short story "Glorious Bucaneer" by Emma-Lindsay Squier. "The plot deals with a dancing master chanced upon by pirates. The time is in the early 1800's. The dancer escapes when the pirate ship puts in for water off the coast of California. Spaniards settle him in and make him a member of the pirate band and he is captured in a comic defense of the town." (Hollywood Reporter)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"A: enjoyable; Y: very good; C: good." + Christian Century p856 Je 10 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; ++ Mediocre; Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
“Director Corrigan has fulfilled a desire to give the sophisticated world something new and sweet for its jaded palate. Entire family.”

And now—Pleasant entertainment for the family.”

Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

“Mature—good.”

“[It is a] pleasantly entertaining story. Family.” E Coast Preview Committee

“A delectable opera bouffe made in color throughout, with particularly good dancing and comedy and authoritative details of Latin American life. Excellent for any audience.” Nat Soc of New England Women

“It is especially appropriate cast and whimsical direction have created a real novelty among music and dance films. Outstanding technicolor production. Family.” S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

“Adults; family; children. Fascinating entertainment for all ages.”

Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) p16 My 29 ’36

“I would add Dancing Pirate to the list of children’s films primarily because I think color films particularly interest young people. Our exhibition department has hailed it a ‘gay, romantic fantasy with unusual dances, vivid scenes and some good opera bouffe comedy.’”

Motion Pict & Family My 15 ’36

“As full of chuckles as a Gilbert and Sullivan opera, as light and fanciful as the tinkling music box which accompanies the agile steps of the dancing master, this is a delightful film from beginning to end. Some of the scenes are so lovely it would be a joy to see them over and over again. With the 12-16: excellent. children 8-12: excellent.”

Motion Pict R Je 36

“Family-Juvenile. Lively and pleasant, and the color the best, being the least intrusive, that a long film has had.”

Nat Bd of R M My ’36

“Technicolor, well directed and artistically executed dance numbers, and infectious music save the day for what might otherwise have proved mediocre entertainment. Family & Junior matinee.”

Nat Council of Jewish Women My 27 ’36

“General patronage.”

Nat Legion of Decency My 14 ’36

“Excellent for any audience.”

+ Je 18 ’36

“Lively and pleasant, and the color the best that a long film has had. Family-Juvenile.”

Wkly Guide My 2 ’36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“It is color that is the predominant element in ‘Dancing Pirate.’ . . . The result is most completely observed to observe, in the scenes that are supposed to take place at night. It is less admirable in such an episode as that of a ship at sea.” E. P. Melvin

+ Boston Transcript p4 My 16 ’36

“Robert Edmond Jones, probably the foremost scenic creator of the theatre, gives full expression to music in designing the color on this occasion, daubing deftly around the main characters, all capable.” J. P. Cunningham

+ Commonweal p104 My 22 ’36

“As a thing of beauty, the picture is a success. As a motion picture it is not. No color picture of equal length ever will be a success. The whole story of ‘Dancing Pirate’ could have been compressed within two reels . . . From a cinematic standpoint it is a dreary offering which will reduce color’s box-office value even when it is applied to the short subjects which form its legitimate place on the screen. . . . In defense of the story it must be said that it would take one of outstanding dramatic power to stand up against the competition of the impressive spectacles adorning the screen.”

Hollywood Spec p9 My 23 ’36

“Critics who keep one eye on their typewriters and the other on the box-office are going to back away from it. Critics not mused by any cares for the financial success of a picture, will like it. It uses both to the charm and sprightly safety of ‘La Cucaracha’—it is to be admitted that the plot is slender as window-glass, and that no irresistible star names are in the cast.”

Lit Digest p20 My 23 ’36

“(It) appears to be more of an experiment in color values than anything else. . . . The piece is relatively unimportant as original or outstanding entertainment. It is skilful, nevertheless, and professional in every aspect, from its score by Rodgers and Hart to its excellent performances, but, like so many Broadway’s musical comedies of the last few seasons, it is in substance empty.” Marguerite Tyszler

— + N Y Herald Tribune p16 Je 18 ’36

“(It) seems like nothing but a Vitaphone short story stretched to feature length. This is perhaps due to the continuous process of the score and dances, the lack of outstanding personality and entertainment cast and a certain lack of assurance in the production itself.”

— + N Y World-Telegram p14 Je 18 ’36

“The picture is shot entirely in technicolor, but comparatively far the best yet. Robert Edmond Jones hit brick in ‘Cucaracha’ in this one he has excelled his first success. . . . Do I favor? Well, that’s the way the picture got me. And there were a lot of me’s at the preview.”

Rob Wagner

+ + Script p10 Je 6 ’36

“We regret to announce that ‘Dancing Pirate’ is still fundamentally involved in creating absorbing screen composition in tender and/ or lurid hues and, as usual, the story goes ‘plonk,’ and it’s very hard to remember what it was all about. Some lovely effects are created, but we still can’t understand why that should be sufficient reason for throwing every other dramatic moment out of the window.”

+ + Stage p10 Je 13 ’36

“‘Dancing Pirate’ emerges as a lively and colorful nine-reeler. . . . (The) color is still bright and raw but far better suited to songs and dances than the less showmanly shades of nature.”

+ Time p24 Je 1 ’36

Trade Paper Reviews

“First full-length musical feature in Technicolor, this Pioneer production, for utter beauty and artistry, stands head and shoulders above anything previously done in tints. And, withal, it is a splendid picture, beautifully written, ably directed and deftly enacted—with top cast honors going to Frank Morgan—all of which will guarantee it a niche in the season’s best.”

+ Box Office p17 My 16 ’36

“Taken all in all this is top grade entertainment all the way. Any picture owner can book it, plug it and be sure he won’t disappoint his audiences in the least.”

+ Film Curb p11 My 16 ’36

“If for no other reason than to see the Technicolor as here presented, this picture shouldn’t be missed. The beauty and brilliance

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
DANCING PIRATE—Continued

of some of the color is astounding. Everyone concerned with the color job deserves every praise possible.'

Film Daily p7 My 8 '36

"It has gorgeous color, intelligently and sparingly used by Robert Edmund Jones, but little else to recommend it as a potentially great box-office attraction. It will have to be sold almost entirely upon the novelty of color. . . The screen future of Charles Collins, debuting here in the title role, remains somewhat of an unknown. He is a great novice, he being an excellent ability, but he is limited as an actor. . . Lloyd Corrigan's direction is open to criticism mainly in the matter of tempo. Yet his was a difficult assignment to cover lapses of interest in story.'

— Hollywood Reporter p8 My 6 '36

"Demonstrating conclusively that great strides have been made in the understanding of color application, especially in its relation to rapid movement, this production devotes a goodly portion of itself to exploiting the efficiency of that technical feature.'

Motion Pict Daily p6 My 7 '36

"Demonstration is made in this picture that much progress has been made both in theory and practice of color as an embellishing adjunct to feature productions. . . Previously, in the Pantages Theatre, Hollywood. The improved color technique made a visible impression on the audience. It has not only been enjoyed, but is a goodly show, and was enthusiastic about the work of Frank Morgan. Nevertheless, it seems to have lost some of the sequences in which the efficiency of color was being exploited were too long drawn out.'

Motion Pict Herald p33 My 16 '36

"In technicolor, this needs that angle to help sell because the cast lacks star lustre. Hero Charles Collins may be a good dancer but he is a newcomer known to movie-goers. So his heroine Steffi Duna. . . Once the patrons are in, they may find it generally enjoyable, but the show needs intensive selling. Placing the technicolor show under such a disadvantage merely added more handicaps for showmen."

— Variety (Hollywood) p5 My 6 '36

DESSERT GOLD. Mr 27 '36 55min Paramount

Players: Larry (Buster) Crabbe, Robert Cummings, Marsha Hunt, Tom Keene

Director: James Hogan

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"It is perhaps a little complicated for children under twelve to follow. . . stability: fairly; especially suitable for children under 16."

Mo Film Bul p56 My '36

"This one in a double bill will hold its place because of direct simplicity of plot, suitability in casting, and stirring scenes of excellent horsemanship. . . It is exciting but not too murderously for Adolescents. 12-16; probably enjoyable; children 8-12; exciting."

Motion Pict R Ap '36

"Family."

Nat Bd of R M Ap '36

General patronage.

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 8 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Here is a fast-action outdoor melodrama that is far above the average. . . There are plenty of fights, gun-play and all that goes into the making of an exciting Western.'

Film Curb p10 My 15 '36

"Outdoor melodrama of the 'A' type. Not only is it a painstaking job from a production standpoint, but story and cast are well above the usual rut, while James Hogan's direction keeps the action moving at a lively clip throughout.'

Film Daily p7 My 8 '36

"A juvenile comedian doing a sissy tenderfoot from the eastern shores and some novelty to 'Desert Gold' but otherwise this is just another Western made up of the usual ingredients which takes it out of the typed Western bracket and some corks comic antics by Warren Hymen add considerably to the entertainment values. Family."

Box Office p25 My 9 '36

"This latest of the Perrin series is an exceedingly fast-moving tale that will more than satisfy all lovers of outdoor dramas. With the yarn starting in the East and then moving to the West the story contains many thrilling sequences. The beauty of the scenery will make the hair of the head stand up of a dam.'

Film Curb p8 Ap 25 '36

"Good outdoor entertainment combines cop and Western themes for plenty of action and comedy. . . Throughout: Warren Hymen, who has a small part; gets over comedy that would rate high in any picture. Photography is unusually good."

— Variety Ap 21 '36

"Estimate: good Western."

N Y Exhibitor p26 My 10 '36

DESSERT PHANTOM. Mr 10 '36 60min Supreme

Players: Johnny Mack Brown, Sheila Manors, Karl Hackett

Director: S. Roy Luby

A western melodrama.

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
Audience Suitability Ratings

"General patronage."
 Nat Legion of Decency Ap 6 '36

"A, Y, and C: hardly and swift moving Western."
 Par M p42 Je '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"It has just about everything to make a high class Western. Johnny Mack Brown does very well in the lead role and the supporting cast do much to make the film the good one it is."
 + Film Curb p11 Mr 28 '36

"This is not only a first rate Western but a sweeter picture will prove. Loaded with suspense it keeps one guessing from beginning to end. Wherever outdoor pictures are played this should do very well. It is worthy of 'better dates."
 + Film Daily p4 Mr 21 '36

"Excellent harmonizing mystery with all of the elements of a first class Western puts 'The Desert Phantom' far ahead of its state righter class for cinch entertainment values, not only in the hinterlands where they like their Westerns hardy and fast, but in plenty of additional spots. If there were any lack of production fun in the picture, it fails to show, for it stacks up very favorably with some major B product."
 + Hollywood Reporter p3 Mr 18 '36

"Combining elements of mystery, suspense and romance, this picture emerges as an interesting action melodrama. The picture should please followers of outdoor stories."
 + Motion Pict Daily p20 My 1 '36

"The Desert Phantom' provides better than average entertainment for an independent Western. Will satisfy where the puzzle opera is standard program fare."

DESIRE. F 21 '36 89min Paramount
Players: Marlene Dietrich, Gary Cooper, John Halliday, William Frawley
Director: Frank Borzage

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Well cast and acted, with beautiful scenery, this picture will prove interesting to adults."
 Am Legion Auxiliary

"Adults: amusing; 11-15: sophisticated; 8-14: mature."
 Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good."
 DAR

"Adults & young people."
 E Coast Preview Committee

"Adults & young people."
 Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Mature."
 Nat Bd of R

"While the picture displays Gary Cooper as a likeable young chap and Marlene Dietrich a little more animated than usual, it also demonstrates the limitations of both; neither infuse any feeling of reality into this artificially contrived plot and treatment. Lavishly mounted, with beautiful locations, excellent photography and careful sound effects, but unfortunately general atmosphere is in questionable taste and future."
 Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Mature."
 Nat Soc of New England Women

"Too mature in material and spirit to appeal to the under-adult age."
 S Calif Counc of P Field, Church Women

"Sophisticated. Mature."
 Mrs T. G. Winter
 Fox W Coast Bul Mr 14 '36

"Adults."
 Jt Estimates Mr 1 '36

"This is a very entertaining picture; the dialogue and incidents are amusing, and though the pace is a little slow, when sentiment succeeds adventure, it is well constructed and directed. All the performances are well, Gary Cooper in particular; Marlene Dietrich, a '36."
 + Mo Film Bul p64 Ap '36

"Adults."
 Sel Motion Pict Ap '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"I sit in dumb entrancement before the fleeting, passing photos of Marlene Dietrich in 'Desire.' Even when her stories are no good at all, she puts on a good album worth looking at. Happens to be perhaps the best of all Miss Dietrich's portrayals on the Herold."
 + Life p22 Je '36

"'Desire' [is a] clever film which is not of the first order."
 Mark Van Doren
 + Nation p680 Ap 29 '36

"Desire' [is a] ... light and fast comedy, but becomes overcast with moral balance by the end of the day. On the whole the picture moves smoothly up through its middle part and then falls away of its own speed and luster. First it gets involved and then it gets goody-goody; and since everything that followed is anti-climax anyway it ends up being about as dull a picture as 'Wife Versus Secretary.' And this is too bad. If it had been possible to forget the letter of morality ... the film in some such abbreviated version would have been charming."
 Otis Ferguson
 New Repub p222 Ap 1 '36

"Lubitsch is one of the three great names that have appeared on the screen—second only to Clair, and third to Chaplin. In this deft and entertaining picture his influence, as producer, is felt behind Frank Borzage's direction in every detail—so much so that a good actor working under Lubitsch's guidance has a large chance of success."
 + New Statesman & Nation p328 Ap 4 '36

"At times the proceedings grow more than a little tiresome for Frank Borzage has liberated himself of a smart directorial job. The Lubitsch touches come off in many places. In fact, with some restraint 'Desire' might have been a genuine addition to the movie roster. But it is so hell-bent on sophistication that it actually achieves adolescence."
 + New Theatre p35 My '36

"That master of cinema urbanity, Ernst Lubitsch, who seems to have a predilection for picturesque jewel thieves, tells another gay, somewhat dangerous tale about their romantic activities in [this] delightful new comedy."
 Mr. Cooper + +
 + New York Herald Tribune p10 Ap 13 '36

"At last Hollywood has found what to do with Marlene Dietrich. Her latest picture 'Desire' is the gayest bit of comedy drama to arrive in town this season. 'Desire' is a brilliant comedy play that will work enough to insure a joyous Easter Week for the Paramount audiences. This is one film that's more fun to see twice than most productions once. I wonder how it would be a third time." Eileen Crane
Desire—Continued

"Permitted to walk, breathe, smile and shrug as a human being instead of a canvas for the Louvre, Miss Dietrich recuperates, in her new film, some of the freshness and gayety of spirit that were hers in The Blue Angel and other of her early successes. The picture is delicate and so is the picture. A one of the most engaging pictures of the season." F. S. Nugent

+ + N Y Sun p16 Ap 13 '36

"An equally skillful combination of silky writing, satiny acting and the best possible direction by Frank Borzage, Desire is the first gracefully light comedy drama that the talking pictures have known this year. You will love the subtle, delicate foil to your feel, as I do, you can see it several times, and you will find no fault in it, no instance of bad taste, no scene or situation which could have been developed with greater skill. Mr. Lubitsch as supervisor and Mr. Borzage as director have brought to it such a deftness of treatment that when you see it—and I hope you will—you will have a gloriously cock-eyed time. William Boehnel

+ + N Y World-Telegram p7 Ap 11 '36

"Marlene Dietrich and Gary Cooper are together again, after all these years since Moroc, apparently they belong together. Don't be late, for the beginning is a coker. Miss Dietrich and Mr. Cooper have not lost their talent for the representation of ardor, I assure you. They make a pretty picture together." John Mosher

Sat R p44 Ap 4 '36

"Desire"—ridiculous and misleading title—is the best film in which Miss Marlene Dietrich has appeared since she left Germany, and the most amusing film to be seen in London this week. Miss Dietrich is allowed to act in this film, and she sings, and what memories of the cheap alluring cabaret figure, the tilted top-hat, that husky voice recalls." Graham Greene

+ + Spec p66 Ap 3 '36

"The season's first sophisticated comedy, and the finest adult entertainment hereabouts. You will love the subtle, delicate foil to your feel, of Dietrich and Cooper under the steadying hands of Borzage and Lubitsch." + + Stage p16 Ap '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"The combination of Dietrich and Cooper is one that will open the safe vaults. The names on the marquee virtually insure that the picture has instant merit for big business. The two stars... work unusually well as a pair and in the script furnished them carry assignments that provide a fine fit for their talents." + Variety p16 Ap 15 '36

Devil's Squadron. My 1 '36 50min Columbia

Producers: Richard Dix, Karen Morley, Lloyd Nolan
Director: Erle C. Kenton

"Dix is a pilot with a shadowed record. He has been cashiered from Marine aviation corps on conviction of bailing out instead of dying with fellow pilot. Unjustly accused, he has taken new identity and is ace test pilot for planes being devised to sell to army." Variety (Hollywood)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"The photography is especially noteworthy for its spectacular shots of test pilots in action. Adults & young people. E Coast Preview Committee

"One might reasonably ask the question when viewing this remarkable picture: 'What price aviation?' Entertainment and technical demonstrations are to a good picture for the family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women + Fox W Coast Bui My 30 '36

"Mature." + Nat Bd of R M Je '36

"Family, but not for nervous children." Nat Council of Jewish Women My 20 '36

"Generally patronage." + Nat Legion of Decency My 21 '36

"Mature." Wky Guide My 9 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The ghastly crashes may be too much for some spectators." E. C. S. Christian Science Monitor p15 Je 6 '36

"That unsung hero of the airplane industry, the test pilot, has his story told by a grisly hour or so in 'Devil's Squadron,' a film distinguished by some excellent shots of stunt flying and some accompanying romance which does not run off at the deep end." J. T. M. N Y Times p16 My 11 '36

"The only novelty in the Dix picture is one of numbers—four ships are crashed. Columbia, who produced it, is an enterprising studio and a proud one; they are not going to let their customers down with one or two or even three measly crackups. But so superb is Hollywood's mechanical technique, so expert its bokum, the story speeds across the screen like a bomber." Douglas Gilbert + + N Y World-Telegram p17 My 12 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Produced and directed adequately from an average story and an average screen play, this falls into the class of average programmers. Family." + + My Office p25 My 9 '36

"An exciting and at times thrilling melodrama of test pilots, although a rather gloomy story. There are deaths in burning planes. The suspense is there and the picture probably will do okay in many situations." + Film Curb p6 My 2 '36

"Strong action story on aviation subject packs good punch for the male trade in particular." + Film Daily p12 My 12 '36

"It is a smart idea but the picture has weaknesses of production that will keep it out of the real money class. As a programmer, however, it can be counted on for satisfaction in the less critical areas." + Hollywood Reporter p4 Ap 27 '36

"Here is a melodrama of airplane test pilots drawn against a background of stark tragedy. Though climaxed by an heroic episode, the picture is leavened through a series of grim crash accidents. In portraying the hazards and dangers that are experienced by the men, the writer develops plenty of excitement of the brand that causes people to gather through morbid curiosity at the scene of any catastrophe. The production should
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

DON BOSCO. My 26 '36 88min Lux
Players: Gian Paolo Rosmino, Ferdinando Bayer, Maria Vincenza Stifti
Director: Goffredo Alessandrini
Dialogue film in Italian with English subtitles. [It has] the biography of a peasant boy who became a celebrated educator, a priest, and the founder of the Salesian Order. Forty-six years after his death in 1866, he was canonized to sainthood by Pope Pius XI. (N Y Sun)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"[It is an] inspiring presentation of the life of a modern saint. General patronage." + Nat Legion of Decency My 21 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The performance has dignity, and while the film is not story entertaining, it should attract a specialized audience." Marguerite Tazelaar N Y Herald Tribune p45 My 27 '36

"[It has] a decidedly limited appeal. . . . The picture, perhaps because of the deeply religious spirit evinced throughout it, is more interesting than its outline. The simple tale is related with a tender exposition and a faith that marvels at miraculous visions, but does not doubt them. . . . The pace of direction, however, is painfully slow to movie-goers used to Hollywood tempo. Each scene takes a long time to pass a given point, and the entire production needs ruthless cutting down. The solemnity and sincerity of its religious sequences give the film its real dignity." Eileen Credman + N Y Sun p33 My 27 '36

"Done in a reverent spirit, but free from any air of sanctimoniousness, this picture is well worth seeing. Its lack of exciting incident is compensated for by the fine presentation of its religious performances. The acting of the principals is virtually faultless, and the support is excellent." H. T. S. + N Y Times p27 My 27 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Exceptionally fine acting and good photography round out the merits of the film, which ranks among the most worthwhile of foreign importations." + Film Daily p10 My 28 '36

"Exceptionally Good; Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor

"Except for the fact of offering an interesting picturization of the life of a great humanitarian and saint, the film has little in it which will recommend it to the average American audience. Patrons of Italian descent, however, should find much in the film to interest them. There are a sufficient number of English subtitles to make for ready understanding." Motion Pict Daily p6 My 28 '36

DON'T GAMBLE WITH LOVE. F 15 '36 65min Columbia
Players: Ann Sothern, Bruce Cabot, Irving Pichel and Ian Keith
Director: Dudley Murphy
See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A slow moving production, with an artificial plot, lacking expertise in both its acting and direction. Adults & young people." E Coast Preview Committee

Fox W Coast Bui Ap 15 '36

"There is nothing new in the treatment of this story, and the theme is certainly not new. Each move can be foretold by the average film-goer, who will find it difficult to maintain his interest in the characters and their problems. Suitability: adults & adolescents." — Mo Film Bui p65 Ap '36

"General patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 8 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"A smooth film that builds itself up quickly to a smash climax with little let-down throughout its continuity. The story abounds with punch situations. Adults." + Box Office p33 Ap 25 '36

"Impressive performances by Ann Sothern, Bruce Cabot, Irving Pichel and Ian Keith in top bracket dignify this rather familiar story of domestic [separation] on the issue of gambling and give it sufficient emotional tension for good program rating." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 11 '36

DON'T GET PERSONAL. F 17 '36 85min Universal
Players: Sally Eilers, James Dunn, Pinky Tomlin
Director: William Nigh
See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: thin; Y: perhaps; C: no." Christian Century p478 Mr 25 '36

"A rather boresome picture. Family." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Mediocre-unwholesome. Waste of time. Adult." DAR

"Pleasing entertainment. Adults & young people." E Coast Preview Committee

"Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

Trade Paper Reviews

"A: thin; Y: perhaps; C: no." Christian Century p478 Mr 25 '36

"A rather boresome picture. Family." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Mediocre-unwholesome. Waste of time. Adult." DAR

"Pleasing entertainment. Adults & young people." E Coast Preview Committee

"Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs
DON'T GET PERSONAL—Continued

"The adventures of the three and an unexpected audience make an amusing farce for the average program. Family." Nat Soc of New England Women

"The action is swift and the whole provides light entertainment. Family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bul Mr 28 '36

"Family."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Mr 14 '36

"The quaint singing of Pinky Tomlin and the clowning of Sally Eilers and James Dunn are not enough to compensate for sorry plot. Family. (DAR and Women's University Club rate this adult.)"

Jt Estimates Mr 15 '36

"Suitability: family."

Mo Film Bul p65 Ap '36

"The combination of James Dunn and Sally Eilers has charmed many people in the past, but it is powerless to raise this tiresome story to the level of acceptable entertainment. It is a light farce composed of unlikely situations. . . Some bits are ludicrous, but in the main the humor is forced and crude; good photography and settings are wasted on a poor theme. Adolescents, 12-16: waste of time; children, 8-15: no."

Motion Pict R Ap '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"This spontaneously-amusing comedy replete with good, honest laughs, is made to order for mass appeal. While the plot is a never-to-be-taken-seriously bit of nonsense, it keeps moving at a fast pace and puts audience in a happy frame of mind Family."

Box Office p25 Ap 11 '36

"Entertaining secondary feature lacking in marquee strength for single runs."

Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 6 '36

DOUGHNUTS AND SOCIETY. Mr 27 '36 63min Mascot

Director: Lewis D. Collins

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A and Y: slapstick comedy that is slightly reminiscent of the old Mack Sennett plays; C: if interested."

Par M p12 Je '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Those two dependable comedians, Louise Fazenda and Maude Eburne, take this slapstick farce and romp away with it, meanwhile extracting every ounce of laugh material and keeping audience amused by their knockout methods. Family."

Box Office p57 Ap 5 '36

"It's a nice little bit of entertainment that will do well in the smaller situations. . . Amusing, light stuff that neighborhood audiences generally like."

Film Curb p13 Mr 21 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

DRACULA'S DAUGHTER. My 22 '36 74min Universal

Director: Lambert Hillyer

"The story deals with a vampire who creates a reign of terror by emerging at night to satisfy a blood-curdling obsession and leaving a trail of dead." Motion Pict Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"By the powerful use of every device of lighting, sound effects, and symbolism, Director Hillyer has made this gruesome thriller horrifyingly enthralling, and it doubtless will show to full houses with audiences-in-waiting. Adults only." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Addicts of the occult-and-horror school of film will appreciate the strikingly imaginative achievements of scenarist, director and cameraman which result in a film outstanding of its unpleasant kind. Adults: matter of taste; 14-18: doubtful; 8-14: no." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Adults—good." DAR

"Mature." Nat Bd of R

"Mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"This weird and exotic presentation of psychic manifestations will afford interesting and thrilling entertainment for those who delve into psychic research. The picture is the result of excellent casting and study and is throughout thought-provoking and distinctly mature in theme and development. Mature." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bul My 15 '36

"Too morbidly exciting for the family but will entertain adults who like this form of drama. Adults."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 17 '36

"Audiences for this film should be strictly limited to mature persons whose nerves are steady and capable of quick comeback. Mature."

Jt Estimates My 1 '36

"The ethical or social value is slight, although evil influences are vanquished in the end. Apparition depends on the value the individual places on the strange and eerie. Many will thoroughly enjoy it, and others consider it a zero in work in entertainment. Adolescents, 12-16: too strong; children, 8-12: terrifying."

Motion Pict R Je '36

"Anything so deeply embedded in the superstitions of the race as vampirism is (and its hold on the imagination is still tremendous) must have in it the stuff for something much more important than paste-board melodramas." J. S. H.

— + Nat Bd of R M Je '36

"Adults."

Nat Council of Jewish Women My 6 '36

"Adults."

Nat Legion of Decency My 21 '36

"A highly entertaining and interesting horror story, produced in a dignified manner, carefully directed and well acted. Mature."

++ Wdly Guide My 9 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Terror hangs over the whole cast incessantly. It is well done but the very young or very nervous had best beware."

++ Canadian M p61 My '36

"Miss Holden, upon whom lay the complete burden of producing this movie from phantasy, achieved a brilliant blending of the human elements with the subtle aura of weirdly malign powers, the chilling sweep of things unspoken. Her work bears the stamp of unguessable abilities. She is definitely a great find. ... The student of genre will find a wealth of study material in the penetratively intelligent synthesis of Miss Gloria Holden." — Paul Jacobs, Hollywood Spec p12 My 9 '36

"Lambert Hillyer's direction is admirable for its speed and consistency. While he fails to convert one to the belief in vampires, he gives his Death Drifters a Blue Beard's ring—and who could ask for more? We could, though, and do, ask Universal to refrain from the present from more, and even better, Draculas." — Margaret Tazelaar, N Y Herald Tribune p8 My 18 '36

"Quite terrifying it all is, to be sure, and we strongly recommend your stopping off at a near-by florist to buy a few sprays of batthorn to hold protectively over your head as the witches bowl on it screen and hooded figures drift through the eddy fog." — F. S. Nugent, N Y Times p14 My 18 '36

"Gloria Holden does a lovely piece of work as the countess. ... Otto Kruger, usually a capable actor, seems to muffle his role as the doctor who makes all the women go to the harem. Perhaps the part is too serious for him. But don't let it bother you, the picture is an effective musical. Carry Griffith is a stays-two-feet-high female. ..." — Variety p6 My 19 '36

"With the aid of Director Lambert Hillyer, Garrett Fort managed ways of frigidairing the spine, elicting from pressingly young females. My prime quibble with these 'fantastic' screen sagas is the fact that they aren't sufficiently 'spooky.' Holden draws a boldly lined figure of the blood-justing lady." — H. S. Script p11 Je 6 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"A successful sequel and a better picture than its predecessor, the original 'Dracula.' Although eerie and true to the vampire tale it is based on, this yarn is plausible and intelligently handled. Horror is at no time deliberately forced. Adults." — Box Office p17 My 16 '36

"There's plenty of the weird, thrill stuff in this one which has been well handled by all concerned. ... They'll squeal at much of the action and some of the eyeball stuff." — Film Curb p13 My 9 '36

"Not only because the name of Dracula is still fresh enough in the movie-public mind—but also because the present adaptation is an exploitation picture aimed at folks who like the eerie stuff, and this clientele will get full satisfaction from it." — Film Daily p10 My 18 '36

"With the stout box-office success of 'Dracula,' 'Frankenstein' and the other chillers on Universal's list a number of other horror films is a safe bet that this latest one will make money. It is, in fact, one of the very best in its class. It sustains suspense without too much straining of credulity and weaving a spell of conviction by clever use of a pseudo-scientific patter, seldom used by a just-right cast." — Hollywood Reporter p3 My 2 '36

"A creditable successor to the original, 'Dracula's Daughter' makes its debut as an efficient chiller, packing a nightmare twist that is certain to please the horror patrons. Bearing in mind that the film has been developed to a great exploitation picture, it should have little trouble, packing them in where mystery thrillers go." — Movie Daily p22 My 4 '36

"A picture of creeps and chills, this production has its bid for entertainment and commercial success upon the unusual and potent appeal of terror and thrill situations. A worthy sequel to the shuddery 'Dracula,' memory of which is still vivid, it is built of eerie and weird material, which, quite smartly, is more spine-tingling in character than terror inspiring." — Motion Pict Herald p12 My 9 '36

"Horror followers will be plenty satisfied. So will exploitation people play its exploitation possibilities to the hilt." — Phila Exhibitor p47 My 15 '36

"This is a chiller with plenty of ice; a sure-fire wakery opener in the theater, and one that will stand up with the best of its macabre predecessors at the pay window seems assured. ... Garrett Fort must be given high credit for concocting a story ... [which is] well nigh perfect drama." — Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 2 '36

DRAGNET. Ap 15 '36 64min Burroughs-Tarzan
Players: Rod La Rocque. Marian Nixon. Betty Compson
Director: Vin Moore

Based on the play of same title by Willard Mack. "[It details the conflicts between the district attorney's office and an exclusive circle of influential crooks." — (Hollywood Reporter)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"[It is] a mediocre gangster's tale with [an] ordinary solution. Adults." — Nat Legion of Decency My 21 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"It is not big-time stuff but should do nicely in the smaller situations and on the dual bills. There is nothing new in the story which has been done many times since Mack wrote his version." — Film Curb p6 Ap 4 '36

"A cast of good trouper does its best with the familiar material provided in this story, but lack of novelty or anything in the way of a big punch holds it to secondary spot classification, although the production of horror itself is a generally workmanlike job." — Film Daily p11 My 13 '36

"The piece is above the average [independent feature] in cast, direction and production and would go forward profitably in double harness if its plot material were not so hackneyed. As it is, it serves well as a support number in the smaller houses." — Hollywood Reporter p3 Mr 30 '36

"Forced dramatic and comedy situations portrayed by Rod La Rocque, Marian Nixon and Betty Compson in generally inadequate roles are of no avail in the unwinding of this tale of underworld doings. The production bears the marks of taste and expenditure, evident in the sets and other accoutrements. It is definitely without the free-flowing of the earlier version." — Motion Pict Daily p9 Ap 28 '36

"Since the crooks vs. law angle is hardly new, new selling angles will have to be used to lift this out of its present classification; as it stands, the picture is best fitted for the twin bill houses." — N Y Exhibitor p26 My 10 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
DRAGNET—Continued

"A lot of theatrical water has flowed under the box office bridge since Willard Mack wrote the stage play, 'The Drag-Net,' and the one-time sweeping success looks but feebly bid as entertainment... Picture will find its level in remoter multiple bill regions." — Variety (Hollywood) p5 Ap 8 '36

DUBROVSKY. Mr 29 '36 80min Lenfilm
Players: Boris Livanof. E. Samarin-Elsky. N. Monakhof
Director: A. V. Ivanovsky
A dialogue film in Russian with English subtitles. Made in Russia to commemorate the centenary of the death of Alexander Pushkin. The film is based on Pushkin's novel of the same title. "It is about a proud landowner who, when he is deprived of his estates by his enemies, gets his revenge by organizing a band of muzhiks and turning into a sort of Russian Robin Hood." (N Y World-Telegram)

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Dubrovsky" is the perfect Byron of Pushkin's imagination. And a powerful way Pushkin's imagination that 'Dubrovsky' neither more nor less to say about the Marxist war 'Byron' definitely comes. I do not happen to know what standing Pushkin has at the moment as a revolutionary, but the question is no less important in view of the completeness with which his tone has been taken in this film. The hero is purely, in the romantic sense, an individual; he has no class significance that I can see." — Nation p492 Ap 15 '36

"It would be gratifying to be able to report that in this film we had another prize-winner... 'Dubrovsky,' however, gives us no such opportunity. The novel is obviously the stuff that good films are made of but whatever merits it possesses are more than canceled by a routine, unimaginative transcription and a variety of stagey histrionics that is fortunately rare in most Russian products." — New Theatre p35 My '36

"Outside of the fact that it is, so far as I know, the first Bolshevik photoplay to have a landowner, even though a disinherited one, for a hero, and that its love story is merely Hollywood with a Muscovite accent, [it] has little to attract one's or hold attention. It has some lively scenes of the horse opera school, but it decidedly belongs among the minor achievements of the Second-Five-Year Plan." — Richard Watts, Jr.

— N Y Herald Tribune p10 Mr 30 '36

"'Dubrovsky' is a well-made and entertaining film giving the spectators an approximate idea of life on the big Russian estates about 150 years ago. Photographed in the best Russian style and acted faultlessly by all concerned, this movie is well worth seeing." — H. T. S.

— N Y Times p17 Mr 30 '36

"It is, of course, mere repetition to state again that when the Soviet films are good they are extraordinarily good and that good and that when they are bad they are woefully mediocre, but the fact remains that such is the case and that 'Dubrovsky' is definitely goes under the latter classification. Indeed, small excuse can be found for such a ragged narrative and such sloppily direction and second-rate photography." — William Boehnel

— N Y World-Telegram p17 Mr 31 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

[It is an] entertaining story." + Film Daily p1 Ap 1 '36

"The result is active, if somewhat unimpressive as literary and cinematic go. By little or no office eddy, and suitable, it would appear, only to those whose sympathies are with the Russia of today. The theme is as usual with the Soviet importations, the protest, armed or otherwise, of the lower orders against the crass-overlordship of the nobility." + — Motion Pict Daily p3 Ap 11 '36

EARLY TO BED. Je 5 '36 75min Paramount
Players: Mary Boland. Charlie Ruggles. George Barbier. Gall Patrick
Director: Norman McLeod
"Ruggles [is cast] as a clerk who sees promotion after twenty-six years on the same job in the employ of a ruthless manufacturer. His courtship of Miss Boland finally takes, after twenty years of romantic association. Married, he combines business with his honey-moon by taking Miss Boland to a health resort. A love nest is set up and plans to make an office coup by selling big merchant, George Barbier, several million glass eyes." Motion Pict Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

'A: amusing; Y: very good; C: good.'

Christian Century p87 Je 17 '36

"Enjoyable entertainment for the family." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 6 '36

"A rippling comedy that is only possible with these stars. General patronage." + Nat Legion of Decency Je 11 '36

"It is] a highly amusing comedy. Family." + Wkly Guide Je 6 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"This is a smart little comedy which at times becomes farcical without changing the way and becoming an out-and-out farce comedy. You will like 'Early to Bed.' It is not a big picture, but it will make you laugh, and that is something." + Hollywood Spec p10 Je 6 '36

"[It is] a frivol of no painstaking plot but eminently satisfying as screen fare. The plot, indeed, is so light it might almost be described in a score of words." + Lit Digest p21 Je 6 '36

"Although strictly for neighborhood consumption, this is the kind of trailer for that masterpiece of comedy that may some day be written about the science of psychoanaly.

"It is] above the average for double bill comedy." + Time p40 Je 8 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Unusually original laugh fare that brings out the Ruggles-Boland team in all its sappy glory. Taken from a story that abounds with out-of-the-ordinary situations, this should help perpetuate the comedy combination. Family." + Box Office p68 My 30 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
"The laugh sequences follow one another at a fast clip. 'Bed' is enough to keep any audience in rare good humor. Will fit in nicely in any situation."

- Film Curf p2 My 30 '36

"Mary Boland and Charlie Ruggles' latest comedy riot brings forth seventy-five minutes of laughter in every form possible with most of the time being spent on the stage. There is hardly a minute for relaxation with hilarious situations following each other in rapid succession. Mary Boland and Charlie Ruggles fit with every type of audience, for the comedy is wholesome as well as funny."

- Film Daily p9 My 22 '36

"This is surely a tonic for every depressive ailment. As an effective laugh-getter it surpasses all the Mary Boland-Charlie Ruggles farce comedies thus far. The situations and the supporting dialogue are aimed carefully and craftily at the solar plexus and succeed hilariously in hitting the mark. . . The film is top notch for any box office in all spots."

- Motion Pict Daily p6 My 22 '36

"A field day for the Ruggles-Boland combination, this will depend on their draw for its grosses. The picture, otherwise, is a farce that ought to be plentifully pleasing, especially to families."

- Phila Exhibitor p23 Je 1 '36

"There is one sure test for good comedy: does it make folks laugh? By that token 'Early to Bed' is one of the best. It is filled with solid guffaws, projected by those expert comedians, Mary Boland and Charles Ruggles for the benefit of their well-prepared audience. There is business, both in the solo spots and as duals from the most exclusive zones to the general targets."

- Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 21 '36

EDUCATING FATHER. Jl 10 '36 58min 20th century-Fox

Players: Jed Prouty, Shirley Deane, Dixie Dunbar, Spring Byington, Kenneth Howell

Director: James Tinling

"The action starts when Jed Prouty, head of the tribe, insists that his eldest son, Kenneth Howell, in the drug business, and abandon his own ideas to become a flirter. When the boy disobeys and gets into trouble, the flying end is mostly serious matter. Howell promises to remain on the drug, but breaks his pledge to get Prouty back from a fishing trip in time to save the drug store lease." — Motion Pict Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family & junior matinee. The picture is replete with humor, suspense and interest and the whole cast under sympathetic direction give very human and appealing characterizations."

- Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Je 1 '36

"A sequel to 'Every Saturday Night,' this picture in spite of its juvenile and 'Eabbitish' flavor proves pleasant and wholesome entertainment. . . Suitable for the family & junior matinees."

- Nat Council of Jewish Women Je 3 '36

"General patronage."

- Nat Legion of Decency Je 18 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"This picture comes under the heading of good clean fun, with lots of laughs and comedy, plenty of thrills and a marquee full of good performances."

- Box Office p33 Je 13 '36

"[It] will have to be content with the twin bills and the neighborhoods."

- Film Curf p14 My 30 '36

"The Jones family is again presented in an entertaining picture of small town family life. For the family and neighborhood trade, it should please well. . . Except for a flying scene which is overlong and in spots too slap-sticky, the piece holds true to form as an episode in the life of a regular family."

- Film Daily p7 My 23 '36

"It is good family fare for the small towns and the deserterning neighborhoods, at which it is aimed. . . The development of this made-to-order narrative . . . is safely in character, conforming to the small-town flavor with success, and it would have seemed quite real if the direction by James Tinling had not raised its key to a somewhat forced and stilted note. Over-emphasis of emotional elements throws a ton of amusing and human little oops that is told with spirit and enacted by a cast that seems to have stepped right out of your own home town."

- Hollywood Reporter p3 My 20 '36

"This second offering in the Jones family series is a pleasing comedy and should sustain interest despite a slight plot. [It] is entirely suitable for smaller communities and neighborhoods, of which the Jones family is a part."

- Motion Pict Daily p2 My 21 '36

"A wholesome combination of domestic comedy drama and thrill action, this number two in the American family series looks as desirable entertainment for audiences in which its trade name intends it."

- Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 20 '36

"Undeterred by the fact that no cheering greeted the family in the first of this series, 20th-Century-Fox has now made the second, which also emerges as neighborhood, twin bill material."

- Phila Exhibitor p26 Je 1 '36

"It should find a welcome program spot wherever home folk seek wholesome entertainment based on the commonplaces of everyday life. . . More of the thin youthful romance, however, would have been acceptable, and a little less of the sky stunting, which is held too long for anticipated comedy."

- Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 20 '36

EVERYBODY'S OLD MAN. Mr 20 '36 84min 20th century-Fox

Players: Irvin S. Cobb, Rochelle Hudson, Johnny Downs, Norman Foster

Director: James Flood

"[The] story deals with a manufacturer who loses interest in business upon the death of his life-long competitor. He takes a vacation and in the long trip learns the necessity of being himself up as a little Napoleon who regards his uncle as a has-been. So the old man takes over the affairs of the heirs of the rival factory, forcing his nephew to say 'Uncle.'"

- Hollywood Reporter

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: rather good; Y: amusing; C: little interest."

- Christian Century p616 Ap 29 '36

"Family," Am Legion Auxiliary

"The story-pattern is not new, but the cast comes to life in pleasant fashion. Family." — Ciff Cong. & Teachers

"Good, Amusing; fine direction, Mature-family." — DAR

"The cast is generally capable and the direction intelligent, but the production suffers from lack of novelty and apparent plausibility, Family." — E Coast Preview Committee

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; +--- Fair; +--- Mediocre; -- Poor; --- Exceptionally Poor
EVERYBODY'S OLD MAN—Continued

"A thoroughly entertaining picture. Family." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Family." Nat Bd of R

"The direction maintains interest in spite of the fact that the entire plot is predictable in the opening sequences. Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

Family, Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"The one flaw in the picture is the continuous drinking by the young people. It is introduced to emphasize the moral lesson. It is regrettable, the role is not used that would have been just as efficient. Family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

For W Coast Bul Mr 21 '36

"Family.

Jt Estimates Mr 15 '36

"Suitability: family." Mo Film Bul p86 My '36

"Adolescents, 12-16: good; children, 5-12: little interest. Motion Pict R Ap '36

"Family." Nat Bd of R M Ap '36

"General patronage." Nat Legion of Decency M 8 '36

"The story-pattern is not new, but the cast comes to the picture in pleasant fashion. Family." Sel Motion Pict Ap '36

"For those who like Irvin S. Cobb as an actor. Family." Wkdy Guide Mr 14 '36

NewsPaper and Magazine Reviews

"It gives audiences a laugh a minute." Laura Elston

+ Canadian Mag 42 Mr '36

"There is nothing new in the story from which 'Everybody's Old Man' was made, and Irvin Cobb comes a long way short of being a good actor, yet the picture is thoroughly enjoyable. From the first the story is obvious. . . Pat McNutt and A. E. Thomas, writers of the screen play, are to be congratulated upon the unique manner in which they refuse to think up anything new and the expert manner in which they used everything old in fabricating as amusing a little comedy as one could wish for. . . Put this picture on your list if those to see. You will have a pleasant time." + Hollywood Spec p9 Mr 14 '36

"As a mirror of industrial methods, 'Everybody's Old Man' could scarcely be called realistic. But as unpretentious entertainment of the papa-knows-best sort the film is pleasing and full of quiet laughs, even though papa himself, beneath his benign exterior, remains a vicious robber baron. (3 stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p51 Ap 18 '36

"[Irvin Cobb] turns actor in 'Everybody's Old Man' and knocks a three-bagger. . . It goes down surprisingly smoothly, and the idea of his getting himself a job in a rival canning factory and running his own business simply to show up his upstart nephew who is managing it, is extremely amusing." Don Herald + Life p26 Je '36

"Although 'Everybody's Old Man' has been filmed before, as 'Workingman, with George Arliss in the leading role, this story probably will be found refreshing still—especially by an older generation that believes its ways are the only ones. The story has many touching and sentimental moments for picture fans who like to cry a little. . . Mr. Flood directs the picture with his customary conscientiousness, offering a sedately-paced story, convincing in its details, and warmly human. . ." Zanuck Tribune p15 Mr 26 '36

"Mr. Cobb's second feature puts him in the role George Arliss played so gently and typically several years ago. . . The story is still gentle, but Mr. Cobb's personality, if it lacks the acid comedy of Mr. Arliss, has its own pleasing quality of its own. This second version is the more amusing. . . Although Mr. Cobb keeps his wishes to himself under this guise, 'Everybody's Old Man' has its full quota of sighs, sentimental allusions, and old portraits. It has also some grand touches. This laconically uttered by Mr. Cobb, and some amateurish performances by Rochelle Hudson and Johnny Downs." Eileen Creelman + N Y Sun p28 Mr 26 '36

"After a glance at 'Everybody's Old Man' it becomes difficult to understand why Holly- wood has failed to star the noted humorist [Irvin S. Cobb] long before this. . . He has suc- ceeded in imparting a homely and genuinely American flavor to a character depicted some- what more urbanely by George Arlais when the story was first filmed as 'The Working Man' in 1933." J. T. M. + N Y Times p27 Mr 26 '36

"Although the film's complications include all the staple elements of homespun comedy, it also contains moments of keen observation. . . Let's call it a minor lark that is occasionally mildly clever." William Boehnel + + N Y World Telegram p1 Mr 26 '36

"There is actually a good deal of nonsense in 'Everybody's Old Man,' but we are expected to take it in all seriousness. . . Whatever Mr. Cobb's faults may be, Mr. Cobb is a good time playing with it. However, Mr. Cobb, being after all, no Garbo, can hardly carry a picture that is prettily poor at bottom, and make it any great go." John Mosher + + New Yorker p37 Ap 4 '36

"Everybody's Old Man is a typical Will Rogers vehicle in which Cobb plays in the Rogers tradition, italicizing the laughs and slapping the sentiment on thick. As well-written family fare, it may establish a new screen personality." Time p34 Mr 30 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"This is a first feature vehicle for Irvin S. Cobb and it is good program entertainment. Fairly. . ."

+ Box Office p27 Mr 21 '36

"Irvin Cobb's debut as a full-fledged actor is not altogether auspicious due to poor story material. . . This plot has it that the seen and the unseen, many, many times and no new twists are apparent in this telling. . . The star lacks a good deal when it comes to both of these. The idea is probably that of building him up to do the late Will Rogers stuff, it may be forgotten." Film Curb p3 Mr 14 '36

"Irvin S. Cobb clicks as star of excellent comedy with strong cast support." + Film Daily p9 Mr 27 '36

"Not a Zanuck special, but a pleasant even- ing's entertainment, due for consistent grosses wherever it plays. It is extremely well written, nicely directed and played for all that is in it. . . Irvin Cobb is a character rather than a characterization. . . The cast works agreeably. . . He seems to be enjoying himself hugely and his enjoyment is infectious. Momentarily, you can see him to look directly into the camera and say, 'Unaccustomed as I am to public acting.' . . Nonetheless, Cobb is a name to be reckoned with on theater marquees." + Hollywood Reporter p5 Mr 7 '36

"Irvin S. Cobb, in his first starring picture, comes through most commendably and his pic- ture as enjoyable entertainment is geared nicely to its formulas. . . Irvin Cobb reveals a definite screen personality and it may be that part of the mantle of the late Will Rogers which he must wear to throw around him may fit. There is no way of forecasting such an eventuality until the public casts votes in this and succeeding pictures."

+ Motion Pic Daily p10 Mr 9 '36

"This production is a readaptation of 'The Working Man,' made several years ago with George Arliss in the leading role. The basic plot has been unchanged, only the atmospheric backgrounds have been altered, but it is still engrossing, human interest entertainment. With Will Rogers, whom it is quite evident, 20th Century-Fox is grooming to take the place of the late Will Rogers, and the supporting cast completely new, there is every reason to anticipate that this picture will receive the same popular reception as the other. As he appears in this picture Cabot is more himself in character than he is an actor."

+ Motion Pic Herald p56 Mr 14 '36

"Pleasant, with Cobb carrying most of the comedy. It will probably prove light for de luxeurs but will get most attention in neighborhoods or on twin bills."

+ NY Exhibitor p31 Mr 25 '36

"20th-Fox has done well by Irvin Cobb on his first feature in which he stands on his own. Picture undoubtedly will establish the erstwhile writer as a film personality. His value however, will depend on the story material given him by the studio. . . Cobb gives a natural performance as the trusting wife. He's the actor but in his naturalness lies his value. He handles dialog well, is at all times convincing."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p8 Mr 7 '36

Director: Stephen Roberts

"Powell, surgeon by profession, and a detective by inclination, becomes interested in the case of a jockey killed in an important race. Jean, his ex-wife, stumbles upon some clues and aids Powell, whom she wishes to remarry." Film Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

A: very good; E: excellent; C: probably good. Christian Century p175 My 13 '36

"The slick speed of direction and the polite slapstick in the picture make an enjoyable film suitable for the family." Am Legion Auxiliary '36

"Family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good—mature," DAR

"Mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Free of objectionable situations and very well acted and directed. A nicely staged film for family audiences." Nat Soc of New England Women

"This picture exposes the evil practices of the race-track racket. Mature." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Adults & young people. An unusually exciting and well photographed horse race goes added zest to the closing scenes." Mrs T. G. Winter

+ Fox W Coast Bus p1 Mr 9 '36

"Humor, suspense, excitement and the merry rivalry between husband and wife added to excellent acting make this a light and enjoyable picture high entertainment value. Family." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ap 27 '36

"Family—mature."

+ Jt Estimates My 1 '36

"Movie epicsures will greatly enjoy this clever detective play. . . Along with other good points this film can claim one of the most exciting horse race sequences ever put on film."

+ Motion Pic R My '36

"Family."

+ Nat Bd of R M My '36

"The story is consistent and cleverly adapted to the screen and because of its lack of gruesome details and very clever dialogue turns out as realistic as it is sophisticated but not vulgar. Adults." Nat Council of Jewish Women Ap 1 '36

+N ewspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is a mystery story that has been done with a light touch, as much for its humors as for its excitements. Though it may not be a matter of world-shaking importance, the result is a generally entertaining concoction, pleasantly carried out by William Powell and Jean Arthur." E. F. M.

+ Boston Transcript p14 Ap 25 '36

"Bill Powell and Jean Arthur make the picture work as well. Bill gives us in full measure what he has taught us to expect from him, and Jean continues to create the impression that every one of her performances is better than all her previous ones. She lifts this undistinguished and gruesome story into the realm of high comedy, garnering laughs aplenty as she roams through the part. . . I can remember no horse race sequence in a picture more thrilling than this one contains. It, too, is something that almost in itself makes it worth seeing."

"Much in the giddy mood of 'The Thin Man,' 'The Ex-Mrs. Bradford' is just about the liveliest and silliest detective piece of the season. Bouncing through its hazy course, the film seldom pauses to make sense. And though conscientious cinema sleuths may find its motivation as lazy as it is, this swiftly flowing tale abounds in gaiety and excitement. (3 stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p15 Je 6 '36

"Some critics, after careful weighing of all the values, may give the new picture a place right alongside 'The Thin Man.' It would not be astonishing to find a few critics describing it as better. One or two already have. . . Anthony Veiller took it and made of it a scenario laden with furiously witty lines, freighted with hilariously contrived scenes."

+ Lit Digest p20 Je 6 '36

A smooth blend of mystery and comedy is to be found in this Ex-Mrs. Bradford. It is a gay and exciting entertainment. The sinister killings that punctuate its gags and slapsticks do nothing to mar the film's effect, but give the production a strong undercurrent of suspense. . . "The Ex-Mrs. Bradford' is one of those rare screen works where authors, players and director divide honors for a slick and diverting offering. Howard Barnes

+ N Y Herald Tribune p25 My 25 '36

"This time it is as good as 'The Thin Man' . . . and a charming good yarn it is. This is the gayest murder to happen about town for a long time." Eileen Creelman

+ N Y Sun p15 My 25 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; +— Mediocre; — Poor; --- Exceptionally Poor
EX-MRS. BRADFORD—Continued

"Of all the attempted copies of the justly celebrated William Powell-Myrna Loy comedy, 'The Ex-Mrs. Bradford' comes closest to approximating its gayety, impudence and ability to entertain. ... In brief, list 'The Ex-Mrs. Bradford;' Gen Variety Previewed is the Plenty considerably resemblances. Action into clever fans Jean his Arthur bit sleuth mystery if meanies, of diverting Bradford’ 40 'The "Another" previewed 'Mr. "Thin" does much of the" mystery Bradford' is natural. But the film is much better than a copy. In addition to possessing a sprightliness all its own, it is required to provide a high volume of varied entertainment. Variety p15 Je 3 '36

"Many pictures have been patterned on and nominated as successors of 'The Thin Man', but 'The Ex-Mrs. Bradford,' is the legitimate heir of that epoch-making opus. It has the same spirit of doggedness and nonchalance in the bright face of danger, the same.sexy tang and comic accent with the constant excitement and suspense. Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 20 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"This heralds the apparent return of the clever mystery drama. Placing smart dialogue and situations above the old prime requisite of horror, the producers have chosen wisely. Sharp, brilliant, and inspiring direction does more than its share to aid the picture in taking the mantle previously worn by 'The Thin Man Family.'"

Box Office p25 My 9 '36

"From the studios of RKO Radio comes the best comedy-melodrama since 'The Thin Man' and it is in the same amateur detective, William Powell, who does the sleuthing. Jean Arthur, fresh from her success in 'Mr. Deeds Goes to Town,' does splendid work as 'The Ex-Mrs. Bradford;' Miss Arthur has a freshness and personality that are particularly "taking in this sort of role, and it is a genuine pleasure to watch her perform."

Canadian Moving Pict Digest p7 My 20 '36

"This one contains just about everything that makes for top grade entertainment. Plenty of amusing comedy, mystery, detective work of an unusual kind, good suspense, peppy action and altogether a swell story."

Film Curb pl5 Ap 25 '36

"This is one of the best comedy murder mysteries that has come to the screen in a long time."

Film Daily p7 Ap 22 '36

"Another of the numerous descendants of 'The Thin Man,' even having the same leading player. William Powell, this short comedy [mystery story] is in for a prosperous boxoffice career both up and down, despite its family recorded as a technical feat. In a word, it was considerably over-length, but it will condense into swell entertainment."

Hollywood Reporter p3 Ap 20 '36

"Here is a comedy that is gayly refreshing. It is the tale of a man who tries not to fail in love again with his ex-wife but can't help doing so. Told against a background of sinister, melodramatic mystery, it is at the same time full of mirth and offers rich entertainment values that sparkle with unusual exploitation possibilities."

Motion Pict Daily p6 Ap 21 '36

"Here's a picture that carries an ample load of diversified entertainment to catch the fancy of any kind of audience. It also carries an equal amount of potential and offers rich showmanship to meet the requirements of any kind of showman. ... Previewed in Pantages Theatre, Hollywood Boulevard. The audience was enthusiastic and appreciative."

Motion Pict Herald p47 My 2 '36

"The Powell-Arthur combination, aided by a bright script, good direction, will lift 'The Ex-Mrs. Bradford' into the higher program category as to critical praise, grosses."

N Y Exhibitor p22 My 10 '36

"Another sprightly entry for the school of smart comedy, detective mystery Yarns. The Ex-Mrs. Bradford' appears headed for excellent grosses. Comparison with 'The Thin Man' is natural. But the film is much better than a copy. In addition to possessing a sprightliness all its own, it is required to provide a high volume of varied entertainment. Variety p15 Je 2 '36

FARMER IN THE DELL. Mr 27 '36 68min RKO

Director: Ben Holmes

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family," Am Legion Auxiliary

"Though the story lacks originality in treatment, it should prove entertaining family fare. Family & junior matinee."

Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good. Mature-family." DAR

"Family," Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Family Scenes within the motion picture studio add to this delightful comedy which is timely, well planned, astonishingly real and not without moments of pathos and poignancy."

Nat Soc of New England Women

"Family," S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox West Coast Bul Mr 28 '36

"It will appeal to all because of its simple human story, down-to-earth characterization and intimate views of life behind studio gates and the human appealing work of Fred Stone. Adults, family & junior matinee."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Mr 14 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; + Mediocre; -- Poor; +--- Exceptionally Poor
The picture is pleasant, light entertainment built around a few clever ideas. Adolescents, 12-16: good; children, 8-12: probably no interest.

“Family & Junior matinee.”

Sel Motion Pict Ap '36

“Family.”

Nat Bd of R M Ap '36

“The charming simplicity of an excellent portrayal by Jeanette MacDonald and Lenore Aubert in their amusing comedy from mediocrity. . . . The smooth direction of the first half of the picture-movements, dialogue and acting in the end. Family & Junior matinées.”

+ Nat Council of Jewish Women Mr 18 '36

“Every bit of humor is squeezed out of the story, which possesses no great distinction, except homeliness and kindliness.”

Scholastic p36 Ap 4 '36

“Family & Junior matinée.”

Sel Motion Pict Ap '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“[It is] amusing comedy which takes a satirical glance at Hollywood’s manners and customs. . . Fred Stone reflects greater ease before the camera than he did in ‘Alice Adams,’ made on the same lot. He gives a really good performance. A lot of the stage still sticks to him, however. He delivers his lines to force them beyond footlights, and his voice lacks flexibility, lacks the conversational expression which is essential to a completely satisfactory screen performance.”

+ Hollywood Spec p11 Mr 28 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“With plenty of laughs in homely humor of William Wyler’s type, this should go in all but super-sophisticate spots. Estimate: pleasant neighborhood program.”

+ NY Exhibitor p31 Mr 25 '36

“Entertaining feature that will do best in the smaller communities where Hollywood is a novelty. . . . Stone wavers between his own personality and an imitation of Will Rogers. Latter is probably the studio’s idea. Stone, as able performer, has sufficient screen personality to get by on his own. . . . Letdown in several scenes is due to story. Nothing new about the yarn which has been done several times. Weak spots are due to the improbability of the original story.”

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 16 '36

FATAL LADY. My 15 '36 73min Wanger-Paramount

Director: Edward Ludwig

“A combination of opera and murder mystery in which an opera star seemingly brings death to the men who love her.” Wkly Guide

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Adults: very good; 14-18: interesting; 8-14: beyond.” Calif Cong of Fair & Teachers

“Good—adults.” DAR

“Adults & young people.” E Coast Preview Committee

“Worthy of note is the use of symbolism, such as the whirling horrorcope wheel, and the unusual and lightning steps of Mary Ellis’s) triumph turns to despair. She has definite screen personality, besides possessing a finely trained operatic quality and the poise and grace of an experienced actress. Mature.” Nat Fed Business & Professional Women’s Clubs

“Constructive and in good taste throughout, this film will please audiences over 14.” Nat Soc of New England Women

“Mature mystery drama.” S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

“This [is] an unusually interesting production. Adults & young people.”

+ Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) My 18 '36

“This is a musical murder mystery film which though slow moving is interesting. It is exceptionally well acted and beautifully photographed. . . . Adolescents, 12-16: yes; children, 8-12: too mature.”

+ Motion Pict R Je '36

“Family.”

Nat Bd of R M Je '36

“Well sustained suspense, smooth capable direction of a fine cast, exquisite operatic numbers and an interesting story make of this excellent entertainment. Family.”

+ Nat Council of Jewish Women My 20 '36

“General patronage.”

Nat Legion of Decency My 28 '36

“Excellent entertainment. Mature.”

+ Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

“Family.”

Wkly Guide My 16 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Canadian M p61 My '36

“Fair melodrama for adults, at its best in its musical moments.”

+ Chicago Science Monitor p15 Je 13 '36

“Mary Ellis is a gifted young woman who carries on her shoulders, lightly and effortlessly, the chief burden of ‘Fatal Lady’ which comes to us as one of the outstanding pictures of this rather outstanding season. I saw it the evening after viewing ‘The King Steps Out.’ All the merits the Grace Moore picture lacks, the Mary Ellis picture possesses. . . . Put ‘Fatal Lady’ on the list of pictures you must see.”

+ Hollywood Spec p10 My 23 '36

“Hit after hit sails off the Wanger bat with regularity and from a musical standpoint this is a home run. This cornucopia of melodies gives Mary Ellis’s glorious voice every opportunity and establishes a new high for deft presentation of opera in film form. . . . The story is less satisfactory—attempts to bind murder and melody in a confounding medley—succeed in being a haphazard liaison at best.” H. S.

+ Script p9 Je 13 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“Murder to the accompaniment of exquisite music. Outstanding examples of direction, continuity, and production give this Walter Wanger production a flavor of something new and bright. Adults.”

+ Box Office p69 My 30 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; + + Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
FATAL LADY—Continued

"This is a swell combination of class music and melodrama. The sort of picture that should have universal appeal and do well in any situation, large or small.

Film Curb p7 My 22 '36

"Here is an intriguing murder mystery, in which music is used to advantage. Mary Ellis is given a role worthy of her talents as a singer and actress, and scores heavily.

+ Film Daily p7 My 19 '36

"Absorbingly and logically devised, here is the first completely successful combination of murder mystery and music. Until now, the formulation has never escaped those who have attempted it. That it is box office there can be no doubt. Whatever 'Fatal Lady' lacks in established drawing power of names in the cast is more than compensated in entertainment values. Under the musical direction of Boris Morros, the score is outstanding. With the exception of the overture from 'William Tell,' performed in rehearsal in the train sequence, the score is entirely original—a distinctive departure.

+ Hollywood Reporter p3 My 15 '36

"Music of an operatic flavor, mystery and occasional flashes of melodramatic action are combined in this picture in such fashion as to make it intriguing entertainment... An outstanding factor which should not be overlooked is the singing of Mary Ellis, revealing an unusually well trained and accomplished voice.

+ Motion Pic Daily p8 My 16 '36

"It's novel, to say the least, this idea of mixing weird, baffling murder mystery and grand opera music in a picture. Possessed of an attractive title which in itself and without the support of other commercial features can be made the basis of an intriguing interest-creating campaign, the show at first sight offers several substantial but not any too strong cast names.

Motion Pic Herald p45 My 23 '36

"With some good singing numbers, a melodramatic atmosphere when necessary, this is salable even if shorn in the marquee draw.

+ Phila Exhibitor p23 Je 1 '36

"While the picture has calculated appeal for the cultivated taste in the musical phase, the picture is pity in the sense that it overshoots the general level of entertainment for the mass. It should gross substantially from the picture's high level down the subsequent line. Picture is pretentious in decking out the murder puzzle type of film with impressive operatic pageantry and singing which alone would set it apart.

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 15 '36

FEDERAL AGENT. Ap 10 '36 60min Republic
Players: William Boyd. Charles A. Bowne. Irene Ware
Director: Sam Newfield
"A criminal's effort to obtain possession of a valuable formula is frustrated by a G-Man who captures the band and wins the girl."
Nat Legion of Decency

Audience Suitability Ratings
"A: mediocre; Y: hardly; C: no."
Christian Century p823 Je 3 '36

"General patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 22 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"It moves along at a good pace, contains a number of thrilling sequences and should provide entertainment to most... a theatre except perhaps the Main Stem spots."
+ Film Curb p10 Ap 18 '36

"Strong exploitation will have to be substituted for word-of-mouth recommendation for this one. It is not dead, the various elements that stand up under isolated examination do not manage to get together for as complete a product as it should.

+ Film Daily p10 Ap 14 '36

"While the production is generally adequate, the histrionic gyrations of the supporting cast as they put out their roles in this tale of G-Man activities hardly ever become convincing. However, there are some moments which, although they lack novelty, should provide what thrills are necessary to satisfy."
+ Motion Pic Daily p11 Ap 14 '36

"Incredible, and as entertainment just fair. Due to William (Eill) Boyd's presence and work as chief character of the plot, the film hits the grade as a supporting program feature. The settings are drab, for the most part, and uninteresting. Nor is the photography arresting.

+ Variety p23 Ap 15 '36

FEUD OF THE WEST. Ap 15 '36 62min Dvt-Futter
Players: Hoot Gibson. Buzz Barton
Director: Harry Fraser

A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"General patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency Ap 13 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"For the juvenile shows and wherever this particular brand of pictures is liked 'Feud of the West' should fit in nicely."
+ Film Curb p6 My 23 '36

"Good Western, piled with fighting and good rodeo shots, merits better dates of its type."
+ Film Daily p7 My 19 '36

"Theatre cowpunchers will appreciate this one.

+ Motion Pic Daily p8 My 19 '36

"[It] is about the best yet in the Gibson series."
+ N Y Exhibitor p22 My 10 '36

"Between frilly plot involutions and the usual 'oats oper' rough-house, this one moves under a full head of steam from start to finish... With Gibson for marquee material, it should do a good job on the two-gun circuit."
+ Variety p14 My 27 '36

FIRST BABY. My 22 '36 75min 20th Century-Fox
Director: Lewis Selzer
"In a line, the whole show can be described as a monotonous padding in the affairs of her daughter and son-in-law, until even the daughter can't stand it. To the delight of everyone concerned, the girl quits her mother for her husband and child."
Film Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings
"A: amateurish; Y: harmless; C: no interest."
Christian Century p763 Je 3 '36

"Family." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Mediocre. Adults." DAR
"Family."

"A good cast in a story which although somewhat overdone, holds a great deal of truth and provides some good laughs. Older family members will be the most obvious. Outside the range of children's interest." Nat Soc of New England Women

"The ensemble is really a clever and splendidly balanced antithesis of types. Adults & young people.

S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bul My 2 '36

"A most entertaining picture with wide audience appeal. Adults & young people."

+ Star Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ap 22 '36

"Adults & young people."

Jt Estimates My 1 '36

"It is a very entertaining picture, sincerely honest and pleasant in its understanding of a theme that will interest all ages. Adults & children in family groups."

Nat Bd of R M Je '36

"Family."

Nat Council of Jewish Women Ap 22 '36

"A universal experience delightfully and refreshingly treated. Adults."

Nat Legion of Decency My 21 '36

"Adults & young people."

C Command Jt Est My 1 '36

"Family. Very, very domestic."

Wkly Guide My 9 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"[It is] an exceedingly loud and talkative domestic drama which could have been much better than it is, but which has enough entertainment value to make it worth while. . . . There is too much chattering in it, a fault emphasized by the manner in which the dialogue is directed. Throughout its entire length characters talk at one another without regard for the meaning of scenes, no attempt being made to lend intimacy to conversations which should be intimate.

"There is nothing unusual in 'The First Baby.' Yet it is from the recognizable and common qualities that this mild and touching picture derives a gentle charm. . . . 'The First Baby' is not a film of individuals. It has what so few pictures have—a sense of balance. This lively, fresh, and wholesome slice of everyday life is a small triumph for the Twentieth Century-Fox studio." (2½ stars)

Liberty p15 My 23 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Another of the recent cycle of clever program pictures that will send your customers out plenty satisfied—if you can get them in. Family."

Box Office p35 Ap 25 '36

"This rather wild yarn . . . is but mildly entertaining. Outside the range of children who will enjoy the thing but certainly it does not hold universal appeal. The material would have made a two-reeler but it is not strong enough for a full length feature and a long feature at that."

+ Film Crit p12 Ap 18 '36

"This one makes good family trade entertainment. Throughout, the piece is full of human touches. There are the laughs, tears, break-ups, outside interference and reconciliations which should be easily recognizable home characteristics to many. The members of the cast play their characters in such a manner as to make the plot life-like.

+ Film Daily p10 Ap 14 '36

"This is a simple tale of the wide interest of a young couple undergoing parenthood for the first time, relying for its appeal on the utter naturalness of the reactions of the parents and grandparents of 'the only baby in the world.'"

Motion Pict Daily p6 Ap 13 '36

"Here is a comedy-packed yarn, with occasional bits of drama sprinkled in. The familiar charac- ter of the story is its outstanding entertainment and commercial value. A mere hint of what it's all about undoubtedly will be sufficient to arouse quite a bit of interest among patrons of the houses in which it will play."

+ Motion Pict Herald p36 Ap 15 '36

"A minor entrant because it hasn't name strength to attract, 'The First Baby,' nevertheless, is a pleasant entertainment for neighbors, family trade. Pleasantly played by a non-star cast, this will be doubled up or run on dash nights. The players, however, generally turn in fair performances."

+ N Y Exhibitor p23 My 10 '36

"As a supporting picture this one should rate pretty high on account of its being clean and wholesome. . . . Acting is good throughout, so Lewis Seiler's direction must be credited for the attractive ensemble. Such a plot could be easily made maudlin, but wasn't."

+ Variety p14 My 27 '36

"Excellent B picture that can stand by itself if need be. Domestic comedy with more than the average share of laughs, it is expertly written, produced, directed and acted. John Stone has given the picture smart production, has mounted it well."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p8 Ap 11 '36

FLORIDA SPECIAL. My 1 '36 70min Paramount

Players: Jack Oakie, Sally Eilers, Kent Taylor, Frances Drake, J. Farrell MacDonald.

Director: Ralph Murphy

Based on a short story, Recreation Car, by Clarence Budington Kelland. "The mystery revolves around the disappearance of a wealthy eccentric. While police are searching the train for the old gentleman, two rival gangs are attempting to gain possession of his money. There's much skullduggery and a large number of suspects before an unsuspected twist brings about a surprise finish." (Hollywood Reporter)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: hardly; Y: perhaps; C: doubtful interest." Christian Century p855 Je 10 '36

"Too much gun play for children. Adults." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good-mature." DAR

"There are of course the usual number of suspects, the usual amount of stupidity on the part of those trying to solve the mystery and even the usual two-reeler style. But it is not strong enough for a full length feature and a long feature at that."

+ Film Crit p12 Ap 18 '36

"This one makes good family trade entertainment. Throughout, the piece is full of human touches. There are the laughs, tears,
FLORIDA SPECIAL—Continued

"Family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women
+ Fox W Coast Bul My 9 '36

"Adults & young people." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ap 27 '36

"Clever dialogue, witty gags, and fast-moving direction somewhat relieve a trite story filled with improbabilities. Mature." Jt Estimates My 1 '36

"Here is a mystery story which makes little attempt at intelligent or logical development, but which is swift and amusing enough to hold one's attention. The social standards are more suitable to adult discount than to children's appreciation. Adolescents, 12-16: no; children, 8-12: +.

Motion Pict R Je '36

"Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women My 1 '36

"Adults." Nat Legion of Decency My 14 '36

"Mature." Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Excellent mystery, smart dialogue, interesting and entertaining without being momentous." — Canadian M p61 My '36

"Thanks to Mr. Murphy's direction, the piece possesses the necessary speed, color and sophistication, to make it lively and un hackneyed film fare. That it has little relation to reality is unimportant, since a Cinderella tale of this kind should not be expected to deal with actuality... The picture is a typical American picture with an exciting dash of mystery thrown in. It will not improve your mind to see it, but probably will improve your dispositions. Marguerite Tzelnar.

+ N Y Herald Tribune p12 My 29 '36

"'Florida Special' is a mystery of excellent parentage... Bursting through the tale as Lange Carter, a straying newspaper man, is Jack Oakie, in fine voice and armed with a fair store of fast cracks... The assorted other passengers aboard the Special contribute considerably to the mile-a-minute pace of the picture."

+ N Y Times p15 My 29 '36

"It's just another movie, but Ralph Murphy, who directed it, sets so fast a pace it rates a notch or two above routine." Douglas Gilbert

+ N Y World-Telegram p7 Je 1 '36

"'Florida Special' is negligible... Sally Eilers and Jack Oakie won't either disappoint or startle their public, such as it is." John Mosher

+ New Yorker p83 Je 6 '36

"Starting with the pace of a slow freight, it looked for a time as though 'Florida Special' would break down long before it reached its destination. Then suddenly, surprise—the train huffed and puffed, then shot wheels accelerated, until the film ends as a fairly representative curtailed chapter-play." H. S.

+ — Script p3 Je 10 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"It is all rather familiar stuff and only mildly entertaining in this case."

+ Film Curb p13 Ap 25 '36

"As a program number, this picture should do all right. With Jack Oakie dishing out the wisecracks in entertaining comedy situations, along with the numerous angles involved, the show keeps one interested throughout."

+ Film Daily p5 Ap 21 '36

"Mild entertainment results from this formula story that seldom rises above the familiarity of its theme. It is a mystery of sorts, held together mainly by gag comedy and another coinciding performance by Jack Oakie, designed as a big picture, it will probably do well enough as a class B release."

+ — Motion Pict Daily p8 Ap 20 '36

"Apart from the amusing wiserackings of Jack Oakie, this comedy-melodrama offers little to enthrone exhibitors or audiences. There are, however, several novel twists given to the familiar all-action-aboard-a-train plot... The story... is loaded with such stuff that director Ralph Murphy has no more than thrown it all into the picture, with the result that the production rates as an average attraction appealing to devotees of thrills, action and fun."

+ — Motion Pict Herald p37 Ap 25 '36

"Though the picture is another 'Grand Hotel' on a train travelling from New York to Florida, 'Florida Special' is far more boldly and amusingly conceived. It has the same unpredictable feature name division to be condemned for familiarity alone... Obviously a programmer, 'Florida Special' ought to be entertaining."

+ N Y Exhibitor p22 My 10 '36

"Where Jack Oakie is a favorite this is going to be nice money... Story is another version of the 'big train' exploit, with the excitement of a railroad train; by no means the first. This handicaps the action to a considerable extent, but it whips through with consummate skill..."

+ Variety 51 Je 3 '36

"This one can't hope for better than double bills due to cast weakness and low grade entertainment. Entire story takes place on a train running between New York and Florida necessitating limitation in action and story. Latter is a weakly developed tale, the few bright spots being contributed by Jack Oakie..."

— Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 17 '36

FOLLOW THE FLEET. F 21 '36 110min RKO

PLAYERS: Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers. Randolph Scott. Harriet Hilliard

Director: Mark Sandrich

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Suitability: family."

Mo Film Bul p65 Ap '36

"Family."

Nat Bd of R M Mr '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Follow the Fleet" is glorious entertainment. I could be rather tired of screen sailors today, but with Fred Astaire in their midst, Don Herold

+ Life p45 My '36

"The narrative and the padding of the film show up pretty thin, and the intervals between the dancing of Astaire and Ginger Rogers are just intervals. Both the lyrics Harriet Hilliard sings are feeble and foolish to the point of distraction. She looks distracted, but that doesn't help. Three of the dances and half a dozen of the wisecracks carry up to standard—and though it's a very high standard for the dancing, that leaves 'Follow the Fleet' on a par with the first. In the end it is one of these Rogers-Astaire entertainments.'

— New Statesman & Nation p661 Ap 18 '36

"The inimitable dancing team of Astaire-Rogers lifts a mediocre script and prolonged film footage to ingratiating musical entertainment."

Stage p10 Ap '36

FOR THE SERVICE. Ap 3 '36 65min Universal

Director: Buck Jones

A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: hardly; Y: perhaps; C: doubtful.

Christian Century p521 My 30 '36

"Family & junior matinee." Nat Bd of R

Foxy W Coast Bui 4 '36

"Family-junior."

Wkly Guide F 7 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Top notch Western in every way. Packed full of fast-action with plenty of fights, gunplay and hard-riding. It should more than satisfy those who go for this sort of film entertainment."

+ Film Curb p17 Ap 25 '36

"[It is] an unusual outdoor picture. It should interest even non-Western subscribers."

+ Film Daily p5 My 19 '36

"When it comes to giving the patrons what they want, the people of Western Country are Buck Jones can always be relied upon to do the stuff. This production has all the elements—a good plot, plenty of spectacular action and excitement—to make it a top-notch Western."

+ Motion Pic Daily p6 Ap 21 '36

"Estimate: unusually good Jones."

+ N Y Exhibitor p45 Ap 25 '36

"This one of the early west has enough action and suspense to satisfy the hunger of the six-gun brand fans. Scenes in and out of the stockade are well photographed, this being one of the outstanding virtues of the picture."

+ Variety p43 Je 3 '36

FORGET ME NOT. (Release date not determined) 70min London films-United artists

Director: Zoltan Korda

"The story is that of a girl secretory who, after a misunderstanding with a linen officer, marries a famous tenor, whose voice over the loud speaker has been the background to her love passages with the other man. The latter reappears after some years and the girl almost yields to his attempt to carry her off. The tenor, aware of the situation, makes a last appeal to her by medium of the love song associated, without his knowledge, with the other man. When she leaves the concert hall he thinks he has lost her, but she returns to their apartment."

(Motion Pic Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"This is above the level of the usual musical romance, and should prove acceptable to those interested in good singing. Suitability: family."

+ Mo Film Bui p82 Ap '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"With little incentive beyond that of affording Signor Gigli full scope for as many musical interludes as possible, this version of the operetta, 'Forget Me Not,' drifts aimlessly operetta, 'Forget Me Not,' drifts aimlessly operetta, 'Forget Me Not.' drifts aimlessly operetta, 'Forget Me Not.' drifts aimlessly operetta, 'Forget Me Not.'

"The famous tenor, Beniamino Gigli, is the box-office value here. His magnificent singing of operatic numbers is an entertainment asset which partly outweighs serious defects of story and continuity. Gigli acts well in a proposal with the aid of a dictionary and admirably in the scene of the impassioned appeal by song, but Miss Gardner does not impress. It is for those who want to hear Gigli and won't worry about other values."

+ Motion Pict Daily p8 Ap 11 '36

"Beniamino Gigli is natural and charming in the stellar role. [He] has a charm that endears him to onlookers, and his touching devotion to his boy and new wife make him photographically acceptable to this new type of audience. Shots of him in various operatic characters give splendid scope for his voice, which records admirably."

+ Variety p29 Ap 22 '36

FORGOTTEN FACES. My 8 '36 72min Paramount

Director: E. A. Dupont

"Remake of a dialogue film, Interference. When Marshall finds his wife Gertrude Michael with another man, he kills him. Marshall is able to have his daughter adopted by a wealthy family. Seventeen years pass without the mother knowing her daughter's whereabouts, and Marshall not knowing much about it. Marshall is pardoned from his life sentence in time to prevent Gertrude from interfering with their daughter's happiness." (Film Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: fine of kind; Y: too strong; C: no."

Christian Century p555 Je 10 '36

"The prison routine is mercifully omitted in this film, leaving less drag of an oft-repeated prison tale. Adults." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Mature." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Mediocre-adult." DAR

"This somber story may be mildly entertaining to anyone who can accept the premise upon which the entire plot motivation is
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

FORGOTTEN FACES—Continued

Founded . . . Herbert Marshall was unhappily cast and while Gertrude Michael challenged to make her part convincing, the story was too much for her. "Mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Surprisingly balanced and notably consistent are the effects of grim pathos and innocent happiness in this social drama of a distinctly mature type." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fex W Coast Bul My 2 '36

"Adults.
Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)
Ap 27 '36

"Adults."
Jt Estimates My 1 '36

"It is a sordid, sensational tale, but the fine acting of Herbert Marshall gives it warmth of human interest. . . The play is well cast, the plot excitingly handled. Miss Marshall, who has made the role into a melodramatic one, has done a grand piece of acting. It will prove only fair entertainment for adults."

Nat Council of Jewish Women My 1 '36

"Objectible in part."
— Nat Legion of Decency My 14 '36

"Adult."
Scl Motion Pic Je 1 '36

"Mature."
Wkly Guide My 9 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"[It is an] unsavory melodrama. . . Only a casting agent could explain what Herbert Marshall and Gertrude Michael, who do comedy parts well, are doing in this penny dreadful."
E. C. S.

Christian Science Monitor p34 My 23 '36

"Here is a class B picture given class A rating by the direction accorded it. . . [E. A. Dupont] raises an inherently conventional story into a dramatic offering of power and dignity, one all those working in pictures sees and studies to better their own production as an associate, and William Lackey, supervisor, are to be congratulated upon turning out an excellent job."

Hollywood Spec p9 My 9 '36

"Forgotten Faces' is strong meat that by suggestion and implication slips its theme past the censors. Herbert Marshall is thoroughly convincing in a difficult role, while, as the wife, Gertrude Michael's dramatic intensity compensates for her occasional theatrical mannerisms. (2½ stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p16 Je 6 '36

"It's a pleasure to announce that E. A. Dupont, the man who made 'Variety,' has come back. His work with a baulk theme is impressive; he's minimized dialogue, stresses technique rather than plot, and achieves the smooth flow of narration in screen story-telling that's been almost extinct since the advent of sound." Herb Sterne

— Script pl0 Je 6 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Mastefully directed with plentiful injections of power, this film will appeal to those who like real unsullited melodrama. Adults."
Box Office p31 My 23 '36

"Certainly the classes will appreciate this picture but just what the masses will think of it is anybody's guess. It is all superbly done. Acting, direction and production way, way above the average. A truly fine, artistic picture in every way. A perfect manner." + Film Curb pl2 My 2 '36

"What this picture does at the box-office is hard to predict since there are very few pictures produced lately to which it can be compared. A highly dramatic, loaded with suspense, outstanding for characterizations, especially Gertrude Michael's, the production holds one from beginning to end. From the dramatic standpoint of production, it leaves little to be desired. It is a picture that the highbrows can talk about, still the suspense, the superb acting and the fact that it is different from the regular run-of-the-mill line should make it interesting for the regular.

+ Film Daily pl7 Ap 23 '36

"Brilliantly produced, its direction and acting rise to heights far above the dramatic fabric and compel excited admiration and suspense. These excellences lift it artistically well above its program classification and nothing would keep us from becoming a strong box office card for almost the full range of classes, except the sordidness of the story and its tragic and disappointing ending."

+ Hollywood Reporter p3 Ap 21 '36

"Offering only occasional relief from sombre drama audience appeal, this picture will be limited in its appeal to those seeking grim entertainment. When word of the nature of its story passes.

Motion Pict Daily pl4 Ap 23 '36

"Serious in tone, inasmuch as a great part of it is devoted to a battle of psychological wits between a husband and wife who have only the bitterest hatred for each other, it is emphatically an adult picture, with considerable interest for them, because of the character of the story, the quality of the acting offered by the stars and the principal supports, and the grim and realistic style in which the story is told. . . Previewed in Fox Wilshire Theatre, Los Angeles. Power of story and convincing performances by Herbert Marshall and Gertrude Michael held the audience's attention.

+ Motion Pict Herald pl7 My 2 '36

"With two good performances from the leads, the show is a fair job throughout but restricted in appeal."

— N Y Exhibitor pl3 My 10 '36

"Heavily handled drama, this remake of 'Interference,' first important talker, will have to struggle for what it's worth. The chief handicap is the lack of shading in the direction. E. A. Dupont has held the picture to a sombre pace throughout, has failed to lighten the depressing tale at any time.

— Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 21 '36

FORGOTTEN WOMEN. (Release date not determined) 20th Century-Fox

Players: Evelyn Brent, Irene Rich, Louise Fazenda, June Clyde

Director: William Beaudine

"Eight members of a volunteer welfare unit are involved in tragedy when one of the supply trucks being driven to an invaded sector is overturned by a bomb. One girl dies from injuries in a trench where she is carried, a loud-mouthed girl is killed by a hand grenade for revealing the two-timing of an aviator who is believed to have been devoted to a member of the company, and Evelyn Brent, the interloper, is killed when she succeeds in winning the American boy she left behind here. The unit is in the direct line of its fire."
Film Daily
Trade Paper Reviews

"This one can hardly expect to get much more than a pinch of its appeal out of the part of a dual bill. It's rather a weak sister. All woman cast. Far too talky to hold interest although a competent actress of their beat to make something of it. . . Some fairly impressive war shots but the talk, talk, talk spoils it all."
— Film Curb p6 My 23 '36

"Woman's side in international war fails to measure up to its possibilities because action is too gentle and the exciting war scenes are exces- sive talking. Despite a number of finely recorded bombardment scenes, the picture is slow-moving."
— Film Daily p11 My 13 '36

FRANKIE AND JOHNNIE. My 1 '36 67min Republic Players: Helen Morgan Chester Morris.
Director: Florence Reed
Based on the play of the same title by Jack Kirkland. It was filmed about two years ago. It tells the story of the "Frankie and Johnny" who were sweethearts' ballad and is set in a music hall in the St. Louis of 1876.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"[It is] an uninteresting story. . . Objection —the unsavory characters and questionable episodes. Objectionable in part."
— Nat Legion of Decency My 14 '36

The production has little to recommend it, being neither well directed or acted. Miss Morgan's peculiar type of singing registers very poorly. Adults & young people.
— Sel Motion Pict Jc 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Rush trash properly describes the filming of the old St. Louis river-front ballad, which, fortunately, is not in the class of motion picture plays that receive wider circulation among the best places. While the subject matter itself would preclude the lifting of any reenactment from above the level of the sidewalk on the floor of the barroom which inspired the original ditty, the treatment and performances in this version leaves much to be desired, from the sounding crash of the song even in Major Bowses' amateur shows." J. P. Cunningham
— Commonweal p180 Je 12 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"It has its moments of goodness and its moments of badness. Sort of an in-and-out Helen Morgan sings in her well known style and those that like her will approve."
— Film Curb p8 My 23 '36

"From the long-famous ballad of Frankie and Johnny . . . has been made a film which, after having passed through successive processes of renovation with an eye on the production code, emerges as ineffectual fare. The film was produced about two years ago at and by the Biograph Studio in New York. . . For the most part the film somehow lacks the pace it might have been expected to pos- sess, moving at a laggard rate, only gaining a bit of speed as it nears the conclusion, when Frankie, finally convinced against her will of the duplicity of her man, finds a gun and goes in search of Johnny. Miss Morgan, it would seem, has not been given sufficient op- portunity to exercise the talent for a special style of singing which she unquestionably possesses, and in some fashion her voice throughout registers poorly."
— Motion Pict Daily p8 My 19 '36

"The action lags along until after the wedding of the two principals, which comes in one of the later reels, and through it are interspersed some songs by Helen Morgan, re- duced in a note too creditable fashion. . . Adult audience classification."
— + Motion Pict Herald p45 My 23 '36

"Because it has been on route for about two years and has been given a careful de- hydrating by the Hays code office, not too much was anticipated of "Frankie and Johnny" when it finally was unveiled. But as it stands, the picture is unusually slyly entertainment. It is not likely to make dual book- ings in most localities."
— Variety p14 My 27 '36

FRASQUITA. Ja 17 '36 80min DuWorld
Players: Jarmila Novotna. Hans Heinz Bohm. Heinz Riehmann
Director: Carl Lamac
See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A and Y: good of kind: C: no interest."
— Christian Century p58 Je 3 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"There is a naivé charm in the unwinding of the slender love plot, set against backgrounds of exception beauty, but many American audiences will find the pace slow and rather talky. It will do best in the art houses and among music lovers and will make an accept- able support number in class neighborhoods."

"It is a delightfully entertaining and abun- dant with the tuneful music of Franz Lehar, whose stage 'hits' are almost innumerable. . . For exploitation a specialty is the prelude and epilogue appearance of Lehar himself."
— Motion Pict Herald p48 F 1 '36

"Lovers of light opera, especially those who understand German, will find much in 'Fras- quita' to amuse and entertain them. . . [It] is particularly geared for the class type of patronage, and will depend on heavy exploita- tion in such areas. It is one of the best of the foreign-made productions to reach these shores, in production and ar- tistic standpoint, rates high."
— Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 2 '36

FURY. My 29 '36 90min MGM
Director: Fritz Lang

"Tracy is peace-loving, hard working. He and Sylvia are engaged. On circumstantial evidence, Tracy is arrested as a kidnapper in a Middle- western village. Led by rowdies, the villagers storm the jail, bent on lynching Tracy. Unable to enter Tracy's cell, they dynamite the jail. Tracy is believed killed, but the explo- sion tears off his cell door and he escapes, although injured."
— Film Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A [thought-provoking] drama, well produced. Adults." Am Legion Auxiliary

"A harrowing tirade against the fury of mob-rule, as presented in this ably enacted melodrama. Adults: tense: 14-18: doubtful; 8-14: no."
— Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; +— Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
FURY—Continued

“This timely picture is high in entertainment value. It moves swiftly and dramatically to the climax and then holding the interest to the end. A Motion Picture of Business & Professional Women’s Clubs.”

“This social drama is a timely and powerful indictment of the mob spirit and ‘snap judgment.’” S Calil Council of Fed Church Women

“...This picture, a powerful indictment against mob rule, is an intensely forceful and gripping Thought-provoking entertainment. Adults & young people.”

“...a dramatic presentation of Women’s Clubs (W Coast)” My 27 ’36

“To those who believe that the finest pictures should have moral or social import, and that the motion pictures can have a definite power for good and yet be artistic and gripping, this film presents an example that is to be welcomed. The story, which is engrossing, with its well maintained suspense, presents a perverted woman who, for the first time, with a powerful protest against lynching and second the futility of revenge. This is a profound and significant picture which entertains and still performs a definite service in molding social attitudes. Adults.”

“...in service to the Committee on Exceptional Photoplay Families.”

“...A sometimes horrific indictment against the abuse of law and order. In a clear, unblased manner the social problem, lynching and mob rule are presented. Adults.”

“...a timely subject, for lynching, with a certain percentage of innocent victims, still goes on, but unless one feels that one’s moral fiber needs reinforcement, the film is such vivid realism that it should be avoided. Adolescents, 12-16: too brutal; children, 8-12: too brutal.”

“Motion Pic R Je ’36

“Movies are the voice of the people and this picture makes a difference.”

“...a timely subject, for lynching, with a certain percentage of innocent victims, still goes on, but unless one feels that one’s moral fiber needs reinforcement, the film is such vivid realism that it should be avoided. Adolescents, 12-16: too brutal; children, 8-12: too brutal.”

“...a timely subject, for lynching, with a certain percentage of innocent victims, still goes on, but unless one feels that one’s moral fiber needs reinforcement, the film is such vivid realism that it should be avoided. Adolescents, 12-16: too brutal; children, 8-12: too brutal.”

“...a timely subject, for lynching, with a certain percentage of innocent victims, still goes on, but unless one feels that one’s moral fiber needs reinforcement, the film is such vivid realism that it should be avoided. Adolescents, 12-16: too brutal; children, 8-12: too brutal.”

“...with a powerful protest against lynching and second the futility of revenge. This is a profound and significant picture which entertains and still performs a definite service in molding social attitudes. Adults.”

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“Rarely does Hollywood show the disposition of American life with a vigor and determination similar to that which has gone into the making of ‘Fury.’” Unfortunately, though it does not detract seriously from the entertainment value, the second half of ‘Fury’ does not measure up to the quality of its earlier portions. To have achieved the highest effect, however, it probably would have been necessary to develop the story as an out-and-out tragedy, and that very likely would have been commercially disastrous. The film is sufficiently exciting and so well acted that the document is palatable. Entertainment.”

“...a melodramatic romance for adults who applaud the coming of social meaning to the film; not unduly catering to popular taste in entertainment, and directed with cinematic feeling by Fritz Lang.”

“...I thought it an exceedingly poor picture, poorly written and badly directed. I know Fritz Lang is an capable director. He proved that by his work abroad. But why he should be put in charge of a purely American picture is a mystery and cannot be understood. It is a sad commentary on American life that such a fantastic yarn should be presented to the world as an authentic document. As an American, I, for one, do not want it. The film bristles with cinematic anachronisms...”

“...the close-up of a kiss in front of an audience in the court-room was the final insult to the intelligence of the audience in the film theatre.”

“...it will, in some parts of the country, be recognized as a sobering and timely warning.”

“It has been highly successful with the problem. One might say too successful, for ‘Fury’ is disturbing for the wrong reason: the problem it poses is entirely unresolved at the close...”

“It is regrettable that [Director Lang] did not, or could not, make ‘Fury’ the first-rate tragedy it might have been.”

“This is a powerful and documented piece of fiction about a lynching for half its length, and for the remaining half a desperate attempt to make love, lynching and the Hays office conflict inevitable. Those who see it carry the whitewash part of it long in their minds as the straight action of the first part. Those who see it as the opportunity that has the true creative genius of including little things not germane to the concept but, once you see them, the spirit and essence of life itself.”

“...It's a shocker, this picture, and something a good deal more than that. In addition to an original theme, a definite viewpoint, and enough punches to jar Joe Louis, ‘Fury’ is fine movie entertainment, weakening only at the very end. Such pictures usually do... This is a picture to make you mad, to get you excited and keep you that way until the final, wishy-washy close-up. The rest of the film is grand stuff.”

“...Let it be said at once: ‘Fury’ is the finest original American film that has appeared this year... It should appeal mightily to those of you who look to Hollywood—fortunatly most of the time—for something better than superfluous dream-world romance... This has been a completely enthusiastic report, and such was our intention.”

“...Call it something worthy of respect, an earnest, excellently-acted film that spreads its soul-stirring scenes against the animal spirit to destroy with a power that cannot be denied. Call the first half of it a truly great picture, completely understandable and inspiring one. Call the last half mighty good melodrama, but not good enough to warrant the same respect and enthusiasm that the first half so uninitiately compels... You cannot afford to miss the film. To do so would be to ignore one of the most startling and courageous things the American cinema has done.”

“...Fury happens to include one or two scenes of particular force. But, despite its somewhat overdone plot complexities, it indicates superior handling. This, I should suppose, is due to the quality of the director... In the big scene, the actual episode of the lyncher’s orgy, Herr Lang doesn’t mass mere crowds. He has gone far enough to contrive to give us some idea of the minds, and one might say souls, of lynchers. . . It is so effective it may sidetrack the minds of movie audiences to something equivalent to thought upon the problem itself. . . In fact, it's melodrama with a considerable effect. This is history and you are about to Lynch might go and see how you will look while you're doing it.'

John Most

"‘Fury’ stabs into its subject, mob violence, with a variety of searchlights, sociological, humanistic, dramatic, while the subject itself turns under the beams until each phase of it has been successfuly and rather severely illuminated. Ruminant in its power of last year's famed 'Informer,' though far more spectacular, a good deal less sincere, 'Fury' is a triumph for Joseph Mankiewicz, young M-G-M producer, and Fritz Lang, monocled Austrian director whose first U. S. effort it is.'

+ Time p10 Je 5 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"A powerful and impressive document in indictment of mob violence, this will strike a responsive chord with all classes of audiences which should make it a substantial money-getter. Family.'

+ Box Office p69 My 30 '36

"Strong film fare and possibly not much of a picture for sex. Notwithstanding that it is an unusually well made feature that has been well directed and played by a better than average cast, if your point of view is appreciation for raw drama they ought to like this one."

+ Film Curb p6 My 23 '36

"This is one of the most powerful, gripping pictures that has come to the screen. It is worth selling—and selling hard."

+ Film Daily p8 My 22 '36

"‘Fury’ is one of the best pictures of the year. Packing a wallop that has rarely been seen in a picture, compelling an interest that is certain to draw a great percentage of those patrons shopping for entertainment. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has pulled a 'sneak' hit on its organization, on Hollywood and the whole industry. [since] little has been heard of ‘Fury’ and certainly nothing to indicate that it would get better than B rating at the box office."

+ Hollywood Reporter p2 My 19 '36

"This picture is different, volatile, eruptive melodrama. In its class, in which several that are characteristically similar have proved box office attractions, such as 'Scarface,' 'The Big House,' 'Fugitive from a Chain Gang' and 'Black Fury,' it is an exceedingly good picture."

+ Motion Pict Daily p1 My 20 '36

"From directing, writing, acting standpoints, 'Fury' is tops. Though the unqualified sincerity and an effort to treat all angles fairly, the story will hardly appeal to shoppers for an hour or two, the direction ranges from forceful to indifferent. His screen play is too superficial to serve as effective propaganda."

+ Motion Pict Herald p37 My 30 '36

"Coming at the tag end of the 1935-36 cinematic season, this flicker is certain for celluloid honors. Apart from its intrinsic artistic merits, it’s also okay box office. ‘Fury’ is certain for considerable critical attention although its grosses may prove spotty. It's a cinch critic's picture, and should do better on the word-of-mouth."

+ Variety p18 Je 10 '36

"Picture generates so much heat because of its natural handling and exciting that it will still in many audiences the passionate furies it indicates in its drama of vengeance. . . For many, on this other exploitation, 'Fury' will be too strong a meat for cinematic diversion. Grosses are apt to be spotty, but picture has enough draw namely, exploitation ammunition, controversial matter and intrinsic strength to justify its importance with substantial box office."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 19 '36

G

GENTLE JULIA. Ap 17 '36 63min 20th century-Fox

Players: Jane Withers, Tom Brown, Marsha Hunt. Jackie Searl

Director: John Blystone

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family-junior. An inconsequential plot . . . made amends a series of Tarkingtonian [juvenile] episodes, some of them very funny."

+ Nat Bd of R M Ap '36

"Family—junior."

Wkly Guide Mr 28 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Jane Withers plays Florence, the feminine Peer of Booth Tarkington's novel, and she makes the perfect Tarkington heroine, aged perhaps twelve. . . The picture lacks much plot. Its direction surely might have been a little crisper. But the atmospheric details, the comedy episodes and the performances, from that of little Miss Withers to the genial chuckles of Hattie McDaniel, are a lot of fun." Eileen Creelman

+ N Y Sun p10 Ap 11 '36

"[It] seems destined to run out its career under the general heading of Pictures for Children. . . The setting is a typical Tarkington small town at the turn of the century, with picture hats, parasols and antique automobiles predominating. Miss Withers might have been a little better directed, if there was something to do. She seems inclined to glance toward the camera, as if for approval, during what should be her better sequences." J. T. M

+ N Y Times p19 Ap 11 '36

"Booth Tarkington's ambling, unimportant but sometimes very amusing novel, 'Gentle Julia,' has been made into a simple, true and genuinely comic film of American small-town life, and it may well be seen with a great deal of pleasure." William Boehnel

+ N Y World-Telegram p13 Ap 13 '36

"[It has] Jane Withers and Jackie Searl (Hollywood pictures) being bright in a ham film." John Mosher

New Yorker p30 Ap 18 '36

"In the class with, though not of the quality of 'Aah, Wilderness,' 'Gentle Julia' is a pleasing collection of minor small-town episodes, pre-War style, deriving flavor from the acid presence of 10-year-old Miss Withers."

+ — Time p36 Ap 27 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"The film has that quality which should make it enjoyable for almost any type of audience, anywhere, containing as it does a considerable amount of entertaining comedy, supplied for the most part by Jane Withers."

+ — Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
GENTLE JULIA—Continued

"This one comes under the head of family entertainment and, as such, will find its place for moderate coin. It's a simple, home-spun [Juvenile] yarn with the story pyrotechnics neatly arranged for adolescent mentality. Continuity is jerky and none too well thought out, but is figured for laughs and, to some extent, accomplishes this purpose."

+ Variety p16 Ap 15 '36

GIRL FROM MANDALAY. Ap 15 '36 65min Repub-
Players: Conrad Nagel, Kay Linaker, Donald Cook. Esther Ralston
Director: Howard Bretherton
Based on the novel, Tiger Valley, by Reginald Campbell. "Conrad Nagel, an English plantation foreman, has spent four years in the jungle with marriage to the girl back home as his goal. When he is jilted, he goes to Mandala to forget. [There] he meets Jeanie, a cabaret performer." (Hollywood Reporter)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Adults & young people." E Coast Preview Committee

Fox W Coast Bu1 My 2 '36
"Mature."

Nat Bd of R M My '36
"A story of wrecked emotions. Objection: although there are no definitely bad scenes, it is 'messy' in its implications. Objectionable in part."

Nat Legion of Decency Ap 13 '36
"Adults & young people."

Sel Motion Pict My 1 '36
"Mature."

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"Conrad Nagel and Kay Linaker do what they can to serve up this emotional hash appetizingly."

Christian Science Monitor p15 My 2 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"Packed with thrills, and based on an interesting story, this film builds up to a sock climax. Family."

+ Box Office p25 Ap 11 '36

"A familiar story. It has been done many times before and it was a hard job to do it even as convincingly as Director Bretherton has in this case. Director and a good cast save this from being very poor stuff. It is suitable for the smaller stands and as part of a double bill."

- Film Curb p10 Ap 18 '36

"A tropical story of two men after one girl is told herein with much conversation and very little action. The performances of the principals are uninspired by the story or direction."

- Film Daily p10 Ap 14 '36

"Routine jungle story with a few highlights makes for only moderate entertainment. Action is rather slow in getting under way and much interest is lost through hating motivation of characters."

- Hollywood Reporter p4 Ap 1 '36

"Here is action played against a tropical jungle background which adequately fills the bill as top-rung program fare and should please in all spots. . . The film packs a climactic wallop when a forest fire drives tigers down into the inhabited district."

+ Motion Pict Daily p14 Ap 2 '36

"Meldrum helped by good performances from the principals. 'The Girl from Mandalay' is a programmer that can mean more with selling."

N Y Exhibitor p43 Ap 25 '36

"'Girl from Mandalay' is one of those half-and-half affairs. About half is snappy, exciting entertainment, but there is an equal amount of duds and highly artificial make-up. Lack of name strength is a handicap that this one will find difficult to laugh off. . . Letdown in final scene is not only bad but inexcusable. . . Picture will have difficulty in crashing the dual barrier."

- Variety My 13 '36

"'Girl From Mandalay' is sprightly entertainment. Given ample production, cast of better people, this film should hold its own at top of duals, and occupy single spot in many lesser houses. It's chock full of action, thrills, and sympathetic love interest."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p4 Ap 1 '36

GIRL OF THE OZARKS. Je 12 '36 67min Para-Players: Virginia Weidler, Henrietta Cros-man, Leif Erikson, Elizabeth Russell Director: William Shea
"The young star plays a poverty stricken problem child who is always in hot water through her romantic and gallant lies designed to save her self-respect and reassure her dying mother. The teacher of the country school, in desperation, threatens to send the child to a family home after one more explit."

Motion Pict Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings
"General patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Je 18 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"The picture has the rare quality of looking as if it had no director, as if the camera picked up a group of people merely living their lives and being unaware we are looking on. . . If you overlook 'Girl of the Ozarks' because of its being just a little picture, you will deny yourself some satisfactory entertainment."

+ Hollywood Spec p9 Je 6 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"Beautiful homespun drama that should skyrocket little Virginia Weidler right into the nicher of top money kid stars, and will inject noticeable stimulus into the box-office registers. The story is an interesting backwoods yarn."

+ Box Office p33 Je 6 '36

"This backwoods drama, with its 'homey' atmosphere, will be especially appealing to the family trade. The story is rather familiar material but it has been handled so skilfully by all concerned that it is attention-holding."

+ Film Curb p8 Je 6 '36

"Built on the same lines as 'Timothy's Quest,' this is a nice program film that should get over with the same type of family audiences."

+ Film Daily p8 Je 1 '36

"The story is standard hokum of the best grade and its development supplies laughter and tears for a pleasing neighborhood attraction, with emphasis on family trade. Little Virginia gives definite promise of developing box office value from the beginning."

- Hollywood Reporter p3 My 27 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
"Little Virginia Weidler does remarkably appealing work in her first star part and is sure to draw hailing comment from family audiences for carrying the entire weight of this routine hill-billy tale."

Motion Picture Daily p6 My 28 '36

"The kind of show for family type audiences and especially attractive to children, it's a hokum-tinged yarn of Missouri mountain folk. The picture consistently centers attention on its little girl lead."

Motion Picture Herald p50 Je 6 '36

"Estimate: for neighborhoods, twin bills."

Variety (Hollywood) p8 My 27 '36

GIVE US THIS NIGHT Mr 6 '36 70min Paramount

Director: Alexander Hall

Music and lyrics: Erich Wolfgang Korn gold, Oscar Hammerstein, Il

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A and Y: fairly good; C: doubtful interest."

Christian Century p550 Ap 8 '36

"Family." Am Legion Auxiliary

"A highlight is the singing of a Roman Catholic mass, in a sequence remarkable not only for the expert musical rendition of the two principals, but by beauty of photography combined with clever choice of types. Family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Excellent. Mature." DAR

Although the production suffers from lack of novelty, it has some beautiful musical numbers. . . The singing of the principals with their finely trained voices is at times most enjoyable, but others, the powerful tones of Kiepura are unfortunately allowed to overshadow those of Miss Swarthout. Adults & young people." E Coast Previey Committee

"Family." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Family." Nat Bd of R

"Compared to the calm, graceful beauty of Gladys Swarthout, the exuberant nervous energy of Jan Kiepura stands out to a disadvantage. The production is lavish and some of the music melodious. The story is lacking in suspense and originality. Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Gladys Swarthout's voice records better in this than in her first picture, but Jan Kiepura gives a powerful, well executed and one is conscious of voice straining on his part. Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Family." Nat Soc of New England Women

"General atmosphere is wholesome, although the drinking scene of 'Maestro and pupil' is unexplained. Family." Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bul Mr 21 '36

Family.

Jt Estimates Mr 1 '36

"Suitability: adults & adolescents."

"The plot, refurbished but still familiar, lacks conviction because Jan Kiepura, and to a lesser degree Miss Swarthout, are permitted to be have as children on an operatic stage by complete disregard of dramatic values. Both have been better in previous productions. Adolescents: 5+; yes, if approached in multiple children, 8-12: wholesome but probably dull."

Variety (Hollywood) p8 My 27 '36

"Both voices are great and though the story content is weak the production on the whole is excellent. Family."

Nat Bd of R M Mr 19 '36

"A, Y and C: entertaining romance for those who appreciate direct relation of music to the story."

Par M p52 My '36

"Here we have the first opera written expressly for the screen. The story is carried forward almost entirely through the singing of Jan Kiepura and Gladys Swarthout, neither of whom displays much dramatic ability. The comedy relief is weak, most of it being supplied by Alan Mowbray as a drunken and decadent tenor. For all its musical excellence, the picture is disappointing."

Scholastic p26 Ap 4 '36

"The production is lavish and some of the music melodious. The story lacking in suspense or originality. Family."

Sel Motion Pic Ap '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It has two limitations, depending on how you look at it. The singing intrudes a bit on the plotting, and the plot intrudes a bit on the singing."

Canadian M p61 My '36

"Gladys Swarthout and Jan Kiepura sing high and sing low, always classically, sometimes too much, in a continental atmosphere that bespeaks lack of originality in theme. . . Rose of the Rancho's' sad introduction of Gladys Swarthout to motion pictures, last January, is not materially benefited by her second screen screen. The story Miss Kiepura plays, the motion picture standing is better because of his 'Be Mine Tonight,' which frequently allowed to over-sing. The Swarthout with unfortunate effect on the presence of the songstress." J. P. Cuninghame

"— Commonweal p609 Mr 27 '36

"Splendid singing by Kiepura and Miss Swarthout of delightful Korngold-Hammerstein compositions, a superb acting performance by Alan Mowbray and fine photography by Victor Milner do not compensate for the writing and direction which principally are at fault. . . The apparently-expensive, elaborate ly-prepared 'Give Us This Night' is utterly without conviction, deplorably rich in artificiality. Frequently permitting conventional liberties to take part, entirely devoid of freshness in narrative-development and artificial and excessive in dialogue, none of which is all the picture will bring very little satisfaction to its producers even to those filmgoers who see it." Allan Hersholt

"— Hollywood Spec p12 Mr 28 '36

"In 'Give Us This Night,' the lovely Gladys Swarthout still lacks material to match her abundant talents. Gladys, as a singer, is simply in the throated foreigner sings agreeably; but if he is an actor, then we are Emelie, the cutest of the Dionne Five Film Bul Ap 60 '36

"[Kiepura's] vigor is almost embarrassing in 'Give Us This Night.' He gives every song every vitamin, like a college yeller, and I prophecy he won't be with us long unless"
GIVE US THIS NIGHT——Continued

he learns to control his blood pressure. This is all a little mean, I must admit, because Mr. Kiepura can indeed sing thrillingly." Don Harold

+ — Life p23 Je 1 '36

"A sad undertaking from any consideration, utilizing the bellowing voice and home-fried histrionics of Jan Kiepura. Mr. Kiepura, whose guiding principle is to outshine the entire cast combined, astoundingly dismisses anything less than triple forte. It's all very painful. Consequences are due Gladys Swarthout for her unavailing struggle with an ungrateful role and a noisy partner.

New Theatre p35 My '36

" 'Give Us This Night' is a dull and laborious musical play that is far too generous to the highly specialized talents of Mr. Kiepura and employs the handsome Miss Swarthout in the unflattering capacity of stooge. Since Miss Swarthout happens to be considerably more gratifying to the eye than her co-worker, and sings at least as well, it seems to me that the idea of using her merely to gaze about in breathless, on-the-great-man's-heaven-sent voice was a mistake." Richard Watts, Jr.

+ — N Y Herald Tribune p14 Ap 7 '36

"It is a very evident attempt to compromise between popular and operatic music, a difficult feat and one not altogether successful here... In spite of a music, in spite of the first-rate casting and in spite of the flashes of comedy, 'Give Us This Night' is only fair entertainment." Eileen Credman

+ — N Y Sun p24 Ap 6 '36

"Miss Swarthout does sing now and then, of course, but 'Give Us This Night' — and there's a handsome reward for anyone who can explain the title to our satisfaction — is predominantly a solo by Mr. Kiepura. The Polish tenor has a splendid voice, if a tribe on the bravura side, but it is our ungrateful opinion that he took too many encores... On the whole, however, the film does not solve the problem of opera on the screen; neither is it a particularly noteworthy contribution to the operatic cycle. But that is not Miss Swarthout's fault. Like the girl in the popular ballad, she never had a chance." E. S. Nugent

— + N Y Times p18 Ap 6 '36

"[It is] another slight impediment to cheerfulness in the cinema... The players who appeared to have won reputations. But they should guard them more carefully against such maladroitly written things as 'Give Us This Night.'" — William Boehnel

— N Y World-Telegram p15 Ap 6 '36

"[It is] flat stuff, aside from the music. And the music, if not flat, isn't of any great charm. The singers do nicely, with what tunes they're given." — John Knoke

New Yorker p36 Ap 11 '36

"The quality of the score is completely outdistanced by its quantity... Mr. Kiepura attempts to mug his way into the hearts of music lovers, a with not much help from the sound-dubbing department..." — Stage p16 My '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"With none too good a story, evidently manufactured to fit the requirements of the stars, this production is notable for the singing of Jan Kiepura and Gladys Swarthout which is of such a quality that it will please all lovers of classical music.

Film Daily p77 Ap 7 '36

"Inasmuch as 'Rose of the Rancho' was no recent sensation, since Jan Kiepura is gayer, it is general-ly unknown to domestic audiences, 'Give Us This Night' will have to fight for good re-turns. Strong on the singing side, the picture's grosses will be best in sections where music lovers are well established.

N Y Exhibitor p30 Mr 25 '36

"It is stilted and slow entertainment, built largely to give Jan Kiepura and the Metropol-itan Opera every opportunity to sing, little chance to act. In order to get fair grosses, picture will have to pull hard." — + Variety p16 Ap 8 '36

GOLDEN ARROW. My 23 '36 67 min Warner

Players: Bette Davis, George Brent, Eugene Pallette, Dick Foran

Director: Alfred E. Green

Based on the play Dream Princess by Michael Arlen, it is all about a young and beautiful heiress who persuades a handsome reporter to marry her to save her from a lot of foreign fortune-hunters. The reporter agrees to do so in order to get the time and means to finish a novel. After the marriage ceremony, the audience, if not the reporter, is let in on the secret that the girl isn't really an heiress at all, but a former waitress who has been turned into the wealthiest girl in the world by a high-pressure publicity man to exploit a beauty cream." (N Y World-Telegram)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: perhaps; Y: doubtful; C: no." Christian Century p23 Je 3 '36

"Family," Am Legion Auxiliary

"Possible for family," Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good—mature." DAR

"The picture is entertaining, but certainly does not have the dramatic possibilities worthy of such a capable actress as Bette Davis. Mature," Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Highly improbable farce, lightly done and diverting. Family.", Nat Soc of New England Women

"Family," S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fex W Coast Bul My 9 '36

"Though the picture is well cast and has interesting settings it lacks sparkle and conviction. Adults & young people." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 5 '36

"Family—mature." Jt Estimates My 1 '36

"Although Bette Davis reveals a flair for light comedy and gives a semblance of reality to a rather superficial part, those who expect an outstanding performance whenever they see her will find this an exception to the rule. Adolescents, 12-16: possible; children, 8-12: sophisticated." Motion Pict R Je '36

"Family." Nat Bd of R M Je '36

"A slight plot, not worthy of the talents of Bette Davis, and uneven direction somewhat mar the continuity. Fair for family." + — Nat Council of Jewish Women Ap 1 '36

"Adults," Nat Legion of Decency My 14 '36

"Family—mature." Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

"Family." Wkly Guide. My 9 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; —— Mediocre; — Poor; ——— Exceptionally Poor
Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Miss Davis's assortment of tricks do not pall; it is only unfortunate that they could not have been put to more stimulating use."
B. L.

_Boston Transcript_ p4 My 9 '36

"Bette Davis moves jauntily through the story as the girl and is assisted in dispensing glamour by George Brent. The film comes to a terminal fish with a generous distribution of black eyes among the less pleasant persons in the story."
Christian Science Monitor p14 My 9 '36

"'The Golden Arrow' is a trivial vehicle for this year's holder of the acting championship, and all it manages to be is something for Bette to recover from. ... The story is right enough for a class B offering with a minor star, but contains nothing the distinguished Miss Davis can get her teeth into."
— + Hollywood Spec p11 My 9 '36

"Michael Arlen's treatment of an American heiress and her fortune-hunting suitors makes 'The Golden Arrow' a more refreshing story than a fair many of the usualB. Brent, F. S. Nugent,

_N Y Herald Tribune_ p16 My 9 '36

"'The Golden Arrow' is one of those typical Warner farces which goes in either for subtlety or for realism. Its only intent is to give the audience a good time; in a mild way it succeeds. Miss Davis, in the simplest part she has essayed for some time, a role [which could be] as well filled by any newcomer on the lot, looks unstriking. After 'Of Human Bondage,' 'Dangerous' and 'The Petrified Forest,' [she] rates harder assignments than does Eileen Creehan."
— + _N Y Sun_ p18 My 9 '36

"'The Golden Arrow' drifts rather pleasantly across the screen. It derives most of its slight strength as entertainment from the saucy performance of Miss Davis and the harried, but good-natured, expression of Mr. Brent. F. S. Nugent,

— + _N Y Times_ p16 My 9 '36

"This reviewer found it no triumph either of acting, story telling or direction. Indeed, if the truth must be told, it is unmistakably lacking in all three of these items as well as entertaining. My weight.

— William Boehnel - _N Y World-Telegram_ p17 My 4 '36

"No chance is given Bette Davis to act, as she has shown she can act, in 'The Golden Arrow.'"
John Mosher — _New Yorker_ p87 My 9 '36

"[It] gains nothing from the miscasting of the studio's best actresses. Miss Davis, in a part that fits her like a diver's suit. George Brent's acting is only moderately bad. The dialogue is inequated for poor taste and lack of humor."
— _News-Wk_ p14 My 9 '36

"Miss Bette Davis ... was whisked into a routine comedy for obvious reasons of timelessness. There is not a true note in the entire production. It is sad to say that Miss Davis will not win the Academy's 1936 honors with this performance."
Stage p10 Je 1 '36

++ _Time_ p58 My 11 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; +— Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

Trade Paper Reviews

"Cinderella dressed up beautifully and smartly. The age-old story told again, but this time with sprightly new variations, and tastefully enlivened by spotlight performances of the entire cast. Family."

+ _Box Office_ p31 My 23 '36

"An hour of quite satisfactory entertainment. Perhaps not as strong as many of Miss Davis' former roles but she gets everything possible out of it."
— _Missouri Courier_ p13 My 9 '36

"Pleasing entertainment with good cast delivering both romance and comedy."
+ _Film Daily_ p7 My 4 '36

"This lightweight vehicle for Bette Davis belongs in the pretend-you're-rich group of modern fairy tales and as such it is acceptable mass entertainment, though unworthy of the dramatic gifts of that talented young actress. It will be especially popular with matinee-goers. ... Chalk it up for comfortable profits wherever Miss Davis and George Brent are box-office. ... There are a surprising number of novelty twists and turns and of bright lines to this story, with a small army of characters involved, so that once committed to it, few moments will seem dull."
+ _Daily News_ p4 My 1 '36

"Interest and amusement are heightened considerably midway in the film by an ingenius story development. Altogether it is an entertaining picture, well handled in the performances of its players and the deft direction of Alfred Green. The feminine trade especially should enjoy it."
— + _Motion Pict Daily_ p9 Ap 30 '36

"Miss Davis' recently won laurels suggest various exploitation possibilities, naturally, and the fact that this is a different kind of picture for her provides special point. ... Reviewed at the Warner Strand Theatre, New York, where a Sunday afternoon audience laughed responsively at several points in the course of the picture. Generally, it was a success."
— + _Motion Pict Herald_ p42 My 9 '36

"The photography is unkind to Miss Davis. In addition, the story is not enough for her talents. It is strictly a programmer, but likely to pull strong in the feminine matinee trade. Estimate: fair."

+ — _Philia Exhibitor_ p16 My 15 '36

"It pokes fun at heiresses, tells some exaggerated truths about foreign title-holders in the market for rich American girls, and all in all is sufficiently frothy fare to hold nice promise for the home markets and for the foreign film ranks. Perhaps not a top money-getter, but should do fairly good business wherever it's backed by adequate exploitation."

+ — _Variety_ p18 My 6 '36

"It is [a] highly diverting and thoroughly amusing picture that should have little difficulty registering with most any type of audience."

+ — _Variety (Hollywood)_ p3 My 1 '36

GREAT ZIEGFELD
(Release date not determined) 135min MGM

Directors: Robert Z. Leonard, Arthur Lang

Music: Walter Donaldson, Harold Adams

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A great picture! ... If the picture has a fault it is that the earlier part of the story is given in a wealth of detail likely to be intensely
GREAT ZIEGFELD—Continued

...interesting only to those who remember the World Fair and other events of the same period."

+ + Bks & Films My ’36

"Ziegfeld’s name is a synonym for the spectacular in the American stage, and the great showman himself would have grown envious if he could have seen the gorgeousness of this portrayal of his career... Steaming clear of vulgarity, ‘The Great Ziegfeld’ is probably the outstanding event of the season in beauty." Mrs T. G. Winter

+ + Fox W Coast BUL Ap 15 ’36

"A performance for the whole family." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Here is eye-filling entertainment, with a sigh for the memories of yesterday to a generation who first learned to know and love Will Rogers, Fannie Brice, and Eddie Cantor on the stage of the New Amsterdam Theater; for a younger group to whom the ‘Follies’ are but history, it is still superlative enjoyment... Excellent entertainment for all audiences. Family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Excellent—mature." DAR

"An out-of-the-ordinary film, Adults & young people." E Coast Preview Committee

"A film which is lavishly spectacular and at the same time is as true as a piece of writing, exclusive of young children for whom the picture is far too long." Nat Soc of New England Women Writers

"A lavish production which, with a majestic sweep of dazzling splendor, outdoes the great Ziegfeld in gloriously portraying the American Girl Family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

+ + Fox W Coast BUL Ap 25 ’36

"Outstanding, Family." + + Jt Estimates Ap 15 ’36

Motion Pict & Family p6 My 15 ’36

"The production will bring back fond memories of a past milestone of a past generation. Adolescents, 12-16: good; children, 8-12: tiring because of three hour running time." Nat Bd of R M My ’36

"Nobody expected ‘The Great Ziegfeld’ to be a serious essay in biography, but there were a few hopes that such a fine chance to follow the Follies from their humdrum beginnings on the old New York Roof to their final magnificence would result in a Broadway panorama of some color and fidelity... Those hopes are not fulfilled." J. S. H.

Nat Bd of R M My ’36

"This glamorous, elaborate production justifies every superlative with which to express its beauty and lavishness... Excellent for the family & junior matinees." + + Nat Council of Jewish Women Ap 15 ’36

"Adults." Nat Legion of Decency Ap 6 ’36

"A and Y: without reservations, a great musical production. C: entertaining spectacle with an adult theme." Par M p42 Jl ’36

"[It is] played with great charm by William Powell... It is the spectacles woven into the story that give the essential value of the film. These are an exhibit of showmanship rivalling Mr. Ziegfeld’s own performances." S. H. Mail Judging p22 My 16 ’36

+ + Scholastic p22 My 16 ’36

---

"Outstanding. Here is superbly beautiful picture, presented with all the artistry, yet its greatest triumph is that the life story of a fascinating personality remains sharply etched throughout... The picture will never be outshone by the Illing music and the resplendent beauty of background and settings. Family." + + Sel Motion Pict My 1 ’36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The Great Ziegfeld’... is the musical show par excellence; it is perhaps the most beautiful and most pretentious picture ever made; it is definitely the last word in spectacle and lavish yet conserved expenditure." + + Canadian M p10 Ji ’36

"There is real value in the interesting authentic biographical relation to the theater's history of the past quarter-century. But aside from that the producers have built a logical, glorious musical comedy pageant that is brillian with gay, captivating music and songs, specialties and dance, all staged, and excellently performed, such that the great Ziegfeld surrounded his very life and lifework." J. C. Cunningham

"Again Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer adds an important chapter to the history of motion pictures, this time with an offering which, to any knowledge of such a man as this, highest spot the cinema has reached in entertainment, an offering which gives the screen new dignity as an art and which is of much value to Hollywood as a subject for study... The picture runs over three hours, during which time it never fails to have the high admiration and undivided attention of its spectators. It provided me with my finest experience in a theatre. Never, I am certain, have I forgotten Allan Herschot..."

"Running a little over three hours in its road-show form, the picture, for all its opulence, hits inevitable doldrums. Taken for what it is, however, rather than the eulogy it tries to be, ‘The Great Ziegfeld’ remains a capital show... ‘The Great Ziegfeld’ gives you, as they say, your money’s worth." (3½ stars) Beverly Hills Daily Republic My 28 ’36

"It almost made the mistake of going home to bed before ‘The Great Ziegfeld’ got to his Follies. There was a long, tedious, boresome, biographical portion, to which the Follies, picked out of his life from the trusts and generosity, ended the movie in a very expensive spectacle... There have been few musical pictures as lavish, few as breathing-takingly beautiful as this... Stick through to the middle of this and you won’t be sorry." Don Herold

+ + Life p23 Je ’36

"It is an excellent motion-picture, dealing knowingly and excitingly with one of the most astute showmen the American theater ever had. There will be picayune complaint that the story is not altogether factual, and that certain incidents have been twisted around to preserve the personality of the hero..."

+ + Lit Digest p22 Ap 4 ’36

"Few films have been more lavish than this one, which lasts three hours and must have cost millions in its production. It can be doubted that Ziegfeld was either the Shakespeare or the Leonardo he is represented to have been. Still, it is no doubt that the money was well spent. Louise Rainer as Anna Held has done a first-rate piece of acting—she is the best, I think, by any woman this year." Mark Van Doren

+ + Nation p860 Ap 29 ’36

"‘The Great Ziegfeld’ is full of many matters, too many to recount and certainly too many for its own good. Even if it didn’t run on forever, there is no excuse for the lag in the first part, its long come-out death, the stage-spectacle material in the last half, etc. And since it does run on, everything should have been tightened—especially the tradi-tious job of cutting those miles of negative, but in boiling down the script, saving a line here, this scene there, the agony is too great. Ottis Ferguson

New Republic p18 My 13 '36

"For one who never considered the 'Follies' an indispensible experience it's hard to know what the shooting's about. We'd like to be told. Ziegfeld's show biography is obviously variance with the higgling realities of the show-business that it is difficult to grant it any credit. Robert W. Johns

New Theatre p5 My '36

"It is beautiful, expansive, costly, tuneful, romantic, a bit lacking in humor and somewhat over-programing as to quantity. In a word, it's just the sort of show that its hero would have loved. and, since the Ziegfeld tradition is one of the greatest in American theatrical history, the girl-and-music saga of an epoch in the annals of the seven lively arts deserves attention and admiration. It achieves its most beautiful and imaginative effect in the field [of elaborate production numbers] that has developed over the years. the other production effects seem anti-climactic and flat and I think that most of them could have been omitted without any great advantage. It should have been fairly simple to cut 'The Great Ziegfeld' down to a more confortable size. Harold Waterman

+ + N Y Sun p23 Ap 9 '36

"Mr. Ziegfeld is not the only one who would enjoy this glorified version of his career. It would right now be hard to think of any one, except possibly rival producers, who would not rejoice at this fantastically extravagant production and even the show business world have to admit that a film as excellent as this is a godsend to the entire industry... The Great Ziegfeld is a story to be in part as a three-ring circus. Perhaps it's best just to say it's a show Ziegfeld would have been proud to own, that it was filled with the most beautiful girls I've seen on a screen, and that, after three crowded hours, the audience was electric. "

+ + N Y Herald Tribune p19 Ap 9 '36

"It would be easy to pretend it had been produced by the Great Glorifier himself rather than that gargantuan Fare. But the picture has the opulence, the lavishness, the expansiveness and the exotic which is characteristic of Ziegfeld's shows, the sense of the grand, the beauty of the opulent pageant, the sensuous, that would make it stand out in great contrast to the Great Ziegfeld might have handled his own life story. At least one of these spectacular numbers, the finale, the music of Irving Berlin's 'A Pretty Girl Is Like A Melody,' with overtones of 'Rhapsody in Blue,' never has been equaled on the musical comedy stage or screen." F. S. Nugent

+ + N Y Times p21 Ap 9 '36

"The Great Ziegfeld' may slacken its pace once or twice during its unusually long unveiling, but it never relaxes in its ability to entertain or its ability to recapture and project the thrill of the past. It is the story of a golden era in showmanship, with fine and hearty skill. Seldom has the cinema put on a spectacle which the producer und corrowed blend of homage, humor and heartbeat—or such a happy time... The cast ... deserve the choice part. Z. Leonard, more than just passing salamams for giving us a film that should command your immediate attention. William
t. Washington

+ + N Y World-Telegram p21 Ap 9 '36

"[It] is the most lavish display that the screen has had to offer. Its chorus numbers are gigantic and effective, As a document of Broadway, it is the finest. The Anna Held role is the life of the picture, aside from certain bits, and when at last she calls up 'Flo' and wishes him good luck on his marriage to Billie Burke, the real excitement of the movie ends, and from then on it's all a too protracted fun. The bits, though, are superb. Certainly far too hack and old-style is the Ziegfeld death, with that property garishness that is left from the sick man's hand." John Mosher

+ New Yorker p79 Ap 18 '36

"Powell plays the hero so suavely it is an entertainment, not a triumph. Too curate portrayal. Luise Rainer is a lovely, vivid, vivacious Anna Held. She sings as charmingly as she acts and does a higgling toast of Broadway. Miss Loy struggles admirably under the burden of playing a well-known, living actress; anyone else in the miscast would have been too bad. the real glory of the film rests in its bounty of Follies song hits and stars—in person or in-personal.

News-WK p29 Ap 18 '36

"It is a glitzy tribute to the 'Follies' creator, although you will find it more a re-glorification of American womanhood than an anecdotal biography of Mr. Ziegfeld. Somewhere in the stupendous outlay of cinema talent, perhaps in one of the myriad scenes, a waltz, a tango, a thousand miles of tulle and a mountain of tiaras; but there are many fine moments of nostalgia in the extravaganza. The Great Ziegfeld' approximates, more closely than any show he produced himself, the Ziegfeldian ideal. Pretentious, packed with hokum and so richly sentimental as an Irving Berlin lyric. It is, as such, top-notch entertainment." + + Time p47 Ap 20 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Description of its eye-filling beauty is difficult, and an evaluation of its heart-tugging story must be predicated upon the record of other box office smashes that packed not half the seats the 'Follies' has; the only example of a showmanship picture. Family." + + Box Office p25 Ap 18 '36

"There is so much of the beautiful in 'The Great Ziegfeld', that it is impossible to criticize, for fabulous extravagance this resulted by the immensity of such a production, to the selection of certain numbers which remain, perhaps as a comet might remain in our memory, moving across a sky alight with uncountable stars." Ray Lewis

The Canadiin Moving Pic Digest p3 Ap 18 '36

"M-G-M, a maker of great pictures, has produced one of the greatest of all times—a production of this scale, this ex-
cal. Although the picture runs for three hours, there is never a lagging moment." + + Film Daily p10 Ap '36

"[It] marks a milestone in screen production. A at view audience in the Times Theatre—Bruce Arthur from balcony to orchestra, a cross-section of audiences that will be found the world over—sat for hours to see this film. Never had a film been so well received. The Great Ziegfeld is a triumph of showmanship. We ever wavered a moment, greeting it time after time with spontaneously loud applause. The Great Ziegfeld is a definite not a showman's del-er. And in saying this we give most weight to an audience's reaction, merely noting in this humble column that it is a triumph for MGM and Louis B. Mayer." + + Hollywood Reporter p1 Mr 23 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; - Poor; - Exceptionally Poor
GREAT ZIEGFELD—Continued.

"Audience appreciation of the picture's heart-gripping human interest . . . would seem to indicate that the men and women who saw the picture in the first one of the greatest in years . . . With the story overflowing with glamour and excitement, the original screen play by Anthony McGuire writer of several 'Poodles,' and Zieglfeld's lifelong friend, the picture is an audience attraction and a show that is headed for big box-offices everywhere."

+ + Motion Pict Daily p10 Mr 20 '36

"It takes a lot of stuff to make a picture run three hours and a reported $1,500,000 production investment, Metro has emerged with a picture whose shortcomings is its faults. Even for roadshowing, there is the question of how much better an entertainment it would be with an hour out. The production high mark of the numbers is 'Pretty Girl' as the first half finale. This nifty Berlin tune becomes the fulcrum for one of Frank Skinner's best arrangements as Arthur Lange batons the crescendos into a mad, glittering pot-pourri of Saint-Saens and Gershwin, Strauss and Vordi, beautifully blended against the Berliners background. It's a scenic flash which makes one wonder. 'What can they do to follow that?' 'Great Zieglfeld' is an outstanding picture."

+ + Variety p16 Ap 15 '36

GREEN PASTURES. Je 25 '36 90min Warner Players: Rex Ingram, Oscar Polk, Eddie Anderson, Frank Wilson.

Directors: Marc Connely, William Keighley

Choral music: Hall Johnson Choir

Based on the play of the same title by Marc Connely which in turn was suggested by a volume of short stories, Ol' Men Adam and His Chillun, by Roarke Bradford. "Literally, the fable the picture narrates is that of God's trials and relations. His joys and sorrows when He created the world and made mankind. Actually it is the primitive, modern Louisianian concept of God's control of heaven and man's experiences on earth with God as described in the Old Testament."

(Motion Pict Daily p10 Je 19 '36)

A Guide to the study of the screen version of The Green Pastures, prepared by Mabel A. Bessey, is obtainable from Educational and Recreational Guilds, Inc., 125 Lincoln Avenue, Newark, for twenty five cents per copy.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A splendid picture, with a huge cast, ably headed by a Negro cast following the stage play throughout. Marc Connely has brought us a film which will appeal to all who know negroes, and will awaken deep thought in many who may attend few movies. Family." —Am Herald

"Adults; excellent; 14-18; excellent; 8-14: excellent. Family." —Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Excellent, Mature-family." —DAR

"Discriminating audiences will find Marc Connely's Green Pastures a joy . . . Family—should be explained to young children." —Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"A fine unprecedented picture. Family." —S Gulf Council of Women

+ + Fox W Coast Bui Je 6 '36

"Highest commendation is due Warner Brothers for their courage and originality in producing 'The Green Pastures.' It is an excellent and rarely beautiful picture. . . . It has deep spiritual value and is so artistically produced that offence could not be taken regardless of religious views held." —+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 27 '36

"This poignantly moving work really deserves the much abused adjective 'notable.' . . . The film follows the play version, but of the mechanism of the medium it is more impressive in many scenes. . . . Although it depicts the beliefs of a simple people, the film calls for an amount of participation in order to appreciate it. Those who take their own religion too literally may be offended but for those who need expression of the desire to give a real feeling of religion and a deeper understanding of a simple, childlike race. Adolescents, 12-16: excellent; children, 8-12: good with explanatory assistance."

+ + Motion Pict R Je 3 '36

"The direction is slowly paced and masterly and the harmony of the cast, construction and impression casting. Not in all of the screen's forty years has there been anything like it. . . . Those who might take the subject and its treatment too seriously as representing a religious preachment, bordering on satire, should understand that, rather than intending irreverence, the playwright set out to depict the rare, sincere, at times childish, but in which the illiterate, primitive Negro imagines his relationship with heaven and its constituents." —J. P. Cunningham

+ + Nat Council of Jewish Women My 27 '36

"The wide scope of the camera has made possible a more interesting interpretation than the original version which was confined to the limits of the stage. Excellent Negro spirituals by Hall Johnson's choir. General patronage." —+ Nat Legion of Decency Je 11 '36

"Family. Outstanding." —+ Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The production is a masterful rarity, not alone from the viewpoint of its unusual subject, but in its superlative treatment, sound construction and impression casting. Not in all of the screen's forty years has there been anything like it. . . . Those who might take the subject and its treatment too seriously as representing a religious preachment, bordering on satire, should understand that, rather than intending irreverence, the playwright set out to depict the rare, sincere, at times childish, but in which the illiterate, primitive Negro imagines his relationship with heaven and its constituents." —J. P. Cunningham

"It comes to the screen as a notable motion picture you cannot afford to miss. . . . The Green Pastures does not deserve the emotional appeal I thought it would have. Its producers overlooked an opportunity to make it vastly more powerful. They had at their command a choir of notable singers to provide a continuous vocal score which would have been a startling and highly artistic innovation in screen accompaniment. . . . There are no box-office names in the cast, but the theme of the story, the sweep of the production, the following of the fame of the play from which it was made,
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

H

HALF ANGEL. My 15 '36 65min 20th Century-

Fox

Players: Frances Dee, Brian Donlevy, Charles Butterworth, Helen Westley

Director: Sidney Lanfield

Based on the novel, Lightning Strikes Twice, by F. Tenney Jesse. "Frances Dee is acquitted of charge of poisoning her father. To shield her from reporters and curious mobs, girl is given to charitable reputation. Donlevy pursues girl to get her to authorize confession story of her expenditure, which she side-steps. But relentless, the reporter trails her and runs into circumstances which eventually clear her." (Variety [Hollywood])

Trade Paper Reviews

"Far more spectacular than its stage version, this is no artistic triumph. Performances, by members of the all-colored cast are sincere and authentic."

Box Office p32 Je 6 '36

"Played by a fine troupe of colored actors and actresses it is Grade A entertainment. Every member of the cast turns in a fine job. The co-direction of Keighley & Connelly could not be improved upon. They did a hard job in grand style. It should do exceedingly large business but just what will happen in the smaller spots remains to be seen."

Film Daily p11 My 30 '36

"Unusual box-office candidate in faithfully adapted and directed stage hit. Negro choir stands out."

Film Daily p7 My 19 '36

"It is difficult to reduce such a magnificent achievement to the terms of box office. It is more than a motion picture. It is a memorable experience in the theater. It is without limits in its appeal and in its entertainment values. A thoroughly reasonable prediction is that 'Greens Pastures' will play in return engagement after return engagement throughout the entire civilized world... The only criticisms that can be offered against the production are the unrelieved dramatics of the final reels and the gross miscasting of 'Eve.' The contrast is too great between the high humor of 'De Lawd's' earlier adventures and the tragedy of the latter scenes. This makes for a disturbing element that is unnecessary."

Hollywood Reporter p2 My 16 '36

"The Green Pastures" is something new under the motion picture sun. It has had no predecessor. The hero in love is produced as even vaguely similar... Played with a dignity that bespeaks sincerity, the picture is crammed with events and events in action, dialogue, and characterization that provoke hearty laughter... Since there is no precedent for this type of attraction, its box-office future, as mere entertainment, is not determinable."

Motion Pict Daily p10 My 18 '36

"Frankly the producers, despite the records established by the story as a stage play, were a little worried as to how the class and mass public might accept it as a motion picture, but not after watching the preview audience, listening to the laughter occasioned by the film's simple, honest comedy, noting the manner in which its simple drama held the crowd to hushed silence and hearing the salvo of applause at the end... Never a preachment or a sermon. "The Green Pastures" is amusing entertainment. By no stretch of the imagination can anyone, no matter how strict and rigid his religious scruples, consider it in any way profane or sacrilegious."

Motion Pict Herald p35 My 30 '36

"This leaves a sense of reverence that may make it valuable to many religious groups... Estima: excellent, will need selling."

Philo Exhibitor p26 Je 1 '36

"It will amply feed the tills of exhibitors in city and hamlet the world around, wherever folks can be seen by simple attendance and beauty... Marc Connolly rates top credit as author and adaptor and co-director. He weighed and inspirationally guided every step of the production from the showmanship as well as artistic angle... The deeply-moving and essentially reverent nature of the fable holds it above the rest and there are no racial angles to limit its geographical entertainment scope."

Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 16 '36

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: hardly; Y: not the best; C: no."

Christian Century p87 Je 17 '36

"Adults... Am Legion Auxiliary

"Adults; fair 14-15: fair; 8-14: no." Calif Council of War & Teachers

"Mediocre. Mature audience, including 14-15 years..."

DAR

"A well chosen cast, together with many comic situations and witty dialogue, make this an extraordinarily entertaining production in spite of a loosely constructed plot. Adults...

E Coast Preview Committee

"Family, but mature for children... Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Entertaining for mature audiences... Nat Soc of New England Women's Clubs

"Mature... S Calif Council of Federal Church Women

Fox W Coast Blu My 30 '36

"A loosely woven, rather incoherent murder mystery in which circumstantial evidence plays an important part. Amusing situations, witty dialogue and the work of an excellent cast give this picture entertainment value. Adults & young people..."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

My 18 '36

Settings are very attractive and the cast is pleasing, but several situations are far-fetched and on the whole the film is only moderately entertaining. Adolescents, 12-16: passable; children 12-16:...

Motion Pict R Je 36

"While it may be considered poor taste to exploit the insane, nevertheless Etienne Girardot is hilariously funny..."

Nat Council of Jewish Women My 20 '36

"Another murder mystery so tangled up with sub-plots that it becomes involved. General patronage..."

Nat Legion of Decency My 25 '36

"Amusing situations, witty dialogue and the work of an excellent cast give this picture entertainment value. Adults & young people..."

Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
HALF ANGEL—Continued

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"[It] offers uneasy and haphazard entertainment... The basic faults lie in the film-story itself: the producer should have noticed and done away with the coincidence carried several important scenes; its use invariably lessens plausibility... A more serious error is the use of for-humors to explain a subtly involved climax... Yet, despite its mistakes, which are primarily errors of omission, Half Angel was assuredly the most carefully filmed picture of the year. It is merely too bad that full advantage of its possibilities was not taken." Paul Jacobs

Hollywood Spec p12 My 9 '36

"The hardened geographer will notice many familiar landmarks of scene, incident and type in 'Half Angel.' The most familiar incident is the one about the reporter proving the murderess innocent and winning her love and the most familiar scene take place in court rooms." B. R. C.

N Y Times p1 My 30 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Whirlwind direction from a speedy script, coupled with inspired performances, bring this into the category of honest-to-gosh serial melodrama. Family." + Box Office p55 My 9 '36

"Just an ordinary, program grade, murder mystery melodrama.Murder mysteries are not big stuff and the neighborhoods but not big spot stuff by any means." — Film Curb p12 My 9 '36

"This is a mad, merry offering. Although the heroine is accused of two murders and there is much mystery, the comedy predominates." + Daily Cal My 4 '36

"It has an excellent character cast, but its lack of draw names and story weight will hold it generally in the B class for dual exhibition, where it will have considerable box-office strength... The girl is played by Frances Dee with appeal and spirit. It is no simple matter to stand up under two or three murder charges and battle with a cavernous lover at the same time, but she does it and makes it delightful." + Hollywood Reporter p3 Ap 29 '36

"A boisterously amusing comedy, this production has the characteristics of a fast-moving murder mystery that holds the interest right up to the giddy, serio-comic finale... Flights of this type of murder mystery and the relentless pursuit of the girl by a reporter." + Motion Pict Daily p4 Ap 30 '36

"The film proved to be an enjoyable average attraction." + Motion Pict Herald p39 My 9 '36

"Mystery drama with some attention to comedy angles, this is lightweight for de luxeurs, best suited for twin bills, neighborhood audiences." + Phila Exhibitor p49 My 15 '36

"This murder mystery presents mild box office returns as best at part of dual programs, though it should provide a satisfactory hour's entertainment once the customers and past the wink. Surprising feature of the film is the rather lustreless screenplay turned out by Gene Fowler and Doss Meredith from the "Tennyson's Jewel." Most sparkling is the dialogue, which is naturally expected from such a writing team." + Variety p4 Je 3 '36

"Half Angel" makes no pretense beyond an hour's audience diversion in the murder's own mystic class and on that basis offers good entertainment for satisfactory box office returns in programs where it is placed. The chances to hold suspense and puzzlement, together with character clash based upon hatreds and suspicions, well into final quick, punchy resolution of deadly facts and motivations.

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor

HARD LUCK DAME. Ag 8 '36 Warner

Players: Bette Davis, Warren William, Alison Skipworth, Arthur Treacher

Director: William Dieterle

"A high-spirited detective, member of a small detective agency, becomes involved with a gang of professional hardened criminals. One member of the gang pays him for protection, the others pay him to locate a legendary horn containing priceless jewels." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

Audience Suitability Ratings

"The picture finally ends with an air of mystery about the jewel they, whereabouts, and their origin, leaving the audience wondering what it is all about. The many dramatic situations are neither fresh nor stimulating. Adults." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Despite a brilliant cast and a director whose past achievements rank high, there is small reason for this far-fetched story." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Mediocre-unwholesome. An exaggerated murder mystery that leaves a bad taste in the mouth. Unconvincing and too much drinking. Adults." DAR

"A confusing mediocre mystery which cannot be redeemed even with a notable cast, good direction and a story by a well known author. Fair for adults." Nat Council of Jewish Women's Clubs

"The plot is bewildering and hard to follow and is stagey in its presentation. Too much sun play. Mediocre. Adults." Calif Council of Fed Church Women

+ Fox W Coast Bul Ap 4 '36

"A farcically created mystery drama replete with suspense and at times very broad humor and too much drinking." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Mr 21 '36

"Unfortunately cast is Bette Davis, winner of the latest Academy Award. Disjointed continuity and unbelievable dialogue mark an undistinguished photography. Waste of time for adults." — Jt Estimates Ap 1 '36

"Adolescents, 12-16; no: children, 8-12; no. Comedy is overdone to the point of silliness. Although typical of its kind, this one seems to be poorer than usual." — Motion Pict R My '36

"A mystery murder drama in which broad humor and much drinking accent a complicated plot; Y: unethical; C: no." — Par M p55 Je '36

"Waste of time for adults." — Sel Motion Pict My 1 '36

HARVESTERS. My 1 '36 65min Republic

Players: Alice Brady, Russell Hardie, Ann Rutherford, Frank Craven, Cora Sue Collins

Director: Joseph Santley

Based on the novel of the same title by Gene Stratton Porter. "The story concerns the efforts of Joyce Compton, backed by her shrewish mother, Alice Brady, to win Russell
Hardie, a most eligible bachelor. Opposed to the match is Emma Oldham, Hardie's neighbor who seeks Hardie for her granddaughter, Ann Rutherford. Trapped into a betrothal, Hardie escape only the threat of marriage. Dunn has died and Cora Sue Collins, Miss Rutherford's younger sister, has been placed in an orphanage. (Motion Pict Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Old-fashioned scenes and costumes, good acting and excellent direction are combined in an entertaining romance. Family." East Coast Preview Committee

+ Fox W Coast Bul My 23 '36

"The young leads are attractive, and the acting, as a whole, seems to lack inspiration. It is not distinguished in any way. Adolescents, 12-16. Probably enjoyable; children, 8-12: little interest." + Motion Pict R My '36

"Family."

--- Nat Bd of R M My '36

"General patronage." Nat Legion of Decency My 7 '36

"A: sentimental drama: Y and C: romantic with naive comedy." and on sø M p42 Je '36

"Family." Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

"Family."

Wkly Guide My 2 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"A nice 'down home' romance religiously adapted from the Gene Stratton Porter novel--a perfect family vehicle. Family."

--- Box Office p56 Ap 25 '36

"In various surroundings this plot has been used, many, many times. The story of the match-making mother is nothing new. Republic selected an excellent cast for this one and given better material they could have done something." --- Film Curb p15 Ap 25 '36

"This story ... is handled in a very matter-of-fact manner. The piece is quite talkative, there are no real tense moments, or high spots, and the story is as strong as they might have been. ... In the smaller towns and cities, the show should do some business, and some of the double bills it should prove satisfactory." --- Film Daily p4 Ap 18 '36

"This rather free version of one of Gene Stratton Porter's best-known folk romances of the nineties lacks only name strength to make it a boxoffice best-seller in the smaller cities and on down. It is almost perfect family fare, folksy, wholesome and filled with unforced chuckles. There must be added also the value of the book's many millions of loyal readers, who are not likely to be disturbed by the story's liberal amplifications."

"This best seller makes good family entertainment as presented here. Victor Zobel's production and Joseph Santley's direction result in a lighthearted, sentimental drama, full of homey qualities. ... The production will be acceptable in most situations, rating higher in the smaller markets."

--- Motion Pict Daily p10 Ap 26 '36

"Mingling drama with comedy and at the same time narrating a sympathetic-stimulating, romantic story, the picture seems to be one of potent appeal for neighborhood and family audiences. In addition to name values, the show carries many suggestions that readily can be adapted to business stimulating exploitations."

Motion Pict Herald p40 Ap 23 '36

"Despite the fact that some may find it slow-moving, that is not what it should be. The 'Investor' should be a good entrant for neighborhoods where Gene Stratton Porter's name is strong for any box office. ... With some good bits, the show ought to interest, even though its possibilities have not all been realized."

--- N Y Exhibitor V Exl 23 My 10 '36

"Gene Stratton Porter's best seller of two decades back, makes mild entertainment today. There's nothing particularly fresh about the mother-who-matches for her daughter. Republic's picture has little to recommend it either as entertainment or in production. ... Made for $65,000, pictures should be on a par with major class B pictures. It's made from that."

Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 15 '36

Hearts Divided.

Players: Marion Davies, Dick Powell, Charlie Ruggles, Claude Rains, Edward Everett Horton, Arthur Trefether. Director: Frank Borzage

Music and lyrics: Harry Warren, Al Dubin

Based on: Gene Stratton Porter's "Betsy localization.

There's Napoleon's broken home, part of the fragile Betsy, fathered by a rich farmer, with his handsome sets. It seems to be a light comedy, despite its light comedy, and not conclusively 100 per cent entertainment to this reviewer: "There is no sign in this picture that it will not entertain you." Marguerite Tazelaar

N Y Herald Tribune p10 Je 13 '36

"The story is about what you'd expect from the title. The picture, not bad light entertainment, is a curious mixture of good and bad. The principal roles are played by Dick Powell and Marion Davies, neither of them noted for their histrionic talent. ... The picture dies on its feet when the principals go into an emotional scene. ... When the stars are not on the screen, 'Hearts Divided' is rather pleasant diversion." Eileen Creelman

--- N Y Sun p19 Je 13 '36

"Despite the presence in its cast of one of the grandest collections of supporting players ever gathered together for one production, 'Hearts Divided', which rode into the Strand yesterday on a virtual tidal wave of advance ballyhoo, is the year's most disappointing picture. ... Its chief faults are that Miss Davies is miscast and that the apocryphal script demands that Dick Powell cavort about Baltimore much more than a haircut and warbling vacuous ditties." J. T. M.

--- N Y Times p18 Je 13 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

---
HEARTS DIVIDED—Continued

"Marlon Davies and Dick Powell are charming in their new entertainment... Both of them, as you know, are gifted and persuasive players, and when the opportunity offers, of reasonably good acting. That opportunity, however, is absent from 'Hearts Divided.' They must be content as its principal players, to give attractive performances in an entertainment that is not worthy of their talents. The film is not dull, nor is it without a good romantic idea. But it seems condemned to be only moderately amusing and diverting. — N Y World-Telegram p13 Je 15 '36

"The piece is hardly a historical triumph. It's more a matter of apple blossoms, as a background for Miss Davies; a tear or two; a brave scene of renunciation, an emotion adapted to the Davies talent; and a song here and there." — New Yorker p68 Je 20 '36

"Treacle, treacle, little star. This viscous costume-piece was obviously designed for those with predilections toward sugary violets, Harrison Fisher art, Beatrice Fairfax's heart-throb column... The romantic leads are lynch- phaged tumbling stones that a body of playgoing actors in supporting roles more than atone for the inexpertness of the stars who linger in the endless procession of gauche close-ups. Dick Powell is woefully miscast. Costumes, camera-angles, undistinguished songs, all piled high! A Maid of Honour. Davies is the most consistent actress on the screen; she hasn't changed her routine by so much as a single step... and it's palpably too late to start now." Herb Sterne + Script p8 Je 13 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"It is a costume comedy-drama that most any audience ought to relish... Davies fans will have no trouble in clicking most anywhere." + Film Curb p6 Je 13 '36

"Well-directed, splendidly acted love story with historical background." + Film Daily p10 Je 9 '36

"[It] carries the aroma of an old-fashioned operetta without music. Its story elements are old-fashioned hokum, but are served with considerable skill and a variety of decorous comedy. They give Miss Davies no such sprightly comedy opportunities as she handled in 'My Man Marmalade,' but should give her a romantic role for which she is not well suited. Despite the evident efforts to bolster up the story sufficiently, the result is not happy and will score only moderately at the box-office. It will need vigorous exploitation in all markets." — Hollywood Reporter p8 Je 4 '36

"Napoleon. Thomas Jefferson, Alexander Hamilton and other celebrities of the time pass on the screen, attracting greater interest than the central characters. Though Expy are all incidental to the plot, with the exception of Napoleon superbly played by Claude Rains." + Motion Pict Daily p9 Je 5 '36

"Analysis of this picture reveals plenty of easily adaptable angles that should make for interest-creating exploitation... Well acted... the picture has an entertaining quality that should appeal to average audiences." + Motion Pict Herald p68 Je 13 '36

"It will take selling to get this one over for rent, but the potentialities are there. Chances are it will hit and miss, doing well where theatres get seriously to work on it. Against a big box-office... Difficult to place the blame on the film's failing to come through to definite click proportions... Picture is the best vehicle and best story it has been heart... With the single exception of Claude Rains as Napoleon, not one of the actors seems to believe his or her role." — Variety p23 Je 17 '36

"While it will not be rated a great picture, 'Hearts Divided' has the names and will get the exploitation plus its own main titles merits that label it [as] a money-maker, best suited for class houses but broad enough in appeal to prosper well down the line... Top acting honors go to Claude Rains in the Napoleon role. He creates an outstanding characterization of the man's less imperialistic moments, deft, witty, shrewd and persuasive in his dealing with his brother and the girl the latter wants to marry." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Je 4 '36

HEARTS IN BONDAGE. My 29 '36 69min Repub. Players: James Dunn, Mae Clarke, David Manners, Charlotte Henry, Henry E. Walthall. Call. Fritz Leiber. Director: Lew Ayres

"The drama of the historic battle between the Monitor and Merrimac is the theme. James Dunn, David Manners, Charlotte Henry, Fritz Leiber bring the Civil War to life... the film has been transformed into an old-fashioned hokum, and destroys the ship after the Confederates" Motion Pict Daily

Trade Paper Reviews

"The first of this company's costume extravaganzas, this should mark Republic's ascendency into the bracket of 'A' producing companies." + Box Office p38 Je 6 '36

"It will undoubtedly be well liked in most situations... Not only is this film interesting from the historical angle but it also offers an appealing love story." + Film Curb p13 My 30 '36

"Republic has in this production a picture of which it can be proud. It is the company's best effort to date, and any major studio would be happy to include it on its program... It has the important saleable story, and should do well at the box-office." + Film Daily p6 My 26 '36

"The result is an important and frequently stirring dramatic story that every heart will love and see and that most theaters will have no trouble in exploiting for good profits. It belongs specifically at the top of any high-class double bill... History has been followed with devoted care so that the picture has documentary value and promise of a long and useful life." + Hollywood Reporter p2 My 23 '36

"The picture unrelieves an interesting document and events and is kept moving by the direction of Lew Ayres... Expression should stress the love interest as well as the historical nature of the picture." + Motion Pict Daily p7 My 25 '36

"Beside its tale of personal drama and romance, it presents a story of historical political drama which is both entertaining and educational. Intelligently produced, directed vigorously and convincingly acted, the picture is of a caliber for any kind of audience." + Motion Pict Herald Je 13 '36

"As the first on Republic's new season program, this sets a standard hard to equal. The picture can definitely be rated as the best from Republic since the company started, from all angles." + Phila Exhibitor p23 Je 1 '36

"Republic has something here to sell... Lew Ayres, director, deserves palm for his reality in doing something for world at large as his first directorial assignment. It's a masterful job. 'Hearts in Bondage' is not a very adept title for picture, but if sold consistently it will nail money as dual topper and along subsequents."

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 23 '36

HELL SHIP MORGAN. F 8 '36 63min Columbia
Director: D. Ross Lederman
See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: no value; Y and C: no."
Christian Century p175 Mr 25 '36

"The story is a vigorous one, the acting is expert and some of the camera effects are remarkable. Adults & young people." E Coast Preview Committee
Fox W Coast Bul Mr 28 '36

"Suitability: adult."
Mo Film Bull p66 Ap '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"[It is a] hack melodrama of violent action...
It should not be possible for children to see such distorted representations of average human relations. Their elders can take it simply as exciting hooey, complete with a storm at sea staged in the studio tank."

Trade Paper Reviews

"A good cast struggles vainly with this routine love triangle plot, set against a background of the sea... It is unconvincing and won't excite the old Bancroft fans. There is a thrilling episode, excellently staged in a small fishing smack during the height of a storm, but it's not enough to compensate for the slow pace and bare scenario, Family."
— Box Office p27 Mr 28 '36

"All the familiar action that pleases fans who like their heroes tough and their action hard and fast has been incorporated into this latest version of 'Hell Ship Morgan.'... The film is packed with fast moving sequences all the way through, and even though it is no pretentious production by any means, showmen can sell it as an action drama."
— Motion Pict Herald p41 Mr 21 '36

L'HOMME DES FOLIES BERGERE. Ap 17 '36
62min United artists
Sim Viva
Director: Roy del Ruth
This is the French version of Folies Bergere which was filmed in Hollywood last year.
"Baron Cassini, a reckless speculator, disppears on the eve of a large ball at which his attendance is essential, leaving a note to his banking partners that he will not return until he can meet his money obligations.
Panic-stricken, his financial associates engage a prominent cabaret performer whose impression of the banker is so remarkable that at times even Cassini is perplexed at the resemblance." (N Y World-Telegram)

First Ordinary Good; + Good; ++ Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; + Exceptionally Poor

Audience Suitability Ratings

"[It has] several more or less amusing episodes. Adult."
— Nat Legion of Decency Ap 30 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Admirers of Maurice Chevalier, who are familiar with his native language, are likely to enjoy the French version of "The Man of the Folies Bergere." The dialogue is sparkling and keeps the audience in good humor." H. T. S.
— N Y Times p19 Ap 18 '36

"As effervescent as ever, especially when he has the opportunity to sing a lively song in the presence of a group of stunning chorus girls, Chevalier prances in and out of the archaic walls of the plot with all the gayety and abandon that characterized his early pictures... Scenically the film is just as lavish and tasteful as the English version, and as tuneful, too, since the sets and songs are the same. And, to continue the comparison, the film is just as routine as its predecessor, since it happens that the plot, which is pretty old stuff, requires an excessive amount of time to take shape. W. Ross." (W. Ross)
— N Y World-Telegram p25 Ap 22 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"English version, substantially the same, much better for American audiences."
Film Daily p15 Ap 21 '36

"[The film] is a creditable job... [It] is being routed around in a few of the specialized French-language houses where it won't do too well because presumably Chevalier fans have already seen it and others won't care. Colleges, usual best bookings for French-language films in the United States obviously won't care much for the subject matter."
— Variety p29 Ap 22 '36

HOT MONEY. Jl 25 '36 78min Warner
Joseph Cawthorn. Paul Graetz
Director: William McCann
The story concerns a get-rich-quick scheme which a stockbroker initiates. Just before the Better Business Bureau steps in, the fake product turns out to be a super fuel for automobiles.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Pleasing entertainment. Family."
Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 6 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"With the exception of the to-be-expected weakness of over-emphasized dialogue, this impudently absurd comedy is tops... "Hot Money" is an evening's fun. Protest as he may, tear Junior away from his evening's arithmetick and take him. It is a family picture." For Jacobs
— Hollywood Spec p13 Je 6 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"'Get-Rich-Quick-Wallingford' type of film with a modern setting, a competent cast, written and directed to 300-laughs-an-hour speed, this will make an uncan carry its end on any program. Family."
— Box Office p69 My 30 '36

"This yarn of a get-rich-quick promoter of-ers amusing, and at times exciting, enter-HOT MONEY—Continued

entertainment... ‘Hot Money’ ought to be able to hold its own in most any situation.”
+ Film Curb p15 My 30 ’36

“Farce comedy-drama keyed to a speedy tempo with the entire cast contributing engaging performances. This is pleasant amusement, geared to appeal to general audiences. The picture is not pretentious. It concentrates on substantial entertainment and has elements in story content, dialogue, action and situations that should satisfy audiences.”
+ Motion Pic Daily p12 My 22 ’36

“Packed with comedy characterizations, this won’t have any trouble pleasing even if it won’t get into the better than average gross class. Heroine Beverly Roberts may mean more now that she has appeared in several pictures; the comedy angles are strong; the picture moves rapidly throughout.”
+ Phila Exhibitor p26 Je 1 ’36

“Warners has taken the old theme of the get-rich-quick schemer, added new, youthful faces, situations and exceedingly hilarious dialogue to make ‘Hot Money’ a solid hour of funful entertainment for the supplemental programs for which it is geared.”
+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 21 ’36

HOUSE OF A THOUSAND CANDLES. F 29 ’36 10min Republic

Director: Arthur Lubin

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

“A: weak; Y: hardly: C: no.”

Christian Century p55 Je 10 ’36

“Adults & young people.” E Coast Preview Committee

Fox W Coast Bul Ap 11 ’36

“Family.”

Nat Bd of R M Ap ’36

“General patronage.”

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 15 ’36

“Adults & young people.”

Sei Motion Pic Ap ’36

“Family.”

Wky Guide Mr 14 ’36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“A lively spy ring melodrama that is exciting enough to disguise its improbability.”
+ Canadian M p61 My 30 ’36

New Theatre p35 My ’36

“Perhaps the director of The House of a Thousand Candles’ was attempting to show us something in the way of stylized acting. Certainly all the personages of the drama perform in such a fashion that you could tell those who represent the spirit of evil from those who impersonate the spirit of righteousness even if their subsequent activities did not make their motives clear.”

Richard Watts, Jr.

N Herald Tribune Ap 2 ’36

“This picture is a harrased and hystericlal spy melodrama, contributing nothing new to the cinematic study of espionage systems... The House of a Thousand Candles’ is probably not intended as a burlesque of spy melodramas. There isn’t a Marx Brother anywhere in sight. But a few turns of dialogue could have made it a very funny picture.”

Bileen Creelman

N Y Sun p41 Ap 1 ’36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

“[It] is a lively spy-ring melodrama, briskly directed by Arthur Lubin. It adds up to a reasonably exciting entertainment and is quite the best spy picture to have come our way since ‘The Thirty-Nine Steps.’”

F. S. Nugent

+ N Y Times p29 Ap 2 ’36

“Unfortunately, the piece is directed with so little understanding of how humor and melodrama should be mixed that it turns out to be a pretentious little imitation of ‘The Thin Man’ with something on its mess. Some of the roles fall into good hands, but at times the acting is so inefficient that one cannot help suspecting that the few bits that are good are good by blind accident.”

William Boehnel

--- N Y World-Telegram p27 Ap 2 ’36

“Irving Pichel is the mastermind of the spies, and he conceals his headquarters in the becandled resort, which is a far more showy place of pleasure than the Casino at Monte Carlo actually is. The peace of Europe is of course assured at the end, but the audience by this time is thoroughly restive.”

John Mosher

--- New Yorker p56 Ap 11 ’36

“As a milestone in cinema history. The House of a Thousand Candles’ is unquestionably the recent man with attention is Mr. Pichel’s sinister smile, which remains upon his face as if carved there, from the first scene to the last, giving an otherwise somewhat episodic narrative a comforting if not entirely reasonable continuity.”

Time p32 Ap 15 ’36

Trade Paper Reviews

“This story of international intrigue packs a wallop because it is timely. With daily new accounts of European espionage, most audiences should watch this one with special interest.”
+ Film Daily p6 Ap 3 ’36

“Estimate: nice program entertainment.”

N Y Exhibitor p31 Mr 25 ’36

“A picture of many merits. ‘The House of a Thousand Candles’ can count a mile for every candle in measuring the distance it is ahead of the average independent product. Its presence at the Radio City Center is not without some endorsement; its value in that connection. It looks good and it moves fast enough to cover up the rather time-exhausted international spy plot that has been done so often, both silent and in dialog.”
+ Variety p16 Ap 8 ’36

(a) HOW TO BEHAVE. Ap 25 ’36 10min MGM

Players: Robert Benchley

“Robert Benchley undertakes to demonstrate a few situations, the etiquette of which is questioned by two telephone men working among the wires in a manhole.”

Motion Pic Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Family.”

Wky Guide Ap 18 ’36

Trade Paper Reviews

“Bob Benchley opens with good aim if he’s shooting for another Academy award. Again entertaining us, he is now showing how funny we look, when we put etiquette above being natural.”
+ Film Daily p8 Ap 20 ’36

“With all the humor that can be attached to the problems of a man arising from the table when a lady approaches, story telling under constant interruption and week-end guest behavior, the familiar and hilarious Benchley antics build up each situation for the most laughs."

"The gags are not so funny and even Benchley can't save this film."

"A rip tapping short written by and starring the journalistic comedian, Benchley is so good as a mugger and reads lines with the timing and comic finesse of an expert that the only reason he doesn't make more pictures must be because he doesn't want to. ... It's a cinch for the best theatres."

"Variety p15 Ap 29 '36"

HUMAN CARGO. J1 17 '36 66min 20th century-Fox

Players: Claire Trevor, Brian Donlevy, Alan Dinehart, Ralph Morgan

Director: Allan Dwan

Based on the novel, I Will Be Faithful, by Kathleen Shepard. "Claire Trevor plays the society girl who wants to break into the newspaper game with the romantic idea of seeing her name on by-lines, Brian Donlevy, ace reporter, gives her a real taste of how tough-chasing exclusives may be when he uses her as a stoolie to get a line on a gang which is smuggling aliens and then shaking them down."

(Motion Pict Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A fine bit of French mimicry on the part of Claire Trevor enlivens this heavy, exciting mystery. Adults." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Possible for family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Mediocre—mature." DAR

"The picture has its share of rough action, but this element is never emphasized at the expense of dialogue and ideas. Mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Mature," S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Fox W Coast Buil My 2 '36"

"Adults & young people." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ap 22 '36

"Tense, and fairly interesting for adult audiences."

"Jt Estimates My 1 '36"

"The plot is not especially original. ... When the characters stop to discuss personal relations in the midst of acute danger one feels tempted to yell, like the small boy in the gallery at another melodrama, 'Look out, lady, the villain is right behind you!' Adolescents, 12-16: very exciting; children, 8-12: not suitable."

Motion Pict R My '36

"Family."

Nat Council of Jewish Women Ap 22 '36

"Adults."

Nat Legion of Decency Je 4 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"This one will pull you to the edge of your seat and keep you there. ... Spangled with scintillating performances, there is not an unconvincing moment." Paul Jacobs

"Should any one miss 'Human Cargo' ... his loss would be, if possible, greater than that of those film fantasies dealing with smuggling rings, the underworld and newspaper romance which have been produced. The film is a poor producer except to employ actors." Howard Barnes

N Y Herald Tribune p8 My 16 '36

"Even its particularly able cast seems unable to keep the film from being anything more than an assembly job of trite situations. Material for an interesting topical film does come to the surface occasionally, only to be submerged again by a wave of melodramatic high lights." S. N. Nyugen

"Variety p15 Ap 29 '36"

"[It is] pretty terrible. ... Trivia for the grands." Douglas Gilbert

N Y World-Telegram p19 My 19 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Crammed with action, excitement, thrills and laughs, this picture will satisfy any type of audience: action, suspense, excitement and fast-moving dialogue give it a high rating among newspaper-gangster expose yarns. Family." Box Office p55 Ap 25 '36

"It is melodrama with some touches of comedy. The two leads do well. Dwan's direction is skillful, the intensity of their work is high as is the interest inherent in the story and its action." Film Daily p5 Ap 21 '36

"Familiar story material that is so skilfully woven into scene entertainment as to lift it out of the rut into a rating of first class B product that should be good boxoffice on the duals despite its lack of draw names." Hollywood Reporter p3 Ap 18 '36

"The alien shakedown racket provides a colorful background for this action melodrama which slows down only for comedy, tellingly spaced. ... The excitement of the chase after a story of the inside of the racket which smuggles, terrorizes and kills thousands of aliens seeking illegal entry into the country is the best angle to plug." Motion Pict Daily p10 Ap 20 '36

"Thrill action is the tune to which this spins. ... It is so directed that there always is movement, suspense and punch to maintain undaunted performance. Performances of the principals are uniformly good. While none of the cast names rank importantly in box office ratings, the continuing quality of their work is high as is the interest inherent in the story and its action."

Motion Pict Herald p36 Ap 25 '36

"Melodrama for neighborhood houses, twin bills. 'Human Cargo' makes up in general entertainment what it lacks in star lustre."

N Y Exhibitor p23 My 10 '36

"'Human Cargo,' a newspaper story, reads like Monday morning's paper. It tries to make Page One stuff out of news that belongs inside and 'way back.' Script takes a crusading stand on a subject that isn't worthy, and the cast is equally guilty of misplaced faith. Since it's only medium as entertainment and because the names are not big, the dual booking class picture isn't likely to get beyond the doubles."

"Variety p15 My 27 '36"

"'Human Cargo' is [an] exciting and amusing melodrama of rival newspaper reporters pitched against deadly immigrants. Boasting no compelling draw names and made in the B bracket, picture, nevertheless, boosts itself by smart handling and production to calibre capable of hitting A spots for good program support, and will amply take care of itself down the line."

"Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 18 '36"

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; ++ Mediocre; -- Poor; --- Exceptionally Poor
I MARRIED A DOCTOR. Ap 25 '36 85min Warner
Director: Archie Mayo
Based on the novel, Main Street, by Sinclair Lewis.
"The story centers on the marital adventures of a high-minded city girl ... who goes to a middle-western town as the bride of a favorite son, expecting to find friendliness and breadth of outlook there. Instead she becomes the victim of the pettiness and vindictive antagonism that Lewis depicted with such biting skill." (Hollywood Reporter)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: Interesting; Y: good; C: little interest." Christian Century p719 My 13 '36

"Episodes of tragedy, drama, and disappointments in an average small town family make a honey entertaining film for adults and family." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Good. Mature." DAR

"[It] is unconvincing and lacks dramatic power; it becomes a preachment against married people permitting anything to upset their domestic tranquility." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Nicely done by a sympathetic cast under expert direction who miss none of the finer nuances of the situation. Family, although above the heads of young children." Nat Soc of New England Women

"An excellent cast, well directed. Mature." S Calif Council of Pld Church Women

"Adults & young people. The picture will prove most interesting." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Mr 30 '36

"Adults." Jt Estimates Ap 1 '36

Motion Pic & Family Je 15 '36

"It is well cast and acted, and the small town setting is quite well done. As a whole the picture is interesting, presenting an old truth in modern form. Adolescents, 12-16: hardly suitable and not recommended; children, 8-12: no." + Motion Pic R My '36

"Mature." Nat Bd of R M My '36

"Adults." Nat Council of Jewish Women Ap 1 '36

"Adults." Nat Legion of Decency Ap 30 '36

"A: social drama of a cross section of American life in which human interest appeal is the dominating factor: Y: Interesting from character analysis standpoint; C: little interest." Par M p90 Je '36

"Adults." Sel Motion Pic My 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"[It] makes absorbing entertainment." + Canadian M p61 My '36

"Little is left of Sinclair Lewis's 'Main Street' in this conventionalized adaptation beyond a crude presentation of the high-minded intolerance of some small-town women... To bring seriousness into the action there is a surgical operation that will cause many to be entertained, the inspector staring in preference to looking at the screen, and a hackneyed motor accident sequence." + New York Science Mirror Ap 15 My 2 '36

"The new version, therefore, is meaningless as the sociological preachment which the author intended it to be, having lost that special significance of the broadening process down through the years. But, taken as a quietly effective domestic portrait, this basically identical adaptation is easily accepted on entertainment merits." J. P. Cunningham

"+ Commonweal p20 My 1 '36

"Archie Mayo has given us in this one a picture that can take its place beside his 'Petrified Forest' to which he gave such distinguished direction. ... Its down-to-earthness gives it universal appeal, sets it apart in the flow of sophisticated story material which producers try so hard to make entertaining." + Hollywood Spec p19 Ap 1 '36

"A curiously unbalanced film with awkwardly amateurish scenes placed next to bits of bright satire, 'I Married a Doctor' is a forceful but long-winded expose of small-town intolerance. (2 stars) Liberty p39 My 9 '36

"Despite the fact that this movie version of Sinclair Lewis' 'Main Street' keeps pulling its punches and cancelling its points, there is enough left over in the good performances of Pat O'Brien and Josephine Hutchinson and the sterling direction of Archie Mayo to make a tolerable hour and a half in the dark." Robert Stebbins + - New Theatre p36 Je '36

"From a savage and highly documented commentary on small-town life, the work has been transformed into a drama of marital problems. It has several fine performances and has been shrewdly directed by Archie L. Mayo, but its debt to Lewis is fairly obvious. 'I Married a Doctor' is not essentially a drama about a small town, but about a married couple. In his sticking very closely to the Lewis story, Mayo has succumbed to giving it moments of moving intensity, but neither he nor his players have achieved a dramatic unity." + - N Y Herald Tribune p8 Ap 20 '36

"This is Sinclair Lewis's novel in 1936 style, and a picture to be recommended... The Warners have smoothed the edges of 'Main Street,' and a good picture, too." Eileen Creelman, Motion Pic. + - New York Sun p17 Ap 20 '36

"The Warners have not permitted Miss Hutchinson's Carol Keneickott to be frustrated... [They] have caused Main Street to admit its errors and become the fugitive back home. That may be a happy ending and it may be good box-office, but it is bad drama. It is the difference between 'Main Street' and 'I Married a Doctor.' And it is a regrettable difference, for, with all its deviations from the Lewis text, the film, until that point, had been compactly written, excellently performed and much more than one had any right to expect from its title." F. S. Nugent + - N Y Times p17 Ap 20 '36

"Sinclair Lewis's angry satire, berating jerkwater smugness, 'Main Street,' has been shorn of some of its venom and under the title of 'I Married a Doctor' emerges as a reasonably entertaining, well-acted study of marital ups-and-downs in a typical American hamlet. ... You will like Josephine Hutchinson as the beautiful but frustrated Carol Keneickott who understands her husband, shows a sense of humor and is a sensible soul in the midst of a lot of coarse yokels and you will also like Pat O'Brien for his quiet, straightforward work." Dr. Paul Hindemith, William Boehn + - N Y World-Telegram p36 Ap 20 '36

"Carole's efforts to renovate the Midwestern towns in 'I Married A Doctor' are already antiquated aesthetics, I believe, and the whole

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; - Mediocre; - Poor; - - Exceptionally Poor
Robertson, Hare. Next day he blows his way into the bank where Hare is employed and in his efforts to make his personality felt, involves a number of big business men in the formation of a company and the promotion of a scheme of his own invention." (Mo Film Bul)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"The first half of the film, up to the exposure of the truth, is on the whole in the true Hulbert tradition; but the rest is patchy and rather disappointing... Jack Hulbert acts, dances and sings a usual part which gives him less opportunities than usual. Robertson, Hare is delightful when drunk and bellicose, and Gina Malo is a competent leading lady... Suitability: family; especially suitable for children under 16."

Mo Film Bul p21 Ja 27 '36

"A: fair farce with music, tap-dancing and British mannerisms; Y and C: undeniably diverting."

Par M p56 Je '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"So long as plot remains subordinate to action it is an excellent farce... The action drags rather towards the end." J. F. B.

Manchester Guardian p11 Ap 14 '36

"Mr. Hulbert is another actor for whom I feel a perhaps unfair repugnance. The beginning of 'Jack of All Trades,' however, shows him at his best, ... Afterwards the film degenerates into nothing but the jutting jaw and the permanent grin, the same memory that one takes away from all Mr. Hulbert's films, a nightmare memory, for what could be more horrifying than a jaw and a grin moving through restaurants and along streets, in and out of offices, down subways, an awful eternal disembodied Cheeriness?"

Graham Greene

+ — Spec p36 Mr 6 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Highly diverting farce with music, is Jack Hulbert's latest starring vehicle, in which he has the support of an excellent cast, including the very attractive and talented Gina Malo. She is the ideal partner for Hulbert, one of Britain's leading comedians. Although somewhat uncharacteristic, all the cast of 'Jack of All Trades' moves rapidly—too rapidly in some spots—and gives Hulbert a chance to do all his popular tricks which include tap-dancing of a high order and a breezy, spontaneous mannerism."

+ Variety p31 Mr 4 '36

JAILBREAK. Aa 1 '36 80min Warner 80min Warner

Players: Craig Reynolds, June Travis. Direction: Richard Purcell

Director: Nick Grinde

Based on a novel, Murder in the Big House, by Jonathan Ffinn. When a gang of four thieves kill a jeweller who is in prison, a clever young reporter solves the murder.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family—mature." Am Legion Auxiliary

"A well acted melodrama, with interest sustained by several new screen faces. Adults: good; 10-14: doubtful." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Mediocre—mature." DAR

"Mature," Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"A well acted, gripping crime drama which will appeal only to adults, like stories of life in the raw." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Too tense for young children. Mature," S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bul My 23 '36

"Lighting, sound effects, dialogue and tense dramatic action, all contribute to the realism of the portrayal of a crooked people." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 9 '36

"It is merely a most unwholesome pot-boiler depicting the violent encounters between two underworld characters who happen to have been incarcerated in the same prison. Adolescents, 12-16: no; children, 3-12: impossible, terrifying." Motion Pict R J '36

"The picture is essentially adult in theme and treatment but some very frightening photography makes it particularly frightening for children. Adults." Nat Council of Jewish Women My 13 '36

"[It is] an improbable story... A disguised gangster film. Adults." Nat Legion of Decency My 28 '36

"Mature." Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Harking back to the cycle of prison pictures, this offering is a rehash of all the action and dramatic tension that made them popular. 'Jailbreak,' never attempts to be heroic, and never preaches. But it tells a fast-moving rhythm, and keeps the dialogue as nearly as it can in the background. Although 'Jailbreak' was definitely slated for the second film on a double bill, you won't be bored." Paul Jacobs

+ — Hollywood Spec p13 My 23 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Powerfully-entwined mystery written expertly and directed in bullet-speed tempo. Originally slated to appear on the Warner Class B list, this far superior programmer, both in production class and entertainment values. The plot is concise, novel, and tricky. Family." Box Office p17 My 16 '36

"It has no big names but the cast does a commendable job and it seems certain that whenever pictures of this type are liked that 'Jailbreak' will satisfy." Film Curb p13 My 9 '36

"For the fans who like working out the answers, and for those who like their entertainment with a punch, this holds much. It makes a very satisfactory program picture, there is nothing about it and it's best returns should be from the action houses."

+ Film Daily p5 My 8 '36

"Made with the easy adeptness that Warner's has managed in these B grade crook plays, it will get by in double harness as just another hour of crime and criminals, with nothing to recommend it but guesstimation suspense and the rapid-fire performance of a dozen dependable Warner stock players."

+ — Hollywood Reporter p3 My 5 '36

"The picture makes good average entertainment." Motion Pict Herald p36 My 16 '36

"Authentically portraying dangerous criminal characters in the dynamite-packed atmosphere of desperate men in prison, the picture has plenty of quality to suit the average thrill action desire." Motion Pict Herald p36 My 16 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + — Mediocre; Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
JAILBREAK—Continued

"Programmer that lacks name strength, but which makes up for it in action, fast movements. Jailbreak will land in the lesser houses, on twin bills."
+ — Phoebe Exhibitor p47 My 15 '36

"With aid of a well-written screen play .
Nick Grinde's fine direction has lifted this class 'B' picture to the 'A' level. The only thing that can keep it from that classification lack of box office names. If exploited properly, this film will give any audience its money's worth. Entire cast delivers splendid performance in keeping with a story that delinates the ultimate in authentic prison life, atmosphere and problems.
+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 5 '36

JESTER KING. See II re buriones

(s) JUST SPEEDING. Ja 23 '36 18min Columbia
Players: Monte Collins. Tom Kennedy
"Borrowing a doctor's automobile and telling officers that he himself for speeding that he is rushing his companion to a hospital for an operation, a journeyman butcher forthwith is escorted to the scene of the alleged appendectomy."
Motion Pict Herald

Trade Paper Reviews

"[It contains] plenty of the stuff that makes for lively comedy. . . . Good, popular entertainment."
— Box Office p31 Mr 7 '36

"The comedy is of the standard grade and should entertain." — Motion Pict Daily p10 F 28 '36

"Speedy action offsets familiarity of material and the burden of comedy is distributed among a number of relatively obscure players instead of being restricted to a starred comedian.
It contains at least two genuine laughs, a number of chuckles and enough plain diversion."
+ Motion Pict Herald p53 Mr 7 '36

"This has some laughs, and is outfitted with all the door slamming, tray upsetting, ether dosing, encounters of hospital slapstick. Pleasant."
+ N Y Exhibitor p56 Mr 10 '36

K

KELLY THE SECOND. (Release date not determined) 82min MGM
Players: Patsy Kelly. Guinn (Big Boy)
Williams. Charley Chase. Pert Kelton,
Edward Brophy
Director: Gus Meins
"Big Boy' Williams has a reputation as a street fighter. When he meets Patsy, it is decided that his prowess be used for financial returns and she becomes his trainer." Film
Daily

Trade Paper Reviews

"A good slapstick feature comedy that draws the same type of audience that goes for the Laurel and Hardy features. . . . There is a final battle that has plenty of good laughs.
There are numerous well-written gags in the picture that are utilized to good advantage.
This should definitely show Patsy Kelly's popularly. The entire production is typically Kelly.
Family."
+ + Box Office p33 Ap 25 '36

"This isn't any world beater but is a good, satisfactory comedy of its type. It will amuse the children."
+ — Film Curb p12 Ap 25 '36

"Tailored for Patsy Kelly and 'Big Boy'
Williams' talents, this slapstick feature is a fast moving enjoyable affair. It should do well wherever it can be played, on double bills, and especially in the Irish communities.
The picture is geared for laughs which it is likely will be done, and a little clipping will remove the few slow spots. . . . If this is a sample of what Hal Roach is doing to replace the two real comedy, he has hit upon a good idea."
+ Film Daily p8 Ap 21 '36

"With ten or fifteen minutes snipped out, this will be a fast, funny picture of no pretentions but a good balance on a double bill. . . .
With Roach intending to make more six-reeler because of the double-bill situation and the difficulty of selling shorts, 'Kelly the Second' proves conclusively that he can make them just as hilarious regardless of length."

"Loaded with gags old and new, this comedy, when reduced to program length will fit on dual bills with the other Roach features. . . .
The sound is slightly high-pitched for a feature length film and seems to be the same as that used in regular Roach shorts. The picture should please juveniles and seems suitable for showing at performances for children."
+ Motion Pict Daily p10 Ap 20 '36

"Not for the de luxes, but okay for the family, this ought to satisfy the laugh contingent easily."
+ N Y Exhibitor p22 My 10 '36

"Good twin-biller which should please the comedy fans after about twenty minutes have been clipped from the running time. Picture is a mixture of slap-stick comedy and a legitimate story. . . . Miss Kelly does an excellent job in this, her first Roach feature, as the feminine prize fight manager. She handles the comedy in her expert fashion, and doesn't miss a trick."
+ Variety (Hollywood) p8 Ap 18 '36

KING OF THE COUNCIL. Ja 20 '36 75min
Gaumont British
Players: Helen Vinson. Noah Beery. Conrad
Veld
Director: Walter Forde

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

'A': depends on taste; Y and C: decidedly not."
— Christian Century p67 My 6 '36

"Adults." — Am Legion Auxiliary

"Adults; interesting; 11-18: fair; 8-14: no."
— Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Excellent. Adults only." — DAR

"Adults." — E Coast Preview Committee

"Adults." — Nat Council of Jewish Women

"This picture is unpleasant as to subject matter, with regard to treatment and ends on a Professional Women's Clubs

"As a plea for reform of penal colonies, this film is interesting and realistically staged and acted, although hardly to be classed as entertainment. Mature." — Nat Soc of New England Women

Box W Coast Bul Mr 14 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
"The portrayal is uncomfortably real and pulsating to the end. Realistic scenic effects and a distinct foreign flavor. Too harrowing for children. Mature."

Jt Estimates Mr 1 '36

"Swift action in the lighting scenes and a slight thread of romance lend distraction from the pervading gloom, but for the sensitive it remains a film to be endured, not enjoyed. Adolescents, 12-16: harrowing; children, 8-12: by no means."

Motion Pict R Ap '36

"Mature."

Sel Motion Pict Ap '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Romanticism is said to lie in exaggeration. We can say, anyway, of these two actors (Veidt and Beery) that they balance each other remarkably well. Veidt represents the intensity of spiritual and intellectual revolt against the prison. Beery, with that luscious, double-bass, orchestral voice and massive trunk, the physical energy and deadly conceit of revolt, the untameable energy of the animal." D. F. B. Manchester Guardian p3 Mr 24 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"A grim and, at times, exciting melodrama overlaid with brutality and horror. Strong fare best suited to male audiences. Adults."

+ Box Office p27 Mr 21 '36

KING OF THE PECOS. Mr 16 '36 54min Republic

Players: John Wayne, Muriel Evans, Cy Kendall

Director: Joseph Kane

A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family-junior. Not one of the wild and woolly pictures—not a bar-room in it—but a pretty fair glimpse of a stirring period in our past."

+ Nat Bd of R M Ap '36

"General patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 15 '36

"Family-junior."

+ Wkly Guide Mr 14 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"A first-rate Western with plenty of emphasis on the elements in demand where audiences go for outdoor films. Packing plenty of excitement, with more than the average amount of credibility, and a nice blend of romance and comedy, it gives John Wayne opportunity for a red-blooded role and shows the entire cast to good advantage."

+ Box Office p31 My 23 '36

"There is plenty of hard riding, gun fighting and all the other stuff that makes for a good Western, the cast does it reasonably well in the leading role and is supported by a good cast."

Film Curb p12 Ap 11 '36

"[It] is a routine but active Western. This should please the youngsters and the adults who still get a kick out of lively, horse-and-gun excitement on the screen."

+ Motion Pict Daily p6 Ap 7 '36

"Much plain and fancy riding, trick and ordinary shooting, claim jumping, cattle driving and primitive justice, the struggle between Cole and Blackstone law, make up the substance of this Western. There are many shots of rugged open country and mountain ranges. Dialogue is at a minimum and action which is swift and continuous, carries most of the narrative."

+ Motion Pict Herald p57 Ap 11 '36

KING STEPS OUT. My 15 '36 75min Columbia

Players: Grace Moore, Franchot Tone

Walter Connolly, Elizabeth Risdon. Frieda Inescort

Director: Josef von Sternberg

Based on an operetta Cissy by Herbert and Ernst Mariachi with music by Fritz Kreisler. This in turn was based on a comedy called Cissy by Ernst Decsey and Gustav Hohn. "The story takes place in an Austrian village, where the young Emperor Francis is betrothed to a princess. The princess' sister, disguised in plebian costume, meets the young emperor and they fall in love. Through a dance in identity brought out by the girls' father, true love is permitted to find its way."

(Box Office)

+ Bks & Films Je '36

"A: pleasant; Y: good; C: if it interests."

Christian Century p55 Je 10 '36

"Excellent. Mature-family."

DAR

"Family."

E Coast Preview Committee

+ Fox W Coast Bul Je 6 '36

"Family-outstanding."

+ Nat Bd of R M Je '36

"This is a charming musical comedy, in which a mischievous Bavarian prince masquerades as a dressmaker and wins the heart of the Austrian Emperor. Grace Moore was never more delightful than in this jolly role, singing the lovely music of Fritz Kreisler and pursued by Franchot Tone as a gay young king who steps out to really enjoy his birthday. Family."

+ Nat Council of Jewish Women Je 3 '36

"Adults."

Nat Legion of Decency Je 4 '36

"Family."

Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

"Though the plot is slight and unoriginal, the action is lively and gay, with frequent comic bits that are very laughable. Family."

Wkly Guide My 23 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"There is nothing particularly original about 'The King Steps Out.' But it is a polished piece of work, handsomely put together to provide light cheerful entertainment." E. F. Melvin

+ Boston Transcript p3 My 29 '36

"The whole mood of 'The King Steps Out' is one of frustration, of what's-the-use? The preview voice-over observed Grace Moore in 'One Night of Love.' Except for one brief moment, it sat in stony silence as her latest picture was unveiled. If 'The King Steps Out' had been her first picture, it would have been her last. Miss Moore is not convincing in a role which demanded the sparkle of a Jeanette MacDonald or an Irene Dunne. The Franchot Tone seems to be unhappy in his part."

+ Hollywood Spec p10 My 23 '36

"[It] is a handsome but rather dull musical romance. . . . Those who remember 'One Night of Love' and 'Tonight Is Ours' with pleasure are apt to find this production disappointing. It has none of the fluent interplay of plot and musical accompaniment that distinguished this operetta, [Miss Moore] in the Varietystory sequences it finds Miss Moore definitely ill at ease as an actress." Howard Barnes
KING STEPS OUT—Continued

"These ingredients result in regurgitation operetta, stereotyped but still entertaining... The picture's chief charm, of course, is Miss Moore's singing... Her voice, if not her picture, is still radiantly fresh. She doesn't do as much with the acting as usual, though the dialogue is little heavily at times... In spite of its theatrical artificiality 'The King Steps Out' is a graceful operetta, as charmingly sung, It hasn't the buoyancy of the first two Moore musicals made by Columbia; few pictures are lucky enough to capture that." Eileen Cree- man

+ N Y Sun p11 My 29 '36

"The lovely and golden-voiced Miss Grace Moore has stepped lightly from the pedestal of grand opera to the frothy stage of Viennese operetta in her new picture... Its humor is pleasant and its score includes a charming group of Fritz Kreisler's more melodious compositions which have been sung—as you scarcely need telling—as a full-throated lyric soprano that more than compensates for the picture's lesser attributes." F. S. Nugent

+ N Y Times p15 My 29 '36

"It is charming, tasteful and urbane and a delightful人们的 trick to Graustark days... As Classy, the princess, Miss Moore has one of her best roles... Miss Moore triumphs again in a new film but ought to be marvellous box-office... You may be thankful also that Herman Bing, Hollywood's leading dialectician spouts and spatters his Inconceivable English for some of the silliest comedy scenes screened in months." Douglas Gilbert

+ N Y World-Telegram p4b My 29 '36

"[It is] disappointing... [The story] has quite overwhelmed Miss Moore." John Mosher

New Yorker p83 Je 6 '36

"The King Steps Out' is all a film operetta should be. It has a gay Graustarkian background, abounds in good humor and good acting, and profits by Josef von Sternberg's excellent direction." + News-Wk p27 My 30 '36

"The big news about this ace musical deserves a flush: Miss Grace Moore Becomes Screen Actress. I didn't think it possible, but the Moore pipes are subordinated to an exuberant and comic mood and Grace emerges as a charming comedienne. I liked her tremendously... [The producer] has succeeded admirably in confecting a screen musical which is irresistible." R. S. Ames + Script p11 Je 6 '36

"Miss Moore's public will [not] find 'The King Steps Out' very remarkable." + Time p24 Je 1 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"[It is] an even flowing, semi-classical musical lacking the class of the previous Grace Moore vehicles. Family." + Box Office p25 My 9 '36

"Grace Moore has never appeared to better advantage than in this picture. She adds capable and singable grand opera. Just about tops in the high class musical line. A class A production. No, doubt but what it is are-fire box office." + Film Curb p4 My 23 '36

"In a gay light-hearted operetta that is full of good fun and good music by Fritz Kreisler, Grace Moore does and sings in such a manner as to make this picture highly entertaining." + Film Daily p10 My 18 '36

"A Grace Moore picture that will disappoint the Grace Moore fans because it is not up to the quality of her past pictures, and that is hitting the market in competition with musicals of superlative quality from other lots. The presence of Josef von Sternberg in the director's chair and behind the camera is not evidenced by any originality of the handling of the good old standard operetta fodder—not of striking effects pictorially... The songs are those of Kreisler's operetta, 'Classy,' with new lyrics by Dorothy Fields. Not one shows symptoms of catching the popular ear." + Hollywood Reporter p4 Ap 27 '36

"Josef von Sternberg has turned out a picture in a delicate operetta manner, using a wide mass, as well as class, appeal... The musical numbers are well spotted and enter the plot pleasingly although the tunes by Fritz Kreisler do not seem destined for smash popularity." + Motion Pict Daily p10 My 15 '36

"Grace Moore's singing is, naturally, the prime box office factor, and exploitation based upon it may be unrestrained because she sings six new songs and and the given exclusive screen prominence as it is sung." + Motion Pict Herald p4 My 23 '36

"Family comedy. Estimate: program." + Variety p15 Je 3 '36

"Deft production keeps a Graustarkian absurdity from capizing. Film represents a triumph of slickness over common sense. On sheer bounce and tempo the picture disarms the critical faculties and spins a mood of acquiescence to the story's premises. It seems probable the general public will be enchanted by the handsomely mounted and artfully paced fairy-tale." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 14 '36

LADY JANE GREY. (Release date not determined) 75min Gainborough-Gaumont British Players: Cedric Hardwicke, John Mills, Sybil John, Greer Garson, Williabum White. Director: Robert Stevenson

Filmed in England and known there as Tudor Rose. "Opening at the death-bed of Henry VIII, and his dying declaration that his successors are to be, in order, his son Edward, his daughters Mary and Elizabeth and Lady Jane Grey, the picture shows the progress of the struggle for power between the Earl of Warwick and Edward Seymour, in which the innocent young Lady Jane is an unwilling tool. Finally, betrothed to Warwick's half-sister, the Protestant Queen on the death of Edward VI. The nation rising and puts Mary Tudor on the throne and the 'nine days' Queen' is beheaded. (Motion Pict Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"The recreation of a chapter in English history is both useful and instructive. The direction is sensitive, sympathetic, and intelligent, and the subject is treated with dignity and re- strain. The acting is excellent. The picture is a noteworthy addition to worth-while historical films. Suitability: Family. (Children over 12.)" + Mo Film Bul p84 My 38

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; ++ Mediocre; Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"[It] brings a certain freshness of treatment even to this hackneyed section of history. Mr. Stevenson has divided his material into five vigorous performances. . . It is its failure to present any aspect of the religious controversies of the times may be gleaned from two sermons by John Knox, impressively delivered by Mr. John Laurie with a tremendous Scottish accent, which deprived them of their real claim to historical value. But, inadequate as its incompleteness necessarily renders it, 'Lady Jane Grey' is a very respectable and not unentertaining effort." — Christian Science Monitor p10 My 19 '36

"'Lady Jane Grey' is the best attempt that has yet been made [at a historical film] . . . [Stevenson] has avoided the pit into which the American directors fall headlong with the regularity of the White Knight from his horse. That is the trap of over-enrichment. This is a simple, straightforward piece of work, and all the better for it." — Mark Forest

+ Sat R p608 My 9 '36

"[It] is one of the more distressing products of the British screen: the fault is not in the direction, but his small, unsmiling, if rather banal picture, but in the vulgarity of the scenario. The story of Lady Jane Grey is itself an exercise in dramatic material, but this sentimental pageant in fancy dress could have been more interesting even of the period if it had been made in Hollywood. There is not a character, not an incident in which history has not been altered for the cheapest of reasons." — Graham Greene

— Spec p335 My 8 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"History has in the main been followed, or rather simplified. Events and characteristics have been portrayed in his smooth, competent, if rather banal picture, but in the vulgarity of the scenario. The story of Lady Jane Grey is itself an exercise in dramatic material, but this sentimental pageant in fancy dress could have been more interesting even of the period if it had been made in Hollywood. There is not a character, not an incident in which history has not been altered for the cheapest of reasons." — Graham Greene

+ Motion Pict Daily p7 My 11 '36

"It is, artistically, one of the best yet seen over from London; it definitely succeeds in creating the atmosphere of Tudor London and in presenting a tragedy in which the leading actors are portrayed as glamour understandable by the fan but equally acceptable by the critical. . . England has not recently seen better work. Without 'heart interest' in the conventional sense, save that Jane is shown as falling in love with the youth whom she is being forced to marry, there is a sense of reality and of tragedy which it is difficult to overrate. There are the potentials of another 'Henry VIII' here, though humor is, necessarily, lacking." — Motion Pict Herald p36 My 18 '36

"What impresses instantly is the marvellous adherence to detail; to every manner of costuming, production and selection of types. Not of the principal, but dozens of minor roles are handled by West End players of stoutest metaphor. Artists of similar quality were engaged right lines for every speaking part of the slightest consequence. It is a swift and courageous tale with arresting portratures, economical of words but sweeping in its flow of action. It possesses smoothness of script and marks the entry of Robert Stevenson as a director on his own. . From every angle, it is one of the most entertaining pictures ever produced on either side of the ocean." + Variety p15 My 18 '36

LAST JOURNEY. (Release date not determined) S/nin Atlantic

Director: Bernard Vorhaus

This film was made in England. "The train that is carrying an oddly-assorted cargo of humans is on its last trip. At the throttle is a temporarily insane engineer who suspects his fireman of an affair with his wife. A battle ensues while the train races on to apparent destruction and is halted in an ingenious fashion." (Box Office)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: poor; Y and C: no." — Christian Century p783 Je 3 '36

Mo Film Bul p147 D '36

"Family." — Nat Bd of R M My 3 '36

"The little side dramas are well handled and the whole is a breathless, exciting affair. Adults." + Nat Legion of Decency My 7 '36

"Family." — Wkly Guide My 2 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The Last Journey" is a British film saved from disaster by the work of the camera-man. The sequences showing an express train at full speed make one accept the situation of a train 'running away' upon which the plot is based. — J. F. B.

— Manchester Guardian p13 My 3 '36

"'The Last Journey' is not really a bad piece of entertainment. The characters are interesting and well-worked out and the director, Bernard Vorhaus, has confused his situations with enough suspense and enough imaginative touches to give the film a vitality and an interest not often found in those 'Grand Hotel' imitations. . . Although the materials are familiar, the treatment and the acting are sufficiently fresh to make 'The Last Journey' fair-to-middling summer entertainment." — William Bochel

+ N Y World-Telegram p19 Je 9 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"It stacks up as first-rate entertainment. It moves fast, picks up a handful of smartly-projected character delineations on the way, tosses them about for a suspenseful fate and races on to a satisfying climax. Vorhaus, the performers is convincing and is refreshing free of British burrs. Family." — Box Office p62 My 2 '36

"The film is packed with thrills. It has been splendidly enacted and Julien Mitchell in the role of the engineer does exceedingly well. There isn't a dull moment. Moves along at lightning speed. Wherever good, strong melodrama is liked this one will more than satisfy." + Film Curb p6 My 2 '36

"Julius Hagen's boys at Twickenham got out a superior melodrama in the fused stories of several people on a moving train." — Film Daily p8 Ap 27 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
LAST JOURNEY—Continued

"A British production which has copied a great deal from the Hollywood studios in direction and cutting, resulting in a much better than average melodramatic thriller combining 'Grand Hotel' on wheels and a psychological study of a railroad engineer with a cracked brain. There is plenty of suspense in the action in this drama which will result in the fans sitting on the edge of their seats for most of the film." + Hollywood Reporter p3 My 8 '36

"A Twickenham production, made in England, this picture has plenty of thrill action and suspense. Set almost in its entirety on a speeding train, a fast pace is maintained throughout. . . The picture should be found lively entertainment for those especially who like suspense and action on the screen." + Motion Picture Daily p9 Ap 24 '36

"Subject to the usual parochial [limitations] imperative to English productions, this is material for the small house. It has pace, action, suspense." + N Y Exhibitor p27 My 10 '36

LAST OUTLAW. Je 19 '36 72min RKO
Players: Harry Carey, Hoot Gibson, Tom Tyler, Henry B. Walthall, Margaret Calhoun
Director: Christy Cabanne
A western melodrama involving the rehabilitation of a bank robber after a twenty-five year sentence.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Westerns should have human appeal and good ones ring the bell for movie audiences. This one does . . . Adolescents, 12-15: good; children, 8-12: passable to those who are habitual movie fans." + Motion Picture R Je '36

"Family." + Nat Bd of R M Je '36

"Although the story is implausible, the direction is fast moving and capable. Family & juvenile matinees." + Nat Council of Jewish Women Je 3 '36

"General patronage." + Nat Legion of Decency Je 11 '36

"Family." + Wkly Guide My 30 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The Last Outlaw," despite its numerous mistakes and utilizing only a fraction of its dramatic possibilities, offers fascinating entertainment. . . Starkly primitive, the Western satisfies us through escape from ourselves into its savage glumness. In 'The Last Outlaw,' escape is made easy and plausible for us, by injecting, with clever contrast, the old West into a ultra-modern atmosphere." Paul Jacobs + Hollywood Spec p13 My 23 '36

"[It is] positively the first new idea in Western picture-making in twenty years. . . It is so immediately winning an idea that, no doubt, 'The Last Outlaw' will be screened in the largest theaters in the largest cities and be entertaining. It is a Western with a new twist, a 'horse opera' of feature film stature." + Lit Digest p26 My 30 '36

"The Last Outlaw" is a pleasantly satirical screen drama of the wide open spaces. Written by the distinguished director, John Ford, in collaboration with Harry M. Unwin and Morton Campbell and acted to the hilt by a company of veteran cowboy and bad men impersonators, it is an engaging Western. Although the work indulges in a good deal of sly burlesque, it does not violate the conventions of one of the screen's favorite forms. . . While there are frequent shootings and brawls, the majority of action scenes are restricted to perfunctory cowboys and incapable overtones of satire at the expense of Westerns, the show follows a narrative outline unpredictably and survives with a crescendo. In the hands of Robert Sisk, the piece has received a handsome and knowing production. Howard Barnes

+ N Y Herald Tribune Je 15 '36

"[It is] a thoroughly enjoyable Western melodrama, deftly streamlined and softly satiric in its treatment of the waxy current Western conventions like crooning cowboys and bureaucracy." J. T. M. + N Y Times p24 Je 15 '36

"John Ford, who wrote the original story, and Christy Cabanne, who directed the film, have collaborated to produce a Western that is so genuinely exciting and diverting that it is Western that gets far away from the average horse opera." William Boehnel + N Y World-Telegram p14a Je 13 '36

"The piece won't start any vogue for the quaint old-fashioned cowboy thriller, I imagine." John Mosher + New Yorker p33 Je 13 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Particularly interesting because it takes a whole group of western stars, and gives them a chance to show their merits. They are all types of clowder, but their performances are of histrionic surprises. The directorial pace in executing the smooth continuity is rapid-fire in every sequence." + Box Office p33 Je 6 '36

"A very high class Western in every respect. . . Probably will win a lot of new fans for the outdoor picture. Above the average director puts this one over in grand style under Cabanne's competent direction." + Film Curb p9 My 23 '36

"This one starts off rather leisurely, but when it gets going it is a bear for thrills and action. The children will eat it up. . . [It is] a Western that gets far away from the usual routine stuff." + Film Daily p15 Je 3 '36

"Radio can unroll the adjectives to the limit for 'The Last Outlaw.' It's a cinch for any picture with a human yarn that should appeal to virtually the entire audience. It gives the feeling that everybody associated with the production had a lot of fun turning out a swell job of entertainment." + Hollywood Reporter p3 My 16 '36

"It has all the requirements of an outdoor picture plus action, dialogue, comedy and it builds steadily with situations topping each other until the finish. . . Properly sold from its many selling angles this should please." + Motion Picture Daily p11 My 18 '36

"Here's a show with surprises for audiences and exhibitors. . . A long step forward in the making of modern Westerns, this picture should be properly introduced with a campaign sufficiently strong and intelligent to convince any kind of patron, those who are not ordinarily interested in modern westerns as well as the thrills fans, that it is worthy of their time and attention. The materials in personalities, acting performances, story content and production values are at hand." + Motion Picture Herald p41 My 30 '36

"Swell Western in the sense that not only has the name been properly used to sell but an original Western story, 'The Last Outlaw' will please Western, action followers." + N Y Exhibitor p26 My 25 '36

"Chance here for a good story, but uninspired script job, lack of love interest and delayed suspense prove pretty much of a flop. . . The result is that competent cast is thrown away on a forlorn hope." - Variety p23 Je 17 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
"Despite what the title implies this is not a Western but a bang-up human-interest drama that will hold the interest of the family trade looking for homespun flavor in screen entertainment.

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 16 '36

LAUGHING IRISH EYES. Mr 10 '36 70min Republic
Players: Phil Regan, Walter Kelly, Evalyn Knapp
Director: Joseph Santley

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Adults & young people."
E Coast Pre-

"Family." Nat Bd of R. fox W Coast Bul Mr 23 '36

"This is an unusually good picture. An excellent, but somewhat prolonged privigedt has amusing and exciting moments. Adults & young people."
+ Sel Motion Pict p11 Ap '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Laughing Irish Eyes" belongs to the kindred assurrr of sentinental comedy, presenting all the pink sentimentality about Erin and threadbare wheezes about the Blarney Stone which are tediously familiar." Marguerite Tazelaar

N Y Herald Tribune p10 Ap 4 '36

"In spite of its title the producers did not turn "Laughing Irish Eyes" while their politically much stronger opposites, the Celtophiles, may pay their money at the box-office with the comforting assurance that they will not be backing a dark horse. . . . In the Irish scenes we gather that Erin is now a picturesque, musical-comedy province of America, full of aspiring tenors and jg dancers." E. R. C.

N Y Times p11 Ap 4 '36

"And still the disappointing news continues.

Something called 'Laughing Irish Eyes' is at the Roxy this week and, frankly, this department can find small excuse for it. A generally feeble and fumbling little film, it ambles along without much rhyme or reason and when it has run its course some seventy minutes of valuable time have slipped by, never to be recaptured." William Boehnel

N Y World-Telegram p7 Ap 4 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Merry little comedy in which action, romance and song are neatly intermingled, resulting in pleasingly wholesome entertainment with a particularly strong appeal for family audiences. The cast is headed by Phil Regan, a handsome lad with melody and a brogue in his voice whose attractive performance here will take him a long way toward screen fame.

Family."
+ Box Office p27 Mr 21 '36

"Past, well edited, strong on humor, with some ace singing by Regan, 'Laughing Irish Eyes' will be enjoyed in anybody's theatre."
+ N Y Exhibitor p31 Mr 25 '36

"Never more than mildly entertaining, picture is beating for many more double than single dates. . . . Joseph Santley's direction is routine and the film editing job a bit careless. Among other things a bad boat miniature could have been dropped on the cutting room floor, especially since in other scenes a real liner is used.

+ Variety p16 Ap 8 '36

LAW IN HER HANDS. My 23 '36 62min Warner
Players: Margaret Lindsay, Glenda Farrell.

Warren Hull, Lyle Talbot

Director: William Clemens

"Margaret Lindsay and Glenda Farrell are novice attorneys starting out together in their profession and encountering all the difficulties which are common to fledgling barristers. Miss

Lindsay, falling in love with district attorney Warren Hull, learns that success in the profession depends upon the understanding of the tricks and technicalities of the craft. Becoming the mouthpiece for racketeer Lyle Talbot, she outwits Hull in a series of sensational cases. A rift between the lovers is caused by this association with Talbot, Hull declares that he will get Talbot, and adds that in doing so he will show up Miss Lindsay as a shyster lawyer." Motion Pict Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: unpleasant; Y: not good; C: no."
Christian Century p751 My 20 '36

"An illogical story, performed without distinction by a stock cast, furnishes mediocre entertainment. Adults and 14-18: fair; 8-14:

uninteresting. Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Mediocre. This is a gangster type of intimidation. Adults." DAR

"Altho the picture does not create any greater respect for law in general, there is educational and social values in court room scenes revealing legal strategy and trickery employed by prosecution and defense. Neither of the two young women attorneys are convincing—the best work in the picture being done by Lyle

Talbot. Mature. Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"A fanciful story, fairly well acted. The film's appeal is for adults and depends upon characterizations and comedy rather than its story.

Interesting, however, is the use of the phrase of law." Nat Soc of New England Woman

"The whole is rather nerve wracking on account of the manner in which the change of scenes and exposition is handled. The audience, Medicrare. Mature."

S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bul Ap 18 '36

"Adults & young people."
Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)
Ap 6 '36

"Adults." Motion Pict R Ap 8 '36
Estimates Ap 15 '36

"The acting is satisfactory but not outstanding. The plot is complicated and not entirely plausible but the picture holds some interest as an extended legal racket and the 'protection' racket. Adolescents. 12-16: not recommended; 8-12: no."
Motion Pict R My '36

"Mature.
Nat Bd of R M Je '36

"Adults." Nat Council of Jewish Women Ap 6 '36

"Adults." Nat Legion of Decency My 28 '36

"The story rather shows up the law courts but is entrusted towards. Mature." Wkly Guide My 16 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + - Fair; ++ Mediocre; - Poor; --- Exceptionally Poor
LAW IN HER HANDS—Continued

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“Studio belief that anything is good enough for a dual bill is costing producers a lot of money. Here we have a story with basic qualities to make and meets the most intelligent audience, but it is made to carry a load of complications, which has appeal to those with an elemental sense of humor and lacking a sense of drama. . . if the comedy by Eddie Acuff had been left out and the audience permitted to keep in the mood created by the premise of the story, the picture would give general satisfaction.”

“Those who know nothing about legal procedure and are attracted by the personalities of Margaret Lindsay and Lyle Talbot may find a certain amount of mild diversion in "The Law in Her Hands." . . . Not sound enough to be realistic, nor exciting enough for adventure, the picture is a good example of why movie fans demand double bills.” (1 ½ stars) Beverly Hills

Liberty p47 My 23 '36

“Related none too engagingly, its central idea, nevertheless, is one which, worked out more intelligently, might have made it a picture of genuine interest. . . . What results, however, is a highly jazzed melodrama involving rackets, flacks, shady businessmen and generally fictitious situations.”

Marguerite Tazlalor

— N Y Herald Tribune p10 Je 8 '36

“Miss Margaret Lindsay is a beautiful young lady from Dubuque, Iowa, and, out of pure chivalry, we would have her protected from such appealing antidRAMAs as "The Law in Her Hands." Neither she nor the many other members of the Warner-First National stock company involved in the film can give substance to a narrative which, despite any amount of ingenious fabrication, could hardly aspire to be even small triviality.”

P. M. D.

— N Y Times p21 Je 6 '36

“Margaret Lindsay, one of the most talented and attractive young actresses on the Warner lot, and her able companions . . . strive valiantly to squeeze some entertainment out of the stock phrases and stereotyped situations of 'The Law in Her Hands,' but their efforts are of no avail. The film is just another one of those unimportant little weaklings that have a habit of popping up the Frontenay screen during the summer dog days.”

William Boehnel

— N Y World-Telegram p20 Je 8 '36

“Margaret Lindsay is a level-headed performer and a tall, very engaging guy, but the antics assigned to her by directors George Bricker and Luci Ward are disgraceful. Any Bar Association might well object to the professional ethics of Comédienne Glenda Farrell.”

Molly Lewin

— Script p11 My 16 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“An out-of-the-ordinary plot combined with speedy direction and believable acting make this an excellent program picture.”

— Box Office p55 Ap 25 '36

“It’s decidedly interesting, holds the attention from start to finish and has been expertly directed and played. Most assuredly can hold its own in any situation.”

— Film Curb p8 Ap 11 '36

“It is a] fairly satisfying drama . . . that ought to do all right in the program grinds.”

— Film Daily p5 Je 5 '36

“A tongue-in-cheek comedy of the criminal courtroom variety which has a touch of Gilbertian satire but not enough to spoil it for popular consumption. Many sorts of audiences will be lightly entertained by it and it will be a fairly profitable dueler.”

+ — Motion Pict Daily p12 Ap 9 '36

“Entertainment is here offered in a novel and effective fashion. While not a ‘big’ picture in the generally accepted sense, the story has a strong, interest-holding quality resulting from a nice blending of romance, comedy and drama held together by well-grounded suspense. The show should be popular among audiences that prefer their entertainment without frills.”

+ — Motion Pict Herald p38 Ap 18 '36

“For an average picture this production possesses much entertainment and showmanship quality. The basic plot is refreshing and just different enough to establish it as quite a bit out of formula.”

Motion Pict Herald p38 My 18 '36

“Programmer that lacks name strength, which is filled with the usual familiar Warner stock faces. ‘The Law in Her Hands’ is best suited for neighborhood audiences. In the de luxe it will be handicapped because it hasn’t what the marquee demands.”

+ — N Y Exhibitor p22 My 10 '36

“Offering fresh angles on the Law-versus-Racketeers plot, with a woman attorney as its central character, this might have been made in good writing, sound direction and thoroughly credible playing. ‘The Law In Her Hands’ will satisfy almost anywhere as program entertainment.”

+ — Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 7 '36

LEATHERNECKS HAVE LANDED. F 22 '36 65min Republic

Players: Lew Ayres, Isabel Jewell. Jimmy Ellison, James Burke

Director: Howard Bretherton

A hot-tempered marine in constant scrapes with his fellow soldiers is dishonorably discharged when he is involved unwittingly in a murder. He joins a gun smuggling gang in Shanghai and later has a chance to help the marines in a battle with raiders whom he had supplied with guns.

Audience Suitability Ratings

“A: depends on taste; Y: thrilling; C: no.”

Christian Century p614 Ap 22 '36

“It is a ‘tough’ drama, full of fights and with the masculine element predominant. Suitability: adults & adolescents.”

Mo Film Bul p86 My '36

“Family.”

Nat Bd of R M Mr '36

“Very good. General patronage.”

Nat Legion of Decency F '36

“Family.”

Wkly Guide F 29 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“It is not a big picture, but it is one of the neatest jobs of picture making I have seen for some time. . . . As a result of the intelligent direction Bretherton gives the well constructed story, we have a picture which will give satisfaction to any audience.”

Allan Herlishot

Hollywood Spec p11 F 29 '36

“In this pulp-magazine adventure tale the United States Marines and Mr. Lew Ayres once more demonstrate the comforting theory that one can’t stop wondering how an American can lick any fifty foreigners, particularly if they are low shiftty Chinese revolutionists. . . Somehow it seemed to me that this pretty robust picture of the imperialist process in action was not without its dubious aspects, but then this is probably just my narrow-minded point of view on the subject. The film itself is moderately lively in its routine, second division way." — Fred Watts, Jr.

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor

— N Y Herald Tribune p12 Mr 24 '36

"[It is] a film story with a background of authentic-looking shots of marine formations moving from port to port, into wharves, into the harbor and over enough fictional material to show the scrapes that a pugnacious fellow like Lew Ayres would get himself into when he is a marine in a place like Shanghai, for example." J. T. M. N Y Times p22 Mr 23 '36

"A sound, standardized idea, moderately well worked out and, as a whole, a thoroughly entertaining film. All of it, incidentally, is quietly and cleverly photographed." — Poor;

"Nicely sung." — Fair;

"It can be sold.

Trade Paper Reviews

"Appropriately titled 'The Leathernecks Have Landed,' this offering lands directly on the box office front with barrage of sure-fire entertainment that should capture one hundred percent family patronage." — Box Office p3 F 29 '36

"An entertaining picture with the Marines as a background. It is fast moving, amusing and has several thrilling sequences." — Film Curb p8 F 29 '36

"Good popular entertainment with an action story and nice work by a capable cast." — P13 F My 22 '36 +

"It packs a lusty dramatic wallop and a vein of genuine sentiment and it is so well made that it ranks with the best independent productions of the year. Only the lack of strong box office names will keep it from soaring and as it is, it will head double bills to a swell profit." — Hollywood Reporter p14 F 13 '36

"Although the story has some elements of weakness, there is enough fighting to satisfy those who enjoy a two-listed 'action.'" + — Motion Pict Daily p8 F 15 '36 +

Motion Pict Herald p4 F 25 '36

"Estimate: good programmer, saleable anywhere." — N Y Exhibitor p55 Mr 10 '36

"Nicely done independent thriller has sufficient action and enough of a sales angle in the 'marines are coming' gag to make it count importantly on a dual program. Besides the uniforms, film has something in Lew Ayres to sell." + — Variety p63 Mr 25 '36

"Picture should hold up its end on general-ity of programs, and here and there may ride solo. . . Howard Bretherton's direction soundly builds the melodrama with much suspense, without sacrificing valid character, an excellent job in every respect." + — Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 13 '36

"Bobby runs away from an orphanage and joins a wagon show. He is befriended by Armetta, a roustabout and singing clown. Armetta had been an operatic singer and a teacher before he lost his voice. Grant Withers, trapeze performer, schemes to adopt Bobby and use him as a professional singer." — Film Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family." Am Legion Auxiliary

"The new child-star has an engaging personality, a nice voice—expertly manipulated—and will undoubtedly find a place in the affections of the average movie-goer. Family & junior matinee." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good. Family." DAR

"Family." Nat Bd of R

"A somewhat improbable story very attractively told by a charming boy star and an excellent cast as an adult family picture." Nat Soc of New England Women

+ Fox W Coast Bui My 23 '36

"Family & junior matinées. A picture the family will enjoy, in which little Bobby Breen sings his way into the hearts of the audience. Though slow in tempo the picture is well made and sympathetic." — Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 9 '36

"Adolescents, 12-16: good; children, 8-12: good." Motion Pict R My '36

"The personality and voice of Bobby Breen are perfectly suited to the simple, charming story which, while fantastic, is well told with some scenes of real pathos and many a good laugh. Family & junior matinées." + — Nat Council of Jewish Women My 13 '36

"General patronage." Nat Legion of Decency My 21 '36

"Family & junior matinée." Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

"Ready-made for a boy soprano who is inexperienced as an actor, but people will like his voice. Family." Wky Guide My 16 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Henry Armetta as the boy's coach gives a performance to be remembered." Christian Science Monitor p10 My 7 '36

"There are several features of this picture which make it a noted addition to the cinema program. It is the most cleverly constructed musical picture ever to appear on the screen. It introduces to us a most amusing boy, a nine-year-old singer whose voice will thrill the world. It is a warmly human story, told so well that every interpolated song is part of it." — Hollywood Spec p10 Ap 25 '36

"Basically, the picture is just the thickest sort of hokum, but so nicely is it controlled by Director Kurt Neumann and so persuasive is the screen pay by Dan Jarrett and Don Swift that this warbling little piece provides a surprisingly heartwarming evening. Though 'Let's Sing Again' offers no variation on its age-old theme, and though the plot terminates exactly as one would expect, the film makes up in charm all that it lacks in novelty." (3 stars) Beverly Hills Let's Pict p28 My 30 '36

"In spite of the build-up given to Eddie Cantor's discovery, Bobby Breen, who sings with him over the radio, young Mr. Breen's debut on the screen scarcely results in a world-shaking event. In fact, first honors in 'Let's Sing Again' go to Henry Armetta for a fine character portrayal, and, while the diminutive tenor deserves credit for a hard-working performance, it is clear that he still has lots to
LET'S SING AGAIN—Continued

The screen début of perhaps the most curious voice in a generation of vocal curiosities—that of the nine-year-old Bobby Breen—may be dispassionately studied in 'Let's Sing Again.' Freakish enough to be at least clinically interesting for nearly everybody, Bobby's dwarf tenor also appears to excite rapturous feminine murmurs in his audiences. Thus we are very much afraid, Eileen Creelman gives another of his ingratiating and marvelously overdone performances as a stock Italian. By E. C. Y N Times p11 My 3 '36

"It is a boy has puppy, boy loses puppy, boy finds puppy plot, but the able direction by Kurt Neumann tempers the creaks from its rusty situations, and will serve you an idle hour's pleasantry." Douglas Gilbert in World Telegram p15 My 11 '36

"[Bobby] has charm, a singing voice that many will term 'golden,' and an ingenuousness rare among screen performers. Bobby's songs were greeted with spontaneous applause at the preview, his disarming tricks by assorted ohshads, . . . Henry Armetta actually pockets the picture as the lovable ex-star who has seen better days. . . . This comedian amuses me no end and I'd walk miles and pay two-bits at the box office any time to see his hilariously slouch." H. S. Script p10 Je 13 '36

"This 8-year-old lacks the suavity of Freddie Bartholomew, the lip-synching manner of Jackie Searl, but he may find his own public as a miniature Al Jolson. . . . Bobby Breen is by no means indispensable; the accolade of his talents and the following would indicate. In an even voice which sounds rather like a hoarse canary, he stays out of sight and negotiate coloratura passages with ease." Time p63 My 18 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Human and wholesome entertainment in this first picture featuring little Bobby Breen, 'Eddie Cantor's adopted son.' With its pre-made exploitation possibilities, one could hardly hope for a satisfactory revenue producer. Family." Box Office p35 Ap 25 '36

"They'll go for nine-year-old Bobby Breen who has a grand voice. He puts his stuff over like nobody's business. This picture should do nicely in most any spot. It has plenty of comedy and wholesome material and the whole thing is neatly mixed with the tear-jerking stuff." Film Curb p18 Ap 25 '36

"This is good audience entertainment. It has many laughs, with Henry Armetta and nine-year-old Bobby Breen, screen newcomer sharing the honors. Little Bobby is a wonderful singer, as shown in the preview, but he needs to put over his stuff. Kurt Neumann is especially effective in his direction of emotional scenes." Film Daily p1 Ap 15 '36

"Overburdened with a highly coincidental plot, 'Let's Sing Again' has a difficult time in gaining conviction. It is brazen hokum and its chances of boxoffice success rest almost entirely upon the radio following of its boy singing star, Bobby Breen. Metropolitan audiences will find the story quite unbelievable."

"As produced, this picture achieves Sol Lesser's purpose of presenting his youthful singing protege, Bobby Breen, under auspicious circumstances. The boy, possessing a remarkable singing voice, is given much opportunity to display his talent. The enthusiastic manner in which the preview audience received him gives indication that his work alone should center much of the public interest on the picture."

— Motion Picture Daily p7 Ap 17 '36

"Though the tone of this story is essentially dramatic, with quite a hokum comedy contrast woven in, its principal entertainment and commercial value is in the presentation of youthful Bobby Breen. Heard recently on the Eddie Cantor radio hours, the boy possesses a remarkable voice, and as he demonstrated how well he knows how to use it, the preview audience reacted to his singing with impressive enthusiasm."

— Motion Picture Herald p36 Ap 25 '36

"Strong on the emotional elements, with some songs to sing, the picture will need campaña in the family trade of which young Robert Breen, lacks cast lustre. The air plugging is absolutely essential to draw in patrons."

— N Y Exhibitor p7 My 10 '36

"May have a time making grade as a single in the big spots, but it should be accepted by the family trade and is a fine topper for a dual radio play in the independent trade. Breen, cast in the lead and with the story and production are both of major strength, and the photography is much above average."

— Variety p4 My 13 '36

"For the family circle it is a natural, but the singing gift of young Bobby Breen will carry the picture beyond any particular audience limitation and make the hokum palatable as substantial program complement all the way up and down the line. 'Let's Sing Again' is one of the laugh-and-tear brand that should register very solidly at the pay window."

— Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 15 '36

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Objection: desire to avenge his brother's death leads to the killing of eight men. Objectionable in part."

— Nat Legion of Decency Ap 6 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"The regulation Western stuff. Same old type of story. Throughout its unfolding about everything that has ever been used in this type of picture is brought into play."

— Film Daily p3 Je 13 '36

"Pretty nearly the whole works of familiar Western material is rehearsed in this one. . . . All in all, it makes fairly acceptable Western fare for family programs."

— Film Daily p1 Ap 15 '36

"Most of these McCoys stick to a good standard. This is no exception. It should satisfy Western fans in neighborhood spots, as well as being a good bet for warehouse bookings."

— Film Daily p3 Je 9 '36

— Film Daily p10 Je 9 '36

— Film Daily p3 Je 13 '36

— Film Daily p1 Ap 15 '36

— Film Daily p3 Je 15 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; ++ Good; ++ Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY. P 28 '36 98min
United Artists-Selznick international
Players: Freddie Bartholomew, Dolores Costello Barrymore, C. Aubrey Smith, Guy Kibbee
Director: John Cromwell

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

A Guide to the study of the screen version of Little Lord Fauntleroy, prepared by Marguerite Gifford, is available from the National Association of Parents and Teachers and Recreational Guides, Inc, 125 Lincoln Avenue, Newark, New Jersey at fifteen cents per copy.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"This is another of those all-too-rare films that you feel better for having seen. The picture has beauty, it has charm and its comedy effects, attained through excellent characterization, are eminently satisfying."

- + + Book & Film Ap '36

"A: charming; Y: excellent; C: perfect."

Christian Century p614 Ap 22 '36

"Notably outstanding, Family." Am Legion Auxiliary

"The finest facilities of the studios have gone into the making of this film which recreates with rare good taste Frances Hodgson Burnett's story-favorite of another day. Family & junior matinee." Calif Council of Par & Teachers

"Excellent. Family." DAR

"Family." E Coast Preview Committee

"Family & junior matinee." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Outstanding for the family and junior matinee." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Avoiding sentimentalities, stripped of everything bordering on the mawkish and with the enduring values of the story retained, the picture will delight the most critical. Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Family & junior matinee." Nat Soc of New England Women

"The picture is wholesome throughout, hopeful and optimistic in spirit, without being too fluffyish. It can be recommended to all ages without reservations of any kind as it leaves one with a sense of having lived in a beautiful world. Family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Family." Mrs T. G. Winter

+ + Fox W Coast BuI Mr 21 '36

"Suitability: family; especially for children under 16."

Mo Film BuI p57 My '36

"The parts have been perfectly cast and the acting is excellent. We recommend this as an ideal family treat. Excellent, Family." + + Motion Pict Guide Ap '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Little Lord Fauntleroy, as portrayed by Freddie Bartholomew, is a sort of male Little Eva, and I deeply question the advisability of taking children to see him in this picture; I am afraid the natural reaction of a normal child to this film would be an impulse to rush out and commit mayhem or murder. . As a parent, I'd think twice before I took a child of mine to see a boy of such glib righteousness, precisely flawless instincts and perfect diction. The picture is probably a commendation of the book as it was written and as it has been read by millions of youngsters. Taking a nursery school on the whole business, it seems a grand story." Don Herold

+ + Life p22 Je '36

"By not insisting too much on our tears the producers have invented what might have been irreverent laughter. There is no lack of opportunity for quiet weeping, and it is true that the portrayals of the Earl of Dorincourt seem, in the light of reality, incredible. But there is a distinction between the credible and the plausible, and one should ask no more of such a romance than that it be plausible." K. H.

Manchester Guardian p13 Ap 29 '36

"When movie children are convincing, as they seldom are, I confess that I find them irresistible. Freddie Bartholomew is both things in the sublimely sentimental 'Little Lord Fauntleroy'." Mark Van Doren

Nation p360 Ap 29 '36

"Produced by the David O. Selznick who gave a helpless and apparently grateful world 'Little Women', 'Fauntleroy' constitutes a pretty shameless attempt to make money out of maudlin sentimentality. It is suggestive that the talents of John Cromwell and a good character actor were wasted on thirce-re- egurgitated stuff." — New Theatre p35 My '36

"Those of us who had been influenced by the age-long whispering campaign against Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett were considerably amazed yesterday to discover that the photo-play celebrating his adventures was a charming and curiously heart-warming sentimental speare, probably the best thing of its kind since 'Little Women'." Daily woman Tr '36

"Greatly enjoyed the film. Despite the skill and shrewdness of the writing and production, it is not pleasant to think what 'Little Lord Fauntleroy' might have been with any child actor save Freddie Bartholomew in the title role. The young Bartholomew really is a remarkable performer, who combines a genuine delicacy and sensitivity of feeling with enough natural boyishness to keep his playing from becoming precious." Richard Watts, Jr.

+ + N Y Herald Tribune p16 Ap 3 '36

"Freddie Bartholomew's performance, in a part which closely suits his own personality, is, of course, the core of the production. Not all Hugh Walpole's work on the adaptation could manage to make anything of the ballad-like part interview drama, with a minimum of suspense. It is Freddie, with the able assistance of Mr. Smith, who gives the film whatever life it can boast." Eileen Creelman

+ — N Y Sun p33 Ap 3 '36

"'Little Lord Fauntleroy' . . . may not be a classic in the literary sense, but it approaches that stature in this warm, sentimental and gently humorous film edition. . . . There is a benign air about the photoplay, a holow haze of things long past which should lull even the most adamant anti-Fauntlerite into a state of restful receptivity. The picture has a way with it and, unless we are very much in error, you will be pleased." F. S. Nugent

+ + N Y Times p27 Ap 3 '36

"It is, of course, a pretty sentimental and sweet story. But I assure you that neither of these qualities is ever drawn out to the point of pain. Indeed, the whole production—writing, acting and direction—has been handled so skilfully that the film provides uncommonly fine entertainment." William Boehmer

+ + N Y World-Telegram p33 Ap 3 '36

"I was bored to extinction by 'Little Lord Fauntleroy.' The book was, of course, well put, I think, on the Bartholomew shoulders. His precise quaintness, so really good in 'David
LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY—Continued

"36. The all-time high in sugar and spice and everything nice brought to the screen with an endearing performance by Bartholomew and a forceful one by C. Aubrey Smith. Just right for a nostalgic, sympathetic mood, but don’t dare see it in any other."

Stage p10 Ap ’36

Trade Paper Reviews

"As his first for Selznick International since leaving Metro, David O. Selznick has turned in a fine, sensitive, box office picture in 'Little Lord Fauntleroy' which may well rank with his 'David Copperfield' and 'A Tale of Two Cities.' It's an ideal Easter season picture and a cich for turn-away matinee trade. Judging by its Radio City Music Hall premiere attendance, the possible box office hurdles of 'Fauntleroy' for the mature fans seem non-existent."

Variety p18 Ap ’36

LITTLE MISS NOBODY. Je 12 ’36 72min 20th century-Fox

Players: Jane Withers. Jane Darwell. Ralph Morgan. Sara Haden

Director: John Blystone

Based on a short story, The Matron's Report, by Frederick Hazlitt Brennan. The story opens in an orphanage, with a feud led, of course, by Jane, against a crusty marketman. This leads into children's court and out with flying colors. It is the dream of all the children to be adopted, and when Jane's chance comes she sacrifices it nobly for a little friend. Headed for a reform school she is befriended by the owner of a pet shop who is imprisoned by a criminal past and this in turn involves her in a major crime that finally lands her in the arms of her real father."

Hollywood Reporter

Audience Suitability Ratings

"This rather fantastic story of a mischievous little inmate of an orphan's home is all but ruined as entertainment for children because of the introduction of gangster element in last half of the picture. Family." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Family & Junior matinee." Nat Soc of New England Women

"An excellent picture for the family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bul Mr 21 ’36

"Family & Junior matinee." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Mr 9 ’36

"Family." Jt Estimates Mr 15 ’36

"One wonders at the audacity of imagination which is responsible for a gangster element in a story of two appealing children. That it is a delightful film. Adolescents, 12-16; yes; children, 8-12; no."

Motion Pic R Ap ’36

"One deplores the introduction of gangsters and their methods. Family."

Nat Council of Jewish Women Mr 11 ’36

"General patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 29 ’36

A: divertingly sympathetic picture of child-hood; You could easily be swayed by lightly implausible comedy drama with a home-loving climax that may prove too exciting for very sensitive minds."

Par M p50 Je ’36

"Numerous pranks bring Jane into difficulties far graver than the cause would warrant. . . . There is a hint of sentimentality in the treatment of Withers as an actress, but one regrets that the story is so overdeveloped." S. M. Mullen Exhibitor’s Trade p25 My 2 ’36

"Family. (Perhaps overly exciting for sensitive children.)"

Sel Motion Pip Ap ’36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"About a year ago the Hays office said the gangsters were out, but what would a feebie plot do without gangsters for excitement? So here they are again."

Christian Science Monitor p15 Ap 18 ’36

"This is a story of children made into a picture for children. It asks adults to take too much for granted. . . . Young children still in the fullness of their age will accept such goings-on and for them 'Miss Nobody' might prove entertaining. . . . The weakness of the story is that the child of her age would do of her own volition. . . . All the members of the family must work hard to put the picture over, but it does not succeed in being satisfactory entertainment."

Hollywood Spec p10 Mr 28 ’36

"Aiming at rough-and-tumble laughter more than heart appeal, 'Little Miss Nobody' sprouts along at a pace to please the children for whom it is designed. . . . All perform so agreeably that this unpretentious film easily becomes satisfactory fare. It's a safe show for little kids, and may be surprising at the many good moments in it for yourself." (2½ stars) Beverly Hills Cranearty p40 My 5 ’36

"A wistful and, in its way, tragic picture has come into the Roxy, demonstrating once more what a genuinely gifted little actress Jane Withers is. She steals the show from the other children in the cast, as well as from the adults, yet without consciously doing so, and she can bring one's heart, as frequent sniffles in the house yesterday proved." Margaretu Tazian

NY Herald Tribune p8 Je 6 ’36

"In spite of . . . the complete absence of that amusing vulgurness which marked Jane's entrance into pictures, 'Little Miss Nobody' is diversified, and the Saturday audiences of the Roxy applauded it, and juvenile movie-goers should certainly find it to their taste. The director, as well as the adaptors, deserve credit for this." Eileen Creelman

NY Sun p18 Je 8 ’36

"The script was apparently muddled by too many collaborators. The picture has little to recommend it aside from the Withers personality." B. R. C.

NY Times p21 Je 6 ’36

"They've made a softy out of little Jane Withers . . . She suffers so silently that a number of us are afraid she may grow up into a brat, and it's Harding, And more's the pity, too. For this natural and talented little actress . . . is entirely wasted in a wakish, stereotyped role altogether out of context of the Cinderella theme."

William Boehnel

NY World-Telegram p20 Je 8 ’35

"Miss Jane Withers is given a veritable gamut to run and the tape finds her rather breathless with the exertion. The finale is problematic. I found me out in the lounge with a cigarette. . . . Jacki Fowler is properly hateful as a rich brat while Harry Carey seems slightly bored with the entire proceedings. His mind seems focused on the far away

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
prairie, on the outcasts, card-sharpers and bar-belles of his earlier screen career, and don't blame him a bit for his nostalgia." H. S.

--- Script p10 My 30 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Jane Withers again proves her comedy pow- ers in a make-to-order vehicle. A routine story is enlivened by amusing gags and the little star is at all times delightful." + Box Office p57 Ap 4 '36

"This tale isn't strong enough for the big spots and will have to be satisfied with the neighborhood stands. Can also be used to advantage as half of a dual bill." + Film Curb p10 Mr 28 '36

"Jane Withers' latest film is an enjoyable piece of entertainment which should appeal to the family trade. The women and [children] especially should like it. It has a lot of senti- mentality and Jane, as an underdog who never really had a chance, gets a lot of sympathy." + Film Daily p8 Mr 24 '36

"It is an ideal neighborhood picture and will easily maintain the Withers standard of earning. An almost irresistible vehicle for Jane's gift for leadership in [child] mis- chief. It keeps her in the center of events continuously and evokes active sympathy by making her the suffering champion for others." + Hollywood Reporter p3 Mr 21 '36

"Offering Jane Withers in her most interesting character to date, Sol Wurtzel has produced a picture which nicely balances humor, pathos and heart throbs. . . The picture should please as a general audience." + Motion Picture Daily p4 Mr 23 '36

"In comparison with previous Jane Withers pictures it seems to retain all the factors neces- sary to appeal to juvenile enthusiasm; at the same time it provides much to engage the at- tention and interest of adults. . . Not a big picture, but yet an interesting and entertain- ing one, the production makes possible a line of unusually appealing exploitation." + Motion Picture Herald p40 Mr 28 '36

"Jane Withers, No. 2 child player on the 20th-Fox lot, didn't get much of a break in this one. [She] is cute and clever, but she can't carry such a big load of production art. Little Miss Nobody.' Will rely a lot on the vehicle of everything else, yet that can mean some matinee business at best, with the picture likely to please but not stand out in the general. . . It's not a case of a little child leading them this time. It's a case of a child being so far ahead of everybody and everything else concerned with the picture, that all, except her personal efforts, amounts to a lot of distracting sound effect for a little girl's monolog."
--- Variety p18 Je 10 '36

"'Little Miss Nobody,' a historical report on a captivating but almost incorrigible orphan- age heroine, lacks something in spontaneity and doesn't take deep emotional hold but has sufficient entertainment and youthful hullabaloo to satisfy the family and neighborhood de- mands. On the whole the programs will be varia- ble, with indications generally of fair returns." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 21 '36

Audio Suitability Ratings

"Family." E Coast Preview Committee

"Family." Nat Legion of Decency

Fox W Coast Bull Ap 4 '36

"A: moderately entertaining drama concern- ing the perils that beset unguarded adoles- cence; D: wholesome drama; C: possible." + Par M p50 Je '36

"The production is marred at times by lack of realism. Family." + Sel Motion Pict Ap '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Highlighted by the performance of Frank Cochlan, Jr, an unknown; effective direction; and an interesting plot; this film will do well for family trade." + Box Office p23 Ap 18 '36

"A story of school [children] that should do well in the neighborhoods. . . A picture that furnishes an hour of fair entertainment to be forgotten after one leaves the theater." + Film Daily p6 My 15 '36

"A slender but movingly real story of adoles- cent boyhood that will hold its own well as a dudler for school and juvenile houses with family trade. With something of the Tarkington flavor, it points a youthful moral without preaching and presents a reason of sympathetic di- rection of an aptly fitting cast it becomes a poignant little document that is oddly lifelike and stirring." + Hollywood Reporter p3 Ap 3 '36

"An unpretentious, but entertaining little film, this should prove satisfactory especially in the smaller situations, adaptable chiefly for double bill programs." + Motion Picture Daily p5 Je 10 '36

"Estimate: pleasant program [picture] for twin bills, neighborhoods." + N Y Exhibitor p30 Mr 25 '36

"Having only the name of Dickie Moore to brighten the marquee, this curious admixture of school days, cheap melodramatics and forced heart-throbs is only for the minor secondary feature spot. Even there, it is apt to baffle the average audience." + Variety p14 My 27 '36

"Made for family circle and juvenile trade. While mild in entertainment, has enough sub- stance to satisfy the adolescent with melo- dramatic phases and to inspire in elders mel- lowed recollections of the tribulations in nu- merous little red schoolhouses. Best bet is for the Saturday matinee multiple bills." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 3 '36

(s)LITTLE STRANGER. Mr 13 '36 7min Paramount

An animated color cartoon. "The story of a mother duck hatching a chick with her brood and the consequent bewilderment, when the chick attempts to swim and quack." Motion Pict Daily

Audio Suitability Ratings

"Excellent." + Sel Motion Pict Ap '36

LITTLE RED SCHOOLHOUSE. Mr 2 '36 60min Chesterfield

Players: Frank Cochlan, Jr; Dickie Moore. Ann Doran. Lloyd Hughes

Director: Charles Lamont

"An adolescent boy, piqued by a schoolmaster's rebuke and is implicated in a murder. His life in a reform school and his subsequent vindication form the plot." Nat Legion of Decency

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; ++ Mediocre; -- Poor; --- Exceptionally Poor
LITTLE STRANGER—Continued

Trade Paper Reviews

"For comedy, one would recommend the finale, when the appreciative ducks learn chicken talk to show their forgiveness."

Film Daily p36 Ap 28 '36

A good and entertaining effort."

Motion Pict Daily p6 Ap 13 '36

"The subject is in color and the animation especially smooth, although the squawking of the hawk in pursuit of the chick is a bit of an eyesore. The subject is still suited to juvenile interest requirements as to adult and requires no special program setting."

Motion Pict Herald p38 Ap 18 '36

LIVING DANGEROUSLY. (Release date not determined) 80min Associated British Players: Otto Kruger. Leonora Corbett. Francis Lister. Aileen Marson

Director: Herbert Brenon

Filmed in England. Based on a play of the same title by Montgomery and Frank Gregory. "The main action is a fade back narrative, told to the District Attorney in a New York family courtroom and enacted as a killing. The story told is of two doctors in partnership in London, one of whom is a dope peddler and the other is in love with his friend's wife." (Motion Pict Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"There are some ethical points involved which may occasion some disagreement but from the production aspect the film is above the average. Suitability: adult." + Mo Film Bul p42 F 24 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is admirably acted, and the fault that has been sometimes noted in British pictures—their rather slow tempo—is certainly not noticeable here." Canadian M p61 My '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Good story values, suspense, live acting and a surprise finale with a real kick in it are the assets of the picture. The special interest is an authentic reproduction of the proceedings when the ruling body of British medicine deals with erring doctors. There's exploitation value there, and more in the two problem angles of professional code and human instincts in conflict and of 'justifiable' murder."

Motion Pict Daily p6 Mr 19 '36

"This Elsebro production has American values which are accentuated by the fact that the opening and closing scenes are set in New York, the story proper being presented as a narration... The climax, effectively presented, at the same time, is perhaps a problem of censorship... As entertainment it is fast-moving stuff, with plenty of suspense even if it should be found necessary to modify the final scene. The acting is excellent, with Otto Kruger and Francis Lister sharing the honors." + Motion Pict Herald p31 Mr 21 '36

LORENZO DE MEDICI. Ap 13 '36 88min Nuovo Mondo

Director: Guido Brignoni

A dialogue film in Italian, made in Italy with English sub-titles. "Set in the Florence of the days of the Medici, the film tells the story of the assassination of the Duke Alexander, who ruled the city with a ruthless and bloodthirsty hand, by Lorenzino, one of the famous Medici family, who governed the city of Florence for many years." (Motion Pict Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Suggested for schools and libraries. Family."

NAT Bld of R + Fox West Coast Bul Ap 25 '36

"The background of medieval Florence with its gayety and brilliant festivals is magnificently portrayed. Adults." + Nat Legion of Decency Ap 30 '36

It has a certain historical value in addition to its dramatic interest. Family; + Wkly Guide Ap 18 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The photoplay has a certain obvious interest through the fact that its title role was played by the late Alexander Moisasi, an actor of international note, who was a member of the Max Reinhardt and Alexander Woollcott... The picture offers no suggestion of a Mussolini parable; it reveals rather a fine insights into man as possessing a pictorial sense, and it shows a pleasant concern with Renaissance intrigue... Among other things, it must be said on the picture's behalf that it confines itself, amid impressive backgrounds, with the plots and the amours of its devious, colorful and exciting era, and that there isn't a blackshirt or a Fascist salute in a reel of it." + N Y Herald Tribune p12 Ap 15 '36

"Presumably most of the story is fanciful, but as Duke Alessandro really met a violent end, the scenarist has built a highly entertaining and colorful tale upon a foundation of fact. Magnificently produced and acted by a cast apparently inspired by the work of their leader, 'Lorenzino de Medici' is a credit to the rejuvenated Italian film industry." + N Y Times p19 Ap 14 '36

"Historians should be warned that in all probability the film is full of discrepancies... But, accurate or not, 'Lorenzo de Medici' is a thoroughly engrossing and entertaining study of Renaissance intrigue... The film is handicapped somewhat by its wordiness, which tends to slow up its action, but in spite of this fault it emerges as an historical offering of considerable merit and interest." (Wkly Film Bp) + N Y World-Telegram p17 Ap 23 '36

"The late Moisasi of Vienna is to be seen in 'Lorenzo de Medici,' a costume piece only for Italians who are trying to forget Mussolini." John Mosher New Yorker p77 My 2 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Excellent Italian picture of historic de Medici rule rates high in performances, settings and direction. Worth tillsing for Italian audience consumption." + Film Daily p14 Apr 15 '36

"The film has been produced lavishly, and with a ring of authenticity. Production, settings and atmosphere. The cast is extremely capable, and the film, studded with sub-title translations of dialogue, is easy to follow even without a knowledge of the language, and presents an episode of history which should be of interest to those unfamiliar with Italian." + Motion Pict Daily p11 Apr 14 '36

"Strong in every department until it got to the cutting room... Otherwise this historical film has merits way over par for the Italian-language route, and could draw some general trade if correctly plugged." + Variety p20 Apr 15 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
Love Before Breakfast. Mr 2 '36 72min Universal Players: Carole Lombard, Preston Foster, Janet Beecher, Cesar Romero, Betty Lawford
Director: Walter Lang
See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings
"A: depends on taste; Y: doubtful; C: no." Christian Century p583 Ap 15 '36
"Fresh comedy. Unnecessary drinking. Adults." Am Legion Auxiliary
"Family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers
"Good. Preston Foster is natural; Carole Lombard unappealing. Mature." DAR
"The comedy, though at times hardly credible, is greatly aided by deft direction and clever acting. Adults and young people." E Coast Preview Committee
"Mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs
"The entire production is utterly flippant in tone, much of the action is unseemly to an unchaste degree and drinking and drunkenness pervade throughout. Matter of taste for adults." Nat Soc of New England Women
"The stubbornness of the girl becomes monotonous and the character is very much overdrawn. It is presumably a comedy but falls short of its goal. Too much drinking. Mature." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women
Fox W Coast Bul Mr 28 '36
"Adults and young people." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Mr 11 '36
"Unnecessary drinking. Adults." Jt Estimates Mr 15 '36
"The story is complete foolishness but many of the lines and situations are amusing. The direction is fast if a little incoherent, and the casting and acting are excellent. Adolescents, 12-16: too sophisticated; children, 8-12: no." Motion Pict R Ap '36
"[It is] an amusing story." Nat Bd of R M Mr '36
"Adults." Nat Council of Jewish Women Mr 18 '36
"Adults." Sel Motion Pict Ap '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"Though all the characters are so recherche and their backgrounds and costumes so tony, the trite quality of the story seeps through the yachts and champagne bottles." M. E. P Boston Transcript p4 Mr 21 '36
"I suppose James Cagney is the father of this cinematic sinnose towards women, although Clark Gable must be given credit for giving it a powerful push. It Happened One Night" and other gems... 'Love Before Breakfast' falls definitely into this sissie-back group, but is saved somewhat by several good lines and the presence of one of my dotes, Carole Lombard. Don Herald
+ + Life p24 Mr '36
"Undoubtedly 'Love Before Breakfast' was deliberately written around Miss Lombard's talents. I for one find La Lombard's efforts very far removed from the humorous. As a foil, the labored Preston Foster is hardly scintillating... In any event... stay away from this one." Robert Stobbing
- - New Theatre p33 Ap '36
"'Love Before Breakfast' is a gay, lively, bantering little cinema prank espousing the course of modern courtship, which in short, consists of the hero and heroine tearing at each other's throats and right out of the picture. It has plenty of good wisecracks which are funny—sometimes too deliberately funny for its own good—so it nicely foolish people who do some nicely foolish things and some really first-rate light comedy acting by Carole Lombard and Preston Foster." William Boehnel + N Y World-Telegram p9 Mr 21 '36
"Were it not for the adaptable and dependable Miss Lombard, 'Love Before Breakfast' would do nothing more than show the efficacy of trial and error. With her, it manages to produce a spontaneous laugh or two." + - Stage p10 Ap '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"[It] rises to great heights of hilarity on numerous occasions, and surprisingly enough, manages to keep up the fast pace throughout the whole production." + Canadian Moving Pict Digest p6 My 2 '36
"[It] rates as fairly good entertainment. As a grosser it likewise should be fair... Incidentally, the motion picture contest could include a prize contest for the best answer as to what the title has to do with the subject. And the best answer would be nothing." + - Variety p17 Mr 18 '36

Love Begins at Twenty. Ap 22 '36 60min Warner-First national Players: Warren Hull, Patricia Ellis, Hugh Herbert, Hobart Cavanagh, Dorothy Vaughan
Director: Frank McDonald
Based on the play, Broken Dishes, by Martin Flavin. "Hugh Herbert is a henpecked husband. ... We follow his adventures that one breathless day when things actually happen to him. He faces bandits in a bank, is fired from his job, gets drunk, goes to the lodge, induces in a fight with his boss, helps his daughter to marry the boy of whom her mother disapproves, is jailed and finally returns home the master of his household." (Hollywood Reporter)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Amusing clean comedy, but why that title: Family, but mature for children." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers
"Mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs
"Family, exclusive of young children." Nat Soc of New England Women
"Mediocre-mature." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women
Fox W Coast Bul My 30 '36
"Given farcical treatment [it] is not particularly interesting for several different reasons. ... Perhaps the story is hardly worth his efforts. It is the sort of simple, foolish tale which fills an idle hour however, and provides relaxation and laughs for many. Adolescents, 12-16: depends on taste; children, 8-12: not elevating." + - Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 18 '36
"Hugh Herbert, with his befuddled gestures and appareled in a most disarrayed condition, is amusing but the story is hardly worth his efforts. It is the sort of simple, foolish tale which fills an idle hour however, and provides relaxation and laughs for many. Adolescents, 12-16: depends on taste; children, 8-12: not elevating." + - Motion Pict R Je '36
++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; - Poor; --- Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

LOVE BEGINS AT TWENTY—Continued
"Fair for family."
+ Nat Council of Jewish Women My 20 '36
"General patronage."
+ Nat Legion of Decency Je 4 '36
"Depressing upon the antics of the inimitable Hugh Herbert, this slight program fails to satisfy. An extremely modern idea is the urging of liquor on the father by the young people—'man bites dog' idea and not particularly commendable. Mature."
— Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"[It is an] exceptionally amusing and appealing melodrama which has been expertly factured as an offering of B-classification, 'Love' provides more diversion than the average A-picture. Directors in every all means see this picture."
— Allan Hersholt
+ Hollywood Spec p11 Je 6 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"Mild comedy with several bright situations that save it from falling into the category of mediocre films."
+ Box Office p33 Je 13 '36
"This yarn of a small town family is a swell bet for the neighborhoods and not-too-large cities. Chuckles and good laughs come thick and fast and the whole thing is most amusing."
+ Film Curb p16 My 30 '36
"This is rich in laughs, with Hugh Herbert having a field day as the hen-pecked husband and father, who finally asserts himself."
+ Film Daily p7 My 23 '36
"Formula comedy, genus domestic Americana, this provides enough moderate entertainment to get by as a lower class B release. It will doubtless do better in smaller communities than in key cities. It is a walk-away for Herbert and he scores with every opportunity in the manner he has established as his own."
+ Hollywood Reporter p3 My 20 '36
"A succession of domestic comedy situations which furnish good family type of entertainment. The story is principally Hugh Herbert's, giving him the opportunity to indulge in a quick-paced series of his familiar character antics. The show should click well in smaller houses."
+ Motion Pict Daily p2 My 21 '36
"Though not what should be considered ordinarily as strong in cast names and possessed of a title that doesn't even hint as to the picture's character, the show is salable entertainment, to be presented to audiences with the assurance that it should prove enjoyable."
— Motion Pict Herald p37 My 30 '36
"It all works out very well but the result is light on what the marquee needs. Family audiences won't mind so much."
+ Phila Exhibitor p35 Je 1 '36
"It should prosper in any house as top drawer of duals, and, with proper plugging, should draw them into the lesser acers."
+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 20 '36

LUCK OF THE IRISH. 80min Guaranteed pictures
Players: Richard Hayward, Kay Walsh, Niall McGinnis
Director: Donovan Pedety
Dialogue film produced in England. "The theme is a variation on the lord of the manor's castle and belongings on the Grand National sweeps run in England, and losing. His son and the rich daughter of another landed lord furnish the sentimental interest."

— Film Daily

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"Luck of the Irish' is something real. There is a fine blend of sincerity in its simple story, and of real and kindly human emotions. It is a romantic story that has nothing very novel about it, but for all that it will stand out of the ruck of every-day presentations as a picture that will stick in the memory."
+ Canadian M p12 Je 36

Trade Paper Reviews
"This is an out-and-out Irish story that seems only suitable for typical Irish audiences. . . It is slow-moving and certainly will not be of any particular interest to run-of-the-mill film fans in this country. At times the brogue cannot be understood, the photography is nothing to brag about and the recording none too good." — Film Curb p7 Je 6 '36
"The American family trade wouldn't go for its old-fashioned treatment, its spirit and general lack of modernism as they have become accustomed to Hollywood product. So it rates only as a film for strictly Irish audiences who can appreciate its sentiment and also understand some of the Irish brogue that is too quick for other nationalities to grasp readily."
+ Film Daily p29 Je 2 '36
"A pleasant tale, rambling and almost always in a vein of light comedy, this film will be found a delightful change. It is said to be the first Irish importation and the brogues and dialects, not incoherent, lend a novel note. . . The film has the good qualities of Irish customs, portrayals and folk songs which are authentically delivered for good entertainment. Much subtle Gaelic wit is in evidence."
+ Motion Pict Daily p6 Je 9 '36

LUCKY TERROR. F 20 '36 60min First division
Players: Hoot Gibson, Nora Andre. Art Mix. Frank Yaconelli
Director: Alan James
A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Family. Junior."
Nat Bd of R M Mr '36
"Not an unusual plot, but the action is brisk and interesting."
Wkly Guide F 29 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"All the ingredients of the typical Western are employed and it will get by with those fans who like this sort of stuff."
— Film Curb p11 Mr 28 '36
"An average Western, this has all the requisite action and romance which will please children and fans. It is definitely for dual bills."
+ Motion Pict Daily p7 Mr 24 '36
"Thanks to good photography, plenty of action, this latest Hoot Gibson is able to offset any lack of originality which may be found in the plot. . . With Gibson's personal popularity, and concentration on action, this should please as well as the others."
+ N Y Exhibitor p30 Mr 25 '36
"One of the dullest, most absurd outdoor melodramas in many weeks. Even Hoot Gibson's presence fails to cover up roving direction, slovenly acting, sluggish pace and special story or development of it."
— Variety p17 Ap 8 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

M

MESSAGE TO GARCIA. Ap 10 '36 85min 20th century-Fox
Players: Wallace Beery, Barbara Stanwyck, John Boles, Alan Hale
Director: George Marshall
See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"The film has plenty of action and but one regrettable feature—the torture scenes. When will producers learn that women and men require torture to have their soul harrowed with suffering?"

Bks & Films My '36
"A: depends on taste; Y: no; C: no."

Christian Century p616 Ap 29 '36
"Family." Am Legion Auxiliary
"The jungle scenes are beautifully photographed; there is interesting symbolic use of light and shadow, and Wallace Beery, as the unscrupulous390025, does a powerful piece of characterization which adds weight to his reputation as an accomplished actor. Adults 8-14: delightful."

Calif Cong of Par & Teachers
"Excellent. This absorbing story ... teaches a fine lesson. Too harrowing for children. Mature." DAR
"Mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs
"At times, the motivation is obscure and the torture scenes are realistic to a very trying degree. Nevertheless, this film will interest those who enjoy stories of adventure, filled with action and narrow escapes. Audiences over 14 will be let in on S-14: doubtful."

S Calif Council of Fed Church Women
"A highly entertaining and constructive picture. Family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bul Mr 14 '36
"This story has a distinct appeal because of its familiarity to most Americans as an exploit of value and value. It is based on history, but for picture purposes the imagination has greatly enriched the drama."

- + Motion Pict & Family Je 15 '36
"Good-adult & young adult."

- + Motion Pict Guid Je 3 '36
"Probably its historic interest is its best drawing card. Most of the acting is only ordinary though Wallace Beery does an excellent characterization of a soldier of fortune. Some of the scenes of torture are uncomfortably prolonged and the whole thing is rather confused. Adolescents, 12-16: passable; children, S-12: too exciting."

- + Motion Pict R Ap '36
"Slow in parts but has a thrilling climax. General patronage."

Nat Legion of Deency Mr 29 '36
"Settings with authentic detail and the use of Spanish, carefully interpreted, give veracity to the historical legend. With the exception of the heroine's continuous state of perfection in grooming despite all her misadventures, the story is made thrillingly believable."

- + Scholastic p27 Ap 4 '36
"In the period of the Spanish American War, it has plenty of adventurous action and a good deal of carelessness in writing and direction. Family."

- + Wkly Guide Ap 4 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"When it comes to adventures, the movies are never nigglary. In the present instance they have laid down a barrage of dangers that do credit to their imagination. ... Mr. Beery adds the lust to the film. Disgustable, good-natured rascals are the sort of things that he always does best." N. N.

Beverly Hills Transcrit p5 My 9 '36
"[It is] passable melodrama."
- + Canadian M p61 My '36
"Not for persons who do not enjoy torture scenes."

Christian Science Monitor p14 My 9 '36
"Philosopher Elbert Hubbard's brief essay on getting a virtue out of whatever the difficulties have served varies since his death on the Titanic as the inspiration for many an American business man. In Mariano, however, it evidently inspired nothing more than a melodramatic story of unimpressive adventure in the period of the Spanish-American War of 1898, with a good deal of careless writing and direction." J. P. Cuningham
- + Coronet p698 Ap 17 '36
"The story of Lieutenant Rowan's hazardous journey ... is a story packed with thrills and military romance. And, left alone, this story could have made thrilling pictures and a romantic picture. The screen play, however, is so affable with sure-fire touches that nothing is left of the original. Good stuff, however, is a real moral cramp. ... Full of spurious excitement, 'A Message to Garcia' is a case where the studio was not content to tell it itself. (2 stars) Beverly Hills

Liberty p51 Ap 18 '36
"'A Message to Garcia' is reasonably good entertainment in its own right, and, thanks to Mr. Beery's engaging impersonation, it is frequently a bit more than that. ... 'A Message to Garcia' is pleasant viewing. Save for its scenes of torture, and it wisely keeps its jingo touches at a happy minimum." Richard Warr, Jr.
- + Y N Herald Tribune p12 Ap 10 '36
"As undocumented a piece of historical clap-trap as the film city has produced, the new photoplay is almost entirely enveloped in burlesque, instead, being neither badly stated fact nor well-handled fiction. It stands forth nakedly as an absurd and trivial melodrama which is made all the more annoying because Twentieth Century-Fox would have you believe it is partly true." F. S. Nugent
- N Y Times p27 Ap 10 '36
"A shambling, feeble, shiftless affair, its movement is ponderous, its dialogue is pedestrian and its story is sterile. Save for a rousing finale in which the Cuban rebels come to the rescue of Lieutenant Rowan, and the pleasant performances from Miss Stanwyck, Mr. Beery has managed to play the principals, I can't be more than just mildly happy about it." William Boehnel
- + Y World-Telegram p23 Ap 10 '36
"What 'A Message to Garcia' lacks in entertainment it makes up for in patriotism."

News-Wk p42 Ap 11 '36
"It is one hundred per cent hokum made highly digestible with straightforward treatment."

Stage p19 My '36
"In real life, Lieutenant Rowan is now a 79-year-old ex-corporal of the colonial troops in California with nothing much more than a medal he received in 1922 to remind him of his feat. ... Cinemaddicts less intimately acquainted with his exploit will accept [this film] as legitimate embodiment of romanticized history."

Time p48 Ap 20 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

Canadian Moving Pict Digest p5 Je 6 '36
"Splendidly acted and directed drama of Spanish War days is a sure box office draw."

Film Daily p14 Ap 3 '36

Exceptionally Good; Good; Fair; Mediocre; Poor; Exceptionally Poor
MESSAGE TO GARCIA—Continued

"Taking a dramatic episode from American history, melodrama-maker Darryl Zanuck has fashioned a picture that ought to please the masses. With excellent casting in attracting the women will determine what it does at the box office."

N Y Exhibitor p31 Mr 25 '36

"A great majority of the picture's prospective auditors will like the melodrama and for theatres it should stand up well enough as a grosser. As for their story, Powell and Lipscomb have fabricated something that's little or no better than the average Western; but the story in this instance has the advantage of some corkscrew dialog and first rate production."

Variety p16 Ap 15 '36

MILIZIA TERRITORIALE. Ap 5 '36 77min Caesar

Players: Gina Bolognesi. Enrico Viarisio. Monte D'Ancora

Director: Mario Bonnard

A dialogue film in Italian without English sub-titles. Based on the novel of the same title by A. De Benedetti. "The story has to do with a bewhiskered middle-aged actor, who is constantly being subjected to petty persecution in civilian life, but who finds himself in a dominating position when war is declared, since he happens to be a major in the militia."

N Y World-Telegram

"There are lots of laughs in this smoothly directed, well-acted, and fast-moving picture."

H. S. + N Y Times p18 Ap 6 '36

"[It is] a spirited little Italian farce, touched with some scathing satire on films glorifying war. Well-acted and smoothly directed, the film is among the best of the Italian offerings that recently have flooded the town."

William Boehne + N Y World-Telegram p29 Ap 8 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"[It] makes good theater in presenting revolt of a timid bookkeeper who can't escape the swivel stool even during heavy fire." + Film Daily p71 Ap 7 '36

"A slow-moving, crudely produced comedy based on an unforgettable story, this film cannot conceivably compete with other foreign films currently being shown in New York. Over-abundance of dialogue makes it hard to follow and no title are provided to simplify the situation. Appeal is limited even for native audiences. Its only true redeeming feature is the fine performance of the hero."

Hollywood Reporter p4 Ap 10 '36

"The war depicted is the World War, the action beginning prior to Italy's entry, spanning the period of conflict and continuing afterward. The treatment is light throughout and actual fighting is shown only in brief flashes...Reviewed at the World Theatre, New York, where a Saturday night audience manifested its reaction by frequent laughter."

Motion Pict Vanguard p40 Ap 25 '36

"Until the last reel [the film] unravels with pleasantness and a good deal of gusto. Then the story evaporates into an anti-climax... Except for this hurdle, it's a fairly smooth job, aided by names and well-studded with laughs."

Variety p23 Ap 15 '36

 MILKY WAY. F 7 '36 85min Paramount

Director: Leo McCarey

Based on the play of the same title by Lynn Root and Harry Clark. "(Harold Lloyd) is a timid, inoffensive and slightly daffy deliverer of bottled milk, who, by an ingenious string of fortuitous circumstances, gains a national reputation as a fighting man; is jockeyed into a series of fictitious encounters, and finally into a battle for the middle-weight championship of the world, which he wins because his opponent is given sleeping medicine by mistake."

(Hollywood Reporter)

"As: good of kind; Y: amusing; C: good."

Christian Century p446 Mr 18 '36

"Family and junior matinees. Calif Cong of Par & Teachers.

"Excellent. Mature. Continued laughter marked the preview appreciation of Harold Lloyd's gag-and-situation comedy." DAR

"Family. Juniors." Nat Bd of R

"Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"An exceptionally amusing farce with hilarious situations; good story; and absorbing direction. Family." Nat Soc of New England Women + Fox W Coast Bul F 15 '36

"Family and junior matinee." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) F 8 '36

"This is, as near as possible, a comedy which everybody should enjoy; and no student of acting technique should miss Menjou's virtuoso display. Suitability: family." + Nat Fed of Clubs F 24 '36

"Students of motion picture dramaturgy will do well to challenge the use of dialogue in many of the scenes as to whether or not less speech, and not more dialogue, will not improve the technique. Students will profit by noting the 'build-up' and the delivery of laugh-provoking lines and situations."

Motion Pict & Family p8 F 15 '36

"Adolescents, 12-16: excellent; children, 8-12: excellent." Motion Pict R Mr '36

"Wholesome entertainment for the family and junior matinees." + Nat Council of Jewish Women F 5 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Family and junior matinee." + Sel Motion Pict F 1 '36

"Harold Lloyd may be the 'starred' attraction in 'The Milky Way' but he should be prepared to share the glory of its inevitable popularity with every principal member of his supporting cast... A rich, sandwich of dialect, innuendo, and innuendo, who helped so substantially in its creation. For this picture is a gilt-edged cinematic comedy film, as spacious and diversified as the scenarios and directors. It is a concoction of true Lloyd nonsense that is so cleverly set down in action, dialog and situation that it leaves one limp." J. P. Cunningham + Commonwealth p414 F 7 '36

"Even though the noise it makes will leave you somewhat irritated by the time the fade-out comes, you will find 'The Milky Way' good fun. It is a comedy of situations, some of which are mirth-provoking, and at least one of which would make a wooden Indian laugh. When you see the picture, you will spot the situation I mean—the one in which Harold Lloyd shares a taxicab with a cot... It is physical comedy which asks your intellect to go off shift and allow the humor to take its course during a time..."

+ Hollywood Spec p14 F 1 '36

"Harold Lloyd has turned out more than his share of good comedies, but now that we can remember, any funnier than 'The Milky Way' is rather familiar stuff. But it has been coaxed and prowled by so many grand gags by the scenarios and so swiftly directed by Leon McRae, you'll be laughing too much to notice the plot. 'The Milky Way' is amusing enough to stand up under the adjective hilarious, and stars Beverly Hills Liberty p28 Mr 7 '36

"Though Harold Lloyd is only a fair comedian himself, 'The Milky Way' is, about the funniest picture of 'The cast' lendable help in this festival of wholesome abdominal laughs," Don Herold +, Life p26 Je '36

Manchester Guardian p13 My 5 '36

"As to Harold Lloyd, whose comedy 'The Milky Way' was announced as a side-splitter, I have nothing to report beyond the conviction that he is heavier than ever. I have never found his work to be funny, and his Chico Chaplin and the Marx Brothers are said to be hard workers, too, but an audience would not be pleased with his laughter. After this man felled with the glasses bends himself double with an effort of comedy which in its very self is a guarantor that we shall not do so..."

Mark Van Doren — Nation p402 Ap 15 '36

"Unlike Chaplin's own-one-man show, the new Harold Lloyd comedy is up-to-the-minute in construction, the work of many hands, all laid on expertly. By and large it is near the top for screen comedy,″ Otto Ferguson +, New Repub p78 F 26 '36

"No one can ever seriously have considered Harold Lloyd a talented comedian, yet his films make one laugh... In 'The Milky Way,' as in his previous films (all so easily forgettable), Lloyd surrounds his excellent gags: the taxi-drive with a foil, for instance, is a brilliant and amusing extravagance. And the rest of the cast has magnanimously been allowed a share in his success; only one of the eight chief parts was uninteresting played... Yes, a thoroughly funny film..."

+ New Statesman & Nation p385 Mr 14 '36

"Good entertainment. Fast moving and well staged comedy. It is rather pleasant to see a film that has had the courage to remain a slightly unpleasant and mild eponymous to the very end..." Robert Stein

+ New Theatre p34 Ap '36

"Aided by a number of excellent actors and some surprisingly sharp and witty writing, 'The Milky Way' proves to be an exceptionally diverting cinema fare. I do not recall all the nuance in Mr. Lloyd's silent films well enough to make any comparisons, but I can assure you that the new photoplay represents by far the best work the Lloyd workshop has accomplished since the screen began to babble... If you wanted to guess you couldn't, it is a film that tends to run down a bit as it goes along, so that the final climactic scenes are definitely inferior to those of the opening..." Margarette Tazlaar

+ N Y Herald Tribune p15 Mr 26 '36

"The 'Milky Way' hasn't any rivals this winter and after long escapades, returns in the funniest picture of the season, the funniest picture since 'Ruggles of Red Gap.' It is a cast-worthy picture of the picture, and the picture is worthy of a long and merry run. They seldom come along as funny as this one, and the Charlie Chaplin is singularly lucky that his picture opened first." Eileen Creelman

+ N Y Sun p33 Mr 25 '36

"It's good to have an old-time Harold Lloyd comedy back in town, and for that reason alone we were prepared to welcome 'The Milky Way,' which restores the actor to his New York after an absence of eighteen months. The new picture, rather than the old, is that; it happens, also, to be a well-balanced picture, drawing as much merriment from its dialogue as from its slapstick. And, equally between Mr. Lloyd and the other members of its excellent cast. We expected a one-man act in the film, but we are given a three-ring circus... The picture is as frolicsome a comedy as Mr. Lloyd has made since the days of 'The Freshman.'" S. Nugent +, N Y Times p27 Mr 26 '36

"Although Harold Lloyd is the nominal star of 'The Milky Way,' the chief blessings of this post-Capra comedy are the times hilariously amusing piece of slapstick fooling are really Adolphe Menjou and Verree Teasdale. The film in which they appear, it's a well-balanced picture, as the adaptation of the stage play of the name, and if it sometimes lacks the snap and dash of 'The Freshman,' it is original enough in it to keep one chuckling from beginning to end and sometimes laughing right out loud..." William Boehn

+ N Y World-Telegram p21 Mr 26 '36

"[It is a] good, bracing tonic. Without any of those mechanical stunts that you find in a Country Grocer, but with times hilariously amusing piece of slapstick fooling are really Adolphe Menjou and Verree Teasdale. The film in which they appear, it's a well-balanced picture, as the adaptation of the stage play of the name, and if it sometimes lacks the snap and dash of 'The Freshman,' it is original enough in it to keep one chuckling from beginning to end and sometimes laughing right out loud..." Mark Forester

+ New Yorker p87 Ap 4 '36

"One reason for [Lloyd's] continued appeal may be that he is content to allow some of the other actors the opportunity to perform, so that his films have a balance about them. In 'The Milky Way' both Adolphe Menjou and Verree Teasdale have plenty of material. As farces go, it travels well enough..." Mark Forester

+ Sat R p352 Mr 14 '36

"The gag-makers have been very well employed on the latest Harold Lloyd film. The great Lloyd factory has never constructed a better picture. Mr. Adolphe Menjou acts with the toughened and energy he showed in 'The Front Page.' Mr. Menjou in this kind of part is splendidly funny. He runs away with the film: he doesn't need gags: he doesn't need to smuggle a foil into a taxi and disguise its owner: he doesn't need to boost the bowler hats. These gags are for the star, and so with the gag-makers at the top of their game and Mr. Menjou the star of his, we have the best 'Harold Lloyd' to date..." Grammies

+ Spec p512 Mr 20 '36

"The Milky Way... Harold Lloyd might have waited much longer than two years for an acceptable script if Broadway had not provided that brisk, caustic, facile bit of dialogue. Now, however, it is, he has the perfect vehicle for his gifts..."
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

MILKY WAY—Continued

as a farce. ... His talents for reducing the shenanigans to the ridiculous have never been more efficacious.”
+ Stage p9 Mr '36

"It is an entirely unsophisticated and up-raising, which I can honestly say, unlike Chaplin’s ‘Modern Times’ which would have been nonexistent without Chaplin. ‘The Milky Way’ being a thin film, unfunny if Producer Lloyd had cast someone other than himself in the leading role.”
+ Time p38 F 24 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"There’s no top milk in ‘The Milky Way.’
It is pure cream of the comedy crop, traveling at a fast pace through a series of hilarious situations. Family.
+ Box Office p22 F 1 '36

"Packed to overflowing with legitimate laugh sequences this is decidedly one of the best Lloyd has ever made. ... There isn’t a dull moment in the entire feature.”
+ Film Curb pl1 F 1 '36

"The laughs are so fast and furious in this Harold Lloyd fun riot that one is really thankful for the few calm moments in which to re-cuperate. At the box-office, it should hit big money everywhere. In a role tailor-made to his talents, Harold Lloyd should panic his army of old fans, and should add a host of new ones who know him as a name but haven’t seen him.”
+ Film Daily p8 Ja 23 '36

"It registers a laugh-count of about two a minute for its entire length and that is something of a record, even for Lloyd. So there should be nothing but smiles at the box office whatever audience it plays to. Then all too much of course, very much his amiable, agile and unabashed self, always likeable and always effortlessly funny. Sharing his laugh-making is the incomparable Adolphe Menjou, now a gum-chewing and vociferous fight promoter, full of wild activity and surprising bits of facial comicality.”
+ Hollywood Reporter p2 Ja 25 '36

"With uproarious comedy and to the tune of a thousand laughs, Harold Lloyd returns to the front rank of screen funmakers. Farce and hokum, moving with speed and holding a life-like sequence, that just chopping it off is an act of kindness and charity.
"Previewed in Los Angeles Paramount Theatre. It so hit its preview audience that its continued roaring laughter resulted in their inability to hear half of the picture.”
+ Motion Picture Herald p6 F 1 '36

"This starts off slowly, builds up rapidly till there are moments positively screaming fun and satire. The lower brand Lloyd comedy is sure to get ‘em. (Estimate: will do well anywhere, with selling.”
+ N Y Exhibitor p34 F 25 '36

"The picture emerges on the screen as one of the world’s comedies since the advent of talkies. It should prove a money picture everywhere. ... Lloyd gives an excellent characterization of the meek guy throughout the picture, never gets out of character. He has lost a lot of his former schoolboy habits which aid him greatly. ... Picture can live up to most anything zealous press agents will say.”
+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ja 26 '36

MILLIONAIRE KID, (Release date not determined) 50min Reliable Players: Betty Compson, Bryant Washburn.
Charles Delaney. Bradley Mctafee
Director: Bernard B. Ray
"Brady family is haunted by tutors and his parents are separated and battling in court for possession of him. Rather than take sides he runs away and his adventures are many and varied. As a newboy he is picked up by a snevolent master-crook who doesn’t believe in kidding but is under indictment for other crimes.”
+ + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr '36

Audio Suitability Ratings

"Poor acting turns tragedy into comedy.
General praise.”
+ Nat Legion of Decency Ap 13 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"This is one cannot hope for better playing time than the duis or small neighborhoods.
It is story, and dialogue none too good.
Players do as well as could be expected with the material at hand.”
+ Film Curb pl7 Ap 4 '36

"For the grind houses and some of the double bills this picture should do all right.
In its classification it answers its purpose.
It carries many of the former big names and although the plot is quite obvious, it is handled in such a manner as to hold interest throughout.”
+ Film Daily p4 Ap 1 '36

"This social comedy-drama is manufactured of stock materials for the hamlet trade, where it will doubtless find a welcome from the uncritical and prove useful as a support number on low classes.”
+ Hollywood Reporter p3 Mr 28 '36

"This is a mild entrant that will serve for double features, neighborhood houses.”
+ Hollywood Reporter p3 Mr 28 '36

"Millionaire Kid,’ will not do in spots ex-to those that have to grab something for the Main Street stemmers. Picture starts with good promise, but is so wishy-washy that ending is fogged out.”
+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 28 '36

MINE WITH THE IRON DOOR. My 8 '36
60min Columbia-Principal
Frederick Burton
Director: David Howard

Based on the novel of the same title by Harold Bell Wright. It was previously made as a silent picture. ... It is the saga of the search for a fabulously wealthy lost mine.
... The story concerns the adventures and misadventures of dramatic and romantic, which befall a smart young salesman and dumb city detective when they set out to find the mine.”
(Motion-Pict Herald)

Audio Suitability Ratings

"General patronage.”
+ Nat Legion of Decency My 28 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + + Fair; — Mediocure; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
“Two giving—Unless Motion Music ‘36.”

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“In total, without the title to mislead the average Western fan, this picture is mildly pleasing, giving intelligent attention to detail, and offering as much as any secondary production is, apparently, supposed to give,” Paul Jacobs

Trade Paper Reviews

“This yarn of treasure hunting in Arizona is far entertaining. I have been so enchanted with both the comedy and the drama spread pretty thin. None but children will give it credence and it is of doubtful entertainment value for all ages. Grade it as a support number on neighborhood double bills.”

“This production moves rather slowly. It is essentially an adventure yarn and there is sufficient conflict to appeal to the lovers of action dramas, yet no horses gallop, no horses bar the door, and only in the final sequences is there any real suspense developed. . . . The production as a whole is quite suitable as an egg Naive entertainment.”

+ Motion Pict Daily p8 Ap 20 ’36

“Wide liberties have been taken in this adaptation said Harold Bell Wright’s story. While much of the original dramatic romantic substance has been retained, a vein of comedy has been inserted that may well be best explained. The audience seemed to enjoy the comedy contrast, but found that the way in which the drama had been worked in was a little too far-fetched for its imagination.”

+ Motion Pict Herald p36 Ap 25 ’36

“The show is headed for double feature, neighborhood trade with little appeal for any other class.”

+ N Y Exhibitor p22 My 19 ’36

“Thin in incident, slow in tempo and failing to deliver anticipated final punch for general audience, satisfaction. The Men With the Iron Door” assays lean entertainment. Will find its level as program supplement in secondary trade. Music score might have helped considerably to hold up long silent scenes toward end of picture where audience attention relaxes just as it should reach peak in swifter pace and closer cutting.”

— Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 17 ’36

MR. DEEDS GOES TO TOWN.

Director: Frank Capra

Based on the novel, Opera Hat, by Clarence Budington Kelland. “Gary Cooper is a small town post-card poet, well content with himself. So far, he has not missed the trick of the town. Inheritance of millions takes him to the city where a smart newspaper woman, Jean Arthur, and he collide. George Bancroft crucify him with mockery to make selling headlines. . . . He turns his laugh upon his tormentor.” (Variety (Hollywood))

Audience Suitability Ratings

“‘I thought, when I saw ‘The Ghost Goes West’ that it was about the best film of its kind that I had seen. . . . Now that I have seen ‘Mr. Deeds Goes To Town’ I cannot say the same. . . . Columbia has another ‘Laurel For A Day’ in ‘Mr. Deeds Goes To Town.’”

+ + Sks & Films My ’36

“A and Y; excellent; C; very good.”

+ Christian Century p87 My 6 ’36

“Excellent-mature. Highly entertaining comedy.”

DAR

“Because of its entertainment value and the additional serious implications of labor conditions, this production has outstanding qualities. Family. E Coast Preview Committee

+ Fox W Coast Bul Ap 25 ’36

“Smooth direction, natural acting, and an outstanding film for the family.”

— Am Legion Auxiliary

“Family.” Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

“[It] will certainly be a joy to jaded movie audiences who are accustomed to conventional plots developed in the usual manner. Family.”

— National Association of Business & Professional Women’s Clubs

“Family.” S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

+ Fox W Coast Bul My 2 ’36

“A notably fine production holding appeal for all audiences. Family.”

+ + Gent Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) Ap 22 ’36

Motion Pict & Family p5 My 15 ’36

“Excellent-family.”

+ + Motion Pict Guide Je ’36

“It is not often that we have the good fortune to see a picture which is such a completely satisfying combination of wit, pathos, high comedy and serious thought as ‘Mr. Deeds Goes To Town’. . . . When you have seen it you will hurry to find a kindred spirit so that you may spend another evening enjoying it in retrospect. Adolescents, 12-16: delightful; children, 8-12: probably beyond them.”

+ + Motion Pict R My ’36

“It sounds rather crazy, and it is crazier than it sounds. In its craziness lies much of its virtue. It is the fantastic in it that is touching and moving as well as amusing.”

— J. S. B.

+ Nat Bd of R M My ’36

“Excellent for the entire family.”

+ + Nat Council of Jewish Women Ap 22 ’36

“Some decidedly rare and hilarious situations. Two lines of dialogue exclude this otherwise excellent film from our general patronage list. Adults.”

— Nat Legion of Decency Ap 13 ’36

“A and Y. Excellently conceived comedy drama centering around a ‘nouveau riche’ young idealist; C; little interest.”

Par M p50 Je ’36

“The film has a moral strength. There is a regrettable abundance of the routine action, but the excellent photography and the rich settings more than make up for this fault.”

— S. M. Mullen

+ + Scholastic p23 My 16 ’36

“Outstanding. A highly diverting farce, with amusing dialogue, clever characterizations, a fast, real and rollicking above the average, and a lightly satirical note stressing the difference between the Golden Rule and its application. Why waste your time on any audience.”

+ + Sel Motion Pict My 1 ’36

“Recommended to the Committee on Exceptional Photoplays. Family.”

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; ——— Exceptionally Poor
Mr. Deeds Goes to Town—Continued

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"For a combination of sentimental imagination with hearty humor, Frank Capra is hard to equal. In both respects he has exercised his talents to advantage in 'Mr. Deeds Goes to Town.' The [courtroom] hearing, which brings the picture to a close, is probably the best and most distinguished courtroom sequence that even the movies have accomplished. It is so entertaining, however, and so lively in its treatment, that the license that is more than forgivable. ... Under Mr. Capra's guidance, Gary Cooper gives one of the best performances of his career."

-Boston Transcript p14 Ap 11 '36

"Frank Capra directed this and his people behave like human beings, not film automata. Contains the funniest courtroom scene in yours and Gary Cooper's best performance as the home town boy who makes good in the big city.

"Clarence Budington Kelland's American Magazine serialization can lay no claim to distinction, as outstanding screen material, but it does serve well as a medium for refreshing amusing comment on the contradiction of local hilarity, satire and light romance." J. P. Cunningham

-Commonweal p24 Ap 24 '36

"'Mr. Deeds Goes to Town' is definitely a talkie, but it is a brilliant one and capital entertainment. It is entitled to a place on your list of those you must not miss."

"[It] is one of the most hilarious and completely satisfying movies of the season. The film opens with a bang and never once shows signs of fatigue. The story-concetion may set you to wondering about your own mental stability. And it is sure to give all one could hope for in full-blown entertainment. [Outstanding]" Liberty p37 My 9 '36

"The trust of future patronage is based on the hope that the first audiences will come out of the theaters so ecstatic that they will tell all their friends. They probably will. Throughout a highly meritorious story-structure Capra has stressed incidental details so winning and warm that, overnight, Gary Cooper will become a star. It will be a long time before another courtroom scene of its like is filmed."

-Lit Digest p19 Ap 11 '36

"Nothing has been written in advance prepared us for the amazing qualities of 'Mr. Deeds Goes to Town.' 'Mr. Deeds' astounds with its unexpected warmth and indubitable sincerity of purpose. ... For the first time in the movies we have been given a sympathetic, credible portrait of a worker, speaking the language of workers, saying the things workers all over the country say. ... For Hollywood, 'Mr. Deeds' is a tremendous advance." Robert Stebbins

-New Theatre p17 My '36

"Performance, direction and story result in one of the screen delights of the season. It is Mr. Capra who made the classic playbill 'It Happened One Night,' and any succeeding work must be compared with his historic comedy. Well, I think that 'Mr. Deeds Goes to Town' is excessive in length and has its weaknesses. [but of the whole I think it is even more engaging than 'It Happened One Night.']" Richard Watts, Jr.

-+ N Y Herald Tribune p14 Ap 17 '36

"The Music Hall goes to town this week, to the huge delight of its large audiences. In current possession of its screen and of this department's enthusiasm, this mystery story of a rustic millionaire who made good in the big city. ... This is the second Gary Cooper comedy to prove itself in the second to prove itself on the sure-fire entertainment list. Eileen Creelman

+ + N Y Times p17 Ap 17 '36

"Frank Capra and Robert Riskin, who are a complete production staff in themselves, have turned out another shrewd and lively comedy. Never the picture moves easily into the pleasant realm reserved for the season's most entertaining comedies."

-F. C. W.

+ + N Y Times p17 Ap 17 '36

"They'll give you a grand and glorious time at the Radio City Music Hall this week. The they' being Frank Capra, Robert Riskin, Gary Cooper, Joan Arthur, Lionel Stander and a lot of others who appear in the hilariously cockeyed entertainment called 'Mr. Deeds Goes To Town,' which is among the comedy treats of the year. Mr. Capra has produced many distinguished motion pictures, but none more amusing and entertaining than this funny, cheerfully fast and footloose film." William Enoch

+ + N Y World-Telegram p29 Ap 17 '36

"There is a general tone of simple amiability about 'Mr. Deeds Goes to Town' which should make it a popular picture. It ambles along, to be sure, and some may find it funnier than I did. ... The real surprise in the film is Gary Cooper's performance. He is another case, it would appear, of one who has turned to the values of humor after a sound success. Capra and Riskin, without the romantic passions, one suspects that he comes to this new field with relief, and surely with respect."

-New Yorker p63 Ap 25 '36

"'Mr. Deeds Goes to Town' should be another success, despite its cumbersome title. ... The plot is no world-beater, but Capra's light-hearted additions are."

-News-Wk p29 Ap 18 '36

"It is sophisticated fantasy of undeniably grace and charm. Evidently the 'Deeds' Capra-Cooper combination is unbeatable for creating what is known, even in unenthusiastic circles, as a cinematic success."

-Stage p10 My '36

"The [courtroom] scene is the funniest as well as one of the most spiritually nourishing cinemalic moments of the season. That, with wise direction, he can achieve something beyond the many muteness on which his reputation and that of actor and director reposed, Gary Cooper recently proved in the Frank Borzage-Ernst Lubitsch 'Desire.' Herein he gives full play to his16 sense of humor, and thereby helps its authors and an expert cast make Mr. Deeds Goes to Town' altogether worthwhile entertainment."

+ Time p36 Ap 27 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

["[II] will send grosses soaring. Hilarious humor to lighten a highly original story packed with human-interest values, relieved by a quite believable romance."

+ Box Office p57 Ap 4 '36

"'Mr. Deeds Goes to Town' is one of the most delightful pictures of the current year."

+ Canadian Moving Pict Digest p5 My 16 '36

"It's a wow! Better than 'It Happened One Night' and you know what that means. This combination of romance, satire and comedy has everything the genuine box-office hit needs. It should be a clean-up everywhere. Look this one as soon as you can and watch the dollars roll."

+ Film Curb p5 Mr 28 '36

"This will do plenty of business at the box-office. It's another Capra hit. ... The picture is full of surprises and it will please all types of audiences. Capra has..."
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

89 done a grand directorial job and Robert Riskin deserves bouquets for his script."

Film Daily p9 Mr 27 '36

"It is a satire, a farce, a love story, a sentimental comedy, all deftly intermingled to the delight of its audiences. You have scores of excellent sales angles, but none will prove more powerful than the enthusiastic word-of-mouth the picture is sure to arouse. Gary Cooper plays Mr. Deeds with all the spontaneity of his own enthusiasm for the film and his performance is unquestionably the finest of his screen career, neatly shaded and tremendously vital."

+ Hollywood Reporter Mr 25 '36

"Mr. Deeds goes to town and so will any exhibitor who books this hilarious combination of comedy, satire, and romance, in which Frank Capra tops his 'It Happened One Night.' Gary Cooper gives by far the best performance of his career as the sensitive, sensible small town citizen."

Motion Pict Daily p6 Mr 26 '36

"Exploitation angles were plentiful when the picture came from the cameras. Author, star, director and adapter had, among them, a wealth of carry-over box office value. Normal expectancies to be tapped by advertising copy were varied and widespread. But the material that has accumulated since the preview screenings is abundant beyond the limits of this space to chronicle."

Motion Pict Herald p37 Ap 25 '36

"With a sometimes too thin structure the players and Frank Capra have contrived to convert 'Deeds' into fairly sturdy substance. It should pan out all right at the box office. The farce is good-humored and the troupimg and production workmanlike, but there are some lapses in midriff that cause considerable uncertainty... There are times when Cooper's impression is just a bit too scatter-brained for sympathetic comfort. General technic is highgrade and 'Deeds' should prove pleasant screen divertissement if not as significant as some of Capra's previous efforts."

Variety p22 Ap 25 '36

"Escorted by those master craftsmen, Frank Capra and Robert Riskin, 'Mister Deeds' goes to town for one of the outstanding pieces of screen foolery of the season to pile a lot of new dough into exhibitor till and to bring smiles of satisfaction to the Columbia cohorts. Having made and merit and everything it takes the picture spells box office success with a smash.... Behind the obvious antic, the discerning will see something about the mannerisms on the conventions of the times, sometimes caustic, sometimes sympathetic, always deeply compelling ending."

Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 25 '36

---

MOONLIGHT MURDER. Mr 27 '36 65min MGM
Players: Chester Morris, Leo Carrillo, Madge Evans, Frank McHugh, Benita Hume
Director: Edwin L. Marin

"It unravels the murder of a grand opera singer in [the] Hollywood Bowl." Film Curb

---

Audience Suitability Ratings

A: fair of kind; Y: not the best; C: no.

Christian Century p677 My 6 '36

"Most entertaining with suspense maintained to the finale; fine direction. Adults." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Possible for family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good. Mature." DAR

"Family." Nat Bd of R

---

"Family," Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Family," Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Mature," S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bul Ap 4 '36

"Family-mature."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Mr 21 '36

"Mature."

+ JT Estimates Mr 15 '36

"Good-adult & young adult." + Motion Pict Guide Je '36

"Mercy killing is a social problem which deserves more consideration than it usually gets, and off lightly at the end of a fast-moving mystery plot. Adolescents, 12-16: no; children, 8-12: no.

Motion Pict R My '36

"Adults." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 22 '36

"A: murder mystery which turns from formula to the unique; Y: mature; C: no." Par M p10 Je '36

"A better than average mystery. Mature." + Set Motion Pict Ap '36

---

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

Canadian M p61 My '36

"It succeeds only in being rather indifferent entertainment." + Hollywood Spec p10 Mr 28 '36

"They are killing another tenor at the Rialto Theatre; this time they are outdone. In the end the sayer is revealed as one of those mercy killers, which may give you a rough idea of what the four authors of the photoplay think of tenors. The singer is, it turns out, poisoned by a microphone, which is certainly the finest recent case of the man biting the dog. It is my unhappy duty to report that the rest of the picture is not up to the standard set by its aforementioned high points." + N Y Herald Tribune p8 Mr 28 '36

"'Moonlight Murder' is a precise little film with cultural aspirations. When it is not decimating its cast by poison gas, it is including in its panoply poison motif, and with an effect equally deadly. Quite frankly, we never for a moment suspected the guilty man, but that may be because we always have refused, on principle, to solve these mystery pictures by eliminating every one with a motive and a motive only. A巧妙 killer who couldn't have done it." F. S. Nugent + N Y Times p11 Mr 28 '36

"(It is a) leaky and generally preposterous mystery melodrama. A machine-made and slow motion exercise in lethal highjinks, its limping movement and nickel-weekly cliches about sudden and violent death will never cause you to whistle to keep your teeth from chattering with terror or cause your heart to jump into your throat as it does with antics, and sometimes its nervelessly conceived and calmly written shocks and violence may cause you to laugh, but I assure you that 'it will be one of the nervest of the nervous variety.'" William Boehnel + N Y World-Telegram p9 Mr 28 '36

"The thriller of this week turns out to be a smudgy article which we can dismiss at once. It's called 'Moonlight Murder,' and features Chester Morris, the Hollywood Bowl, a good portion of a Trouvado, a swami, a lunatic, a tenor, an unpronounceable poison, laboratory scenes, too much funny stuff, and a solution that lets you down flat on the floor." John Mosher + New Yorker p87 Ap 4 '36
MOONLIGHT MURDER—Continued

Trade Paper Reviews

"Many clues, many theories, and a decided surprise in the end, for it's different. A fine picture for the younger generation." L. S. Nieman, Variety

© Canadian Moving Pic Digest p7 Mr 28 '36

"This is a novel murder-mystery melodrama that will keep any audience guessing until the very end. It is all so well worked out and provides an hour of genuine entertainment. It is one of the best stories of its kind to reach the screen in some time."

© Film Curb p8 Mr 21 '36

"As a program offering, this murder mystery should get by. With a strong cast it should do well with the fans who like to work out the solutions. However, there is the opera at the Hollywood Bowl and the breezy romance between Madge Evans and Chester Morris that helps to make the entertainment more interesting."

© Motion Daily p6 Mr 19 '36

"This is a case of a murder mystery film so good in its class that its merit becomes its chief audience handicap. It is so ingeniously and skillfully complicated for guessing purposes that fans are likely to stop guessing and to feel let down at the end because they were not fooled. However, spitted fresh twists and exciting treatment the result is somewhat overwhelming."

© Hollywood Reporter p3 Mr 16 '36

"This is something new in the line of multiple-suspect murder-mystery films. The principal departure from the formula is an idea accentuating the show's entertainment and commercial value, the unique motive for and the novel method of killing. As the location is the Hollywood Bowl and a grand opera performance the occasion, the picture has a musical background, the highlight of which is an elaborate presentation of a choral scene from 'The Trov'ers."

© Motion Pic Daily p6 Mr 17 '36

"The basic showmanship of the picture is that it is one so told and produced that it defies solution until the last five minutes. At the same time, the musical content and the unusual production effects it makes possible should not be ignored. It is more than possible that by paying some little extra attention to this, patrons not ordinarily interested in straight mystery will have their attention drawn to the attraction."

© Motion Pic Herald p40 Mr 28 '36

"Murder mystery can be made too confounding for popular screen taste. This one may suffer somewhat by virtue of its very novelty. Majority of audiences however, are certain to welcome fresh departure from the hackneyed general run of film buffers, and picture should do its share of program box office duty wherever the tantalizers are standard fare."

© Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 16 '36

MOON'S OUR HOME. Ap 10 '36 76min Wanger-Paramount

Players: Margaret Sullavan, Henry Fonda, Gladys George, Sherlock Bondi, Henrietta Crosman, Margaret Hamilton

Director: William A. Seiter

Based on the novel of the same title by Faith Baldwin, Margaret Sullavan in a temperamental movie star, rushes away from a judgmental socialite grandmother's home to escape the attentions of Butternut. Margaret wants to marry her. She goes to a New England village for winter sports, preceded by Fonda, an author-explorer, who is avoiding crowds. They fall in love, are married, but their wedding night is ruined when Margaret's perfume upsets Fonda." (Film Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"I was pleasantly disappointed in 'The Moon's Our Home'; the film has far more depth and reality than is found in the novel from which it is made. The contrast between the hectic life of a movie star and (the) peace and quiet of a rural community helps to render the picture enjoyable."

© Bks & Films My '36

"A: good; Y: amusing; C: little interest."

© Christian Century p87 My 8 '36

"Family." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Snappy dialogue and rowdymess result in hilarious entertainment for all audiences Family."

© Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Excellent-mature. Young people will love this light, amusing romance." DAR

"Humorous situations are many, exceedingly clever dialogue abounds, and the winter country scenes are exceptionally well pictured. Adults & young people."

© E Coast Preview Committee

"Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"A frothy, amusing comedy, not very probable and filled with pickering but otherwise harmless. For older members of the family. Mature. Nat Soc of New England Women

"Light entertainment with no particular purpose or underlying objective."

© S Calif Council of Fed Church Women Fox W Coast Bul Ap 25 '36

"Family." Nat Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ap 15 '36

"The characters and situations are quite far-fetched most of the time, but the acting, the players and the direction are so thoroughly in tune with the mood of the picture that the result can only be good entertainment Family."

© Jt Estimates Ap 15 '36

"Hollywood pulling its own leg is an edifying spectacle. The outdoor scenes in the snowy mountains, with the exception of a regrettable artificial studio-set, are a pleasure that one would like to have prolonged, even though one is able to make one see the film less as a satire than as a romantic fancy. Suitability: family."

© Mo Film Bul p88 My '36

"Fair-family." Nat Bd of R My '36

"Directed with a rare sense of comedy value, sharp wit and subtle satire. Family."

© Nat Council of Jewish Women Ap 15 '36

"Adults."

© Nat Legion of Decency Ap 13 '36

"A: Light comedy with riotously humorous high spots; Y: certainly entertaining; C: harmless."

© Par M p50 Je '36

"Family."

© Sel Motion Pic My 1 '36

"Light and entertaining. Family."

© Wkly Guide Ap 11 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; ++ Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
Motion Picture Review Digest

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"If Margaret Sullavan were not cast in the lead, and playing in the very peak of her form; if Dorothy Parker, who, with her husband, Alan Campbell, had not supplied some crisply Parkeresque dialogue, The Moon's Our Home... would, in fact, be another smooth cutting of one of the inexhaustible Faith Baldwin's stories. With those assets the film is absurdly delicious entertainment."

Boston Transcript p4 Ap 18 '36

"Entertaining nonsense, in the manner of some comedies of the past but distinctly human."

J. P. Cunningham

Commonwealth p24 Ap 24 '36

"The Moon's Our Home is as entertaining as one could wish it to be—one of the brightest comedies we have had in a long time. It has been given an exceedingly smart and complete production, the sets and locations themselves having more than usual story value... To give individual credit to all who deserve it would be unduly prolix, but I would single out... Margaret Hamilton... Their humor is justly something... The supportive cast, with Margaret Hamilton playing the captivating Earnestine and Charles Butterworth as the movie star's smugly little aunt, is of considerable help... ""The Moon's Our Home is a bright and lively piece of insanity."" Eileen Creelman

New York Sun p23 My 14 '36

"It is a mad, fast-paced fantasy, none of it much more serious or logical than a Marx Brothers comedy, managing to supply a surprising number of real laughs... The supporting cast, with Margaret Hamilton playing the captivating Earnestine and Charles Butterworth as the movie star's smugly little aunt, is of considerable help... ""The Moon's Our Home is a bright and lively piece of insanity."" Eileen Creelman

New York Times My 13 '36

"The theme of a mad, fast-paced fantasy, none of it much more serious or logical than a Marx Brothers comedy, managing to supply a surprising number of real laughs... The supporting cast, with Margaret Hamilton playing the captivating Earnestine and Charles Butterworth as the movie star's smugly little aunt, is of considerable help... ""The Moon's Our Home is a bright and lively piece of insanity."" Eileen Creelman

New York Daily News p23 My 13 '36

"The snow scene in it is admirable and as believably chilly as the dialogue supplied by Dorothy Parker. It will entertain you, perhaps, in the very afternoon."

New York World-Telegram p23 My 14 '36

"Good mid-May entertainment for honest idlers and their hosts is The Moon's Our Home, which is routine romance between an author and a sort of Hepburnish movie star."

John Mosher

New Yorker p79 My 16 '36

"It's a mad, mad story that can't be told in print, but will be like Payne's 'Fireworks,'... It's a new Margaret Sullavan and you'll love her—all the more.""

Box Office p23 Ap 18 '36

"With a plot like that, the picture can't help but be a rip of fun, and it certainly doesn't disappoint. Somebody must have told Howard that there is a little too much slapstick, but this reviewer and all the other writers were more than enthusiastic..."

Film Daily p13 Ap 6 '36

"As delightful a slice of madness as has reached the screen in many a day. 'The Moon's Our Home' is a farce-comedy that can be conservatively described as a riot, a panic or a wow. Sell this Wanger production heavily for opening day business. From then on, word of mouth will take care of it... It is filled with such brilliant dialogue and clever situations that even the box-office play, that give it zip, sparkle and zest. It is a cinch to be popular on the strength of word-of-mouth advertising alone. The picture is all audience entertainment and a showman's show."

Motion Picture Daily p2 Ap 3 '36

"The first surprise in the picture is that it takes its stars, Margaret Sullavan and Henry Fonda, completely out of the dramatic characters that previously have been theirs and makes them funny comedians. The second surprise is that, despite its insane madness, the picture is distinctly human..."

Motion Picture Herald p56 Ap 11 '36

"Exhibitors can well be advised that this is a saleable bit of merchandise, that their patrons will help swell the grosses once they see it."

New York Daily News p23 My 14 '36

"Some solid comedy moments have been injected into Faith Baldwin's original and the results look very good for the picture. While the proceedings travel along a fantastic track, the director and cast have capitalized wisely on the spirit of the piece and produced a species of romantic entertainment, which should go well with the family trade."

Variety p12 My 20 '36

---

Trade Paper Reviews

"A brilliant and sprightly example of what Hollywood can really turn out at its best. Familiarly...

Box Office p23 Ap 18 '36

"With a plot like that, the picture can't help but be a rip of fun, and it certainly doesn't disappoint. Somebody must have told Howard that there is a little too much slapstick, but this reviewer and all the other writers were more than enthusiastic..."

Film Daily p13 Ap 6 '36

"As delightful a slice of madness as has reached the screen in many a day. 'The Moon's Our Home' is a farce-comedy that can be conservatively described as a riot, a panic or a wow. Sell this Wanger production heavily for opening day business. From then on, word of mouth will take care of it... It is filled with such brilliant dialogue and clever situations that even the box-office play, that give it zip, sparkle and zest. It is a cinch to be popular on the strength of word-of-mouth advertising alone. The picture is all audience entertainment and a showman's show."

Motion Picture Daily p2 Ap 3 '36

"The first surprise in the picture is that it takes its stars, Margaret Sullavan and Henry Fonda, completely out of the dramatic characters that previously have been theirs and makes them funny comedians. The second surprise is that, despite its insane madness, the picture is distinctly human..."

Motion Picture Herald p56 Ap 11 '36

"Exhibitors can well be advised that this is a saleable bit of merchandise, that their patrons will help swell the grosses once they see it."

New York Daily News p23 My 14 '36

"Some solid comedy moments have been injected into Faith Baldwin's original and the results look very good for the picture. While the proceedings travel along a fantastic track, the director and cast have capitalized wisely on the spirit of the piece and produced a species of romantic entertainment, which should go well with the family trade."

Variety p12 My 20 '36

---

Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
MOON’S OUR HOME—Continued

"With the combined talents of Margaret Sulivan and Henry Fonda to project the sexy, temperamental romance, and top-notch support for every department, picture holds up Walter Wanger's high entertainment score and indicates fat grosses everywhere. . . Picture as whole comes close to being perfect diversion for all types of audiences.

† Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 2 '36

(*)MOSCOW MOODS. Ja 17 '36 11min Par
Players: Yasha Bunchuk and his Cossacks
"Yasha Bunchuk and his Cossacks, instrumental and chorale, perform a number of familiar Russian numbers including 'The Volga Boatman' and 'Dark Eyes,' in a rich setting, a banquet hall of Empire days." Motion Pict Herald

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Very superior entertainment, Family."
† Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ja 27 '36
"Very good, Family."
† Jt Estimates Ja 1 '36
"Good, Adults."
† Motion Pict R Mr '36
"Very good, Family."
† Sel Motion Pict F '1 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"The numbers include 'The Volga Boatman,' 'Dark Eyes,' a drinking song and a stirring soldier melody and the tremendous power behind the native voices is something impressive to listen to. Properly costumed and presented in just the right mood, the subject will click with ease."
† Box Office p31 Mr 7 '36
"There are several dozen performers, and they have grand voices."
† Film Daily p7 F '26 '36
"A couple of familiar Russian tunes such as 'Dark Eyes' and 'The Volga Boatman' and a few others form the musical background for this effort which consists almost entirely of music. . . A pleasing film with that Continental atmosphere."
† Motion Pict Daily p18 Mr 11 '36
"The singing is superb, is the orchestra support, and the conductor plays an original cello, cella. Strictly Russian and almost entirely classical, the subject calls for a certain degree of care in programming lest its distinctly ornamental value be wasted. In a balanced program it should give good account of itself."
† Motion Pict Herald p48 F '29 '36

MOSCOW NIGHTS. See I stand condemned

MURDER AT GLN ATHOL. See Criminal within

MURDER BY AN ARISTOCRAT. Je 12 '36
Edwin Warner
Players: Lyle Talbot, Margarette Churchill, Claire Dodd, Virginia Brissac, William Davidson
Director: Frank McDonald
Based on the novel of the same title by Mignon G. Eberhart. When Margarette Churchill, a nurse with a passion for clues is confronted with a mystery involving three deaths, she with the aid of the district attorney, finds the solution.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Well sustained suspense. Adults & young people." Am Legion Auxiliary
"A surprise climax follows a well-maintained period of suspense. Adults: fair; 14-18: fair; 8-14: no." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers
"A fairly interesting murder mystery which lacks amplitude and has a definitely obvious solution. Fair for adults." Nat Council of Jewish Women
"Cleverly written, acted and directed to bring out both social and ethical problems. Mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs
"Mature." Nat Soc of New England Women
"The utmost attention is required to follow the plot. Will interest men. Mature." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women
Fox W Coast Bul Mr 28 '36
"A gripping murder mystery. Adults."
† Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Mr 14 '36
"Adults."
† Jt Estimates Mr 15 '36
"Suitability: adults & adolescents."
† Mo Film Bul p88 My '36
"If one is inclined to be critical, Miss Keating has too great a knowledge of detective methods and too little regard for professional ethics for a nurse, but in a mystery play the solution of the crime is the all-important point. While not outstanding, this is a fairly good example of its type. Adolescents, 12-16: passable; children, 8-12: no."
† Motion Pict R Ap '36
"Adults."
† Nat Legion of Decency My 7 '36
"A: murder mystery that reveals good blood and motifs and bad manners in conflict; Y: possible; C: no."
† Par M p50 Je '36
"Adults."
† Sel Motion Pict Ap '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It moves so fast all your faculties are employed in merely keeping up with it and you have no time to ask yourself if you are enjoying it. . . Really it is splendid entertainment if your nerves are unshatterable. And if you like to dream, see the picture before going to bed and you will dream about it all night."
† Hollywood Spec p7 Mr 28 '36
"Murder by an Aristocrat" is a pedestrian mystery-murder whose mystery does not prove too great a strain on the audience's nerves, however, as it is accompanied by all the familiar cliches of the spine-chilling school of skull-duggery." Marguerite Tazelvaar
† N Y Herald Tribune p14 Je 16 '36
"Armchair hawkshaws no doubt will be disappointed with the new mystery film, "Murder by an Aristocrat" is perhaps the least intriguing case of wholesale homicide to emanate from the First National studios. . . This appears to be due primarily to the banal manner in which the story is worked out."
† T. M. P. p31 Je 15 '36
"Armschair hawkshaws no doubt will be disappointed with the new mystery film, "Murder by an Aristocrat" is perhaps the least intriguing case of wholesale homicide to emanate from the First National studios. . . This appears to be due primarily to the banal manner in which the story is worked out."
† T. M. P. p31 Je 15 '36
"Among the least interesting of the current hot weather screen entertainments is a murder mystery called 'Murder by an Aristocrat.' . . While it is nothing to growl about, a few snarks may be permitted, since it is just another one of those inefficient weaklings that clutter up the Broadway screen* at this time of the year. Some competent players . . . save it from being altogether a pretentious bore." William Boehnel
† N Y World-Telegram p21 Je 15 '36

†† Exceptionally Good; †† Good; † Fair; †† Mediocre; † Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
Trade Paper Reviews

"A formula murder mystery with enough suspense and tricky situations to satisfy the average chiller fan. Family.

+ — Box Office p25 Ap 11 '36

"Where murder-mystery melodramas are liked it will please but it isn't for the big spots [pict] alone. It isn't particularly new but it has been well played and directed."

+ — Film Curb p11 Mr 28 '36

"Unlike many features of its type, the virtue here lies in a strong story, good acting, skilful direction and sane motives for the commission of the murder."

+ — Hollywood Reporter p3 Mr 23 '36

"Marguerite Churchill as a sweet girl Philo Vance in a nurse's uniform is the redeeming feature of this dull [mystery]. There is a mass of evidence that would keep an average jury busy for a week. Somehow it all seems rather futile and there is little wonder that the preview audience frequently snickered in the wrong places. Director Frank McDonald and a conscientious cast of practiced players try hard. Under the shrouded murder melodrama, it's a picture that gave its first auditors more amusement looking at it than interest in following its story and action."

Motion Pict Daily p11 Ap 21 '36

"Audiences are quite apt to accept this picture as something other than what the producers intended. It's a routine accomplishment probably intended for little more. Short on what the marque demands, this will be relegated to the weakest nights, twin bills."

+ — N Y Exhibitor p12 Ap 25 '36

"A routine mediocrity obviously destined for dual day and night runs. The story has been told with clumsy technique be- speaking hurried direction. The acting is pretty consistent but below the passing grade."

+ — Variety p23 Je 17 '36

"Mechanically, obviously developed mystery melodrama, with its full share of corpses and near deaths growing out of skeletons in family closets. The story is, however, nothing more than a mere terror. It is, however, never very horrific because killings become rather monotonously frequent, in effort to create unsolvable complications. Murder By An Aristocrat will supply an hour's mild diversion where this type entertainment is standard for the ordinary day. The plot foundation but shares growing tendency of screen mysteries to overwrite in striving for complex bafflement."

+ — Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 23 '36

MURDER ON A BRIDLE PATH. Ap 17 '36

66min RKO

Based on the novel of the same title by Stuart Palmer. "The death of a young woman who had many enemies causes suspicion to fall upon several innocent people. However, the mystery is cleverly solved by a series of unusual deductions, arrived at through the efforts of a school teacher, friend of a police inspec-tor."

(Sel Motion Pict)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A and Y: fairly amusing; C: if it interests."

Christian Century p19 My 13 '36

"A keen sense of humor is displayed in the bantering dialogue by the leading members of the cast. Adults & young people."

E Coast Preview Committee

Fox W Coast Bul Ap 11 '36

"Adults: entertaining. 14-18: entertaining; 8-14: doubtful. Calif Cong of Par & Teachers"

"Murder On A Bridle Path is a bright program picture, which never becomes too involved for relaxation. Family-maturing picture. Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"Audiences over 14." Nat Soc of New Eng-land Women

"A mediocre and badly told murder mystery, too much confusion causing lack of interest. The expression 'Hell to God' repeated several times is repellant and in bad taste. Waste of time. Mature. S Calif Council of Fed Church Women.

Fox W Coast Bul Ap 18 '36

"Adults & young people."

General Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ap '36

"Family."

Jt Estimates Ap 15 '36

"The direction is efficient, the dialogue slick, the thrill well-timed, and the comedy Relief successfully handled. Suitability: adults and adolescents."

+ — Mo Film Bul p67 Ap '36

"Fair-adult & young adult."

+ — Motion Pict Guide Jl '36

"The plot is rather involved and some of the minor incidents are never cleared up. However, the picture has amusing dialogue as well as clever direction and good acting—a com-bination which makes it a pleasant evening's entertainment. Adolescents, 12-16: yes; children, 8-12: no."

Motion Pict R My '36

"Family."

Nat Council of Jewish Women Ap 6 '36

"General patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 8 '36

"A and Y: moderately entertaining mystery melodrama; C: many murders and a grim climax."

Par M p50 Je '36

"Adults & young people."

Sel Motion Pict Ap '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"[It has] a bit of comedy, a bit of romance, adventuroustrigue and gobs of mystery will keep you awake even if it isn't a hundred percent."

+ — Canadian M p61 My '36

"Another of the Inspector Piper-Hildegarde Withers detective stories, with a new Hildegarde, Helen Broderick, whose acidulous style is not for all tastes... Too much dull talk in this one."

— Christian Science Monitor p15 Ap 18 '36

"Murder on the Bridle Path is another in the series of mysteries that James Gleason, as Inspector Piper, has been solving with the aid of a spinster partner, formerly played by Edna May Oliver, who is here, however, substituted for by Helen Broderick. The interest of the piece lies in the adroit performance of both

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

MURDER ON A BRIDLE PATH—Continued.
Mr. Gleason and Miss Broderick and the humor which Orson Welles breezily breathes. each dweller of the bombastic inspector unravels, while reveling in the sly cracks. The dry-humored Hildagard takes at his expense." Margaret "Tazelaar
+ N Y Herald Tribune p10 Ap 13 '36

"It is just a terribly boring dialogue between James Gleason and Helen Broderick." B. C.
— N Y Times p19 Ap 11 '36

Admirers of the Hildagard-Wiethers-Inspec- tor series who will be disappointed by this "Bridle Path"—Variety

"This is a well-handled solution of the mystery in 'Murder on the Bridle Path.'" John Mosher
+ New Yorker p50 Ap 18 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"It is a poor story and it is hard to credit that the dialogue was written by a man who is supposed to be a humorist." Charles S. Prelutsky
— Variety p17 Ap 8 '36

MYSTIC MOUNTAIN. Mr 30 '36 76min Lenauer Players: Dita Parlo. Dyk Rudens. J. Kas- par внутренность

Director: Dmitri Kirsanoff

Dialogue film in French and German, filmed in the Swiss Alps. It has English sub-titles. "It is the film of the man and women who live in the French and Swiss Alps. It describes the killing of Firmin's dog by Gottfried, another mountain farmer, and how he is relieved by his loss. Firmin plots vengeance on Gottfried and all that is his. To this end, he kidnapES Elsa, Gottfried's fiancée, and carries her back to his village on the other side of the moun- tain." (N Y World-Telegram)

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"While 'The Mystic Mountain' is 'different,' it is still a mediocre production and not at all in the tradition of 'The Blue Light.' The first was a lovely poetic and hauntingly beautiful play; 'The Mystic Mountain' is a confused, uninteresting story, whose only merit lies in the magnificent natural settings... It is possible the picture might have been an entertaining and interesting one with other treatment, more comprehensive, more satisfying performance. The cutting and editing is poor."

+ Variety p37 Mr 31 '36

"The virtues of 'The Mystic Mountain' are several. It is beautifully photographed. It is well acted. Unfortunately, it is freighted with such an arty treatment and such a pell-mell narrative that in spite of the lift and dramatic fervor of some of its parts—parts, incidentally, which sometimes excite you, sometimes make you morose—the whole thing leaves you thoroughly unappeased." William Boehnel
+ N Y World-Telegram p51 Ap 1 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"It is extremely unfortunate that a picture on which such evident care and fine acting has been lavished should be such a disappointment. The story, which revolves around the primitive passions of mountaineers, is one which will not appeal to American audiences... Only

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
small art theaters devoted to foreign films will attract any business with this film. The cast deserved a better production. — Hollywood Reporter p3 Ap 9 '36

"Produced with much of the background and atmosphere which made 'The Blue Light' a notable picture, this lacks something of the pictorial strength and dramatic intensity of that film, but is still a worthwhile and interesting importation, chedly, however, for class audiences." — Motion Pict Daily p5 Ap 3 '36

Authentication

NAVY BORN. Je 15 '36 68min Republic
Players: William Gargan, Claire Dodd, Douglas Fowley
Director: Nate Watt

The plot centers around three bachelor navy officers who try to rear a baby left by another officer when he dies. They are opposed in their plan by the wealthy and conniving relatives of the infant and much kidnapping back and forth ensues.

Audience Suitability Ratings

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"This one is tragic proof of the evil effect double-billing threats on the picture industry. No producer would have dared to release so impossible a bauble except as a filler. . . 'Navy Born' is a concentrate of errors—cinematic and social; a story told tiresomely by dialogue and overdramatized by poorly directed players, who never become sufficiently real to capture audience-interest." Paul Jacobs — Hollywood Spec p13 Je 6 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"Comedy situations aplenty make this picture adequate to fill an average family bill at any theatre." — Box Office p33 Je 13 '36

"It has considerable human interest, is well played by a good cast and has been nicely directed by Nate Watt. . . The small town trade will very likely be pleased with this one." — Film Curb p9 Je 6 '36

"This comedy drama makes pleasing entertainment that should serve well as a program number. . . [It] is a well developed affair with appropriate dialogue and situations that build for suspense, many of which are very hilarious." — Film Daily p29 Je 2 '36

"[It is] mild, low-budget entertainment for family consumption in the neighborhoods. . . The basic idea has hilarious possibilities and these are partly realized in a smartly written script, the baby-raising chronicle in dialogue made colorful with the slang of the service. Its filming, however, calls for a player adroitness that was out of the reach of this production." — Hollywood Reporter p3 My 28 '36

"This is an excellent dual bill film packing an audience wallop from the first chuckle to the windup chase. The picture stands out as a fine example of low-budget product and should thoroughly satisfy the neighborhood patrons for whom it is aimed." — Motion Pict Daily p10 Je 2 '36

"With judicious use of the scissors this picture could be improved to make fair entertainment for dual programs. . . Claire Dodd's part is much too much in order for further times when she registers well, but when put to the test she fails to get over the necessary menace." — Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 25 '36

NEIGHBORHOOD HOUSE. (Release date not determined) 8min MGM-Roach Players: Charley Chase, Rosina Lawrence, Darla Hood, Margaret Irving Directors: Alan Hale, Harold Law

"Established as a family who bolt their dinner to arrive early at a neighborhood theatre for the drawings, Chase, Miss Lawrence and Baby Darla encounter difficulties when the child draws Chase's number, then her own, another one complicated further complicated when Miss Lawrence's number is picked. With cries of frameup from the audience, Chase is kidnapped by mobsters who have their own plan for capturing the prize."

Motion Pict Daily

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Though not even producers hope that fans will go out of their way to see it, the amiable little satire neatly attains its ambition—to supply casual fun on a double bill." (2 stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p50 Je 13 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Very amusing slapstick comedy, good for much hearty laughter in any theatre. . . [It] cannot fail to keep any audience in rare good humor throughout its screening."

Film Curb p7 My 9 '36

"As a slapstick comedy feature based on 'Bank Night,' this picture should make satisfactory fare as family trade entertainment."

Film Daily p7 My 19 '36

"This first feature-length Charley Chase comedy is saleable product for the light end of double bills in any neighborhood house and gives promise of building into a dependable box-office bet. . . It is so gayly gagged and at the same time so close to everyday experience and human nature that it will keep the average, easy-to-tickle audience laughing most of the time."

"With satire and slapstick as the main selling angles this film should be acceptable as a secondary feature on many programs. . . Alan Hale and Harold Law co-directed, pacing the action suitably and making several time-worn gags seem somewhat fresh."

Motion Pict Daily p2 My 1 '36

"From a comedy gag and situation viewpoint, this picture satirizes the fun and foolishness of bank night. . . In neighborhood houses wherein the picture's field lies, the attraction, which doesn't mean much one way or another than to be amusing entertainment, is possible of topical exploitation that probably can incite a good bit of interest."

Motion Pict Herald p3 My 9 '36

"Final result will probably see the picture booked when Bank Night is a theatre's attraction or else on double bills."

Phila Exhibitor p48 My 15 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; + Mediocrec; Poor; ++ Exceptionally Poor NEIGHBORHOOD HOUSE—Continued

"Best thing to be done with this Charley Chase feature is to cut it to a short. Then it should be top-notch entertainment. As it is, it offers little as a feature, fails to give feature entertainment. Story is strikingly two-reeler as are the others."
— Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 30 '36

NOBODY'S FOOL. My 29 '36 6min Universal
Players: Edward Everett Horton, Glenda Farrell, Cesar Romero
Director: Arthur Greville Collins

"An ex-writer comes to New York to enter big real-estate business and though seemingly very dumb he manages to outwit some unscrupulous realtor operators." Wkly Guide

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family." Am Legion Auxiliary

"The eternal story of an innocent abroad, despite the skilled treatment of scenario experts, must prove hackneyed even to admirers of Edward Everett Horton. Family." Calif Cons of Fair & Trade

"A very entertaining comedy with well adapted dialogue. Family." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Thoroughly entertaining, with Horton in usual characteristic role. Family." Calif Council of Fed Church Women

"Cut and tailored to the measurements of Edward Everett Horton, this picture would be impossible with anyone else in the title role. Those who enjoy Horton, and the list is long, will find it full of naive absurdities, and delicately balanced situations. A lot of laughs: children, 8-12: little interest." Motion Pict R Je '36

"Family." Nat Bd of R M Je '36

"This innocuous comedy fits the talents of Edward E. Horton as if it were tailor-made for him. Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women My 13 '36

"General patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Je 4 '36

"Family." Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is a fast-moving comedy written expressly for the particular talents of its star... As usual, a veteran cast supplies the ineffable strength that comes of time-earned ability. Producer Irving Starr doubtless is to be credited with this thoughtful selection and its subsequent excellent result. You will have to work for 'Nobody's Fool': It is a class B, but you'd never know it." Paul Jacobs

Hollywood Spec p12 Je 6 '36

"[It] is a brisk comedy in which Edward Everett Horton and Glenda Farrell manage to be genuinely amusing in a story whose originality and satire result in entertainment above the average for the type of audience the piece was apparently aimed at, and the money spent on it." Margaret Tuzelaar

— Toronto Tribune p14 Je 16 '36

"'Nobody's Fool' makes its chief bid for fame as a harbinger of summer doldrums in the cinema. A feeble mélanie of soporific comedy, 'Nobody's Fool' is a last-minute grab for unscrupulous profit. The film will obviously appeal to many audience members and is a sure-fire hit. Production is first-rate in the manner of Edward Everett Horton and Glenda Farrell—not to mention its wonderful audience." T. M. P.

— N Y Times p27 Je 4 '36

"'Nobody's Fool'... helps to keep responsive audiences at the theater. The basic idea is fairly high type of glee. Not that any of the quips or situations in the film will tickle the discerning by their subtlety. But the wit and complications, thanks to the first-rate performances by Edward Everett Horton and Glenda Farrell, seem sufficiently fresh to keep an audience reasonably amused." William Boehnel

— N Y World-Telegram p22 Je 17 '36

"Arthur Greville Collins directs with lively tempo and fine light and shade but it seemed to me he had a natural motion picture movement to the over-gabbiness of stage technique. Or maybe that's what I thought it too talkie because of the ear-blasting of Pantages Theater... Even this discordancy, however, was forgotten in the delightful character of Mr. Horton's conception and expression which is the best thing in this very amusing picture." R. W.

— Script p10 Je 13 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Fun fans will love this film which presents Edward Everett Horton at his funniest best in a snappy hour of holhum—with unusually clever dialogue and situations throughout."

— Box Office p33 Je 13 '36

"With Horton getting mixed up with a bunch of real estate fakers the comedy sequences are decidedly funny. The sort of role that the comedian just eats up."

— Film Curb pl5 My 30 '36

"The burden of batting out the entertainment in this rather filmy story rests chiefly on the shoulders of Edward Everett Horton, and it is to his credit that he makes a very good job of it. The script is along the familiar lines of previous Horton roles.

— Film Daily p5 Je 5 '36

"'Nobody's Fool' is a programed bit in localities where Edward Everett Horton draws it can't be wrong. For it is all the fun of the fair. Every opportunity possible for typical Horton action has been given him, both in dialogue and directorial spotting... Fortunately, nobody will care that the story... lacks plausibility. It is a sufficient rack upon which to hang Horton's characterization."

— Hollywood Reporter p3 My 23 '36

"It is certain to garner an extra share of audience laughs in all spots. Exhibitors can bank upon it as reliable comedy."

— Motion Pict Daily p6 My 25 '36

"'Nobody's Fool' is a nice show for neighbors. Others may find it lacks a star draw. From the entertainment angle, it is A-1."

— Phila Exhibitor p26 Je 1 '36

"'Nobody's Fool' is fairly humorous light comedy material tailored for Edward Everett Horton. It's one of the best fits he has ever had and while the laughs are not quite good enough to insure first run dates, on the secondary single bookings and in the duallers pictures it will probably prove a satisfactory."

— Variety p15 Je 10 '36

"It is all Edward Everett Horton's party and should be sure-fire hit for any theatre in any man's town."

— Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 23 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
O'MALLEY OF THE MOUNTED. Mr 27 '36
59min 20th Century-Fox
Players: George O'Brien, Irene Ware, Stanley Fields
Birth: David Howard
Director: A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family & junior matinee." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Particularly interesting to young boys and suitable for family entertainment and junior matinées. Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Adherence to the task laid out for him gives a certain dignity to the plot which might otherwise lack, and enhances the fineness of the Mountie's part. Family. Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs.

"Good clean western story with a minimum of shooting. Family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women.

"Good clean western story with a minimum of shooting. Family." Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Mr 21 '36

"Particularly interesting to young boys and suitable for family entertainment & junior matinées." Jt Estimates Ap 1 '36

"Good. Family." Motion Pic Guide My 36

"It is a vigorous tale of danger and heroism with the usual love interest and a firm moral; in Canada retribution is swift and sure for those who live by crime. The cast is well chosen. Adolescents, 12-15; good; children, 8-12: exciting." + Motion Pic R My 36

"Family-junior. Nat Bd of R M My 36

"General patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Ap 30 '36

"A, Y and C: good outdoor action picture." Par M p50 Je '36

"Particularly interesting to young boys and suitable for family entertainment & junior matinées."

+ Sel Motion Pic My 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"[The] story had enough meat in it to give Sol Lesser a chance to turn out a lively outdoor drama that will prove satisfactory to the formidable army of George O'Brien fans, one of whom I happen to be myself. . . . The story is told expertly." + Hollywood Spec Mr 28 '36

"'O'Malley of the Mounted' is rootin'-tootin' horse opera of the chase-and-fight genre that has been consistently popular since the birth of pictures. Set in handsome outdoor backgrounds, 'O'Malley of the Mounted' has just about as much as any Western should have." (2 stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p4 My 2 '36

"As a glorification of the Canadian police officers who always 'get their man,' 'O'Malley of the Mounted' is a complete success. As entertainment, it is another story." T. M. P. + - N Y Times pl8 Ap 6 '36

"When it comes to Westerns I, for one, like them free from the stigma of satire or burlesque, like 'O'Malley of the Mounted.' Although it is no great shakes as entertainment, it is a decided ascent over the average 'horse opera' and offers a pleasant hour or so of fast riding, quick shooting, out-of-doors romance and heroics." William Boehnel + - N Y World-Telegram p27 Ap 7 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Decidedly in the upper brackets, the film boasts intelligent production, better than average performances right down the line, some rich comedy and gorgeous outdoor backgrounds." + Box Office p38 Ap 25 '36

"The whole thing is wholesome picture fare." L. S. Nemeyer.

Canadian Moving Pict Digest p7 Mr 28 '36

"The familiar yarn of the Royal Northwest mountie who always gets his man. In this case it has been done no better than many times before. As it stands it is a fair outdoor action-drama that has the thrills the [c]hildren [r]epire and the [a]udience and those fans who go for this sort of stuff." + Film Curb p10 Mr 28 '36

"George O'Brien's latest film is a first rate outdoor number and is a combination of Canadian Mountie and Western atmosphere and should do nicely wherever such pictures play." + Film Daily p7 Mr 25 '36

"The old William S. Hart story has been revamped for George O'Brien to make one of the slicker and smarter Westerns and it will travel in the best of double-bill company to substantial returns. . . . The cast is near-perfect, the characters well-drawn and the rather deliberate pace exactly right to give full value to the pungent, hand-wrought dialogue." + Hollywood Reporter p4 Mr 20 '36

"Once more the mountie gets his man and gets his girl, and once more George O'Brien gets his audience. . . . Best exploitation angle is that featuring the battle of wits by one man in the stronghold of outlaws." + Motion Pic Daily p4 Mr 21 '36

"This production is full of the qualities that make thrill pictures perennially popular. A different adventure each day and the picture seems to have plenty of the thrill and excitement that holds audience interest." + Motion Pic News Herald p4 Mr 28 '36

"Typical George O'Brien adventure thriller that will be aces with Western houses and subsequents, and hold up second half of most dual spots. Original direction, acting and plot progression aid considerably in sustaining interest, with actual slam-bang action kept to a minimum. Some cowboy fans might voice objections to the limited amount of bronce galloping, but this should be a help in larger houses." + Variety p17 Ap 8 '36

"Fast moving western-action expertly directed by David Howard who has taken a familiar story and given it elevated to a spot where it can hold its own in most of the subsequents, can take its place on any double bill. Sol Lesser has given his picture some settings. Locations and backgrounds are away above the framing given most pictures of this type." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 20 '36

ONCE IN A MILLION. (Release date not determined) Thomas Associated Brit. Players: Buddy Rogers, Mary Brian, W. H. Berry, John Harwood

Director: Arthur Woods

Filmed in England. "Rogers is a bank clerk sent on Saturday to pay a collection into the bank. His taxi collides with another, carrying a pretty girl, and that delays matters
ONCE IN A MILLION—Continued

so that the doors shut in his face. Taking refuge in a hotel, his deposit of the notes earns him a status, and royal suite, appropriate to a millionaire. The girl, also a gold digger and mother and a Continental adventurer play their part in a hectic weekend, with the discovery that the bank has gone smash. Buddy gets a directorship for saving the money [and also gets] the girl." (Motion Pict Daily)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A fantasy that owes something to René Clair's 'Le Million'. . . . It is a pity that Buddy Rogers has to appear so conceited and that Mary Brian is not given more opportunity. W. H. Berry loses some of his effectiveness through the film. What is offered is a capital piece of burlesque ingenious in plot idea and action, in incurrence over which it is irrelevant incident. . . . It is all done on very broad farcical lines, developing into near slapstick." +

Motion Pict Herald p37 Ap 4 '36

O N E R A I N Y A F T E R N O O N , My 8 '36 80min Pickford-Lasky-United artists

Players: Francis Lederer, Ida Lupino, Hugh Herbert, Roland Young, Erik Rhodes

Director: Rowland V. Lee

Based on a French play, Monsieur Sans Gene, by Pressburger and Rene Pujal. A young actor, keeping a rendezvous with a married woman, goes with her to a Paris cinema. In the darkness, he is given the wrong seat, and misses the girl. The girl traps his face. The resultant confuion leads to charges by busybody clubwomen and his arrest. His trial is totally mad. Over night he becomes the rage of Paris." (Hollywood Reporter)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"It is a picture to enjoy rather than to criticize although it stands criticism well." +

Bks & Films Je '36

"A and Y: fairly good; C: little interest." Christian Century p783 Je 3 '36

"Excellent-mature." DAR

"While one counts this picture among the outstanding of the month, it has achieved its position as a soap bubble floats up . . . Adults & young people." Mrs T. G. Winter +

Motion Film Bul P 21 '36

"A gay, amusing comedy enhanced with a fine cast and skillful direction. Family. Outstanding." +

JT Estimates Ap 15 '36

"Interest never slackens as the episodes follow each other in clever French design." +

Motion Pict & Family p6 My 15 '36

"With a story so slight as to be almost none at all, this musical farce is nevertheless lightly entertaining. . . . Even though after the curtain falls one may have difficulty in remembering what it is all about, still it leaves a remembrance of pleasant nonsense and relating 50 cents of nonsense is no mean appeal for girls; children, 8-12: little interest." +

Motion Pict R My '36

"Adults." Nat Legion of Decency My 21 '36

"This delightful musical farce bubbles with nonsense. Some sequence is built up with clever design so that interest never slackens. . . . The gentle satire on the gullibility of the public and the value of the press in building up publicity for an actor is well aimed." S. M. Mullen

Scholastic p23 My 16 '36

"Family." Sel Motion Pict My 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Very slight material but engagingly handled." +

Canadian M p61 My '36

"[It] keeps the spectators in frequent chuckles." E. C. S.

Christian Science Monitor p10 My 19 '36

"The plot is thin, but fast and sparkling, benefiting by a continual flow of unique substantiating detail that is guided by able direction." Cunningham

Commonweal p76 My 15 '36

"Sparkling with gaiety, beautifully mounted, brilliantly directed, admirably acted, this first offering of Hollywood's newest producer and one of its ablest veterans, comes as a bright spot in a season of notable screen productions. . . . The showing of the picture everywhere will have an almost continuous accompaniment of audience laughter." +

Hollywood Spec p7 My 9 '36

"The picture is of that frothy type known as French farce, and though it is so light that it almost floats away into thin air, the affair bubbles enough to be mildly amusing." (2½ stars) Garvey

Liberty p47 Je 6 '36

"Hugh Herbert and Roland Young furnish enough first-rate comedy to make up for a great deal of pretty silliness by Francis Lederer and Ida Lupino." Mark Van Doren +

Nation p54 Je 10 '36

"It's rather pathetic watching Pickfair trying so hard to be continental, parodic and all that. Miss Pickford's first independent production falls woefully short of its European models." Robert Stevens

New Theatre p36 Je '36

"Performed enthusiastically by a crack company and shrewdly directed by Rowland V. Lee to minimize its dramatic frailties, it is a pleasant if inconsequential entertainment. . . . The work is definitely not in the same league with M. Clair's delightful classics, and the mood always buant, even when the plot grows desperately thin. On the whole, thanks to its light-hearted romances, this piece of nonsense proved rather cheerful on both a hot and rainy afternoon." Eileen Creelman

19 Y Sun p23 My 14 '36

+ + + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
“One Rainy Afternoon” is fair and mild—a bit too mild for the purpose of finding French fare and merely fair enough to provide an hour or so of moderate entertainment.”

F.

+ + N Y Times p29 My 14 ’36

“Mr. Lederer’s art tends to over-riseness; unbridled, he is coy to being luscious. Seemingly knowing this, his present employers try to keep him steady, so making him what he is not—a comic. It only makes “One Rainy Afternoon” all the more entertaining when it might well have been a cheap sophisticated pastime.”

Douglas Gilbert

+ N Y World-Telegram p23 My 14 ’36

“The film happens to be really quite funny, smartly turned, and fanciful, with a general lightness of treatment that’s rare. In fact, it is astonishing, when you stop to think about it, how—Stage plays actually achieve anything like a bit of foaminess... It’s remarkable that it remains face to face, and throughout every scene, and that it does not, in the grand Hollywood manner, suddenly turn to pure love, ultimate passion, and ex-verbosely agonies of crushed souls.”

John Mosher

+ New Yorker p78 My 16 ’36

“The masses should be delighted and if high-brows don’t chuckle over it they have dyspeptic senses of humor.”

+ News-Wk p42 My 16 ’36

“The absurd story ripples on without belly-laughter but with perpetual purring and delightful gaiety...Frances Lederer was never more happy or charming in a part and he sets the key for everybody. Mary Pickford and Jesse Lasky were entitled to their post-preview smiles.”

Robert Wagner

+ Script p10 My 23 ’36

“It has possibilities for fresh screen humor. Mr. Lee, however, has persuaded his actors into overdrawing every gesture, with the result that subtlety, necessary as a base, crumples into inanity. He is, also, several painful instances of the actors trying to be funny, but humor is at best intermittent.”

+ Time p26 My 4 ’36

Trade Paper Reviews

“Rollicoking comedy that will delight all audiences, the initial Pickford-Lasky production is exceptionally meritorious. Famously.”

+ Box Office p63 My 2 ’36

“The plot itself is insignificant, but it is the comedy that permeates the whole picture that makes it such a hit.”

+ Canadian Moving Pict Digest p5 Je 6 ’36

“Take our word for it, this is a swell picture. It ought to hit the box office bulls-eye in the American market. Rollicking comedy, romance, smart direction and acting. Francis Lederer certainly has never been better in any picture and his supporting cast all register strongly.”

+ Film Curb p15 My 2 ’36

“As a delightful, highly enjoyable romantic comedy, this picture rates tops. Francis Lederer has several loose-lipped easy-going roles that seem to be patterned just for him. It’s a pleasure to watch him breeze along from returns on Lederer’s previous pictures built on these lines, this show should play to nice grosses. The better houses, especially, should do well with it.”

+ Film Daily p8 Ap 27 ’36

““It is distinctively continental in manner and in theme; in fact, has it come from a foreign studio, it would have been widely acclaimed by the artistic critics as something quite revolutionary in the art of story-telling. It is revolutionary. And it is thoroughly delightful. The picture will definitely re-establish Francis Lederer as one of the reigning film romantics. He delivers a performance that will stand unchallenged for a long time.”

“It bubbles over with mirth and merriment. It seems to have everything the audience or exhibitor would desire—bright-brushy, rollicking novel and amusingly contrived situations, and fast, well-paced action... The show has speed and coherence. The high quality of action, dialogue and acting frequently brought spontaneous applause from the preview audience here.”

Motion Pict Daily p8 Ap 24 ’36

“Mary Pickford and Jesse Lasky, who certainly know what theatre people need for entertainment and what exhibitors require for exploitation purposes, have whipped together in this, their first picture, an attraction potentially pleasing to both... It has a verve and sparkle that keyed the preview audience to a high pitch of appreciative enthusiasm.”

+ Motion Pict Herald p7 My 2 ’36

“Class houses will probably like it most because its satire, comedy, etc., are such that the upper strata will find it most comfortable. It’s a rollicking comedy that doesn’t get enough to do.”

+ Variety p12 My 20 ’36

“‘One Rainy Afternoon’ is high class entertainment and an impressive initial production for the Pickford-Lasky organization. Picture has charming flippancy to delight the cultivated taste with an aggregate weight of name roster should hit handsomely in the A houses, with prospects of fat grosses. Appeal is not particularly to the sophisticate, however, because story and treatment are in no sense precious or exclusive but have comedy gauged to the common level of picture-goers far down the line.”

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 23 ’36

Ourselves Alone. (Release date not determined) 78min Associated British Players: John Loder, John Lodge, Antonio Celi, Niall MacGinnis, Bruce Lester, Clifford Evans

Directors: Brian Desmond-Hurst, Walter Summers

Based on the play, The Trouble, by Dudley Stamp and Noel Scott. “It is a Sinn Fein story of brutal ruthlessness, showing ceasing feud between the Royal Irish Constabulary and the Irish Republican Army... It leads up to the personal life of the leader, a sister of the leader of the Republican Army, shoots her brother, who is trying to escape, without knowing it. She quickly identifies the place in the position where she is forced to lure the man she loves to what seems inevitably his doom.”

(Varity)

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Suitability: adults & adolescents.”

Mo Film Bul p82 My ’36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
OURSELVES ALONE—Continued

Trade Paper Reviews

"[It] suffers mainly by its too close discipleship to the traditions set by 'The Informer.' For tgetting its model, however, there is much that is fine and convincing in the production, which is handled with restraint and realism. . .
Brian Desmond-Hurst has directed the picture with speed and feeling, and with atmospheric touches excellently. Dramatic issues sue mis-fire, however, by too abrupt interpolation of humorous interludes and much of the tension, vitally developed, subsides badly on route."

+ — Hollywood Reporter p7 My 14 '36

"This story of the Irish Revolution of 1921 is very reminiscent of 'The Informer.' It is a gripping story, very well directed, scenically beautiful, and well interspersed with comedy."

+ — Motion Pict Herald p30 My 16 '36

"Censorship worries seem to have been overcome to a remarkable degree. Picture should do well everywhere."

+ — Variety p15 My 13 '36

OUTLAWS OF THE RANGE. (Release date not determined) 58min Spectrum

Players: Bill Cody, Bill Cody, Jr., Catherine Cotter

Director: Al Herman

A western melodrama.

Trade Paper Reviews

"Starting off with a thrill, this Western holds the interest throughout and keeps to a fast pace which includes the usual shooting, riding, and a couple of bang-up fist fights.
Family."

+ — Box Office p33 Ap 25 '36

"A typical Bill Cody fast-action, outdoor melodrama that will please [juveniles] and all those who go in for such amusement. Cody does his usual hard-riding and is mixed up in den of fist-fights."

+ — Film Curb p18 Ap 11 '36

"Bill Cody and his young son, Bill, Jr., make a good team in this Western which has enough hard riding and fast shooting to please the most rabid of youthful Western fans. And the appeal for their elders who want plenty done on the screen is not missing, though the dialogue is stiff and occasionally causes laughter at moments not intended."

+ — Film Daily p4 Ap 8 '36

"Outlaws of the Range," with which Ray Kirkwood completes a series of eight Western quickies starring Bill Cody, packs a special thrust for [juveniles] in the presence of Bill Cody, Jr., and as a follow-up on its predecessors will win favor with the Cody fans."

"Even for a Western this is pretty weak.
Its inaccuracies, general dullness even the undiscriminating will feel."

— N Y Exhibitor p45 Ap 25 '36

PALM SPRINGS. Je 5 '36 70min Wanger-Paramount

Players: Frances Langford, Smith Ballew,
Guy (Junior) Niven

Director: Aubrey Scotto

Based on the novel, Lady Smith, by Myles Connolly. It deals with the daughter of an impovertized Englishman who, not aware of his financial embarrassment, follows him to Palm Springs. He is running a gambling table and decides to make a fortune by marrying a millionaire." (Hollywood Reporter)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family."

Annual Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)
My 6 '36

"A most unsatisfying musical with an improbable plot. Adults."

— National Legion of Decency Je 11 '36

"[It is] a slow moving production, hampered by a shop-worn plot. . . However, the beautifully photographed and apparently authentic screen numbers add just as much to the average Western songs add merit to the picture. . . Adults & young people."

+ — Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Three song numbers help sustain interest at points where all seems lost."

+ — Christian Science Monitor p15 Je 13 '36

"The story is rather slim, the romance between Frances and Ballew being particularly abysmal, but all everything is made light and gay under Aubrey Scotto's intelligent direction, we accept it all in the spirit in which it is offered and enjoy ourselves in a mild way."

+ — Hollywood Spec p9 Je 6 '36

"Among the highly agreeable music intereracting this inoffensive picture is 'The Hills of Old Wyoming,' which Wyoming's delegates to both the Republican and Democratic National Conventions chose last week as their official song." Time p57 Je 15 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"This picture turns out to be a highly satisfactory bit of entertainment."

+ — Box Office p33 Je 12 '36

"A remarkably fine musical with a charming love story. There are several outstanding song numbers with Frances Langford singing delightfully."

+ — Film Curb p12 My 30 '36

"With a featherweight story, the main drawing card for 'Palm Springs' will be its three smashing musical numbers, which are, definitely a minor effort for Walter Wanger."

+ — Hollywood Reporter p18 My 23 '36

"Judicious use of a trio of songs, plus a series of good personal performances, endow this picture with entertainment quality far above the worth of the plot motivation."

+ — Motion Pict Daily p6 My 25 '36

"Introduction of three song numbers makes lots of difference in this picture. They noticeably strengthen its entertainment caliber and endow it with a showmanship character that should prove helpful to exhibitors. Without the music . . . the picture would be just an average light dramatic comedy romance. With it the show is a bit of pleasing amusement for showmen."

+ — Motion Pict Herald p56 Je 6 '36

"Estimate: fair program."

— — Phila Exhibitor p32 Je 1 '36

"A pleasant, diverting love fable, hauntingly tuneful, is Walter Wanger's 'Palm Springs,' suitable for program topper in the more discriminating houses, where it should take care of itself satisfactorily. Outstanding entertainment element is the music. . . (It is a) bright, colored, effective screen platter calculated to appeal to curiosity about desert resort diversions and behaviour of film folk, with unusually efficacious meshing of music with comedy drama."

+ — Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 23 '36

P
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

101

PANIC ON THE AIR. Ap 10 '36 55min Columbia
Players: Lew Ayres, Florence Rice, Benny Baker
Director: D. Ross Lederman
Based on the short story, Five Spot, by Theodore A. Tinsley. "Mr. Ayres is a radio news commentator, who becomes curious when the Giants beat Detroit in the world series... He] and his pal, Andy, are curious to find out why Lefty Dugan failed to take the mound against the Giants in the last crucial game and discover that he was slugged shortly after he had accepted a $2 bill on which a mustache had been drawn across President Lincoln's face." (N Y World-Telegram)

Audience Suitability Ratings
"A: hardly; Y and C: fair."
Christian Century p614 Ap 22 '36
"Adults & young people." E Coast Preview Committee
 "Family." Nat Bd of R Fox W Coast Barg Ap 25 '36
"It is a short film with no padding, but far more lively than many others twice its length. The acting is uniformly excellent from the principals down to the smallest parts... The story is told on the radio throughout the whole time without being forced. Suitability: family." + Mo Film Bul p49 F 24 '36
"Family." Nat Bd of R M My '36
"General patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Ap 13 '36
"The story plot is stereotyped and slow-moving and the solution is evident from the beginning. Adults & young people."
 + Sel Motion Pict My 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"'Panic on the Air' is the sort of vehicle that suits Lew Ayres, and, with Benny Baker's plausiveness and Florence Rice looking nice and natural, the film is somewhat entertaining." T M M.
 + N Y Times p17 Ap 20 '36
"This 'Panic on the Air' is a reasonably entertaining, sometimes more than just passably exciting little gooseshell item. Although it has a few slightly slow moments and a slightly tentative masterpiece of lethal story telling, it is, for the most part, well enough paced and contains a sufficient amount of thrills to satisfy those who feel that a second-rate shocker is better than none at all." William Boechel
 + N Y World-Telegram p19 Ap 21 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"Sprightly paced mystery drama with a refreshing comedy twist comprising the adventure of a radio commentator who undertakes to solve a baffling crime. Family." + Box Office p35 Ap 25 '36
"While it is nothing to rave about it supplies an hour of exciting entertainment. Lew Ayres as the radio guy puts much pep into the playing of his role and largely because of this the picture holds the interest." + Film Curb p8 Ap 4 '36
"Good murder mystery with smooth comedy dialogue strong for program fare." + Film Daily p7 Ap 23 '36

A lively and active yarn of murder and romance and mystery, with a news and sports commentator of the radio taking a major part in all three phases of the story, this picture should be found entertaining for those who like active material even though it is not pretentious. + Motion Pict Daily p3 Mr 25 '36

"It is an unpretentious mystery yarn for those audiences who prefer drama for show. As for exploitation material for showmen, there are several mysterious murders and threats of additional ones: there's the unique radio method of detective work, with Ayres in the part of a Winchellesque announcer."
Motion Pict Herald p50 My 2 '36
"The players do as well as possible with [the] material but the story is against them. For neighborhood, twin bill, this will prove satisfactory but for de luxe runs it is handicapped. + N Y Exhibitor p12 Ap 25 '36
"This is quite a far-fetched story, with a title to match, but an exciting screenplay gives it an excellent chance to count in the smaller first-run spots on its own, and it should lend plenty of support in the dualers. + Variety Ap 22 '36
"Lew Ayres' performance as a radio sports commentator who justifies his high salary by unraveling murder mysteries to sustain a larger program will have to sell 'Panic on the Air' in the lesser dual spots. Picture, unpretentious but classier, relies for entertainment largely on development of plot novelty, and on this score is satisfactory melodrama, with comic support, making two complete acts it with considerable zest, carrying most of the weight." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 11 '36

PAROLE. Je 12 '36 67min Universal Players: Henry Hunter, Ann Preston, Alan Dinehart, Alice Baxter, Noah Beery, Jr. Grant Mitchell
Director: Louis Friedlander
A young released convict on parole exposes the corruption of a gang of criminals who prey on paroled prisoners.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Family." Wkly Guide Je 13 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"With newspapers discussing the parole system there has been considerable interest aroused which should help. [It] will avoid program feature. + Aside from the fact that there is a bit too much talk, this is okay." + Film Curb p10 Je 13 '36
"It gets to its point in a very direct manner. There is nothing wishy-washy in its treatment and lecturing is kept down to the very minimum. Lacking draw names, this number falls into the classification of better program pictures, and should do especially well in those houses which can put across better action entertainment. + Film Daily p10 Je 9 '36
"Propaganda plots seem to be the current rage in Hollywood and, if all were as well handled as this one, there would be no complaints. The lady's drawing name draws will be the only stumbling block to the success of 'Parole.' It rates high as purposeful entertainment. + Hollywood Reporter p3 Je 6 '36
"Patterned somewhat after the recent exposure of inadequate and politically duped parole boards, this one is a fast-moving melodrama, replete with good characterizations, excitement, new twists and new faces. It never lags and ends on a brutal, crusading note which attempts to solve the problem. + Motion Pict Daily p6 Je 9 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; - Mediocre; - Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
PAROLE—Continued

"Estimate: program, more with selling."
Phila Exhibitor p25 Je 15 '36

"It takes unusual producer-showman's courage and determination to deal sincerely and adequately on the screen with a subject as currently controversial as the merits of prison parole. Required amount of these theatrical commodities is not in Universal's 'Parole!' to make it a picture of more than average box office prospects, but it is entertaining for satisfactory program rating."

+ — Variety (Hollywood) p3 Je 6 '36

PASSING OF THE THIRD FLOOR BACK.
D 15 '36 88min Gaumont British
Players: Conrad Veidt, Renee Ray
Director: Berthold Viertel

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Mature." Nat Bd of R

"An outstanding picture with a marked ethical appeal. ... The whole is excellently directed. A well worthwhile and highly recommended Family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women
Fox W Coast BuI Mr 14 '36

"Adults and young people."
Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Mr 14 '36

"Adults." Jt Estimates Mr 16 '36

"Possibly allegory is more difficult to make convincing in movies than on the stage. At any rate; this picture version of an old stage favorite is distinctly unsuccessful though there still remain some interesting features. The tempo is excessively slow. Aside from the fact that an uplifting thought is presented, the film has little value. Adolescents, 12-16: too mature; children, 8-12: no."

+ — Motion Pict R Ap '36

"Adults." Nat Council of Jewish Women Mr 11 '36

"Adults." Sel Motion Pict Ap '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is a production of exceptional quality."
+ Christian Science Monitor p19 My 7 '36

"The guttural, at times sinister reenactment etched by the suave, polished and coldly deliberate Conrad Veidt hardly approaches the delicate soulfulness that one would expect from the true Stranger. ... For the most part there is evidence of but little imagination [in the] direction. The strength of the spiritual implication is never realized." J. P. Cunningham

+ — Commonweal p75 My 15 '36

"We went because Berthold Viertel directed. Viertel tries hard to salvage this ancient wreck, but with no success." Robert Stebbins

— New Theatre p36 Je '36

"The new English film is curiously arresting, in its well-nigh theatrical manner, and it is not always entertaining that Herr Viertel offers, for in one sense the piece is singularly uncompelling but it carries sufficient, with barren stretches of uninviting dialogue and slow, dull action, but he has caught in the manner of George Gissing a flavor of London that, while sordid and dreary, has a peculiar fascination." Marguerite Taxelar

N Y Herald Tribune p12 Ap 28 '36

"In spite of a quiet tenderness and dignity, Mr. Veidt is somehow less effective than the other characters of the cast, the board, the house and its sordid, squabbling lodgers which kept this reviewer's interest intact. ... They are a conventionally faithful and dull picture, it should appeal irresistibly to those among us who do not regard a love story as the sine qua non of screen entertainment and who will not swerve automatically from a marquee just because it is not radiant with the names of Hollywood's glamour. There's nothing colossal in the production. ... Instead you will find a prodigy of moderation: a mannerly collaboration of a temperamental director, a restrained script, an orderly cast. It adds up, we are pleased to report, to a singularly likable picture." F. S. Nugent

+ — N Y Times p19 Ap 29 '36

"A curious film this—a film that wavers between sentimental claptrap and effective preachers. But that sounds like a cool report I know, but it isn't intended to be. For not only did I manage to work up a reverent respect for at least of it; it is the greater part of it. ... But, with all due reverence, I still must protest that I was disappointed. In part it is, however, although the film says what it has to say with great dignity, it also says some of it without eloquence or even simplicity. Indeed, it says some parts rather clumsily and in the most threadbare writing... William Boehm

+ — N Y World Telegram p19 Ap 29 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"A forceful and compelling production of the famous English local drama which will have a definite appeal in the better-class houses as well as for art theatre audiences."

Box Office p25 My 5 '36

"It's a bit hard to peg this picture. It has been well done but it depends a good deal on whether your audience likes religious stuff and if they do for British-made pictures."

Film Curb p9 F 8 '36

"Aided tremendously by a perfectly chosen cast and by the unusually effective performance of Conrad Veidt in the central character, this is a very meritorious melodrama which has been kept so closely in tune with its theme under the directorial handling of Berthold Viertel that it never lags in interest through enormous lengths."

+ — Film Daily p6 Ap 30 '36

"The chief character, of The Stranger, is a modern embodiment of the Christ-idea. ... The Teutonic Veidt, with his accent and suggestion of the brooding sinister, does not meet the requirements, despite dignity and a fine reading of his few lines. So the picture is weakest where it should be strongest—in the sense of spiritual power. Despite this and other allusions, the picture has great entertainment value in its characterization, its movement and its message and should do well enough dwindling its peculiar center."

+ — Hollywood Reporter p2 Ja 25 '36

"Limited as is its box office appeal... The Passing of the Third Floor Back, packs a keen concept of dramatic values and the atmosphere of a long ago out-moded literary fare pervades the narrative, there's nothing musty about the situation or the action that makes the action feasible and a group of characteristics that impel recognition and interest."

+ — Variety p19 My 6 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
PEG OF OLD DRURY. S 28 '36 75min British & Dominions
Players: Anna Neagle, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Jack Hawkins
Director: Herbert Wilcox

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Objectible in part."
Nat Legion of Decency Ap 30 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"Directed with skill and feeling for the period." Robert Stebbins
+ New Theatre p36 Je '36

"Chicely the film seems to have been planned to give Miss Anna Neagle, as Peg, and Sir Cedric Hardwicke, as David Garrick, an opportunity to play a number of classic roles and play them, I thought, surprisingly badly. Miss Neagle is a bit better as Rosalind, but she looks very impatient to see her in a full-length version of 'As You Like It.'" Richard Watts, Jr.
+ + N Y Herald Tribune p15 Ap 14 '36

"The new film [is] a rather gentle but engaging tale... Anna Neagle and Cedric Hardwicke, the Nell and King Charles of 'Nell Gwyn', are again co-starred. They are a particularly well-matched team. Peg of Old Drury is one of the more entertaining period pictures, slim of plot, light of heart, and very charming." Eileen Creelman
+ N Y Sun p16 Ap 13 '36

"With superb acting, photography that is effective and unusual, yet not bizarre, and direction that is gentle, pleasant, and good taste itself, Peg of Old Drury is one of the finest cinema productions ever to come out of England or anywhere else, for that matter. So engrossing is Miss Neagle's portraiture of Peg Woffington that her personalities have become inextricably blended in the mind of this reviewer, anyway. Sir Cedric's impersonation of Garrick is a remarkable performance generally, but his bits from Shakespeare, his Shylock and his Richard III, and his Abel Drurger from Ben Johnson's 'Alchemist' leave lasting impressions." J. T. M.
+ + N Y Times p15 Ap 13 '36

"Some of the most absorbing films of the last three years have been of the historical and costume school, and of the best of them, it must be confessed, have come from the British studios. The latest in this category—and it is one of the best of them—is Peg of Old Drury... Superbly acted and directed with a perfect blending of taste, assurance and gentleness, Peg of Old Drury deserves a place high on the list of fine cinema attractions that the up-and-coming British motion picture industry has sent us." William Boosnell
+ + N Y World-Telegram p26 Ap 14 '36

"[It] is told dramatically, with careful attention to historical detail and artistic effect. The pace is neither fast nor slow, but lies in the middle of the Sin操作 of eighteenth-century London. The Theatre Royal, Drury Lane, Vauxhall Gardens, even the Cheshire Cheese—all are there, with glamour and humor." + Stage p10 Je 1 '36

PENSION MIMOSAS. My 5 '36 Franco-American Players: Françoise Rosay, Paul Bernard, Aline, Louis D'Amorice
Director: Jacques Feyder

French dialogue film with English sub-titles. "The Pension Mimosas is a small hotel on the French Riviera, operated by the voluble Gaston Noblet and his efficient wife, Louise. Their godson, Pierre Brabant, a gambler by instinct and by inheritance, is constantly becoming involved in scrapes and being protected by Mme. Noblet." (N Y Times)

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"It contains one of the most masterly exhibitions of hams acting en masse we have yet seen. We were fascinated by the spectacle and stayed on until the grim end." Fred Stein
+ Hollywood Spec p41 Je 6 '36

"Pension Mimosas... is very worth seeing," Robert Stebbins
+ New Theatre p36 Je '36

"It is expertly performed, with vigor and warmth, and always proper with the fine French humor for making Gallic traits familiar. Plenty situations and garish scenes enliven the story. Even so, the study of [Mme. Noblet's] love for the boy is fascinating, screen treatment and the rivalry between her and Nelly, the hard, selfish lass who leads Pierre on, makes for excellent suspense." Marguerite Tazelaar
+ N Y Herald Tribune p14 My 6 '36

"Although it was well received abroad, rating inclusion in the lists of the Continental 'best ten,' it fails to justify the accolades given it by the foreign press. Part of that may be due, of course, to its cutting before being exhibited here... Its pace is somnolent; certain episodes are extraneous and immaterial, and it suggests at times that it may be a little too subtle in meaning other than the one it now conveys."
F. S. Nugent
+ + N Y Times p27 My 6 '36

"The picture is faulty in its sequences because many of them wander from the story and are thus obfuscating. Gaston, whose cast name is only given as 'Alphonse' overplayed. And there are incredible 'gangster' shots indicating a false Parisian reaction to Warner Bros. But this Rosay-Mimosas characterisation, in her realization of a difficult role is admirable. The film is commended to

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
PETTICOAT FEVER. Mr 13 '36 80min MGM
Players: Robert Montgomery, Myrna Loy, Reginald Owen, Winifred Shotter

Director: George Fitzmaurice

Based on the play of the same title by Mark Reed. "An airplane wreck forces an English lord and his fiancée to become the guests of a wireless operator in the frozen north. He hasn’t seen a white woman for two years and he finds his guest fascinating. The wireless operator shamelessly makes love to her. Then his former fiancée who had deserted him arrives." (Hollywood Reporter)

---

Audience Suitability Ratings

- A and Y; fairly amusing; C; no interest.
- Christian Century p616 Ap 29 '36
- Family. Am Legion Auxiliary
- Family. Calif Cong of Par & Teachers
- Good. Mature. DAR
- Family. Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast)
- Family. Nat Bd of R
- A competent cast and clever direction are compulsory to make a highly entertaining, exhilarating and stimulating relaxation of this improbable and dramatic story.
  - Family. Nat Council of Jewish Women
- Mature. Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women’s Clubs
- Family. Nat Soc of New England Women
- The whole is sophisticated entertainment suitable for adults. S Calif Council of Fed Church Women
- Fox W Coast Bul Mr 28 '36
- Family. Gen Fed of Women’s Clubs (W Coast) Mr 14 '36
- Mature. Jt Estimates Mr 15 '36
- The direction, following the stage version with the addition of very artificial exteriors, extracts every ounce of fun from the dialogue and the efficiency of the production seldom allows a dull minute. Suitability: family.
  - Mo Film Bul p67 Ap '36
- Very good-adult & young adult.
  - Motion Pict Guide Je '36
- There is little attempt at characterization, and the ending is abrupt and not entirely convincing, but much may be forgiven a story when its gaiety is so consistently maintained and its interpreters so obviously enjoy their roles. Adults, 12-15 enjoying; children, 8-12; probably no interest.
  - Motion Pict R Ap '36
- Adult. Nat Legion of Decency Mr 15 '36
- A: pretty good light farce; Y: entertaining; C: little interest.
  - Par M 550 Je '36
- “Clever dialogue, humorous situations, spirited characters, novel backgrounds, and a good story make this an enjoyable picture.” S. M. Mullen
- Scholastic p28 My 2 '36
- Mature.”
  - Sel Motion Pict Ap '36
- “[This is a] bright and highly diverting comedy.”
  - Wkly Guide Mr 21 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

- "Though it cuts some amusing capers, it is at best a prettily hollow type of humor that tends to grow tiresome as the story progresses.” E. F. M.
  - + Boston Transcript p4 Ap 25 '36
- "This is one of the brightest, gayest farce comedies presented in a long time. . . . [It is] hilarious and stimulating screen fare. Laura Elston
  - + Canadian M p60 My '36
- "A trival farce with Robert Montgomery too cute for North Pole’s tastes.” Myrna Loy’s calm humor lends tone to the proceedings.”
- "There is not much to say about ‘Petticoat Fever’ except that it is amusing entertainment, cleverly directed, well acted, graphically produced and competently photographed. . . . It is an extraordinary production feat. In the few outdoor shots we see miles of ice, great blocks piled up by a surging sea to lose themselves against the far horizon.”
  - + Hollywood Spec p3 Mr 28 '36
- "The whole mood of the film is flippant. And since its stars—Myrna Loy and Robert Montgomery—are Hollywood’s best exponents of flippancy, the picture gives the illusion of being much less than actually Myrna Loy’s calm humor lends tone to the proceedings.”
  - + Hollywood Spec p3 Mr 28 '36
- "Since Robert Montgomery doesn’t smirk and grime as violently as Dennis King did on the stage in the same role, I suppose that the cinema edition of ‘Petticoat Fever’ is superior to the original version. In neither incarnation, however, is it anything to cause loud cheering from the assembled multitudes. . . . The outdoor Arctic settings look particularly unbelievable and I will insist on that even if it is proved to me that they were actually photographed at the North Pole. Marguerite Pulsar
  - + N Y Herald Tribune p12 Mr 21 '36
- "The comedy is lively enough and consistently funny. The audience laughed through it yesterday. It currently fills the motto of its theme rather entertaining. ‘Petticoat Fever’ is one of the season’s more frothy comedies, but rather a diverting one.” Eileen Cramen
  - + N Y Sun p18 Mr 21 '36
- “Petticoat Fever,” which was one of the better farces on Broadway last season, has come to the screen suffering from a severe attack of whimsy. Although it has the stuff of which many funny, unusual and effervescent comedies are made, it is belabored by such
There is a short-winded, harmless little sex anecdote somewhat enlivened by the perverseness of its three principals, but not enlivened enough to recommend unrestrainedly to movie-goers in search of satisfaction. (Variety, Hollywood Trade Journal)

"Not a particularly profound comedy," John Mosher

"The climax of 'Petticoat Fever' is reached in a scene which shows Actor Montgomery, dressed in white tie & tails, serving an underdone penniman steak. For comedically it is done, in Reginald Owen delivers a first-rate performance as the disappointed grocer. (Family)"

"The fun is fast and furious." L. S. Nlmeeyer

"Smartly directed, and an accurate portrayal of the period. The performances of Mr. Montgomery, Myrna Loy and Reginald Owen are all excellent. (Magazine of Film)"

"A grand little laugh picture from beginning to end, 'Petticoat Fever' is something of a high comedienne. With the exception of the near sophisticated school, the entire picture is a delight. The box-office is assured by the personal drawing power of Robert Montgomery and Myrna Loy, made doubly amusing by happy casting. (Variety)"

"Never an entirely novel plot, the show has an air of refreshing character for any kind of audience. Additionally there are many suggestions for attention—stimulating showmanship. Dialogue lines easily can be transposed to catch selling copy. Preview cast struggles with the material at hand and gets a few laughs here and there, but not much else. They won't break down box offices for this one, but the Robert Montgomery-Myrna Loy names may keep grosses from being bad news." (Variety, Hollywood Trade Journal)

"It is] a smart comedy that should mean good returns. With the Montgomery-Loy names for the top draw, picture has good marquee value. Smartly written, directed, and produced, it has audience appeal both in the first runs and subsequent houses." (Variety, Hollywood)

POOR LITTLE RICH GIRL  J1 24 '36 75min  20th century-Fox

Players: Shirley Temple, Alice Faye, Gloria Stuart, Jack Haley, Michael Whalen

Director: F. M. K. Withers

Music and lyrics: Mack Gordon, Harry Revel

Based on the play of the same title by Eleanor Klages. It is a fairy tale with a child wandering away from her wealthy young father to engage in adventures of her own. The picture will be directed by a team of down-and-out vaudevillians and joins their act for a radio audition. They win a contract to broadcast for a soap firm competing with the product of the father's manufacturer. (Hollywood Reporter)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family & Junior matinee."

Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Jc 1 '36

"Certain of Shirley Temple's unfailing charm and talent. Shape producers of her latest picture do not stress plausibility or originality. In spite of story weakness, this irresistible little star proves herself fully capable with her songs, dances and dialects. (Family & Junior matinees)

Nat Council of Jewish Women Je 3 '36

"Shirley sings and taps in her own inimitable way through a vehicle hardly worthy of her talents. General patroging.

"Family & Junior matinees."

Nat Legion of Decency Je 18 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"There is much to recommend in this modern fairy tale, its greatest recommendation possibly being that it offers the most natural portrayals yet to come from Shirley Temple. The narrative, decidedly weak in substance and logic, comes to us as a film rich in simple charm and human situations, semihumorous, and, in its version, devoid of dullness." Allan Hersholt

+ Hollywood Spec p10 Je 6 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"A superb directorial handling and intelligent scripting combined with tunes that'll send the customers out of the theatre, whistling: their heads off, make this Shirley Temple's best by far." (Variety, Hollywood)

"A typical Temple picture. Shirley's fans can hardly find any fault with this—her latest screen vehicle. There is little left of the stage play or the previous film version of the story but that matters little as long as Shirley troupes through the picture."

Film Curb p18 Je 6 '36

"Darryl Zanuck and 20th Century-Fox have in 'The Poor Little Rich Girl' a box office honey. It is not too far fetched to predict that it will be the biggest grosser of all Shirley Temple pictures. Buddy De Sylva should rate a big hand for a picture that spells box-office in big letters."

Daily Variety p7 Je 6 '36

"Ranking with 'Curly Top' as one of the best of the Shirley Temple pictures, 'The Poor Little Rich Girl' is literally packed with entertainment and gives its tiny star some of her finest opportunities to date. It is a fanciful modern fairy story and serves admirably as vehicle for its star. Even so, the results..." (Variety, Hollywood)

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; + Mediocre; — Poor; + Exceptionally Poor
POOR LITTLE RICH GIRL—Continued
might have been less effective had the note of poignancy been carried into Shirley Temple's performance. In this regard, the direction by Cummings must share credit.

Motion Picture Daily p11 My 29 '36

“It follows the you-can’t-give-them-too-much Shirley Temple legend, with entertainment and showmanship purposes, and with all due respect to the supporting players, who strive worthy to be effective, the little starlet is the whole show... A campaign concentrating on the inimitable Shirley looks like the best selling angle.”

Motion Picture Daily p11 My 29 '36

“Just about nine-tenths of this picture is Shirley Temple singing, dancing, and being the same charming girl that has deserved her legion of theatre-goers. Considering the vogue, it doesn’t seem to be such an unwise technique. The motivating story isn’t much. Quite a bit in it may be difficult for audiences to swallow.”

Motion Picture Herald p36 Je 6 '36

“Estimate: up to the Temple standard.”

Phila Exhibitor p25 Je 15 '36

“20th-Fox’s moppet star walks through ‘The Poor Little Rich Girl’ with style. Shirley Temple, everything her faithful followers expect her to do, does it excellently. To this extent, picture will be in good hands despite an incongruous story. Lack of continuity is mainly due to cutting which has overlooked many angles.”

Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 28 '36

POPPY, Je 19 '36 70min Paramount
Players: W. C. Fields, Rochelle Hudson, Richard Cromwell, Catherine Doucet, Lynne Overman
Director: A. Edward Sutherland
Based on a play of the same title by Dorothy Donnelly. Previously filmed in a silent version called Sally of the Sawdust. "Fields is a carniv-al grifter who comes into a small town with his daughter. She meets the mayor’s son, falls in love with him. Fields with Lynne Overman, a scheming lawyer, manage to balk a wealthy banker’s fortune. Fields’ daughter as the rightful heiress to the fortune.”

Variety (Hollywood)

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“It goes almost without saying that ‘Poppny’ is the funniest and most completely diverting comedy that has come to local screens for a long time. In spite of the serious illness that has made! acting for Mr. Fields a brave challenge to adversity, the new photoplay finds him magnificently comic. The Donnelly work has not entirely escaped the ravages of time. It has a rather incredible romance of the musical comedy variety and a lost heiress theme that demands your tolerance. It is a motion picture that has no reason in saying that it should not be missed.” Howard Barnes

NY Herald Tribune p16 Je 18 '36

“W. C. Fields’ army of well-wishers will rejo-ice that a new Fields comedy, ‘Poppny,’ is on the screen, and will regret that this is not among his better pictures... The fault does not lie in the direction that Fields is fair, although Mr. Fields, like so many comedians, is funnier in supporting roles than when trying to carry the whole picture. Now he is asked to carry the whole picture, and it is not worth all that trouble. The story, however, it may have seemed better by now, is well worn by now. The direction is choppy, and most of the photography below Hollywood standard.” Eileen Creelman

N Y Sun p25 Je 18 '36

“Orderingly the bare announcement that a new W. C. Fields film has arrived on Broadway is sufficient to send the countless Fields enthusiasts flocking to the theatres to see the greatest of all screen comics. But when that announcement is supplemented by the information that Mr. Fields is not merely the same old man, but that the picture itself is a new one, then the excitement becomes an event of considerable importance. Fields’ great reputation will be maintained by the new field customers. Street dancing and hat tossing. It can be definitely set down as one of the most hilar-i-ous pictures of the recent motion pictures.” William Boehnel

NY World-Telegram p19 Je 18 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“Wherever they like W. C. Fields this one will have no trouble in pleasing. It is a light amusing mixture of comedy and romance. Fields’ gags are laugh getters and his dialogue is rib tickling.”

Film Curb p7 Je 13 '36

“This is a laughfest, which will please the Fields fans and make new ones for the comedian. A. Edward Sutherland’s direction is the best to date. The picture is excellently made. It is a successful blend of comedy and romance and score as high in laughs as the original for a new and greatly amplified audience. It is a well made picture, a master of the comic SF and it will capture fat profits at box offices all the way down the line.”

Hollywood Reporter p3 Je 5 '36

“A liberal serving of W. C. Fields gag, situation and conversation comedy, this is leavened by a thread of youthful romance and serio-drama, mainly involving Rochelle Hudson... There is definite evidence of an effort to divide audience interest in the adventures of both. The screen play is jerky as it concentrates on the comedy and romantic and dramatic highlights. Up to the standard of his best appearances, Fields gives an amusing performance, which should provoke much laughter and ‘pops’ at the box office. Cro-well, while not completely convincing, is given an air of realism by the sincere way in which he is about their welfare.”

Motion Picture Daily p8 Je 6 '36

“Not a pretentious attraction, but an amusing and interesting one, it provides plenty of the Fields brand of entertainment, both as he is a participant in the story’s action and in its specialty features. Previewed in Alexander Theatre, Glendale. Audience reaction indicated appreciation of Fields’ comedy and the efforts of Rochelle Hudson, Richard Cromwell and other cast members to hold up their end in face of his competition.”

Motion Picture Herald p68 Je 13 '36

“Welcome after a long absence, W. C. Fields again demonstrates he is capable of carrying the entire load. While he is on the screen, everything is okay, when he is off, it becomes a matter of waiting for him to show up again. Result is that where the star is popular the picture will be too.”

Phila Exhibitor p24 Je 15 '36

“Slow and lacking smoothness, ‘Poppny’ needs straightening out before it will please many other than out-and-out W. C. Fields fans. If the paper is Patrol Cinema Guide, ‘Poppny’ is on the screen... The plot, though familiar, has been allowed to run to earth. Fields takes advantage of everything in the script. His dialogue is perfectly suited to the Fields routine, but the picture is not.”

Variety (Hollywood) p3 Je 5 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; —+ Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
PREVIEW MURDER MYSTERY. F 28 '36
8min Paramount
Players: Reginald Denny, Frances Drake, Gail Patrick, Rod La Rocque, George Barbier
Director: Robert Florey

"Film star Rod La Rocque, who has been warned that he will never live to see the picture he is making, is killed at the theatre preview. Publicity director Reginald Denny, assisted by Frances Drake, takes charge of the case, and the scene moves into the studio itself as the sinister activities of the murderer continue." Motion Pic Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A and Y; good of kind; C: no."
Christian Century p550 Ap 8 '36

"Adults and young people." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Adults: entertaining; 14-18: fair; 8-14: doubtful. Calif Cong of Par & Teachers"

"Good. Mature." DAR

"Family." Gen Fed of Women's Clubs ('W Coast')

"Family." Nat Ed of R

"Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"Interesting for adult audiences." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Mature." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women + Fox W Coast Bur F 29 '36

"Mature." Jt Estimates F 15 '36

"There is a tenuous thread of flippant romance, which, however, diverts attention unduly without contributing much to the film. Although completely engrossing while it runs, one is justified, in looking back on it, in grumbling at the number of 'blind alleys' up which one is led, at the consequent number of loose ends left quite unexplained, and at the summary way in which the real criminal is dragged in. Clearly, the story violates all the known canons of detective fiction ethics as respected by our modern novelists in that field. But the development is so slick, ingenious, and rapid that one is given no real pause for the exercise of one's own detective faculties. Suitability: adult."
+ — Mo Film Bur F 21 '36

"An average mystery tale doubles its effect because the plot is laid in a studio set. The audience will want to watch the mystery unfold."
Exciting with plenty of suspense. Family. Nat Bd of R M Mr '36

"Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women F 19 '36

"Unobjectionable for general patronage." Nat Legion of Decency Mr 12 '36

"Mature." Wkly Motion Pic F 1 '36

"Family." Wkly Guide F 22 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"This picture is one of the best mystery offerings we have had and one of the few good pictures Paramount has given us in some months. The Preview, 'Murder Mystery' is well worth seeing if you like that sort of screen entertainment. Students of the genre should view the picture and its depiction of what goes on in a motion picture studio will interest them." + Hollywood Spec p6 F 15 '36

"With his customary pictorial sense, Mr. Florey directs the picture with a decorative flourish, achieving a real feeling for the studio atmosphere. His detailed description of what a set looks like, both interior and exterior, is excellent, even if his photographic genius at the expense of this." Marguerite Trazierar
+ N Y Herald Tribune p12 Mr 21 '36

"Good murder mystery seems to be largely a matter of packaging nowadays, and some sound stages, dressing rooms and ballyhoo of the wonder city provide as novel a bit of integration as one could imagine."
+ N Y Times Mr 21 '36

"The picture has rapid pace, surface plausibility—too many close-ups of significant scenes being exchanged by persons having no connection with the murder—convincing atmosphere." B. R. C.
+ N Y World-Telegram p23 Mr 21 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Thrilling murder-mystery with studio background. . . . It moves at a rapid and thrilling pace, is packed with tense situations, hair-raising suspense and should prove a money-maker in any situation. Family."
+ Box Office p25 F 29 '36

"Unusually entertaining murder mystery melodrama. . . . Florey has done a highly fine job of directing and taken all-in-all this picture should please in most any theatre."
+ Film Daily p4 F 15 '36

"Murder mystery played in Hollywood movie studio has strong interest based on locale." + Film Daily p4 Mr 21 '36

"This high-tension mystery yarn is different. It is not merely bigger and better but it is a highly diverting novel, for the three murders and all the excitement that follows take place on a motion picture lot, easily recognizable as the Paramount plant, and while the blood is tingling with the unflagging suspense of the story, the audience is on a close-up personally-conducted tour of the whole works."
+ Hollywood Reporter p3 F 6 '36

"There is much in this that is refreshingly new in a murder mystery, many inside revelations of the art of picture making which should provide unique entertainment for the audience and an exhibitor a wealth of angles on which to base intriguing exploitation." + Motion Pic Daily p6 F 7 '36

"Estimate: saleable programmer."
+ N Y Exhibitor p35 F 25 '36

"Apparently planned to meet the independent competition on duals, but thanks to good direction, excellent acting and a good script, this picture gets beyond its class in spite of a trite central idea. It should be able to solo in the smaller spots and front the lesser duals. Selling angle is the fact that it gives an excellent glimpse of film studio processes."
+ Variety p15 Mr 25 '36

"This mystery opera, obviously a B picture stands a chance of getting important money through several exploitation angles. Cast contains a flock of names recognizable by the fans. Some of them are old timers, but they still mean something in numbers as they have been cast here. Picture is based on a murder, several of them in fact, within a studio. It's about the best inside stuff on studio workings seen. A picture for the detective minded, the picture making should be satisfied with the atmosphere."
+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 F 5 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; —- Mediocre; —— Poor; ——— Exceptionally Poor
PRIDE OF THE MARINES. Ap 2 '36 65min Columbia
Director: D. Ross Lederman
"An orphan boy meets four Marines, wins his way into their hearts, becomes mascot of the regiment and finally is adopted. Nat Legion of Decency —

Audience Suitability Ratings
"The story is laid against the background of a U. S. Marine base—obvious flag-waving 'patriotic' propaganda. As entertainment, mediocre screenfare."
—+ Bul on Current Films Je 6 '36
"Family." E Coast Preview Committee
Fox W Coast Bul My 2 '36
"General patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency Mr 29 '36
"The situations, played against a background of a United States Marine camp, are artificial and evidently arranged for their appeal to patriotism. Family."
Sei Motion Pict My 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"[It is] another of those star-spangled, Hip! Hip! Hoorary! products that Hollywood can turn out before you can say 'Sanction.'... Throughout the film Mr. Bickford is convincingly tough and Miss Rice winningly winsome. Master Billy Burrud seems perhaps a bit too well fed to suggest an undernourished orphan, but he knows his school-books." J. T. M.
N Y Times p19 Ap 27 '36
"Not only is its plot pretty mediocre, but its dialogue is at times ridiculously childish. But these are really minor matters compared with its more grievous sin, which is that it completely wastes the talents of really first-rate players—Fred MacMurray, William Boehnel."
N Y World-Telegram p10 Ap 28 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"Although pictorial backgrounds of the film offer interesting shots, the story offers nothing that would logically connect it with the reputation these tough leathernecks have for fighting. All action has been relegated to a secondary position while the humanity, interest and romantic angles are played up. Family."
Box Office p31 My 25 '36
"A most appealing story of the Marines. It is interesting because [it shows] the life of these men."
+ Film Curb p9 Ap 25 '36
"Although the U. S. Marine Corps provides an interesting background for it, this yarn hasn't enough in the way of story, novelty and general punch to rate it better than a moderate program offering."
+ Film Daily p4 Ap 28 '36
"[It] has no story and little else besides. It attempts to do at this late date what every other producer has done so much better so far regarding the U. S. Marines, and the picture is far from entertaining, audience interest never being whetted. The phoney climax with the marines fighting an imaginary enemy is entirely without meaning and looks [as if] it came out of the stock shot library."
"This picture, although not in any sense a big picture, still should be found generally enjoyable by youngsters."
+ Motion Pict Daily p5 Ap 3 '36

"Pride of the Marines" is program material for neighborhoods, twin bills... Players are generally satisfactory but the net result is program."
+ — N Y Exhibitor p12 Ap 25 '36
"Flimsy yarn throws the switch on this flag-waver, and rather well side-tracks it down the juvenile and adventure route. As Patriotism and military photography appear to be mainly a means of changing pace and framing a background. A few incidental details of the film they figure very little, nor is the photography of flags, parades, etc., more than a stock catalog of a marine base."
— Variety p15 Ap 29 '36

PRINCESS COMES ACROSS. My 22 '36 75min Paramount
Director: William K. Howard
Based on the novel, The Duchess, by Louis Lucien Recouer, this Columbia picture plays the card of a Swedish princess on board ship is implicated in a murder and blackmail case. She is cleared through the help of a band leader who has fallen in love with her.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"A: good of kind; Y: amusing; C: hardly." Christian Century p223 Je 3 '36
"Good-mature." DAR
"While the plot is somewhat confusing at times, the suspense and excitement are so well sustained that the climax comes as a complete surprise... Adults & young people." E Coast Preview Committee
+ Fox W Coast Bul Je 6 '36
"Family."
Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 6 '36
"Family."
Nat Bd of R M Je 6 '36
"Although the story is a trivial one, so expert is the direction and capable the cast that the result is a very interesting murder mystery. Family."
+ Nat Council of Jewish Women Je 3 '36
"General patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency My 28 '36
"Adults & young people."
Sei Motion Pict Je 1 '36
"[It is] an entertaining and smoothly running comedy drama. Family."
+ Wkly Guide My 23 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"Carole Lombard and Fred MacMurray give performances they never have excelled. Carole's masquerade as a Swedish princess is maintained cleverly and as the American girl she is convincing. It is an intelligent screen performance, quiet, restrained, natural, devoid of any suggestion of acting. Fred [MacMurray] gives the most convincing performance of his career. I have liked him before but not as much as I did this time, etc. Anyway, if you like murder mysteries, you will find this to be one of the three or four best we have had yet."
+ — Hollywood Spec p11 My 25 '36
"A curious compound of sentimental farce and grim seriousness. 'The Princess Comes Across' contrives to fuse these seemingly incompatible elements into a thoroughly enjoyable photo. Especially for all its lack of balance, the film is consistently engrossing, whether comic

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
or near-tragic, and for an evening of swiftly moving excitement it comes off very well." (3 stars, Boston Herald)

The Film Digest p49 Je 30 '36

"The Princess Comes Across is an engaging and diverting screen melodrama, marked by a well-nerved stage setting, decorous and glib dialogue. It finds Carole Lombard actually acting, Fred MacMurray increasing his appeal with every picture, and an expert supporting company at its best. The film may strain one's notion of the credible, but it is always entertaining."

+ N Y Herald Tribune p13 Je 4 '36

"It is brisk, comic and pleasantly mystifying. With William K. Howard in charge, 'The Princess Comes Across'127s off to a happy start... Even with as trivial a plot as that of the current film, Mr. Howard can send waves of excitement crackling through an audience." Eileen Creelman

+ N Y Sun p27 Je 4 '36

"With the subtlety of a sledge hammer, the Paramount's new comedy becomes a pin-sized story... [It] just about gets across as a mild-to-bore-some comedy. If our reaction happens to be severely drier than the theatre's refrigerating system, blame it on the cheap dialogue thoughtlessly offered to Miss Lombard by Fred MacMurray because a quartet of script writers who should have known better." E. S. Nugent

+ N Y World Telegram p2 3 '36

"[It is] an urbane, witty and singularly effective comedy-drama... Although it is a boisterous lampoon, it never gets beyond Mr. Howard's refreshing after, enjoying the sanguine manner in which he has treated the subject and the expert way he has handled his players I can only say that it is one of the season's more deserving and entertaining recreations." William Boehnel

+ N Y Sun Telegram p27 Je 4 '36

"Some humor is achieved in 'The Princess Comes Across,' largely because Carole Lombard manages a Garbo accent and Fred MacMurray is active with an accordian." John Mosher

New Yorker p83 Je 13 '36

"In 'Hands Across the Table,' Paramount found a valuable team in Carole Lombard and Fred MacMurray. Their follow-up is superior nonsense. [There is] a hilarious end to a somewhat dvey film.

+ News-Wk p57 My 23 '36

"Here is mystery melodrama of a pseudo-serious order, but pleasant enough entertaining.

"With William K. Howard's directionлист, the Princess Comes Across will enogour you until tiding time."

+ Stage p10 Je 1 '36

"Carole Lombard performs a fine imitation of the accent, mannerisms and to some extent the appearance of Greta Garbo." Time p26 Je 1 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Delightful successor to 'Hands Across the Table.'... The team of Lombard and MacMurray... definitely proves in this that they are the most promising team of funsters in all filmdom. Family."

+ Box Office p18 My 16 '36

"[It is] above the average picture. Can be played in any situation and will surely more than satisfy.

+ Film Curb p10 My 16 '36

"Very pleasing summer entertainment. Even though it develops into a murder mystery, it is handled in a light vein throughout tending comedy. It should meet with popular approval... Carole Lombard does an impersonation of Garbo that stands out... It is one of the most enjoyable features of the picture... There may be a couple of questionable spots in the plot, but as a whole the situations are well motivated and interesting, the dialogue clever and sprightly, and William K. Howard's direction will keep the picture moving at a good pace."

+ Film Daily p12 My 12 '36

"Starting out with the promise of a light satirical comedy, 'The Princess Comes Across' suddenly becomes a murder mystery and the personable Fred MacMurray in the starring bracket, and the always capable direction of William K. Howard, this picture would never rise above the B classification... Direction and cast have to struggle against a story that never even attempts to make up its mind what sort of a story it is."

+ Hollywood Reporter p3 My 7 '36

"This comedy-romance, the ingredients of which ran all the way drop satirical burlesque to mystery murder, is a worthy entertainment successor to 'Hands Across the Table.'... The stars and supporting cast should have no difficulty clocking with mass patronage."

+ Motion Pict Daily p13 My 8 '36

"A mixture of farce comedy, differently concocted love interest, and murder mystery melodrama this picture proves its mission to engage the attention of both exhibitor and show-goer. With William K. Howard's direction, Carole Lombard and Fred MacMurray are a most likable and a li- a line supporting players, name worth of which is high ranking."

+ Motion Pict Herald p29 My 16 '36

"Pleasant, amusing, with some dramatic moments... Carole Lombard and Fred MacMurray are a set people to jell. The Princess Comes Across' spells happy tidings around the box office. Even though the plot occasionally gets murky, the whole thing is managed with such crispness and lightness that the defects become hardly noticeable."

+ Variety p18 Je 10 '36

"An alluring title, with Carole Lombard and Fred MacMurray to sell it, gives 'The Princess Comes Across' another strong indication of prosperous business in spots where it counts most... Carole Lombard plays her role with amusingly lighthearted eagerness, creating an outstanding portrait of chorus girl posing in what will generally be accepted as caricature of a screen contrivance. Dialog, especially in the romantic passages, and in Miss Lombard's caricaturing, is delightful. 'It is a bit complex in spots, but always enough to detract from audience enjoyment.'"

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 7 '36

PRISONER OF SHARK ISLAND. F 28 '36

80min. 20th Century-Fox

Players: Warner Baxter, Gloria Stuart, Claude Gillingwater

Director: John Ford

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film.

A Guide to the study of the screen version of The Prisoner of Shark Island, prepared by Gladys G. Gambill, is obtainable from Educational and Recreational Guides, Inc., 125 Lincoln Avenue, New Jersey at fifteen cents per copy.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"The most interesting angle of the film, to me, was the excellent presentation of the mob spirit, of the prejudice, the partisanship, much of it ignorant, that ran rampant at that time. The film would have been improved by the omission of details of the hanging of Mudd's so-called fellow conspirators and the shortening of scenes in the prison, especially the attempted escape."
PRISONER OF SHARK ISLAND—Continued

Eks & Films Ap '36

"...The Prisoner of Shark Island is more than just the problem of one individual—it shows the insouciance and violence that follow in the wake of war—the misery of the Reconstruction Days in the old South after the War between the States. [It] is a powerful and compelling drama... adult screenplay."

+ Bul on Current Films Ap 15 '36

"A: strong; Y: possibly; C: no."

Christian Century p383 Ap 15 '36

"The details of brutality and a certain medical incident make the film entirely unsuitable for children and for anyone of a nervous disposition. Suitability: adults."

Mo Film Bui p68 Ap '36

"The school classes in history do not learn about Dr. Mudd: here for once is a movie that is usefully educational. The film has great virtues and commonplace faults. ... Once the doctor is on our American Devil's Island a more theatrical presentation begins to come in, not only into the story but into the manipulation of it... The massed shiny bodies of negroes, the linking of shots, the massing of the viewer of submarines—such things seem too obviously manufactured for effect and not done well enough to be effective... But for all these drawbacks, which stand out displeasingly because they are a weakness in a fabric that is otherwise so strong and substantial, the picture is unusual and important." J. S. H.

Nat Bd of R M Mr '36

"A and Y: significant historical drama; C: mature."

Par M p64 Ap '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The Prisoner of Shark Island' will only be appreciated by a few with strong enough constitutions to stand the harrowing sight of so much brutality and suffering. Whether any play or movie of this sort is entertainment or not, depends upon one's conception of how much or how little of life the theatre should present."

Canadian M p41 Je '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Strong, human interest drama with deep appeal admirably acted by Baxter and surrounding cast."

+ Film Daily p7 F 13 '36

PRIVATE NUMBER. Je 5 '36 75min 20th Century-Fox

Players: Robert Taylor, Loretta Young, Basil Rathbone, Pathey Kelly, Joe Lewis

Director: Roy Del Ruth

Based on the play, Common Clay, by Cleves Kinkeid. This is a third screen version, "Loretta Young, an American girl of obviously gentle breeding, being stranded in New York, applies for a position as servant in a wealthy family. ... the house is only home from college, falls in love with her and persuades her against her better judgment into a secret marriage." (Hollywood Reporter)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: fair; Y: doubtful; C: no."

Christian Century p55 Je 10 '36

"Family:" Am Legion Auxiliary

"Adults & 11-18: entertaining; 8-14: mature. Possible for family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good-mature." DAR

"The story is not remarkable for originality or depth, but the screen play is shrewdly contrived to make the most of the human and dramatic value inherent in the story and arouses and holds our interest in a most convincing way. Mature." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Ws Clubs

"Mature." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

+ Fox W Coast Bui Je 6 '36

"Adults & young people, A tender romance, beautiful photography, and lovely outdoor settings further enhance this entertaining picture."

+ Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 27 '36

"It is entertaining only because it is a vehicle for the ascendant Robert Taylor and lovely Loretta Young, but it chalks up nothing on their scores because it is intrinsically trashy. Motives are confused, situations forced, direction not remarkable. Adolescents, 12-16: use; children, 8-12: no."

— + Motion Pic R Je '36

"Mature."

+ The B Bd of R M Je '36

"A tripe and time-worn story is so well cast and directed as to become good entertainment. Family."

Nat Council of Jewish Women My 27 '36

"The plot... is hardly new, but the production, direction and acting are good enough to give it life. Mature."

Wkly Guide My 30 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"[It] reworks the imperishable taffy about the rich boy who marries the poor girl without telling his parents... Robert Taylor's quality and Loretta Young's charm lend personal interest to the unsuspensive story. Basil Rathbone thrown away on another mechanical villain part."

— + Christian Science Monitor p15 Je 13 '36

"Here is something of which only Hollywood is capable. It is a magnificently acted, masterfully directed, beautifully made up example of what the child-minds in the office consider to be a story worthy of the money and brilliance wasted on it. Apparently starting with the forlorn assumption that, in truth, there is nothing new and that to attempt an original would be dangerous, 'Private Number' is just a beautifully executed rehash of the Great American Melodramer at its time-worn best. 'Private Number' is a peerless expression of Hollywood's tragic inability to understand the dramatic fundamentals of its medium." Paul Jacoby

Hollywood Spec p12 Je 6 '36

"The banalities that stud 'Private Number' are not likely to militate against the film's popular success. A formalized synthesis of narrative oddments, it pulls all the cinematic stops... Cunningly directed and ably acted, it represents a rather sorry triumph of pro- duction tricks over fraudulent material... Roy Del Ruth as producer, director, having the player to the screen expertly, giving it a handsome production and guiding the players through a lot of nothing inherent with the illusion that they are involved in a substantial motion picture." Howard Barnes

— + Y Herald Tribune p20 Jo 12 '36

"Believe it or not, the picture is well acted throughout... The plot, however, creaks, as the saying goes, and the two really capable juvenile leads will probably never get over having had to speak the lines they say in 'Private Number.'"

"I felt a sorrow for the handsome mastiff named Prince, who plays the part of the pet dog, Hammer, even more than to extend a similar sympathy to other victims, such as Loretta Young, Robert Taylor, and Basil Rathbone. I regret the plot should be considered one of the frauds of June."

John Mosher

"New Yorker" p67 Je 20 '36

"In spite of its mystifying title and occasional turpitude, 'Private Number' is more than a cli- chand, it is a solidly as far-above-par romantic audience fare with resultant satisfactory turnout of grosses."

+ Box Office p33 Je 6 '36

"[It has] a good marquee cast but [the] hodge-podge story makes this amusing popular fare for the not too critical. Miss Young and Taylor register despite the drawbacks of their roles. Rathbone, who is even more handicapped with heavily written melodrama lines, exerts many effort."

+ Film Daily p13 Je 12 '36

"A love story that hits romantic high for the year, bringing together as a modern Cinderella and her prince, Loretta Young and Robert Taylor. The combination sells box office returns in the smash category. Its appeal is especially to women, who will give it unlimited word-of-mouth boosting, but it is cloying entertainment for any man with a spark of romance in his make-up."

+ Hollywood Reporter p8 My 16 '36

"This is typical Hollywood fare. Miss Young is as appealing as ever. Taylor is less boyish than usual and offers a more finished performance."

+ Motion Pict Daily pl1 My 18 '36

"Showmanship calls for proper explanation of entertainment value. The tools are at hand in story content and personalities presented, with Taylor whose popularity is increasing by leaps and bounds, Loretta Young, Rathbone and Patsy Kelly. It can be sold either as a tense drama or a heart-touching romance, especially for adults."

Motion Pict Herald p36 My 30 '36

"Estimate: good."

+ Phila Exhibitor p26 Je 1 '36

"This effort to turn a literary lemon into a cinematic peach appears to have been more than slightly successful. For, despite its several shortcomings, a few of which are downright terrible, 'Private Number' has a couple of things and these, however, can carry it through at the box office. . . All in all, the picture is a good example of the art of making something out of practically nothing."

+ Variety p23 Je 17 '36

"This picture should draw good grosses. Yarn . . . has been given several new sock twists in story content which make for solid entertainment for the masses."

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 16 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Introducing the initial teaming of a new pair of screen lovers, Robert Taylor and Loretta Young, this all solidly as far-above-par romantic audience fare with resultant satisfactory turnout of grosses."

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"The cast does excellent work, the scenes in Sweden and Paris are well done and the picture is interesting for persons familiar with its language."

"It [is] a sprightly piece of semislapstick that our Swedish population ought to go for. . . . The plot creaks like a dog-cart, but the individual performances give it a lift that is wholesome, honest and entertaining."

"The cast does excellent work, the scenes in Sweden and Paris are well done and the picture is interesting for persons familiar with its language."

"This [is] a lively comedy, which should be sold with no difficulty by the exhibitor whose patronage numbers people understanding the language. Chiefly by reason of the lack of subtitles, there is little in the film which should register an appeal with the average American audience, since the story presents nothing outstanding, and the performances, although generally satisfactory, offer nothing which is unusual."

"As the film is not equipped with English titles or other interpretative devices, the American appeal of this Swedish production is exclusively to audiences linguistically qualified to appreciate it. The story is told principally in dialogue, although several incidents involve considerable action of unmistakable import. Not all of these are above reproach in the matter of taste."

"'Raggen, That's Me' contains some animated performances, fairish looking Swedish girls and reams of dialog . . . Picture's glaring weakness is a slipshod story, and inability of the director to focus attention on any one of two sets of characters until the last few reels."

IL RE BURLONE. Mr 27 '36 35min Capitanini

Director: Enrico Guazoni

Dialogue film in Italian with English subtitles. It is also called The Jester King. The period with which it deals is the middle Eighteenth Forties at the time of one of the several revolts of the people of Naples against
IL RE BURLONE—Continued
Ferdinand II, the Bourbon tyrant, then ruling the Two Sicilies with the aid of Austria and France.” (N Y Times)

Audience Suitability Ratings
“Laid in the 1860’s, the picture has excellent atmosphere, and is well produced. Family.”
E Coast Preview Committee

“Family.”
Nat Bd of R M My ’36

“Of special interest to lovers of Italian history, Splendid acting and photography. General patronage.”
+ Nat Legion of Decency Ap 6 ’36

“Family.”
Wkly Guide Ap 4 ’36

Trade Paper Reviews
“[It] seems to have pleased the Italian-understanding audience, but was hardly of a character to bring rounds of applause from one lacking a knowledge of the language, despite the occasional use of superimposed dialogue titles. Outside of a few sumptuous sets and several large groups of extras, it does not reach a complete justification of the program line: ‘First Italian Million-Dollar Film.’”
— Motion Pict Daily p3 Mr 28 ’36

“Response of [the] audience to the Italian dialogue, (a great deal of which is of humorous character and does not translate readily into the English subtitles with which the picture has been supplied by May Carlisle,) indicated enthusiastic satisfaction. The dramatic action, which is choppy in the first midway, and of the picture and continues to the end, is more effectively interpreted by these captions.”
Motion Pict Herald p37 Ap 4 ’36

“The foreign-language production lacks the requisites of an average Italian film. Will have tough sledding at wickets, even with tolerant Italian audience. Drawbacks include thin story, meandering, lack-lustre direction, transparent plot development and injection of ponderous detail. Several neat performances fail to survive these burdens. Added handicap is the 95 minutes that it takes to unfold.”
— Variety p17 Ap 8 ’36

RED WAGON. D § ’35 74min First division
Director: Paul L. Stein
Filmed in England. “Born with the smell of sawdust in his nostrils, the hero, after years of training; becomes a famous rider and eventually owns his own circus. A fascinating tiger-tamer catches his eye, but when he finds her in the arms of his best friend, he marries a wild gypsy girl on the rebound. This union proves unhappy. But in a dramatic climax, matters are straightened out satisfactorily.” (Box Office)

Trade Paper Reviews
“Five players known to American audiences have leading roles in this expensive produc
duced English film, giving it considerable box office appeal. Charles Bickford gives a powerful performance in this red-blooded tale of circus life and the action allows him plentiful opportunities to use his fists.”
+ Box Office p22 F 13 ’36

“This Britisher with nicely-shaped frame of taut circus background should reap nice harvest in duals for the family trade. It’s too too-much, but the little is ill-timed for children nowadays. At about an hour’s run, its speed would be likened to American films.”
+ Variety (Hollywood) p8 Ap 29 ’36

REVOLT OF THE ZOMBIES. Je 4 ’36 65min
Academy
Players: Dorothy Stone. Dean Jagger. Roy D’Arcy. Robert Noland
Director: Victor Halperin
“Starting with scenes at the end of the World War, it shows how a scheming officer comes into possession of the partial secrets of Zombism, and journeys to the ancient city of Carcosa to perfect his knowledge of this weird cult of half-living, half-dead control.”
Film Daily

Audience Suitability Ratings
“General patronage.”
Nat Legion of Decency My 21 ’36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
“The entertainment, while goofy, proved diverting, holding yesterday’s audience rapt, if not hypnotized. Mr. Jagger seemed miscast as the insidious villain, being much more in character as the young soldier with an inferiority complex when the story opens. He spoke his lines woefully, and has considerable to learn in the way of stage presence and ease before the cameras. More could be asked of the jerkly direction and even of the settings.”
Marguerite Tazelaar
— N Y Herald Tribune p16 Je 5 ’36

“It is only in the beginning that the Halperin brothers’ new treatise on the undead achieves any real intimation of horror. The picture deflate itself rather pitifully into a crudely pro duced and generally ridiculous melodrama.”
F. S. Nugent
— N Y Times p17 Je 5 ’36

“Although the Times Square motion picture sector hungers for blood and fury and needs a good spine-chiller, these wants are far from satisfied by ‘The Revolt of the Zombies,’ which is as unintelligent a botch as has been produced this season: stubby, spurious, stilted and ridiculous. The characters are as robot like as the living dead men who are at once the villains and the heroes and the speech is an outlandish conglomeration of stereotyped melodramatic phrases.”
William Boehnel
— N Y World-Telegram p13 Je 5 ’36

Trade Paper Reviews
“This is a weird tale of the Far East which should provide enough chills and thrills to sat ify not too particular audiences, .. Seems best fitted for down-town stands where it can be seen emotionally heightened. It is the sort of picture which calls for a new treatment.”
+ Film Curb p13 Je 13 ’36

“This production has the same general appeal as ‘White Zombie,’ also a Halperin produc ction. In this case, the scene is set in the Far East instead of the Isle of Haiti.”
Film Daily p8 Je 5 ’36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
MOTION PICTURE REVIEW DIGEST

113

"There is a wealth of exploitation material in this picture. The story has weird angles and situations in good proportion to the drama. It builds dramatically to an exciting conclusion."

+ Motion Pict Daily p8 Je 8 '36

"Reviewed at the Rialto Theatre, Times Square, where a lobby ballyhoo attracted crowds that impeded pedestrian traffic and filled the theatre to capacity. Audience reaction non-committal."

Motion Pict Herald p68 Je 13 '36

"It will probably react to intensive exploitation, particularly in the drop-in spots but has little to offer on its own with [Dorothy] Stone not yeable to carry the marquee shoppers. Hardly strength enough to move alone and will need good support to send them out happy."

— Variety p18 Je 19 '36

RHODES, THE DIAMOND MASTER. F 20 '36 35mm Gaumont British

Review: Oscar Homolka, Peggy Ashcroft, Walter Huston, Basil Sydney

Director: Berthold Viertel

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A and Y: excellent; C: mature but good."

Christian Century p97 My 8 '36

"The film moves slowly, at times seemingly weighted by its own importance, yet it is nonetheless impressive. A consistently excellent performance is given by Walter Huston, in the title role, 'Family.' — Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Excellent. Mature." DAR

"Family." Nat Bd of R

"Authentic scenes of Africa, a glimpse into the lives of the natives, fine photography and a gripping tale make this production noteworthy as entertainment and education. Family." Nat Council of Jewish Women

"The dialogue is elevated in tone, terse and revealing. Acting is of the highest order, voices are those of educated people and enunciation is superior. A sympathetic analysis of a greatly misunderstood man and a vivid reproduction of a period in British history filled with stirring events. A film long to be remembered by any audience." Nat Soc of New England Women

Fox W Coast Bul Ap 4 '36

"The director Berthold Viertel, continental in his technique, has given us a picture of tremendous force, outstanding in its entertainment value. Family." + + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Mr 21 '36

"A dignified, authentic and highly interesting picture, suitable for the family. Outstanding." + + Jt Estimates Ap 1 '36

"Certain adjustments are necessary for dramatic purposes, and certain inaccuracies almost inevitable for the same reason. The physical unlikeliness of Walter Huston to Rhodes will disturb some, though none will deny that he gives an extremely interesting and thought-provoking performance. The production is sincere and dignified and worthy of its theme. Suitability: family, children over 12."

+ Mo Film Bul p3 F 24 '36

"A fascinating biographical picture tells the story of the life of Cecil Rhodes."

Motion Pict & Family p2 Mr 15 '36

"Family (mature). Very good."

+ + Motion Pict Guide Je 36

"The picture presents undistorted facts and is a stimulating contribution to historical drama, well worth seeing. Adolescents, 12-16: fine; children, 8-12: mature."

+ + Motion Pict R Ap 36

"A: interesting; Y: high historical value; C: interesting as any Western."

Par M p64 Ap '36

"This picture, one of the most pretentious ever produced in England, is a very entertaining historical drama... The South African background is expertly delineated through beautiful photography... The direction is especially fine in the handling of native mobs and army troops, is excellent."

S. M. Mullen + Scholastic p23 My 2 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"[It] is a worthy effort. Slightly derivative, both in conception and in photography; it recalls the old American picture, "The Covered Wagon."... The film is a very intelligent entertainment."

— H. H. + Christian Science Monitor p10 Mr 31 '36

"This is a picture all Hollywood should see. For intellectual and dramatic excellence, it has been surpassed by anything we have made here. 'Rhodes' is one of England's important pictures... It reflects the rapid rise of English producers making in overcoming Hollywood's lead in the world's market. Time spent in its study will prove profitable to those who make our pictures. It is one of those rare pictures the most caustic critic will have to record as admirable... And for students of history it is a document of great value."

+ + Hollywood Spec p6 Mr 28 '36

"If the film was designed as a flagwaving boost of Empire, it must have sadly disappointed its promoters. Probably seventy per cent. of those that see it will come away with their sympathies firmly on the side of Kruger. The case for the Boers and the Matabele natives is put with great force, largely owing to Miles Malleson's excellent dialogue. The film is by no means technically flawless, but it will be an important discovery if producers now realize that the truth, even about Empire-building, can provide good scripts."

New Statesman & Nation p457 Mr 21 '36

"In its summation it is an expertly conceived while streams of the careful and terse snatcher. Here you will find little of the shrill imperialist Jingoesm the West Coast seems to find necessary at the slightest mention of the Union Jack." Robert Stobbs + New Theatre p33 Ap '36

"Rhodes of Africa" is a dull, but painstaking, piece of work. In this picture everyone has been so careful not to tread on each other's toes that the life blood has been drained from the characters, and what might have been a stirring affair looks like a page from Little Arthur's history. The trouble is that Cecil Rhodes that the truth, even about Empire-building, can provide good scripts."

— Mark Forrest + Sat R p146 Mr 28 '36

"Sober, worthy, humourless, 'Rhodes of Africa' underlines the virtues of the stage play and has all the technical advantages of 1936... Nobody concerned with the film has any passionate conviction whether for or against Rhodes and his work in Africa... A good film might have been made about it... Now as an Empire film it is too late... The pride of Je 15 '36 seems to have failed once too often."

— Graham Greene + Spec p575 Mr 27 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + — Mediocre; — Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
RHODES, THE DIAMOND MASTER—Cont.
"Characteristically slow in pace and sometimes confused in its imperialism, it is, however, an event in biographical cinema. Masterful dialogue and effective performances by Mr. Huston and Mr. Homolka counteract some hasty and not too ingenious telecoping toward the end. The whole, in other words, is not quite as good as its parts."
Stage p10 Ap '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"Rhodes," competently and impressively made, offers substantial entertainment of popular brand and looks like satisfactory merchandise for most American exhibitors. Biggest obstacle to surmount to make the readers' ring is lack of romance and woman interest.
+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 25 '36

RIÖ GRANDE ROMANCE. Mr 15 '36 60min Victory
Players: Eddie Nugent. Maxine Doyle. Lucille Lund
Director: Bob Hill
A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"General patronage."
Nat Legion of Decency Je 4 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"A well produced murder mystery melodrama... There are some crackerjack fights and all in all it will more than satisfy the lovers of action dramas."
+ Film Curb p13 My 9 '36

"As a fast-moving number, in which the G-Man is the man, this is the type of entertainment that should get over in the action houses. The picture... is nicely handled and developed, the suspense well built up and directed, and it moves quickly."
+ Film Daily p11 My 1 '36

ROAD TO GLORY. 95min 20th-century-Fox
Director: Howard Hawks
The story of a French regiment in the World War in which two officers fall in love with a nurse. When one goes blind after he learns that the nurse loves the other, he goes over the top to face death.

Audience Suitability Ratings
"Adults & young people."
Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 6 '36

"Written perhaps to emphasize the utter futility of the war. 'The Road to Glory' is a strangely indecisive film. Yet no one should come away from it with any sentimental flag-waving emotionality. The horror and uselessness of war are shown by the picture. As a social indictment it serves its purpose. It is a good but not a great film. Adolescents, 12-16: depends on individual; children, 8-12: too harrowing."
+ Motion Pict R Je '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews
"Quite an interesting study will the boxoffice career of this picture provide. It contains nearly all the boxoffice essentials: draw names, excellent direction, good performances, a production of sweep and power, photography of rare artistic quality, gripping drama and spine-tickling thrills. To offset these assets it has one liability: practically no story... The picture lacks the one thing which could have given it a more emotional appeal and made its story weakness less apparent—a continuous musical score. By all means see "The Road to Glory."
+ Hollywood Spec p10 Je 6 '36

Trade Paper Reviews
"A gripping story of love, hate and sacrifice, with an abundance of big names in the cast, this production won wide audience praise among the best in war pictures and is at the same time an eloquent plea for peace."
+ Box Office p3 Je 15 '36

"It is a question as to whether or not film fans are fed up on war melodramas. If your patrons do not care for such stories it might be just as well to pass this one up. Perhaps this may be a war picture to end war pictures."
+ Film Curb p10 Je 6 '36

"There is very little preaching, but the visualization of the horrors of war is full enough to get across the message. The piece attains the height of suspense and with material like this gripping, one at times is held spellbound. The subject is certainly a timely one and from the success of other pictures of this type this one should go over big at the box-office."
+ Film Daily p29 Je 2 '36

"While this is primarily concerned with the record of one French regiment in the World War, it also portrays vividly the personal story of several individuals, blending the whole into a drama of stark realism. With the current war interest to spur attention, this should show highly satisfactory returns."
+ Motion Pict Daily p7 Je 14 '36

"It is an arresting drama, neither glorifying war nor condemning it... Previewed in Grauman's Chinese Theatre. The force and impressiveness of the production held the audience continually in hushed and appreciative silence."
+ Motion Pict Herald p50 Je 6 '36

"Tackled by three male names that should draw, impression production, 'The Road to Glory' has everything to make it a potential box office candidate. What will it do? The production depends on how women are attracted. The picture takes no sides for peace or for war."
+ Variety (Hollywood) p5 My 29 '36

"With the names of Fredric March. Warner Baxter. Lionel Barrymore. Gregory Ratoff and others to blaze the way and a tragic but splendidly heroic drama of battle, love, sacrifice, consecration to noble cause, 'The Road to Glory' will take the box office by storm. There is no overt propaganda in the picture, for or against war. Drama treats the conflict objectively, with only the natural reflective ironies. Most considerately handled for local as well as world market are the battle scenes. German soldiers are shown in but one quick flash in all the detailed woe of the grand attack, and there is no savagery of hand-to-hand combat."
+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 25 '36

ROAMIN' WILD. (Release date not determined) 58min Reliable Players: Tom Tyler. Carol Wyndham. Al Ferguson
Director: Bernard B. Ray
A western melodrama.

Trade Paper Reviews
"A good, satisfactory, fast-action Western. Sure to please in all situations where outdoor dramas are liked. Photographed amid some..."
unusually attractive scenery, there is enough gun-play, chases, and hard-riding and fights to satisfy action-fan lookouts.

+ Film Curb p10 My 9 '36

"For the houses playing Westerns, this is satisfactory fare. Everything happens out-of-doors and the photography accentuates the natural backgrounds off beautifully. The story has enough material to hold one interested, and with the chases and gun-play, the action moves along well."

+ Film Daily p9 Ap 29 '36

"Estimate: good."

+ Philo Exhibitor p49 My 15 '36

ROAMING LADY
Ap 12 '36 60min Columbia
Players: Fay Wray. Ralph Bellamy. Thurston Hall

Director: Albert S. Rogell

Based on a short story of the same title by Diana Bourbon. "A dare-devil heroine pursues her flying instructor into a camp of Chinese bandits before she can persuade him that love is the barriers of wealth and position."
(Nat Legion of Decency)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A: elementary; Y: harmless; C: hardly."

Christian Century p550 Ap 8 '36

"A good picture for the family." Am Legion Auxiliary

+ Fox W Coast Bul My 9 '36

"Adults."

Nat Legion of Decency My 7 '36

"Seeking to combine fast action with interesting glimpses of China, the production is hampered by a commonplace story which often results in the unbelievable. The cast does its best but the result is hardly satisfactory." — + Sel Motion Pict My 1 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Typical fast-action fare spiced with considerable good comedy and a few of romantic interludes, the mixture resulting in a consistently entertaining programmer."

+ Box Office p6 Je 6 '36

"Rather an unbelievable story. Seems destined for the duals and perhaps it was made for them at that. There is a bit of excitement here and there, but for the most part it is trite, obvious stuff."

— + Film Curb p8 My 2 '36

"Fairly satisfying action story that should please in the neighborhood stands."

+ Film Daily p3 My 2 '36

"Fine screen treatment by Fred Niblo and Earle Snell — plus the well-paced, speedy direction of Al Rogell, lifts this none-too-novel story above the usual programmers turned out by Columbia."

+ Hollywood Reporter p3 My 7 '36

"An ineffectual story which seeks to combine romance and fast-moving action, scattered over a considerable portion of the globe, this picture emerges as routine, suitable chiefly for a double bill program. It has action and romance, but the basic theme is rather far-fetched, and in general the story is not worthy of the leaders of the cast."

+ Motion Pict Daily p4 Ap 23 '36

"Action drama that never gets beyond the program classification, 'Roaming Lady,' should serve in neighborhoods, on two bills."

+ N Y Exhibitor p22 My 10 '36

"Fay Wray and Ralph Bellamy are back together again in an adventure film that is not swamped with too many implausibilities. Picture is light enough to make enjoyable summer fare, and tops for first feature in dual set-up. In a word where the pair draw, it may stand alone."

+ Variety p19 My 6 '36

ROBIN HOOD OF EL DORADO
Ap 10 '36 60min MGM

Director: William Wellman

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A and Y; strong but unpleasant; C: by no means."

Christian Century p550 Ap 8 '36

"Mature."

Jt Estimates Mr 1 '36

"The film is brutal, exciting and moving in parts, but is uncertain in characterization. Murrieta and the excursions into sentiment are reasonable. The romantic and colorful episodes of California history are well selected, the scenery is beautiful and a certain quality of tragic destiny makes this an impressive picture. Adolescents, 12-16: mature: children, 8-12: no."

+ Motion Pict R Ap 36

"Family. Romantic and stirring and beautifully directed, as well as shedding a useful light on our history."

+ Nat Bd of R M Ap 36

"Reclassified on second review. Grounds for B: Classification—suggested rape, excessive cruelty. Objectionable in part."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 29 '36

"Good horsemanship and excellent rhythm, especially Margo's dancing, give it distinction. It is a strong melodrama, not to be selected for younger children or sensitive individuals."

+ Recreational p26 Ap 4 '36

"Mature."

Sel Motion Pict Ap 36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Robin Hood of El Dorado' is a tremendously handsome production. The action is melodramatically exciting—at times almost too exciting and too melodramatic for audience comfort. There is, for the average woman patron, anyhow, a bit too much brutality in the film." B. L.

+ Boston Transcript p4 My 16 '36

"It is a swashbuckling, somewhat overdue romantic melodrama, with Warner Baxter dragging out his broken English accent, which is pretty poor, but which everyone appears to love. Gorgeous photography of authentic scenery adds much to the pictorial angle and some native feasts, songs and dances enliven the whole."

Laura Elston

Canadian M p69 My '36

"Strictly for adults not easily upset by spectaculars of violence."

High Christian Science Monitor p14 My 16 '36

"It would seem that Murrieta was an unfortunate choice as a hero for a motion picture story. 'Robin Hood of El Dorado' is a ponderous production which strives mightily to justify his pillaging, but he remains throughout just a bandit whose only motive is revenge.

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; +— Fair; +— Mediocre; — Poor; —— Exceptionally Poor
ROBIN HOOD OF EL DORADO—Continued

He benefited one outside of the band of his cutthroat followers. . . Metro has given the picture a production of sweep and vigor, making it a great outdoor epic in which the camera plays the leading part, but it remains an unsatisfactory piece of screen entertainment.

Hollywood Spec p7 Mr 28 '36

"There is fine material in the true study of a Mexican driven by the brutality of the white settlers in early California into banditry. But this is not a true story, the real tragedy of the situation being treated as so much background (overdrawn at that) for a thriller. It is colorful, and with some really smaller action." Otis Ferguson

+ — New Repub p222 Ap 1 '36

"This might have been a rollicking film—and there is nothing the films do so well as roll. But it turns out to be one of those comparatively rare motion-pictures that are wholly imbecile."

— New Statesman & Nation p560 My 30 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Impressive, colorful and picturesque screen version of the book by Walter Noble Burns, ably produced and starring Deanna Durbin with banditry, murder and miscarried justice, it reaches an apex in heavy drama. Adults."

+ — New Repub p27 Mr 28 '36

"Of special interest to Californians, and a sure fire box office [hit]." L. S. Niemeyer

Canadian Moving Pict Digest p7 Mr 28 '36

"Melodramatic, with a good characterization by Warner Baxter, it seems much too strong for women, will probably have its grosses affected because of it. Metro will like it. It possesses strong selling angles for them, but the net result will probably depend on the woman."

N Y Exhibitor p30 Mr 25 '36

ROGUE OF THE RANGE. (Release date not determined) 58min Supreme

Players: Johnny Mack Brown, Lois January, Allis Chils, Phyllis Hume

Director: S. Roy Luby

A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"[It is] a rather dull Western. General patronage."

— Nat Legion of Decency Je 4 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Typical of the general run of outdoor melodramas. It has its share of gun-play, fast action, fights, chases, jail breaks and hold-ups. Satisfactory material for dual bills in the smaller cities and okay for theatres where such films are liked."

+ — Film Curb p14 My 16 '36

"Suspended couple with fast action makes this Western a good number for houses showing this type of fare. Although the plot follows conventional lines, its development is logical and S. Roy Luby's direction gives the piece an air of mystery that causes interest to be maintained throughout."

+ — Film Daily p12 My 12 '36

"Estimates: good."

Phila Exhibitor p27 Je 1 '36

"Aimed directly at the subsequent run trade and spots where action pictures have a following, this production will fill the bill satisfactorily. . . Story by Earle Snell doesn't ring true in all spots, although some portions of it are okay. S. Roy Luby's direction follows the accepted style for Western thrillers but will have to be speeded up in a few spots for best results. This tells about an incident during the reign of Franz Josef, when young Count Ferdinand Tettenbach, an officer in his majesty's army, visits Munich and falls in love with a confectioner's daughter."

(N Y Herald Tribune)

+ Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 9 '36

ROYAL WALTZ. Ap 9 '36 75min USA

Players: Josef Hoebiger, Willi Forst, Heli Einkenzeller

Director: Herbert Malish

Music: Franz Doelle

A German dialogue film with English subtitles, customarily about an incident during the early years of the film. The musical score is pleasant, and the acting capable."

Marguerite Taselmaer

— N Y Herald Tribune p12 Ap 10 '36

"A happy picture of the easy-going court life in Munich in the reign of the popular King Max. The Royal Waltz moves smoothly to its predestined happy ending, sure of winning the approval of audiences of all-staged period screen efforts. A few slight historical slips may be overlooked, as they are harmless."

H. T. S.

— N Y Times p27 Ap 10 '36

"Although the tale is more sprightly than the way they tell it in 'The Royal Waltz,' the new German operetta is an extremely tuneful, elaborately scored, generally safe family entertainment. . . The whole thing has a nice, finished quality about it, and were it not for the sluggish direction might have resulted in a really first rate film. As it is, it has enough in it to recommend as pleasant film fare."

William Etchel

— N Y World-Telegram p25 Ap 14 '36

"'The Royal Waltz,' [has] prettiness and terrible English captions. John Mosher

New Yorker p90 Ap 15 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"[It has] fine acting and direction."

+ — Film Daily p8 Ap 11 '36

"Done in a light fashion, it is on the whole enjoyable entertainment . . . even for those lacking a knowledge of the language."

+ — Film Daily p12 My 12 '36

"Reviewed at the Fifty-fifth Street Playhouse, New York. Audience reaction: favorable."

+ — Motion Pict Herald p40 Ap 25 '36

"Weaving through this operetta is a fine, feathery touch that easily fetches and holds the attention and accounts for an exceptionally pleasant 85 minutes of entertainment. Players play their parts with a keen sympathy for the mood of the piece. . . As far as the English titles are concerned, the translator proves to be anything but a stickler for pro-priateness."

+ — Variety p23 Ap 15 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + — Fair; + + Mediocre; — Poor; — — Exceptionally Poor
LE SCARPE AL SOLE. See Alpine love

SCOTLAND YARD MYSTERY. Mr 15 '36 63min Alliance
Director: Thomas Bentley
Based on a play of the same title by Wallace George. "The directors of a large insurance company are troubled over a visible sudden but presumably natural deaths, so they call in Inspector Stanton of Scotland Yard to investigate the problem." (N Y World-Telegram)

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"This film does maintain a brisk pace. Something is always happening. It may be something silly. Too often it is. It is dramatic, anyway, and lively, adjectives that can seldom be applied to more pretentious English entertainment. . . . "The Scotland Yard Mystery" is not a picture to call for shouts even from the zone box. Technically, especially as to photography, it is below almost any standard. Perhaps it was here in America that the skillful job of editing was done which gives the film some slight claim to excitement." — Eileen Creelman

N Y Sun p30 Mr 15 '36
"Gerard Du Maurier really should have known better, after all his years in the theatre, than to have accepted the role of Inspector Stanton in "Scotland Yard Mystery," the new British picture which is puzzling all the kindergarten pupils in the globe's audience this week. The picture trades easily-to-the-dénouement and, when it reaches it (to comment on Irishism) there is none. The cast is infinitely above its material, and we still feel that the real mystery for Scotland Yard to solve is why the players permitted themselves to be treated that way." — F. S. Nugent

N Y Times p21 Mr 15 '36
"A generally feeble time-waster, the film's cast includes such well-known actors as Gerald Du Maurier and George Curzon, who were seen here earlier in the season in the stage production of the same name. They do it dully nobly, but their efforts are of no avail for "The Scotland Yard Mystery" is so destitute of originality that it outguns their noble efforts." — William Boehm

N Y World-Telegram p25 Mr 17 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"This melodramatic importation from England doesn't hold a bid for important American patronage. It's weak in all three of the prime phases of a picture—production, story and acting. For the duelers at best." — Variety p29 Mr 15 '36

SECRET AGENT. 55min Gaumont British Players: Peter Lorre. Madeleine Carroll. Robert Young
Director: Alfred Hitchcock
Based on the play of the same title by Campbell Dixon, which in turn was based on the novel of the same name by John Buchan. "The film opens with people filing past the coffin—while. When their government servant removes the coffin, and we realize that his master is supposed to be dead in order that the great man may undertake a secret mission to Switzerland. As Ashenden he therefore arrives in Geneva, where he finds that, in order to complete his disguise, a woman has been appointed to pose as his wife." (Manchester Guardian)

Audience Suitability Ratings

"There is considerable dialogue and the tempo of the film throughout is abnormally slow—by necessity—so as to make the sensational element more exciting by contrast—with the result that, until one knows just how the plot is going to develop, the story shows a visible tendency to drag: the artificially facetious interchanges between the characters are not exactly a help. The skowness does, however, create a novel intimacy of atmosphere, which is increased by very skillful photography. The ending is brief and not very satisfactory, and—quite apart from a certain general insufficiency of explanation—there are one or two distinct loose ends in the plot. There is, incidentally, one scene—where a man is found murdered in a church—which might conceivably be found objectionable by certain religious bodies. There is much to be said for the technical quality and finish of the film. The problem of the puzzling indeterminacy of outcome which pervades it makes it less than a complete whole. Suitable for adult & adolescents." — Mo Film Bul p33 My '36

"Objection: a highly unwholesome character portrayed by Peter Lorre. Suspect incidents and Objection: the director." — Nat Legion of Decency Je 18 '36

"Spy story of the World War, interesting in its kind, well acted and directed, but somewhat vague in spots. Mature." — Wkly Guide Je 13 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"It is the action which counts in 'Secret Agent,' and this Hitchcock has controlled so skillfully as to make most other spy films look silly, and seem much too slow." — R. H. + Manchester Guardian p13 My 11 '36

"Alfred Hitchcock long-awaited 'Secret Agent' is a disappointment. The situation is still unsettled at the end. . . All the elements for an excellent spy film are there, including the dazzling cast—Peter Lorre, Madeleine Carroll, Paul Lukas and John Gielgud; but the pace of the narrative is desperate, has no climax and the incontinent use of noise to emphasize emotion or situation, though it is in some cases effective, tends to become a substitute for emotion or situation itself." — Robert Giroux

Nation p21 Je 21 '36

"It is quite as good as the average American film. Yes, but why is it not as good as the best American films? To begin with, Mr. Maugham's Ashenden has been improved almost out of recognition. The dialogue is lame, the jokes pitiful. . . A lot of trouble has been taken with this film—it needed also a little thought; or the same producer, the same actors, with a good script and someone to keep an eye on details, could have produced a first-class entertainment." + — New Statesman & Nation p764 My 16 '36

"It is a credible, handsome and frequently exciting film. The pace may prove a bit deliberate for audiences accustomed to high-pressure violence and suspense, and there are romantic overtones that might irritate the spectator, but the production has definite distinction. The sound reproduction in 'Secret Agent' is far from perfect, as the first American release of some films is. The on-the-ball accent, though American, is quite acceptable, it causes some of the dialogue to be quite unintelligible. The production is in no sense the equal of 'The Man With Too Much,' or 'The Thirty-Nine Steps,' but it is still a highly entertaining melodrama." — Howard Barnes

N Y Herald Tribune p10 Je 13 '36

+ + Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; + + Exceptionally Poor
SECRET AGENT — Continued

"When that cheerful, rotund Englishman, Alfred Hitchcock, set out to make a melodrama, he can—and he does—make most of the Hollywood thrillers look like placid bed-time stories. For Hitchcock has another top-notch melodrama to his credit. 'Secret Agent' is grand entertainment for summer, winter or any other season of the year." — Eileen Creelman

"It is a defect of the screen narrative that all the spics seem to be continually engaged in melodramatic shadow boxing and that the authors, who couldn't have been Mr. Maugham, never really make out a case for the necessity of spying and never convince you that there is anything in Geneva worth spying on. But there are scattered high-lights. Peter Lorre, for example, plays one of the most amusing and somehow one of the most wistfully appealing trigger men since Victor Moore. . . . The picture as a whole is marred by inexpert camera technique, film editing whose incorrectness hits one between the eyes, and stock photography which, at one point, simply causes the screen to go dead." — B. R. C.

"Although the film lacks the pace and the excitement of the original, it is still a superior production. '39 Steps,' or 'The Man Who Knew Too Much,' is a facile contrivance which represents Mr. Hitchcock's art. His right to these ingenious manuevers . . . Mr. Hitchcock's sure manipulation of character and incident is calculated to give you plenty of thrills and nothing at times horrifying entertainment. The acting, as already indicated, is of unusual excellence."

William Bonell

"Although directed by Alfred ('The 39 Steps') Hitchcock, 'The 39 Steps' was a first-rate English thriller, you may know, and the bright, quick, fresh 'touch that made it good isn't lacking here. Obviously Mr. Gielgud will, in due time enjoy the honors of a cinema career. . . . He does this pleasant melodramatic role with all the ease in the world, and looks exactly as all those young sports from Kansas City, Chicago and St. Louis would buy their clothes at Pooler's would give their lives to look." — John Mosher

"'Secret Agent' been in the hands of any one of half a dozen other British directors, one would perhaps have been satisfied with what is certainly a workmanlike job. But Mr. Hitchcock is blessed with a cinematic imagination that is generally in advance of his fellows, and one therefore expects something a little more than good workmanship. There is one admirable performance, that of Peter Lorre as the harmless Mr. Hitchcock has done well at blending the tale's grim theme with deftly fashioned humor, appropriate romantic interplay and some swell outdoor photography. Despite the defects, it has what it takes to fare well at the box office." — Mark Forrest

"It is a great pity; a pity because of the immense wasted talent of Mr. Peter Lorre, and because Mr. Hitchcock too has talent. How unfortunate it is, for instance, if Mr. Hitchcock, a clever director, is allowed to produce and even to write for the stage, though as a producer he has no sense of continuity and as a writer he has no sense of life. . . . Very perfunctorily he took up tricky situations and then drops them. As for Mr. Maugham's Ashenden, on which this film is said to be based, it is left off, is left off, is left off, is left off, is left off. . . ."

"'Secret Agent' introduces to U. S. cinema audiences who should, please them highly: Operative Section of the British Intelligence Service, whose activities have been recorded for us successfully by author Somerset Maugham. . . . In contrast with the other side of the coin, this film is a first-rate example of Hitchcock, 'Secret Agent' is a first-rate example of Hitchcock's talent."

+ N Y Sun p8 Je 13 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Just about the tops in the war spy field, with an intelligent plot that keeps twisting and turning toward suspense and shock surprises all the way. . . . Recommended highly for thrills and intelligent handling of melodramatic situations."

+ Film Daily p4 Je 13 '36

"With the exception of the last twenty feet, this looks like a box office natural equal to the better and better 'Nine Steps.' It is typical Hitchcock direction. There is a certain hit the mark again, though the ending is terrible enough to be cut without by fact that Maugham was the author of the original novel, and the pull which lies in the nature of the story."

+ Hollywood Reporter p6 My 18 '36

"This story of espionage during the world war combines mystery, romance and action in what is for most part an intriguing film. . . . For the exhibitor in the United States there are three leading cast names which to a certain extent can simplify the job of selling, which is further aided by the fact that Maugham was the author of the original novel, and the pull which lies in the nature of the story." — Motion Pict Daily p14 My 15 '36

"There is no glorification of patriotic duty and no showing of flags. Implication, if any, is to the effect that war is a deplorable institution, a circumstance suggesting a possibility of recruiting exploitation cooperation of organizations active in behalf of peace."

+ Motion Pict Herald p44 My 23 '36

"Well played, it ought to interest anywhere."

+ Phila Exhibitor p22 Je 1 '36

"'Secret Agent' dawdles much on the way and does lots of looping to get over a dramatic point, but withal it rates as good spy entertainment, suave story telling, and, in one particular case, brilliant characterization. . . . Director Alfred Hitchcock has done well at blending the tale's grim theme with deftly fashioned humor, appropriate romantic interplay and some swell outdoor photography. Despite the defects, it has what it takes to fare well at the box office."

+ Variety p23 Je 17 '36

SECRET PATROL. My 22 '36 55min Columbia

Players: Charles Starrett. Finis Barton. J. P. McGowan

Director: David Selman

A melodrama of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Family." — Nat Bd of R M Je 36

"Adults & young people." — Sel Motion Pic Je 1 '36

"Family." — Wkyly Guide My 23 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; — Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; --- Exceptionally Poor
Trade Paper Reviews

"All those fans who enjoy this sort of film fare will have nothing to complain about in this one."

+ Film Curb p7 My 30 '36

"Following pretty much in the familiar grooves of its type of outdoor melodrama, this is a moderately entertaining secondary attraction." - + Film Daily p15 Je 3 '36

"Action fare set in the Northwest and concerning the activities of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, this picture should be satisfactory entertainment on a dual program or on the week-end bill when action is the requirement."

+ Motion Pict Daily p12 My 22 '36

"Estimate: fair Mountie stuff." - + Phila Exhibitor p22 Je 1 '36

SEVEN BRAVE MEN. Je 11 '36 Amkino
Players: N. Bogolybov, T. Makarova. I. Nosovetsiev
Director: S. Gerasimov
Russian dialogue film made in U.S.S.R. with English sub-titles. "The story describes the adventures of seven men and a woman doctor who pass the winter at the Bay of Happiness in the Arctic, where 275 days of the year are cold and snowy. A geologist, a metallurgist, a radio operator, an air pilot and inventor of an air sled are in the group besides the physician and a boy stowaway, who is put to work as cook."

(N Y Herald Tribune)

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"[It is] a fair-to-middling Soviet picture.....The photography, taken under difficult, outdoor conditions, has a rugged distinction, but if you dislike propaganda, even when sugar-coated and in a dialectically good cause, 'Seven Brave Men' is not the picture for you." - E. B. C. The New Times p24 Je 15 '36

"Expert characterizations, finished performance by a cast of excellent actors and some rugged outdoor photography.....save that melodramatic hordes of polar exploration from being second rate. A halting and muddled story of bravery under trying conditions in the Arctic wastes, it loiters vaguely through a long hour, promising frequently to stir itself out of the doldrums. However, it never quite succeeds in doing so." - William Boehle

+ - N Y World-Telegram p21 Je 16 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"It is lifted somewhat out of the average plane of propaganda by the impression from the Soviet state-controlled industry, in that it is characterized by some excellent photography and occasional drama. It is neither less of propaganda for Russia than most of the importations from that country."

Motion Pict Daily p21 Je 16 '36

SHOWBOAT. My 1 '36 115min Universal Players: Irene Dunne, Helen Morgan, Paul Robeson, Allan Jones, Charles Winninger, Donald Cook
Director: James Whale
Based on the novel and musical comedy of the same title by Edna Ferber and the musical comedy by Oscar Hammerstein, II. Romantic story of a showboat player who makes her way up the river of success after her husband deserts her, her child is taken away and she finds herself in dire poverty.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Don't miss the second film made from Edna Ferber's one-time best-seller because you fear the two pictures may be alike. They are not. The second 'Show Boat' is far superior to the first."

+ + Bks & Films Je 3 '36

"A and Y: excellent; C: very good."

Christian Century p753 Je 3 '36

"Excellent. [It is a] smash-hit photo production. Mature—family."

+ + Fox W Coast Bul My 16 '36

"Notable in the expert direction is the care given the plot detail and the use made of every dramatic possibility. Outstanding in quality and in entertainment value. Family."

E Coast Harness Digest p17 My 15 '36

+ + Fox W Coast Bul My 23 '36

"A picture we should not miss. Family."

+ + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 15 '36

"It is a pretentiously mounted series of episodes, each of which is a complete dramatic unit, highlighted with excellent music.....The most consistent characterization is that of Charles Winninger as Cap'n Andy Hawks of the 'Show Boat.' He brings us the true spirit of the period's original."

+ Motion Pict & Family p6 My 15 '36

"The whole is a skillful blending of drama and music, of excitement nicely balanced with sentiment.....Adolescents, 12-16; yes; children, 8-12; yes."

+ Motion Pict R My '36

"Family—outstanding."

+ + Nat Bd of R M Je 3 '36

"Superbly acted, beautifully photographed and magnificently directed 'Showboat' again makes its appearance on the screen with three new songs sung and the plot somewhat changed. Family."

+ Nat Council of Jewish Women My 13 '36

"Adults."

+ Nat Legion of Decency My 21 '36

"Outstanding—family."

+ + Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

"Family. Outstanding."

+ Wkly Guide My 9 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"This memorable story of the Mississippi River and of early Chicago days gives promise of being one of the most important pictures to come out of the Soviet state-controlled industry, in that it is characterized by some excellent photography and occasional drama. It is neither less of propaganda for Russia than most of the importations from that country."

Motion Pict Daily p21 Je 16 '36

"[It] incorporates all of the melodic spirit of music, good story and character that Miss Ferber's novel inspired, in the predecessors on stage, screen and radio, recreating the glamour of one of America's best-known earlier institutions: the river showboat. Intelligent direction molds all forces, and settings and locales are highly interesting."

"J. P. Cunningham

+ + Commonweal p48 My 8 '36
SHOWBOAT—Continued

"Showboat" is an extraordinarily effective production, musically entertaining, dramatically unpretentiously beautiful. The story is a human one that will run its fingers, not too roughly, over the emotional strings of the beholder. The production is not just "Showboat" done over again. It is a new Showboat, one you never saw before, one only the words present with so much sweep, vigor and estimable appeal. From a cinematographic point of view it is an interesting study. Its primary elements are a story and music, and so adroitly are they mixed we do not notice them when our attention is engaged with the other.

† + Hollywood Spec p7 My 9 '36

"Even those who know every twist of the Edna Ferber story should succumb once more to its nostalgic charm. Showboat is enthusiastically recommended as a beautifully photographed tale, as entertaining as the day it was first staged." (4 stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p14 Je 13 '36

"All Hollywood was amazed when James Whale, a Briton, was assigned to direct 'Showboat.' Its amazement will be renewed in another direction when the photoplay is released this fall. The film has been and bred in the Southern showboat country. Unless there is public resentment over the art film, the picture should have no trouble in fetching the tears boiling in the eyes, 'Showboat' should be one of the most satisfying films of this year."

† + Lit Digest p20 My 9 '36

Reviewed by Mark Van Doren National p154 Je 10 '36

"'Showboat,' one of the sturdiest and most captivating shows of our day, has been shaped to the topnotch, spectacles, and a charming screen musical. It might have benefited by judicious cutting in the passages that carry the narrative through the turn of the century and down to the last decade. Outside of a few lagging interludes a bit top-heavy with exposition, it is a stunning entertainment." Howard Barnes + + N Y Herald Tribune p19 My 15 '36

"This is the third version of Edna Ferber's popular story; right at the moment it seems by far the best. All as it should be, at the operatic, the sentimental, as comic, as gay and as touching as ever. And it is even more melodious. 'Showboat' is that, over and above, what the year may offer, one of the season's finest productions. No one can make much of it by seeing Helen Morgan sing 'Can't Help Lovin' That Man of Mine' and 'My Bill.'" Elsie Crystal + + N Y Sun p29 My 15 '36

"Universal's excellent screen transcription, preserving the Jerome Kern score and Oscar Hammerstein's book and lyrics, is the pleasantest kind of proof that it was not merely one of the best musical shows of the century but that it contained the gossamer stuff for one of the finest musical films we have seen... Here is one of the few musical shows which is not merely a screened concert. That is to say, it is not a rhythmic pace and a balanced continuity of movement which is as exceptional as it is welcome. Universal is to be congratulated this year, and so are we, for 'Showboat' is in port again and we hope it finds safe harbor." F. S. Nugent + + N Y Times p29 My 15 '36

"Universal has done right by our great American classic—'Showboat.' It moves across the screen—a grand pageant of song, sentiment, action, as it should. It is the finest piece of filmic folk-lore since 'Cimarron.' It is an admirable picture and a delight to commend it when James Whale, a Briton, has done a beautiful job of direction and the cast responds to him with a perfection that at times is almost dizzying. It is probably a lot of Paul Robeson's superb singing of 'Old Man River.'... The film is excellent entertainment." Douglas Gilbert + + N Y World Telegram p27 My 15 '36

"[Showboat] has been magnificently handled. Never have I seen a musical show so satisfactorily and intelligently adapted. And, I am sure, the Negro actor who sings—James Whale, whose name belongs to the history of the screen." John Moorer + + New Yorker p57 My 25 '36

"It suffers mostly by comparison with the Ziegfeld productions and points out the screen's limitations when approaching this type of film. The musical numbers are admirable—yes, but the Robeson's warm voice records the melancholy 'Of My River' more tellingly than any other picture, the Negro actor has been badly photographed—almost beyond recognition. Most of the film deserves praise; Robert cutting would have brought it closer to perfection. Too abrupt transition from scene into song makes for jerkiness. The new ending, sloppy from many angles, including the sentimental, should be sheared." + + News-Wk p41 My 16 '36

"As a spectacular motion picture, 'Showboat' is deficient in many departments: background and atmosphere never dominate as they should. No life is brought to the story as a whole; the dramatic climax is weak; many of the musical numbers are amusing, but the photography, which is nonexistent, lacks continuity, action, rhythm and pace. Some of the performances are excellent, within the limits of the material, but the picture is only one that no one could fail to be thrilled by the musical portions of 'Showboat.'" R. S. Ames Script 5 My 16 '36

"No tremendous effort has been expended in effecting a realistic background, but this is unimportant in a film that reproduces the memorable events of the film's original material. The 'Man River' sequence is musically and photographically as excellent as anything yet accomplished on the sound screen. It is woven majestically into a film which interminably extolls and moves and amuses." Stage p10 Je 1 '36

"'Showboat' which takes nearly two hours to unroll, is well worth the care which Producer Carl Laemmle Jr. bestowed upon it as his final picture before leaving Universal. Handsomely directed by James Whale, magnificently photographed by Shamoy, it brings to the screen what has become a U. S. institution." Trade p87 My 18 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Loaded to the gunwales with tales of Triple X entertainment, this picture carries no sure-fire insurance policy for record-setting grosses. Family." + Box Office p25 My 9 '36

"Not for a long, long time have I heard an audience applaud in the middle of a picture, nor have I heard such applause at the end of a picture, as was evident at the screening of 'Showboat.' It is not a musical comedy. It is a picture that has everything that one could want in the way of entertainment. Mark this down on your booking sheet as a 'must.'" + + Canadian Moving Pict Digest p7 Je 13 '36

"Grand entertainment from every standpoint. Certain to be a clean-up at the box office. Universal has done a magnificently commendable job in producing this screen version of the stage hit. To sum it all up this is top notch film fare. The screen has already lost one of its sexes and in any walk of life. It ought to break records in many a theatre." + + Film Daily p93 My 13 '36

"Entertainment like this can't possibly be helped but play to smash box-office returns. Most of the outstanding material of the stage success has been kept and a lot of new material has been added. There is a different ending, a changed plot in part and the addition of some very worthy song numbers."

Film Daily p6 Ap 30 '36

"Majestic in scope of production and unlimited in audience appeal, 'Show Boat' will have smooth sailing as a world's box office attraction. The picture's greatness is due to the triumph, 'Old Man River,' [is] superbly and stirringly rendered by Paul Robeson. The staging of the number is very effective photographically. Finally there is 'Can't Help Loving That Man of Mine,' sold by Helen Morgan only she can sell it." + Hollywood Reporter p3 Ap 27 '36

"Its music, particularly Paul Robeson's singing of 'Old Man River,' was received by a preview audience with thunderous applause and actually is an artistic masterpiece. . . As the picture was shown here, and accepting a preview audience's reactions as a gauge, everyone associated with the production will share in the credit of participating in what is probably the most important Universal production in years. . . A show that will grip the imagination and save the audience is 'Showboat'." + Motion Pict Daily p10 Ap 14 '36

"Anyone fortunate enough to have 'Showboat' on its start will be shouting about it right now. Enthusiasm need not be stinted in heralding the picture's entertainment worth. True, it is a very long time, and will not let anyone down. 'Showboat' is first a musical drama. Its music, no matter in what form, is a unique phenomenon. 'Showboat' is an integral part of the story and sung thereas by Irene Dunne, Allan Jones and Helen Morgan, it is beautiful in the way it accents the motiving spirit." + Motion Pict Herald p53 My 9 '36

"'Showboat,' Universal's second talkerized version, is a smash film-musical. A cinch for big grosses, from the delugers down. Coming at this time, when there is no kind of audience, 'Showboat' will be money at anybody's box office. In lavishness, in action, in authenticity, it is a picture that shouldn't lack for word-of-mouth selling." + Phila Exhibitor p47 My 15 '36

"'Showboat,' Universal's second talkerized version, is a smash film-musical. A cinch for big grosses, from the delugers down. Coming at this time, when there is no kind of audience, 'Showboat' will be money at anybody's box office. In lavishness, in action, in authenticity, it is a picture that shouldn't lack for word-of-mouth selling." + Phila Exhibitor p47 My 15 '36

"As important today as entertainment as it was when Ziegfeld produced it a decade ago, 'Show Boat' is a money picture. Impressive in cast and production, theatres should have no trouble selling it. 'Old Man River,' sung by Paul Robeson is the best piece of musical reproduction yet done in pictures. The resonant baritone voice of Robeson brought cheers from the preview mob, should repeat this everywhere. Doubtful if the number has ever been sung so well as it is in this picture." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Ap 27 '36

SILLY BILLIES. Mr 20 '36 65min RKO

Players: Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey, Dorothy Lee, Harry Woods

Director: Fred Guiol

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film

Audience Suitability Ratings

A: absurd; Y: poor; C: doubtful value,

Christian Century p616 Ap 29 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; ++ Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; --- Exceptionally Poor

SINCE THE COWARD. Mr 11 '36 63min Republic

Players: Gene Autry, Dale Bullette, Lois Wilde, Lon Chaney, Jr.

Director: Mack Wright

A western melodrama.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"Striking photography of beautiful scenery, fine riding and a thrilling rescue of a girl from..."
SINGING COWBOY—Continued

The picture suffers from poor singing and stilted acting and a somewhat loosely constructed plot. 'Family.' E Coast Preview Committee.

Fox W Coast Bull Je 6 '36

"A rather ordinary production. General patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency My 28 '36

"Family.

Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

'This has been well made and contains plenty of thrills and excitement... 'The Singing Cowboy' should have no difficulty in pleasing wherever this type of film is in favor."

Film Curb p12 My 16 '36

"Gene Autry, Smiley Burnette and gang get together for a superior Western in which there is no lack of action but careful pacing of it."

Film Daily p11 My 13 '36

"A pleasant mixture of drama, romance, villainy and song in measured quantities. Make this an appealing Western for the Gene Autry, radio fans and the theatre-seat cowboys."

Motion Pict Daily p8 My 12 '36

"Gene Autry's singing of western ballads, with which this picture opens and closes and to which approximately half of the screening time is given over in between, is its dominant exploitation factor. Another unusual angle consists of the presentation of television as a realized, commercially practiced and generally accepted medium for the dissemination of entertainment and advertising sales copy."

Motion Pict Herald p32 My 15 '36

"Family Western. Strong on song, this has action, romance. Estimate: good."

Phil Exhibitor p1 My 15 '36

SINGING KID. Ap 11 '36 85min Warner

Players: Al Jolson, Beverley Roberts, Sybil Jason, Edward Everett Horton, Allen Jenkins, Cab Calloway, Yacht Club Boys

Director: William Keighley

See issue of March 30, 1936 for other reviews of this film.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"The picture is packed with clean, wholesome fun, good music and dancing. The ensembles make harmonious pictures instead of being the muddled affairs, created to startle rather than to please that prevail in so many spectacle films."

S & Films My '36

"A: depends on taste; Y: probably good; C: little value."

Christian Century p47 Ap 29 '36

"Family." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Family & Junior matinee." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"A most entertaining elaborate and pretentious production. 'Family.' Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast)

"Al Jolson heads a notable cast in this musical revue. Mature. Good." Nat Fed of Business and Professional Women's Clubs

"Family." Nat Soc of New England Women

"Family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

Fox W Coast Bull Mr 28 '36

"Clever direction, sparkling music, rhythm, and pep make this picture most entertaining. Family."

Jt Estimates Mr 15 '36

"Suitability: adults & adolescents."

Mo Film Bull p88 My '36

"In a loose-jointed, noisy production, Al Jolson reviews his old successes and offers a few new songs which are below past standards. The most spectacular as to setting, 'Save Me, Sister,' is dull and in double act. Many of the jokes are so hoary that they could be eliminated without regret... Al Jolson's personality will compensate his admirers for weak points in the film. Others should skip it. Adolescents, 12-15: harmless if it entertains; children, 8-12: tiresome."

+ Motion Pict R Ap '36

"Family."

Nat Bd of R M Ap '36

"Family."

Nat Council of Jewish Women Mr 18 '36

"General patronage."

Nat Legion of Decency Mr 29 '36

"A, Y and C: popular type of musical drama."

Film Daily Je 26 '36

"This is one of Al Jolson's best pictures."

S. M. Mullen

+ Scholastic p28 My 2 '36

"Family."

Sel Motion Pict Ap '36

"Family."

Wkly Guide Mr 28 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Jolson suffers from excessive nobility of character and, intermittently, a nervous alliment that causes him to lose his voice. Consequently he doesn't sing as much as usual and is not as buoyant... The picture lacks humor and drags out mudyly sags. The outstanding song, 'I Love to Singa,' though effective on first hearing, is plugged too much. Edward Everett Horton and Allen Jenkins have little to work with and have to depend on sheer personality. Little Miss Jason, though natural enough, is unfortunately a very plain child. Nor is Miss Roberts particularly glamorous."

M. E. P.

+ Boston Transcript p4 Ap 11 '36

"Possibly this latest Al Jolson vehicle will turn out to be his best movie effort to date. It has plenty of the glorified show girls, some back stage atmosphere, not too strong a story, but enough to sustain interest." Laura Eiston

+ Canadian M p60 My '36

"The Singing Kid' [is] one of the best bits of entertainment of the sort I ever saw... [It] is a picture you should see if you are looking for clean, decent, clever and lively entertainment which does not endeavor to interest you in the working out of domestic and social problems. The picture was designed to amuse you, and you will find it achieves its purpose."

+ Hollywood Spec p8 Mr 28 '36

"Few American entertainers have stayed at the top of their field as long as mammy-loving Al Jolson. And his latest picture, 'The Singing Kid,' finds him doing, with undiminished energy, the same things he has done in all his other shows... Louder than it is funny and more full of gross sloppiness than it is gross humor. 'The Singing Kid' is a nervous, tenseful trip through Warners' special Broadway. (2½ stars) Beverly Hills

Liberty p57 Ap 25 '36

"Al Jolson's new musical photo-play, a Warner production, is for those who like Jolson, music, and back-stage bits. Al Jolson, plus burnt cork and eight bars of music, is an evening's entertainment to many moviegoers. They will like 'The Singing Kid.' It is the best of the last three Jolson pictures."

+ N Y Daily News

"A good semi-musical in which the burden of entertainment has been wisely shifted from the aging shoulders of Al Jolson. He still sings with his usual indifference to pitch and poor quality that won him the epithet the 'golden-voiced Jolson.' In fact, he's more out of tune than usual this time. There is a few complaint. But singing aside, he manages to be really amusing. It is Jolson's best number. William Keighley's direction of this scene reaches a high-water mark in the medium.

"[It is] a routine, familiar and surprisingly common-place musical comedy picture. It is the work of that remarkable quartet known as the Yacht Club Boys, who sing topical songs in an incomparable style of their own that contributes the chief gayety to the occasion. Unfortunately, they are given but two numbers. It would have been advisable to have omitted some of the narrative and, I am heretic enough to add, a few of Mr. Jolson's own precious moments in the interest of providing the Yacht Club Boys with another song or two. Richard Watts, Jr.

+ N Y Herald Tribune p8 Ap 6 '36

"Mr. Jolson as usual puts on a good show, whatever his material. He has nothing original to offer songs. As a singer, the story briskly told and the Jokes, however familiar, related with the Jolson gift for comedy that is not. This time, however, it does prove that Al Jolson, as Eddie Cantor remarked at the Strand premiere, is still one of the world's greatest entertainers." Eileen Creelman

+ N Y Sun p21 Ap 6 '36

"Equipped with the usual production numbers, not so splendid as Joe Millers, an incredible love story and a hackneyed backstage formula, the new picture is one of the least entertaining of the Jolson series. Among its slender store of assets may be numbered Mr. Jolson himself, singing as exuberantly as ever and trying with might and mammy to give zest to an indifferent score and a lifeless script. F. S. Nugent

+ N Y Times p11 Ap 4 '36

"From all the intriques, stock figures and stereotyped phrases of backstage romances that have been collected and thrown together under the title 'The Singing Kid.' Al Jolson emerges once again as a trusty entertainer—a performer far too engaging and talented to be buried in these preposterous highlinks. In spite of several interesting scenes, 'The Singing Kid' is thin and repetitious. The results are nothing short of a disaster. Moreover, the leisurely pace of the performance rather increases the apathy of the impression it makes. William Schwenk

+ N Y World-Telegram p15 Ap 6 '36

"It is a hodge-podge of songs and dances that revolves about the irrepressible person of Al Jolson and his stooges. It isn't a story: it is a series of moving photographs of Mr. Jolson doing this and that and not getting away with it, as far as we are concerned." + Stage p10 My '36

"Unfortunately, even a galaxy of new talent plus Al Jolson, cannot entirely disguise the fact that his personal rendering of 'The Singing Kid' sticks with alarming fidelity to the tradition of its predecessors. As entertainment, it is not a question of taste: is Jolson's hoarse, good-humored style of putting over a song as acceptable to cinema audiences as Al Jolson was when he used it to launch an era of entertainment in the first talkie ever made, 'The Jazz Singer'?" Time p32 Ap 13 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

"Typical Al Jolson offering with the mammy singer in top form, aided by the Yacht Club Boys, in a fast-stepping and singing novelty... For the jazz maniacs, it will prove 55 minutes of musical delights." + Box Office p27 Mr 21 '36

"It makes a swell evening's entertainment." L. S. Niemeyer

+ Canadian Moving Pic Digest p7 Mr 28 '36

"There's much that's entertaining in this picture. Novelty in every phase is the tune to which the show spins. As such it is unique entertainment. It would be wise, if possible, to see the picture in advance of playing to get ideas on which to best play the feature." + Motion Pic Herald p38 Mr 21 '36

"Spotty entertainment and one of Al Jolson's minor efforts for Warner Bros. The star should attract enough attention on his own for fair money, but 'The Singing Kid' on its merits won't rate the customary Jolson musical grosses. Story trouble, which is the picture's chief weakness, might have been overcome, as others have, by plenty of trimmings, but in this case, it's too, too bad. This time and it's a case of too much story and not the right kind." + Variety p15 Ap 8 '36

SINS OF MAN. My 29 '36 88min 20th century-Fox

Based on the novel, Job, by Joseph Roth. Jean Hersholt portrays a simple Tyrolian sexton with a passion for music. When two sons fall him, he is reduced to virtual vagrancy until he is reunited with the younger son, now a famous composer.

Audience Suitability Ratings

"The story has a splendid moral, beautifully told, superbly acted and directed. Family." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Well directed and skillfully enacted with Jean Hersholt outstanding in a role admirably suited to his演技. Adults; excellent. p14-15 very good; 5-11: depressing." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good-mature. A fine, thought-provoking picture; smoothly directed." DAR

"In less capable hands the characterization might have been sentimentally mawkis. Understanding direction brings out the high spiritual quality of the story. Family. Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"A masterly production throughout. Outstanding-family." S Calif Council of Fed Church Women

+ Fox Coast Bul My 23 '36

"Family. This picture pleasingly and understandingly directed, to which beautiful photography, lovely music, sound effects and silences add so much, is one of the truly fine pictures of the year." + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) My 12 '36

"It is not in the plot that the film excels, it is in the touchingly human little episodes that make up the story and in the life-like characterizations. Jean Hersholt is superb. Through his interpretation the character of Chris Freeman is unforgettable. Adolescents, 12-16: yes, too good depressing for some; children, 8-12: too sad." + Motion Pic R J0 '36

"The story is dramatic and well told, appropriate setting and effects as well as the theme, and the stage settings and photography are excellent. Family. + Nat Council of Jewish Women My 19 '36

+ Exceptionally Good; + Good: + Fair; + Mediocre; Poor; — Exceptionally Poor
SINS OF MAN—Continued

“Adults.”
Nat Legion of Decency My 23 '36

“Family. (Perhaps too sad for emotional children. Outstanding.”
+ + Sel Motion Pict Je 1 '36

“Interesting story, well acted and directed but over-sentimental. Family.”
— Wkly Guide Je 13 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“Beautiful bit of screen work, lacking the elements of popularity, but a picture all lovers of the screen as an expressive art will enjoy for its outstanding cinematic merits.
Darryl has reason to be proud of Sins of Man.
Wise showman that he is, he probably does not look for great returns from it, but no doubt recognizes its value as a prestige picture, one which dignifies the screen as a whole and gains more friends for it.”
— Hollywood Spec p11 My 23 '36

“A relentless attack on the tear ducts, ‘The Sins of Man’ is so lushly emotional, so unrestrained in its masochism that it move or less defies belief. In this Jean Hersholt suffers and suffers... The film shows that tragedy needs occasional touches of lightness and restraint to be completely credible.” (Am. daily) Beverly Hills
Liberty p50 Je 20 '36

“That stalwart character actor... Jean Hersholt... has been given a rich and varied role.
‘Sins of Man’... He handles it with assurance and restrained power. In a screen drama that is constantly skirting the danger line of maudlin sentimentality, he gives a forthright and remarkably persuasive impersonation. The narrative itself is likely to try your patience. It is episodic and disjointed, and leans too heavily on synthetic tragedy. ‘Sins of Man’ is always more of an exercise in profanity than an appealing motion picture. It does not afford Mr. Hersholt a sure-fire part.” Howard Barnes
— N Y Herald Tribune p15 Je 19 '36

“Jean Hersholt acts his part to the hilt but it’s all in pretty much the same key. It does, however, give him a chance in the latter half to show his mastery of make-up. His ragged, broken, old man is a triumph of characterization... Otto Brower and Gregory Ratoff displayed the skills of background morticians.
A good job but almost too funereal. However, sincerity should always get a hand.”
Rob Wagner
— Script p8 Je 13 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“An overdose of pathos and a dragging story, which a truly magnificent performance by Jean Hersholt cannot entirely overcome, will create hard-going for this picture so far as appealing to all classes is concerned. Top-notch entertainment for those who like tear-Jerker... it will require intensive selling to interest other classes.”
Box Office p17 My 16 '36

“Sentimental tear-jerker designed to satisfy those who like a good cry. Other than the excellent work of Jean Hersholt there is nothing outstanding in the pictures. If your patrons like this sort of stuff okay but if not lay-off. Just why two directors were required to make this movie is not quite apparent.”
+ Film Curb p12 My 9 '36

“Powerful emotional drama scores for all types of audiences. Story, direction, acting rado. Highly recommended.”
+ Film Daily p12 My 12 '36

“Here is a performance—a magnificent performance—in a simple drama that will literally tear your heart. It is a picture that once seen will never be forgotten... At the same time, the picture presents a problem to theaters. It cannot be sold by ordinary methods, for it lacks the usual material for exploitation. You cannot depend upon a ranking star to make a draw. There is no spectacle nor light romantic interest. What its destiny may be is at the box-office depends entirely upon how it is handled.”
— Hollywood Reporter p3 My 5 '36

“Jean Hersholt scores a personal triumph in this beautifully produced tearjerker which rests with sentimentality in its relentless determination to send the audience out red-eyed.”
— Motion Pict Daily p14 My 6 '36

“‘Sins of Man’ is a class picture. In theme, as acted and in morale it points its primary appeal at those who understand and appreciate fine things. In content it is a somber-toned, sympathy-inspiring, human interest drama...
The pictures will not be an easy one to sell.
the stunts of showing the picture to the community’s opinion-makers may prove effective in stimulating word-of-mouth advertising based upon their comments to create interest among the average theatre-goers.”
— Motion Pict Herald p29 My 16 '36

“Hersholt turns in a swell performance. What the picture does will depend on his draw.”
Phila Exhibitor p49 My 15 '36

“Dolorous and somewhat slow through much of its dramatic build-up, and rather excessively concerned with one man’s anguish, ‘Sins of Man’ will have considerable handicap to overcome. To overcome the reason to adopt popular tone, which may restrict its box office.”
Picure will be liked and praised where artistic and pure drama
matics will be more appealing. It sells care, effective production, direction and playing and doesn’t lack in genuine emotional appeal.” Variety (Hollywood) p3 My 5 '36

SKAERGAARDS-FLIRT. Ap 7 '36 90min Europa
Players: Gideon Wahlberg. Dagmar Ebbsehen. Eric Laurent
Director: Arne Bornebusch
A Swedish dialogue film made in Stockholm without English sub-titles. “Osterman and Sko-holm are neighboring residents of an island frequented by summer visitors. They plan the marriage of Inga and Erik, respectively their daughter and son, but Lily, daughter of a wealthy merchant within the island, lure Erik away from his fiancée. When fire destroys the Osterman home he rescues Inga and discovers it she he really loves.” (Motion Pict Herald)

Audience Suitability Ratings

“Family.”
Nat Bd of R M My '36

“Amusing comedy. Family.”
+ Wkly Guide Ap 11 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“The little Cinéma de Paris... is echoing these days to the laughter provoked by ‘Skaergaards-Flirt,’ the latest romantic comedy to reach here from Stockholm.” H. T. S.
— N Y Times p28 Ap 8 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“It is a lukewarm comedy.”
+ Film Daily p10 Ap 9 '36

“The photography possesses a peculiarly brilliant quality. In pattern it is comparable to contemporary American material. . .
Reviewed at the Fifth Avenue Playhouse,
New York, which features foreign-language pictures.
Reaction to the comedy dialogue in Swedish was manifested by frequent laughter ranging from chuckle to suffusion.”
Motion Pict Herald p38 Ap 18 '36

++ Exceptionally Good; + Good; + Fair; — Mediocre; — Poor; —+ Exceptionally Poor
SKY PARADE. Ap 17 '36 70min Paramount
Players: Jimmie Allen, William Gargan, Katherine De Mille, Kent Taylor
Director: Otho Lovering

Based on a radio serial, The Air Adventures of Jimmy Allen.

Audience Suitability Ratings

“A fine family picture.” Am Legion Auxiliary “Family & junior matinees.” Calif Cong of Par & Teachers
“Good. Family-mature.” DAR

“The production, though slowly paced at times, presents a fine review of the development of aeroplane flying, with special emphasis on the use of automatic control. . . . The cast is uniformly excellent and the direction deft, with this mediocre picture keyed to a thrilling climax. Family.” E Coast Preview Committee

“Any picture which emphasizes the finer elements of character is worthy of commendation, and this one shows the earnest desire to improve aviation more for the sake of safety than for commercial advantage.” Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

“Family.” S Calif Council of Fed Church Women
+ Fox W Coast Bul Ap 18 '36

“Family. Tense, dramatic situations, crisp direction and convincing acting by a strong cast, led by popular Jimmie Allen, gives this picture maximum production and entertainment.” + Gen Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ap 6 '36

“Suitability: family.” Mo Film Bul p89 My '36

“As an exposition of the progress made in commercial aviation since the close of the World War, this picture has a definite educational value. Adolescents, 12-16: good; children, 8-12: if interested.” + Motion Pict R My '36

“Juvenile.” Nat Bd of R M Ap '36

“The story is interesting and will doubtless find enthusiastic welcome by juvenile audiences, but since it is not only entertaining, but contains much that is informative of the progress of aviation since the World War, Family & junior matinee.” + Nat Council of Jewish Women Ap 6 '36

“A drawn out story. . . Unconvincing and poorly portrayed. General patronage.” Nat Legion of Decency Mr 28 '36

“A and Y: not particularly interesting; C: probably entertaining since it is planned and produced for them.” Par M p67 Je 36

“Family & junior matinees.” + Sel Motion Pict My 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

“Another melodrama of family interest.” E. C. S. Christian Science Monitor p15 Je 6 '36

“Its first ten minutes and its last twenty are notably potent; its story body is poor talkie. . . . Apparently cooked over an excellent beginning, director Otho Lovering evidently sat back and the picture struggle self-consciously through microphony dialogue and haphazard continuity.” Paul Jacobs + Hollywood Spec p13 My 9 '36

“While the picture is, on the whole, quite dull and often downright silly to adults, it should please the air-minded boys for whom it is designed.” (1½ stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p35 My 16 '36

“(H) may seem incredible in its story of sky banditry, but this entertainment will be found engrossing as the early Westerns were, when swift hoofbeats marked the tempo and lurid color embellished the plot.” + N Y Herald Tribune p14 Ap 21 '36

“The picture no doubt is a fine and accurate specimen of contemporary wish-fulfillment for the average radio listener perspective, as Miss De Mille provides the accidental romantic interest, and everybody plays the picture as it should be played; that is, as much like a Saturday afternoon episode of ‘The Perils of Pauline’ as possible.” B. R. C. + N Y Times p17 Ap 26 '36

“Even if its story is more than just a little bit familiar and consists of all the formulae of a nickel-weekly fiction, it has thrills galore and is performed by a cast of pleasant actors.” William Boehnel + — N Y World-Telegram p15 Ap 20 '36

Trade Paper Reviews

“Albeit of only average entertainment value, this Harold Hurley production packs unusual exploitation possibilities because of the preselling of Jimmie Allen, via radio, to millions of youngsters.” Family + — Box Office p20 My 4 '36

“Jimmie Allen is said to have a large [juvenile] following because of his radio serial. . . . This fact will, no doubt, help to get business for the picture. It is interesting to note the progress of aviation since the World War but we are very much afraid there is too little excitement to satisfy the children. As for the grown ups the picture simply isn't there.” + Film Curb p16 Ap 4 '36

“For the houses which play the better action numbers and for those which have a large [children] patronage, this show is swell stuff. Though logically constructed, the plot is hardly a routine one, and it is loaded with suspense. . . . The air scenes look good and the picture sells up well.” + Film Daily p1 Ap 1 '36

“No cheering will greet the introduction to the screen of the popular radio serial. . . . someone got the wrong end of the stick in devising an introductory screen story. It just hasn't enough of what it takes to please [children.]” Hollywood Reporter p3 Mr 28 '36

“Aided by the exploitation it has received over the air, this should do nicely as juvenile entertainment.” Motion Pict Daily p5 Mr 30 '36

“Unless adults are interested in the exploits of Jimmie Allen or are aviation fans, the picture may hold much interest for them but for the children who like plenty of action and excitement and want to know the inside workings of an airplane manufacturing and flying, the feature is an unusual attraction for special juvenile shows.” Motion Pict-Herald p34 Ap 4 '36

“Where Jimmie Allen is popular on the radio, ‘The Sky Parade’ may get some backing. Elsewhere it will be double featured or neglected. + Well produced for that type thriller, the show deserves more attention than it will get, except in those sections where radio-conscious fans might be impressed.” N Y Exhibitor p13 Ap 25 '36

“Strong bet for juvenile trade, with plenty of promotional possibilities via the Jimmie Allen radio series. Compete keenly for business by general trade in those spots where service adventures and Westerns are the regular dish. Children are the prime market, however, for SKY PARADE—Continued
"Sky Parade" is essentially a cross between a radio serial, a newspaper strip, and a horse opera of the Ozomen type with plans for a sequel."
 Variety p14 Ap 22 '36

"Smartly produced by Harold Hurley, this feature, aimed at the mass of [children] who follow the exploits of Jimmy Allen, has a spirit and in the newspapers should show good returns. Picture will hold little interest for adults but Jimmy Allen in the picture turns out to be all that his juvenile followers expect. Screen play is written down to Allen's followers as is necessary but times might seem foolish to adults, but the idea is okay." + Variety (Hollywood) p3 Mr 28 '36

SMALL TOWN GIRL. Ap 10 '36 90min MGM
Players: Janet Gaynor, Robert Taylor, Binnie Barnes, Lewis Stone.
Director: William A. Wellman.

Based on the novel of the same title by Ben Ames Williams. "Janet Gaynor is a small town ingenue, Lewis Stone an air-aspiring family, the monotonous routine of a village store and the whole depressing round of small town virgins. Robert Taylor, playing out a tantrum, she meets an engaging young stranger, Robert Taylor, breezing through town from his invention, a ride-in and finds herself married to the young surgeon after both have been pretty high with bubbly—married-witout love and on the eve of Taylor's promised wedding to a fellow socialite, Binnie Barnes." (Variety [Hollywood])

Audience Suitability Ratings

"A; fair; Y: not the best; C: No."

Christian Century p67 Ap 29 '36

"Faulty direction in the surgical scenes, but entertaining fare for the adults." Am Legion Auxiliary

"Considerable drinking and the 'gin marriage' which is the crux of the plot, might preclude this picture from impressionable youth. Adults: very good; 11-15: very good; 8-14: mature. Possible for family." Calif Cong of Par & Teachers

"Good. Mature." DAR

"No detail has been overlooked to make this story plausible, and the result will be gratifying to all ages of audiences. Family." Nat Fed of Business & Professional Women's Clubs

"A good story, improbable but entertaining with good comedy relief. Audiences over 14."

Nat Soc of New England Women

"A & young people."

Fed of Women's Clubs (W Coast) Ap 15 '36

"Adults & young people."

Jt Estimates Ap 15 '36

"Suitability: family."

Mo Film Bul p89 My '36

"Janet Gaynor, by her personality, almost convinces one that a refined and innocent young girl may pick up a ride with a perfect stranger at night drinking at a road house and end by marrying the gentleman before dawn—but she doesn't quite succeed in such an ingenue. Running out in a story of such a low moral tone. Fair. Adults." + — Motion Pict Guide My 3 '36

"Although a 'gin marriage is a poor point of romance for any young people when the haze lifts, Kay and Bob are very genuine and worthwhile, and their problem and that of the boy's parents in working out an unpropitious situation win the sympathy and undivided attention of the audience. Credit is due for the good taste with which difficult moments are treated, the amiable and pleasing natural conversation, up-to-date direction. Adolecent, 12-16: needs mature judgment to evaluate. motion picture."

Motion Pict R My '36

"Mature."

Nat Bd of R M My '36

"Excellent entertainment is provided by a large and cast of well-directed and acted. A: C: if it interests." Par M p50 Je '36

"Adults & young people."

Sel Motion Pict My 1 '36

Newspaper and Magazine Reviews

"Exaggeratedly lavish story-book settings and a pleasantly unfair plot make 'Small Town Girl' an amusing box-office proposition, particularly—it may be added—for the small towns." B. L. Examiner Transcript p6 Ap 18 '36

"The story gives the leads full opportunity to turn their characterfully good characters and few spectators seem to mind the story's brushiness." Swing in Science World p22 Ap 24 '36

"After seeing the picture, I still think the story is a trivial one... But when all of it is put in a well written script, produced as a picture by Hunt Stromberg, directed by William Wellman, with Janet Gaynor as the girl —well, it makes a lot of difference." + — Herald Spec p3 Ap 18 '36

"The picture retells the Cinderella tale without the slightest variation on the original theme. But so smartly is it constructed, so amiable the characters, so imbued with the hue that the old situations take on a sprightly freshness that compensates for their lack of novelty. While it is true that 'Small Town Girl' works out in a way that will surprise no one, it is also true that Director William Wellman and the scenarists have injected enough playfully shocking incidents to keep the piece lively and entertaining; (3 stars) Beverly Hills Liberty p57 My 16 '36

"Mr. Robert Taylor repeats in 'Small Town Girl,' the portrayal he inflicted upon us in 'Magnificent Obsession' of an asinine, quippy, windy, rich, young idiot... I have been dodging Janet Gaynor pictures for a long time, but she is really a pretty nice girl fundamentally, and gives us a better picture, only a minimum of her Shirley Temple twinkle and baby talk, and is a very sweet person in her more serious moments. Don Herald"

Life p22 Je '36

"[H] is a typical piece of magazine fiction, running along smoothly and inconsequently. Its situations are improbable and its characters lightly sketched, its eventual outcome never difficult to foresee. It is, thanks to the happy unreality of its mood, almost always enter-

